9. The State was given adequate opportunity to state their defence in regard to absence of playgrounds in schools in the Government Order dated 08.05.2013 and the vague provisions for playgrounds in the Government Order dated 11.01.2019 and reconcile the same to Article 21A of the Constitution of India, the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009. The respondents were also called upon to enter details of implementation of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009. Counter affidavits of the respondents are in the record and have been perused.

10. The ceaseless quest for knowledge is a salient feature of Indian civilization. The position of knowledge in Indian civilization is in ways distinct from the endeavours of other civilizations. Hellenic thought is founded on reason while Middle Eastern philosophy rests on revelation. Indian quest for knowledge, while always embracing reason and not denying revelation, insists on realization as it goal.

11. The constant war against ignorance was a consistent preoccupation of the founding fathers of modern India. Eradication of ignorance in all forms and educating all young Indians by all means, is the avowed object of the Indian Parliament in promulgating Article 21A of the Constitution and enacting the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009. Literacy may equip one for livelihood but education empowers all for life. The legislature chose education over literacy.

12. By promulgating Article 21A of the Constitution of India and enacting the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009, the legislature partly redeemed a promise made by the nation on the fateful midnight of August 1947. But the promise can be redeemed in full measure only by a faithful implementation of the legislative and constitutional mandate.

13. Best legislation and most noble intentions of the legislature can be thwarted by indifferent application of the law or defeated by poor implementation of the enactments. In the instant case, the stakes are too high and the intention too sacrosanct for the authorities to fail the legislature.

14. An education system manifests the reach of human vision, the power of human will, and the efficacy of human organization to regulate and alter the course of evolution of human society and the destiny of human beings.

15. The promulgation of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 is a reflection of national vision, national will and national organization. The implementation of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009, is the test of national vision, national will and national organization.

Responsibility of Courts (Ashoka Thakur v. Union of India and others, reported at 2008 (6) SCC 1)

16. The Courts have a special responsibility to uphold and implement the fundamental right to education under Article 21A of the Constitution and the Right to Education Act, 2009. In the scheme of the fundamental rights guaranteed under the Constitution, the Hon'ble Apex Court seated the right to education conferred by Article 21A of the Constitution at the summit. While holding so, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Ashoka Thakur vs. Union of India and others, reported at 2008(6) SCC 1 also emphasized the special duties of the judiciary in implementing the aforesaid right. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Ashoka Thakur (supra) held thus:

"482.....It has become necessary that the Government set a realistic target within which it must fully implement Article 21A regarding free and compulsory education for the entire country. The Government should suitably revise budget allocations for education. The priorities have to be set correctly. The most important fundamental right may be Article 21A, which, in the larger interest of the nation, must be fully implemented. Without Article 21A, the other fundamental rights are effectively rendered meaningless. Education stands above other rights, as one's ability to enforce one's fundamental rights flows from one's education. This is ultimately why the judiciary must oversee Government spending on free and compulsory education. "

17. Article 21A of the Constitution of India, being the pivot on which the controversy hinges is extracted hereunder for ease or reference.

"21A. Right to education.-The State shall provide free and compulsory education to all children of the age of six to fourteen years in such manner as the State may, by law, determine."

18. The statement of objects and reasons of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 manifests the legislative intent. The objects and reasons of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 are as follows:

"STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS -The crucial role of universal elementary education for strengthening the social fabric of democracy through provision of equal opportunities to all has been accepted since inception of our Republic. The Directive Principles of State Policy enumerated in our Constitution lays down that the State shall provide free and compulsory education to all children up to the age of fourteen years. Over the years there has been significant spatial and numerical expansion of elementary schools in the country, yet the goal of universal elementary education continues to elude us. The number of children, particularly children from disadvantaged groups and weaker sections, who drop out of school before completing elementary education, remains very large. Moreover, the quality of learning achievement is not always entirely satisfactory even in the case of children who complete elementary education.

2. Article 21A, as inserted by the Constitution (Eighty-sixth Amendment) Act, 2002, provides for free and compulsory education of all children in the age group of six to fourteen years as a Fundamental Right in such manner as the State may, by law, determine.

3. Consequently, the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Bill, 2008, is proposed to be enacted which seeks to provide,--

(a) that every child has a right to be provided full time elementary education of satisfactory and equitable quality in a formal school which satisfies certain essential norms and standards;

(b) "compulsory education' casts an obligation on the appropriate Government to provide and ensure admission, attendance and completion of elementary education;

(c) "free education' means that no child, other than a child who has been admitted by his or her parents to a school which is not supported by the appropriate Government, shall be liable to pay any kind of fee or charges or expenses which may prevent him or her from pursuing and completing elementary education;

(d) the duties and responsibilities of the appropriate Governments, local authorities, parents, schools and teachers in providing free and compulsory education; and

(e) a system for protection of the right of children and a decentralized grievance redressal mechanism.

4. The proposed legislation is anchored in the belief that the values of equality, social justice and democracy and the creation of a just and humane society can be achieved only through provision of inclusive elementary education to all. Provision of free and compulsory education of satisfactory quality to children from disadvantaged and weaker sections is, therefore, not merely the responsibility of schools run or supported by the appropriate Governments, but also of schools which are not dependent on Government funds.

5. It is, therefore, expedient and necessary to enact a suitable legislation as envisaged in article 21-A of the Constitution.

6. The Bill seeks to achieve this objective."

19. Certain amendments were made in the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 by amending Act No.30 of the 2012. Regard has to be paid to the statement of objects and reasons of the Amendment Act, 2012, which is as under:

Amendment Act 30 of 2012- Statement of Objects and Reasons.- Consequent upon the enactment of the Constitution (Eighty-sixth Amendment) Act, 2002, the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 which provides for free and compulsory education to all children of the age of 6 to 14 years was enacted.

2. Clause (d) of section 2 of the aforesaid Act of 2009 defines the expression "child belonging to disadvantaged group" to mean a child belonging to the Scheduled Caste, the Scheduled Tribe, the socially and educationally backward class or such other group having disadvantage owing to social, cultural, economic, geographical, linguistic, gender or such other factor, as may be specified by the appropriate Government, by notification. However, children with disabilities, even though disadvantaged, are not specifically included in that clause. Children with disabilities constantly experience barriers to the enjoyment of basic rights, and to their inclusion in society. It is, therefore, proposed to include children with disabilities in the definition of "child belonging to disadvantaged group" with a view to ensuring that their specific needs are given precedence in the elementary education system in the country, and enable them, over time, to participate as full and equal members of the community in which they live. Secondly, the proviso to sub-section (2) of section 3 of the Act states that "a child suffering from disability, as defined in clause (i) of section 2 of the Persons with Disabilities (Equal Opportunities, Protection and Full Participation) Act, 1995 (Act 1 of 1996) shall have the right to pursue free and compulsory elementary education in accordance with the provisions of Chapter V of the said Act"It has been pointed out that Persons with Disabilities (Equal Opportunities, Protection and Full Participation) Act, 1995, does not cover children with cerebral palsy, mental retardation, autism and multiple disabilities, who are covered under the National Trust for Welfare of Persons with Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Retardation and Multiple Disabilities Act, 1992 (44 of 1999). Accordingly, it is proposed that children with cerebral palsy, mental retardation, autism and multiple disabilities are also explicitly covered under the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009.

3. Sections 21 and 22 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 provides for the constitution and functions of the School Management Committee and preparation of school development plan by the School Management Committee. However, unaided schools, not receiving any kind of aid or grants from the appropriate Government or local authority to meet their expenses, are exempted from constituting School Management Committees. Article 30 of the Constitution provides that all minorities, whether based on religion or language, shall have the right to establish and administer educational institutions of their choice. It is, therefore, proposed to amend section 21 of the aforesaid Act so as to provide that the School Management Committees constituted under sub-section (1) of section 21 of the aforesaid Act in respect of minority institutions shall function only in an advisory capacity. It is also proposed to amend section 22 of the Act so as to provide that the functions envisaged under the said section 22 for School Management Committees would not apply to minority institutions.

4. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objects."

Scheme of the Right of Children tFree and Compulsory Education Act, 2009

20. The scheme of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 (hereinafter referred to as 'the Act of 2009), is an authoritative guide to the nature of the rights of the petitioners, the rights of the children, the duties of the State authorities as well as the obligations of educational institutions. The scheme of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 is considered in the succeeding paragraphs.

21. Section 1(4) of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 confers rights upon the Children without diluting the mandate of Articles 29 and 30 of the Constitution of India. Section 1(4) reads as under:

"1(4) Subject to the provisions of articles 29 and 30 of the Constitution, the provisions of this Act shall apply to conferment of rights on children to free and compulsory education."

22. Section 2 contains the definition clauses. Section 2(a) defines appropriate government as under:

"2(a) "appropriate Government" means--

(i) in relation to a school established, owned or controlled by the Central Government, or the administrator of the Union territory, having no legislature, the Central Government;

(ii) in relation to a school, other than the school referred to in sub-clause

(A) a State, the State Government;

(B) a Union territory having legislature, the Government of that Union territory;"

23. Sections 2 (c), 2(d), 2(e) and 2(ee) give the definition of child and children of the different groups and categories. The provisions of Sections 2(c), 2(d), 2(e) and 2(ee) state thus:

"2(c) "child" means a male or female child of the age of six to fourteen years;

(d) "child belonging to disadvantaged group" means [a child with disability or] a child belonging to the Scheduled Caste, the Scheduled Tribe, the socially and educationally backward class or such other group having disadvantage owing to social, cultural, economical, geographical, linguistic, gender or such other factor, as may be specified by the appropriate Government, by notification;

(e) "child belonging to weaker section" means a child belonging to such parent or guardian whose annual income is lower than the minimum limit specified by the appropriate Government, by notification;

[(ee) "child with disability" includes,--

(A) a child with "disability" as defined in clause (i) of section 2 of the Persons with Disabilities (Equal Opportunities, Protection of Rights and Full Participation) Act, 1995 (1 of 1996);

(B) a child, being a person with disability as defined in clause (j) of section 2 of the National Trust for Welfare of Persons with Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Retardation and Multiple Disabilities Act, 1999 (44 of 1999);

(C) a child with "severe disability" as defined in clause (o) of section 2 of the National Trust for Welfare of Persons with Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Retardation and Multiple Disabilities Act, 1999 (44 of 1999).]"

24. The other clauses of Sections 2(f), 2(h), 2(l), 2(m), 2(n), 2(o), 2(p) and 2(q), which are relevant, speak as follows:

"2(f) "elementary education" means the education from first class to eighth class;

(h) "local authority" means a Municipal Corporation or Municipal Council or Zila Parishad or Nagar Panchayat or Panchayat, by whatever name called, and includes such other authority or body having administrative control over the school or empowered by or under any law for the time being in force to function as a local authority in any city, town or village;

(l) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act;

(m) "Schedule" means the Schedule annexed to this Act;

(n) "school" means any recognised school imparting elementary education and includes--

(i) a school established, owned or controlled by the appropriate Government or a local authority;

(ii) an aided school receiving aid or grants to meet whole or part of its expenses from the appropriate Government or the local authority;

(iii) a school belonging to specified category; and

(iv) an unaided school not receiving any kind of aid or grants to meet its expenses from the appropriate Government or the local authority;

(o) "screening procedure" means the method of selection for admission of a child, in preference over another, other than a random method;

(p) "specified category", in relation to a school, means a school known as Kendriya Vidyalaya, Navodaya Vidyalaya, Sainik School or any other school having a distinct character which may be specified, by notification, by the appropriate Government;

(q) "State Commission for Protection of Child Rights" means the State Commission for Protection of Child Rights constituted under section 3 of the Commissions for Protection of Child Rights Act, 2005 (4 of 2006). "

25. Chapter II of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 vests the right of the compulsory education in all children between the ages of 6 to 14 years. Sections 3 and 4, which create the entitlement, are extracted hereunder:

"3. Right of child to free and compulsory education.--[(1) Every child of the age of six to fourteen years, including a child referred to in clause (d) or clause (e) of section 2, shall have the right to free and compulsory education in a neighbourhood school till the completion of his or her elementary education.]*

(2) For the purpose of sub-section (1), no child shall be liable to pay any kind of fee or charges or expenses which may prevent him or her from pursuing and completing the elementary education.

[(3) A child with disability referred to in sub-clause (A) of clause (ee) of section 2 shall, without prejudice to the provisions of the Persons with Disabilities (Equal Opportunities, Protection of Rights and Full Participation) Act, 1995 (1 of 1996), and a child referred to in sub-clauses (B) and (C) of clause (ee) of section 2, have the same rights to pursue free and compulsory elementary education which children with disabilities have under the provisions of Chapter V of the Persons with Disabilities (Equal Opportunities, Protection of Rights and Full Participation) Act, 1995:

Provided that a child with "multiple disabilities" referred to in clause (h) and a child with "severe disability" referred to in clause (o) of section 2 of the National Trust for Welfare of Persons with Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Mental Retardation and Multiple Disabilities Act, 1999 (44 of 1999) may also have the right to opt for home-based education.]

4. Special provisions for children not admitted to, or who have not completed, elementary education.-- Where a child above six years of age has not been admitted in any school or though admitted, could not complete his or her elementary education, then, he or she shall be admitted in a class appropriate to his or her age:

Provided that where a child is directly admitted in a class appropriate to his or her age, then, he or she shall, in order to be at par with others, have a right to receive special training, in such manner, and within such time-limits, as may be prescribed:

Provided further that a child so admitted to elementary education shall be entitled to free education till completion of elementary education even after fourteen years."

26. Chapter III is critical to the controversy and deals with the duties of the appropriate government, local authorities and parents. Understanding the duties of appropriate government and local authorities provide the insight into the obligations cast by the legislature upon various authorities to achieve the goal set out by the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009. Sections 6, 7, 8 and 9 being particularly relevant to the instant controversy are stated below:

"6. Duty of appropriate Government and local authority to establish school.--For carrying out the provisions of this Act, the appropriate Government and the local authority shall establish, within such area or limits of neighbourhood, as may be prescribed, a school, where it is not so established, within a period of three years from the commencement of this Act.

7. Sharing of financial and other responsibilities.--(1) The Central Government and the State Governments shall have concurrent responsibility for providing funds for carrying out the provisions of this Act.

(2) The Central Government shall prepare the estimates of capital and recurring expenditure for the implementation of the provisions of the Act.

(3) The Central Government shall provide to the State Governments, as grants-in-aid of revenues, such percentage of expenditure referred to in sub-section (2) as it may determine, from time to time, in consultation with the State Governments.

(4) The Central Government may make a request to the President to make a reference to the Finance Commission under sub-clause (d) of clause (3) of article 280 to examine the need for additional resources to be provided to any State Government so that the said State Government may provide its share of funds for carrying out the provisions of the Act.

(5) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (4), the State Government shall, taking into consideration the sums provided by the Central Government to a State Government under sub-section (3), and its other resources, be responsible to provide funds for implementation of the provisions of the Act.

(6) The Central Government shall--

(a) develop a framework of national curriculum with the help of academic authority specified under section 29;

(b) develop and enforce standards for training of teachers;

(c) provide technical support and resources to the State Government for promoting innovations, researches, planning and capacity building.

8. Duties of appropriate Government.--The appropriate Government shall--*

(a) provide free and compulsory elementary education to every child:

Provided that where a child is admitted by his or her parents or guardian, as the case may be, in a school other than a school established, owned, controlled or substantially financed by funds provided directly or indirectly by the appropriate Government or a local authority, such child or his or her parents or guardian, as the case may be, shall not be entitled to make a claim for reimbursement of expenditure incurred on elementary education of the child in such other school.

Explanation.--The term "compulsory education" means obligation of the appropriate Government to--

(i) provide free elementary education to every child of the age of six to fourteen years; and

(ii) ensure compulsory admission, attendance and completion of elementary education by every child of the age of six to fourteen years;

(b) ensure availability of a neighbourhood school as specified in section 6;

(c) ensure that the child belonging to weaker section and the child belonging to disadvantaged group are not discriminated against and prevented from pursuing and completing elementary education on any grounds;

(d) provide infrastructure including school building, teaching staff and learning equipment;

(e) provide special training facility specified in section 4;

(f) ensure and monitor admission, attendance and completion of elementary education by every child;

(g) ensure good quality elementary education conforming to the standards and norms specified in the Schedule;

(h) ensure timely prescribing of curriculum and courses of study for elementary education; and

(i) provide training facility for teachers.

9. Duties of local authority.--Every local authority shall--*

(a) provide free and compulsory elementary education to every child:

Provided that where a child is admitted by his or her parents or guardian, as the case may be, in a school other than a school established, owned, controlled or substantially financed by funds provided directly or indirectly by the appropriate Government or a local authority, such child or his or her parents or guardian, as the case may be, shall not be entitled to make a claim for reimbursement of expenditure incurred on elementary education of the child in such other school;

(b) ensure availability of a neighbourhood school as specified in section 6;

(c) ensure that the child belonging to weaker section and the child belonging to disadvantaged group are not discriminated against and prevented from pursuing and completing elementary education on any grounds;

(d) maintain records of children up to the age of fourteen years residing within its jurisdiction, in such manner as may be prescribed;

(e) ensure and monitor admission, attendance and completion of elementary education by every child residing within its jurisdiction;

(f) provide infrastructure including school building, teaching staff and learning material;

(g) provide special training facility specified in section 4;

(h) ensure good quality elementary education conforming to the standards and norms specified in the Schedule;

(i) ensure timely prescribing of curriculum and courses of study for elementary education;

(j) provide training facility for teachers;

(k) ensure admission of children of migrant families;

(l) monitor functioning of schools within its jurisdiction; and

(m) decide the academic calendar."

27. The provisions under Chapter IV pertain to responsibilities of schools. The schools while claiming their rights under the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 cannot be blind to their obligations created by the statute. The said provisions which merit consideration are extracted below:

"12. Extent of school's responsibility for free and compulsory education.--(1) For the purposes of this Act, a school,--

(a) specified in sub-clause (i) of clause (n) of section 2 shall provide free and compulsory elementary education to all children admitted therein;

(b) specified in sub-clause (ii) of clause (n) of section 2 shall provide free and compulsory elementary education to such proportion of children admitted therein as its annual recurring aid or grants so received bears to its annual recurring expenses, subject to a minimum of twenty-five per cent.;

(c) specified in sub-clauses (iii) and (iv) of clause (n) of section 2 shall admit in class I, to the extent of at least twenty-five per cent. of the strength of that class, children belonging to weaker section and disadvantaged group in the neighbourhood and provide free and compulsory elementary education till its completion:

Provided further that where a school specified in clause (n) of section 2 imparts pre-school education, the provisions of clauses (a) to (c) shall apply for admission to such pre-school education.

(2) The school specified in sub-clause (iv) of clause (n) of section 2 providing free and compulsory elementary education as specified in clause (c) of sub-section (1) shall be reimbursed expenditure so incurred by it to the extent of per-child-expenditure incurred by the State, or the actual amount charged from the child, whichever is less, in such manner as may be prescribed:

Provided that such reimbursement shall not exceed per-child-expenditure incurred by a school specified in sub-clause (i) of clause (n) of section 2:

Provided further that where such school is already under obligation to provide free education to a specified number of children on account of it having received any land, building, equipment or other facilities, either free of cost or at a concessional rate, such school shall not be entitled for reimbursement to the extent of such obligation.

(3) Every school shall provide such information as may be required by the appropriate Government or the local authority, as the case may be.

13. No capitation fee and screening procedure for admission.--(1) No school or person shall, while admitting a child, collect any capitation fee and subject the child or his or her parents or guardian to any screening procedure.*

(2) Any school or person, if in contravention of the provisions of sub-section (1),--

(a) receives capitation fee, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to ten times the capitation fee charged;

(b) subjects a child to screening procedure, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to twenty-five thousand rupees for the first contravention and fifty thousand rupees for each subsequent contraventions.

14. Proof of age for admission.--(1) For the purposes of admission to elementary education, the age of a child shall be determined on the basis of the birth certificate issued in accordance with the provisions of the Births, Deaths and Marriages Registration Act, 1886 (6 of 1886) or on the basis of such other document, as may be prescribed.

(2) No child shall be denied admission in a school for lack of age proof. "

28. Sections 18 and 19 control the spirit of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 and the substance of the instant controversy. The provisions set the standards and norms including the infrastructure requirements for schools to obtain recognition. The consequences of breach of infrastructure requirements are set forth with clarity. The imperative terms of the provisions will be discussed later. The provisions have to be read in conjunction with Section 36 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009.

18. No School to be established without obtaining certificate of recognition.--(1) No school, other than a school established, owned or controlled by the appropriate Government or the local authority, shall, after the commencement of this Act, be established or function, without obtaining a certificate of recognition from such authority, by making an application in such form and manner, as may be prescribed.*

(2) The authority prescribed under sub-section (1) shall issue the certificate of recognition in such form, within such period, in such manner, and subject to such conditions, as may be prescribed:

Provided that no such recognition shall be granted to a school unless it fulfils norms and standards specified under section 19.

(3) On the contravention of the conditions of recognition, the prescribed authority shall, by an order in writing, withdraw recognition:

Provided that such order shall contain a direction as to which of the neighbourhood school, the children studying in the derecognised school, shall be admitted:

Provided further that no recognition shall be so withdrawn without giving an opportunity of being heard to such school, in such manner, as may be prescribed.

(4) With effect from the date of withdrawal of the recognition under sub-section (3), no such school shall continue to function.

(5) Any person who establishes or runs a school without obtaining certificate of recognition, or continues to run a school after withdrawal of recognition, shall be liable to fine which may extend to one lakh rupees and in case of continuing contraventions, to a fine of ten thousand rupees for each day during which such contravention continues.

19. Norms and standards for school.--(1) No school shall be established, or recognised, under section 18, unless it fulfils the norms and standards specified in the Schedule.*

(2) Where a school established before the commencement of this Act does not fulfil the norms and standards specified in the Schedule, it shall take steps to fulfil such norms and standards at its own expenses, within a period of three years from the date of such commencement.

(3) Where a school fails to fulfil the norms and standards within the period specified under sub-section (2), the authority prescribed under sub-section (1) of Section 18 shall withdraw recognition granted to such school in the manner specified under sub-section (3) thereof.

(4) With effect from the date of withdrawal of the recognition under sub-section (3), no such school shall continue to function.

(5) Any person who establishes or runs a school without obtaining certificate of recognition, or continues to run a school after withdrawal of recognition, shall be liable to fine which may extend to one lakh rupees and in case of continuing contraventions, to a fine of ten thousand rupees for each day during which such contravention continues."

36. Previous sanction for prosecution.--No prosecution for offences punishable under sub-section (2) of section 13, sub-section (5) of section 18 and sub-section (5) of section 19 shall be instituted except with the previous sanction of an officer authorised in this behalf, by the appropriate Government, by notification. "*

29. Schools of specific categories under the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 have to constitute the school management committee under Section 21 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009. Section 21 read as under:

21. School Management Committee.--(1) A school, other than a school specified in sub-clause (iv) of clause (n) of section 2, shall constitute a School Management Committee consisting of the elected representatives of the local authority, parents or* guardians of children admitted in such school and teachers:

Provided that at least three-fourth of members of such Committee shall be parents or guardians:

Provided further that proportionate representation shall be given to the parents or guardians of children belonging to disadvantaged group and weaker section:

Provided also that fifty per cent. of Members of such Committee shall be women.

(2) The School Management Committee shall perform the following functions, namely:--

(a) monitor the working of the school;

(b) prepare and recommend school development plan;

(c) monitor the utilisation of the grants received from the appropriate Government or local authority or any other source; and

(d) perform such other functions as may be prescribed.

[Provided that the School Management Committee constituted under sub-section (1) in respect of,--

(a) a school established and administered by minority whether based on religion or language; and

(b) all other aided schools as defined in sub-section (ii) of clause (n) of section 2, shall perform advisory function only.]"

30. The duties of teachers and their responsibilities towards the students are described in Section 24 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009. Section 24 is reproduced below:

"24. Duties of teachers and redressal of grievances.--(1) A teacher appointed under sub-section (1) of section 23 shall perform the following duties, namely:--

(a) maintain regularity and punctuality in attending school;

(b) conduct and complete the curriculum in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 29;

(c) complete entire curriculum within the specified time;

(d) assess the learning ability of each child and accordingly supplement additional instructions, if any, as required;

(e) hold regular meetings with parents and guardians and apprise them about the regularity in attendance, ability to learn, progress made in learning and any other relevant information about the child; and

(f) perform such other duties as may be prescribed.

(2) A teacher committing default in performance of duties specified in sub-section (1), shall be liable to disciplinary action under the service rules applicable to him or her:

Provided that before taking such disciplinary action, reasonable opportunity of being heard shall be afforded to such teacher.

(3) The grievances, if any, of the teacher shall be redressed in such manner as may be prescribed. "

31. Chapter V of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 contains the provisions pertaining to curriculum and evaluation procedure. These are germane to the controversy. Sections 29 and 30 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 is extracted hereunder:

"29. Curriculum and evaluation procedure.--(1) The curriculum and the evaluation procedure for elementary education shall be laid down by an academic authority to be specified by the appropriate Government, by notification.

(2) The academic authority, while laying down the curriculum and the evaluation procedure under sub-section (1), shall take into consideration the following, namely:--

(a) conformity with the values enshrined in the Constitution;

(b) all round development of the child;

(c) building up child's knowledge, potentiality and talent;

(d) development of physical and mental abilities to the fullest extent;

(e) learning through activities, discovery and exploration in a child friendly and child-centered manner;

(f) medium of instructions shall, as far as practicable, be in child's mother tongue;

(g) making the child free of fear, trauma and anxiety and helping the child to express views freely;

(h) comprehensive and continuous evaluation of child's understanding of knowledge and his or her ability to apply the same."

"30. Examination and completion certificate.--(1) No child shall be required to pass any Board examination till completion of elementary education.

(2) Every child completing his elementary education shall be awarded a certificate, in such form and in such manner, as may be prescribed. "

32. Chapter VI of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 provides for the protection of rights of children. The agencies have been created to ensure an eternal vigilance over the state of education of the children, redressal of grievances and implementation of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009. The provisions contained in Chapter VI reveal the legislative intent to ensure that the legislative goals are not defeated by executive inaction or apathy. The relevant provisions of Sections 31, 32 and 34 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 are stated below:

31. Monitoring of child's right to education.--(1) The National Commission for Protection of Child Rights constituted under section 3, or, as the case may be, the State Commission for Protection of Child Rights constituted under section 17, of the Commissions for Protection of Child Rights Act, 2005 (4 of 2006), shall, in addition to the functions assigned to them under that Act, also perform the following functions, namely:--*

(a) examine and review the safeguards for rights provided by or under this Act and recommend measures for their effective implementation;

(b) inquire into complaints relating to child's right to free and compulsory education; and (c) take necessary steps as provided under sections 15 and 24 of the said Commissions for Protection of Child Rights Act.

(2) The said Commissions shall, while inquiring into any matters relating to child's right to free and compulsory education under clause (c) of sub-section (1), have the same powers as assigned to them respectively under sections 14 and 24 of the said Commissions for Protection of Child Rights Act.

(3) Where the State Commission for Protection of Child Rights has not been constituted in a State, the appropriate Government may, for the purpose of performing the functions specified in clauses (a) to (c) of sub-section (1), constitute such authority, in such manner and subject to such terms and conditions, as may be prescribed.

(2) After receiving the complaint under sub-section (1), the local authority shall decide the matter within a period of three months after affording a reasonable opportunity of being heard to the parties concerned.

(3) Any person aggrieved by the decision of the local authority may prefer an appeal to the State Commission for Protection of Child Rights or the authority prescribed under sub-section (3) of section 31, as the case may be.

(4) The appeal preferred under sub-section (3) shall be decided by State Commission for Protection of Child Rights or the authority prescribed under sub-section (3) of section 31, as the case may be, as provided under clause (c) of sub-section (1) of section 31.

34. Constitution of State Advisory Council.--(1) The State Government shall constitute, by notification, a State Advisory Council consisting of such number of Members, not exceeding fifteen, as the State Government may deem necessary, to be appointed from amongst persons having knowledge and practical experience in the field of elementary education and child development.

(2) The functions of the State Advisory council shall be to advise the State Government on implementation of the provisions of the Act in an effective manner.

(3) The allowances and other terms and conditions of appointment of Members of the State Advisory Council shall be such as may be prescribed."

33. Section 38 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 vests rule making power in the appropriate government to make rules to carry out the provisions of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009.

"38. Power of appropriate Government to make rules.--(1) The appropriate Government may, by notification, make rules, for carrying out the provisions of this Act.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing powers, such rules may provide for all or any of the following matters, namely:--

(a) the manner of giving special training and the time-limit thereof, under first proviso to section 4;

(b) the area or limits for establishment of a neighbourhood school, under section 6;

(c) the manner of maintenance of records of children up to the age of fourteen years, under clause (d) of section 9;

(d) the manner and extent of reimbursement of expenditure, under sub-section (2) of section 12;

(e) any other document for determining the age of child under sub-section (1) of section 14;

(f) the extended period for admission and the manner of completing study if admitted after the extended period, under section 15;

(g) the authority, the form and manner of making application for certificate of recognition, under sub-section (1) of section 18;

(h) the form, the period, the manner and the conditions for issuing certificate of recognition, under sub-section (2) of section 18;

(i) the manner of giving opportunity of hearing under second proviso to sub-section (3) of section 18;

(j) the Other functions to be performed by School Management Committee under clause (d) of sub-section (2) of section 21;

Education-General

"If a nation expects to be ignorant and free, in a state of civilization, it expects what never was and never will be."

(Thomas Jefferson)

41. The legislative concept of education distilled from the scheme of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 is stated in the succeeding paragraphs. Education is the supreme act of nation building and the paramount activity of civilizational progress. When education has flourished, societies have prospered. The purpose of education is to produce enlightened citizens. An enlightened citizenry is the strongest bulwark of the rule of law and holds the real promise of future achievements. Education is the iron clad assurance against a decay of any civilization or fall of any nation.

42. True education nurtures individual excellence and fosters social responsibilities. All children have different aptitudes but the same potentialities. The purpose of an education system is to unlock the immense but diverse possibilities in each child.

43. Education is a holistic process, which engages human life at different levels, physical, intellectual, social and moral. Education develops an integrated personality by honing intellectual skills, exercising physical abilities, and enhancing social interface.

Concept of education under the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009:

44. The approach of the legislature to education is multifaceted and not unifocal. Section 29 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 underscores the fact that the legislative approach is global.

45. The acknowledgment and awakening of the latent potentiality in each child is mandated in the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009. The provisions clearly show the legislative intent to develop a culture of learning through the activities, discovery and exploration in a child centered manner. Thus creating an educational culture where a child develops a rational process of thinking.

46. The legislature was acutely aware of pit-falls of obsession with scholastic achievements to the exclusion of all other aspects of human personality and growth. Scholastic achievements and training have due importance in the statute. The emphasis made by the legislature "to the all around development of the child" has to be given due weight.

Environment Consciousness & Education

47. The mandate of Section 29 to bring the academic curriculum in conformity with "the values enshrined in the Constitution," "all around development of the child," "building up of child's knowledge, potentiality and talent, "comprehensive and continuous evaluations of child", "understanding of knowledge and his or her ability to apply the same" highlights legislative purpose. Education as contemplated under the Act should not only foster individual excellence but also cultivate social responsibility.

48. Environmental degradation poses a mortal threat to planet. Many forms of life have disappeared, while others stand on the brink of extinction. Human race bears the entire blame for environmental degradation. Human race has to shoulder full responsibility for nurturing the environment back to health and discharge its duties for protection of the environment. Knowledge of the environment, understanding of environmental issues and readiness to contribute to protection of the environment has to form part of any concept of education.

Sports and Education.

"From the solemn gloom of the temple children run out to sit in the dust, God watches them play and forgets the priest."

(Rabindranath Tagore)

49. Section 29(2) (a) and (d) of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009, needs further attention. The legislative purpose is not far to seek.

50. Sports and various regimes of physical activities are integral to education. Sporting infrastructure is indispensable for learning in schools. Sporting activities strengthen nerves and sinews, and enhance physical and mental strength. Sports develop camaraderie, instill discipline and imbibe leadership tenets. Sports ensure good health and foster character qualities which contribute to the overall growth of the personality. The diverse individual and social skills learnt on the sports field always endure to the benefit of an individual and cumulatively to the strength of a nation. Emotional intelligence is sharpened more in an open play-field than in an enclosed classroom.

51. Yuval Noah Harari in his book "Sapiens" after referencing various studies and scientific researches states that "playing is the mammalian way of learning social behaviour."

52. The spirit of the game imbibed while playing the game has a critical role in developing the personality of a person.

53. At the intersection of the life and law, literature at times shows the way. The enduring importance of sports, was best brought out in the poem Vitai Lampada. A tense situation, faced up in a critical school cricket match, imparts lessons which hold one in good stead to deal with dire challenges, in later life.

54. The team spirit imbibed on sports field, is for all times. The lessons learnt, for persevering, in the face of adverse situations, are seared in one's soul. The exhortations of one's teammates, are etched in one's memory forever. And even beyond that, the legacy is left for generations to follow. So, "play up, play up, play the game."

55. The importance of sports in education was emphasized by this Court in Apple Grove School Vs. The Union of India and others, reported 2019 (3) ADJ 874 thus:

"18. The schools of today are the cradle of Indian leadership of tomorrow. The schools of today owe it to the future generations to provide the best infrastructure and facilities to ensure that they nurture excellence. Education is not only about learning from books in an enclosed classroom, but it is equally about imbibing sterling character traits in open playfields. The importance of sports and playgrounds to develop strength, mental and physical is too obvious to be stated. Education is not about cramming but learning. Education is about honing intellectual abilities, developing sterling character traits and building physical strength. An integrated and all around development of the human personality and spirit is the essence of education. Sports play a paramount role in all these endeavours. If sporting activities are integral to education, playing fields are indispensable to schools. In fact many are persuaded by the view with good reason, that the Battle of Waterloo was won on the playing fields of Eton."

56. The various provisions of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009, relating to promotion of sports, integrate sports into curriculum of the schools. The obligation cast on the authorities, and the schools, to create an environment for overall development including the "physical abilities of a child", is reflected in the provisions of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009.

57. The provisions of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 relating to infrastructure, also create sports facilities. Promotion of sports by the schools, and creation of infrastructure for sports, in the schools, are clearly mandatory under the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009.

Commercialization of Education.

58. In education lie full prospects of nation building, but education also offers great possibilities of private profiteering. Opportunities of nation building cannot be approached with the minds of dishonest traders. Acts of nation building cannot be compromised by yielding to expediency or short term gains. The future of the many cannot be jeopardized for the benefit of the few.

59. The courts long upheld the right to education and were simultaneously alerted to the vagaries of profiteering in education. The courts have consistently and firmly set their face against the commercialization of education or profiteering in education.

60. The legislature while enacting the the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 was conscious of the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court against commercialization of education. It was also cognizant of readiness of school managements to compromise the interests of students in their consuming quest for profits.

61. Mushrooming schools without proper infrastructure are the blatant examples of profiteering in education. The legislative response to the malady of commercialization of education was equal to the menace.

School Infrastructure under the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009

62. The provisions regarding minimum infrastructure requirements other facilities in schools stated in the earlier part of the judgment, will now be construed.

63. Sections 18 and 19 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009, Schedule of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009, Rule 11 and Form I of the U.P. Rules, Form 2 Rule 11(4) of the U.P. Rules and also Rules 15 read with Form I of the Central Rules, 2010 and Rule 15 of the Central Rules are directly in issue. Section 30(6) of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 would also assist interpretation of the provisions relating to infrastructure.

64. Section 18 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 contemplates that after the commencement of the Act no school shall be established without obtaining a certificate of a recognition from the competent authority. The norms and standards for establishing the schools are provided in Section 19 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 and duly specified in the Schedule.

65. The words employed by the legislature, in the aforesaid provisions as well as the Schedule, provide the first and most reliable guide to the intent of the legislature. The legislative purpose discussed in the preceding part of the judgment shall also assist in determining the nature of the provisions.

66. The rules of interpretation of statutes are well well by judicial authority. In this regard, the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of State of Haryana Vs. Raghubir Dayal, reported at (1995) 1 SCC 133 and in the case of Sharif-Ud-Din Vs. Abdul Gani Lone, reported at (1980) 1 SCC 403 are instructed. The Full Bench of this Court in the case of Vikas Trivedi Vs. State of U.P. and others, reported at (2013) 2 UPLBEC 1193 also delineated the rules of statutory interpretation with clarity. These authorities shall guide the enquiry into the mandatory nature or otherwise of the provisions in issue.

67. Section 18 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 commences with the negative phrase namely, "no school", and further uses the word "shall" while requiring the schools to obtain a certificate of recognition from the competent authority. Similarly, the proviso to Section 18(2) of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 also commences with a negative words "no such recognition" and also employs the word "shall" while requiring a school to fulfill norms and standards specified in Section 19 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009.

68. The consequences of contravention of preconditions of infrastructure for recognition are also provided in Section 18 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009. Contravention of the said provisions is on the pain of withdrawal of recognition. Section 18(5) of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 is a penal provision which contemplates imposition of fine upon the erring institution.

69. Section 36 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 states that violations of Section 18(5) and Section 19(5) of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 are offences for which prosecution can be instituted with the previous sanction of the officer authorized in this behalf by the appropriate government by notification. These features establish that Section 18 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 is mandatory in nature.

70. Section 19 of the Schedule stands on a similar footing. Section 19 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 also employs negative words "no school" at the commencement of the provision. The word "shall" has also been used. Section 19(1) of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009, states that no school shall be established or recognized under Section 18 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 unless it fulfills the norms and standards specified in the Schedule of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009.

71. The provision provides a time-frame to pre-established schools to fulfill the infrastructural norms in the Schedule at their own expenses.

72. Sub-Section (3) of the Section 19 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 describes the consequences which flow from failure of a school to fulfill the prescribed norms and standards under Section 18 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 as well as the Schedule of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009. Schools can violate the norms and standards prescribed under the Act on the pain of withdrawal of recognition. Section 19(5) of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 is a penal provision which contains consequences of running unrecognized institutions and has to be read with Section 36 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009.

73. The reasons for which Section 18 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 has been held mandatory apply to Section 19 of the Act as well. Section 19 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 is mandatory.

74. The Schedule of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 which is relatable to Section 19 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 provides for the mandatory norms and standards for a school, including the requirements for infrastructure. The relevant part of the Schedule can be quoted with profit to take the discussion forward. Serial nos.2 and 7 of the schedule being relevant to the issue is extracted hereunder:

Sl. No.	Item	Norms and Standards
2	Building	All-weather building consisting of-- (i) at least one class-room for every teacher and an office-cum-store-cum-Head teacher's room; (ii) barrier-free access; (iii) separate toilets for boys and girls; (iv) safe and adequate drinking water facility to all children; (v) a kitchen where mid-day meal is cooked in the school; (vi) Playground; (vii) arrangements for securing the school building by boundary wall or fencing.
7	Play material, games and sports equipment	Shall be provided to each class as required.

75. Under the Schedule of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009, the building means and includes the playground in the school premises.

76. The Schedule of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 envisages that the playground is a part of the building of the school. The requirement of "barrier free access" also under the Schedule of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009, is complied with only if the playground, the building and other infrastructure in a school are a part of one contiguous or compact plot of land and form part of one composite campus. Similarly, the purpose of perimeter demarcation by boundary wall or fencing can be fulfilled only when the playground, building and other infrastructure are located in one campus.

77. In case the school building and the playgrounds are situated in separate plots of land which are not compact or contiguous, but separated by land which is not part of the school campus, the school will not satisfy the criteria of barrier free access. It will render futile the provision of barricading the perimeter boundary. The Schedule being relatable to Section 19 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 is also a mandatory provision.

78. The provisions relating to norms and standards of infrastructure under the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 are mandatory. Further, a playground is also a mandatory and an integral part of a school under the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009. The scheme of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 unequivocally mandates that the playground, and the school building shall be part of one campus which shall be constituted in a contiguous land area or a compact of land.

79. Playgrounds are essential to education like classrooms, laboratories, libraries. A school cannot be visualized without classrooms, just so, a school is incomplete without a playground.

80. The consequences of a playground which was not part of one compact campus or a contiguous land area of the school, came up squarely for consideration before this Court in the judgment rendered in the case of Apple Grove School v. The Union of India and others, reported at 2019 (9) ADJ 692.

81. In Apple Grove School (supra) the importance of situating the playground and the school buildings in one compact and contiguous of plot was stated thus:

"19. The Court notices the fact that massive unplanned urban development has diminished open spaces and playgrounds for the coming generations. Similarly in the rush for profits school managements make the first compromises with play-fields. Sports and all that it offers by way of learning takes a back seat.

20. The playground will serve its purpose only if there is contiguity between school buildings and the playground. The playground and the school building should be part of one compact and contiguous land area. In case the playground and the school buildings/academic blocks are situated in plots of land which are separated by other plots or residential areas or roads, the access of the students to the play field from the academic blocks will not be free. The playground will play its part and make its contribution only if the access of the students to the playground is free and unimpeded. Young students should be able to run with gay abandon to the play field during their sports classes or after their academic classes without any impediment and kick the ball soaring into the sky. In case the students have to pass through the residential areas, traffic snarls, labyrinth of streets to access the playground, the purpose of a play field would be defeated.

21. Students should have a "walk in" or rather a "run in" access to the playground."

82. This Court in the case of Apple Grove School (supra) has found that the playground which is not situated in the school campus is of no avail to the children. The scheme is not workable. Such playground does not serve the purpose of a playground, but is an eye-wash by the management, to obtain recognition of the institution.

83. Seen in light of the law laid down in Apple Grove School (supra), a playground which is not a part of the contiguous land area or a compact piece of land where the rest of the infrastructure of the school including school buildings stand, would render the scheme of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 unworkable. In fact, a playground so situated would negate the purpose of the playground.

Declarations & Inspections under the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009

84. The Form-1, which is part of appendix to The Uttar Pradesh Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Rules, 2011, is relatable to sub-rule (1) of rule 15 of the Central Rules, 2010. The Form-1 pertains to the self declaration-cum-application for grant of recognition of schools. The parts of the Form-1, which are relevant, are extracted hereunder:

85. The Form-I in the appendix of the U.P. Rules, is entirely congruent to the Form-I in the appendix to the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Rules, 2010 framed by the Central Government.

86. The Form-I also contemplates existence of playground. The details of the total area of the school and built up area with building plan are required to be provided by the school.

87. Form-II, which is part of appendix of the U.P. Rules of 2011 also merits consideration. Rule 11 (4) of the U.P. Rules, 2011 as seen earlier contemplates a physical on-site inspection of the schools premises by the District Education authorities.

88. The prescribed format of the inspection report of the District Education Officer is in Form-II in the appendix of The Uttar Pradesh Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Rules of 2011. The Form-II is reproduced below:

The Manager,

Sub.-Recognition Certificates for the school under sub-rule (4) of Rule 11 of the Uttar Pradesh Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Rules, 2011 for the purpose of Section 18 of Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009.

Dear Sir/Madam,

With reference to your application dated and subsequent correspondence with the school/inspection in this regard, I convey the grant for provisional recognition to the (Name of the school with address) for Class.....to Class.....for a period of three years w.e.f.....to.....

The above sanction is subject to fulfilment of following conditions-

1. The grant for recognition is not expendable and does not in any way imply any obligation to recognize/affiliate beyond Class VIII.

2. The school shall abide by the provisions of Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 (Annexure I) and the Uttar Pradesh Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Rules, 2011 (Annexure II).

3. The school shall admit in Class I, to the extent of % of the strength of that class, children belonging to weaker section and disadvantaged group in the neighbourhood and provide free and compulsory elementary education till its completion. Provided, further that in case of pre-primary classes also, this norm shall be followed.

4. For the children referred to in Paragraph 3, the school, if covered under Section 12(2) of the Act, shall be reimbursed accordingly. To receive such reimbursements school shall provide a separate bank account.

5. The society/school shall not collect any capitation fee and subject the child or his or her parents or guardians to any screening procedure.

6. The school shall not deny admission-

(a) to any child for lack of age proof;

(b) on the ground of religion, caste or race, place of birth or any of them.

7. The school shall ensure that,-

(i) no child admitted shall be held back in any class or expelled from school till the completion of elementary education in a school;

(ii) no child shall be subjected to physical punishment or mental harassment;

(iii) no child is required to pass any board examination till the completion of elementary education;

(iv) every child completing elementary education shall be awarded a certificate as laid down under Rule 23;

(v) inclusion of students with disabilities/special needs as per provision of the Act;

(vi) the teacher performs its duties specified under Section 24(1) of the Act; and

(vii) the teachers shall not engage himself or herself for private teaching activities.

8. The school shall follow the syllabus on the basis of curriculum laid down by the appropriate authority.

9. The school shall enroll students proportionate to the facilities available in the school as prescribed in the Section 19 of the Act.

10. No unrecognised classes shall run within the premises of the school or outside in the same name of school.

11. The school is run by a society registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 (21 of 1860) or a public trust constituted under any law for the time being in force.

12. The school is not run for profit to any individual, group or association of individuals or any other persons.

13. The accounts should be audited and certified by a Chartered Accountant and proper accounts statements should be prepared as per rules. A copy each of the Statements of Accounts should be sent to the Zila Shiksha Adhikari every year.

14. The recognition Code Number allotted to your school is..... This may please be noted and quoted for any correspondence with this office.

15. The school furnishes such reports and information as may be required by the Director of Education/Zila Shiksha Adhikari from time to time and complies with such instructions of the State Government/local authority as may be issued to secure the continued fulfilment of the condition of recognition or the removal of deficiencies in working of the school.

16. Renewal of Registration of Society, if any, be ensured.

17. The School Management/Trust and staff shall abide by the directions of the State Government issued from time to time.

18. Other conditions as per Annexure 'III' enclosed.

Yours faithfully,
Zila Shiksha Adhikari"

89. The distinction, between the prescribed format of the inspection report, to be submitted by the Education Officer, under the Central Rules, 2010, and the Zila Shiksha Adhikari, under the Uttar Pradesh Rules of 2011, stands out.

90. Item number 8 of the prescribed format of inspection in Form-II under the Central Rules of 2010 is extracted under:

Form-II

"8. The school shall maintain the standards and norms of the school as specified in section 19 of the Act. The facilities reported at the time of last inspection are as given under:-

Area of school campus
Total built up area
Area of play ground
No. of class rooms
Room for Headmaster-cum-Offic-cum-Storeroom
Separate toilet for boys and girls
Drinking Water Facility
Kitchen for cooking Mid Day Meal Barrier free Access
Availability of Teaching Learning Material/Play Sports Equipments/Library"

91. The aforesaid item, is conspicuous by its absence, in the prescribed format, of the report of the Zila Shiksha Adhikari in Central Rules of 2010. Evidently, Form II under the U.P. Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Rules, 2011, provides for a less thorough inspection report, to be submitted by the District Shiksha Adhikari, as compared to, a more comprehensive and targeted report, to be submitted by the competent official, under the Central Rules, 2010.

92. Form-II in the appendix, of the U.P. Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Rules, 2011, dilutes the infrastructure requirements, by easing the standards of the inspection report, contemplated in sections 18 and 19 and Rule 11 (4) of the U.P. Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Rules, 2011.

93. The State authorities, cannot escape the reckoning, with the strict and mandatory standards of infrastructure, contemplated under the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009. As seen earlier, the standards of infrastructure, including the requirement of playgrounds, are mandatory, and cannot be deviated from.

94. The physical inspection of the schools, has to be thorough, and the inspection report, has to be meticulous. The inspection report needs to implement the mandate of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009.

95. The Form-II under the U.P. Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Rules, 2011 is inconsistent with the provisions of Section 19 read with Rule 11 (4) of the U.P. Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Rules, 2011 in so far as it does not provide for details of various infrastructural requirements as provided under the Item No.8 of the Form-II of the Rules, 2010 framed under the Central Rules.

Constitutionality of the Government Order dated 08.05.2013

96. The Government Order dated 08.05.2013 references the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 and The Uttar Pradesh Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Rules, 2011. The Government Order records that the same is issued to effectuate the purpose of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 and the U.P. Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Rules, 2011.

97. Some of the petitioners-Institution have been granted recognition in pursuance of the criteria laid down in the Government Order dated 08.05.2013. The Government Order dated 08.05.2013 provides the infrastructure requirements of schools. The relevant provisions of the Government Order dated 08.05.2013 regarding specifications of the college building as well as playgrounds are extracted hereunder:

"2. विद्यालय भवन- मान्यता के लिये प्राथमिक के प्रत्येक कक्षानुभाग में प्रति छात्र 09 वर्ग फीट की दर से स्थान उपलब्ध होना चाहिए, परन्तु कक्षा- कक्ष का क्षेत्रफल 180 वर्ग फीट से कम नहीं होनी चाहिए, जिससे बच्चे कक्षा में शैक्षणित गतिविधिया सुविधापूर्ण ढंग से संचालित कर सकें। विद्यालय के अनुसार उपबल्ध हो। विद्यालय में पुस्तकालय एवं वाचनालय भी होना चाहिए।

3. प्रधानाध्यापक, कार्यालय तथा स्टाफ के लिये अलग-अलग कक्ष उपलब्ध होना चाहिए।

4. छात्र/छात्राओ तथा अध्यापक/अध्यापिकाओं के पृथक-पृथक मूत्रालय एवं शौचालय की समुचित व्यवस्था होनी चाहिए।

5. विद्यालय में पीने के स्वच्छ (जीवाणु रहित) पानी की समुचित व्यवस्था होनी चाहिए।

6. विद्यालय भवन का वाह्य रंग सफेद होना चाहिए।

8. क्रीड़ा स्थल- खेलकुद के लिये यथासम्भव विद्यालय परिसर में या विद्यालय परिसर के समीप क्रीड़ा स्थल उपलब्ध होना चाहिए जहाँ कबड्डी, बालीवॉल, बैडमिन्टन, बास्केट बॉल, खो-खो आदि जैसे खेलो हेतु निर्धारित स्थान की व्यवस्था अनिवार्य रुप से होना चाहिए, जिसका उपयोग विद्यालय के छात्र/छात्राएं कर सकते हैं।

विशेषः- बालिका विद्यालयों के लिए क्रीड़ा स्थल की छूट दी जा सकती है। इसी प्रकार घनी आबादी वाले नगर क्षेत्र में बालकों के विद्यालयों में जहां स्थानाभाव हो, क्रीड़ा स्थल की छूट दी जा सकती है। क्रीड़ा स्थल के अभाव में किसी विद्यालय को भी मान्यता से वंचित नहीं किया जा सकता है।"*

98. The provisions relating to the school building are inadequate, inasmuch as, they do not contain any requirement of natural light and air ventilation. There are no provisions relating to light in the classroom, as well as cooling system, in the classrooms for summer seasons. Natural light, and a well ventilated classrooms, are essential for a healthy environment, which promotes learning and is conducive to good health of the students.

99. The Government Order dated 08.05.2013 contemplates a playground which has sufficient area to accommodate a badminton court or basketball court or volleyball court and a sport like kabaddi. Games like badminton, basketball, volley-ball are played in courts of a small area. Such courts are not playgrounds within the meaning of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009. The size of a playground should be big enough to accommodate field sports like football, cricket, hockey and an outer track around the perimeter for athletic events. The playground should also have, sufficient space to plant shady trees, and other flora on the outer periphery. The playgrounds are also used for morning assemblies where the entire school assembles at one time. The playgrounds also hosts annual sporting events and other national festivals like Independence Day and Republic Day.

100. If the intention of the legislature to promote sports and to ensure all around development of children and to integrate sports in education is to be achieved, the size of the sports field has to be big enough to accommodate the said features. The reduced size of a play-field in the Government Order dated 08.05.2013 makes the statutory requirement of a playground illusory.

101. The most noteworthy feature in the Government Order dated 08.05.2013 is the special provision dispensing with the requirement of a playgrounds. The requirement of a playground for girls schools, as well for schools, in areas where the population density, is high, is completely waived. Above all, it is also provided that in the absence of a playground, no institution shall be denied recognition.

102. Time spent in schools cannot be in likeness of life on the conveyor belt. The purpose of schools is to humanize life and not to mechanise existence.

103. The preceding construction of the scheme of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 and Article 21A of the Constitution of India establishes that Clause 8 of the Government Order dated 08.05.2013 is in flagrant violation of the provisions of Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 as well as Article 21A of the Constitution of India. The Government Order dated 08.05.2013 is ultra vires the provisions of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 as well as Article 21A of the Constitution and the U.P. Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Rules, 2011.

104. The Government Order dated 08.05.2013 is consequently found to be unconstitutional and illegal and void ab initio. The consequences will follow.

105. The recognition granted to various schools under the Government Order dated 08.05.2013 does not vest any right in such institutions. Such institutions cannot claim any accrued right on the foot of a Government Order which is illegal, unconstitutional, and void ab initio.

106. As we shall see in the later part of the judgment, these schools shall be granted time to become compliant with the infrastructure norms made in conformity with the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009.

107. The Government Order dated 08.05.2013 records that the aforesaid Government Order is being issued in consequence to the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009, The Uttar Pradesh Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Rules, 2011 as well as the judgments of the Hon'ble Supreme Court as well as this Court. It is ironical that after referencing the aforesaid provisions of law and judgments of various Courts, the Government Order flagrantly flouts the mandate of the Constitution, the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 and judgments of the courts.

Constitutionality of the Government Order dated

108. The Government Order dated 08.05.2013 was superseded by the Government Order dated 11.01.2019. The Government Order dated 11.01.2019 created a fresh set of guidelines for minimum infrastructure required for recognition of the Institutions to all the provisions. The parts of the Government Order dated 11.01.2019 relevant to the controversy, are extracted hereunder:

"(17) प्राथमिक एवं उच्च प्राथमिक स्तर की कक्षाओं की मान्यता:- उपर्युक्त शर्तों को पूरा करने के साथ-साथ निम्नलिखित शर्तों को पूरा करना अनिवार्य होगा:-

(क) भवन:- विद्यालय सोसाइटी का आवश्यकतानुसार उपयुक्त निजी भवन होने पर ही मान्यता के लिए विचार किया जा सकता है। मान्यता के लिये उन्हीं प्रकरणों पर विचार किया जायेगा जहाँ पर महायोजना/ सेक्टर प्लान में भू-उपयोग विद्यालय के नाम अंकित होगा। विद्यालय का मानचित्र संगत प्राधिकारी से स्वीकृत होना अनिवार्य होगा।

109. The criteria for the school building in the Government Order dated 11.01.2019 contains a provision for natural light and ventilation. However, specific technical requirements regarding cross ventilation and natural light are lacking. Specific technical details for provisioning the classrooms with natural light and ventilation have to be given to make the provision fruitful. Experience tells us that any vague criteria for grant of recognition is prone to abuse, and the students are always at the receiving end. The school managements benefit from such provisions to the detriment of the students.

110. The criteria relating to the playground, has also undergone a change, in the Government Order dated 11.01.2019. However, a closer look at the provision in the Government Order, shows that, it is only a window dressing of the earlier provision. The amendments are superficial if not an eyewash. The validity of the amended provision, melts like cheap make up, under the arc light of judicial scrutiny.

111. The provision 17(ञ), which provides for a playground is silent, on the dimensions of the playgrounds. As stated earlier, without specific dimensions of the playgrounds, the purpose of the playground will stand defeated. The Government Order dated 08.05.2013 shows that even a badminton court passes for a playground.

112. There are other offending features in the provision 17(ञ). Clause

17(अ) in the Government Order dated 11.01.2019 provides that the playground should be available either in the premises of the educational institutions or close to the educational institution.

113. The Clause 17(अ) is vague and also renders illusory, the statutory requirement of a playground in a school. As seen earlier playgrounds which are not located in the premises containing the school building violates the provisions of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009.

114. In the light of the preceding discussion, the provision 17(अ) in the Government Order dated 11.01.2019 is violative of Article 21A of the Constitution of India and the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 and The Uttar Pradesh Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Rules, 2011.

115. The provision in 17(अ) of having an option of a playground which is not in the school premises is also unworkable and contrary to the law laid down by this Court in the case of Apple Grove School (supra).

116. There is another aspect to this issue. The provisions for various high schools and intermediate schools which are recognized by the State Government as well as the colleges under the U.P. State Universities Act are required to have a playground which is situated in the same campus where the school or college building stands. There is no concept of a playground which is located at a separate place from the college campus. The provision and the Government Order dated 11.01.2019 is discriminatory and violative of Article 14 of the Constitution of India. The children between the ages of the 6 to 14 years cannot be put in a class separate from students of higher age groups in regard to the right to enjoy a playground in the school campus.

117. The Clause 17(अ) of the Government Order dated 11.01.2019 is violative and ultra vires the Article 14 of the Constitution of India.

118. The Clause 17(अ) of the Government Order dated 11.01.2019 cannot stand and is quashed.

119. As in the case of the Government Order dated 08.05.2013, the recognition granted to those institutions on the foot of the criteria laid down in the Government Order dated 11.01.2019 does not confer any vested rights upon the aforesaid institutions. The provision is void ab initio.

120. The recognition granted to schools in pursuance of the aforesaid Government Orders dated 08.05.2013 and 11.01.2019 would also be void ab initio.

121. Running educational institution on the foot of Government Orders which are unconstitutional and void ab initio, does not vest any rights in such institutions.

122. The rights of such institutions in similar circumstances were adjudicated by this Court in Apple Grove School (supra) as follows:

"35. The argument is made only to be rejected. The long continuance of affiliation despite violation of the affiliation bye-laws does not accumulate any credit of equity in favour of the petitioner. On the contrary, the institution has incurred a debt which it cannot repay. The debt of students who went through the process of schooling without the experience of a play field. The debt of childhoods lost because of denial of opportunities to develop a love for the outdoor life and understanding comradeship through sporting activities. The considerations of the future of the young students of India is invaluable and cannot be weighed in balance with the immediate quest for profit of the petitioner.

36. The right of an educational institution to seek affiliation from a board of education subserves and is subservient to the right of education of the children."

123. As we shall see in the later part of the judgment, these schools shall be granted time to become compliant with the infrastructure norms made in conformity with the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009.

124. Some documents changed the course of human history, while can others alter the course of human evolution.

125. The Constitution of India has changed the course of Indian history. The constitutional values influence and animate our working as a nation.

126. The Government Orders dated 08.05.2013 and 11.01.2019 on the contrary threaten to change the course of evolution of human species. Children of succeeding generations who grow up without the benefit of play-fields will lose the concept of sports and games. Sports will become a distant memory which was indulged by ancient ancestors.

The case of disappearing playgrounds in Uttar Pradesh

127. This Court notices the fact that due to unregulated construction, unplanned colonies and multi-storied complexes made in violation of building bye laws and city master plans, the neighbourhood play fields have simply disappeared. Public parks and play-fields for children are most vulnerable to encroachment.

128. Untold damage has been caused by constructions which are not part of the master plan of the towns and cities and failure of the authorities to incorporate play-fields in various neighbourhoods.

129. The state of playgrounds in Uttar Pradesh is a fast moving narrative of disappearing play-fields. Unregulated and illegal construction, aided by the executive apathy, if not collusion of officials of Development Authorities, and other competent authorities, has caused irreversible damage, to the future of our children and the environment. Gaon Sabha lands are also depleted by the familiar pattern of illegal constructions coupled with the official inaction if not connivance.

130. Lands on which unauthorized constructions have been made cannot be reclaimed for planned urban development within a real time frame. The lands which could have been used as playgrounds are hence simply not available. Land resources are shrinking fact as they are being rapidly consumed by illegal constructions. The situation demands urgent action. It is met with crumbling complacency. Playgrounds have been lost on a dramatic scale and decision makers have not woken up.

131. The last nail has been driven in the coffin of playgrounds by the Government Orders dated 08.05.2013 and 11.01.2019.

132. One may visualize the routine of a young child who does not have any neighbourhood play-field. The child goes to a school and spends the day in an enclosed classroom, as the school lacks a play-field. The child for a better part of his life has been denied his right to play in an open field. The adverse consequences on the growth and personality of a child are not far to seek.

133. Children are born into this world where their future is damaged beyond repair through no fault of theirs. Children also suffer the consequences of the Government Orders which decide their future made by those who would not be a part of. All in all, the damage caused to the playgrounds has been ruthless. It cannot be business as usual. It is time for the courts to define the statutory responsibility and for the authorities to accept responsibility and current failure.

134. The situation is alarming but not beyond redemption, urgent action has to be taken to save the situation. The State authorities have to be alerted to their statutory duties. More important the State authorities have to be held accountable to their statutory obligations.

135. The scheme of the Article 21A of the Constitution and the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 has the education and welfare of the child at its core. Every other activity revolves around this centre and all other authorities subserve this noble object. Schools cannot be treated like fail safe cottage industries, which require minimum investments and provide assured returns. Article 21A of the Constitution and the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 contemplate establishment of temples of learning are called schools and not enterprises for profit called literacy kiosks or education shops.

Infrastructure-II

136. The need for school reforms was in the cognizance of the legislature, it is in the consciousness of the public, but has to be put in the conscience of the State Government.

137. The elements of the schools under the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 including elevation, architecture, ventilation lighting provisions, playgrounds, and so on, as provided under the Act, have to be in such balance as to promote the welfare of the child, nurture the simple joys of childhood, and foster learning in a child friendly environment. The whole ecology of the school campus should promote the said aims. Unscientific architecture, over-crowded class-rooms, unsatisfactory ventilation and lighting, absent playgrounds, and other infrastructural and aesthetic inadequacies exact too much damage on the children. In such an eco system, children lose their importance and simple joys of childhood diminish in significance. The open glimpse of blue skies, the place under the sun, and love of environment are not only the pleasures of childhood, but the foundation on which the edifice of the nation stands. The schools though built in the present have to be planned for the future. The extra human dimension of schools is what is envisaged in the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 and has to be accomplished by creating the appropriate infrastructure and ecology in the schools.

Norms and Inspection of Infrastructure.

138. During the course of the arguments, the learned counsel for the respondent-Basic Shiksha Parishad informed that the inspections in terms of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 of all the schools, which have been granted recognition by the Board (Parishad), have not been conducted in terms of the aforesaid provisions of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009.

139. As stated earlier, the criteria and norms for the infrastructure have to be recreated. They have to be more specific and meticulously laid down to achieve the object of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009. The inspections have to be more thorough to effectuate the purpose of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009.

140. General technical requirements of building plans/building bye laws, elevation, ventilation, light requirements, color scheme options and so on have to be provided by town planners, architects, engineers and experts in the field in collaboration with educationists.

141. Technical aspects of the inspection like college of the school building, provisioning of ventilation, natural light, and other construction infrastructure have to be made in the presence of the qualified engineers of the State of U.P.

Requirements of Building Plan

142. The requirements of building infrastructure regard to fire safety measures engaged the attention of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Avinash Mehrotra v. Union of India and others, reported at 2009(6) SCC 398. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Avinash Mehrotra (supra) co-relating the nature of infrastructure to the quality of education in the context of Article 21A of the Constitution of India held thus:

34.....Similarly, we must hold that educating a child requires more than a teacher and a blackboard, or a classroom and a book. The right to education requires that a child study in a quality school, and a quality school certainly should pose no threat to a child's safety. We reached a similar conclusion, on the comprehensive guarantees implicit in the right to education, only recently in our opinion in Ashoka Kumar Thakurv. Union of India [(2008) 6 SCC 1] .

35.The Constitution likewise provides meaning to the word "education" beyond its dictionary meaning. Parents should not be compelled to send their children to dangerous schools, nor should children suffer compulsory education in unsound buildings.

36. Likewise, the State's reciprocal duty to parents begins with the provision of a free education, and it extends to the State's regulatory power. No matter where a family seeks to educate its children, the State must ensure that children suffer no harm in exercising their fundamental right and civic duty. States thus bear the additional burden of regulation, ensuring that schools provide safe facilities as part of a compulsory education.

43. Many States have already begun implementation. The most forward-thinking States have enacted and enforced the National Building Code in their schools. Often these States have also created, empowered and funded a State-wide emergency response office. The coordinated efforts and concentration of knowledge in these administrative units make States better able to prepare for emergencies, as much as to respond once the problem has started. For example, the State of Gujarat has established such an emergency management office. Having already settled building codes and other large issues, the State can focus on other aspects of emergency management. With the assistance of outside experts, Gujarat recently created a colouring book to teach children how to respond to emergencies.

47. In view of what happened in Lord Krishna Middle School in District Kumbakonam where 93 children were burnt alive and several similar incidences had happened in the past, therefore, it has become imperative to direct that safety measures as prescribed by the National Building Code of India, 2005 be implemented by all government and private schools functioning in our country. We direct that:

(i) Before granting recognition or affiliation, the State Governments and Union Territories concerned are directed to ensure that the buildings are safe and secure from every angle and they are constructed according to the safety norms incorporated in the National Building Code of India.

(ii) All existing government and private schools shall install fire extinguishing equipments within a period of six months.

(iii) The school buildings be kept free from inflammable and toxic material. If storage is inevitable, they should be stored safely.

(iv) Evaluation of structural aspect of the school may be carried out periodically. We direct that the engineers and officials concerned must strictly follow the National Building Code. The safety certificate be issued only after proper inspection. Dereliction in duty must attract immediate disciplinary action against the officials concerned.

(v) Necessary training be imparted to the staff and other officials of the school to use the fire extinguishing equipments."

Locus

143. Both the sets of petitioners claim relief on the foot that they satisfy the requirements of norms and standards of infrastructure posited in the Government Order dated 08.05.2013 and the Government Order dated 11.01.2019. The nature of the rights of the petitioners have to be determined. Similarly, the statutory duties of the authorities have to be clearly defined. These are prerequisites to be determined before this Court can grant or deny the relief sought.

144. The Government Orders dated 08.05.2013 and 11.01.2019, consequently arise for consideration in the instant controversy. This necessitated an enquiry into the validity thereof. This line of enquiry has been undertaken in the earlier part of the judgment. The enquiry has found that the Government Order dated 08.05.2013 and the Government Order dated 11.01.2019 are violative of Article 21A of the Constitution read with the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 read with The Uttar Pradesh Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Rules, 2011 framed thereunder.

145. The Government Orders create a protected zones for certain vested interest namely, the school managements. These provisions directly benefit the aforesaid schools managements to the detriment of the students.

146. The category of citizens, who will be directly affected by the aforesaid Government Orders, are the children of the State of U.P. In a technical sense only the children are the parties aggrieved by the aforesaid Government Orders.

147. There is a huge pressure of demand for schools in the State. In this situation the parents or guardians are desperate and even vulnerable. The children on their part have no understanding of their rights and lack control over their environment. The parents and children have apparently submitted to fate accompli. Inaction of parents and innocence of children cannot become the basis of denial of rights of children conferred by the Article 21A of the Constitution and the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009.

148. The silence of the child is loud enough for the Constitution to hear. The constitutional mandate of this Court is to interpret the law, uphold the rights of citizens and compel performance of statutory duties.

149. In such a situation, even in the absence of a formal challenge to offending the provisions of the Government Orders by an aggrieved party, the same can be duly construed and if required quashed by the Court. The contrary course is not a lawful option. The Court cannot mandamus the authorities to decide representations and enforce rights made on the foot of illegal and unconstitutional Government Orders.

Evaluation procedure

150. The creation of a proper curriculum and evaluation procedure is also a central feature of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009. Section 29 of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 discloses that while scholastic achievements an endeavours have retained their pride of place, the emphasis is also made in the provision on "all around development" including "physical abilities" to the fullest extent. These provisions can be brought to fruition only when such activities are conducted and due credits are given to the children for the same. Such evaluation should depict the development of mental and physical abilities and potentialities of a child.

151. Appropriate Government Orders in this regard have to be taken out by the State and implemented at the levels of the schools.

152. Activities like Scouts and Guides and NCC may be encouraged at school level. Yoga may also be given as an option for children to learn apart from encouraging sports. Music, painting, among other extra curricular activities also may have a place in the curriculum.

153. The activities to ensure overall development of the child have to be part of the evaluation of children and due credits need to be given.

Conclusion

154. In the wake of preceding narrative and the record of the respondents authorities, this Court was minded to convert the petitions into a public interest litigation to monitor the implementation of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009, in light of the law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Ashok Thakore (supra). However, the Court was persuaded by the submissions of Sri Neeraj Tripathi, learned Additional Advocate General, assisted by Sri Shashank Shekhar Singh, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel, who stated with honest conviction that the State Government accords highest priority to imparting quality education to the children of the State and shall make all endeavours to implement with sincerity the provisions of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 and the directions of this Court. Solemn statements by senior most law officers of the State made at the Bar, have to be given full weight by the Courts.

155. The matter is accordingly remitted to the State Government and a writ of mandamus is issued to the Additional Chief Secretary, Basic Education, Government U.P. Lucknow and the authorities mentioned hereunder to execute the following directions:

I. The respondents authorities shall create norms for recognition as well as for grant of government aid to schools consistent with this judgment;

I-A. The norms for recognition and grant of government aid to schools shall include the playgrounds of appropriate size and require mandatory plantation of trees and flora in the school campus for grant of recognition as well as government aid;

I-B. The norms for recognition and grant of government aid to schools shall also include detailed building bye-laws and architectural requirements after taking inputs from urban planers, architects, educationists and other experts and in conformity with this judgment;

II. The exercise of creating the infrastructure norms mentioned above for recognition of schools and grant of government aid shall be completed within a period of five months from today;

III. The procedures and details of inspection of the schools shall also be created afresh in light of the directions in this judgment;

IV. The applications of all the petitioners and all other pending applications for recognition and grant of aid shall be considered after creation of the norms in accordance with the said norms and in light of directions of Hon'ble Supreme Court in Pawan Kumar Dwivedi (supra) and this Court in Paripurna Nand Tripathi (supra). Even in matters where the application for grant of recognition or for government aid has been rejected for any reason, the same shall be considered afresh along with all pending applications;

V. The Government Orders regarding evaluation norms and directions for providing safe transportation, weight of school bags, shall also be issued and implemented;

VI. The Chief Secretary, State of U.P. shall constitute a committee of various departments to ensure concert in functioning and coordination in implementation of the provisions of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 and directions in this judgment. Appropriate authority shall also regularly interface with the Government of India for grant of funds in terms of the provisions of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009;

VII. The said committee shall submit a compliance report to the Chief Secretary on the state of implementation of the provisions of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 and the directions in this judgment, on a six monthly basis;

VIII. The Chief Secretary, State of U.P., shall issue appropriate directions from time to time to the said committee and ensure that the provisions of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009 and directions in this judgment, are implemented rigorously and on a time bound basis;

IX. A website shall be created by the State Government at the state level as well as the district level under the caption "Saakshar Pradesh Shashakt Desh" (साक्षर प्रदेश शशक्त देश), which shall upload the progress of implementation of these directions, and the provisions of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009, details of schools in various neighbourhoods, inspections made by the State Authorities, and other data as may be deemed appropriate on an up to date basis;

X. The existing schools which were granted affiliation under the Government Order dated 08.05.2013 and the Government Order dated 11.01.2019, shall be granted time till the end of the next academic session i.e. till 31.03.2021 to comply with the above said requirements and new norms for grant of recognition and government aid;

XI. After 31st March, 2021, the State Government shall proceed in accordance with law against the said schools, which fail to fulfill the new infrastructure requirements and norms. (This shall not apply to ongoing proceedings against non-compliant schools). However, at all times, the welfare of the students shall be protected and arrangements for admission to alternative schools shall be made in regard to children from schools which are not compliant with the norms for recognition and grant of aid.

156. The writ petitions are decided finally.

A. Service Law - U.P. Co-operative Societies Employees Service Regulation, 1975: Regulation 84; U.P. Co-operative Federation Limited Karamchari Seva Niyamawali, 1980: Rule 83

The Single Judge while relying on the judgment of Single Judge passed in Satya Narain Vs Praband Nideshak and ors dispensed the appellant from service and ordered for recovery of pecuniary loss caused from the embezzlement of money, thereby awarding identical set of two punishments which are awarded simultaneously.

The Division Bench in Virendra Kumar Gupta vs. State of U.P. and ors without taking note of the judgment of Single Judge of Satya Narain (Supra) emphasized that Regulation 84 of the Regulation 1975 prevail over and above Niyamawali, 1980 therefore only one punishment could have been awarded.

The matter has been referred to the larger bench as to analyze the correct position of law when punishment is awarded under Regulation 84 read with Rule 83.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.)

1. This Full Bench has been referred two questions for adjudication by a Division Bench of this Court vide order dated 27.10.2017 noticing some inconsistencies in Regulation 84 of U.P. Co-Operative Societies Employees Service Regulations, 1975 (hereinafter referred to as "Regulation, 1975") and Rule 83 of U.P. Co-operative Federation Limited Karmchari Seva Niyamawali, 1980 (hereinafter referred to as "Rules, 1980") and also expressing its disagreement with view taken by another Division Bench in Virendra Kumar Gupta Vs. State of U.P. and others in Service Bench No. 614 of 2009, decided on 28.07.2015.

2. The questions referred for adjudication are as under:

"1. Whether Regulation 84 of the U.P. Co-operative Societies Employees' Service Regulation 1975 read with Rule 83 of the U.P. Co-operative Federation Limited Karmchari Seva Niyamawali, 1980 services can be harmonized so as to uphold the punishment by way of dismissal of an employee coupled with an order directing recovery of an amount on the charge of a financial embezzlement or misappropriation to be included within the fold of Regulation 84 ?

2. Whether the law laid down in the case of Virendra Kumar Gupta Vs. State of U.P. and others (Supra) in respect of the true import of Regulation 84 read with Rule 83 aforesaid does not state the correct position of law as against the reasoning given by the learned Single Judge in paragraph no.13 in the case of Satya Narain Mishra Vs. Praband Nideshak and another (Supra) and alternatively as to whether the statement of law in that regard as explained in the judgment of Satya Narain Mishra Vs. Praband Nideshak and another (Supra) should be accepted as the correct position of law ?"

(Emphasis added)

3. The facts giving rise to the present Reference may be stated as under.

4. That U.P. Co-operative Federation Limited (hereinafter to as 'PCF') is an Apex Level Co-operative Marketing Society, constituted and registered under the provisions of U.P. Co-operative Societies Act, 1965 (hereinafter referred to as 'U.P. Act, 1965'). Petitioner, Pancham Ram Yadav, was appointed as Storekeeper with the respondent-PCF on 09.03.1981. In 1988, he was working in a godown situated at Dandi, near Mama-Bhanja Talab in trans-yamuna area of Allahabad. In the night of 22/23 April, 1993, a theft was committed in the said godown in respect whereto a First Information Report was lodged at Police Station, Naini, Allahabad on 23.04.1993 registered as Case Crime No. 297 of 1993, under Sections 409, 457 and 380 I.P.C. It was reported that 361 bags of sugar were stolen. During investigation, police arrested one Suraj Bhan Singh and also recovered 101 sugar bags. One of the facts noticed during investigation was that the locks of godown were not broken and bags of sugar were stolen. Considering the matter, in detail, Managing Director, PCF, passed an order of suspension on 18.05.1993 placing petitioner under suspension and appointing one S.P. Singh, General Manager, Head Quarter, as Enquiry Officer. A charge-sheet dated 22.01.1994 was served upon petitioner levelling four charges. During inquiry, upon being transferred, Enquiry Officer was changed and one Prateek Sanjar, General Manager, PCF was appointed as Enquiry Officer by order dated 30.10.1994 who completed enquiry and submitted report holding charges proved against petitioner. Thereafter, a show-cause notice dated 29.05.1998 was issued to petitioner and ultimately punishment order dated 03.03.2000 was passed by Managing Director, PCF imposing punishment of dismissal from service with the approval of Institutional Service Board and also for recovery of Rs. 2,69,130.14. This punishment order dated 03.03.2000 was challenged by petitioner in Writ Petition No. 18891 of 2000. The ground on which punishment order was assailed before learned Single Judge is that two punishments could not have been awarded in view of Regulation 84 of Regulation, 1975 but learned Single Judge (Hon'ble D.P. Singh, J.) relying on an earlier Single Judge judgment in Satya Narain Mishra Vs. Prabandh Nideshak and another : 2002 (1) AWC 582 rejected the submission and dismissed the writ petition vide judgment dated 12.11.2007.

5. Petitioner, Pancham Ram Yadav, then came up in Special Appeal No. 435 of 2008 (Earlier No. 238 (Def.) of 2008) and Division Bench, though agreed with the view taken by learned Single Judge, but finding another Division Bench judgment taking a different view in its way, made this reference to Larger Bench to answer the questions noticed hereinabove.

6. Section 121 of U.P. Act, 1965 confers power upon Registrar to frame Regulations to regulate emoluments and other conditions of service including disciplinary control of employees in a Co-operative Society or a class of Co-operative Societies and any Society to which such terms are applicable, shall comply with those Regulations and any orders of Registrar issued to secure such compliance. Regulations framed in sub-Section (1) of Section 121 of U.P. Act, 1965 are required to be published in the Gazette and take effect from the date of such publication.

7. Section 122 of U.P. Act, 1965 confers power upon State Government to constitute an Authority or Authorities, in such manner as may be prescribed for recruitment, training and disciplinary control of employees of Co-operative Societies, or a class of Co-operative Societies, and may require such Authority or Authorities to frame Regulations regarding recruitment, emoluments, terms and conditions of service including disciplinary control of such employees and subject to the provisions contained in Section 70, settlement of dispute between an employee of a Co-operative Society and the Society.

8. Regulations framed under sub-section (1) of Section 122 of U.P. Act, 1965 are subject to approval of State Government and publication in the Gazette. After publication in Gazette the said Regulation would supersede any Regulations made under Section 121 of Act, 1965.

9. In exercise of powers under sub-section (1) of Section 122 of U.P. Act, 1965 (U.P. Act No. XI of 1966), read with Rule 389-A of Rules, 1968, Governor, vide Notification dated 04th March, 1972, as amended by Notification dated February 7, 1973, constituted an Authority, namely, U.P. Co-operative Institutional Service Board (hereinafter referred to as the 'Board'), for recruitment, training and disciplinary control of employees of Apex Level Societies, Central or Primary Societies (excluding Co-operative Cane Development Unions which include U.P. Co-operative Cane Unions Federations Ltd., Lucknow) whose area of operation extends to more than one District or State, District or Central Co-operative Banks, District Co-operative Federations, Co-operative Milk Unions including Kanpur Co-operative

Milk Board, Co-operative Cane Sugar Factories, Co-operative Textile Mills and U.P. Co-operative Housing Federation. The constitution of Board and functions to be exercised by it are also provided in the said Notification and the same read as under:-

"U.P. Co-operative Institutional Service Board

1. The Board shall consist of -

(i) A Chairman appointed by State Government from amongst a serving or retired Additional Registrar, who has put in at least ten years' service in the U.P. Co-operative Service Class I.

(ii) Two members appointed by the State Government from amongst serving or retired officers of the U.P. Co-operative Service Class I.

2. The Chairman or a member of the Board shall hold office for a term of two years from the date on which he enters upon his office and such term may be extended from time to time subject to the condition that the total period of such extended terms does not exceed four years or until he attains the age of 60 years, whichever is earlier.

3. (i) The Board shall have a secretary and such other staff as the State Government may from time to time sanction to enable the Board to carry out its business.

(ii) The Secretary and other staff of the Board shall be appointed by the Board and shall be under the administrative control of the Chairman, provided that the Chairman may delegate any of his powers relating to the administrative control to any member of the Board.

(iii) The Secretary of the Board shall be from amongst the officers of the U.P. Co-operative Service Class II.

4. The emoluments of the Chairman, Members and the staff of the Board shall be determined and paid by the State Government.

5. The Chairman or a Member shall cease to hold office from the date he ceases to hold the qualifications necessary for his being the Chairman or a Member, as the case may be.

6. The State Government may remove the Chairman or a Member where it is the opinion that he ---

(a) has been guilty of misconduct of gross negligence of duty as such Chairman or Member; or

(b) has become of unsound mind, or has become deaf and dumb, or blind or suffers from leprosy; or

(c) has been convicted for any offence involving moral turpitude; or

(d) is in default (at least for a period of six months) to a co-operative society in respect of any loan taken by him or is a judgment-debtor, or

(e) has taken up any paid or honorary job in any Co-operative Society.

7. The Board shall undertake the job of training of the employees only after prior permission of the State Government is obtained in that respect.

8. The office of the Board shall be headquartered as Lucknow, but the Board may hold its sittings in any place or places within the State for performance of its duties and functions.

9. The Board shall frame its own rules of business and shall submit a copy thereof to the State Government.

10. The Board shall frame regulations regarding recruitment, emoluments, terms and conditions of service including disciplinary control within three months of its constitution:

Provided that the said period may be extended by the State Government from time to time."

10. In the Constitution of the Board and other aspects, as contained in paragraphs 1 and 2 of the Notification dated 04th March 1972, subsequently amendment was made and paragraphs 1 and 2 of Notification dated 04th March 1972 were substituted by Notification dated 31st August 1988, as under:-

"AMENDMENTS

1. The Board shall consist of three members appointed by the State Government from amongst Serving Officers of category 'A' of the U.P. Co-operative Service, who have put in atleast 10 years of service in that category. The Seniormost members shall be appointed Chairman by State Government:

Provided that a person who is the Chairman or a member of the Board at the commencement of this para and is a Serving Additional Registrar shall be deemed to have been appointed under this para.

2. The State Government may, at any time transfer a member of the Board to his parent service.

A member of the Board or Chairman shall retire on attaining the age of his superannuation."

11. By certain subsequent Notifications, some other Authorities were notified under Section 122 (1) to govern specified types of Co-operative Societies inasmuch as by Notification dated 24th February 1974, Cane Commissioner was constituted as an Authority competent to perform functions under Sub-section 1 of Section 122 in respect of all the employees of Co-operative Cane Development Union including U.P. Co-operative Cane Union Federation Ltd., Lucknow. Similarly, by Notification dated 06th August 1977, Commissioner and Secretary, Sugar Industry and Cane Development Department, Uttar Pradesh was notified as competent authority for recruitment, training and disciplinary control of the employees of all Co-operative Sugar Mills in Uttar Pradesh and U.P. Co-operative Sugar Factories Federation Limited, Lucknow. The above reference is only to place the facts straight.

12. Section 130 of U.P. Act, 1965 confers power upon State Government to frame Regulations so as to carry out the purposes of U.P. Act, 1965 and some of the matters, without prejudice to the generality of the power under sub-section (1), are detailed in sub-section (2) of Section 130 of U.P. Act, 1965.

13. In exercise of powers under Section 130 of U.P. Act, 1965, U.P. Co-operative Societies Rules, 1968 (hereinafter referred to as Rules, 1968) were framed by State Government. Rule 389-A of Rules, 1968 provided as under:

"389-A. The authority or authorities under Section 122 may be constituted by the State Government by Notification published in the Official Gazette." (Emphasis added)

14. For the purpose of present matter, we need not go into any Regulations alleged to have been framed under Section 121 for the reasons that in exercise of powers under Section 122 (2), Regulations, 1975 have been framed under Section 1 of Section 122 and published in the Gazette. They have superseded existing Regulation on the date of publication of Regulations, 1975 which was published in U.P. Gazette (Extraordinary) dated 06.01.1976.

15. Regulation 2 (ix) of Regulation, 1975 defines "Co-operative Societies" for the purposes of Regulation, 1975 and reference to Co-operative Societies placed under the purview of Board by Government Notification dated 04th March 1972. 'Employees' governed by Regulation, 1975 are defined in Regulation 2 (xi) and reads as under:

"(xi) 'employee' means a person in whole-time service of a co-operative society, but does not include a casual worker employed on daily wages or a person in part-time service of a society."

16. Chapter-VI of Regulations, 1975 deals with conduct and discipline of the employees of Co-operative Societies governed by Regulations, 1975 and contains Regulations 62 to 83. Thereafter comes Chapter-VII which deals with penalties, disciplinary proceedings and appeals. Regulation 84(i) talks of penalties and reads as under:-

"84. Penalties.- (i) Without prejudice to the provisions contained in any other regulation, an employee who commits a breach of duty enjoined upon him or has been convicted for criminal offence or an offence under section 103 of the Act or does anything prohibited by these regulations shall be liable to be punished by any one of the following penalties: -

(a) censure,

(b) with holding of increment,

(c) fine on an employee of Category IV (peon, chaukidar, etc.).(d) recovery from pay or security deposit to compensate in whole or in part for any pecuniary loss caused to the co-operative society by the employee's conduct,

(e) reduction in rank or grades held substantively by the employee,

(f) removal from service, or

(g) dismissal from service."

(Emphasis added)

17. The punishment contemplated under Regulation 84 can be imposed by competent authority in the manner and as per the procedure prescribed under Regulation 85 of Regulations, 1975. Regulations, 1975 are deemed to be operative to the extent of their inconsistency with any labour laws as provided by Regulation 103 which reads as under:-

"103.The provisions of these regulations to the extent of their inconsistency, with any of the provisions of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, U.P. Dookan Aur Vanijya Adhishthan Adhiniyam, 1962, Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923 and any other labour laws for the time being in force, if applicable to any co-operative society or class of co-operative societies, shall be deemed to be inoperative."

18. Regulation 106 confers power upon State Government to pass such orders, not inconsistent with Regulations, 1975, as deemed necessary and to remove difficulty arising in relation to emoluments, terms and conditions of service, termination, dismissal or removal, adoption or merger.

19. Then comes Regulation 102 which contemplates framing of Service Rules by a Co-operative Societies with the approval of Board. It reads as under:-

*"102.(i) Subject to the provisions of these regulations, a co-operative society shall within three months from the date of coming into force of the regulations (unless an extension of time is allowed by the Board in writing) frame service rules for its employees.

(ii) The service rules framed under sub-clause (i) shall be submitted to the Board for approval and shall be operative only after the approval.

(iii) Notwithstanding, anything contained in these Regulations the existing employees shall have an option to continue to be governed by the existing service rules, if any, in the society only in respect of their emoluments and benefits or to opt the new services rules on these matters.

Explanations.- (1) Provisions relating to pay, increments and allowance (other than travelling allowance), probation, confirmation, retirement, provident fund, and gratuity, shall be deemed as included in term "emoluments and benefits".*

(2) In case of any doubt or dispute interpretation in respect of matter mentioned in (1) above, reference shall be made to the Board and its decision shall be final.

(3) Existing service rules means authentic service rules framed by and with the approval of the competent authority."

(Emphasis added)

20. It is the admitted case of respondents that Rules, 1980 have been framed by PCF pursuant to resolution dated 18.11.1977 approving the said Rules which was approved by Board, vide letter dated 20.04.1979, proposing some amendments/corrections. Thereafter, matter was again examined and PCF passed a resolution dated 11.03.1980 and the same was approved by Board vide letter dated 04.12.1980.

21. In the present case, we are concerned with Rule 83 of Rules 1980, which reads as under:-

*"किसी अन्य सेवा नियम में दिये गये उपबन्धों पर प्रतिकूल प्रभाव डाले बिना किसी कर्मचारी को जो अपने कर्तव्यों का काई उल्लंघन करता है या दण्ड अपराध अधिनियम की धारा 103 के अधीन किसी अपराध के लिये सिद्ध दोष हुआ है या सेवा नियमावली द्वारा प्रतिषिद्ध कोई कार्य करता है, तो उसे निम्न शास्तियों में से एक या अधिक शास्तियों द्वारा दण्डित किया जा सकेगा ।

(क) निन्दा,

(ख) वेतन वृद्धि पर रोक,

(ग) श्रेणी 4 के किसी कर्मचारी (चपरासी, चौकीदार आदि) पर जुर्माना,

(ड.) कर्मचारी द्वारा मौलिक रूप में धृत पर या श्रेणी में अवनति,

(च) सेवा से हटाया जाना, तथा

(छ) सेवा से पदच्युत

(2) दण्ड के आदेश की प्रतिलिपि अनिवार्यतः सम्बद्ध कर्मचारी को दी जायेगी और कर्मचारी के सेवा अभिलेख में इस आशय की प्रविष्ट की जायेगी।

(3) निन्दा करने के अलावा कोई भी शास्ति तब तक आरोपित नहीं की जायेगी जब तक कि कर्मचारी के कारण बताने की नोटिस न दे दी गई हो और या तो वह विनिर्दिष्ट समय के भीतर उत्तर देने में असफल रहा हो अथवा उत्तर दण्ड देने वाले अधिकारी द्वारा असंतोषजनक पाया गया हो।

(4) (क) आरोपित कर्मचारी को समुपयुक्त प्राधिकारी द्वारा अपराध की गम्भीरता के अनुसार दण्ड किया जायेगाः

प्रतिबन्ध यह है कि खण्ड (1) के उपखण्ड (ङ.), (च) या (छ) के अधीन कोई शक्ति अनुशासनिक कार्यवाही किये बिना आरोपित नहीं की जायेगी।

(ख) कोई कर्मचारी उस प्राधिकारी से जिसके द्वारा वह नियुक्त किया गया था भिन्न किसी प्राधिकारी द्वारा तब तक हटाया या पदच्युत नहीं किया जायेगा जब तक कि नियुक्त प्राधिकारी ने ऐसे अप्राधिकार का प्रतिनिधायन ऐसे अन्य व्यक्ति या प्राधिकारी को लिखित रूप में पहले ही न कर दिया हो।

(5) नियुक्त प्राधिकारी या उसके द्वारा प्राधिकृत व्यक्ति वेतन वृद्धि रोकने का आदेश देते समय उस अवधि का जब तक के लिये वह रोकी गई है और इसका कि क्या उससे भविष्य की वेतन वृद्धियां अथवा पदोन्नति स्थगित होगी, उल्लेख करेगा।''

(Emphasis added)

22. The question up for our consideration is that Regulation 84 of Regulations, 1975 which confers power upon competent authority to impose anyone of the punishments prescribed in Regulation 84 while Rule 83 of Rules, 1980 talks of anyone or more of the punishments prescribed in Rule 83 and therefore the first question is "whether to the extent only one punishment is permissible under Rule 83, is it inconsistent with Regulation 84; or, Rule 83 will have an independent operation without being affected in any manner by Regulation 84.

23. One of the earlier decision cited before us is that of a Single Judge (Hon'ble D.P.S. Chauhan, J.) in Vijay Bahadur Yadav, Firozabad Vs. Chairman, U.P. Co-operative Federation Ltd. Lucknow and others : (1992) 2 UPLBEC 1215, wherein, after reproducing Regulation 84 in a short judgment, learned Single Judge has held that the punishment order providing three penalties cannot be sustained. After quoting Regulation 84 in paragraph 4 of the judgment, learned Single Judge has observed that under aforesaid Regulations, punishing authority is authorised to impose any one of the penalties provided thereunder, and not more than one.

24. This decision has been followed in Virendra Kumar Gupta Vs. State of U.P. and others 2015 (7) ADJ 19 by a Division Bench comprising of Hon'ble S. N. Shukla and Akhtar Husain Khan, JJ. It has been held therein that Rules framed by a Co-operative Society under Regulation 102 are subject to the provisions of Regulations, 1975 in view of section 122 and for this purpose, reliance is placed on Supreme Court judgment in U.P. State Cooperative Land Development Bank Ltd. versus Chandra Bhan Dubey and others : (1999) 1 Supreme Court Cases 741. Having said so, Court has said that Rule 84 of Rules, 1975 shall prevail over Regulation 83 of Regulations, 1980 and since superior statutory provision permits imposition of only one penalty, hence more than one penalty cannot be imposed.

25. In Satya Narain Mishra's case (supra), learned Single Judge was confronted with the decision of the earlier Single Judge in Vijay Bahadur Yadav (supra) which was followed in Writ Petition No. 6725 of 1989 (Najeebullah Siddiqui Vs. Registrar, U.P. Co-operative Societies), decided on 02.02.1996 but having noticed above two decisions, learned Single Judge (Hon'ble Sunil Ambwani, J.) proceeded to consider the issue of misappropriation of public money by an employee of bank and observed that such misconduct cannot be treated lightly, and if some amount has been misappropriated by a bank employee and he is imposed any other punishments and not recovery, that will proved to be an incentive to such an employee to siphon away huge public funds and thereafter get only one punishment, may be dismissal, but no recovery at all. The observations made by learned Single Judge in Satya Narain Mishra's case (supra), in paragraph 13, reads as under:-

"13. In case bank employee who is found to have embezzled the amount, the public policy demands that apart from the punishment given by departmental authority, he be held responsible for the recovery of the pecuniary loss caused by the employee to the Bank. If an employee is held to be liable to only one of the punishments, it may become an incentive to misappropriate or embezzle a large amount and escape liability of such misappropriation or embezzlement. The punishment of reversion or removal or dismissal on the ground of misconduct should be with direction of recovery to make good the loss caused due to such misconduct. Regulation 84, providing for penalties and stating that the employee is liable to be punished by any one of the penalty has thus to be interpreted to mean that in case of misappropriation or embezzlement which is the misconduct on account of which the employee has been penalised, the recovery of the amount of pecuniary loss caused to the bank is necessary to be coupled with the penalty effected upon delinquent employee. In V.K. Bahadur u. State Bank of India. 2001 L&IC 935, this Court following the judgment in State Bank of India v. T.J. Paul, AIR 1999 SC 1994 ; Kailash Nath Gupta Vs. Enquiry Officer : 1997 (1) AWC 2.63 (NOC): 1997 ACJ 896, held that where financial irregularities of serious nature are found proved against the bank employee no lenient view should be taken. A bank runs on public confidence. A greater integrity and devotion is required from bank employee in comparison to employees of other organisations. If the allegation of embezzlement, misappropriation or gross negligence is found to be established causing pecuniary loss to the bank on account of delinquent employee, the amount of loss must be made good by him. In the present case, only half of the doubtful recoveries have been sought to be made good, and in the circumstances it is held that imposition of penalty of reversion along with recovery of the amount, does not violate Regulation 84 of the U. P. Co-operative Societies Service Regulation. 1975."

26. His Lordship (Hon'ble Sunil Ambwani, J.) has sought to interpret Regulation 84 in the manner that in case of misappropriation and embezzlement, if an employee is penalized, the order of recovery of the amount of pecuniary loss caused to the employer is necessary to be coupled with the penalty inflicted upon delinquent employee. His Lordship has referred to this Court's judgment in V.K. Bahadur u. State Bank of India. 2001 L&IC 935, wherein, it was held that financial irregularities of serious nature, if proved against a bank employee, no lenient view should be taken. A greater integrity and devotion is required from bank employees in comparison to employees of other organizations. If the allegations of embezzlement, misappropriation or gross negligence is found to be established causing loss to the bank, such employee may be required to make the loss good.

27. There is clear disagreement on the part of the learned Single Judge in Satya Narain Mishra's case (supra) and from earlier judgment in Vijay Bahadur Yadav's case (supra) as also Najeebullah Siddiqui Vs. Registrar, U.P. Co-operative Societies (supra) but instead of referring the matter to Larger Bench, his Lordship has taken a different interpretation, which, in our opinion, was not appropriate and the proper course was to refer the matter to a Larger Bench.

28. The Division Bench making present reference has expressed its agreement with the learned Single Judge in Satya Narain Mishra's case (supra) and the reason is apparent that an employee who has caused loss to employer by embezzling public money etc. must be made liable to make the loss good and strict interpretation of statutory provision, if allows, such person would escape such liability, hence such interpretation would not be in public interest but would be the boom to the employee concerned.

29. Faced with these two views expressed in the above two sets of judgments, we have examined the scope and ambit of Regulation 84 of Regulation, 1975 vis-a-vis Rule 83 of Rules, 1980.

30. Rules, 1980, if would have been framed in an independent exercise of power under some provision of U.P. Act, 1965, things would have been much easier but, here, the real problem is that Rules, 1980 have been framed in exercise of power under Regulation 102 of Regulation, 1975. Such Rules have to be subordinate and subject to Regulation, 1975 and cannot be allowed to travel beyond specific provisions contained in Regulations, 1975. It is not a case where Regulations, 1975 is silent and, therefore, Rule, 1980 travels on a field which is unoccupied. On the contrary, here is a field covered by Regulation 84 of Regulations, 1975 which very specifically provides that only one of the punishments prescribed can be imposed. However Rule 83 of Rules, 1980 states that anyone or more punishment can be imposed. The words used in both the provisions are distinct. Regulation 84 while restrict power of punishing authority to the extent of imposing one punishment, there is no such restriction in Rule 83 of Rules, 1980. On the contrary Rule 83 permits imposition of more than one punishment.

31. Looking to the purpose and objective of the provisions dealing with disciplinary proceedings and the punishment to be imposed upon an employee, there cannot be any doubt that an employee, if found guilty of serious misconduct of embezzlement of public funds, he must be imposed major penalties of reduction in rank or dismissal or removal but, simultaneously, if such misconduct has also caused loss to the employer, one cannot have any doubt that punishment of recovery should also be imposed upon him so that such employee may not escape without making good the loss caused to the employer on account of misconduct. This object is very loud and must be given effect but, in our view, when Statute is specific, clear and categorical there is no reason that court must provide casus omissus and read something therein which legislating competent authority has chosen not to do.

32. It cannot be said that Board who actually drafted Regulations, 1975 and got it approved from State Government was not aware that several kinds of punishments have been prescribed in the Statutes and provision could be made to impose more than one punishments, still it has chosen not to do so and has chosen not to make any amendment in Regulation 84 till date. If we add the words "or more" after the word "anyone" in Regulation 84(1), it will amount to a judicial legislation and will change the scope and ambit of Regulation in its entirety. The law on the subject is that Court should not add anything in the Statute when otherwise Statute is clear.

33. Normally a casus omissus should not be read by Court in the statute and should not be easily supplied unless it is found by implication that it was the intention of legislature and hence in the scheme of the statute, it is necessary. This Court is aware that the rules of the interpretation are not rules of laws and are not to be followed like rules enacted by legislature in Act as observed in Superintendent and Remembrance of Legal Affairs, West Bengal Vs. Corporation of Calcutta, AIR 1967 SC 997. The principles of interpretation serve only as a guide. A casus omissus cannot be supplied by Court. There is no presumption that a casus omissus exists and language permitting Court should avoid creating a casus Omissus where there is none. It would be appropriate to recollect the observations of Devlin, L.J. in Gladstone Vs. Bower,(1960) 3 All ER 353 (CA):

"The Court will always allow the intention of a statute to override the defects of working but the Court's ability to do so is limited by recognized canons of interpretation. The Court may, for example, prefer an alternative construction, which is less well fitted to the words but better fitted to the intention of the Act. But here, there is no alternative construction; it is simply a case of something being overlooked. We cannot legislate for casus omissus."

34. In Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board Vs. A. Rajappa and others 1978 (36) FLR 266, Court quoted with approval the following observation of Lord Simonds in Magor & St. Mellons R.D.C. Vs. Newport Corporation, (1951) 2 All ER 839 (841):

"The duty of the Court is to interpret the words that the Legislature has used. Those words may be ambiguous, but, even if they are, the power and duty of the Court to travel outside them on a voyage of discovery are strictly limited."

35. It would be appropriate at this stage to remind another principle that though a Court cannot supply a real casus omissus, it is equally evident that it should not so interpret a statute as to create casus omissus when there is really none.

36. In Vemareddy Kumaraswamy Reddy and another Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh 2006 (2) SCC 670 Court reiterated that while interpreting a provision, Court only interprets the law and cannot legislate. If a provision of law is misused and subject to the abuse of process of law, it is for the legislature to amend, modify or repeal it if deemed necessary. The legislative casus omissus cannot be supplied by judicial interpretative process.

37. Recently, in Star India Private Limited Vs. Department of Industrial

Policy and Promotion and others (2019) 2 SCC 104, Court referring to earlier judgment in Petroleum and Natural Gas Regulatory Board Vs. Indraprastha Gas Ltd. (2015) 9 SCC 209 has held, where there is a casus omissus, such lacuna cannot be filled up by judicial interpretative process.

38. In this view of the matter, we find no reason to expand scope of Regulation 84 beyond what is stated specifically therein and/or to allow Rule 83 to operate beyond Regulation 84 which is part of principal legislation under which Rule 83 has been framed and has to be subordinate thereto.

39. We, therefore, hold that Regulation 84 shall prevail over Rule 83 and to the extent Rule 83 is inconsistent with Regulation 84, it is ultra vires and cannot be given effect to.

40. Having said so, we may also make it clear that it would not result in allowing an employee of a Co-operative Society to swallow funds of a Co-operative Society and go unburdened with the loss it has caused to the employer. By virtue of departmental enquiry, once it is established that an employee has caused some loss to the employer, in our view, it will become a civil liability of such an employee to make good the loss caused to the employer or employer can claim discharge of such liability by employee by paying such amount, failing which, to proceed for recovery in any other manner as provided in law. For example, since such loss/civil liability touches the business of Co-operative Society, its dispute can be resolved under Section 70 of U.P. Act, 1965 or the said amount can be recovered by bringing an action in civil law. Therefore, whatever we have said hereinabove is in the context of Regulation 84 of Regulations, 1975 vis-a-vis Rule 83 of Rules, 1980 but we make it clear that once siphoning off public funds or loss to the employer is proved and determined, such amount becomes civil liability of employee towards employer. Since it touched upon the business of employer, other remedies are also available to Co-operative Societies concerned to realize the said amount from employee.

41. We would also like to observe that the competent authority framing Regulations under Section 122 should look into the matter. It is advisable that Regulation 84 should be amended at the earliest so as to avoid any injurious situation occurring to Co-operative Societies governed by Regulations, 1975 on account of lacuna in the drafting of Regulation 84 of Regulations, 1975 with regard to imposing of punishment.

42. We, therefore, answer the questions referred to us as under:

(1) Since evident contradiction in the language of Regulation 84 of Regulations, 1975 and Rule 83 of Rules, 1980, the aforesaid provisions cannot be harmonized, hence Regulation 84 of Regulations, 1975 shall prevail over Rule 83 of Rules, 1980 and only one of the punishments prescribed can be imposed as specifically stated in Regulation 84 of Regulations, 1975.

(2) The Division Bench judgment in Virendra Kumar Gupta's case (supra) lays down correct law and otherwise view expressed by learned Single Judge in Satya Narain Mishra's case (supra) as also expressed in the Reference order is not correct position of law.

43. Let the matter be placed before Division Bench for deciding appeal on merits.

Writ A No. 21057 of 2018

Vikalp Kumar ...Petitioner
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Sri Ashok Khare, Sri Siddharth Khare.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

A. Service Law - appointment - Employee Discipline and Conduct Rules - alleged that petitioner simultaneously pursued BTC and M.Sc. (1st year) course in same year - violation of the aforementioned Rules - petitioner took BTC course during the academic session 2012-2013 and 2013-2014 - M.Sc. course was pursued in the year 2014-2015 and 2015-2016 which eventually got cancelled

The Court observed that the authorities had failed to show any regulation or rule contemplating that a degree and a certificate course cannot be pursued simultaneously. Further the petitioner was appointed without availing the benefit of M.Sc. degree. (para 19)

B. Natural Justice - Uttar Pradesh Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 - Rules 7, 8 and 9 - enquiry report not provided to the petitioner - enquiry vitiated

It is mandatory to provide enquiry report to the delinquent in order to provide opportunity to submit reply to the same. (Para 12, 13, 14 and 15)

Writ Petition allowed (E-10)

Cases cited:-

2. Kuldeep Kumar Pathak Vs St. of UP & ors (2016)3 SCC 521

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vivek Varma, J.)

1. Present writ petition has been filed for quashing the order dated 10.9.2018 (Annexure No. 13 to this writ petition) passed by Basic Shiksha Adhikari, Bijnor i.e. respondent no. 4 whereby the services of the petitioner as an Assistant Teacher has been terminated. The petitioner also prayed for reinstatement and for payment of his salary on month to month basis and further to release his arrears of salary w.e.f. 13.3.2018 with interest.

2. In brief, an advertisement dated 12.12.2014 was placed in the news papers inviting applications for the post of Assistant Teachers in Primary Institutions. Petitioner having possessed Graduation degree and two years Bachelor Training Certificate (BTC) Course applied pursuant to the said advertisement. The petitioner was selected under General category and was accordingly issued appointment letter dated 28.6.2016 by the Basic Shiksha Adhikari, Bijnor. The petitioner joined as Assistant Teacher on 27.6.2018 at Primary Institution, Pittahedi, Block Kiratpur, District Bijnor. After completion of one year, the appointment was confirmed by the competent authority.

3. On 13.3.2018, petitioner was placed under suspension by the District basic Education Officer, Bijnor on the allegation that he had simultaneously pursued BTC course and M.Sc. First Year, as a regular student in the academic session 2014-15. The order of suspension was challenged by the petitioner before this Court being Civil Misc Writ Petition No. 12548 of 2018, which was dismissed on 24.5.2018 with the observation that the authority concerned shall conclude the departmental proceedings in accordance with law, within a period of three months from the date of production of certified copy of the order after considering the reply of the petitioner.

4. On 16.7.2018 a charge sheet was issued to the petitioner which contained three charges. The first charge states that the petitioner had simultaneously pursued BTC course from District Education and Training Institute, Bijnor and M.Sc. (Ist Year) from Vardhman College, Bijnor in the same year and thus has played fraud upon the department. The second charge is with regard to lowering the image of the department and third charge pertains to indiscipline and violation of Employee Discipline and Conduct Rules.

5. The petitioner submitted his reply that he had done the BTC Course in the academic session 2012-13, 2013-14 while the M.Sc. Course was undergone by him in the academic sessions 2014-15 and 2015-16, therefore, the academic sessions are different. He got the M.Sc. Degree cancelled, attention in this regard was drawn to the cancellation order dated 27.3.2018. It was categorically stated that he had not taken any benefit of M.Sc, degree in obtaining the appointment on the post of Assistant Teacher in Primary Institution. It was also submitted that even a perusal of his application form for appointment on the post of Assistant Teacher would reflect that he has not even mentioned his M.Sc. Qualification.

6. Thereafter, a letter dated 7.9.2018 was issued by Block Education Officer, Kiratpur seeking further reply on certain other issues, which was also replied by the petitioner. After completing the inquiry an inquiry report dated 10.9.2018 was submitted by the Block Development Officer to the District Basic Education Officer. Relying upon the said ex-parte inquiry report dated 10.9.2018, the services of the petitioner were terminated on the same day vide order dated 10.9.2018 passed by District Basic Education Officer, Bijnor. It is this order which is subject matter of challenge before this Court.

7. Learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that the aforesaid impugned order has been passed in violation of principles of natural justice inasmuch as before passing the order impugned, no opportunity of hearing of any kind whatsoever was afforded to the petitioner. He has not been provided any relevant documents including the copy of inquiry report, and he has also not been afforded an opportunity of oral hearing, therefore, he submitted that the impugned order is bad and is liable to be quashed. It was further contended that there is no bar against pursuing a degree course and a certificate course, simultaneously, in view of the resolution of University Grants Commission, New Delhi. He has also submitted that the petitioner has not played fraud or misrepresented before the respondents.

8. Per contra, learned counsel for the respondents submitted that the impugned order has been passed strictly in accordance with law and hence no interference is called for. The writ petition lacks merit and is liable to be dismissed.

9. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the material on record.

10. The question that needs to be answered first as to whether the disciplinary authority was justified in passing the impugned order of removal of petitioner from service without supplying the copy of the enquiry report and further whether the procedure prescribed under the Rules for holding departmental inquiry in respect of imposition of major penalty have been followed or not.

11. It is not in dispute that service conditions of the petitioner is governed by the Uttar Pradesh Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999. It is apposite to extract Rules 7, 8 and 9 of the Rules, 1999, which read as follows:

"7. Procedure for imposing major penalties.--Before imposing any major penalty on a Government Servant, an inquiry shall be held in the following manner:

(i) The Disciplinary Authority may himself inquire into the charges or appoint an Authority subordinate to him as Inquiry Officer to inquire into the charges.

(ii) The facts constituting the misconduct on which it is proposed to take action shall be reduced in the form of definite charge or charges to be called charge-sheet. The charge-sheet shall be approved by the disciplinary authority :

Provided that where the appointing authority is Governor, the charge-sheet may be approved by the Principal Secretary or the Secretary; as the case may be, of the concerned department.

(iii) The charges framed shall be so precise and clear as to give sufficient indication to the charged Government servant of the facts and circumstances against him. The proposed documentary evidence and the name of the witnesses proposed to prove the same along with oral evidence, if any, shall be mentioned in the charge-sheet.

(iv) The charged Government servant shall be required to put in a written statement of his defence in person on a specified date which shall not be less than 15 days from the date of issue of charge-sheet and to state whether he desires to cross-examine any witness mentioned in the charge-sheet and whether desires to give or produce evidence in his defence. He shall also be informed that in case he does not appear or file the written statement on the specified date, it will be presumed that he has none to furnish and Inquiry Officer shall proceed to complete the inquiry ex parte.

(v) The charge-sheet, alongwith the copy of the documentary evidences mentioned therein and list of witnesses and their statements, if any shall be served on the charged Government servant personally or by registered post at the address mentioned in the official records. In case the charge-sheet could not be served in aforesaid manner, the charge-sheet shall be served by publication in a daily newspaper having wide circulation :

Provided that where the documentary evidence is voluminous, instead of furnishing its copy with charge-sheet, the charged Government servant shall be permitted to inspect the same before the Inquiry Officer.

(vi) Where the charged Government servant appears and admits the charges, the Inquiry Officer shall submit his report to the disciplinary authority on the basis of such admission.

(vii) Where the charged Government servant denies the charges the inquiry officer shall proceed to call the witnesses proposed in the charge-sheet and record their oral evidence in presence of the charged Government servant who shall be given opportunity to cross-examine such witnesses. After recording the aforesaid evidence, the Inquiry Officer shall call and record the oral evidence which the charged Government servant desired in his written statement to be produced in his defence:

Provided that the Inquiry Officer may for reasons to be recorded in writing refuse to call a witness.

(viii) The Inquiry Officer may summon any witness to given evidence or require any person to produce documents before him in accordance with the provisions of the Uttar Pradesh Departmental Inquiries (Enforcement of Attendance of Witness and Production of Documents) Act, 1976.

(ix) The Inquiry Officer may ask any question he pleases, at any time of any witness or from person charged with a view to discover the truth or to obtain proper proof of facts relevant to charges.

(x) Where the charged Government servant does not appear on the date fixed in the inquiry or at any stage of the proceeding in spite of the service of the notice on him or having knowledge of the date, the Inquiry Officer shall proceed with the inquiry ex parte. In such a case, the Inquiry Officer shall record the statement of witnesses mentioned in the charge-sheet in absence of the charged Government servant.

(xi) .....

8. Submission of inquiry report.-- When the inquiry is complete, the Inquiry Officer shall submit its inquiry report to the Disciplinary Authority along with all the record of the inquiry. The Inquiry Report shall contain a sufficient record of brief facts, the evidence and statement of the findings on each charge and the reasons thereof. The Inquiry Officer shall not make any recommendation about the penalty.

9. Action on Inquiry Report.-- (1) The Disciplinary Authority may, for reasons to be recorded in writing, remit the case for re-inquiry to the same or any other Inquiry Officer under intimation tot he charged Government servant. The Inquiry Officer shall thereupon proceed to hold the inquiry from such stage as directed by the Disciplinary Authority, according to the provisions of Rule 7.

(3) .....

(4) If the Disciplinary Authority, having regard to its findings on all or any of charges is of the opinion that any penalty specified in Rule 3 should be imposed on the charged Government servant, he shall give a copy of the inquiry report and his findings recorded under sub-rule (2) to the charged Government servant and require him to submit his representation if he so desires, within a reasonable specified time. The Disciplinary Authority shall, having regard to all the relevant records relating to the inquiry and representation of the charged Government servant, if any, and subject to the provisions of Rule 16 of these rules, pass a reasoned speaking order imposing one or more penalties mentioned in Rule 3 of these rules and communicate the same to the charged Government servant."

12. The procedure as contemplated under the Rule 7,8 & 9 of the Rules 1999 for imposition of major penalty was not followed. The enquiry officer admittedly did not fix any date or time for the enquiry, neither any evidence was led by the District Basic Education Officer to substantiate the charge.

13. The enquiry officer submitted his report to the Disciplinary authority on 10.9.2018. The Disciplinary Authority i.e. District Basic Education Officer agreed with the findings of the enquiry report and without supplying the copy of the same and without issuing any show cause against the proposed punishment, passed the order dated 10.9.2018 terminating his services. Failure to supply copy of the inquiry report, before the disciplinary authority, takes its decision on the charges, is a denial of reasonable opportunity to the employee to prove his innocence and is a clear breach of the principles of natural justice.

14. The object of rules of natural justice is to ensure that an employee is treated fairly in proceedings which may culminate in imposition of punishment including dismissal/removal from service. It is a basic requirement of rules of natural justice that an employee should be given a reasonable opportunity of being heard in any proceeding which may culminate in a major punishment being imposed on the employee. Thus, the disciplinary proceedings stood vitiated.

15. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Union of India & Ors. Vs. Mohd. Ramzan Khan, (1991) 1 SCC 588, has held that it is mandatory to provide enquiry report to the delinquent in order to provide an opportunity to submit reply to the same. In case the punishment order imposing major penalty has been passed without providing enquiry report to the delinquent employee the said punishment order is not sustainable in the eyes of law. The relevant paragraphs read as under:-

"14. This Court in Mazharul Islam Hashmi v. State of U.P. [(1979) 4 SCC 537 : 1980 SCC (L&S) 54] pointed out:

"Every person must know what he is to meet and he must have opportunity of meeting that case. The legislature, however, can exclude operation of these principles expressly or implicitly. But in the absence of any such exclusion, the principle of natural justice will have to be proved."

15. Deletion of the second opportunity from the scheme of Article 311(2) of the Constitution has nothing to do with providing of a copy of the report to the delinquent in the matter of making his representation. Even though the second stage of the inquiry in Article 311(2) has been abolished by amendment, the delinquent is still entitled to represent against the conclusion of the Inquiry Officer holding that the charges or some of the charges are established and holding the delinquent guilty of such charges. For doing away with the effect of the enquiry report or to meet the recommendations of the Inquiry Officer in the matter of imposition of punishment, furnishing a copy of the report becomes necessary and to have the proceeding completed by using some material behind the back of the delinquent is a position not countenanced by fair procedure. While by law application of natural justice could be totally ruled out or truncated, nothing has been done here which could be taken as keeping natural justice out of the proceedings and the series of pronouncements of this Court making rules of natural justice applicable to such an inquiry are not affected by the Forty-second Amendment. We, therefore, come to the conclusion that supply of a copy of the inquiry report along with recommendation, if any, in the matter of proposed punishment to be inflicted would be within the rules of natural justice and the delinquent would, therefore, be entitled to the supply of a copy thereof. The Forty-second Amendment has not brought about any change in this position.

16. At the hearing some argument had been advanced on the basis of Article 14 of the Constitution, namely, that in one set of cases arising out of disciplinary proceedings furnishing of the copy of the inquiry report would be insisted upon while in the other it would not be. This argument has no foundation inasmuch as where the disciplinary authority is the Inquiry Officer there is no report. He becomes the first assessing authority to consider the evidence directly for finding out whether the delinquent is guilty and liable to be punished. Even otherwise, the inquiries which are directly handled by the disciplinary authority and those which are allowed to be handled by the Inquiry Officer can easily be classified into two separate groups ? one, where there is no inquiry report on account of the fact that the disciplinary authority is the Inquiry Officer and inquiries where there is a report on account of the fact that an officer other than the disciplinary authority has been constituted as the Inquiry Officer. That itself would be a reasonable classification keeping away the application of Article 14 of the Constitution.

17. There have been several decisions in different High Courts which, following the Forty-second Amendment, have taken the view that it is no longer necessary to furnish a copy of the inquiry report to delinquent officers. Even on some occasions this Court has taken that view. Since we have reached a different conclusion the judgments in the different High Courts taking the contrary view must be taken to be no longer laying down good law. We have not been shown any decision of a coordinate or a larger bench of this Court taking this view. Therefore, the conclusion to the contrary reached by any two-Judge bench in this Court will also no longer be taken to be laying down good law, but this shall have prospective application and no punishment imposed shall be open to challenge on this ground.

18. We make it clear that wherever there has been an Inquiry Officer and he has furnished a report to the disciplinary authority at the conclusion of the inquiry holding the delinquent guilty of all or any of the charges with proposal for any particular punishment or not, the delinquent is entitled to a copy of such report and will also be entitled to make a representation against it, if he so desires, and non-furnishing of the report would amount to violation of rules of natural justice and make the final order liable to challenge hereafter."

16. Now coming to the other issue as to whether the petitioner has played fraud or misrepresented in getting appointment as Assistant Teacher. In this connection, a perusal of the record would disclose that the petitioner completed two years BTC course during the academic session 2012-13 and 2013-14, while M.Sc. Course was pursued and completed by the petitioner during academic session 2014-15 and 2015-16. Therefore, the academic session of both the courses are different. Further, based upon the application dated 14.3.2018 filed by the petitioner, the M.J.P. Rohilkhand University, Bareilly vide order dated 27.3.2018 proceeded to cancel the M.Sc. Degree of the petitioner. It appears from the impugned order dated 10.9.2018 that neither the Enquiry Officer nor the Disciplinary Authority considered this issue and passed the order terminating the services of the petitioner. Non supply of the enquiry report thus has seriously prejudiced the cause of the petitioner.

17. The impugned order would also reflect that it proceeds on the charge that by appearing in two examinations simultaneously for the same year, petitioner has played fraud and lowered the image of the respondents-department. Further the petitioner also acted in violation of the relevant Service Conduct Rules.

18. The reasoning given by the District Basic Education Officer is clearly unsustainable in as much as no such provision governing the petitioner's service has been brought to the notice of the Court, which may prohibit any such employee to undergo in the two examinations simultaneously. Infact the petitioner has relied upon the resolution of the University Grants Commission, New Delhi dated 28.12.2012, whereby a decision was taken that "a student pursuing a degree programme under regular mode may be allowed to pursue a maximum of one certificate/diploma/ advanced diploma/ PG Diploma programme simultaneously either in regular or open and distance mode in the same university or from other institutions" to contend that a student may pursue a degree course along with a certificate course.

19. Thus, it is more than apparent that the authorities have neither considered the issue in correct perspective nor the respondents have been able to show that there is any such regulation or rule contemplating that a degree and a certificate course cannot be pursued simultaneously. Moreover, the petitioner has been selected by the respondents on fulfilling the essential qualifications prescribed for the post of Assistant Teacher. The petitioner has not derived any benefit on account of his post-graduate degree (M.Sc.). The M.Sc. Degree was got cancelled by the petitioner. Even otherwise in view of the University Grants Commission resolution dated 28.12.2012, a student can pursue a degree course and a certificate course simultaneously. Therefore, appointment of the petitioner cannot be annulled on the ground that the petitioner tried to pursue both the courses simultaneously. It is also not the case of the respondents that petitioner has pursued the courses while holding the post of Assistant Teacher. The allegation that the petitioner has committed fraud or misrepresentation in procuring the job of Assistant Teacher is not substantiated from the record and pleadings of the respondents.

20. A similar issue also arose for consideration before the Hon'ble the Apex Court in Kuldeep Kumar Pathak Vs State of UP and others, 2016 (3) SCC 521, wherein the Court held as under:-

"6. Before us, Mr. Pradeep Kant, learned senior counsel for the appellant has made a neat legal argument. He submits that though the impugned judgment proceeds on the basis that appearing in two examinations simultaneously for the same year is violation of the Regulations of the Board, this reason given by the High Court is clearly unsustainable inasmuch as no such Regulation is shown by the Board which prohibited any such candidate to appear in two examinations in the same year. The learned senior counsel further argued that the impugned order passed by the respondents for confiscating his Certificate of Intermediate exam was, otherwise also, contrary to the principles of natural justice inasmuch as no show cause notice and opportunity of hearing was given to the appellant before passing such an order, which was passed belatedly after a period of nine years from the passing of the said examination by the appellant.

7. We are of the opinion that both the submissions of the learned senior counsel are valid in law and have to prevail. The High Court has been influenced by the argument of the respondents that simultaneous appearance in two examinations by the appellant in the same year was 'contrary to the Regulations'. However, no such Regulation has been mentioned either by the learned Single Judge or the Division Bench. Curiously, no such Regulation has been pointed out even by the respondents. On our specific query to the learned counsel for the respondents to this effect, he expressed his inability to show any such Regulation or any other rule or provision contained in the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 or Supplementary Regulations of 1976 framed under the aforesaid Act or in any other governing Regulations. Therefore, the entire foundation of the impugned judgment of the High Court is erroneous.

8. It is also pertinent to note that the appellant's intermediate examination and result thereof was not in question before the U.P. Board. No illegality in the admission in that class has been pointed out by the respondents. The alleged charge of simultaneously appearing in two examinations, one of the U.P. Board and other of the Sanskrit Board, was with respect to Class X and equivalent examination which did not relate to admission in intermediate course. The only provision for canceling the said admission is contained in Regulation (1) of Chapter VI-B. It details the procedure for passing the order of punishment canceling intermediate results and, inter alia, prescribes that a committee consisting of three different members is to be constituted and entrusted with the responsibility of looking into and disposing of cases relating to unfair means and award appropriate penalty as specified in the Regulations itself. However, there is no allegation of any unfair means adopted by the appellant in the instant case and, therefore, that Regulation has no applicability. Even otherwise, no such committee was constituted. Therefore, having taken admission in Intermediate on the basis of past certificate issued by a separate Board, which was recognised, and not on the basis of the result of Class X of the U.P. Board, the appellant derived no advantage from his examination of the U.P. Board while seeking admission in Intermediate course. Thus, from any angle the matter is to be looked into, the impugned orders dated April 20, 2011 and May 10, 2011 passed by the respondents are null and void, apart from the fact that they are in violation of the principles of natural justice.

9. The appeal is, accordingly, allowed with costs by quashing the aforesaid impugned orders and reversing the impugned judgment of the High Court. The appellant shall, accordingly, be entitled to all consequential benefits."

21. The law laid by the Hon'ble Apex Court cited in the preceding paragraph is fully applicable to the facts and circumstances of the present case.

22. In view of the aforesaid the writ petition is allowed. The impugned order dated 10.9.2018 (Annexure No. 13 to this writ petition) passed by Basic Shiksha Adhikari, Bijnor i.e. respondent no. 4. is hereby quashed and consequently respondents are directed to reinstate the petitioner forthwith with all consequential benefits.

A. Constitution of India- Article 226- seeking payment of salary from State Exchequer from the date of appointment in the primary section- primary school attached to intermediate college.

Primary institution teachers were brought in grant-in-aid list of the State Government- entitle to receive salary from State Exchequer-District Inspector of School granted prior approval for publishing notification for vacancies- Published in "Jagat Asha Deoria" and "Deoria Express Deoria"- no A. Service Law - U.P. Co-operative Societies Employees Service Regulation, 1975: Regulation 84; U.P. Co-operative Federation Limited Karamchari Seva Niyamawali, 1980: Rule 83

The Single Judge while relying on the judgment of Single Judge passed in Satya Narain Vs Praband Nideshak and ors dispensed the appellant from service and ordered for recovery of pecuniary loss caused from the embezzlement of money, thereby awarding identical set of two punishments which are awarded simultaneously.

The Division Bench in Virendra Kumar Gupta vs. State of U.P. and ors without taking note of the judgment of Single Judge of Satya Narain (Supra) emphasized that Regulation 84 of the Regulation 1975 prevail over and above Niyamawali, 1980 therefore only one punishment could have been awarded.

The matter has been referred to the larger bench as to analyze the correct position of law when punishment is awarded under Regulation 84 read with Rule 83.

4. Ashok Kumar Das & ors Vs University of Burdwan & ors (2010) 3 SCC 616

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sunita Agarwal, J.)

1. The petitioners (five in number) are claiming payment of salary from the State Exchequer with effect from the date of their appointment i.e. on 18.05.2001 in the primary section (upto class V) attached to the institution namely Gyan Prakash Intermediate College, Bhaluwani, Deoria.

2. The stand of the petitioners is that the primary institution was established in the aforesaid institution in the year 1969 after it was granted recognition by the District Inspector of Schools vide letter No.582 dated 17.03.1969. Thereafter, the order of attachment of the said section to the intermediate college was passed. The order of recognition or attachment are not on record. Moreover, there is no dispute about the fact that the primary institution is being run since its establishment in the year 1969 as an integral part of the intermediate institution having common management and is being managed by the duly constituted committee of management.

3. It is stated in the writ petition that the teacher as well as student attendance register being maintained in the institution have been verified from time to time by the District Inspector of School concerned. The payment of salary to the primary teachers was initially being made form the reimbursement grant received from time to time from the State Government as well as out of managerial resources. By the Government order dated 06.09.1989, issued to bring the primary teachers attached to 393 boys higher secondary school, the primary institution teachers of the institution in question were brought on the grant-in-aid list of the State Government. Consequently the teachers working in the primary section were held entitled to get salary from the State exchequer. The circular dated 28.12.1989 was then issued by the Director of Education (Mahdyamik), U.P. providing for standard/fixing strength of the students per class/section as 40 (for class I to V) in continuation of the circular dated 21.10.1989, which in turn was issued for implementation of the Government order dated 06.09.1989 for bringing the attached primary schools to higher secondary institution running since 1973 or prior to that, in the grant-in-aid list of the State Government.

4. As per the aforesaid circular dated 28.12.1989, the standard per class/section of the teacher-student ratio to 1:40 was to be determined on the basis of strength of students as on 30.09.1989, it also provided that there should be one teacher for each class/section.

5. The submission of the petitioners is that previously the attached primary section of the institution-in-question was sanctioned 14 sections as per the strength of the students, but in the year 1990, the strength of students was increased to 880 which necessitated sanction of more sections and teacher to man the same. The District Inspector of Schools vide letter dated 06.06.1990 granted approval for sanction of 11 additional sections in view of the increased strength of students to 880 in the primary section. It became, therefore, incumbent on the management to appoint 11 more teachers for the additional sections approved by the District Inspector of School. As the total number of sections was increased from 14 to 25, the committee of management of the institution had advertised vacancies in the daily newspaper "Akashmarg" on 15.05.1995 and after due selection, five teachers namely Tej Pratap Singh, Amar Nath Mishra, Bhanu Pratap Yadav, Smt. Anju Singh and Rajendra Prasad Yadav were appointed and joined the institution.

6. The papers pertaining to their selection was transmitted to the District Inspector of School, Deoria for financial approval but he sat tight over the matter. Resultantly, a Writ Petition No.29388 of 1995 (Tez Pratap Singh Vs. D.I.O.S. Deoria & others) was filed which was disposed of vide judgement and order dated 06.08.2002 relegating the petitioners therein to approach the District Inspector of Schools who was required to take a decision by passing a reasoned order. Pursuant thereto, the teachers filed representation but the District Inspector of School had refused to grant approval, which was subjected to challenge in Writ Petition No.35852 of 2004 (Bhanu Pratap Yadav Vs. State of U.P. & others) and other writ petitions being filed by the remaining teachers.

7. The Writ Petition No.35852 of 2004 was decided on 02.09.2004 quashing the order dated 15.05.2004 passed by the District Inspector of School, Deoria further relegating the matter for fresh decision by the District Inspector of School for grant of financial approval to the appointment of the said petitioners. Consequently, vide order dated 03.07.2006, the District Inspector of Schools, Deoria granted approval to the appointment of Bhanu Pratap Singh made in the primary section noticing that additional sections were approved by the District Inspector of School making the strength to 25.

8. It is then contended that two selected teachers namely Sri Amar Nath Mishra and Smt. Anju Singh did not join nor they made further claim for approval. Resultantly, five posts of teachers in the primary section fell vacant, as against 25 sanctioned post 20 teachers were working at that point of time.

9. Looking to the shortage of teachers in the primary section, the management wrote to the District Inspector of School on 23.04.2001 seeking prior approval for notification of the vacancies, which was duly granted by the District Inspector of School. The vacancies were published in the daily newspaper "Jagat Asha Deoria" and "Deoria Express Deoria" on 25.04.2001. The petitioners herein claim to have been selected by a duly constituted selection committee pursuant to the said advertisement and states that appointment letter were issued to them by the committee of management on 10.05.2001. It is claimed that the petitioners had joined their duties as Assistant Teachers in the attached primary school to the institution-in-question on 18.05.2001 and are discharging their duties since thereafter.

10. The papers pertaining to selection of petitioners were forwarded to the District Inspector of School on 10.05.2001 itself for grant of financial approval but till date, no approval has been granted nor salary had been paid to the petitioners from the State exchequer. The management had sent reminders on 16.10.2002, further in the year 2003-04 last being dated 11.04.2011. Inspite of the best efforts made by the management, the District Inspector of School did not grant approval to the appointment/selection of the petitioners against the substantive vacancies. The petitioners, thus, pray for a writ of mandamus commanding the District Inspector of School, Deoria to accord financial approval to the selection/appointment of the petitioners and pay them salary from the State exchequer with effect from the date of their joining i.e. 18.05.2001.

11. The submission of learned counsel for the petitioner is that with the sanction of additional sections by the District Inspector of Schools, being satisfied with the increased strength of the students in the primary section, no exception could be taken by him for selection or appointment. Even otherwise, prior approval was taken for notifying the vacancies as on 25.04.2001. The District Inspector of School cannot keep quiet over the matter for such a long period. Approval was duly accorded to other teachers who had approached this Court at an earlier point of time against the increased strength of the teachers pursuant to the increase of sections.

12. Learned counsel for the petitioner further contends that by the Government order dated 24.07.2001 a ban was imposed for appointment/approval of the primary teachers in the attached primary sections of secondary education institutions which were taken on grant-in-aid list in the year 1958 and 1989, till framing of the Services Regulation. The District Inspector of Schools were directed to determine strength of the attached primary institution (from the date of maintenance grant till issuance of the said Government order). Again vide Government order dated 19.04.2003, a complete ban was imposed for creation of post, permission for additional section, appointment and approval of teachers in attached primary institutions without prior permission of the State Government. Appointment against the vacancies arose as a result of retirement of the then incumbent could be made as against the sanctioned post, after fresh determination of strength of students, sanctioned post and the working strength after prior permission of the State Government.

13. The aforesaid ban was relaxed vide Government order dated 25.05.2012 considering the fact that complete ban in the matter of appointment had disturbed the teaching work in the primary institution and in view of the mandate of the Right of Children to Free and Compulsory Education Act, 2009, it became necessary to appoint requisite number of teachers timely in the primary institutions. Taking note of the observations made by this Court in Writ Petition No.12977 of 2012 and 25733 of 2012, it was noted therein that the matter of framing regulations for selection/appointment of teachers in the attached primary school was subject matter of active consideration of the State Government. However, till the said regultion are framed, the District Inspector of School is empowered to fill up the vacant posts in the attached primary institution subject to the terms and conditions provided therein which are relevant to be quoted herein:-

1. पद सृजन, अतिरिक्त कक्षा वर्ग की अनुमति दिये जाने का अधिकार जिला विद्यालय निरीक्षक को नहीं होगा

2. अनुदानित होने के समय सम्बद्ध प्राईमरी प्रभाग की जनशक्ति कितनी थी और उसके सापेक्ष वर्तमान में कितनी जनशक्ति है, का सम्यक परीक्षण जिला विद्यालय निरीक्षक द्वारा किया जाना आपेक्षित होगा।

14. Placing the said Government order dated 25.05.2012, it is contended by the learned Advocate that the ban imposed by the Government order was revoked with the direction to make appointment of teachers in the attached primary institutions looking to the strength of students studying therein. It is, thus, vehemently contended that after removal of ban, it was incumbent on the District Inspector of School, Deoria to grant approval to the appointment of the petitioners against the substantive vacancies. Reliance is placed upon the judgements of this Court in Writ Petition No.59940 of 2010 (Committee of Management, Shivdei Balika Junior High School, Bisalpur, Pilibhit & another Vs. State of U.P. & others), Lalit Mohan Misra & another Vs. District Inspector of Schools & others, reported in 1979 ALJ 1025, Chandra Mohan Pandey Vs. D.I.O.S.; Committee of Management, Mahant Triveni Parvat Inter College & others) reported in 2005 (6) AWC 6029, Ashika Prasad Shukla Vs. District Inspector of Schools, Allahabad reported in 1998 (3) AWC 2150 to submit that approval being granted to the appointment of petitioners would be effective from the date of their initial appointment/joining as posts were advertised after seeking prior approval of the District Inspector of School who had duly determined the sanctioned strength for grant permission to make appointment against the available vacancies.

15. Counter affidavit filed on behalf of respondent no.2 i.e. District Inspector of Schools, however, states that when the attached primary institution was taken on grant-in-aid list on 06.09.1989, at that point of time 14 posts of teachers were sanctioned. The District Inspector of School vide order dated 06.06.1990 granted permission to run 11 additional sections looking to the strength of the students. Resultantly, against 25 sections sanctioned, 20 teachers were working when appointment of the present petitioners was made against five vacancies. The committee of management though sent a letter dated 23.04.2001 pressing the necessity of the teachers in the primary institution but without waiting for prior approval of the District Inspector of School, vacancies were advertised on 25.04.2001. It is then contended that the District Inspector of School could not have determined the necessity of appointment of teachers in the primary section without making a spot inspection, so as to verify the strength of the students studying at the relevant point of time.

16. As far as the selection of the petitioners is concerned, it is contended that the publication of vacancy in the newspaper "Deoria Express" cannot be said to be proper, in as much as, the aforesaid paper was not having wide circulation in District Deoria. Objections have also been raised regarding constitution of the selection committee and further that no appointment letter could be issued to the petitioners without getting approval of the selection made by the committee of management. It is urged that since appointments are not in accordance with law, the State Government cannot be asked to make payment. It is the committee of management of the institution which has to pay salary to the teachers/petitioners. It is further contended that the reminder letters though were received in the office of the District Inspector of School, Deoria but original record pertaining to the selection proceeding was not made available in the office of the said respondents and hence no decision could be taken with regard to the selection of the petitioners. Reference has been made to the Government order dated 24.07.2001 to state that in view of the specific direction of the State Government, no appointment of the teachers in the attached primary section could be made by the committee of management without prior permission of the District Inspector of School who in turn was required to seek permission of the State Government.

17. The committee of management filed a counter affidavit to support the stand of the petitioners to seek payment of salary from the State exchequer and further to state that the entire papers with regard to the appointment of the petitioners were sent to the District Inspector of School, Deoria on 10.05.2001 for according financial approval and that the same was received in the office of the District Inspector of School on the same date.

18. In the rejoinder affidavit, all the aforesaid assertions of the counter affidavit are denied and it is reiterated that the vacancies were in existence on the date of appointment, it is incorrect to say that the documents/record pertaining to selection was not forwarded by it.

19. In his argument learned counsel for the petitioners relied on the judgement of the Apex Court in Ashok Kumar Das & others Vs. University of Burdwan & others reported in 2010 (3) SCC 616 to submit that the approval can be ex-post facto and any action taken before "approval" stands validated as soon as, "approval" is granted. Only in a case where ex-post facto "approval" is refused, the appointment/action taken pending approval stands invalidated. It is contended that there was no requirement of seeking "prior approval" for making selection to the substantive vacancies. Any "approval" being granted by the District Inspector of School looking to the record of selection would validate the action of the committee of management in making appointments, in as much as, no objection has been taken by the District Inspector of School with regard to the eligibility of the petitioners for appointment to the post of Assistant Teachers in the attached primary section.

20. To deal with this, relevant is to note that the appointment of the petitioners on the post of Assistant Teacher in primary section required "prior approval" and not simply "approval" by the District Inspector of School. That means before making appointment, the record of selection was required to be examined by the District Inspector of School to ascertain that there was no discrepancy in the procedure of selection and the selected teachers possessed requisite eligibility qualification. "Prior approval" as has been explained by the Apex Court in Ashok Kumar Das (supra) means a condition which pre-supposes the action to be taken after grant of "approval" by the competent authority. If an appointment is made with the "prior approval" of a competent authority, any appointment is to be made without that would be invalid and the approval if any granted in future would not validate the said act rather the appointment would stand approved from the date of approval only.

21. In the case of the petitioners herein, "prior approval" being a pre-condition to the appointment was required to be fulfilled before issuance of appointment letters to the petitioners. It, therefore, cannot be said that the appointment made by the committee of management without approval of the District Inspector of School would put obligation on the State to pay salary from the State exchequer merely for the fact that the appointments were made against the substantive vacancies.

22. It is further noteworthy that the petitioners claim to have been selected and appointed in the month of April & May, 2001. The ban imposed by the State Government vide Government order dated 24.07.2001, therefore, would not cover them. However, at the same time it is noted that the District Inspector of Schools, Deoria was not empowered to create new sections and permit sanction of posts, as sanction of posts is within the domain of the State Government. In case of any requirement of additional sections, coupled with the need to create posts to man the same, appropriate course of action for the District Inspector of Schools was to make an inspection of the primary institution and submit a report to the State Government making his recommendation after ascertaining the number of students studying therein. Under the Government order dated 25.05.2012, the District Inspector of Schools has been empowered to determine the sanctioned strength/requirement of teachers in an attached primary school at the time of bringing the institution on the grant-in-aid list. He is further required to make surprise inspection of the institution from time to time so as to satisfy as to the number of students registered and actually studying therein. He would also be required to determine the strength of the teachers in the ratio of students as per the fixed standard.

23. It is, thus, clear that the District Inspector of Schools could not have unilaterally accepted the claim of the committee of management for creation of additional sections and increase of the strength of teachers. Such decision could have been taken only by the State Government after a report/recommendation in this regard would have been submitted by the District Inspector of School.

24. In the said scenario, the decision of the District Inspector of School not to grant financial approval to the appointments of the petitioners cannot be said to be illegal.

25. This apart, the District Inspector of School has categorically asserted that the committee of management of the institution did not provide necessary documents pertaining to the selection and further that the advertisement was not made in two daily newspapers of wide circulation. No exception could be taken to the said reasons of denial of approval by the District Inspector of Schools in its stand taken in the counter affidavit.

26. For the aforesaid, no mandamus can be issued. However, it is left open for the committee of management to request the District Inspector of Schools, Deoria to make a fresh inspection of the institution-in-question and to submit his recommendations to the State Government strictly in accordance with the conditions provided in the Government order dated 25.05.2012 by determining the sanctioned strength of the attached primary sections in the standard teacher-students ratio. In case, the District Inspector of Schools finds that the number of students studying in the institution are much more and the students-teachers ratio is not in accordance with the fixed standard, he shall submit a comprehensive report for consideration before the State Government.

27. On presentation of the said report, the State Government would be under obligation to take an expeditious decision in accordance with law.

28. Subject to the above, the writ petition is disposed of.

A. Service Law - Departmental Proceedings - Uttar Pradesh Police Officers of the Subordinate Ranks (Punishment and Appeal) Rules, 1991; Rule 8(2) (b) - pari-materia to Article 311(2) of the Constitution of India - petitioner suspended because of ongoing criminal proceedings - preliminary enquiry initiated - ex-parte enquiry report - dispensed with departmental enquiry without providing any reasons

The Court observed that decision to dispense with the departmental enquiry was based on the preliminary enquiry report which was though supplied to the petitioner but no opportunity was given to rebut the same. It is a clear violation of principles of natural justice. (Para 31)

In aforementioned provision of the Rule shows that an exception has been carved out from the normal rule of holding a departmental enquiry, before imposing a major punishment upon the delinquent officer. In order to exercise such exception the authority has to record reasons for dispensing with the departmental enquiry. (Para 12 and 13)

8. Umesh Chandra Vs St of U.P. thu Secy Special Appeal No. 350 of 2017

(Delivered by Hon'ble Vivek Varma, J.)

1. By means of this petition under Article 226 of the Constitution, the petitioner has assailed the order dated 09.03.2018 passed by respondent no.4-Inspector General of Police, Moradabad Region, Moradabad and order dated 11.08.2018 passed by respondent no.3-Additional Director General of Police, Bareilly Region, Bareilly (Annexure Nos.5 and 9 to the writ petition).

2. Briefly, the facts of the case are that the petitioner was sub-inspector in civil police. When he was posted as Station House Officer in District Bulandshahar, he was approached by a lady, namely, Ms. Ruma Chaudhary in connection with a land dispute with her uncle. Upon intervention of the petitioner, the aforesaid dispute was resolved. Thereafter, Ms. Ruma Chaudhary became familiar with the family of the petitioner and won their trust. She took a loan and financial help from the petitioner to continue her studies. According to the petitioner, in the year 2011, Ms. Ruma Chaudhary successfully qualified the examination of constable in U.P. Police. But she still continued to take financial help from the family of the petitioner. Even after 4 to 5 years of service, she refused to repay the loan. It is stated that in October, 2017, the wife of the petitioner filed a complaint case being Case No. 23786 of 2017 (Smt. Geeta vs. Ruma Chaudhary), under Sections 406, 506 I.P.C. against Ms. Ruma Chaudhary. On 23.01.2018, Ms. Ruma Chaudhary, it is submitted as a counter blast, lodged an FIR against the petitioner under Sections 376, 377 and 506 I.P.C. alleging that said offences have been committed from June, 2010 onwards. Again on 09.02.2019, in order to pressurize the petitioner, Ms. Ruma Chaudhary lodged another FIR under Sections 364, 511, 507, 504 and 506 I.P.C. Due to the aforesaid FIR and complaint of Ms. Ruma Chaudhary, the petitioner was placed under suspension vide order 14.02.2018 passed by S.S.P, Moradabad. On 27.03.2018, a charge-sheet was submitted against the petitioner in the FIR dated 23.01.2018. Thereafter, the petitioner is stated to have challenged the charge-sheet by filing Criminal Misc. Application U/S 482 Cr.P.C. No.21454 of 2018 and this Court vide order dated 20.06.2018 stayed the further proceedings. It is also stated that in the FIR dated 09.02.2018, a final report was submitted and no protest petition has been filed as yet.

3. It is submitted that while those proceedings were continuing, a departmental preliminary enquiry was initiated against the petitioner by the S.P. City, District Moradabad. The statements of Ms. Ruma Chaudhary and the Investigating Officers of the two cases instituted against the petitioner, were recorded by the enquiry officer. The preliminary enquiry report recorded that, prima facie, the allegations made by Ms. Ruma Chaudhary were correct.

4. On the basis of said ex-parte enquiry report, the petitioner was dismissed from service vide order dated 09.03.2018 by the Inspector General of Police, Moradabad Region, Moradabad under Rule 8 (2) (b) of the Uttar Pradesh Police Officers of the Subordinate Ranks (Punishment and Appeal) Rules, 1991 (hereinafter referred to as the "Rules, 1991").

5. Aggrieved by the aforesaid order, the petitioner preferred a departmental appeal and the same was rejected by the Additional Director General of Police, Bareilly Region, Bareilly vide order dated 11.08.2018. The orders dated 09.03.2018 and 11.08.2018 are under challenge before this Court by means of present writ petition.

6. Heard Sri Amit Saxena, learned Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Ashish Pandey, learned counsel for the petitioner and Mr D. K. Tiwari, learned Standing Counsel for the State.

7. Submission of Sri Amit Saxena, learned counsel for the petitioner is that the dismissal order passed against the petitioner without holding a departmental enquiry is entirely arbitrary, discriminatory and the same has been passed in violation of the principles of nature justice. There is no material before the disciplinary authority for arriving at any subjective satisfaction to dispense with the enquiry. There was no occasion to hold that enquiry into the matter is neither reasonable nor practicably possible.

8. Further submission is that reasons recorded for dispensing with the enquiry was irrelevant and was arbitrary and, therefore, the impugned termination was invalid and that the petitioner was liable to be reinstated in service.

9. Per contra, learned Standing Counsel for the State, in support of orders impugned, has submitted that Rule 8 (2) (b) of the Rules, 1991 has rightly been invoked in the matter as it was not possible to hold a departmental enquiry. He has further stated that the enquiry officer has clearly stated in his enquiry report that the petitioner indulged in criminal acts.

10. I have considered the rival submission advanced by learned counsel for the parties.

11. The services of the petitioner had been dismissed after invoking, the proviso to Rule 8 (2) of the Uttar Pradesh Police Officers of the Subordinate Ranks (Punishment and Appeal) Rules, 1991. To appreciate the contention made by learned counsel for the parties, it is necessary first to have a look at the provisions contained in Rule 8 of the Rules, 1991. It reads as under:

"8. Dismissal and removal. - (1) No Police Officer shall be dismissed or removed from service by an authority subordinate to the appointing authority.

(2) No Police Officer shall be dismissed, removed or reduced in rank except after proper inquiry and disciplinary proceedings as contemplated by these rules :*

Provided that this rule shall not apply -

(a) Where a person is dismissed or removed or reduced in rank on the ground of conduct which has led to his conviction on a criminal charge; or

(b) Where the authority empowered to dismiss or remove a person or to reduce him in rank is satisfied that for some reason to be recorded by that authority in writing, it is not reasonably practicable to hold such enquiry; or

(c) Where the Government is satisfied that in the interest of the security of the State is not expedient to hold such enquiry.

(3) All orders of dismissal and removal of Head Constables or Constables shall be passed by the Superintendent of Police. Cases in which the Superintendent of Police recommends dismissal or removal of a Sub-Inspector or an Inspector shall be forwarded to the Deputy Inspector-General concerned for orders.

(4) (a) The punishment for intentionally or negligently allowing a person in police custody or judicial custody to escape shall be dismissal unless the punishing authority for reasons to be recorded in writing awards a lessor punishment.

(b) Every officer convicted by the Court for an offence involving moral turpitude shall be dismissed unless the punishing authority for reasons to be recorded in writing considers it otherwise."

12. Bare perusal of the aforesaid Rule would go to show that holding of inquiry is a rule and dispensing with the enquiry is an exception. Before proceedings to impose any one of the major penalty of dismissal, removal or reduction in rank the departmental inquiry is must. However in certain contingency said rule can be dispensed with. One such contingency provided for is that, it is not reasonably practicable to hold an inquiry for reasons recorded in writing. The said authority is to be exercised in exceptional circumstances and that too by recording finding to the effect as to why it is not reasonably practical to hold an inquiry. The sine quo non for exercise of power under the proviso (b) to Rule 8 (2) of U.P. Police Officers of the Subordinate Rank (Punishment and Appeal) Rules, 1991, is the requirement to record reasons that it is not reasonably practicable to hold such inquiry.

13. The proviso to Article 311 (2) of the Constitution of India, which is analogous to Rule 8 (2) (b) of Rules, 1991 provides for the mandatory requisites to dispense with the enquiry. In the aforesaid provision also, an exception is carved out to the normal rule of holding a departmental enquiry, before imposing a major punishment upon the delinquent officer.

14. The condition precedent for exercise of powers to dispense with the departmental enquiry arose for consideration before the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Union of India and another vs. Tulsi Ram Patel1. The Hon'ble Court held as under:

"60. The Second Proviso to Article 311(2) Clause (2) of Article 311 gives a constitutional mandate to the principles of natural justice and audi alteram partem rule by providing that a person employed in a civil capacity under the Union or a State shall not be dismissed or removed from service or reduced in rank until after an inquiry in which he has been informed of the charges against him and has been given a reasonable opportunity of being heard in respect of those charges. To this extent, the pleasure doctrine enacted in Article 310 (1) is abridged because Article 311 (2) is a express provision of the Constitution. This safeguard provided for a government servant by clause (2) of Article 311, however, taken away when the second proviso to that clause becomes applicable. The safeguard provided by clause(1) of Article 311, however, remains intact and continues to be available to the government servant. The second proviso to Article 311 (2) becomes applicable in the three cases mentioned in clauses (a) to (c) of that proviso. These cases are :

(a) where a person is dismissed or removed or reduced in rank on the ground of conduct which has led to his conviction on a criminal charge; or

(b) where the authority empowered to dismiss or remove a person or to reduce him in rank is satisfied that for some reason, to be recorded by that authority in writing, it is not reasonably practicable to hold such inquiry; and

(c) where the President or the Governor, as the case may be, is satisfied that in the interest of the security of the State it is not expedient to hold such inquiry.

130. The condition precedent for the application of clause

(b) is the satisfaction of the disciplinary authority that "it is not reasonably practicable to hold" the inquiry contemplated by clause (2) of Article 311. What is pertinent to note is that the words used are "not reasonably practicable" and not "impracticable". According to the Oxford English Dictionary "practicable" means "Capable of being put into practice, carried out in action, effected, accomplished, or done; feasible". Webster's Third New International Dictionary defines the word "practicable" inter alia as meaning "possible to practice or perform : capable of being put into practice, done or accomplished : feasible". Further, the words used are not "not practicable" but "not reasonably practicable". Webster's Third New International Dictionary defines the word "reasonably" as "in a reasonable manner : to a fairly sufficient extent". Thus, whether it was practicable to hold the inquiry or not must be judged in the context of whether it was reasonably practicable to do so. It is not a total or absolute impracticability which is required by clause (b). What is requisite is that the holding of the inquiry is not practicable in the opinion of a reasonable man taking a reasonable view of the prevailing situation. It is not possible to enumerate the cases in which it would not be reasonably practicable to hold the inquiry, but some instances by way of illustration may, however, be given. It would not be reasonably practicable to hold an inquiry where the government servant, particularly through or together with his associates, so terrorizes, threatens or intimidate witnesses who are going to given evidence against him with fear of reprisal as to prevent them from doing so or where the government servant by himself or together with or through other threatens, intimidates and terrorizes the officer who is the disciplinary authority or member of his family so that he is afraid to hold the inquiry or direct it to be held. It would also not be reasonably practicable to hold the inquiry where an atmosphere of violence or of general indiscipline and insubordination prevails, and it is immaterial whether the concerned government servant is or is not a party to bringing about such an atmosphere. In this connection, we must bear in mind that numbers coerce and terrify while an individual may not. The reasonable practicability of holding an inquiry is a matter of assessment to be made by the disciplinary authority. Such authority is generally on the spot and knows what is happening. It is because the disciplinary authority is the best judge of this that clause(3) of Article 311 makes the decision of the disciplinary authority on this question final. A disciplinary authority is not expected to dispense with a disciplinary inquiry lightly or arbitrarily or out of ulterior motives or merely in order to avoid the holding of an inquiry or because the Department's case against the government servant is weak and must fail."

15. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Jaswant Singh vs. State of Punjab and others2, the Court while dealing with the exercise of power as conferred by way of exception under Article 311 (2) (b) of the Constitution of India, opined as under:

"Clause (b) of the second proviso to Article 311 (2) can be invoked only when the authority is satisfied from the material placed before him that it is not reasonably practicable to hold a departmental enquiry. This is clear from the following observation at page 270 of Tulsiram Case: (SCC p.504, para 130)

A disciplinary authority is not expected to dispense with a disciplinary inquiry lightly or arbitrarily or out of ulterior motives or merely in order to avoid the holding of an inquiry or because the department's case against the government servant is weak and must fail.

The decision to dispense with the departmental enquiry cannot, therefore, be rested solely on the ipse dixit of the concerned authority. When the sanctification of the concerned authority is questioned in a court of law, it is incumbent on those who support the order to show that the satisfaction is based on certain objective facts and is not the outcome of the whim or caprice of the concerned officer."

16 In Reena Rani vs. State of Haryana3, after referring to the various authorities holding the field, the Hon'ble Apex Court ruled out when reasons are not ascribed, the order is vitiated and accordingly set aside the order of dismissal which had been concurred with by the Single Judge and directed for reinstatement in service with all consequential benefits. It has also been observed therein that the order passed by this Court would not preclude the competent authority from taking action against the appellant/petitioner in accordance with law.

17. Recently, in the case of Risal Singh vs. State of Haryana and others4, while construing a similar provision, the Hon'ble Apex Court Court observed as follows:

"Non-ascribing of reason while passing the order dispensing with enquiry, which otherwise was must, definitely invalidates such action....

Tested on the touchstone of the aforesaid authorities, the irresistible conclusion is that the order passed by the Superintendent of Police dispensing with the inquiry is totally unsustainable and is hereby annulled. As the foundation founders, the order of the High Court giving the stamp of approval to the ultimate order without addressing the lis from a proper perspective is also indefensible and resultantly, the order of dismissal passed by the disciplinary authority has to pave the path of extinction"

18. The provisions of Rule 8 (2) (b) of the Rules, 1991 and Article 311 (2) of the Constitution of India are almost in pari-materia and the legislative intent behind the provisions are the same.

19. In view of the law laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court noticed above, before exercising special powers to dispense with the enquiry, the disciplinary authority must be satisfied on the basis of objective material that it is not practicable to hold such enquiry.

20. At this stage, it would be appropriate to notice some authorities in point rendered by this Court, while interpreting proviso (b) to Rule 8 (2) of the Rules, 1991.

21. In Pushpendra Singh and another vs. State of U.P. and another5, the Court in paragraphs 7, 8, 9 and 10 held as follows:

"7. ..... Thus, in order to dispense with the regular departmental proceeding for inflicting punishment of dismissal, removal or reduction in rank, recording reasons is condition precedent. The idea or object of recording reasons is obviously to prevent arbitrary, capricious and mala fide exercise of power. Therefore, recording of reason is mandatory and in its absence the order becomes laconic and cannot sustain. Onus is on the State or its authorities to show that the order of dismissal has been passed strictly as per prescription of the statutes. The Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Union of India v. Tulsi Ram Patel, AIR 1985 SC 1416 while considering Articles 310 and 311 of the Constitution of India held that two conditions must be satisfied to uphold action taken under Article 311 (2) of the Constitution of India, viz., (i) there must exist a situation which renders holding of any enquiry not reasonably practicable, (ii) the disciplinary authority must record in writing its reasons in support of its satisfaction. The Hon'ble Apex Court further observed that though Clause (3) of Article 311 makes the decision of the disciplinary authority in this behalf final, yet such finality can certainly be tested in the Court of law and interfered with if the action is found to be arbitrary or mala fide or motivated by extraneous considerations or merely a rule to dispense with the enquiry. The Hon'ble Apex Court at page 1479 in Tulsi Ram Patel (supra) held as follows :

"A disciplinary authority is not expected to dispense with a disciplinary authority lightly or arbitrary or out of ulterior motives or merely in order to avoid the holding of an inquiry or because the Department's case against the Government servant is weak and must fail."

8. The words some "reason to be recorded in writing that it is not reasonably practicable to hold enquiry" means that there must be some material for satisfaction of the disciplinary authority that it is not reasonably practicable. The decision to dispense with the departmental enquiry cannot, therefore, be rested solely on the ipse dixit of the concerned authority. The Apex Court in the case of Jaswant Singh v. State of Punjab and Ors. has observed as under:

"It was incumbent on the respondents to disclose to the Court the material in existence at the date of the passing of the impugned order in support of the subjective satisfaction recorded by respondent No. 3 in the impugned order. Clause (b) of the second proviso to Article 311(2) can be invoked only when the authority is satisfied from the material placed before him that it is not reasonably practicable to hold a departmental enquiry."

"...When the satisfaction of the concerned authority is questioned in a court of law, it is incumbent on those who support the order to show that the satisfaction is based on certain objective facts and is not the outcome of the whim or caprice of the concerned officer."

9. Therefore, in view of the exposition of law such satisfaction has to be recorded either in the impugned order or in any case it must be available on record. In the case in hand, the impugned order is enclosed as Annexure 5 to the writ petition. From a perusal thereof it is evident that the Senior Superintendent of Police merely reproduced the provisions contained in Rule 8(2)(b) against the above police personnel, stating that it is not reasonably practicable to hold such enquiry. It does not contain any reason showing as to why it is not reasonably practicable to hold regular enquiry. The satisfaction that it is not reasonably practicable to hold such enquiry has to be spelled out either in the order itself or at least it has to be available on record. Learned Standing Counsel also during his submission could not show us any such reason recorded by the competent authority in the record to show any ground or reason for invoking the provisions contained in Rule 8(2)(b) of the Rules. It is well settled legal position that when a statutory functionary makes an order based on some reasons or grounds, its validity is to be tested on the ground or reasons mentioned therein and cannot be supplemented by giving reasons through affidavit filed in the case (See Mohinder Singh Gill and Anr. v. The Chief Election Commissioner, New Delhi and Ors.).

9. It is also an admitted position that the appellants have been dismissed from service without holding any enquiry. They have not been informed of the charges against them nor been afforded opportunity of being heard in respect of charges before inflicting punishment of dismissal from service. Thus, in the absence of reasons for dispensing with the regular enquiry the impugned order of dismissal is patently illegal and it is difficult to uphold the same."

22. In Dayashankar Tiwari and another vs. State of U.P. and others6, the Court in paragraphs 9, 10 and 11 held as follows:

"9. In the present case, it is admitted that the petitioners were caught red handed while on duty, and no preliminary enquiry was held nor the petitioners were given opportunity to explain their conduct. The Senior Superintendent of Police has found that it was not reasonably practicable to hold a departmental enquiry against them only on the ground that the act of police personnel will cause serious damage to the police department, and general public will loose confidence in the police department.

10. In all the aforesaid cases, it was held that unless the reasons given by the disciplinary authority that it was not reasonably practicable to hold departmental enquiry, relevant for the exercise of power, the courts will not exercise power of judicial review.

11. In the present case, acceptance of bribe and being caught red handed in the act, may lower the image of the police department, and the confidence of general public, but that by itself cannot be said to relevant grounds to dispense with the preliminary and thereafter departmental enquiry. The exercise of powers under Section 8 (2) (b) will require the act of indiscipline or misconduct to be such, and not its consequences, which may be relevant to record findings that it is not reasonably practicable to hold departmental enquiry. Every allegation of corrupt practice by police officers results into possibility of indiscipline, lowering of image and loss of public faith. These consequences cannot be taken to be sufficient not to cause departmental enquiry to enquire into the truth of allegations after affording an opportunity of hearing to the delinquent employee."

23. In Rajendra Prasad Singh vs. State of U.P. and others7, the Court in paragraphs 9 & 10 held as follows:

"9. Thus, the consistent view is that holding an enquiry is a rule and it's dispensation, an exception. The test is that in a prevailing situation, what a reasonable man, taking a reasonable view, would have done. Further, the decision to dispense with the departmental enquiry is not based on the ipse dixit of the authority concerned but should be based on objective assessment of the relevant facts. If the subjective satisfaction is challenged before the Court of law, it has to pass the test laid down above and for which, it is the burden of the disciplinary authority to place the relevant facts and material before the Court to justify it's action in dispensing with the disciplinary enquiry.

10. Applying these principles to the facts of the present case, this Court finds that the decision to dispense with the enquiry is not based on relevant considerations and cannot be sustained in law. Perusal of the impugned order will demonstrate that the decision to dispense with the disciplinary enquiry is primarily based on two grounds: (1) that the delinquent continues to be absent and there is no possibility of his co-operation in the enquiry; and (2) the deeds of the delinquent were widely reported in various newspapers and media and,

24. Recently, a Division Bench of this Court in the case of Umesh Chandra vs. State of U.P. through Secretary, Special Appeal No.350 of 2017, decided on 06.08.2019, (of which I was a member), the Court construed the provisions of Rule 8 (2) (b) of the Rules, 1991. The relevant extract of the judgments is quoted below:

"The above provision is pari-materia with Article 311 (1) and (2) of the Constitution, which gives constitutional protection to a Member of civil service of the Union or of the State. The normal rule is that no major punishment, such as, dismissal, removal or reduction in rank should be inflicted without taking recourse of regular disciplinary enquiry against any delinquent. However, Rule 8 (2) (b) of the Rules, 1991 has carved out certain exceptions where even without holding regular proceeding punishment of dismissal, removal or reduction in rank can be inflicted. In order to dispense with the regular departmental proceeding for inflicting major punishment recording reasons is a condition precedent to prevent arbitrary, capricious and mala fide exercise of power. Absence of reasons vitiates the order and renders it unsustainable in law. Secondly, the authority has to record its satisfaction based on credible material in the record, to dispense with the enquiry. Onus is on the State or its authorities to show that the order of dismissal has been passed strictly as per prescription of the statutes."

25. The authorities in point are long, but the position of law has been consistent on the point.

26. In the case in hand, the Inspector General of Police vide his order dated 09.03.2018, dismissed the services of the petitioner relying upon a confidential/ex-parte preliminary enquiry report dated 15.02.2018 conducted by Deputy Inspector of Police, Moradabad by stating that since the petitioner had been posted as Inspector in police department, a cloud of fear exists, no witness came forward to depose against him, as such, further enquiry is not possible.

27. The said order also records that the petitioner is a married person and being a senior member of a disciplined force, has committed misconduct within the meaning of Rule 3 of The U.P. Government Servant Conduct Rules, 1956. He has tarnished the image of the police force. The continuance of such undisciplined and criminal minded person will cause serious damage to the police department and general public will loose faith. For this reason the disciplinary authority thought it fit to dispense with the enquiry.

28. The recital in the impugned dismissal order dated 09.03.2018 that no witness came forward to depose against the petitioner in the preliminary enquiry as such further enquiry is not possible, needs consideration. It does not stand to reason how witnesses were aware about the enquiry when even the petitioner was not informed. The said reasoning by no stretch of imagination could be a ground for dispensing with the disciplinary enquiry. It is a wholly subjective opinion not arising from any objective material.

29. It is also relevant to be noted that if a preliminary enquiry can be held then there is no reason as to why a regular departmental enquiry cannot be held, in such facts. Admittedly, there are cross cases registered between petitioner and Ms. Ruma Chaudhary and also the fact that Ms. Ruma Chaudhary had duly appeared and deposed before the ex-parte preliminary enquiry.

30. It is trite law that the satisfaction of the authority has to be based upon objective material on record. There is no material on record to justify the conclusion that it was not possible to hold a departmental enquiry.

31. Also, the order has been passed on the basis of preliminary enquiry. The preliminary enquiry report was never supplied to the petitioner. The petitioner did not have an opportunity to refute the preliminary enquiry report. The report was adverse to the petitioner. The authority by failing to provide preliminary enquiry report to the petitioner and omitting to call for objections from the petitioner, has acted in violation of principles of natural justice. The procedure adopted by the authority while passing the impugned order is arbitrary and illegal. Even the appellate authority failed to appreciate the aforesaid issues and dismissed the appeal. The reasoning assigned in the impugned orders cannot be said to be relevant grounds to dispense with the departmental inquiry.

32. In view of the admitted facts and the legal position referred to above, the impugned dismissal order dated 09.03.2018 and appellate order dated 11.08.2018 cannot be sustained and are hereby set aside.

33. The writ petition is allowed.

34. The matter is remanded back to the disciplinary authority to proceed from the stage prior to the passing of the impugned order dated 09.03.2018 and conclude the enquiry within a period of six months from the date of production of a certified copy of this Court.

2. St. of Assam Vs Bimal Kumar Pandit, AIR 1963 SC 1612 (Para 19)

3. Managing Director, ECIL Vs Karunakar, 1994 AIR SCW 1050 (Para 19)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sunita Agarwal, J.)

1. Heard Sri B.K. Srivastava learned Senior Advocate assisted by Ms. Pooja Srivastava learned Advocate for the petitioner and Ms. Himkanya Srivastava learned Advocate for the respondent.

2. The petitioner seeks to challenge the order dated 15.5.1999, whereby his appointment to the post of Constable (CISF) has been brought to an end holding him guilty of the charges levelled against him. The charge against the petitioner in the charge sheet dated 20.1.1998 which had lead to the departmental enquiry is as follows:-

Charge

"Force No. 884667433 Constable H.L. Saini of CISF Unit SSTPS Shaktinagar and Force No. 8923331600 Constable Shailesh K.B. of CISF Unit B.C.C.L. Dhanbad Area 12 at Begunia Headquarters Unit Line on dated 11.09.1997 at 2030 hours both consumed opium solution which resulted in the death of said Constable Shailesh K.B. on 12.09.1997 at 0210 hours at Sanctoria Hospital E.C.L and Constable H.L. Saini received treatment by Dr. M. Khalid of Lions Club Raghunath Kharkia Eye Hospital Kharkianaga, Chirkundo against payment of Rs. 5/-. Hence this act of the said Constable H.L. Saini is an act of serious indiscipline, bad conduct and criminal behaviour which resulted in the death of Constable Shailesh K.B."

3. Reply to the charge sheet was submitted on 23.3.1998. The enquiry report dated 13.4.1999 was submitted exonerating the petitioner saying that the charges were not proved. The disciplinary authority put a disagreement note relegating the matter for fresh enquiry.

4. Against the order of disagreement dated 15.5.1999, the petitioner preferred an appeal on 6.5.1999, which was rejected on 21.10.1999. The said orders were, thereafter, subjected to challenge before the Supreme Court in a petition under Article 32 of the Constitution of India. It was dismissed as withdrawn with liberty to the petitioner to approach the High Court. In the writ petition filed before the Delhi High Court, the petitioner got it dismissed as withdrawn for filing it before the Court of competent jurisdiction.

5. The challenge to the dismissal order and the order of rejection of appeal is that the proceedings of enquiry was not concluded in accordance with the principles of natural justice. The alleged incident stated to have taken place at CISF Unit, BCCL, Jahria but the enquiry was conducted at a different place at Shaktinagar, where the records were not available. The disciplinary authority once found that the findings of the enquiry officer was not in accordance with law, only option left before it was to quash the same and remit the matter back for fresh submission of the enquiry report.

6. Earlier the enquiry report dated 5.4.1999 was not agreed by the disciplinary authority and the entire file was returned to resubmit the enquiry report which was re-submitted on 13.4.1999. In the subsequent report, the enquiry officer gave a categorical finding that the charges against the petitioner were not proved, however, the disciplinary authority disagreeing with the findings recorded in the enquiry report, proceeded to record its own finding on the basis of circumstantial evidence holding the petitioner guilty. No notice or opportunity of hearing was given to the petitioner at this stage i.e. when the disciplinary authority disagreeing with the enquiry report proceeded to record its own finding, opportunity of hearing was needed.

7. Reference has been made to the judgment of the Apex Court in Punjab National Bank and others vs. Kunj Behari Misra1 to substantiate this submission.

8. It is further contended that though the disciplinary enquiry proceeds on the principles of preponderance of probabilities but the reasons supporting the probabilities from the circumstances brought before the enquiry officer are required to be recorded. It is not permitted for the disciplinary authority to arrive at a conclusion on mere surmises and conjectures to hold the delinquent employee guilty. The adequacy or sufficiency of evidence would not be seen in a challenge to the departmental enquiry, but wherein there is a case of no evidence, the principles of preponderance of probability would not be attracted as the said principle requires at least some evidence for appreciation to reach at the conclusion of guilt of the delinquent.

9. In a case of no evidence, the conclusion of the disciplinary authority or reasoning of the enquiry officer to hold the delinquent guilty would be bad.

10. Learned counsel for the respondents, on the other hand, defended the order impugned with the submission that after full fledged enquiry, the charges were found proved by the disciplinary authority. The opportunity of hearing has been provided. There was sufficient evidence to hold the petitioner guilty.

11. In the supplementary affidavit, the statements of the witnesses who deposed against the petitioner has been brought on record.

12. In view of the above rival submissions, relevant is to note that the charge against the petitioner was that he alongwith another Constable Shailesh had consumed opium on 11.9.1997 at about 20:30 hours at Begunia Headquarters Unit Line, which has resulted in death of said Constable Shailesh on 12.9.1997. The petitioner also had undergone treatment by Dr. M. Khalid of Lions Club Raghunath Kharkia Eye College. Hence this act of the petitioner has been termed as an act of serious indiscipline, bad conduct and criminal behaviour which had resulted in death of another Constable Shailesh.

13. During the course of enquiry, eight witnesses were examined by the prosecution. Out of which, the key witness was PW-1 Constable Trilochan Singh who deposed in his examination-in-chief that on 11.9.1997 at about 20:30 hours, the Constable petitioner offered him a liquid which looked like tea and asked him to drink it while informing that it was opium. P.W. 1 had, however, refused and went away. When he came back in the night at about 23:30 hours, he was told that Shailesh was admitted in the hospital and, thereafter, he received message that Shailesh had died. In his cross-examination, nothing much could be elicited apart from the fact that Shailesh was eating his food while sitting at the 'Cot' and was in normal condition.

14. In the cross examination by the enquiry officer, PW-1 further says that he did not know as to whom the liquid containing opium was offered after he refused to drink it as the Constable petitioner went back to his place. All other witnesses had proved that Shailesh fell ill and was admitted in the hospital and died. No one had seen Shailesh and the petitioner Constable consuming opium together or the petitioner offering it or that it was consumed by the deceased Shailesh. The reference of statements of all other witnesses, therefore, is not needed here. The doctor P.W.-8 proved his report and the opinion that death was caused by some unknown poison. Another doctor PW-11 was produced to prove that the petitioner was also treated in his hospital with complaint of obstruction in the passage of urine. He has given an opinion that in case of consumption of opium, such kind of medical condition may occur.

15. The enquiry officer after perusal of the record before it and oral evidences came to the conclusion that the charge that Constable Shailesh consumed opium on the offering of the delinquent and had died on account of the same was not proved. P.W.-2 only states that Shailesh while having his food had told him that he had consumed opium but no one could prove that the opium liquid was consumed by Shailesh which was offered by the petitioner. It is also not proved that he died on account of consumption of opium. No one had seen both of them sitting together or consuming opium.

16. This enquiry report was considered by the disciplinary authority but it has disagreed with the conclusion drawn by the enquiry officer. Having noted that the findings were not correct, it has proceeded to appreciate the evidences available on record. Noticing that the petitioner had offered opium solution to P.W. 1 who had refused to consume the same, it was presumed that the said opium solution was offered to and consumed by Shailesh. From the report of the doctor that the cause of death was "unknown poison", it was assumed that the poison was opium. From the fact that the petitioner himself was admitted in another hospital and was treated for obstruction of urine passage, it was assumed that he had consumed opium and was admitted in the hospital for that reason. The appellate authority while looking to the correctness of order of the disciplinary authority only records the past conduct of indiscipline of the petitioner.

17. However, no one could assail that fresh notice was required to be given by the disciplinary authority while recording independent finding, disagreeing with the enquiry report on the same set of evidence. Learned counsel for the petitioner has brought the judgment of the Apex Court in Punjab National Bank (supra) to substantiate his submission that the order of the disciplinary authority is bad, inasmuch as, no opportunity of hearing was provided.

18. Reference has been made to paragraph nos. '17', '18' and'19' of the said report which are relevant to be quoted hereunder:-.

"17. These observations are clearly in tune with the observations in Bimal Kumar Pandit's case (AIR 1963 SC 1612) quoted earlier and would be applicable at the first stage itself. the aforesaid passages clearly bring out the necessity of the authority which is to finally record an adverse finding to give a hearing to the delinquent officer. If the inquiry officer had given an adverse finding, as per Karunakar's case (1994 AIR SCW 1050) the first stage required an opportunity to be given to the employee to represent to the disciplinary authority, even when an earlier opportunity had been granted to them by the inquiry officer. It will not stand to reason that when the finding in favour of the delinquent officers is proposed to be over-turned by the disciplinary authority then no opportunity should be granted. The first stage of the inquiry is not completed till the disciplinary authority has recorded its findings. The principles of natural justice would demand that the authority which proposes to decide against the delinquent officer must give him a hearing. When the inquiring officer holds the charges to be proved then that report has to be given to the delinquent officer who can make a representation before the disciplinary authority takes further action which may be prejudicial to the delinquent officer. When, like in the present case, the inquiry report is in favour of the delinquent officer but the disciplinary authority proposes to differ with such conclusions then that authority which is deciding against the delinquent officer must give him an opportunity of being heard for otherwise he would be condemned unheard. In departmental proceedings what is of ultimate importance is the findings of the disciplinary authority.

18. Under Regulation 6 the inquiry proceedings can be conducted either by an inquiry officer or by the disciplinary authority itself. When the inquiry is conducted by the inquiry officer his report is not final or conclusive and the disciplinary proceedings do not stand concluded. The disciplinary proceedings stand concluded with decision of the disciplinary authority. It is the disciplinary authority which can impose the penalty and not the inquiry officer. Where the disciplinary authority itself holds an inquiry an opportunity of hearing has to be granted by him. When the disciplinary authority differs with the view of the inquiry officer and proposes to come to a different conclusion, there is no reason as to why an opportunity of hearing should not be granted. It will be most unfair and iniquitous that where the charged officers succeed before the inquiry officer they are deprived of representing to the disciplinary authority before that authority differs with the inquiry officer's report and, while recording of guilt, imposes punishment on the officer. In our opinion, in any such situation the charged officer must have an opportunity to represent before the Disciplinary Authority before final findings on the charges are recorded and punishment imposed. This is required to be done as a part of the first stage of inquiry as explained in Karunakar's case(supra).

19. The result of the aforesaid discussion would be that the principles of natural justice have to be read into Regulation 7(2). As a result thereof whenever the disciplinary authority disagrees with the inquiry authority on any article of charge then before it records its own findings on such charge, it must record its tentative reasons for such disagreement and give to the delinquent officer an opportunity to represent before it records its findings. The report of the inquiry officer containing its findings will have to be conveyed and the delinquent officer will have an opportunity to persuade the disciplinary authority to accept the favorable conclusion of the inquiry officer. The principles of natural justice, as we have already observed, require the authority, which has to take a final decision and can impose a penalty, to give an opportunity to the officer charged of misconduct to file a representation before the disciplinary authority records its findings on the charges framed against the officer."

19. Considering the observations of the Apex Court in State of Assam vs. Bimal Kumar Pandit2 and Managing Director, ECIL vs. Karunakar3, it was held therein that the first stage of the enquiry is not complete till the disciplinary authority has recorded its finding. The principles of natural justice would demand that the authority which proposes to decide against the delinquent officer must give him a hearing. When the enquiry officer holds the charges to be proved then that report has to be given to the delinquent officer who can make a representation before the disciplinary authority, who may take further action which may be prejudicial to the delinquent officer. In a case where enquiry report is in favour of the delinquent employee but the disciplinary authority proposes to differ with such conclusion, then that authority which is deciding fate of the delinquent officer must give him an opportunity of being heard for otherwise, he would be condemned unheard. In departmental proceedings what is of utmost importance is the finding of the disciplinary authority. It was finally concluded therein that where the disciplinary authority imposed penalty by coming to a different conclusion from that of the enquiry officer, it was required to provide opportunity of hearing to the employee. The reason being that the authority which has to take a final decision and impose a penalty shall give an opportunity to the officer charged of his conduct to file his reply on the charges, otherwise not found proved by the enquiry officer.

20. No contrary view could be placed before the Court by the learned counsel for the respondent.

21. In view of the above discussed law, it is clear that the order of the disciplinary authority is in gross violation of the principles of natural justice, as admittedly, opportunity has not been provided to the petitioner. Since, it was a case where charges were not found proved by the enquiry officer, a different conclusion could be drawn by the disciplinary authority only after inviting objections of the delinquent employee.

22. Now, on the question of merit of the order of the disciplinary authority, relevant is to note that the disciplinary authority while disagreeing with the findings of the enquiry officer had simply recorded that since PW-1 knew that opium solution was with the petitioner who had offered it to him coupled with the fact that the Constable Shailesh was admitted in the hospital and died on account of some unknown case of poisoning, an inference can be drawn about involvement of the petitioner in offering him opium solution.

23. As noted above, having gone through the oral evidences on record, there is no doubt to the fact that there was no direct evidence against the petitioner that he had consumed opium with the deceased Shailesh or that he offered opium to Shailesh. No one had seen them consuming opium together or even sitting together. It is, thus, a case of no evidence. The disciplinary authority has simply acted on surmises and conjectures to create a hypothesis of involvement of the petitioner in the death of Constable Shailesh. Mere assumption of any situation on hypothetical criteria without any supportive evidence (even circumstantial) would not be proof even on the principles of preponderance of probabilities. The said principle does not give leverage to the disciplinary authority to create a hypothesis by its own imagination without any evidence. The reason given by the disciplinary authority in the order impugned of holding the petitioner guilty is nothing but creation of his own imagination. As this is a case of no evidence, the entire decision making process culminating in the decision of the disciplinary authority suffers from perversity and arbitrariness. The order of punishment awarded by the disciplinary authority, therefore, cannot be sustained. The same is hereby quashed.

24. The appellate authority has simply rejected the appeal on the ground that the procedure laid down for departmental enquiry had been followed and there was no miscarriage of justice. Further the punishment awarded was commensurate with the gravity of offence. It has simply overlooked the requirement of opportunity to be given by the disciplinary authority before recording the finding of guilt when the petitioner was exonerated in the enquiry i.e. charges against him were not proved by the enquiry officer.

25. The order of the appellate authority, therefore, is set aside.

26. The petitioner is entitled to reinstatement with all consequential benefits and back wages for the period of discontinuance, inasmuch as, the employers have illegally restrained him from working by proceeding in an arbitrary manner.

27. Subject to the above observations and directions, the writ petition is allowed.

4. The petitioner applied for the post of Junior Assistant under Scheduled Caste Category. Admit Card was issued and the written examination was held on 18.10.2014. The petitioner duly qualified the same and thereafter the petitioner was subjected to computer type test. In the result computer type test, the petitioner was found duly selected. Thereafter, the petitioner was participated in Hindi and English Typing Test on 24.05.2015. The final result was published in which the petitioner was finally selected for appointment on the post of Junior Assistant and he was appointed on the aforesaid post in District Chandauli by respondent No.2 vide letter of appointment dated 01.10.2015. Thereafter the petitioner joined his duties and started working.

5. The Educational qualification of the petitioner are intermediate, B.A., M.A. in Hindi. Apart from the same, the petitioner also possessed professional qualification in Computer Education i.e. Diploma in Computer Application from Janta Computer Education Centre and also a Diploma in Computer Application from Community Development through Polytechnic Chandauli, Government of India Project, Chandauli Polytechnic Chandauli. It is contended in paragraph 16 of the writ petition that Director of Judicial Training and Research Institute (JTRI) has invited the newly appointed Class III District Court Employees for a computer Training Programme for 17.10.2016 and 18.10.2016 at JARI Lucknow vide order dated 21.09.2016. The petitioner duly participated in the aforesaid training programme and completed it successfully. A certificate in this regard was issued to the petitioner, copy of which is appended as Annexure No.7 to the writ petition. A circular was issued by the respondent No.1 on 06.01.2018 by which certain clarifications were issued with regard to the requirement of Computer qualification mentioned in the advertisement, i.e., possession of CCC certificate awarded by the DOEACC Society. Subsequently another circular dated 16.1.2016 was issued whereby information was sought for regarding details of computer qualification possessed by the selected/appointed candidates from each District Judgeship. A resolution was issued by the respondent No.1 addressed to all the District Judges of U.P. with regard to the requisite qualification, i.e., CCC Certificate.

6. Pursuant to the aforesaid resolution, the respondent No.2 issued a notice dated 31.8.2016 to the petitioner demanding CCC certificate issued by DOECC Society (NIETLIT) on 02.09.2016.The petitioner duly submitted his reply stated therein that he possessed computer qualification equivalent to CCC certificate. Another notice was issued by the respondent No.2 on 09.09.2016 stating that the CCC certificate issued by DOEACC (NIETLIT) is mandatory for post of Junior Assistant as has been stipulated in the resolution dated 26.08.2016. The petitioner again submitted its reply on 24.09.2016 stating therein that he possessed a diploma from Polytechnic, Chandauli which is within the purview of Government of India Project and the same is equivalent to CCC Certificate issued by DOEACC Society (NIETLIT). The petitioner was also direct to present in the office of respondent No.2 on 3.10.2016 along with certificate of computer qualification. It is contended that without considering the reply submitted by the petitioner, order dated 7.1.2017 was passed by the respondent No.2 terminating his services pursuant to the resolution dated 26.08.2016. The petitioner has preferred the present writ petition challenging the aforesaid order dated 7.1.2017.

7. It is contended by Sri Adarsh Bhushan, learned counsel for the petitioner that the order impugned dated 7.1.2017 is wholly unreasoned order and fails to accord any consideration to the reply submitted by the petitioner in response of show cause notices issued by the respondent No.2. It is further argued that insofar as the CCC certificate issued by the DOEACC Society (NIETLIT) is concerned, the same is 80 hours basic course of study and in comparison thereto, the course content of the petitioner pertaining to the computer has been far wider. It is further argued that the order impugned has been passed in violation of principles of natural justice as no opportunity of hearing whatsoever has been given to the petitioner at any point of time before the impugned order was passed. It is further argued that the impugned order has been passed without application of mind and against the provisions of U.P. District Court Service Rules, 2013. It is further argued that the computer qualification possessed by the petitioner is equivalent to CCC Certificate issued by the DOEACC Society (NIETLIT). It is further argued that the qualification possessed by the petitioner is much higher than the CCC certificate issued by the DOEACC Society (NIETLIT). The petitioner cannot be non-suited on the ground that he does not have a particular certificate which is very basic qualification in the knowledge of computer operation.

8. Sri Adarsh Bhushan learned counsel for the petitioner relied upon a judgement of the Supreme Court in the case of 2010 (15) SCC 596 (Jyoti K.K. and Others Vs.Kerala Public Service Commission and others). The Supreme Court in the aforesaid case was pleased to hold that higher qualification must clearly indicate or presupposes the acquisition of lower qualification prescribed for that post in order to attract that part of the rules to the effect that such of those higher qualification which presupposes the acquisition of lower qualification prescribed for the post.

9. In the counter affidavit filed by Sri Ashish Mishra, learned counsel appearing on behalf of the respondents, it is contended that the High Court of Judicature at Allahabad vide Advertisement No.01/Sub. Court/Category "C"/Clerical Cadre/2004 advertised the Uttar Pradesh Civil Court Staff Centralized Recruitment Scheme, 2014 calling for the post of Junior Assistant and Paid Apprentice for various vacancies in different Judgeships in the State of Uttar Pradesh. The essential qualifications prescribed in the said advertisement was as follows:-

"2. ESSENTIAL QUALIFICATIONS:

The Applicant must possess minimum essential qualification for all the posts on the last date of submission of the on-line application form for the following posts:-

Sl.	Category Posts ("C" Cadre Posts)	Essential Qualification	Experience
1	Junior Assistant (Amin Grade-II Category "C"/ Copyist (Civil & Police Case Diaries/Assistt. Account Clerk/ Additional Clerk/ Court Clerk/ Admin Clerk/ Writer & Runner/Typist, etc Clerk-cum-Typist Category "C")	Intermediate with Special Knowledge of Urdu and Hindi along with a CCC certificate issued by DOEACC Society and 25/30 words per minute for Hindi/ English Typewriting on Computer, Arithmetic, mensuration, elementary land surveying	N.A.

		and mapping, Order XXVIof Act No. V of 1908 and Rules (Civil) relating to the work and duties of the Junior Assistant. Note: For the post of Amin Grade-II, only those candidates will be considered who have passed their Intermediate examinations with Mathematics as one of the subject.
2	Paid Apprentices	Intermediate with CCC certificate issued by DOEACC Society and 25/30 words per minute for Hindi/ English Typewriting on Computer.	N.A.

10. Thus, for both the posts Junior Assistant and Paid Apprentice, the minimum qualification of computer course to be possessed by the applicant was a "CCC' Certificate issued by the DOEACC Society (apart from other qualifications) on the last date of submission of the application form i.e. 30/09/2014. It is further contended that the services of the paid apprentice of the Subordinate Court are governed by the U.P. District Court Service Rules, 2013; Schedule-B of the said Rules provides the essential qualifications for the post in the Cadre. A perusal of the said schedule would show that the minimum essential qualification prescribed for the post of Junior Assistant, amongst other, includes "CCC' Certificate issued by DEOACC Society, as such it is submitted that the statutory provision which govern the services of the employees of the subordinate court, unequivocally provided that the candidate should have a "CCC' Certificate issued by DOEACC Society, as a minimum essential qualification.

11. It is further contended that the last date of filling up the online application form was 30.09.2014 and as per the essential qualifications prescribed in the advertisement, the applicant must possesses the minimum essential qualification on the last date of submission of the online application form. It is further contended that the petitioner applied for the post of Junior Assistant and was duly selected, though he did not possess computer qualification prescribed under the advertisement, as he did not have "CCC' certificate issued by the DOEACC Society or any higher qualification on the last date of filling of application form. The petitioner made a false declaration in the application form that the petitioner had CCC Certificate qualification. Sri Ashish Mishra, learned counsel for the respondent relied upon a Division Bench judgement dated 30.11.2016 passed in Special Appeal No.751 of 2016 (Ajay Seth Vs. State of U.P. and 2 others) which is annexure 3 to the writ petition.

12. In the rejoinder affidavit filed by the learned counsel for the petitioner, the facts as stated in the counter affidavit were denied. Shri Bhushan learned counsel for the petitioner relied upon Division Bench Judgment of this Court dated 06.05.2019 in Special Appeal (Defective) No.679 of 2017 (Sanjay Kumar Vs. State of U.P. and 2 others). He further relied upon another Division Bench Judgement of this Court dated 16.05.2019 in Special Appeal No.1265 of 2018 (District Judge Azamgarh and another Vs. Sandeep Kumar Chauharn and another).

13. Heard learned counsel for the parties. Since affidavits have already been exchanged, with the consent of learned counsel for the parties, the matter is being heard finally and disposed of at the admission stage itself.

14. From perusal of the facts as narrated above, it is clear that on the last date of submission of online form, the petitioner does not have certificate of CCC issued by DOEACC Society. It is also clear that two show-cause notices were issued to the petitioner by the respondent No.2, i.e., notices dated 31.08.2016 and 09.09.2016. Replies of the aforesaid show-cause notices were duly given by the petitioner vide reply dated 29.09.2016 and 24.09.2016. In both the replies, it is clearly mentioned by the petitioner that he possess a Diploma from Polytechnic Chandauli which is within the purview of Government of India Project and is equivalent to Computer Concept Course (CCC) Certificate issued by DOEACC Society (NIETLIT) but by passing the impugned order, the reply submitted by the petitioner was not at all taken into consideration by the respondent No.2From perusal of the impugned order dated 7.1.2017, it is clear that the order was passed by the respondent No.2 without application of mind and without considering the fact that the qualification possessed by the petitioner is equivalent to the Computer Concept Course (CCC) Certificate.

15. Apart from the same, Division Bench of this Court in the case of Sanjay Kumar (supra) has already been held that the Computer Concept Course (CCC) is designed to fulfill the beginner level computer literacy and that can be undertaken by a person at his own also. It was further held that only requirement is that he must get the same verified by NIELIT (formerly known as "DOEACC Society"). The course in question is not expertise in computer application but is the most preliminary knowledge for computer operation. The certificate of CCC is available even for the persons who are having no formal education.

16. After taking into consideration the aforesaid aspects of the matter, the Division Bench was pleased to set aside the order passed by the learned Single Judge dismissing the writ petition filed by Sanjay Kumar as well as the order passed by the District Judge Unnao cancelling the appointment of the applicant-petitioner. The petitioner was directed to reinstate in the District Judgeship of Unnao with all consequential benefits except actual the actual payment of salary for the period he remained out of employment. Relevant portion of the aforesaid judgement is reproduced below:-

"In appeal, we have looked into the entire issue including the nature of certificate of CCC. As per the details available on the official websidte of the NIELIT, the deails of the Course on Computer Concepts (CCC) is as follows:-

"Introduction: This course is designed to aim at imparting a basic level

IT LIteracy programme for the common man. This programme has essentially been conceived with an idea of giving an opportunity to the common man to attain computer literacy thereby contributing to increased and speedy PC penetration in different walks of life. After completing the course the incumbent should be able to use the computer for basis purposes of preparing his personnel/business letters, viewing information on internet (the web), receiving and sending mails, preparing his business presentations, preparing small databases etc. This helps the small business communities, housewives, etc. to maintain their small accounts using the computers and enjoy in the world of Information Technology. This course is, therefore, designed to be more practical oriented.

Eligibility: The candidates can appear in the NIELIT CCC Examination through following three modes and the eligibility criteria for each mode are indicated against each:

2.1 Candidates sponsored by NIELIT approved Institutes permitted to conduct CCC Course - irrespective of any educational qualifications;

2.2 Candidates sponsored by Government recognized Schools/Colleges having obtained an Unique Identity number from NIELIT for conducting CCC - irrespective of any educational qualifications, and

2.3 Direct Applicants (without essentially undergoing the Accredited Course or without being sponsored by a Govt. recognized School/College) - irrespective of any educational qualification;

Duration: The total duration of the course is 80 hours, consisting of

(I) Theory 25 hours

(ii) Tutorials 5 hours

(iii) Practicals 50 hours

The course could ideally be a two weeks intensive course."

The introduction quoted above indicates that the Course on Computer Concepts (CCC) is designed to fulfill the beginner level computer literacy and that can be undertaken by a person at his own also. The only requirement is that he must get the same verified by NIELIT (formerly known as "DOEACC Society"). The course is not expertise in computer application but is the most preliminary knowledge for computer operation. The certificate of CCC is available even for the persons who are having no formal education. As a matter of fact, it is the first step for computer literacy. The only purpose to include certificate of "CCC" in the eligibility is that the aspirant must be aware with computer and he should a computer literate. The appellant-petitioner who is a Post Graduate Diploma in Computer Application is too ahead to the knowledge extended through CCC. The advance knowledge available to the appellant-petitioner very well satisfies the purpose and need to have certificate of CCC. Learned single Bench failed to appreciate that the purpose of having a CCC certificate stands satisfied on having the higher qualification of Post Graduation in Computer Application.

In view of whatever stated above, we are of considered opinion that learned single Bench erred while arriving at the conclusion that the order passed by District Judge, Unnao dated 19th September, 2016 does not suffer from any error.

Accordingly, the appeal is allowed. The order dated 5th January, 2017 is set aside. The Writ Petition No.60818 of 2016 is allowed. The order dated 19th September, 2016 passed by the District Judge, Unnao cancelling the appointment of the appellant-petitioner is set aside. The petitioner is declared entitled to be reinstated as Stenographer Grade III in district judgeship Unnao with all consequential benefits except the actual payment of salary for the period he remained out of employment in pursuance to the order dated 19th September, 2015."

17. Similar view was taken by the Division Bench of this Court in the case of District Judge Azamgarh and another (supra) . The petitioner is possessing diploma in Computer Application from Janta Computer Education Centre as well as diploma in Computer Application from Polytechnic, Chandauli. The diploma obtained from Polytechnic Chandauli is under Government of India. The duration of diploma obtained from Polytechnic Chandauli is of more than 80 hours whereas the essential qualification of having CCC certificate issued by DOEACC Society (NIETNIT) is 80 hours basic course of study. The petitioner in reply to the show cause notice has given full detail regarding his essential qualification. Since the petitioner is having a diploma which is higher qualification than CCC certificate, as such, the order dated 7.1.2017 terminating his services is not sustainable.

18. In view of the law laid down by the Division Bench in the aforesaid two judgements, I am of the opinion that the writ petition is liable to be allowed and the same is allowed. The order dated 07.01.2017 passed by the District Judge Chandauli (Annexure 16 to the writ petition) is set aside. The petitioner is declared entitle to reinstate in the District Judgeship of Chandauli with all consequential benefits except the actual payment of salary for the period he remained out of employment pursuant to order dated 01.07.2017.

19. With the aforesaid observations, the writ petition is allowed.

THE HON'BLE AMRESHWAR PRATAP SAHI, J.
THE HON'BLE SARAL SRIVASTAVA, J.

Special Appeal No. 435 of 2008

Pancham Ram Yadav
...Petitioner-Appellant
Versus
The U.P. Co-Operative Federation Ltd. & Anr. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Prakash Padia, Sri Chandan Kumar.

C.S.C., Sri Ram Gopal Tripathi, Sri V.C. Tripathi.

A. U.P. Co-operative Societies Employees Service Regulation, 1975- Regulations 84, 85 and U.P. Co-operative Federation Limited Karamchari Seva Niyamawali, 1980- Rule 83- Regulation 84 and Rule 83 combined together should not allow the process to remain unfinished-Writ against the dismissal of appellant from service was dismissed vide impugned order dated 12.11.2007- Recall application also dismissed. Referring the matter to a Larger Bench, the High Court observed -Regulation 84 should be read in a manner so as to allow the Disciplinary Authority to impose an appropriate punishment coupled with a direction to recover the entire financial loss show caused. (Para 11, 12 & 15)

B. Harmonizing the words "any one" of the penalties in Regulation 84 with the words used in Rule 83 of the 1980 Rules, would be a paradox and against public policy and therefore such an interpretation deserves to be avoided.
(Para 15)

Special appeal against the judgment and order dated 12.11.2007, passed by learned Single Judge in CMWP No. 18891 of 2000. (E-4)

Precedent followed: -

1. Satya Narain Mishra Vs Praband Nideshak & anr., (2002) (1) AWC 582 (Para 4, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 15 & 16)

Precedent deferred from: -

1. Virendra Kumar Gupta Vs St. of U.P. & ors. in Service Bench No. 614 of 2009 decided on 28.07.2015 (Para 6, 7, 9, 13, 15 & 16)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Amreshwar Pratap Sahi, J. & Hon'ble Saral Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Chandan Kumar, learned counsel for the appellant and Sri Ram Gopal Tripathi, learned counsel for all the respondents.

2. This appeal prays for setting aside the judgment dated 12.11.2007 of the learned Single Judge in Writ Petition No.18891 of 2000 in so far as it relates to the present appellant only.

3. The appellant while working as a Storekeeper in the godown of U.P. Cooperative Federation Limited, the respondent herein, is alleged to have been involved in the illegal removal of 361 bags of Sugar as a result whereof, along with others, he was also charge-sheeted in disciplinary proceedings and was called upon to answer the charges including the charge of financial loss having been caused on account of such removal of bags. The said charges were enquired into and the appellant was held to be liable for the said loss and the charges of misappropriation were stated to have been proved. As a measure of punishment to the appellant, on the conclusion of the enquiry, the appellant was dismissed from service vide order dated 03.03.2000 and was also simultaneously saddled with the recovery of the amount stated to have been misappropriated as per the charges that have been found to be proved. An F.I.R. was also lodged and a criminal case is being pursued. During investigation more than 100 bags of the misappropriated Sugar are stated to have been recovered.

4. Aggrieved the appellant filed Writ Petition No.18891 of 2000 that has been dismissed by the learned Single Judge by the judgment dated 12.11.2007 holding that the complicity of the appellant is established and in the circumstances the dispensation of the services of the appellant as well as the recovery of the pecuniary loss from the appellant has been upheld. While proceeding to dismiss the writ petition the learned Single Judge noticed and followed the judgment of another learned Single Judge in the case of Satya Narain Mishra Vs. Prabandh Nideshak and another 2002(1) AWC, 582.

5. The appellant herein filed a Recall Application for the said judgment before the learned Single Judge urging that his counsel had not been heard. The said application was rejected vide order dated 21.01.2008, hence this appeal.

6. Sri Chandan Kumar while advancing his submissions has urged that since the correct position of law has not been noticed by the learned Single Judge, namely the power to award punishment as per Regulations 84 and 85 of the U.P. Co-operative Societies Employees Service Regulation, 1975 therefore the impugned judgment is vitiated. He submits that the same Regulations, in a case of almost an identical set of two punishments having been awarded simultaneously, a Division Bench in the case of Virendra Kumar Gupta Vs. State of U.P. and others in Service Bench No.614 of 2009 decided on 28.07.2015 has held that since Regulation 84 of the Regulations 1975 prevail over and above the U.P. Co-operative Federation Limited Karmchari Seva Niyamawali, 1980, therefore only one punishment could have been awarded, hence, the reliance placed by the learned Single Judge in the case of Satya Narain Mishra Vs. Praband Nideshak and another (Supra) is contrary to law as considered by the said Division Bench.

7. It may be noticed that the judgment impugned in the present writ petition was delivered on 12.11.2007 when the judgment in the case of Satya Narain Mishra Vs. Praband Nideshak and another (Supra) was reportedly prevailing. The Division Bench judgment in the case of Virendra Kumar Gupta Vs. State of U.P. and others (Supra) has been rendered on 28.07.2015 without noticing the ratio of the judgment of the learned Single Judge in the case of Satya Narain Mishra Vs. Praband Nideshak and another (Supra).

8. Sri Chandan Kumar submits that the Division Bench judgment being later in point of time, delivered and interpreting the same Regulation, would prevail, inasmuch as, this was a direct case with regard to an employee of U.P. Co-operative Federation Limited whereas the judgment rendered by the learned Single Judge in the case of Satya Narain Mishra Vs. Praband Nideshak and another (Supra) was in relation to a Co-operative Bank. He therefore, contends that the Division Bench judgment having interpreted the same regulations and being a later judgment would prevail and would be binding.

9. Replying to the said submissions Sri Ram Gopal Tripathi, learned counsel for the respondents has urged that since the Division Bench judgment had been rendered without noticing the ratio of the judgment in the case of Satya Narain Mishra Vs. Praband Nideshak and another (Supra) interpreting the same regulations, this Court should attempt to harmonize the provisions of Regulations 84 and 85 of the 1975 Regulations and Rule 83 of the 1980 Rules referred to therein. His contention therefore is that the Division Bench judgment in the case of Virendra Kumar Gupta Vs. State of U.P. and others (Supra) which does not notice the ratio of the judgment in the case of Satya Narain Mishra Vs. Praband Nideshak and another (Supra) should not be applied on the facts of the present case or alternatively the matter may require a revisit on the question of law.

10. We have considered the submissions raised. In order to appreciate the aforesaid rival submissions raised it would be appropriate to extract paragraph no.13 of the judgment in the case of Satya Narain Mishra Vs. Praband Nideshak and another (Supra) :

"In case bank employee who is found to have embezzled the amount the public policy demands that apart from the punishment given by departmental authority, he be held responsible for the recovery of the pecuniary loss caused by the employee to the Bank. If an emmployee is held to be liable to only one of the punishments, it may become an incentive to misappropriate or embezzle a large amount and escape liability of such misappropriation or embezzlement. The punishment of reversion or removal or dismissal on the ground of misconduct should be with direction of recovery to make good the loss caused due to such misconduct. Regulation 84, providing for penalties and stating that the employee is liable to be punished by any one of the penalty has thus to be interpreted to mean that in case of misappropriation or embezzlement which is the misconduct on account of which the employee has been penalised, the recovery of the amount of pecuniary loss caused to the bank is necessary to be coupled with the penalty effected upon delinquent employee. In V.K.Bahadur Vs. State Bank of India, 2001 L&IC 935, this Court following the judgment in State Bank of India Vs. T.J.Paul, AIR 1999 SC 1994; Kailash Nath Gupta V. Inquiry Officer : 1997 (1) AWC 263 (NOC): 1997 ACJ 896, held that where financial irregularities of serious nature are found proved against the bank employee no lenient view should be taken. A bank runs on public confidence. A greater integrity and devotion is required from bank employee in comparison to employees of other organizations. If the allegation of embezzlement, misappropriation or gross negligence is found to be established causing pecuniary loss to the bank on account of delinquent employee, the amount of loss must be made good by him. In the present case, only half of the doubtful recoveries have been sought to be made good, and in the circumstances it is held that imposition of penalty of reversion along with recovery of the amount, does not violate Regulation 84 of the U.P. Co-operative Societies Service Regulation, 1975."

11. A perusal of the aforesaid view expressed by the learned Single Judge would indicate that Regulation 84 came to be interpreted in a manner which in our opinion is based on a sound reasoning to advance the purpose of punishment. It holds that in a case of misappropriation and financial embezzlement if, the said charge is found to be proved then Regulation 84 should be read in a manner so as to allow the Disciplinary Authority to impose an appropriate punishment coupled with a direction to recover the entire financial loss show caused.

12. This in our opinion also would not amount to a double punishment but would be supplemental to the punishment awarded to the employee on having found to be indulging in financial misappropriation or causing financial loss which would be a sound public policy while interpreting Regulation 84. The money which is sought to be recovered is in a sense not an award of punishment but is to recover something that belonged to the employer and was an entrustment.

Regulation 84 is extracted hereinunder :

"Penalties.--(i) Without prejudice to the provisions contained in any other regulation, an employee who commits a breach of duty enjoined upon him or has been convicted for criminal offence or an offence under Section 103 of the Act or does anything prohibited by these regulations shall be liable to be punished by any one of the following penalties :

(a) censure.

(b) withholding of increment.

(c) fine on an employee of Category IV (peon, chaukidar etc.),

(d) recovery from pay or security deposit to compensate in whole or in part for any pecuniary loss caused to the Co-operative Society by the employee's conduct,

(e) reduction in rank or grade held substantively by the employee,

(f) removal from service, or

(g) dismissal from service."

13. What we find is that the Division Bench in the case of Virendra Kumar Gupta Vs. State of U.P. and others (Supra) while proceeding to interpret the provision has held that the Rules of 1980 have been framed under the Regulations of 1975 and therefore, they being subordinate to Regulation 84, Rule 83 of the Rules can not be read so as to expand the meaning of the award of any one punishment as provided for in Regulation 84. Rule 83 of the 1980 Rules are extracted hereinunder :-

''1 किसी अन्य सेवा नियम में दिये गये उपबन्धों पर प्रतिकूल प्रभाव डाले बिना किसी कर्मचारी को जो अपने कर्तव्यों का कोई उल्लंघन करता है या दण्ड अपराध अधिनियम की धारा 103 के अधीन किसी अपराध के लिये सिद्ध दोष हुआ है या सेवा नियमावली द्वारा प्रतिषिद्ध कोई कार्य करता है, तो उसे निम्न शास्तियों में से एक या अधिक शास्तियों द्वारा दण्डित किया जा सकेगा।

(क) निन्दा,

(ख) वेतन वृद्धि पर रोक,

(ग) श्रेणी 4 के किसी कर्मचारी (चपरासी, चौकीदार आदि) पर जुर्माना,

(ड.) कर्मचारी द्वारा मौलिक रूप में धृत पर या श्रेणी में अवनति,

(च) सेवा से हटाया जाना, तथा

(छ) सेवा से पदच्युत

(2) दण्ड के आदेश की प्रतिलिपि अनिवार्यतः सम्बद्ध कर्मचारी को दी जायेगी और कर्मचारी के सेवा अभिलेख में इस आशय की प्रविष्ट की जायेगी।

(3) निन्दा करने के अलावा कोई भी शास्ति तब तक आरोपित नहीं की जायेगी जब तक कि कर्मचारी के कारण बताने की नोटिस न दे दी गई हो और या तो वह विनिर्दिष्ट समय के भीतर उत्तर देने में असफल रहा हो अथवा उत्तर दण्ड देने वाले अधिकारी द्वारा असंतोषजनक पाया गया हो।

(4) (क) आरोपित कर्मचारी को समुपयुक्त प्राधिकारी द्वारा अपराध की गम्भीरता के अनुसार दण्ड किया जायेगाः

प्रतिबन्ध यह है कि खण्ड (1) के उपखण्ड (ड.), (च) या (छ) के अधीन कोई शक्ति अनुशासनिक कार्यवाही किये बिना आरोपित नहीं की जायेगी।

(5) नियुक्त प्राधिकारी या उसके द्वारा प्राधिकृत व्यक्ति वेतन वृद्धि रोकने का आदेश देते समय उस अवधि का जब तक के लिये वह रोकी गई है और इसका कि क्या उससे भविष्य की वेतन वृद्धियां अथवा पदोन्नति स्थगित होगी, उल्लेख करेगा।''

14. The sum and substance of the conclusion drawn by the Division Bench therefore is that even though the 1980 Rules does provide for one or more than one punishment, yet the same can-not travel beyond the language used in Regulation 84 of the 1975 Regulations.

15. We are unable to respectfully agree with the aforesaid interpretation inasmuch the words "any one" of the penalties should be harmonized with the words used in Rule 83 of the 1980 Rules particularly in cases relating to financial impropriety or embezzlement as is involved in the present case and was also involved in the case of Satya Narain Mishra Vs. Praband Nideshak and another (Supra). We would therefore approve of the reasoning given by the learned Single Judge in paragraph no.13 of the judgment in the case of Satya Narain Mishra Vs. Praband Nideshak and another (Supra), as against the interpretation given by the Division Bench in the case of Virendra Kumar Gupta Vs. State of U.P. and others (Supra) in view of the above discussion. We find that such an interpretation would advance the cause of justice and would alienate all possibilities of perpetuation of any mischief, inasmuch as, an employee who may be on the verge of his retirement can take recourse or attempt to such financial misappropriation or embezzlement and then walk away with the punishment of dismissal without any liability to return back the amount. This would be a paradox and would be against public policy and therefore such an interpretation deserves to be avoided. We may add that an interpretation, the effect whereof is likely to be utilized by an unscrupulous employee as an incentive or license to embezzle, should be cast aside. Any loophole or possibility of free play should be prevented from acting as a catalyst for an indulgent individual. The purpose of punishment is also to act as a deterrent. An action, as a consequence of a proved charge of misappropriation, to recover, is like a natural corollary that should be implemented and executed to complete the process or else it would invite a legal criticism of letting the guilty escape. Regulation 84 and Rule 83 combined together should not allow the process to remain unfinished.

16. Consequently having not found ourselves in agreement with the ratio of the judgment of the Division Bench in the case of Virendra Kumar Gupta Vs. State of U.P. and others (Supra) in respect of the subject matter in issue, we find it necessary to refer this question to a Larger Bench with a request to Hon'ble The Chief Justice to constitute a larger Bench for resolving the question of law formulated hereinafter :

1. Whether Regulation 84 of the U.P. Co-operative Societies Employees' Service Regulation 1975 read with Rule 83 of the U.P. Co-operative Federation Limited Karmchari Seva Niyamawali, 1980 services can be harmonized so as to uphold the punishment by way of dismissal of an employee coupled with an order directing recovery of an amount on the charge of a financial embezzlement or misappropriation to be included within the fold of Regulation 84 ?

2. Whether the law laid down in the case of Virendra Kumar Gupta Vs. State of U.P. and others (Supra) in respect of the true import of Regulation 84 read with Rule 83 aforesaid does not state the correct position of law as against the reasoning given by the learned Single Judge in paragraph no.13 in the case of Satya Narain Mishra Vs. Praband Nideshak and another (Supra) and alternatively as to whether the statement of law in that regard as explained in the judgment of Satya Narain Mishra Vs. Praband Nideshak and another (Supra) should be accepted as the correct position of law ?"

17. Let the papers be placed before Hon'ble The Chief Justice for constituting a Larger Bench in terms of Chapter V Rule 6 of Allahabad High Court Rules, 1952 at the earliest for being resolved.

THE HON'BLE MANOJ MISRA, J.
THE HON'BLE SURESH KUMAR GUPTA, J.

Special Appeal No. 743 of 2019 connected with 744, 745, 595, 599 of 2019

Sunil Kumar Mishra ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Ashok Khare, Abhilasha Singh.

C.S.C., Sri Indra Raj Singh, Sri Vijay Kumar Singh.

A. U.P. Secondary Education Services Selection Board Act, 1982 (U.P. Act No. 5 of 1982) - Sections 18, 21, 33-A, 33-B - All the five appeals were dismissed and order of the Single Judge was upheld-Answering issue of collateral challenge to regularity and validity of the appointment while considering issued related to seniority, it was held that the issue as regards existence of substantive vacancy is fundamental and, once raised, ought to be addressed while determining the issue relating to seniority. (Para 38, 39 & 40)

B. Para 5 of First Removal of Difficulties Order -the procedure for appointment on ad hoc basis against a substantively vacant post is what is laid down in Para 5 of First Removal of Difficulties Order and that procedure is mandatory-Any appointment made in transgression of that procedure is illegal and void. (Para 46, 47 & 48)

C. U.P. Secondary Education Services Selection Board Act, 1982 (U.P. Act No. 5 of 1982) - Section 18-The provisions contained in Section 18 and Removal of Difficulties Order are to be harmonized – It is incorrect to say that appointment of a teacher on ad hoc basis is either u/s 18 or under the First Removal of Difficulties Order. The procedure prescribed in the First Removal of Difficulties Order for making ad hoc appointment against a substantive vacancy was to be followed for an appointment contemplated u/s 18 and any appointment intransgression thereof was void. (Para 50, 51 & 52)

D. U.P. Secondary Education Services Selection Board Act, 1982 (U.P. Act No. 5 of 1982)-section 33-B-Paragraph 3 of the Second Removal of Difficulties Order - Where short-term vacancy gets converted into a substantive vacancy after 07.08.1993, the tenure of teacher appointed on ad hoc basis against a short-term vacancy would be governed by the provisions of Section 33-B and would not be governed by Para 3 of the Second Removal of Difficulties Order. (Para 54 to 61)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manoj Misra, J.)

1. These five special appeals are against judgment and order dated 02.04.2019 passed by learned Single Judge in four connected writ petitions, namely, Writ A Nos. 52277 of 2014; 48836 of 2016; 57215 of 2016; and 60494 of 2016. As common questions of law and fact are involved in these five appeals, with the consent of learned counsel for the parties, they were heard together and are being decided by a common order.

2. To have a clear understanding of the controversy, it would be apposite for us to have a glimpse of the facts and the rival contentions in the aforementioned writ petitions which have given rise to these appeals.

3. Sri Sunil Kumar Mishra (for short Sunil), the writ petitioner in Writ A Nos. 52277 of 2014 and 60494 of 2016, who is the appellant in Special Appeal No. 743 of 2019 (Old Defective No. 493 of 2019), Special Appeal No. 744 of 2019 (Old Defective No. 496 of 2019) and Special Appeal No. 745 of 2019 (Old Defective No. 498 of 2019), was appointed on 29.10.1985 as Lecturer in Chemistry in Madan Lal Inter College, Bisauli, Budaun (for short 'College') for a period of six months. His letter of appointment suggested that he was offered appointment on temporary basis against a leave /short-term vacancy. When his term of appointment was not extended beyond 30th June 1986, he filed Writ A No. 20807 of 1986 in which an interim order was passed on 17.12.1986 thereby providing that till his services are duly terminated or some one on the recommendation of the Commission joins the post held by him, his ad-hoc appointment in the Lecturer Grade shall be deemed to continue and he shall be entitled as such to the emoluments. Under this interim order, he was permitted to continue in service and was paid monthly salary. Thereafter, on 19.05.1992, his services were regularized w.e.f. 06.04.1991 by placing reliance on the provisions of Section 33-A of U.P. Act No. 5 of 1982. On regularization of his service, Writ A No. 20807 of 1986 was rendered infructuous. Consequently, by noticing the regularization order, dated 19.05.1992, Writ A No. 20807 of 1986 was dismissed as infructuous vide order dated 11.09.2006. It is the case of Sunil that since then the college authorities treated him as substantively appointed Lecturer and in the seniority list of Lecturers, published by the College on 08.08.2007, his name finds mention at serial no. 5.

4. According to Sunil, Ganesh Chandra Goel (for short Ganesh), who is the writ petitioner in Writ A No. 48836 of 2016 and is respondent no. 6 in Special Appeal No. 743 of 2019 (Old Defective No. 493 of 2019) and respondent no.5 in Special Appeal No. 745 of 2019 (Old Defective No. 498 of 2019), was merely an Assistant Teacher in L.T. Grade in the College and his name did not figure in the seniority list published on 08.08.2007 but, later, he was granted promotion on the post of Lecturer in Mathematics in October 2007, therefore Ganesh is junior to him.

5. Indisputably, the post of Principal in the College was lying substantively vacant. As a consequence whereof, the senior most Lecturer in the College had to officiate as Principal. Initially, one Rajan Sareen, who was the senior most Lecturer, officiated as Principal. He was to retire on 30th June 2014. A dispute arose with regard to the Lecturer entitled to be appointed as officiating Principal post retirement of Rajan Sareen. The management of the college (writ petitioner in Writ A No.57215 of 2016 and appellant in Special Nos.595 of 2019 & 599 of 2019) recommended appointment of Ganesh as officiating Principal of the College. Against the proposal, Sunil, claiming himself to be the senior most lecturer and eligible, filed an application before the District Inspector of Schools, Budaun (for short DIOS) thereby raising his claim for appointment as officiating Principal. On the rival claims, a report was called from the Principal, Government Girls' Inter College, Dataganj, Budaun. On the basis of that report, on 26.06.2014, the proposal to appoint Ganesh was approved by observing that Sunil was appointed ad-hoc on a leave vacancy; that he continued in service pursuant to interim order dated 17.12.1986 passed in Writ A No. 20807 of 1986, which stood dismissed; that his regularization was not legally sustainable as on the date of his regularization there was no substantive vacancy; that substantive vacancy came into existence on 30.06.2006 and, prior to that, on 01.02.2006, requisition for filling up the post had been sent to the Board.

6. Aggrieved by order of the DIOS, dated 26.06.2014, Sunil filed Writ A No. 35497 of 2014, which was allowed by order dated 15.07.2014 and the order dated 26.06.2014 was set aside and the matter was remitted back to the DIOS to pass a fresh order after giving opportunity of hearing to the parties.

7. Pursuant to the order dated 15.07.2014, the matter was re-considered by the DIOS. After hearing both sides, the DIOS, by order dated 18.09.2014, canceled the order of regularization of service of Sunil and approved the appointment of Ganesh as officiating Principal. While deciding the issue, the DIOS found that appointment of Sunil was on a leave vacancy which had arisen on account of incumbent, Suraj Prakash Agarwal (for short Suraj), Lecturer, Chemistry, proceeding on leave; that the post fell substantively vacant on 30.06.2006, consequent to retirement of Suraj and, to fill up that post, requisition was sent to the Board on 01.02.2006, therefore, the services of Sunil Kumar Mishra could not have been regularized on 19.05.1992. In addition to above, the DIOS expressed doubts in respect of the genuineness of the regularization order.

8. Assailing the order dated 18.09.2014 passed by DIOS, Writ A No. 52277 of 2014 was filed. While Writ A No. 52277 of 2014 was pending, on 28.09.2016, the DIOS passed a fresh order, superseding his earlier order, thereby directing that Sunil would be provided charge of officiating Principal of the College, as he was the senior most eligible lecturer in the College. However, this order was made subject to decision of Writ A No. 52277 of 2014.

9. Ganesh filed Writ A No. 48836 of 2016 against the order dated 28.09.2016 by claiming that the order dated 28.09.2016 amounts to review of the earlier order dated 18.09.2014 which was not permissible and that the issues raised in the earlier order dated 18.09.2014 were not addressed. It was also claimed that no opportunity of hearing was extended to him. On merits, Ganesh claimed that Sunil was appointed on a short-term vacancy therefore the order regularizing his services by taking the aid of Section 33-A of the U.P. Act No. 5 of 1982 was not at all sustainable as regularization of an ad-hoc appointee against a short-term vacancy could only be as per the provisions of Section 33-B of the U.P. Act No. 5 of 1982, as per which, regularization could be upon recommendation of a Selection Committee headed by the Joint Director of Education whereas for Sunil's regularization no recommendation was there.

10. In the meantime, the Committee of Management of the College (for short Management) passed a resolution, dated 20.11.2016, whereby a decision was taken to terminate the services of Sunil. Pursuant to which, the management terminated the services of Sunil vide letter/ order dated 22.11.2016. However, this resolution dated 20.11.2016 was declared illegal by the DIOS, vide order dated 25.11.2016, on the ground that no decision to terminate the services of a teacher could be given effect to without prior approval of the Board as contemplated by Section 21 of the U.P. Act No. 5 of 1982.

11. Assailing the orders dated 28.09.2016 and 25.11.2016, the Management filed Writ A No. 57215 of 2016 by claiming that in view of Full Bench decision of this court in Smt. Pramila Mishra v. Deputy Director of Education, Jhansi Division, Jhansi and others : 1997 (2) UPLBEC 1329, the moment short-term vacancy, on account of retirement of Suraj on 30.06.2006, stood converted in to a substantive vacancy, services of Sunil stood automatically terminated by operation of law. Therefore, there was no need to obtain prior approval of the Board.

12. Writ A No. 60494 of 2016 was filed by Sunil to question the resolution of the Management dated 20.11.2016 and the consequential termination of his service.

13. As the aforementioned four petitions raised issues that were inter-dependent on each other, the learned single judge decided them by a common judgment and order dated 02.04.2019.

14. On behalf of Sunil, the submissions made before the learned Single Judge were that the DIOS, while adjudicating a claim for appointment as officiating principal of the college, was not justified in questioning the validity of the regularization order dated 19.05.1992 and re-opening the already determined seniority because it is not permissible for any party to raise a collateral challenge to the appointment /regularization in a dispute relating to seniority/ appointment as officiating principal. To support the above submission, reliance was placed on a single judge decision of this Court in Vijay Narain Sharma v. District Inspector of Schools, Etawah and others : 1986 UPLBEC 44; and another single judge decision dated 22.10.2010 passed in Writ Petition No. 8960 of 2010 (Rama Kant Chaturvedi vs. State of U.P. and others). It was also urged that, admittedly, in the seniority list of lecturers, drawn on 08.08.2007, Sunil's name was there but the name of Ganesh was not even mentioned, hence, there was no occasion for the DIOS to entertain and address a collateral challenge to the initial appointment/ regularization. In respect of his initial appointment, Sunil's case was that the vacancy against which he was appointed was substantive inasmuch as the incumbent Suraj had abandoned his services by not turning up to resume service since the time he went on leave in the year 1980. It was urged that five years of continuous absence from service is more than sufficient to draw an inference that the incumbent has abandoned the service. In support of this plea, reliance was placed on two decisions: (a) Vijay S. Sathaye vs. Indian Airlines Limited and others : (2013) 10 SCC 253; and (b) Deputy Director of Education (Secondary) and others vs. Smt. Jyoti Yadav and another : 2016 (4) ALJ 27. It was urged that as the post on which Sunil was appointed was an abandoned post, his appointment was against a substantive vacancy, consequently, by dint of his continuous service, his claim for regularization was sustainable under Section 33-A of U.P. Act No.5 of 1982 and, therefore, the regularization order was justified. In respect of the procedure adopted while making his initial appointment, it was claimed that prior to the law laid down by Full Bench of this court in Radha Raizada and others vs. Committee of Management, Vidyawati Darbari Girls' Inter College and others : 1994 (3) UPLBEC 1551, the appointments were made under Section 18 of U.P. Act No.5 of 1982 for which the Committee of Management was empowered, as held by a Division Bench of this Court in Km. Nishi Bhargava vs. Deputy Director of Education, Agra Region, Agra and others : 1987

UPLBEC 415. It was urged that the law declared by Full Bench in Radha Raizada's case (supra) was prospective in its application, that is to those appointments which were made after its decision, as was held by a Division Bench in Balveer Singh and others vs. DIOS and another (decision dated 27.09.2018 passed in Special Appeal No. 321 of 2013), following the decision in the case of Ashika Prasad Shukla vs. District Inspector of Schools, Allahabad and another : 1998 (3) UPLBEC 1722.

15. On behalf of the Management, before the learned Single Judge it was urged that the vacancy against which Sunil was appointed was a short-term vacancy caused by going on leave by the then Chemistry lecturer Suraj. The short-term appointment came to an end, upon expiry of six months, and therefore services of Sunil were rightly terminated. Though Sunil continued to serve under interim order passed in Writ A No. 20807 of 1986, which was dismissed on 11.09.2006. As, Sunil, had not continued in service in his own right, he was not entitled to be regularized either under Section 33-A or under Section 33-B of the U.P. Act No. 5 of 1982. It was urged that if the vacancy against which Sunil was appointed is treated as substantive then his ad-hoc appointment would be a nullity as it was not made by following the procedure prescribed by paragraph 5 of the First Removal of Difficulties Order. Such appointment being void would confer no right irrespective of the length of service. In support of this submission, reliance was placed on decisions of the Apex Court in Prabhat Kumar Sharma and others vs. State of U.P. and others : (1996) 10 SCC 62 (paragraph nos. 7 and 10); and Shesh Mani Shukla Vs. District Inspector of Schools, Deoria : (2009) 15 SCC 436 (paragraph nos. 18 and 19). On the claim of regularization of the services of Sunil it was urged that the benefit of continuity in service was not available to him as that was rendered under an interim order because regularization has to be on the basis of continuous service rendered in one's own right. In that regard, reliance was placed on a decision of the Apex Court in Committee of Management, Arya Nagar Inter College, Arya Nagar, Kanpur Vs. Sree Kumar Tiwari and others : (1997) 4 SCC 388 (paragraph nos. 6 and 7). It was also urged that once Writ A No. 20807 of 1986 filed by Sunil was dismissed there would be automatic revival of his termination order. In that regard, reliance was placed on a Division Bench decision of this Court in R.S. Khan Vs. State of U.P. : 2005 (1) ESC 515. In the alternative, it was claimed that consequent to retirement of Suraj on 30.06.2006, the short-term vacancy got converted into substantive vacancy, as a result, the appointment of Sunil stood automatically terminated by operation of law and therefore there was no requirement to seek approval under Section 21 of U.P. Act No. 5 of 1982.

16. On behalf of Ganesh, apart from adopting the case pleaded by the management, it was urged that though the view taken in Radha Raizada's case (supra), in respect of the procedure to be adopted for ad hoc appointment against short-term vacancies, is to be applied prospectively, but the law laid therein in respect of ad hoc appointment against substantive vacancy is applicable to all appointments that were to be made during the currency of the First Removal of Difficulties Order. It was urged that the above principle has been accepted by a Division Bench of this Court in Julfiqar Hussain Ansari Vs. State of U.P. and others : 2013 (1) ADJ 80. It was urged that the Division Bench decision of this Court in Balveer Singh's case (supra) had not considered the judgment rendered in the case of Julfiqar Hussain Ansari's case (supra) and it has also not considered the decision rendered by the Apex Court in the case of Prabhat Kumar Sharma's case (supra). Hence, the Division Bench decision rendered in the case of Balveer Singh's case (supra) is per-incuriam.

17. Upon consideration of the submissions raised by rival parties, the learned Single Judge framed three issues for consideration, which are extracted below:

"(i) Whether in a dispute relating to inter-se seniority of Lecturer, for the purposes of officiating on the post of Principal, the nature of initial vacancy and ad hoc appointment or regularization could be examined for determining the date of substantive appointment?

(ii) Based upon the outcome of aforesaid issue, the nature of vacancy as well as appointment offered to Sunil Kumar Mishra would fall for determination, so as to consider whether he can be treated to have been substantively appointed as Lecturer, w.e.f. 6.4.1991, and be entitled to seniority, as such?

(iii) Whether ad-hoc appointment made against substantive vacancy, without following the procedure laid down in para 5 of the First Removal of Difficulties Order, 1981 could be protected by drawing analogy of the Division Bench Judgement in Ashika Prasad Shukla (supra)?"

18. On the first issue, the learned Single Judge, on the basis of paragraph 24 of the judgment in Vijai Narain Sharma's case (supra), observed that relevant factors for determining inter se seniority amongst teachers are: the grade in which the teacher is working; whether he is appointed on a substantive post or not; whether the appointment is permanent or temporary; the date of the appointment or promotion; and the age of the teacher. Learned Single Judge observed that as seniority of a teacher in a particular grade has to be determined on the basis of the date of his substantive appointment in that grade and, where, the substantive appointment is dependent on regularization, then question relating to its legality would be a material issue, which would have to be examined to correctly determine the main issue of seniority.

19. After holding as above, the learned Single Judge proceeded to examine the second and third issues framed by him.

20. The second and third issues being interconnected, were dealt with by the learned Single Judge step-wise. The learned Single Judge proceeded to first examine the nature of the vacancy against which Sunil was appointed ad-hoc. For that, the claim made by Sunil that a substantive vacancy came into existence consequent to alleged abandonment of service by the incumbent Suraj was examined from two different angles. The first was whether Sunil could raise such a plea when it runs counter to his own admitted document which suggested that he was appointed against a leave vacancy. The second was whether the question of abandonment of service by Suraj could be dealt with and determined in absence of Suraj as a party to the proceedings, particularly, when the management had itself not treated his alleged absence from service as a case of abandonment of service, inasmuch as, the management had sent a requisition to the Board in the year 2006 to fill the vacancy that was to arise on 30.06.2006, consequent to retirement of Suraj.

21. In addition to above, the learned Single Judge took into consideration the mode of appointment adopted to fill up the vacancy. Because, had it been a substantive vacancy, the procedure for ad hoc appointment had to be as provided in paragraph 5 of First Removal of Difficulties Order, which was, admittedly, not adopted. Thus, after considering all aspects, the learned single judge came to a definite conclusion that Sunil was appointed by treating the vacancy as short term.

22. While deciding the above issue and issue no.3, noticed above, the learned Single Judge took the view that the procedure prescribed for ad-hoc appointment against substantive vacancy, as held by Full Bench in Radha Raizada's case (supra), which was approved by the apex court in Prabhat Kumar Sharma's case (supra), is laid down in paragraph 5 of the First Removal of Difficulties Order, 1981, which is mandatory and any deviation therefrom would render the appointment void. The learned Single Judge while holding as above observed that in Balveer Singh's case (supra), the true import of the decision of the Full Bench in Radha Raizada's case (supra) with reference to its approval by the Apex Court in Prabhat Kumar Sharma's case was not examined and the earlier Division Bench decision in Julfikar Hussain Ansari's case (supra) also escaped its attention, therefore it cannot be taken to be a binding precedent.

23. While deciding issue no. 3, the learned Single Judge observed that the view taken in Radha Raizada's case (supra) that the procedure prescribed in paragraph 5 of the First Removal of Difficulties Order for ad hoc appointment against substantive vacancy is mandatory was approved by the Apex Court in Prabhat Kumar Sharma's case (supra), and, subsequently, followed by a Division Bench in Julfikar Hussain Ansari's case (supra) thereby holding that ad hoc appointment made against a substantive vacancy, without following the procedure prescribed by First Removal of Difficulties Order, would be a nullity. The learned Single Judge observed that the view to the contrary in Balveer Singh's case (supra) was not binding as it was rendered without considering binding precedents to the contrary. The learned single judge further observed that the decision in Ashika Prasad Shukla's case (supra) to the extent it held that decision in Radha Razaida's case (supra) is prospective in its operation, that is applicable to appointments made after the decision of the Full Bench, was with regard to the procedure to be adopted for making appointment against short-term vacancy and not in respect of ad hoc appointment against a substantive vacancy for which there already existed a detailed procedure in paragraph 5 of the First Removal of Difficulties Order. Accordingly, all the three issues were decided by the learned Single Judge against Sunil.

24. After deciding as above, the learned Single Judge dismissed Writ A

No. 52277 of 2014 by holding that regularization of the services of Sunil under Section 33-A of U.P. Act No. 5 of 1982 was not permissible because he was appointed against a short-term vacancy. It was observed that if he stakes a claim that his appointment was against a substantive vacancy then the appointment would be void, being de hors the procedure provided by the First Removal of Difficulties Order. Consequently, the learned Single Judge proceeded to allow Writ A No. 48836 of 2016 filed by Ganesh and quashed the order dated 28.09.2016 by which the DIOS had accepted the claim of Sunil to officiate as Principal of the College.

25. The other Writ A No. 57215 of 2016 filed by the Management was allowed to the extent it was against the order dated 28.09.2016 passed by the DIOS. However, the learned single judge refused to set aside the order dated 25.11.2016 passed by the DIOS disapproving the resolution of the Management terminating the services of Sunil. The learned single judge further proceeded to allow Writ A No. 60494 of 2016 filed by Sunil against the resolution dated 20.11.2016 and the letter dated 22.11.2016 whereby the Management terminated the services of Sunil and directed that his regularization would be considered under the appropriate provisions of U.P. Act No.5 of 1982.

26. Special Appeal No.743 of 2019 (old Defective No. 493 of 2019) has been filed by Sunil against the judgment and order of the learned Single Judge passed in Writ A No. 52277 of 2014 by claiming / submitting as follows: (a) that the vacancy against which Sunil was appointed was substantive which had come into existence by operation of law on abandonment of service by its incumbent as he had failed to attend the college since the year 1980; (b) that his appointment would be under Section 18 of U.P. Act No. 5 of 1982 and not under the First Removal of Difficulties Order therefore, even in absence of following the procedure prescribed in the First Removal of Difficulties Order, his appointment would not be void as held by a Division Bench in Balveer Singh's case (supra); (c) that the services were rightly regularized with effect from 06.04.1991 by order dated 19.05.1992; (d) that the order of regularization was acted upon and noticed by the High Court while dismissing Writ A No. 20807 of 1986; (e) that the order of regularization dated 19.05.1992 was not challenged or questioned by either the management or by any person and it continued to hold the field for over two decades and, in between, the seniority list also recognized his status as that of lecturer, there was, therefore, no justification for the DIOS to re-visit the regularization order and declare the same illegal while determining a claim for appointment as officiating principal. In addition to above, it was submitted that, admittedly, Ganesh was promoted as Lecturer in the year 2007, hence was junior to the petitioner, therefore the order approving resolution of his appointment as officiating Principal is illegal and liable to be set aside.

27. Special Appeal Nos.744 of 2019 and 745 of 2019 (old Defective Nos. 496 of 2019 and 498 of 2019) have been filed by Sunil against the judgment and order of the learned Single Judge to the extent it allowed Writ A Nos. 57215 of 2016 and 48836 of 2016 and set aside the order dated 28.09.2016 passed by DIOS by which Sunil was declared senior to Ganesh. These appeals have been filed by him by claiming that the order dated 28.09.2016 rightly proceeded to hold Sunil senior to Ganesh for all the reasons pressed in Special Appeal No.743 of 2019 and, therefore, the order of the DIOS was not liable to be interfered with.

28. Special Appeal No. 595 of 2019 has been filed by management against the judgment and order of the learned Single Judge dated 02.04.2019 passed in Writ A No. 60494 of 2016 by which the petition of Sunil challenging the resolution of the management, dated 20.11.2016, and the consequential termination letter, dated 22.11.2016, was allowed and the termination was held invalid. Special Appeal No. 599 of 2019 has been filed by the management against the judgment and order dated 02.04.2019 passed by learned Single Judge to the extent the learned Single Judge refused to interfere with the order, dated 25.11.2016, passed by DIOS disapproving the resolution of the Management terminating the services of Sunil. In these two special appeals, the management has claimed / submitted as follows:

(a) that the management had already terminated the appointment of Sunil, which was for a period of six months only, and the writ petition filed by Sunil, in which, initially, interim order was passed, was dismissed, consequently, earlier order of termination stood revived, therefore, there was no requirement to obtain approval as contemplated by Section 21 of U.P. Act No. 5 of 1982; and

(b) that otherwise also, once the court held that the appointment of Sunil was against a short-term vacancy, upon conversion of that short-term vacancy into a substantive vacancy, there was automatic termination of appointment by operation of law, therefore there was no need to seek approval under Section 21 of the U.P. Act No. 5 of 1982.

29. We have heard Sri Ashok Khare, learned senior counsel, assisted by Sri Abhilasha Singh, for Sunil (the appellant in Special Appeal No.743; 744; and 745 of 2019 - Old Defective Nos. 493 of 2019; 496 of 2019; and 498 of 2019); Sri Indra Raj Singh for the Management (respondent in the aforesaid three appeals and the appellant in Special Appeal Nos. 595 of 2019 and 599 of 2019); Sri V.K. Singh, learned senior counsel, assisted by Sri H.P. Shahi, for Ganesh (the respondent in Special Appeal No. 743 of 2019-Old Defective No.493 of 2019); and the learned Standing Counsel, who has appeared on behalf of State and its officers in all the appeals.

30. Having scanned through the pleadings and the submissions made, the first issue that arise for our consideration is whether while considering an issue as to who should be appointed as officiating Principal in the College, the management and the educational authorities (in the instant case DIOS) were justified in questioning the correctness of the order regularizing the services of Sunil, which stood recognized and implemented for over two decades. If we proceed to hold that the correctness of the regularization order can be examined, the second issue that would fall for our consideration is whether the order regularizing the services of Sunil was legally sustainable. Incidental to the second issue, following issues would also arise for our consideration: (a) whether the initial ad hoc appointment of Sunil in the year 1985 was against a substantive vacancy or a short-term/leave vacancy; (b) if it was against a substantive vacancy, whether the procedure provided for ad hoc appointment against a substantive vacancy was duly followed, if not, what would be its consequences; and (c) whether in view of dismissal of Writ A No. 20807 of 1986, the continuance of service of Sunil would be of no consequence.

31. On the first issue, Sri Ashok Khare, learned senior counsel, strenuously urged that in Vijai Narain Sharma's case (supra), which has been followed in Rama Kant Chaturvedi's case (supra), it was held that validity of the initial appointment cannot be collaterally questioned and examined while determining an issue relating to seniority, particularly, where the appointment has been made and has continued for long; and that such appointment should not be disturbed or set aside on technicalities or procedural irregularities.

32. Sri Khare urged that though Sunil was appointed on 25.10.1985 for a period of six months only but such appointment was against a substantive vacancy and ought to have continued till a regularly selected candidate recommended /selected by the Board joins the post. According to him, Sunil though continued in service, initially, under an interim order passed in Writ A No. 20807 of 1986, but, subsequently, his rights were correctly recognized by the DIOS and his services were regularized with effect from 06th April 1991 in view of the provisions of section 33-A of U.P. Act No. 5 of 1982. Since then Sunil continuously served the institution and was granted the benefits of continuous and regular service and was also placed in the seniority list published in the year 2007. Under the circumstances, reopening such an old/stale issue, to which no challenge was laid either by the management or by any other person, was not legally justified and permissible in a proceeding concerning appointment of officiating Principal. Sri Khare submitted that examining the legality of such an old appointment was not at all permissible and therefore, on that ground alone, the order passed by the learned Single Judge is liable to be set aside.

33. On the second issue, Sri Khare submitted that the incumbent Suraj by remaining absent for over five years had abandoned his service resulting in a substantive vacancy on the post therefore ad hoc appointment of Sunil would be deemed to have been made against a substantive vacancy and as per the provisions of Section 18 of U.P. Act No. 5 of 1982. Hence, there was no legal infirmity in the appointment.

34. Per contra, on the first issue, as culled out above, the learned counsel for the Management and Ganesh submitted that while determining an issue as to who is entitled to officiate as Principal of the College, the first and foremost question that arises for consideration is as to who is the senior most teacher in the highest grade in the College. Incidental to that would be determination of the date of substantive appointment of the claimant. Whether a person has been substantively appointed or not would depend on existence of a substantive vacancy and whether procedure provided for substantive appointment has been followed. If not, the appointment would be void, as held by the Apex Court in Prabhat Kumar Sharma's case (supra). Because, if the appointment is void, any length of service rendered by an incumbent would not enure to his benefit. It was submitted that the management had already terminated the service of Sunil upon expiry of six months from the date of his initial appointment. Otherwise also, his appointment was to continue till the end of academic session i.e. 30.06.1986. Hence, continuance in service thereafter, pursuant to an interim order passed in Writ A No. 20807 of 1986 which was discharged with the dismissal of the petition on 11.09.2006, would be of no consequence. It was urged that even though Writ A No. 20807 of 1986 might have been dismissed as infructuous, after noticing the regularization order dated 19.05.1992, but such dismissal of the writ petition would not amount to affirmance of the regularization order dated 19.05.1992. It was submitted that regularization could have lawfully followed only if the initial appointment had been against a substantive vacancy and as per the procedure prescribed by paragraph 5 of the First Removal of Difficulties Order. It was urged by them that since the appointment letter itself suggests that it was against a leave vacancy, the order of regularization was nothing but void, which conferred no right. It has been urged by them that not only in Radha Raizada's case (supra), which was approved by the apex court in Prabhat Kumar Sharma's case (supra), but also in subsequent five-judges Full Bench decision of this Court in Jahaj Pal Vs. District Inspector of Schools and another (Special Appeal No. 280 of 2013, decided on 21.02.2019), it was observed that ad-hoc appointment against a substantive vacancy had to be as per the procedure prescribed under the First Removal of Difficulties Order and regularization of service under Section 33-A of U.P. Act No.5 of 1982 would be permissible only if the procedure as laid down in the First Removal of Difficulties Order has been followed. It was thus urged that since the regularization order was passed without examining as to whether a substantive vacancy had existed, and whether the procedure prescribed for making ad-hoc appointment against substantive vacancy was followed, the same was vulnerable and was rightly declared illegal/void by the subsequent order dated 18.09.2014.

35. On the issue of abandonment of service by the incumbent Suraj and the resultant substantive vacancy, the learned counsel for the respondents submitted that abandonment or relinquishment of service is dependent on the intention of the post-holder. It has been submitted that Suraj was not a party in the writ proceedings and there is no document to suggest that a substantive vacancy came into existence and notified by the date of initial ad hoc appointment of Sunil. Under the circumstances, it would not be appropriate to draw an inference that on the date of ad hoc appointment of Sunil there existed a substantive vacancy caused by abandonment of service by the incumbent.

36. It was also submitted on behalf of the management that from the record it appears that substantive vacancy was notified in 2006, just prior to the official date of retirement of Suraj, therefore it could be assumed that earlier the management never treated the post to be substantively vacant. In the alternative, it was submitted that assuming that there existed a substantive vacancy on the date when Sunil was appointed, the procedure relating to such ad hoc appointment was admittedly not followed, therefore the ad-hoc appointment would be void bearing no fruits of regularization, regardless of the length of service.

37. Apart from the issues and submissions noticed above, another issue that arises for our consideration, particularly, in the Special Appeals preferred by the management, is whether the appointment of Sunil stood automatically terminated by operation of law consequent to conversion of short-term vacancy into substantive vacancy and therefore there was no requirement of approval under Section 21 of U.P. Act No. 5 of 1982.

38. Having given our thoughtful consideration to the rival submissions as also the authorities cited by the counsels appearing for the parties, on the first issue, we observe that view taken in Vijai Narain Sharma's case (supra) that a collateral challenge to regularity and validity of the appointment should not ordinarily be entertained while considering issues relating to seniority etc. is to avoid litigation and disputes over stale/old issues which are difficult to address owing to loss of records etc., therefore, a collateral challenge to an appointment, which has continued for long and had remained unchallenged, by referring to non-fulfillment of procedural technicalities in the making of the appointment, is held not permissible while considering an issue relating to seniority and its consequences. But, whether the appointment of a claimant is substantive, if so, since what date, are issues which have to be addressed while determining the seniority to maintain a claim for appointment as officiating Principal of the College. Incidental thereto, is the issue with regard to existence of a substantive vacancy. Because, existence of a substantive vacancy is sine qua non for any substantive appointment. Its non existence renders the appointment void. Therefore, the issue as regards existence of substantive vacancy is fundamental and, once raised, ought to be addressed while determining the issue relating to seniority. More so, when it can always be examined with reference to the nature of vacancy that existed at the time of appointment.

39. In the instant case, the issue before the DIOS was as regards validity of regularization. By regularization an ad hoc appointment gets converted into substantive appointment. This issue was fundamental and has been addressed with reference to the nature of the vacancy that existed and on facts which are borne out from the documents admitted to the parties. It is not a case, at least shown to us, that there was complete loss of records and, therefore, the issue could not have been addressed. Thus, in our considered view, the validity of the order of regularization was open for examination to determine the date of substantive appointment, while addressing the claim for appointment as officiating principal, based on seniority.

40. We find that the DIOS, while addressing the resolution of the management proposing appointment of Ganesh as officiating Principal, addressed the claim of Sunil with reference to the date of his substantive appointment and in that context he examined the nature of vacancy on which he claimed appointment. Upon finding that Sunil had not been appointed against a substantive vacancy but against a leave vacancy (short-term vacancy), the consequences that followed were automatic, that is, there could be no regularization under Section 33-A of U.P. Act No.5 of 1982, thereby rendering the order of regularization void. Once, it is so, it is of no consequence and can be ignored. The order passed by this court, dated 11.09.2006, dismissing Writ A No. 20807 of 1986 as infructuous after noticing the regularization order would not breathe life into an otherwise void order nor such dismissal of the writ petition would amount to affirmance of the regularization order. Thus, for all the reasons stated above, we are in agreement with the view taken by the learned Single Judge that the issue relating to validity of regularization of the services of Sunil was open to scrutiny while addressing the claim for appointment as an officiating principal on the strength of seniority.

41. The other issue that arises for our consideration is whether the vacancy against which Sunil was appointed was a substantive vacancy or a short-term vacancy. Adjudication of that would depend upon our decision on the plea whether on account of continuous absence of incumbent Suraj, for a period of about five years, a substantive vacancy came into existence by deemed abandonment of service.

42. On the aforesaid issue, the thrust of the arguments on behalf of Sunil had been that Rule 18 of Fundamental Rules provides for automatic cessation of service on ground of abandonment of service by remaining continuously absent from duty for five years whether with or without leave. It is urged on behalf of Sunil that Suraj had remained absent since 1980 whereas the appointment of Sunil was made on 29.10.1985, therefore it could be assumed that it had been made on a post which had been abandoned by its incumbent therefore appointment was against a substantive vacancy.

"18. Unless the Government, in view of the special circumstances of the case, shall otherwise determine, after five years' continuous absence from duty elsewhere than on foreign service in India, whether with or without leave, a Government servant ceases to be in Government employ."

43. In Vijay S. Sathaye's case (supra), the decision cited on behalf of Sunil, the facts of the case, as noticeable from the judgment, were that the writ petitioner had joined service of Indian Airlines Ltd. on 19.03.1972 as First Officer and was promoted as Captain on 19.12.1975 and was further promoted as Commander on 01.01.1986. In 1989, the Indian Airlines came out with a Voluntary Retirement Scheme for its employee who had completed 25 years of service or who had attained 55 years of age. Subsequently, the condition prescribed in the aforementioned Scheme was reduced to 20 years of service in 1992. Regulation 12 of the Service Regulations provided that if an employee fulfills the aforesaid criteria of eligibility he can give three month's notice for voluntary retirement. It was provided that acceptance of the said resignation would be subject to the approval of the competent authority. The petitioner of that case completed 20 years of service on 19.03.1992. Thereafter, he was promoted as Deputy General Manager

(Operations) on 30.08.1994. On 07.11.1994, the petitioner submitted an application seeking VRS with effect from 12.11.1994. The petitioner was informed vide letter dated 11.11.1994 that he should continue in service till the time decision is taken. However, the petitioner did not attend the duty after 12.11.1994. Rather, he joined services of Blue Dart Ltd and he did not go to the respondents to work from 12.11.1994. As there had been no response from the respondents, the petitioner filed writ petition for issuance of a writ of mandamus directing the respondents to accept the petitioner's application for voluntary retirement. During the pendency of the petition, the petitioner was informed by the respondents that his application had been rejected. The writ petition was dismissed as infructuous. Consequently, another writ petition was filed challenging the letter rejecting the request for VRS. The Court dismissed the writ petition against which Special Leave Petition was filed before the Apex Court. The Apex Court found that Regulation 12 had required a three month's notice which was mandatory and as the petitioner had not given that notice, his application was liable to be rejected. After holding as above, the Apex Court, in the alternative, found that since the petitioner was asked to continue in service till a decision is taken on his application and he did not attend the office of the respondents after giving the notice, he had voluntarily abandoned the services of the respondents and therefore there was no requirement on the part of the respondents to pass any order on his application as it was a clear cut case of voluntary abandonment of service. While holding as above, the Apex Court, in paragraph 12 of the judgment, had observed as follows:-

"12. It is a settled law that an employee cannot be termed as a slave, he has a right to abandon the service any time voluntarily by submitting his resignation and alternatively, not joining the duty and remaining absent for long. Absence from duty in the beginning may be a misconduct but when absence is for a very long period, it may amount to voluntary abandonment of service and in that eventuality, the bonds of service come to an end automatically without requiring any order to be passed by the employer."

44. The aforesaid decision of the Apex Court has been considered by a Division Bench of this Court in the case of Dy. Director of Education (Secondary) and others Vs. Smt. Jyoti Yadav (supra). The Division Bench although did not on its own express any opinion whether, in the facts of the case before it, there had been an abandonment of service, it remanded the matter back to the learned Single Judge for examining the issue.

45. Reverting to the facts of the instant case, we find that in Writ A No. 52277 of 2014, which has been filed by Sunil, there is no specific pleading as to since when, in the year 1980, Suraj proceeded on leave. In the counter-affidavits filed on behalf of Management of the College and Ganesh, the exact and specific date as to when Suraj proceeded on leave without pay is not disclosed. However, in the counter-affidavit filed on behalf of DIOS in Writ A No.52277 of 2014, which is at page 160 of the paper book of Special Appeal No. 743 of 2019 (Old Defective No. 493 of 2019), in paragraph 13 it is stated that Suraj had proceeded on leave without pay on 28.08.1985 and continued till 30.06.2006. We also find that the management has not proceeded to fill up the vacancy by treating the same as substantively vacant, either on account of abandonment of service by Suraj or otherwise. The writ petition is silent whether Suraj had joined some other institution or service so that it could be assumed that he abandoned his service. Under the circumstances, in absence of Suraj as party respondent in the proceedings, keeping in mind that the petitioner's own record suggests that he was initially appointed against short term vacancy, it would not be appropriate for us to determine and hold that the post of Lecturer on which Sunil was appointed had been abandoned by its holder and therefore it was substantively vacant since before 29.10.1985, that is the date on which Sunil was appointed. We are thus in agreement with the view taken by the learned Single Judge that it would not be appropriate for the Court to come to a conclusion that the post against which the petitioner had been appointed on 29.10.1985 was substantively vacant since before, consequent to abandonment of service by Suraj.

46. Even if we assume that there existed a substantive vacancy at the time of ad-hoc appointment of Sunil, it would not come to his rescue as it has come on record that the procedure provided for in paragraph 5 of the First Removal of Difficulties Order relating to ad-hoc appointment against substantive vacancy was not followed. In a recent five-judges Full Bench decision of this Court in Jahaj Pal's case (supra), the Court has observed that the procedure for appointment on ad-hoc basis against a substantively vacant post is what is laid down in paragraph 5 of the First Removal of Difficulties Order and that procedure is mandatory. While holding as above, the Full Bench had taken notice of the majority view rendered in the earlier three-judges Full Bench decision of this Court in Radha Raizada's case (supra), which was approved by the Apex Court in the case of Prabhat Kumar Sharma's case (supra), wherein, it was held that any appointment made in transgression of that procedure is illegal and void. Paragraph 148 of the Full Bench decision in Jahaj Pal's case (supra) is relevant and the same is extracted below:-

"148. First Order was considered by Supreme Court in Prabhat Kumar Sharma and others Vs. State of U.P. and others, (1996) 10 SCC 62 and it was held that any appointment made in transgression thereof is illegal and void. Such an appointment would not confer any right upon the appointee. Therefore, whenever any act or omission contemplated under a Removal of Difficulties Order is to be considered, for example, an appointment made under the provisions of Removal of Difficulties Order, one has to meticulously examine whether all the requirements of Difficulties Order have been followed or not. In other words we can say that the provisions of Removal of Difficulties Order have to be applied mandatorily."

47. The five-judges Full Bench also notices the legislative intent in drawing distinction between the provisions of Section 33-A and Section 33-B of U.P. Act No. 5 of 1982. It would be useful to reproduce paragraph 162 of the judgment of the Full Bench in that regard:-

"162. We may notice here a marked distinction between philosophy and intention of Legislature in enacting Section 33-A and 33-B in different manner though, broadly, purpose was to give benefit of substantive appointment to ad hoc teachers. Those ad hoc appointments, which were made following procedure under First Order, Legislature treated them as having already undergone a substantially wider procedure of selection and, therefore, found no necessity of reassessment of their suitability by any agency, therefore, declared such ad hoc teachers, who were appointed against substantive vacancies in accordance with Para 2 of First Order, as "deemed to be appointed substantively" and no further selection was required in their cases. However, Second Order deals with short-term vacancies wherein a short and summary method of selection for such short-term vacancies is provided and therefore, this summary selection was not given same status, as was given to cases covered by First Order. For ad hoc appointments under Second Order, Legislature has provided that these ad hoc teachers appointed against short-term vacancies will undergo a process of selection through a Selection Committee constituted under the provisions of Section 33-B and only those, who are recommended by it, would be given substantive appointment. This legislative recognition of distinction in process of appointment of First and Second Order cannot be overlooked. There is no reason to dilute the same particularly when such section has been followed in subsequent amendments in Act, 1982 with regard to substantive appointment of ad hoc teachers. "

48. From above, it is clear that for ad-hoc appointment against a substantive vacancy, there exists a different procedure of selection as is provided in paragraph 5 of the First Removal of Difficulties Order. The procedure contemplated there requires inviting of applications through public advertisement of vacancy in at least two newspapers having adequate circulation in Uttar Pradesh. After receipt of applications, the DIOS is to cause the best candidate selected on the basis of quality points specified in the Appendix entered in a list on the basis of which appointments are made. It is because of adoption of this detailed procedure in making ad hoc appointment against substantive vacancy, section 33-A of U.P. Act No.5 of 1982, which provides for regularization of such ad hoc appointment, does not provide for reassessment of a candidate's suitability, it simply declares such an ad-hoc teacher, subject to fulfillment of other conditions specified by the section, deemed to be appointed substantively. However, where ad hoc appointment is against short-term vacancy, as the procedure prescribed by Second Removal of Difficulties Order had no such stringent requirements, as found in First Removal of Difficulties Order, those ad-hoc appointees have to undergo a process of selection as is provided in Section 33-B of U.P. Act No.5 of 1982.

49. Now, we shall deal with the submission of Sri Khare that as Sunil's appointment was under Section 18 of the U.P. Act No.5 of 1982, the stringent procedure provided by paragraph 5 of the First Removal of Difficulties Order was not required to be followed because the appointment was made prior to the three-judges decision in Radha Raizada's case, as held in Balveer Singh's case.

50. In Radha Raizada's case, the Full Bench had held that the procedure provided in paragraph 5 of the First Removal of Difficulties Order for ad hoc appointment against substantive vacancy had to be strictly followed for making ad hoc appointments under section 18 of U.P. Act No.5 of 1982 as the said procedure supplemented the provisions of Section 18 of the U.P. Act No.5 of 1982 which, on its own, initially, did not prescribe for the procedure for appointment. The decision was upheld by the Apex Court in Prabhat Kumar Sharma's case (supra). The relevant extract from the judgment in Prabhat Kumar Sharma's case is reproduced below:

"6. We are not concerned in this case with the Second Removal of Difficulties Order, 1981 which deals with filling up of short-term vacancies of ad hoc teachers. It is, therefore, not necessary to deal with the procedure prescribed in that behalf. The Full Bench has elaborately considered the legislative history. In paras 26 and 27 it had dealt with the amendments to the U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 and various provisions of Ordinance 8 of 1981. The object was to provide teachers selected through the Commission or the Board with a view to raise the standard of education and in the event of there being delay in allotting the selected teachers, with a view to allow the institution to appoint teachers on ad hoc basis so as to avoid hardship to the students. Procedure under Section 18 was provided for appointment of such teachers in the institutions purely on ad hoc basis in accordance with the procedure prescribed thereunder. The method of recruitment and appointment of such teachers is regulated in para 5 of the First 1981 Order. The appointment, therefore, should be made in accordance with the said procedure. In para 41 of the judgment, it has expressly dealt with ad hoc appointments as under:

"41. It has already been noticed that Section 18 of the Principal Act provides for power to appoint a teacher purely on ad hoc basis either by promotion or by direct recruitment against the substantive vacancy in the institution when the condition precedent for exercise of powers exist namely that the Management has notified the said vacancy to the Commission in accordance with the provisions of the Act and the Commission has failed to recommend the name of any suitable candidate for being appointed as a teacher within one year from the date of such notification and the post of such teacher has actually remained vacant for more than two months. However, since the State Government was alive to the situation that the establishment of the Commission may take a long time and even after it is established, it may take a long time to make available the required teacher in the institution and as such issued the Removal of Difficulties Order dated 30-1-1982 and Removal of Difficulties Order dated 14-4-1982. In fact these Removal of Difficulties Orders were issued to remove the difficulties coming in the way of a Management in running the institution in the absence of teachers. This power to appoint ad hoc teachers by direct recruitment thus, is available only when preconditions mentioned in Section 18 of the Act are satisfied, secondly, the vacancy is substantive vacancy and thirdly, the vacancy could not be filled by promotion. Neither the Act nor the Removal of Difficulties Order defined vacancy. However, the vacancy has been defined in Rule 2(11) of U.P. Secondary Education Services Commission Rules, 1983. "Vacancy' means "a vacancy arising out as a result of death, retirement, resignation, termination, dismissal, creation of new post or appointment, promotion of the incumbent to any higher post in a substantive capacity. Thus, both under Section 18 of the Act and under the Removal of Difficulties Order, the Management of an institution is empowered to make ad hoc appointment by direct recruitment, in the manner laid down in para 5 of the First Removal of Difficulties Order only when such vacancy cannot be filled by promotion and for a period till a candidate duly selected by the Commission joins the post. As noticed earlier both Section 18 of the Act and the provisions of First Removal of Difficulties Order provide for ad hoc appointment of teacher in the institution, later further providing for method and manner of such appointments are part of the scheme. Scheme being provision for ad hoc appointment of teacher in the absence of duly selected teachers by the Commission. The provisions may be two but the power to appoint is one and the same and, therefore, the provisions contained in Section 18 and Removal of Difficulties Order are to be harmonized. It is, therefore, not correct to say that appointment of a teacher on ad hoc basis is either under Section 18 of the Act or under the Removal of Difficulties Order. Thus, if contingency arises for ad hoc appointment of teacher by direct recruitment the procedure provided under the First Removal of Difficulties Order has to be followed. Para 5 of the First Removal of Difficulties Order provides that the management shall, as soon as may be, inform the District Inspector of Schools about the details of vacancy and the District Inspector of Schools shall invite applications from the local Employment Exchange and also through public advertisement in at least two newspapers having adequate circulation in Uttar Pradesh. Sub-para (3) of para 5 further provides that every such application shall be addressed to the District Inspector of Schools. Sub-para (4) of para 5 of the Removal of Difficulties Order provides that the District Inspector of Schools shall cause the best candidate selected on the basis of quality points specified in Appendix. The compilation of quality points may be done by the retired Government Gazetted Officer, in the personal supervision of the Inspector. Para 6 of the First Removal of Difficulties Order further provides for appointment of such teacher under para 5 who shall possess such essential qualification as laid down in Appendix A referred to in Regulation 1 of Chapter II of the Regulations made in the Intermediate Education Act.

42. In view of these provisions the ad hoc appointment of a teacher by direct recruitment can be resorted to only when the conditions precedent for exercise of such powers as stated in Section 18 of the Act are present and only in the manner provided in para 5 of the Removal of Difficulties Order.

... Thus, both under Section 18 of the Act and under the Removal of Difficulties Order the Management of an institution is empowered to make ad hoc appointment by direct recruitment, in the manner laid down in para 5 of the First Removal of Difficulties Order only when such vacancy cannot be filled by promotion and for a period till a candidate duly selected by the Commission joins the post. Both Section 18 of the Act and the provisions of First Removal of Difficulties Order provide for ad hoc appointment of teacher in the institution, later further providing for method and manner of such appointments are part of one scheme. Scheme being provision for ad hoc appointments of teacher in the absence of duly selected teachers by the Commission. The provisions may be two but the power to appoint is one and the same and, therefore, the provisions contained in Section 18 and Removal of Difficulties Order are to be harmonized. It is, therefore, not correct to say that appointment of a teacher on ad hoc basis is either under Section 18 of the Act or under the First Removal of Difficulties Order. Thus if contingency arises for ad hoc appointment of teacher by direct recruitment the procedure provided under the First Removal of Difficulties Order has to be followed."

7. It would thus be clear that any ad hoc appointment of the teachers under Section 18 shall be only transient in nature, pending allotment of the teachers selected by the Commission and recommended for appointment. Such ad hoc appointments should also be made in accordance with the procedure prescribed in para 5 of the First 1981 Order which was later streamlined in the amended Section 18 of the Act with which we are not presently concerned. Any appointment made in transgression thereof is illegal appointment and is void and confers no right on the appointees. The removal of difficulties envisaged under Section 33 was effective not only during the period when the Commission was not constituted but also even thereafter as is evident from the second para of the preamble to the First 1981 Order which reads as under:

"And whereas the establishment of the Commission and the Selection Boards is likely to take some time and even after the establishment of the said Commission and Boards, it is not possible to make selection of the teachers for the first few months."

51. From the decision of the apex court noticed above, it is clear that the procedure prescribed in the First Removal of Difficulties Order for making ad hoc appointment against a substantive vacancy was to be followed for an appointment contemplated under section 18 of the U.P. Act No.5 of 1982 and any appointment in transgression thereof was void. In Ashika Prasad Shukla's case (supra), the court held that since the Full Bench in Radha Raizada's case had also directed for adoption of certain aspects of the procedure relating to ad hoc appointment against substantive vacancy, which were not provided for in the Second Removal of Difficulties Order governing ad hoc appointment against short term vacancy, the said adoption would be deemed prospective, that is applicable to appointments made after the decision of Radha Raizada's case. This view taken in Ashika Prasad Shukla's case is limited to ad hoc appointments against short term vacancies as has been clarified in a subsequent Division Bench decision in Julfikar Hussain Ansari's case (supra). The view taken in Balveer Singh's case (supra) that the principle laid down in Radha Raizada's case, in respect of applicability of the procedure laid down in the First Removal of Difficulties Order for ad hoc appointment against substantive vacancy, would be applicable prospectively, in view of decision in Ashika Prasad Shukla's case, is in ignorance of the binding precedent of the Apex Court in Prabhat Kumar Sharma's case. Hence in our considered view the decision rendered in Balveer Singh's case can not be treated as a binding precedent. As it has failed to consider binding precedent of the Apex Court, we do not deem it necessary to refer the issue to a larger Bench, particularly, when the said view has been reiterated in a subsequent Full Bench decision in Jahaj Pal's case.

52. We are, therefore, in agreement with the view taken by the learned Single Judge that even if we assume that there existed a substantive vacancy against which Sunil was appointed on ad-hoc basis, on 29.10.1985, the appointment would have conferred no right on him to seek regularization under Section 33-A as the procedure for ad hoc appointment against substantive vacancy provided in the First Removal of Difficulties Order was not followed.

53. The learned Single Judge was therefore justified in his conclusion that the order dated 18.09.2014 passed by DIOS was legally correct in declaring the order, dated 19.05.1992, regularizing the services of Sunil, void.

54. Now, the questions that arise for our consideration are: (a) whether the services of Sunil were liable to be terminated upon conversion of the short-term vacancy into a substantive vacancy, with effect from 30.06.2006; and (b) whether his services were rightly terminated with effect from 30.06.1986. If yes, then whether any prior approval was required under Section 21 of the U.P. Act No. 5 of 1982.

55. With regard to the above issues, in Special Appeal No. 595 of 2019 and Special Appeal No. 599 of 2019, the learned counsel for the Management submitted that under para 3 of the Second Removal of Difficulties Order, the duration of ad-hoc appointment made against short-term vacancy is provided as follows:

"3. Duration of ad-hoc appointment. - Every appointment of a teacher under Paragraph 2 of this Order shall cease from the earliest of the following dates, namely :

(a) when the teacher, who was on leave or under suspension joins the post; or

(b) when the period of six months from the date of such ad-hoc appointment expires; or

(c) when the short-term vacancy otherwise ceases to exist." "

56. It was submitted by the learned counsel for the management that upon expiry of six months period of the initial appointment, the management took a decision to terminate the services of Sunil, with effect from 30.06.1986, against which Sunil filed Writ A No. 20807 of 1986 in which, initially, an interim order was passed but, thereafter, the petition was dismissed as infructuous. Consequent to its dismissal, the interim-order stood discharged and merged in the final order. As a result, the services of Sunil stood automatically terminated. Hence, he was not entitled to continue in service any further. In the alternative, it was argued on behalf of the management, that, in any case, once the short-term vacancy got converted into a substantive vacancy, the ad hoc appointment stood automatically terminated by operation of law, as per provision of Second Removal of Difficulties Order, for which no approval was required.

57. The aforesaid submissions made on behalf of the management, in our view, are liable to be rejected for the following reasons:

58. With effect from 30.01.1982, paragraph 3 of the Second Removal of Difficulties Order was substituted by U.P. Secondary Education Services Commission (Removal of Difficulties) (Third) Order, 1982 wherein clause (b) in paragraph 3 of the Second Order stood deleted. As a result, the term of six months provided in the letter of appointment, as per unamended provision of paragraph 3 of the Second Order, was not legally justified as such appointment had to continue till the teacher who was on leave or under suspension joins the post; or when short-term vacancy otherwise ceases to exist.

59. As it is not the case of the management that the teacher who was on leave or under suspension had joined the post, the appointee was entitled to continue till conversion of short-term vacancy into a substantive vacancy. Further, it is not the case of the management that the short-term vacancy got converted into a substantive vacancy prior to insertion of Section 33-B in the U.P. Act No. 5 of 1982, which provides for regularization of ad-hoc appointments made against short-term vacancies upon conversion into a substantive vacancy. Rather, it is the case of the management that the short-term vacancy got converted into a substantive vacancy on 30.06.2006 by which date Section 33-B was inserted in U.P. Act No.5 of 1982. In view of the above, the incumbent Sunil was entitled to continue in service till his regularization was considered under Section 33-B of the U.P. Act No. 5 of 1982 and, thereafter, as per the provisions contained therein.

60. At this stage, it may be observed that the view taken in earlier three-judges Full Bench decision of this Court in Smt. Pramila Mishra's case (supra) has been clarified in five-judges Full Bench decision in Jahaj Pal's case (supra). The relevant portions of the judgment rendered by five-judges Full Bench in Jahaj Pal's case (supra) is reproduced below:

"70. Section 33-B(1)(a)(i) covered such ad hoc teachers who were appointed by promotion or direct recruitment in Lecturer Grade or Trained Graduate Grade till 14.05.1991 and in CT Grade till 13.05.1989, in accordance with procedure proscribed in Para 2 of Second Order and such short term vacancy was subsequently converted into a substantive vacancy.

71. Section 33-B(1)(a)(ii) covered those ad hoc Teachers who were appointed by direct recruitment on and after 14.07.1981 till 12.06.1985 against substantive vacancies in CT Grade through advertisement and such appointment was approved by DIOS.

72. Section 33-B(1)(a)(iii) brought within its ambit ad hoc teachers, whether appointed by promotion or direct recruitment from 31.07.1988 to 14.05.1991, against substantive vacancies in accordance with Section 18 as it stood before its omission by Amendment Act, 1992 (in fact this is Amendment Act 1 of 1993).

73. All the above three categories of teachers, if possessed requisite qualifications or exempted from such qualification, on the date of such ad hoc appointment, and served continuously the institution, from the date of such ad hoc appointment till 07.08.1993, and not related to Management/ Principal/ Headmaster of Institution concerned, were entitled to be considered by a Selection Committee to determine their suitability for appointment in a substantive capacity. Constitution of Selection Committee is provided in sub-section (2) of Section 33-B and ad hoc teachers who are recommended by Selection Committee, are to be given substantive appointment by Management in order of seniority.

74. Section 33-B(4) declares that all such teachers who are given substantive appointment under sub-section (1) shall be deemed to be on probation from the date of such substantive appointment.

75. Sub-section (5) of Section 33-B provides that teachers who are within the ambit of Section 33-B(1), if not found suitable for substantive appointment by Selection Committee, they shall cease to hold ad hoc appointment on such date as State Government, by order, specifies.

76. Here comes the change in tenure of ad hoc teachers who are within the ambit of sub-section (1) of Section 33-B. Even if they are not found suitable for substantive appointment, sub-section (5) confers a right upon them to continue till the date State Government by order specify for their cessation.

77. In our view, all such teachers who come within the ambit of Section 33-B(1), on and after 07.08.1991, got protection with regard to their right to hold ad hoc appointment till the eventuality contemplated in sub-section (5) happens and such teachers could not have been ceased to work on and after 07.08.1991, when Section 33-B came into force, by taking recourse to the tenure provided in Second Order or any other provision.....

164. Sub-Section (5) of Section 33-B makes provision in respect of such ad-hoc teachers who are not found suitable under sub-section (1) of Section 33-B. It is said that such teachers shall cease to hold appointment on such date as State Government may, by order, specify. This sub-section (5) of Section 33-B, therefore, makes an inroad in the tenure provided in Para 3 of Second Order where an ad-hoc appointee would cease on joining of teacher who has caused short term vacancy; on expiry of 6 months from the date of ad-hoc appointment (this condition was applicable only till 29.01.1982); and when short term vacancy otherwise ceased to exist.

165. We have no hesitation in holding that as soon as Section 33-B came into force, sub-section (5), providing different tenure, will come into play, and would override the provision otherwise contained in Para 3 of Second Order and from that date onwards i.e. 06.08.1993, tenure of ad hoc teachers appointed against short-term vacancies, who are/were considered by Selection Committee constituted under Section 33-B(3) and not found suitable, will not cease to work but would continue till such date as State Government may by order, specify. In order to give effect to Section 33-B, even though it is not clearly said but we have no doubt that ad hoc teachers entitled for consideration for substantive appointment under Section 33-B, so long as Selection Committee has not considered them, they would also be entitled to continue, and on and after 07.8.1993, when Section 33-B came into force, such teachers cannot/shall not be terminated if any eventuality contemplated in Para 3 of Second Order arises or happen.

166. In respect of ad-hoc teachers, who do not get any right to be considered for substantive appointment under Section 33-B(1) by virtue of sub-section (6), their tenure of ad-hoc appointment under Para 3 of Second Order would continue to be governed by Para 3 of Second Order. They would cease when the candidate selected and recommended by Commission/Board joins or when short term vacancy ceases otherwise. In respect of other ad-hoc teachers, who were eligible and entitled to be considered for substantive appointment under Section 33-B but not found suitable by Selection Committee constituted under sub-section (2) of Section 33-B, such teachers will not cease on happening of a condition under Para 3 of Second Order but here sub-section (5) of Section 33-B will come into play and such teachers will cease to hold ad-hoc appointments on such date, as State Government may, by order, specify. Thus, here an order under sub-section 33-B(5) from State Government would be required for. .....

169. We also reiterate that after Section 33-B came into force, from that day and onwards, even those adhoc teachers who were appointed in short-term vacancies under Second Order and eligible to be considered for substantive appointment by Selection Committee under the said provision, if any contingency, as provided in Para 3 of Second Order, occurs, in the interregnum period when Selection Committee has still to consider such teachers, they will be entitled to continue by virtue of Section 33-B(5) read with sub-section (6) of Section 33-B. For example, on and after 07.08.1993, even an ad hoc teachers, is yet to be considered by Selection Committee for substantive appointment under Section 33-B if he fulfills all the requisite conditions making him eligible and entitled for such consideration, if certain vacancies ceased by becoming a substantive vacancy, such teacher will not cease to work by application of Para 3 of Second Order, but, would be entitled to continue till he is considered by Selection Committee. If found suitable, he will be appointed as such, and, if not found suitable, he will be governed by sub-section (5) of Section 33-B. The only exception is the cases where matter is governed by sub-section(6) of Section 33-B. .....

206. Full Bench judgment in Smt. Parmila Mishra (supra) therefore, insofar as a bald observation has been made in Para 16 of judgment (as quoted above) is clarified and we hold that cases governed by provisions relating to substantive appointment/regularization like 33-B and 33-F etc., the same wherever applicable, will prevail over otherwise inconsistent provision contained in Removal of Difficulties Order and in particular Second Order. "

61. From the observations/ ratio, extracted above, it is clear that where the short-term vacancy gets converted into a substantive vacancy after 07.08.1993, the tenure of teacher appointed on ad-hoc basis against a short-term vacancy would be governed by the provisions of Section 33-B and would not be governed by paragraph 3 of the Second Removal of Difficulties Order.

62. In view of the reasons recorded above, we are of the view that the learned Single Judge was justified in affirming the order of the DIOS disapproving the resolution of the management, terminating the services of Sunil. The learned Single Judge was also justified in issuing a direction to consider regularization of the services of Sunil under the appropriate provisions of U.P. Act No.5 of 1982.

63. The submission of the learned counsel for the management that consequent to dismissal of Writ A No. 20807 of 1986, Sunil had lost his right to continue in service is misconceived inasmuch as Writ A No. 20807 of 1986 was not dismissed on merits by upholding the order terminating the services of Sunil but was dismissed as the cause to sue did not survive consequent to the intervening regularization order. Under the circumstances, when the regularization order was canceled, a fresh look in respect of regularization of the services of Sunil in accordance with the provisions of Section 33-B of U.P. Act No. 5 of 1982 in the light of the law laid down by five-judges Full Bench in Jahaj Pal's case (supra) is required. For all the above reasons, we are of the view that the learned Single Judge was justified in affirming the order of the DIOS disapproving the resolution of the management terminating the services of Sunil and issuing direction for consideration of regularization of his services under the provisions of U.P. Act No. 5 of 1982.

64. In view of the discussion made above, all five appeals are liable to be dismissed and are accordingly dismissed. There is no order as to costs.

A. Subordinate Civil Courts Ministerial Establishment Rules, 1947- Rule 19 - Length of service be taken as basis for determination of seniority-Impugned order dated 30.05.1996, held Respondent No. 2 to be senior to the petitioners on the ground that regularisation of Respondent No. 2 was with retrospective effect. Representation rejected by order dated 31.10.1996- Allowing this petition, the High Court held- Rule 19 itself permits in exceptional cases to rely on criteria other than confirmation. (Para 16)

B. Interpretation of Rule 19: "ordinarily"- "Ordinarily" means "in the large majority of cases but not invariably"-The word envisages an eventuality resulting in an anomaly if determination of seniority by using the literal interpretation is adopted. (Para 14, 16 & 17)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pankaj Bhatia, J.)

1. The present petition has been filed by the petitioners seeking following reliefs:-

i) issue a writ order or direction including a writ in the nature of certiorari quashing the order dated 31.10.1996 (Annexure No.13 to the writ petition) and order dated 30.5.1996 (Annexure No.12 to the writ petition) passed by respondent no.1.

ii) issue a writ, order or direction including a writ in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondent no.1 not to make any recovery from the salary of the petitioners.

2. The averments as stated leading to the filing of the present petition, in brief, are as under:-

3. The petitioner no.1 was appointed on ad-hoc basis against a temporary post of Stenographer on 2.4.1979 and continued as such till his regularisation, the petitioner nos.2,3 & 4 were also appointed on the post of Stenographer (Hindi) on ad-hoc basis against clear vacancy on 21.4.1980 and continued as such till their regularisation. It is also alleged that the respondent no.2, Rajendra Kumar Gupta was appointed as an approved candidate for the post of officiating Paid Apprentice of District Judge's Court on 6.11.1973. He worked in various capacities since then, and on 20.4.1979 he was posted as Stenographer to the Civil Judge, Budaun but, his substantive appointment remained as Copyist which is a lower post on temporary basis. The petitioner no.1 was confirmed on the post of Stenographer on 11.2.1987 with immediate effect on the temporary post being made permanent whereas the petitioner nos.2,3 & 4 were confirmed on 6.1.1990 with immediate effect. The services of the respondent no.2 were confirmed with retrospective effect on 27.7.1993. A dispute arose in between the petitioners and the respondent no.2 with regard to their inter se seniority. The competent authority took cognizance of the inter se seniority dispute called for a report and the First Additional District Judge, Budaun submitted a report on 23.10.1989 recommending to place the petitioner no.1 above the respondent no.2 vide his report dated 23.10.1989. The respondent no.2 filed his objections against the report dated 23.10.1989 and on the said objections another report was called by the District Judge, Budaun. The Third Additional District & Sessions Judge, Budaun submitted another report on 19.5.1991 agreeing with the earlier report dated 23.10.1989, the District Judge, Budaun relying upon the aforesaid reports dated 23.10.1989 and 19.5.1991 determined the seniority dispute holding that the petitioner no.1 to be senior vide his order dated 3.6.1991 (Annexure No.6 to the writ petition). The said order dated 3.6.1991 was challenged by the respondent no.2 by filing a writ petition before this Court being Writ A No.14497 of 1992 (Rajendra Kumar Gupta Vs. District Judge and others) which was subsequently dismissed as having become infructuous. The respondent no.2 also raised seniority dispute between the petitioner nos. 2,3 & 4 on one hand and the respondent no.2 on the other hand and on his objections the District Judge, Budaun constituted a Team of two Additional District Judges to enquire and submit a report with regard to the inter se seniority of the petitioner nos. 2, 3 & 4 and the respondent no.2. The said Team submitted a report on 8.9.1993 recommending therein to place the petitioners no. 2,3 & 4 above the respondent no.2 in the seniority list, the District Judge, Budaun agreeing with the report dated 8.9.1993 accepted the same and passed an order on 9.9.1993 and the petitioners no. 2,3 & 4 were held to be senior to the respondent no.2.

4. In terms of the said decision dated 9.9.1993, the seniority dispute came to an end and the salary of the petitioners were fixed accordingly. The respondent no.2 aggrieved against the said decision again agitated the matter for re-fixing the inter se seniority and the District Judge, Budaun vide his order dated 30.5.1996 held the respondent no.2 to be senior to the petitioners on the ground that the regularisation of the respondent no.2 was with retrospective effect and as such the respondent no.2 was senior to the petitioners. The said order dated 30.5.1996 has been filed as Annexure No.12 to the writ petition. The petitioners moved an application before the District Judge, Budaun for reviewing the order dated 30.5.1996, however, their representation was rejected vide order dated 31.10.1996 (Annexure No.13 to the writ petition). The present petition challenges the order dated 30.5.1996 as well as the order dated 31.10.1996.

5. We have heard Sri R.C. Singh, learned Senior Advocate, appearing on behalf of the petitioners as well as Sri Ashish Mishra, counsel for respondent no.1.

6. Sri R.C. Singh, Senior Advocate submits that the services of the petitioners and the respondent no.2 are governed by the Subordinate Civil Courts Ministerial Establishment Rules, 1947 (hereinafter referred to as 1947 Rules) and rule 19 of the said Rules clearly provides for determination of seniority. He has further argued that the functioning of the petitioners on ad-hoc basis has not been considered while fixing the seniority and merely because the respondent no.2 was confirmed with retrospective effect, the ad-hoc functioning of the petitioners cannot be ignored and if working of the petitioners on ad-hoc basis is taken into account, the petitioners are senior to the respondent no.2 and it is this aspect of the matter that the District Judge, Budaun has not taken into account while passing the impugned order.

7. Sri R.C. Singh, Advocate has relied upon the following judgements:-

i) State of Haryana and others Vs. Vijay Singh and others, A.I.R. 2012 S.C. 2901.

ii) Dr. Chandra Prakash and others Vs. State of U.P. And others, AIR 2003 S.C. 588, iii) T. Vijayan and others Vs. Divisional Railway Manager and others, AIR 2000 S.C. 1766, iv) Ajit Kumar Rath Vs. State of Orrisa, AIR 2000 S.C. 85,

v) The Direct Recruits Class II Engineer Association Vs. State of Maharashtra, A.I.R. 1999 S.C. 1607, vi) G.C. Gupta Vs. N.K. Pandey, A.I.R. 1998 S.C. 268.

8. He has further argued that the seniority dispute was already finally decided vide order dated 3/4.6.1991 and 9.9.1993 and the same could not have been reopened as no power of review is conferred on the District Judge, therefore, the order impugned is bad on that count also.

9. Sri Ashish Mishra, Advocate has on the other hand submitted that the order whereby the respondent no.2 was regularised with retrospective effect has not been challenged in the present petition and further it has been submitted that the petitioners as well as respondent have already superannuated from their service as such the present petition has become infructuous by efflux of time. He further argued that the confirmation of the respondent no.2 was done from the date of his substantive appointment on the post in question, i.e. on 16.9.1981 whereas the petitioners were appointed from the date of confirmation orders as the post on which they were working was not substantive and the same was created from the date of their confirmation. He thus, confines his submission on the ground that confirmation order not being challenged in the present writ petition as well as the petitioners and respondent no.2 having superannuated as such the writ petition is liable to be dismissed.

10. Considering the averments made at the bar, this Court is called upon to decide whether the fixation of the inter se seniority vide order dated 30.5.1996 was just and legal.

11. The Position as emerges with regard to the facts of the initial appointments and the confirmations of the petitioners and the respondent no.4, is as under:-

	Petitioner no.1	Petitioner no.2	Petitioner no.3	Petitioner no.4	Respondent no.4
Initial appointments	02/04/79 Temporary post	21.1.1980 Temporary post	21.1.1980 Temporary post	01/05/81 Temporary post	Working as Copyist since 22.11.1974. Joined on 16.9.1981 as Typist.
Confirmation	11/02/87	06/01/90	06/01/90	06/01/90	27.7.1993 with retrospective effect

12. It is not disputed that the service conditions of the petitioners as well as the respondent no.2 at that point in time were governed by the Subordinate Civil Courts Ministerial Establishment Rules, 1947. Rule 19 of 1947 Rules provides for manner of determination of seniority and is quoted as under:-

"Seniority in service, for the purpose of promotion shall ordinarily be determined from the date of the order of confirmation in the grade and if such date is the same in the case of more than one person than according to their respective position in the next lower grade or the register of recruited candidate in the case of person confirmed in the lowest grade."

13. Thus, what is to be considered in the present case is as to how the seniority of the petitioners and the respondent no.4 is to be determined in consonance with Rule 19 of the said 1947 Rules and it is important to understand the import of the word 'ordinarily' used in Rule 19 of the said 1947 Rules.

14. Rule 19 of 1947 Rules was considered by this Court in the judgement delivered in the case of Dileep Kumar Srivastava Vs. State of U.P. (2010) 6 All. L.J. 474 and the Court observed as under:-

"The rule 19 provides that seniority in service for the purpose of promotion shall be ordinarily determined from the date of confirmation. Word "ordinarily" came for consideration before the apex Court and this Court on several occasions. The appellant himself has placed reliance on the judgement of the apex Court in AIR 1961 S.C. 1346 Kailash Chand Vs. Union of India. The Apex Court was considering the provisions of Railway Establishment Code Rules 2046(2) (a) where the words "should ordinarily be retained" were used. While considering the meaning of word "ordinarily", the apex Court laid down following in paragraph 8:

"(8) This intention is made even more clear and beyond, doubt by the use of the word "ordinarily". "Ordinarily" means "in the large majority of cases but not invariably". This itself emphasises the fact that the appropriate authority is not bound to retain the servant after he attains the age of 55 even if he continues: to be efficient. The intention of the second clause 1 therefore clearly is that while under the first clause the appropriate authority has the right to route the' servant who falls within clause (a) as soon as he attains the age of 55, it will, at that stage, consider whether or not to retain him further. This option to retain for the further Period of five years can only be exercised if the servant continues to be efficient; but in deciding whether or not to exercise this option the authority has to consider circumstances other than the question of efficiency also; in the absence of special circumstances he "should" retain the servant; but, what are special circumstances is loft entirely to the authority's decision. Thus, after the age of 55 is reached by the servant the authority has to exercise' its discretion whether or not to retain the servant; and there is no right in the servant to be retained, even if, he continues to be efficient."

Word "ordinarily" came for consideration before this Court in Lalit Mohan Vs. Secretary/General Manager, Distt. Co-op. Bank, Varanasi (1995)1 LBESR 298. The Court was considering Regulation 85 (x) of U.P. Cooperative Society Employees Service Regulation 1975, which provides that no employee shall ordinarily remain under suspension for more than six months. Following was laid down in paragraph 9:

"9. The learned counsel for the respondents referred to various cases including the case of Kailash Chandra v. The Union of India 1961 (3) FLR 379

(SC), Nirmal Chand Jain v. The District Magistrate, Jabalpur and Anr. AIR 1976 MP 95, Krishan Dayal and Ors. v. General Manager, Northern Railway AIR 1954 Punjab 245 and the Full Bench in the case of AM. Patroni and Anr. v. E.C. Kesavan AIR 1965 Ker.75. In the said cases, the use of the word 'ordinarily' in various statutes and its implications have been considered. Considering the law laid down in the said cases and the meaning of the word 'ordinarily' as given in various Dictionaries it seems that the word 'ordinarily' means in the majority of cases but not invariably. Agreeing with the said view I feel that in the present rule also the word 'ordinarily' means majority of cases unless there are special circumstances."

From the above decision, it is clear that the word "ordinarily" means majority of cases unless there are special circumstances. In the present case, Administrative Judge, while considering the inter-se seniority between the parties has taken the view that rule 19 uses the word "ordinarily" which is applicable only to those cases where the persons appointed in a cadre or confirmed or to completion of probation without any discrimination or a person coming from outside the cadre and joining service with different attributes of confirmation. Following was the observations made by the Administrative Judge in his order dated 23.1.2006:

"The confirmation is an inglorious uncertainty. The counting of seniority from the date of confirmation leaves him at the whim of the appointment authority, who may confirm or delay the confirmation of a particular employee to give undue benefit to a favour employees. Once an employee is confirmed on a substantive post his seniority must be reckoned from the date he was substantially appointed on the post. Rule 19 as such rightly refers to word "ordinarily" and is applicable only to those cases where the persons appointed in a cadre or confirmed or to completion of probation without any discrimination or a person coming from outside the cadre and joining service with different attributes of confirmation."

15. In the present case while dealing with the objections of Sri R.K. Gupta, in the report dated 19.5.1991, the Presiding Officer had repelled the arguments of the respondent no.4 to the effect that the petitioners were appointed on the temporary posts of Stenographers which were created by the Government for the Courts of Munsif Magistrates and the Chief Judicial Magistrates in 1979, holding that whether the appointment was against a temporary vacancy or against a permanent vacancy, the fact is that both the persons were appointed as Stenographers in the Pay Scale of Rs. 250-425 and their being no separate cadre for the Stenographers appointed against a substantive vacancy as opposed by Stenographers against a temporary vacancy. Thus, the seniority was fixed giving the benefit of service from the date of initial joining on the post of Stenographers and the petitioners were placed higher than the respondent no.4. The said seniority list was upset only on literal interpretation of Rule 19 of 1947 Rules and was determined from the date of order of confirmation, in the case of respondent no.4 the confirmation being with retrospective effect, he was held to be senior to the petitioners, although the admitted position is that the petitioners were working as Stenographers from a date prior to the working of the respondent no.4 as a Stenographer.

16. Thus, in this case what is to be considered is whether the services rendered from the date of initial appointment should be considered for determining the seniority or adopting literal interpretation of Rule 19 of 1947 Rules, the seniority should be determined from the date of the order of confirmation and the word ordinarily used in the Rule 19 of 1947 Rules should be completely overlooked. This question of interpretation of the word 'ordinarily' has already been dealt with in the judgement of Dileep Kumar Srivastava Vs. State of U.P. (supra). The Division Bench also considered whether there was any exceptional circumstance due to which the confirmation in service could not be taken as basis, rather length of service be taken as basis from determination of seniority. The Division Bench while considering whether any exceptional circumstances existed to take the length of service as basis for determination of seniority instead of confirmation in service, held as under:-

The question to be considered is as to whether there was any exceptional circumstance in the present case due to which the confirmation in service could not be taken as basis rather length of service be taken as basis for determination of seniority. There is no dispute that the respondent no. 4 was appointed earlier to the appellant and he was transferred to Allahabad on 11.4.1974. The confirmation of the appellant was made at Mirzapur on 30.4.1983 and after his confirmation he was transferred to Allahabad on 1.10.1984. The respondent no. 4, who was transferred to Allahabad in 1974 itself continued awaiting his confirmation which was done only on 1.2.1985. There is nothing on record to indicate that at any point of time, earlier to 1.2.1985, the respondent no. 4 was considered for confirmation and was not found fit. The appellant was appointed at judgeship of Mirzapur and was confirmed in the Mirzapur Judgeship, whereas the respondent no. 4 and the employee even appointed earlier to him i.e. respondent no. 7, who was appointed as early as in 1967, were not confirmed till 1.2.1985. The present is not a case where confirmation of all the employees was taken at Allahabad. At Allahabad, the confirmation was made with great delay in the year 1985 of the respondent no. 4, who was transferred and working at Allahabad from 11.4.1974 i.e. after more than a decade, which was special feature on the basis of which Administrative Judge did not refer to or relied the determination of seniority on the basis of confirmation. The Administrative Judge has rightly held that a person with different attribute of confirmation cannot contend that error was committed in not relying on criteria of confirmation as provided under Rule 19. Rule 19 does not mandatorily provides that confirmation in service, in all cases has to be the basis for determination of seniority. It uses the word "ordinarily" which gives a flexibility and in a case where there are certain special circumstances, the criteria other than the confirmation can be adopted by the appointing authority, for determination of seniority. In the present case, the appellant was confirmed at Mirzapur judgeship where he was appointed and the respondent no. 4, who was appointed earlier to appellant at Mirzapur itself and transferred to Allahabad in the year 1974, waited for his confirmation more than a decade, which ultimately was done on 1.2.1985. The reliance on the length of service by the appointing authority cannot be said to be arbitrary or beyond the scope of Rule 19. Thus, Rule 19 itself permits in exceptional cases to rely on criteria other than confirmation and in the facts of the present case, we are satisfied that substantial justice has been done in determination of seniority of petitioner and the respondent no. 4, on the basis of length of service."

17. Coming to the circumstances which lead to the appointments of the petitioners and the respondent no.4 as culled out from the pleadings on record, are that some 242 temporary posts were created for the appointment of Hindi Stenographers to the Courts of Munsif Magistrates in the Pay Scale of Rs.250-425 and on the said posts, appointments were made and they started working with effect from 2.4.1979 (in respect of petitioner no.1) whereas the respondent no.4 was appointed as an English Stenographer vide order dated 16.9.1981 against the substantive post of English Stenographer in the Court of Civil Judge. Admittedly, the petitioners joined and started workings as Stenographers prior to the respondent no.4. The State Government, it appears regularised the temporary vacancy notified in the year 1979, subsequently sometimes in the year 1987, merely because the State Government took a long time to confirm the temporary vacancy into permanent one, the petitioners who were working cannot be denied the benefit of their working from the date of their initial appointment by using literal interpretation of Rule 19 of the 1947 Rules. The word 'ordinarily' used for the Rule 19 of 1947 Rules in fact, envisages an eventuality resulting in an anomaly if determination of seniority by using the literal interpretation is adopted. In fact, the present case is a classic case wherein the seniority should be determined on the basis of their initial working and not on the basis of their confirmation for the simple reason that the petitioners could not be confirmed as the posts on which they were appointed were themselves temporary and the State Government took a long time in conforming the said temporary sanctioned posts. Although, it is true that the petitioners have not challenged the confirmation of the respondent no.4 with retrospective effect in the present writ petition, however, what remains un-rebutted is that the respondent no.4 started working on the post of the Stenographer from a date subsequent to the date on which the petitioners started working.

18. Coming to the judgements relied upon by Sri R.C. Singh that the seniority should be determined from the date of initial appointment and not from the date of their confirmation, all the judgements cited by Sri R.C. Singh relate to rules which are differently worded than the Rule 19 of the 1947 Rules and, thus, are of no avail in the present case.

19. However, the facts of the case, in the case of Dileep Kumar Srivastava Vs. State of U.P. (supra) squarely apply to the facts in question and, thus, I have no hesitation in following the said judgement and holding that the fixation of seniority as done by the impugned order dated 30th May, 1996 (Annexure No.12 to the writ petition) and the rejection of the representation vide order dated 31.10.1996 (Annexure no.13 to the writ petition) are liable to be quashed and the same are hereby quashed.

20. The respondent No.1 is directed to re-fix the seniority of the petitioners and the respondent no.4 from the date of their initial appointment and not from the date of their confirmation. As the petitioners and respondent no.4 have already superannuated the consequences of the re-fixation of seniority will follow.

21. The writ petition is allowed. No order as to costs.

A. U.P. Krishi Utpadan Mandi Act, 1964 - Sections 2(x), 15, 19, 23-A, 25-A, 26- F, 26- L, 26-M, 26- P, 26- X; U.P. Krishi Utpadan Mandi Samiti (Centralized) Retirement Benefit Regulations, 2013 - The conferment of pension to its employees is a service condition which the Board is free to provide by making/amending the Regulations - with prior approval of State Government and in consonance with the provisions of Act, 1964 - Whether the State Government in exercise of its powers under Act can compel the Board to accept a Pension Scheme other than that proposed by the Board by framing the Regulations? Answering the question in negative and allowing the present petition, the High Court held - The State Government lacks power and authority to reject the Pension Scheme (condition of service) sought to be implemented by the Board by making the Regulations, 2013, in exercise of its powers conferred u/s 26-X. The conferment of pension by the Board to its employees is a service condition which the Board is free to provide by making/amending the Regulations. The only rider cast upon the Board u/s 26-X is that it has to take prior approval of the State Government and that the Regulations was in consonance with the provisions of the Act, 1964. (Para 24 & 26)

B. Interpretation of Section 26-X - "previous approval" - The expression 'previous approval' has to be read in the context it is used in the statutory provision. The only requirement mandated in S. 26-X is that before embarking upon to make the Regulations, the Board is bound to take approval of the State Government- No further permission thereafter is required to be taken by Board from the State Government before implementing the Regulations. (Para 32)

Approval 'in principle' would mean that the concerned authority (State Government) has agreed to the proposal without getting into the details of other required statutory/legal compliances. If something is possible 'in principle' there is no reason why it should not happen, even though it has not happened before. (Para 32, 34, 38 & 39)

C. U.P. Agricultural Produce Markets Committee (Centralized) Service Regulations, 1984 - Regulation 47 - Regulations 1984, is distinct from the Regulations, 2013. Regulations 1984

would apply to the employees that came to be appointed on or before January 1, 1999, whereas, the Regulations 2013 would apply to the employees appointed on and after January 1, 1999 and before April 1, 2005 - Both the Regulations operate in different fields and cater to separate class of employees insofar entitled to distinct and different retiral Schemes, therefore, Regulation 47 would not be an impediment in implementing the Pension Scheme. (Para 41)

D. Entering into the domain of framing and implementing 'condition of service' by thrusting upon the employees NPS Scheme which was not proposed by the Board was beyond the authority and jurisdiction of State Government. (Para 48)

E. The State Government has been conferred power u/s 26-M to issue directions on 'question of policy' in the discharge of its functions and not with regard to conditions of service. (Para 46, 49 & 50)

Writ petition assails Orders dated 08.01.2016, 16.02.2018 by the State Government and Order dated 19.03.2018, passed by the Board.

1. Heard Sri Tarun Agrawal, Sri Vinayak Mithal, learned counsels for the petitioner, Sri Suresh C. Dwivedi, learned counsel for the second to tenth respondent, Sri Anuruddh Charan Mishra, learned Additional Chief Standing Counsel and Sri Jagdish Singh Bundela, learned Standing Counsel for the first respondent.

2. The State Agricultural Produce Markets Board (for short "the Board'), a body corporate having perpetual succession and a common seal and may sue or be sued by the said name and acquire, hold and dispose of property and enter into contracts. The Board for all purposes is deemed to be a local authority. It came into existence, consequent upon the promulgation of the Uttar Pradesh Krishi Utpadan Mandi Act, 1964 (for short "Act 1964'). The employees of the Board and the Committees (Mandi Samiti) were members of a Contributory Provident Fund Scheme (for short "CPF Scheme'). The Board desired to grant all the employees better retiral benefits, consequently, a proposal was made by the Board in its 86th meeting vide resolution dated 23 April 1999 to extend pensionary benefits to the employees, in lieu of the existing CPF Scheme w.e.f. 1 January 1999.

3. Pursuant thereof, the Board reminded the State Government on 31 May 1999, requesting to expedite the proposal for grant of Pension/Gratuity Scheme to its employees. The State Government vide communication dated 11 February 2000, addressed to the Director of the Board, in principle, granted approval with certain conditions, including, that necessary amendments accordingly be carried out in the Service Regulations, thereafter, submit the Regulations to the Government with the approval of the Board. The Board, consequently, in its 91st meeting, vide resolution dated 18 January 2001, enhanced the contribution of its employees to the CPF Scheme from 8.33% to 10% w.e.f. 1 January 1999. The increased contribution was with a view to fund the pension scheme which was made effective from 1 January 1999. The employees of the Board, thereafter, have been contributing the enhanced amount to the CPF Scheme.

4. The matter, however, was kept pending by the State Government and w.e.f. 1 April 2005, the State Government adopted the National Pension System (for short "NPS'). The existing Pension/Gratuity Scheme was done away with from the notified date. The Government vide communication dated 25 May 2005, addressed to the Director of the Board, sought opinion of the Board as to whether the NPS could be made applicable to all the employees of the Board irrespective of their date of appointment. The Board informed the State Government vide communication dated 1 August 2005 that the employees have unanimously refused to accept NPS scheme. The Board in its 143rd meeting dated 24 September 2012, yet again resolved to extend the benefits of Pension/Gratuity Scheme to its employees at par with the employees of other Corporations/Development Authorities. Accordingly, the Board constituted a Committee on 10 October 2012 to study the proposal and give its recommendations. Pursuant thereof, the Committee recommended framing of Regulations for grant of pension on the lines prevalent in the other Corporations/Development Authorities. The Board in exercise of powers under Section 25-A and 26-X of Act, 1964, framed the U.P. Krishi Utpadan Mandi Samiti (Centralized) Retirement Benefit Regulations, 2013 (for short "Regulations, 2013'). The Regulation was remitted to the State Government for approval/information. The State Government vide communication dated 5 December 2013 sought certain clarifications which was duly replied by the Board and again vide communication dated 10 October 2014 Government sought the opinion of the Board with regard to the applicability of NPS to all the employees in view of Government Order dated 28 March 2005. In response, the Board vide communication dated 17 November 2014 pointed out that NPS cannot be made applicable uniformly, the employees who were recruited/appointed prior to 1 April 2005 from a separate class. NPS is applicable upon those employees who were recruited/appointed on or after 1 April 2005 or have not put in ten years qualifying service on the said date. The Board again reiterated that the State Government to approve the Regulations, 2013. The State Government, however, by the impugned order dated 8 January 2016, extended NPS Scheme to all the employees of the Board irrespective of their date of appointment/recruitment. The Board again vide communication dated 18 April 2016 pointed out that NPS Scheme cannot be made applicable to the employees who were appointed/recruited prior to 1 April 2005. The Board again requested the Government to approve the Pension/Gratuity Scheme framed vide Regulations, 2013, which was pending with the Government.

5. Aggrieved by the conduct of the State Government a writ petition came to be filed by the employees being Writ Petition No. 67292 of 2015, which came to be disposed of on 10 January 2018, directing the State Government to take a final decision in the matter. Pursuant thereof, the State Government vide order dated 16 February 2018 rejected the representation of the petitioners reiterating its earlier order that the all the employees of the Board, irrespective of their date of appointment, would be entitled to NPS. The Board in compliance issued letter dated 19 March 2018 succumbing to the stand of the State Government.

6. The petitioners are retired employees of the Board/Committees (Centralized Service), they came to be appointed prior to 1 April 2005, by the instant writ petition they are assailing the orders dated 8 January 2016 and 16 February 2018 passed by the State Government and the consequential order dated 19 March 2018 passed by the Board, uniformly applying NPS Scheme to all the employees. A further prayer has been sought to direct the State Government to accord approval to the Regulations, 2013, implementing Pension/Gratuity Scheme framed by the Board.

7. Learned counsel appearing for the petitioners submits that the Board has been conferred powers under Section 26-F to appoint officers and servants as it considers necessary for efficient performance of its function on such terms and conditions as may be provided for in the Regulations made by the Board. Section 26-X confers powers upon the Board to make Regulations with the previous approval of the State Government for the administration of the affairs of the Board. The Regulations provide for the salaries, allowances and other conditions of service of the officers and other employees of the Board, and of officers referred to in sub-section (2) of Section 23.

8. The Board in exercise of its powers under Section 26-X framed the U.P. Agricultural Produce Markets Committee (Centralized) Service Regulations, 1984. Regulation 47 provides for retirement benefits, but pension was not admissible to the employees (Centralized Service). The employees were to contribute to the provident fund. The Board, however, in 1999 resolved to provide Pension/Gratuity Scheme in lieu of CPF Scheme to its employees w.e.f. 1 January 1999, which came to be accepted and approved, in principle, by the State Government on 11 February 2000, thereafter, the Board in exercise of power conferred under Section 26-X framed Regulations, 2013, providing the benefit of Pension/Gratuity Scheme to its employees who came to be appointed/recruited after 1 January 1999 and before 1 April 2005. NPS Scheme was made applicable upon the employees of the Board who were recruited/appointed on or after 1 April 2005, subject to ten years qualifying service.

9. In this back drop, it is urged by the learned counsel for the petitioner that it was not open to the State Government to have declined the employees of the Board the Pension/Gratuity Scheme sought to be implemented by framing Regulations, 2013. The impugned order imposing NPS scheme on all employees uniformly is arbitrary without jurisdiction and in violation of the Government Order dated 28 March 2005. The Government Order clearly stipulates that the NPS scheme would be applicable on employees who came to be appointed/recruited on or after the cut of date provided therein i.e. 1 April 2005. The Pension/Gratuity Scheme would, however, continue to apply to the employees recruited/appointed prior to that date.

10. It is further urged that the Board is an autonomous body and is not funded by the State Government, revenue is generated by the Board to finance its activities under Act, 1964. The salary, allowance and other conditions of service of employees are governed by the Regulations framed by the Board from time to time in exercise of powers under Section 26-X. The Pension/Gratuity Scheme sought to be made applicable to the employees is to be funded and financed by the Board from its own resources, therefore, it is urged that it is not open to the State Government to impose upon the employees of the Board a pension scheme i.e. NPS ignoring Regulations, 2013. The Government had clarified in February 2000 while approving the proposed Pension Scheme that the Government would not fund the Pension/Gratuity Scheme and declined to take any liability/burden upon itself to fund the pension of the employees of the Board.

11. It is further urged that the determination and funding of salary/pension of the employees of the Board falls exclusively within the powers of the Board and would not fall within the ambit of "question of policy'. The Board is bound by the directions on question of policy as may be given to it by the State Government in exercise of its power under Section 26-M and not on conditions of service. It is further urged that the reasons assigned for declining the Pension/Gratuity Scheme to the employees appointed prior to 1 April 2005, is not a "question of policy', rather, a statutory obligation cast upon the Board to determine the service conditions of its employees, including pension, in exercise of powers under Section 26-X. The Government lacks the power to withhold the Regulations, 2013, seeking to implement the Pension/Gratuity Scheme which came to be approved by the Government in February 2000 itself. Pursuant thereof, the Board proceeded by enhancing deduction to the CPF Scheme to fund the pension scheme and thereafter framed the Regulations implementing the Pension/Gratuity Scheme on the direction of the State Government. It is submitted that no further approval/permission is required from the State Government.

12. Learned counsel appearing for the respondent-Board submits that the Board has resolved to provide Pension/Gratuity Scheme to its employees, to be funded from its own resources, accordingly, the contribution to the CPF Scheme was enhanced from 8.33% to 10% w.e.f. 1 January 1999, the employees, thereafter, have been contributing the amount since then. The corpus to fund the Pension Scheme is more than sufficient. It is not in dispute that the Board went ahead with the scheme after receiving approval of the State Government way back on 11 February 2000. The Board, and not the Government, has been conferred powers under Act, 1964 to determine the service conditions of its employees. He further submits that the direction issued by the State Government, otherwise, cannot be disobeyed by the Board, but the Board still is awaiting the formal permission from the State Government with regard to the pending Regulations, 2013, implementing the Pension Scheme.

13. Learned Standing Counsel appearing for the State respondent submits that the factual matrix inter se parties is not in dispute, the Board did resolve in 1999 to provide to its employees Pension/Gratuity Scheme, accordingly, the contribution to the CPF was enhanced. The State Government, in principle, granted approval to the Pension/Gratuity Scheme, however, it is urged that since pension was not admissible to the employees of the Board in view of Regulation 47 of Service Regulation 1984, therefore, after enforcement of NPS scheme w.e.f. 1 April 2005, the State Government had taken a conscious decision to implement the NPS scheme upon all the employees of the Board irrespective of their date of appointment. Learned counsel further submits that the impugned order is not arbitrary or illegal as the scheme (NPS) applicable on the date of passing of the impugned order has been made uniformly applicable to all the employees of the Board. He, however, admits that the Regulations, 2013 is still pending with the State Government and no specific decision thereon has been taken, however, it is submitted that in view of the impugned order, it tantamounts that the State Government has disapproved the Regulations, 2013.

14. Rival submissions fall for consideration.

15. The question that arises for determination is as to whether the State Government was justified in law in rejecting the Pension/Gratuity Scheme made by the Board for its employees in lieu of CPF Scheme.

16. The facts, inter se, parties are not in dispute. The scheme of the Act, 1964, provides for the constitution of a Board, the employees of the Board/Mandi Samiti constitute the Centralized Service. The service conditions of the employees is required to be made by the Board by framing Regulations in exercise of its powers conferred under Section 26-X, which inter alia, includes pension.

17. In exercise of its powers, Regulation 1984 came to be framed by the Board providing CPF Scheme to its employees which was subsequently sought to be modified/amended conferring Pension/Gratuity Scheme to its employees w.e.f. 1 January 1999. The proposal came to be accepted and approved by the State Government on 11 February 2000. The State Government categorically stated while approving the proposal that it would not finance the pension scheme nor would the Government be responsible to provide the funds, accordingly, the State Government directed the Board to frame/amend the Regulations. Pursuant thereof, Regulations, 2013 came to be made, inter alia, providing Pension/Gratuity Scheme to the employees who came to be appointed on or after 1 January 1999 but before 1 April 2005. The new NPS scheme was made applicable to the employees recruited/appointed on or after the said date in terms of the Government Order. Accordingly, Regulation 47 of Regulation 1984, to that extent came to be modified by the proposed Regulations, 2013. The State Government by the impugned order has instead imposed the NPS scheme upon all the employees of the Board irrespective of the cut of date provided in the Government Order dated 28 March 2005. In other words, the State Government rejected the Pension/Gratuity Scheme framed by the Board and approved the NPS scheme.

18. In the aforesaid backdrop the issue that falls for consideration is as to whether the State Government in exercise of its powers under Act, 1964, can compel the Board to accept a Pension Scheme other than that proposed by the Board by framing the Regulations.

19. It would be apposite to scan the provisions of Act, 1964, in order to trace the source of power of the Board and the State Government.

20. Chapter V of Act, 1964 provides for External Control. Section 26-A provides for establishment of the Board by the State Government on notification in the Gazette. The power to appoint the officers and servants, including, framing of Regulations to determine their conditions of service has been conferred upon the Board under Chapter IV of Act, 1964. Section 26-F is extracted:

26-F. Appointment of Officers and Servants.-(1) The Board may appoint such officers and servants as it considers necessary for efficient performance of its functions on such terms and conditions as may be provided for in regulations made by the Board.

21. The constitution of the Centralized Service and conditions of employment of members of the cadre is provided under Section 23A and 25A which can be implemented by framing Regulations. The provisions reads thus:

23.A. Constitution of Centralised service and transfer of employees- (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other provision of this Act, the Board may constitute cadres of Secretaries and such other officers common to all Committees as it may deem fit to appoint under sub-section (2) of Section 23.

[25-A. Terms and conditions of employment of officers and servants of Committees.- Subject to rules made in this behalf under this Act, the terms and conditions of employment of the members of a cadre constituted under Section 23-A and matters relating to discipline, control and punishment including dismissal and removal of such, officers shall be governed by such regulations as may be made by the Board.]

22. The Board has been vested with exclusive powers to frame Regulations under Section 26-X, inter alia, with regard to the conditions of service of its employees, but with the previous approval of the State Government. Regulation 26-X is extracted:

26-X. Regulations.-(1) The Board may, with the previous approval of the State Government make regulations, not inconsistent with this Act, and rules made thereunder, for the administration of the affairs of the Board.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such regulations may provide for all or any of the following matter, namely-

(a) .....

(b) the powers and duties of the officers and other employees of the Board;

(c) the salaries and allowances and other conditions of service of officers and other employees of the Board and of officers referred to in sub-section (2) of Section 23;

(3) Until any regulations are made by the Board under sub-section (1), any regulations which may be so made by it may be made by the State Government, and any regulations so made may be altered or rescinded by the Board, in exercise of its power under sub-section (1)

23. The powers and function of the Board is spelled out in Section 26-L which reads thus:

26-L. Powers and functions of the Board.- (1) The Board shall, subject to the provisions of this Act, have the following functions and shall have power to do anything which may be necessary or expedient for carrying out those functions-

(i) superintendence and control over the working of the Market Committees and other affairs thereof including programmes undertaken by such Committees for the1 [construction of new Market yards and development of existing Markets and Market areas];

(ii) giving such direction to Committees in general or any Committee in particular with a view to ensure efficiency thereof;

(iii) any other function entrusted to it by this Act;

(iv) such other functions as may be entrusted to the Board by the State Government by notification in the Gazette.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing provision, such power shall include the power-

(i) to approve proposals of the new sites selected by the Committee for the development of Markets;

(ii) to supervise and guide the Committees in the preparation of site-plans and estimates of construction programmes undertaken by the Committee;

(iii) to execute all works chargeable to the Board's fund;

(iv) to maintain accounts in such forms as may be prescribed and get the same audited in such manner as may be laid down in regulations of the Board;

(v) to publish annually at the close of the year, its progress report, balance-sheet, and statement of assets and liabilities and send copies to each member of the Board as well as to the Chairman of all Market Committees;

(vi) to make necessary arrangements for propaganda publicity on matters related to regulated marketing of agricultural produce;

(vii) to provide facilities for the training of officers and servants of the Market Committees;

(viii) to prepare and adopt budget for the ensuring year;

(ix) to make subventions2 [and loans] to Market Committees for the purposes of this Act on such terms and conditions as the Board may determine;

(x) to do such other things as may be of general interest to Market Committees or considered necessary for the efficient functioning of the Board as may be specified from time to time by the State Government.

24. The State Government thus, has been conferred power to entrust the Board such other function by notification in the Gazette [Sub-Section (1)(iv)]. Further, the State Government may specify to the Board from time to time to do such other things as may be of general interest of the Market Committees or considered necessary for efficient functioning of the Board [Sub-Section 2(x)]. On plain reading of Section 26-L, condition of service of the employees of the Board is not a function of the Board. In other words, the State Government lacks power and authority to reject the Pension Scheme (condition of service) sought to be implemented by the Board by making the Regulations, 2013, in exercise of its powers conferred under Section 26-X. The conferment of pension by the Board to its employees is a service condition which the Board is free to provide by making/amending the Regulations. The only rider cast upon the Board under Section 26-X is that it has to take prior approval of the State Government.

25. The funding of the activities of the Board and the Market Committees in discharge of their duties/functions has been provided under Section 19 and Section 26-P which includes, utilization of the fund to meet the expenses towards salary of its officers and servants, including pension. Section 19 and 26-P is extracted:

19. Market Committee Fund and its utilisation-(1) There shall be established for each Committee, a fund to be called ''Market Committee Fund' to which shall be credited all moneys received by it including all loans raised by it, and advances and grants made to it.

(2) All expenditure incurred by the Committee in carrying out the purposes of this Act, shall be defrayed out of the said fund, and the surplus, if any, shall be invested in such manner as may be prescribed.

(3) Without prejudice to the generality of the provisions contained in Section 16, the Committee may utilise its funds for payment of all or any of the following -

(i).....

(ii) salaries, pensions and allowances including allowances for leave, gratuities, compassionate allowance, medical aid and contribution towards provident fund and pensions of the officers and servants employed by or for it;

26-P. Board's Fund.-(1) The Board shall have its own fund, which shall be deemed to be a local fund and to which shall be credited all moneys received by or on behalf of the Board, except the moneys required to be credited in the Uttar Pradesh State Marketing Development Fund under Section 26-PP.

(i) Payment of salary, leave allowance, gratuity, other allowances, loans and advances and provident fund to the officers and servants employed by the Board and pension and other contribution to the Government servants on deputation;

26. On conjoint reading of the provision of the Act, 1964, extracted, hereinabove, it is explicit and unabmiguous that the Board has been vested with powers to make and regulate the conditions of service of its employees, including, pension. The salary and retiral dues is to be funded by the Board from its own resources. The Regulations made by the Board would override the Regulations, if any, framed by the State Government in that regard (sub-Section (3) of Section 26-X). The Board upon approval of the State Government of its proposal/resolution to provide Pension Scheme, in lieu of CPF Scheme, acted thereon by enhancing the contribution of its employees to the CPF Scheme. The Board, thereafter, framed Regulations, 2013, as directed by the State. The condition of taking previous approval stipulated in Section 26-X was complied by the Board. Nothing more was required to be done at the level of the Board except to comply the conditions imposed by the State Government in the approval order. The State Government was not justified, nor it was within its jurisdiction to have rejected outright the Pension/Gratuity Scheme sought to be made applicable to the employees of the Board. Such a power is not vested in the State Government under the provisions of Act, 1964.

27. The import of the expression "previous approval' mandated in Section 26-X requires to be understood in the context the expression is used in the provision. The matter fell for consideration by a Constitution Bench, the Supreme Court observed as follows in N. Raghavendra Rao v. Deputy Commissioner, South Kanara, Mangalore3 :

"The expression 'previous approval' would include a general approval to the variation in the conditions of service within certain limits, indicated by the Union Government. It has to be remembered that Article 309 the Constitution gives, subject to the provisions of the Constitution, full powers to a State Government to make rules. The proviso to Section 115(7) limits that power, but that limitation is removable by the Central Government by giving its previous approval.... The broad purpose underlying the proviso to Section 115(7) of the Act was to ensure that the conditions of service should not be changed except with the prior approval of the Central Government. In other words, before embarking on varying the conditions of service, the State Governments should obtain the concurrence of the Central Government." (Para 4)
(Refer: State of Mysore and another v. R. Basappa and others4)

28. In Life Insurance Corporation of India vs. Escorts Limited and others,5 Supreme Court referred to the decision of this Court in Shakir Husain v. Chandoo Lal6, to explain "permission' and "approval' para-62 is extracted:

"We do not propose to refer to any dictionary to find out the meaning of the word 'permission', whether the word is comprehensive enough to include subsequent permission. We will only refer to what Sir Shah Sulaiman, CJ. said in Shakir Hussain v. Chandoo Lal Ordinarily the difference between approval and permission is that in the first the act holds good until disapproved, while in the other case, it does not become effective until permission is obtained. But permission subsequently obtained may all the same validate the previous act."

29. The Court observed that the word 'prior" or "previous" may be implied if the contextual situation or the object and design of the legislation demands it. The Court declined interpreting 'permission' to mean 'permission', previous or subsequent, and there was no justification for limiting the expression 'permission' to 'previous permission'.

30. In U.P. Avas Evam Vikas Parishad and another Vs. Friends Coop. Housing Society Ltd. and another7, Supreme Court held that the expressions "prior approval" and "approval" are two different connotations and if the statute does not mention "prior approval" what is material would be only "approval".

31. Similarly, in Director of Education and others Vs. Gajadhar Prasad Verma8, it was held that in the absence of "prior approval", would not have an effect with regard to the creation of the post, therefore, the State is not obliged to reimburse the salary to the management of the incumbent appointed on the post without "prior approval" of the Director or the competent authority under the Act.

32. Learned Standing counsel has placed heavy reliance on the communication dated 11 February 2000, to emphasis that the State Government had granted approval "in principle' and that would not satisfy the condition "previous approval' mandated in Section 26-X. The submission taken on face value appears to be attractive, but on close analysis it lacks merit. The expression "previous approval' has to be read in the context it is used in the statutory provision. The only requirement mandated in Section 26-X is that before embarking upon to make the Regulations, the Board is bound to take approval of the State Government. No further permission thereafter is required to be taken by Board from the State Government before implementing the Regulations. On perusal of the communication dated 11 February 2000, it is explicitly evident that the State Government in essence or substance had approved the proposed Pension Scheme "in principle'. The State Government had further directed the Board to frame/amend the Regulations to that effect, this would tantamount to "previous approval' of the State Government contemplated under Section 26-X. The expression "in principle' approval used in the communication is only to convey to the Board that the approval is subject to certain conditions stipulated in the communication dated 11 February 2000. The conditions, inter alia, include, that the State Government would not bear the expenses nor fund the pension scheme; separate fund (Trust) would have to be earmarked by the Board to fund the pension scheme and finally, the Board was directed to make the Regulations to that effect to implement the Scheme. The Board on the conditional approval of the State Government framed Regulations, 2013, incorporating the conditions stipulated in the communication dated 11 February 2000. The State Government under Section 26-X was not required to give further approval/permission with regard to the implementation of the Regulations, but was to satisfy itself that the Regulations, 2013, framed by the Board incorporated the conditions stipulated by the State Government in the communication granting approval. Further, to ensure that the Regulation framed by the Board did not violate any provisions of Act, 1964.

33. The expression "in principle' approval would include a general approval to the proposal seeking to implement the Pension/Gratuity Scheme within certain limits, indicated by the State Government. But the limitation is removal by the State Government by giving previous approval.

34. Approval "in principle' would mean that the concerned authority (State Government) has agreed to the proposal without getting into the details of other required statutory/legal compliances. If something is possible "in principle' there is no reason why it should not happen, even though it has not happened before.

35. The communication dated 11 February 2000 is extracted:

Government of Uttar Pradesh, Lucknow.

Krishi Anubhag-5 /Lucknow: Date:- 11.02.2000

Subject: Extending pension facility to the employees of the Mandi Parishad and Mandi Samitis under the CPF Scheme.

Sir,

With regard to your letter no. - Parishad-Lekha/Pension/99-721 dated May 31st, 1999 on the afore-mentioned subject, I am directed to say that after due consideration of the proposal made available by Mandi Parishad for grant of the pension facility to the employees of Mandi Parishad and Mandi Samiti, approval in principle has been accorded by the government with the following terms and conditions: -

1. Before the implementation of the aforesaid scheme, the rules of the Employees Provident Fund shall be studied and action shall be taken accordingly, and as per rules, consent of the employees in clear terms shall be taken for opting the pension scheme or not opting it. For this purpose, the process to prepare the scheme shall be initiated after consultation with labour department.

2. The pension scheme, in respect of implementation, shall be different from the pension scheme of the state government employees, and it shall be operated as a separate trust based on the CPF. The pension scheme is based only on the status of the fund, and the amount deposited under this head shall not be spent for any other head.

3. No amount shall be payable in the C.P.F. fund for this scheme by the Government or the Mandi Parishad. If the pension scheme comes to be discontinued at any point of time due to unavailability of amount in the pension fund, the Government or Mandi Parishad shall not be responsible for the same.

4. The fund shall be regulated with with absolute liabilities, keeping in view all financial and economical aspects as per arrangements made with the Trust and the Third Party Pension Fund Manager. For complying with terms and conditions of the trust of the Fund, the Finance Controller shall be responsible and high level officers shall be nominated as members to run the Trust in a smooth manner.

5. In the service rules of the Mandi Parishad and Mandi Samitis, since there is a provision of pension facility not to be admissible to its employees, amendment in this respect shall have to be effected in these service rules. For this purpose a proposal shall be made available by the Director, Mandi Parishad.

Necessary action may please be ensured accordingly.

Sincerely yours

(English translation by the Court)

36. On perusal of the communication, in particular the opening paragraph read with para (5) and the last sentence it is evident that the State Government approved the proposal of the Board in essence/ or substance to implement the Pension Scheme. Further, directed the Board to amend the Regulations incorporating the Scheme and proceed accordingly. The condition of service, including, pension could be made either by amending the existing Regulations or by framing separate Regulation, for which the State Government had given green signal to the Board by approving the Pension Scheme.

37. In the counter affidavit, it is not the case of the State respondents that previous approval was not granted to the Board approving the Pension Scheme, rather the State admits in para 15 and 16 that the Board acted upon after previous approval of the State Government. Para 15 and 16 of the counter affidavit reads thus:

"15. That the contents of paragraphs 29 and 30 of the writ petition need no reply being matter of record. However, it is submitted that the State Government vide letter dated 11.2.2000 granted in principle approval of the resolution of the board for providing pensionary benefits to the employees.

16. That the contents of paragraphs 31, 32 and 33 of the writ petition need no reply being matter of record. It is submitted that vide letter of the State Government dated 11.2.2000, the Director, Raj Krishi Utpadan Mandi, was directed to made available proposal in respect of amendment in service Rules and in reply thereto the Director, Mandi Parishad send proposal dated 6.9.2000 with recommendation to grant pensionary benefits to the officers and employees of Mandi Parishad/ Mandi Samiti as available to the Government Employees of State of U.P."

38. In Union of India and others Versus Harananda and others, 2019 SCC Online SC 126, the short question posed for consideration before the Supreme Court was, whether in the facts and circumstances of the case, the High Court has committed any error in treating and/or considering the Office Memorandum (OM) dated 8 May 2003 of the Department of Personnel and Training (Cadre Review Division) [for short "DoPT'], Government of India as "in principle' decision for constitution of the Railway Protection Force (for short "RPF') as an Organized Group "A" Central Service. The Court rejected the contention of the appellants that the OM cannot be said to be "in principle' approval granted by the DoPT to constitute the RPF as an Organized Group "A" Central Service. Merely because the "in principle' decision was conditional and was to be placed before the Cadre Review Committee, it cannot be said that the "in principle' decision contained in the OM was subject to further approval and/or no "in principle' decision was taken.

39. In the given facts of the instant case, it is admitted by the respondent State that "in principle' approval to the Pension Scheme was granted. In view, thereof, and on reading Section 26-X, the Board was not required to take further approval. The State Government only had to ensure that the board while framing the Regulations implementing the Pension Scheme had complied the condition stipulated by the State Government in the approval order and that the Regulations was in consonance with the provisions of Act, 1964.

40. The mandatory requirement of Section 26-X to frame Regulations to implement the Pension Scheme stood complied. No further approval/permission was required from the State Government under the Act, 1964. The impugned order passed by the State Government does not state that any of the conditions stipulated in the communication dated 11 February 2000 was flouted by the Board while framing Regulations, 2013. The contention of the learned Standing Counsel lacks merit, accordingly, unacceptable.

41. It is further urged on behalf of the State that Regulation 47 of Regulations, 1984, would be an impediment in the implementation of the Pension/Gratuity Scheme sought to be implemented by the Board. Regulation 47 clearly stipulates that the employees of the Board are not entitled to pension but to Contributory Provident Fund. Though this is not a reason assigned in the impugned order. However, the contention lacks merit. Regulations, 1984, is distinct from Regulations, 2013. Regulations, 1984 would apply to the employees that came to be appointed on or before 1 January 1999, whereas, the Regulations, 2013 would apply to the employees appointed on and after 1 January 1999 and before 1 April 2005. Both the Regulations operate in different fields and cater to separate class of employees insofar entitled to distinct and different retiral Schemes, therefore, Regulation 47 would not be an impediment in implementing the Pension Scheme. The contention is untenable, accordingly, rejected.

42. A similar challenge came to be raised by the employees of the U.P. Avas Evam Vikas Parishad (for short the "Parishad') in State of Uttar Pradesh versus Preetam Singh and others9, assailing the order of the State Government disapproving the Pension/Gratuity Scheme sought to be implemented by the Parishad. The Parishad a corporate body created under the Uttar Pradesh Avas Evam Vikas Parishad Adhiniyam, 1965 (for short " the Act'), a proposal was made, to extend pensionery benefits to the employees of the Parishad, in place of the existing Contributory Provident Fund (CPF) Scheme. The Parishad upon conditional approval from the State Government proceeded to implement the Pension/Gratuity Scheme in lieu of the existing CPF Scheme. The State Government in the approval order clarified that the State Government would not bear the expenses nor the pension fund should create any financial liability on the State Government.

43. All of a sudden, the State Government withdrew its approval altogether. The denial of the permission by the State Government was assailed by the employees of the Parishad before the High Court. Writ petition came to be allowed. The order issued by the State Government was expressly quashed. A writ in the nature of mandamus was issued to the Parishad requiring it to implement the Pension/Gratuity Scheme. Pursuant thereof, the Parishad implemented the Pension/Gratuity Scheme by issuing a notification. The Scheme was expressly extended to such employees of the Parishad, who were in service on 1 January 1996. The Pension/Gratuity Scheme in terms of the notification, would be applicable only till the introduction of the newly defined Contributory Fund Rules (NPS) framed by the State Government and was not applicable to the employees of the Parishad who had entered its service on or after 1 April 2005.

44. The State Government raising challenge to the impugned judgment of the High Court took a plea that the Scheme could not have been formulated, and given effect to in absence of an express approval from the State Government. Reliance was placed on Section 2 of the Uttar Pradesh State Control Over Public Corporations Act, 1975, which, inter alia, provided that every statutory body (by whatever name called), established or constituted under any Uttar Pradesh Act, excepting Universities governed by the Uttar Pradesh State Universities Act, 1973, shall, in the discharge of its functions, be guided by such directions on "question of policy', as may be given to it by the State Government, notwithstanding that no such power has expressly been conferred on the State Government under the law establishing or constituting such statutory body.

45. The Supreme Court upon examining of the provisions of Uttar Pradesh Avas Evam Vikas Parishad Adhiniyam, 1965, opined as follows:

"14.....There can be no doubt that it is open to the State Government to issue directions of questions of policy to all Public Corporations in the State of Uttar Pradesh, in furtherance of the mandate contained in Section 2(1) of the 1975 Act. It would however be pertinent to mention that the above directions could be issued only in respect of questions of policy having a nexus to the "discharge of its functions". Insofar as the Vikas Parishad is concerned, we are of the view that the functions of the Vikas parishad are relatable only to the functions stipulated in Section 15 of the 1965 Act."

46. Upon perusal of the Section 15 of the Act, stipulating the functions of the Board, the Court held that the "conditions of service' of employees do not constitute the functions of the Parishad.

"16.....The conditions of service of employees, in our considered view, do not constitute the functions of the Vikas Parishad, and as such, we are satisfied that the directions contemplated under Section 2(1) of the 1975 Act, do not extend to the directions issued by the State of Uttar Pradesh in the impugned orders dated 13.9.2005 and 12.7.2007. We therefore find no merit in the first contention advanced by the learned counsel for the appellant."

47. Thereafter, the Court considered as to whether the Parishad was competent to frame Regulations, whereby, it could extend the Pension/Gratuity Scheme to its employees in lieu of CPF Scheme. Section 95 of the Act conferred power upon the Parishad to make Regulations, inter alia, with regard to the conditions of services of its officers and servants. The Court in para 18 held as follows:

"18.....A perusal of clause (f) of Section 95(1), with clause (I) of Section 95(1) would reveal, that the Vikas Parishad is vested with the right to make regulations, so as to extend to its employees a scheme in the nature of Pension/Family Pension and Gratuity Scheme i.e., a scheme similar to the one framed by the Vikas Parishad on 19.5.2009."

48. In the facts of the case in hand upon examining the provisions of Act, 1964, extracted in the earlier part of this order, it is clear that the Board is vested with absolute power, though, with the "previous approval' of the State Government to make Regulations governing the conditions of service of its employees, including, pension. The Government in the instant case had granted conditional approval on 11 February 2000 approving the proposal of the Board, fundamentally and in substance accepting the proposal in principle. Thereafter, the Board proceeded to frame the Regulations on the directions/approval of the State Government. It was, within the exclusive domain and power of the Board to frame Regulations governing the service conditions of its employees. Since the mandatory requirement contemplated under Section 26-X of taking previous approval of the State Government before making the Regulations was complied, in the circumstances, it was not open for the State Government to have indirectly, and not expressly, rejected the Regulations framing the Pension/Gratuity Scheme, which was beyond its authority and jurisdiction to have entered into the domain of framing and implementing "condition of service' by thrusting upon the employees NPS Scheme which was not proposed by the Board.

49. The State Government has been conferred power under Section 26-M of Act, 1964 to issue directions on "question of policy' in the discharge of its functions and not with regard to conditions of service. Section 26-M reads thus:

"26-M. Directions on question of policy.-(1) In the discharge of its functions, the Board shall be guided by such directions on question of policy, as may be given to it by the State Government."

50. The conditions of service would not fall within the "functions' of the Board as has been held in Preetam Singh (supra). The directions, if any, that could have been issued by the State Government was only in respect to question of policy having nexus to the "discharge of its functions'. The impugned decision of the State Government rejecting the Pension/Gratuity Scheme would not fall within the ambit of "question of policy' in the discharge of its function conferred on the Board for enforcement of the provision of the Act, 1964, as is explicit from the reading of Section 26-M. Rather, it was within the exclusive jurisdiction and authority of the Board to frame Regulations governing conditions of service, including, pension. The only rider being the previous approval of the State Government which was duly obtained. The reasons assigned in the impugned order also does not inspire confidence in rejecting the Pension Scheme on the ground that since pension was not admissible to the employees of the Board earlier, therefore, there is no occasion for the Board to provide Pension/Gratuity Scheme to all its employees after the new NPS scheme was implemented w.e.f. 1 April 2005. Further, the State Government has not raised any objection with regard to the financial implication while implementing the proposed Pension Scheme or the ability and financial capacity of the Board to fund the Pension/Gratuity Scheme of its employees from its own resources while granting prior approval. It is not the case of the State Government that the mandate of Section 26-X was not complied by the Board. The reasons assigned in the impugned order is manifestly arbitrary and beyond the scope, power and authority conferred upon the State Government under Act, 1964. The State Government has not assigned any plausible valid reasons, including, non compliance of the conditions set forth by it, while rejecting the Pension Scheme. Rather, the proposed Pension Scheme was accepted by the Government and accorded approval in February 2000, much before the NPS scheme was floated. The State Government, therefore, has exceeded its authority and jurisdiction while passing the impugned order rejecting the Pension/Gratuity Scheme/Regulations, 2013.

51. I have perused the Government Order dated 28 March 2005 with the assistance of the learned counsel for the parties. The Government Order categorically provides that the new NPS scheme shall be applicable to the employees who came to be appointed/recruited on or after 1 April 2005 and the Pension/Gratuity Scheme prevalent prior to the said date would continue to be applicable upon the employees appointed earlier.

52. The relevant portion of the Notification issued by the Finance Department, Government of Uttar Pradesh, is extracted hereinbelow:

"The State Government, in consideration of its long term fiscal interest and following broadly the pattern adopted by the Central Government, has approved the following proposal of introducing a new defined contribution pension system in place of the existing defined benefit pension scheme, for new entrants to the service of the State Government and of all State controlled autonomous institutions and State - aided private educational institutions where the existing pension scheme is patterned on the scheme for Government employees and is funded by the consolidated fund of the State Government:-

(i) From 1st of April, 2005, the new defined contribution pension system would mandatorily apply to all new recruits to the service of the State Government and of all State controlled autonomous / State aided private educational institutions referred to above. However, employees covered by the existing pension scheme whose service would be of less than ten years on 1st April, 2005 may also voluntarily opt for the new pension system in place of the existing pension scheme.

(iv)xxxxxxxx

(v)xxxxxxxxx

53. The Board while framing the Regulations, 2013 had categorically provided that the Pension Scheme would apply to the employees who entered service on 1 January 1999 but before 1 April 2005, which is in consonance with the Government Order. The State Government lacked authority in imposing service condition against the resolution of the Board. The impugned order, further, violates the Government Order dated 28 March 2005 imposing uniform application of the NPS scheme to all the employees irrespective of their date of appointment/recruitment. The State Government would have been justified in not accepting that part of the Regulations had the Board ignored the Government Order and conferred the Pension/Gratuity Scheme to all its employees, bypassing the cut of date implementing the new NPS Scheme. The State Government in the same breath and on the same reasoning is unjustified in taking a stand directing the Board to implement a Scheme which is violative of its own Government Order made applicable to all autonomous institutions.

54. No illegality, infirmity or jurisdictional error has been pointed out by the learned Standing Counsel in the Regulations, 2013, despite repeated opportunity.

55. Having due regard to the facts and circumstances of the case and the provisions of Act, 1964, the impugned order 8 January 2016 and 16 February 2018 passed by the State Government and the consequential order dated 19 March 2018 passed by t he Board, is set aside and quashed. The Board is directed to implement the Pension/Gratuity Scheme in terms of Regulations, 2013, within eight weeks from the date of filing of certified copy of this order.

56. The writ petition is allowed.

57. No cost.

A. U.P. Higher Judicial Service Rules, 1975 - Rules 3(b)-12-Notification dated 04.10.2012 by Ministry of Personnel Public Grievance of Pension - The Government competent to notify the age relaxation under Rule 12 is the Govt. of U.P. and not Union Government-Notification issued by the Central Government providing for age relaxation to Ex-Serviceman is not applicable to the recruitment made under the aforesaid Rules, which refer to the Govt. of U.P. (Para 8)

Writ Petition dismissed (E-4)

Hon'ble Saral Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Narendra Pratap Singh, learned counsel for the petitioner and Sri Ashish Mishra, learned counsel appearing for the respondents.

2. The petitioner by means of this writ petition is seeking a direction to provisionally permit him to appear in the U.P. Higher Judicial Service, 2018 Part-III by giving 5 years of age relaxation to him as an Ex-Serviceman as is being provided to the SC, ST and OBC candidates.

3. In this regard Rule 12 of the U.P. Higher Judicial Service Rules, 1975 is relevant which is reproduced herein below for the sake of convenience: -

"12. Age-A candidate for direct recruitment must have attained the age of 35 years and must not have attained the age of 45 years on the first day of January next following the year in which the notice inviting applications is published;

Provided that the upper age limit shall be higher by three years in case of candidates belonging to Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes and such other categories as may be notified by the Government from time to time."

4. A plain reading of the aforesaid Rule reveals that the maximum age limit for appearing in the Higher Judicial Service is 45 years for general category of candidates as on the first day of January next following the year in which the notice inviting applications is published. The said age limit has been relaxed by 3 years only for SC and ST candidates.

5. There is no notification of the State Government providing any age relaxation for any other category of candidates much less the Ex-Serviceman.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner submits that the Ministry of Personnel Public Grievance of Pension vide notification dated 4th October 2012 has provided for age relaxation for Ex-Serviceman.

7. The aforesaid notification is not in respect any service of the State Government. The Government competent to notify the age relaxation under Rule 12 is the Government of U.P.

8. The definition of the Government as provided in Rule 3(b) of the Rules refers to the Government of U.P., and not to the Union Government. Therefore, notification issued by the Central Government providing for age relaxation to Ex-Serviceman is not applicable to the recruitment made under the U.P. Higher Judicial Service Rules, 1975.

9. In view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances, we find no merit in the petition and the same is dismissed.

Versus
State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioners:
Sri Deepak Kumar Jaiswal, Sri Ajay Singh Yadav, Sri Prashant Mishra, Sri Tarun Agrawal, Sri Venu Gopal.

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C., Sri Hrithudhwaj Pratap Shahi, Sri M.M. Sahai, Sri Samarath Singh, Sri Sankalp Narain.

A. Police Act, 1861- Sections 2, 46(2)(c), 46(3), U.P. Sub Inspector and Inspector (Civil Police) Service (First Amendment) Rules, 2015- Rules 8, 15(a), 15(b), 15(c), 15(d), 15(e), 15(f); Notifications dated 17.06.2016 and 28.06.2017- Petition allowed while answering the following questions:

1) Whether the Selection Board transgressed its authority to alter/substitute the eligibility criteria (50 % marks) mandated in Rule 15(b) by normalized score to non-suit, all such candidates from the recruitment process who obtained 50% marks and above.

2) The scope of judicial review of the Standardized Equitable percentile Method adopted by the Selection Board. (Para 64)

B. It is the rule-making authority to prescribe the mode of selection and minimum qualification for any recruitment-The Courts and Tribunals can neither prescribe the qualifications nor entrench upon the powers of the executive so long as the rule prescribing the qualification are not violative of any provisions of the Constitution, statute and rules. 50% marks should not be read to include the normalized percentile score. (Para 74)

C. The rule making authority upon prescribing the eligibility criteria, conferred limited power upon the Selection Board to determine the detailed procedure of written examination- Selection Board lacks inherent jurisdiction to entrench upon the eligibility criteria- It violated Rule 15(b) and exceeded its authority and power by applying the normalized score and not the raw marks to determine the eligibility of the candidates while preparing the select list. (Para 79, 92, 93, 94 to 103)

D. The word "marks" used in Sub- clause (b) and (e) of Rule 15, has different connotation- Sub- clause (b) refers to 'marks' prescribed by the rule for eligibility purpose, whereas, Sub-clause (e) refers to marks/score obtained upon evaluation upon normalization of the marks referred to in Sub-clause (b) for the purpose of making the select list in the order of merit. (Para 88 & 89)

E. Percentile and Percentage are two different concepts- The percentage score reflects how well the student did in the exam itself, the percentile score reflects how well he did in comparison to other students- Percentile rank would, therefore, mean percentage of scores that fall at or below a given score. (Para 108)

F. The appropriate method to bring about uniformity in evaluation is left to the examining authorities and not subject to judicial review until it is shown that the exercise of authority was mala fide, violative of the statutory provision or the method had resulted in absurd results rendering the entire selection manifestly arbitrary. (Para 119)

Petition for quashing of select list dated 28.02.2019, derived by application of Standardized Equi-percentile Method.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sunita Agarwal, J. & Hon'ble Suneet Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Sri Radha Kant Ojha Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Shivendu Ojha, Sri Ashok Khare Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Siddharth Khare, Sri Shashi Nandan Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Udayan Nandan, Sri Tarun Agrawal, Sri Satyendra Tripathi and Ms. Shreya Gupta, learned counsels for the petitioners at length. All other counsels appearing for the petitioners in the writ petitions tagged with this bunch have adopted the arguments extended by the above noted counsels.

2. Sri Manish Goyal learned Additional Advocate General assisted by Sri Vikram Bahadur Yadav learned Standing Counsel has been heard on behalf of the State-respondents and the U.P. Police Recruitment and Promotion Board1. Sri Sankalp Narain learned Advocate has extended his arguments on behalf of the selected candidates, private-respondent Nos.4 to 23, in the leading writ petition.

3. These writ petitions have been filed by the candidates who had obtained 50% marks in each section/subject in the online written examination held in multiple shifts between 12.12.2017 and 23.12.2017. The facts relevant to appreciate the controversy at hands are that a notification dated 17.06.2016 was issued by the third respondent namely the Additional Secretary (Recruitment), Uttar Pradesh Police Recruitment & Promotion

Board, Lucknow (Selection Board) advertising 2707 posts of Sub Inspector (Civil Police), Platoon Commander P.A.C. and Fire Brigade Second Officer in the pay scale/pay band/9300-34800 and grade pay Rs. 4200. The recruitment was to be made on the basis of online written examination of one question paper (total 400 marks) comprising of four sections/subjects of 100 marks each, named as:-

Sl No.	Subjects	Maximum marks
1.	General Hindi	100 marks
2.	Basic Law/Constitution/General Knowledge	100 marks
3.	Numerical and Mental Ability Test	100 marks
4.	Mental Aptitude Test/I.Q. Test/Reasoning.	100 marks

4. Before conducting the written examination, in order to provide method and modalities of the selection process, a notification dated 28.06.2017 was issued by the Selection Board in continuation of the advertisement notification dated 17.06.2016. The aforesaid notification provides that online applications were invited for filling up total 2707 vacancies of Sub Inspector, Civil Police (Male and Female), Platoon Commander and Fire Service Second Officer whereunder total 6,30,926 applications had been received. Looking at the huge number of applicants, the Board had resolved to hold written examination in multiple shifts which would require preparation of different sets of examination papers. As there was possibility of variation in the difficulty level of the questions papers, it had decided that for preparation of merit list of successful candidates, the marks obtained by the candidate papers/subjects wise would be normalized by using "Standardized Equi-percentile Method" in the same line as adopted in M.A.H, M.B.A/M.M.S, C.E.T 2015 examination. The notification further states that the questions papers would be of 160 multiple choice questions carrying total 400 marks. Each section/subject comprised of 40 questions carrying maximum 100 marks; 2.50 marks allocated for each right answer. There was no negative marking for the wrong answer. It was further notified that the candidates who failed to obtain 50% marks in each subject would not be eligible for recruitment.

5. The recruitment to the posts in question is governed by the U.P. Sub Inspector and Inspector (Civil Police) Service (First Amendment) Rules' 20152, whereunder Rule 15 provides for detail procedure for direct recruitment to the post of Sub Inspector. The said rules have been framed in exercise of powers under clause (c) of sub-section (2) of Section 46 read with sub-section (3) of the said section and Section 2 of the Police Act' 1861 by the Governor to regulate the selection, promotion, training, appointment and other service conditions such as seniority and confirmation etc. of Sub Inspectors and Inspectors of Civil Police in U.P. Police Force notified on August 19, 2015 and had been amended with effect from the 3rd December, 2015, the date of publication of the First amendment Rules' 2015.

6. On the factual aspects of the selection, it is contended by the learned Advocates for the petitioners that total approx 11000 and odd candidates were called to participate in the "Physical Standard Test" and "Physical Efficiency Test" as per Rule 15 (c) and 15 (d) of the Recruitment Rues. They include all those candidates who had obtained 50% or more marks (Raw marks or actual marks) in the written examination and also those who had obtained 50% or more marks as per "normalized score", (the marks calculated by the Selection Board by using "Standardized Equi-percentile Method"). All the petitioners herein stated to have cleared both the subsequent stages of recruitment of "Physical Standard Test" as per clause (c) of Rule' 15 and Physical Efficiency Test {(as per Rule 15 (d)} and had obtained 50% or more than the actual/raw marks in each subject of the question paper. It was further stated that they had been excluded from the final select list i.e. inter-se merit list of the candidates selected for appointment prepared under Rule 15 (e) of the Recruitment Rules, on the ground that they obtained less than 50% "normalized score" derived by using Standardized Equi-percentile Method.

7. As per the "Statistics" provided by both the counsels for the petitioners and the selection Board, out of total 11,741 candidates notified to participate in the subsequent stages of selection i.e. "scrutiny of document and Physical Standard Test" and "Physical Efficiency Test", 5461 candidates were those who had obtained 50% of actual/raw marks in the written examination and 5713 candidates were those who obtained 50% "normalized score". Total 8877 candidates had qualified all the stages, which included 4334 candidates who obtained 50% or more actual/raw marks and 4543 candidates who obtained 50% or more normalized score. Out of 4543 candidates who had obtained 50% normalized score, 3457 candidates had been selected and sent for training. We are also informed that all selected candidates are under going training and as on date no-one has been appointed.

8. The notification declaring final result was displayed on 28.02.2019 on the website of the Board which comprised of 8 lists, detail of which is enumerated as under:-

"(i) List 1- List of 2181 selected candidates for the post of Sub Inspector (Civil Police), Platoon Commander PAC and Fireman Second Officer.

(ii) List 2- A joint merit list of 2181 selected candidates for Sub Inspector (Police), Platoon Commander PAC and Fireman Second Officer.

(iii) List 3- A joint merit list of 2181 selected candidates for Sub Inspector (Civil Police), Platoon Commander PAC and Fireman - Second Officer categories.

(iv) List 4- A list of 1943 candidates selected for Sub Inspector (Civil Police).

(v) List 5 - 162 candidate selected for Platoon Commander PAC.

(vi) List 6- List of 76 officers selected for Fireman second officer.

(vii) List 7- List of non selected candidates.

(viii) List 8 - List of candidates declared unsuccessful in the written examination."

9. The petitioners herein have been included in the List 8 i.e. the list of candidates who had been declared unsuccessful in the written examination. At that stage, writ petitions were filed by the candidates who had been placed in the List 8 seeking for quashing of the said list as also the notification dated 28.06.2017 issued by the Selection Board notifying that the Selection Board shall adopt normalization procedure in preparation of the merit list. In some of the writ petitions in this bunch, the entire final select list dated 28.02.2019 is also subject matter of challenge.

10. The leading Writ Petition No.23733 of 2018 was, however, filed in the month of October 2018 before declaration of the final result wherein the grievances of the petitioners initially was that the Selection Board had wrongly applied the normalization process i.e. Standardized Equi-percentile Method by issuing call letters to all those candidates who had not obtained 50% or more (Raw/Actual score) in each four subjects and scored 50% (normalized marks derived by applying Standardized Equi-percentile Method) to appear in the "Physical Standard/Efficiency Test" held in the month of June and July 2018.

11. It appears that some of the petitioners before the Lucknow Bench had approached the Supreme Court in (Manish Kumar Yadav Vs. State of U.P. & others)3 challenging the order of the Division Bench dated 27.05.2019 leaving it open for the Selection Board to proceed with the appointment as per the final select list dated 28.02.2019, subject to the condition that the selected candidates shall not claim any lien or right over the appointment and their appointment shall be subject to the final outcome of the pending writ petition, wherein the following order dated 12.06.2019 was passed:-

"We do not find any cogent grounds to interfere with the order of the Division Bench impugned. The selected candidates have given an undertaking that they shall not claim any lien or right over the appointments which shall be subject to the result of the writ petition. The special leave petition is not entertained.

We, however, request the Chief Justice of the High Court to constitute a special Division Bench to expeditiously hear the writ petition on day-to-day basis without granting unnecessary adjournments and to dispose of the writ petition as expeditiously as possible preferably within thirty days form the date of constitution of the Bench.

The special leave petition and pending applications are accordingly disposed of."

12. In pursuance of the said order, on the application moved by the learned Advocates appearing for the petitioners dated 07.07.2019, this Special Division Bench has been constituted by Hon'ble the Chief Justice by the order dated 15.07.2019. The matter was placed before this Bench on 02.08.2019 with the office report dated 01.08.2019 alongwith all connected writ petitions pending at Allahabad High Court. The arguments of learned Advocates for the petitioners commenced on the said date i.e. on 02.08.2019 itself, but could not be concluded and as such the matter was fixed for 06.08.2019 in the additional cause list. Further hearing was resumed on 19.08.2019 and continued on day-to-day basis uptil 22.08.2019.

13. The arguments of learned Additional Advocate General was heard and concluded on 26.08.2019 and the counsel for the private respondent commenced his arguments on that date itself. The matter was posted on 28.08.2019 for further hearing, but could not be taken uptill 04.09.2019 because of the strike observed by the lawyers of this Court. The arguments of Sri Sankalp Narain learned Advocate for the private-respondent concluded today. No other counsel had appeared on behalf of the private-respondents in any of the connected matters.

14. To summarise the arguments of the learned counsels for both sides, Sri R.K. Ojha learned Senior Advocate appearing for the petitioners submits that the process of normalization adopted by the respondents for preparation of the eligibility list is not contemplated in the Recruitment Rules. Even the Selection Board while issuing notification dated 17.06.2016 in Clause 4.1 and 4.2 thereunder under provided that selection would be made on the criteria of 50% marks being the qualifying marks in the written examination and select list calling the candidates for participation in the process of scrutiny of documents and Physical Standard test would be drawn on the said criteria.

15. In the notification dated 28.06.2017 (which was issued in Hindi), it was categorically provided that the candidates who did not attain 50% marks would be disqualified and would not be treated as eligible candidates. In paragraph no.'4' of the said notification it was provided that normalisation of the total marks obtained by the candidates taking the question paper as one unit would be made by applying Equi Percentile method for the purpose of drawing inter-se merit of the selected candidates. The Selection Board had committed illegality in drawing the final merit list by exclusion of all those candidates who did not attain 50% normalized marks (by applying the Equi-percentile Method) in each subject though they attained 50% actual/raw marks in each four subjects of the question paper for written examination and, thus, were qualified to be included in the list of eligible candidates for participation in the further stage of "Physical test and scrutiny of document" as per the Rule 15 (c) of the Recruitment Rules. The criteria of selection had been changed during the course of the selection process which was not permissible in view of the settled legal proposition that rules of the game cannot be changed during mid of the game.

16. Sri Ashok Khare learned Senior Advocate for the petitioners adding to the above contentions submits that minimum qualifying marks has been provided in the statute. The Equi-percentile Method only denotes inter-se ranking of the candidates and cannot be confused with the "qualifying marks" to be attained by a candidate for being included within the zone of consideration. The question paper consisted of multiple-choice questions to be evaluated by the computerized scanner. There was no examiner variability nor there was any optional paper in the main written examination. The syllabus displayed by the Board on its Website appended as Schedule-I to the advertisement notification dated 17.06.2016 was uniform for preparation of the question papers comprising of all compulsory subjects. The question papers were set up from the various topics provided in the common syllabus for the subject Hindi, Legal/General Knowledge, Numerical/Mental Ability, I.Q and reasoning. There was, therefore, no possibility of variation in the difficulty level of the question papers and, even if this was so, moderation of question papers itself was required to be done by the Selection Board. Looking to the pattern of examination which was Online test of multiple-choice questions, it cannot be said that the candidates of different batches were required to undertake the examination at different difficulty levels. In-fact the syllabus of the examination provided by the Selection Board sets common difficulty level of the questions from the entire syllabus uniformly for all candidates of different batches.

17. Placing three different sets of questions papers filed with the Compilation provided by the learned Senior Advocate, it is contended that there was no justification for adoption of normalization process (Equi-percentile Method) for preparation of list of "eligible candidates". The method adopted by the Selection Board was contrary to the Recruitment Rules which provides the entire scheme for evaluation of the question papers of written examination for the purpose of preparation of the merit list. Reliance has been placed upon the judgement of the Supreme Court in Sanjay Singh and another. Vs. U.P. Public Service Commission, Allahabad and another4, to submit that the "scaling system" adopted by the Selection Board by normalization of actual/raw marks obtained by the candidates in the written examination was not permitted being contrary to scheme of the Recruitment Rules.

18. It is pointed out that the Supreme Court while answering the question no.(iii) in Sanjay Singh2 had held that the "scaling score" or "scaling mark" cannot be considered to be "marks awarded to the candidates in the written examination" and, thus, concluded that scaling violated the recruitment rules therein.

19. The Recruitment Rules provided for preparation of merit list on the basis of "marks awarded to the candidates in the written examination" which can only be read as "percentage of marks" awarded on the answer scripts evaluated by computerized scanner. Appendix-'3' which provided syllabus for the written examination and mode & method thereof, attached to the original Recruitment Rule' 2015 had been deleted w.e.f. 03.11.2015 with the First amendment of the Recruitment Rules, but the legislature consciously has retained Rule 15 (b) of the Recruitment Rules providing maximum marks in each of the four subjects of the written examination and the minimum passing percentage. The legislative intent to provide the qualifying criteria is explicitly clear. Exclusion from the zone of consideration of the candidates who had scored 50% or more marks in each of the four subjects of the question papers (qualified under the rules), therefore, was not permitted.

20. Reliance is placed on the judgement of the Supreme Court in State of Kerala Vs. Kumari T.P. Roshana & another5 to submit that it was held therein that minor differences in the marks obtained by the candidates in the qualifying examination conducted by different Universities with different standard, question papers and set of examiners are inconsequential.

21. Sri Tarun Agrawal learned Counsel urged that the percentage is a measure of the absolute/raw marks obtained by a candidate on a scale of 100 which is calculated by the formula= (marks obtained upon/total marks) x 100. Whereas 'percentile' is the relative rank of the candidate within his group which can be seen from the formula= (total number of students)-of the candidates rank)/(total number of students-1).

22. "Hundred (100) percentile" means the candidate is above 99% candidates who had appeared in the test in the same batch or in other words it can be understood as that there are 0% candidates above him in his batch. Similarly, 90% percentile means the candidate is above 90% candidates or 10% candidates are above him. The 'percentile' thus, denotes the relative standing of a candidate vis-a-vis other candidates in his group or batch.

23. The 'Standardized Equi-percentile Method' which is applied by a standard formula {"Y=Y1+((Y2-Y1))/((X2-X1))x(X-X1)"}, has been derived to give level playing field to the candidates of different group or batches, looking to the difference in the standard of papers, for drawing the inter-se merit of all candidates for final selection. A batch where maximum number of students undertook examination if taken as the 'reference batch' or 'base batch'; by using both 'marks' and 'percentile' of the candidates of 'reference batch' in comparison to the candidates of other batches the normalized score i.e. value of 'Y' of candidates of those batches is obtained.

24. The values being used in the aforesaid formula are:-

- Y1= marks corresponding to immediate lower percentile of ref.batch
- Y2= marks corresponding to immediate upper percentile of ref. batch
- X2= immediate upper percentile of ref. batch
- X1= immediate lower percentile of ref. batch
- X= percentile of the candidate of the target batch
- Y= normalized score of the candidate of the target batch

25. The value of "Y", i.e. 'normalized mark', thus, only denotes the position or placement or ranking of the candidates of different batches in relation to the 'reference batch' or 'base batch', as 'Y-1' and 'Y-2' in the formula are the marks corresponding to the immediate 'lower and upper percentile' of the 'reference batch' and 'X-1' and 'X-2' are immediate 'lower and upper percentile' of 'reference batch'; whereas 'X' is the percentile of the candidate concerned whose marks are to be normalized by finding the value of "Y".

26. It is contended by the learned Counsel that Equi-percentile Method based on the doctrine of level playing field, by using both 'raw marks' and 'percentile' of the candidates of the reference batch and 'percentile' of the candidates of other batches for finding the value of "Y" (normalized marks), places the candidates of other batches somewhere in between the candidates of the reference batch so as to give them their position in the common inter-se merit list. The 'normalized marks' are, thus, used for the purpose of preparation of inter-se merit of the candidates appearing in multiple batches with different sets of question papers in one competitive examination, tested on different difficulty level.

27. From the prospectus of Medical Entrance Test conducted by AIIMS, New Delhi, it is demonstrated that it was notified therein for stage 2, the candidate who had obtained "50% percentile" or above in the written examination (at stage no.1) would be called. The prospectus of AIIMS, New Delhi, January' 2018 of a fellowship programme, has been placed before us to submit that 'percentile' is the score based on relative performance of the candidates who appeared in the examination.

28. It is further contended that even the process of normalization as adopted in M.A.H, M.B.A, M.M.S, CET 2015 which has been taken as a model for adopting normalization in the examination-in-question, provides that Equi-percentile Method would be applied at the time of preparation of merit list for admission.

29. It is contended that the eligibility list as per Rule 15 (b) can only be prepared on the basis of raw/actual marks of the candidates in the written examination. As there is no indication in the rule that normalized marks will be used as "qualifying marks" to determine "eligibility of candidates", there is inherent flaw in the method adopted by the respondent. The normalized marks cannot be treated either as percentile (in their own batch) or actual or raw marks of the candidates.

30. By taking clue from a judgement of the High Court of Rajasthan in Sarita Naushad Vs. R.P.S.C6, it is contended that in the instant matter, scaling formula has resulted in unjust, unreasonable, irrational and arbitrary increase and decrease of marks to the detriment of the petitioners vis-a-vis persons who had been selected on the basis of normalized marks. The candidates who were not qualified as per the actual marks obtained were not entitled to be declared qualified as per the scaled marks or normalized marks.

31. The challenge to the said judgement was turned down by the Supreme Court in Rajasthan Public Service Commission Vs. Balveer Singh Jat & others7, noticing that the method of scaling for the purpose of assessment of answer sheets adopted by Rajasthan Public Service Commission for calling the candidates for interview was bad.

32. In order to substantiate his above submissions, Sri Agrawal has placed judgement of the Supreme Court in Mahinder Kumar & others Vs. High Court of Madhya Pradesh8. (Emphasis was laid to paragraphs nos.13 to 17, 19 to 24, 40, 50, 51, 53 & 55). It is contended that the normalized marks were not the basis therein for determining eligibility of the candidates to participate in the viva-voce or interview in the scheme of the Recruitment Rules namely Madhya Pradesh Uchchtar Nyayik Seva (Bharti Tatha Seva Sharten) Rules' 1994 amended in the year 2005.

33. Sri Shashi Nandan learned Senior Counsel appearing for the petitioners in one of the connected writ petition, however, vehemently contends that under the scheme of the Recruitment Rules, 15(b) & (e), there was no room for any deviation in the procedure of evaluation of performance of the candidate in the written examination. The role of the Selection Board was specified as to how it will prepare the select list of qualified candidates. It was absolutely beyond the jurisdiction of the Selection Board to prescribe or add any procedure for selection. The first part of Rule 15(b) is specific with regard to the written examination, the type of question paper, the maximum number of marks assigned to each subject or section of the question papers and the requirement that the candidates have to obtain '50% marks' in each of the four subjects for being eligible for recruitment. Only option given to the Selection Board was to decide the syllabus of the examination and the mode and manner in which the written examination was to be conducted. The words used in the latter part of clause (b) of Rule 15 "detail procedure for written examination shall be determined by the Selection Board" and will be displayed on its website does not include the procedure for evaluation for selection. Even Rule 15(e) states that final merit list shall be determined on the basis of marks obtained by each of the candidates in the written examination under clause (b) of the said rule. It was, therefore, not open for the Selection Board to adopt any normalization process or Equi-percentile Method at all even to draw the final merit list. The process of selection of candidates being enumerated elaborately in the rules will also include the procedure for evaluation of the performance of candidates.

34. For the aforesaid, the whole procedure adopted by the Selection Board in preparation of final select list dated 28.02.2019 is in contravention of the mandatory requirement of the Recruitment Rules. The notification dated 28.06.2017 displayed by the Board on its website is, therefore, liable to be quashed being in violation of the recruitment rules.

35. Learned Senior Counsel referring to Mahinder Kumar7 submits that the said decision fortifies his argument that once the procedure for selection is determined in the Rule, it is not open to the selecting body or agency to deviate from the procedure. The normalization process upheld by the Supreme Court therein was in view of the rules prevailing, wherein the High Court was empowered to formulate its own procedure, which is not so in the present case.

36. Even the brochure of advertisement notification dated 17.06.2016 specified in clause 4-(i) that the candidates not attaining 50% marks in each subject would not be eligible for recruitment. After the notification of the vacancies providing conditions of selection in terms of the rule, it was not open for the Selection Board to adopt any other method for preparation of the merit list.

37. Sri Satendra Tirpathi learned Advocate for the petitioners adopting the arguments of Sri Ashok Khare and Sri R.K. Ojha learned Senior Counsel urged that the respondent have misconstrued the normalized marks as percentage, to decide cut-off marks for preparation of list of qualifying candidates. Even otherwise, as per the Selection Board's notification dated 28.06.2017, the normalized marks could be worked out only on the total marks obtained by a candidate in the question papers taken as a unit and not for each section/subject. The petitioners could not be declared failed for having not obtained normalized marks in anyone of the four sections. Reliance is placed on the judgement of the Supreme Court in U.P.S.C Vs. S. Thiagarjan & others9 and State of Madhya Pradesh and others vs. Sanjay Kumar Pathak and others10 to submit that meritorious candidates cannot be left out from the select list and the selection process marred by arbitrariness and unfairness cannot be allowed to stand. The selected candidates do not have any legal right merely for the fact that their names were found in the select list as no indefeasible right for appointment accrue in their favour.

38. Ms. Shreya Gupta learned counsel for the petitioners assailing the notification dated 28.03.2019 for applying Standardized Equi-percentile Method for normalization of marks obtained by the candidates in the written examination submit that the said method was not in consonance of the Recruitment Rules. The Selection Board's notification dated 28.03.2019 deviating from the procedure of selection is in transgression of its delegated power under the Recruitment Rules. It is settled that if a particular field is occupied by a statutory legislation, there is no scope for any addition or subtraction by any subordinate legislation.

39. She further proceeded to challenge the validity of clause 15 (f) of the first Amendment Rules' 2015 which provides that the candidates whose names are in the select list prepared as clause (e) of the Rule 15, if found unsuccessful in the medical examination conducted by a Board under the Rules shall be declared unfit by the appointing authority, and the vacancies occurred shall be carried forward for next selection.

40. Contention is that the medical examination of the selected candidates is only one of the four stages of selection; first stage being written examination under Rule 15(b); second scrutiny of documents and Physical Standard Test as per clause (c) of Rule 15; third Physical Efficiency Test as per clause (d) of Rule 15 and fourth and last stage is medical test as per clause (f) of Rule 15. Till medical test is conducted, the process of selection is not over and as such the vacancy occurred on account of any candidate having been found unsuccessful in the medical test will be the existing vacancy of the same selection. The principle of carry forward of the vacancy for the next recruitment year can only be related to the vacancies pertaining to Scheduled Caste, Scheduled Tribes and Women, that too due to unavailability of suitable candidates of that category.

41. The State of U.P. had given an undertaking to the Supreme Court in Manish Kumar Yadav1 on an affidavit that all existing vacancies to the post of Constable and Sub Inspector of police will be filled up within the time lines given therein and in case of breach of the same, the officers of the State would be personally liable. As many as 821 vacancies in total are proposed to be carried forward which include Scheduled Caste, Scheduled Tribes & women and also include vacancies occurred on account of exclusion of those candidates who could not qualify the medical test. It is thus, vehemently contended that the vacancies occurred on account of exclusion of the candidates failing in the medical test, from the final select list under Clause (e) of Rule 15, are to be filled by placement of the candidates from list-7 (of non-selected candidates) by bringing down the cut off marks.

42. With the above contentions, the submissions of learned Advocates appearing for the petitioners have been concluded. All other Advocates appearing for the petitioners in this bunch have either adopted the arguments noted above or reiterated the same. We, therefore, need not burden this judgement with their arguments separately.

43. Sri Manish Goyal learned Additional Advocate General on behalf of the State-respondents and the Selection Board, in reply to the arguments advanced by the learned counsels for the petitioners and to justify the process of normalization adopted by the Selection Board made the following submissions:-

44. The first submission is that the normalization is an universally approved standard method applicable in case of variable difficulty level of question papers and, therefore, application thereof was well within power of evaluation of the Selection Board. Placing the affidavit dated 12.04.2019 filed on behalf of the respondent Nos.2 & 3, it is contended that normalized marks "Y" were derived after applying the Equi Percentile formula on fraction of 100 and as such denote percentage and not percentile. The said formula was worked out by the agency which had conducted the examination and prepared result for the Selection Board. The experts/statistician of the company had applied Equi-percentile Method in co-ordination with and under the instructions of the Selection Board. It is wrong to assert that normalized marks achieved by the Equi-percentile Method and percentile are one and the same thing. Ultimate value of "Y" being value out of '100' is percentage marks of the candidates. The equation of Equi Percentile formula re-written on fraction of 100 at page no.'10' (Annexure no.2 of the said affidavit) is noted hereunder:-

$$\text{-----} \times 100 - \text{-----} \times 100 \quad Ncb \qquad Nbb$$
$$Nbb \qquad Nbb$$

45. It is then contended that looking to the huge number of applicants more than 6 lacs, the Selection Board had decided to adopt Equi-percentile Method to normalize the marks of candidates who appeared in multiple batches with different sets of question papers as there was no other method to keep uniformity in the question papers. The scaling method is well accepted norm to adjudge the merit and suitability of the candidates in a public examination, in as much as, the very concept of examination presumes prescription of same bench-mark for all candidates. The adoption of normalization process in order to streamline the whole selection in a fair and just manner as has been approved by the Supreme Court in Mahinder Kumar7, Sunil Kumar & others Vs. Bihar Public Service Commission & others11 & Disha Panchal & others Vs. Union of India the Secrtary & other with connected matters12.

46. Sri Goyal by reading different clauses of Rule 15 submits that the entire scheme of the Rules gives ample power to the Selection Board to evaluate the performance of the candidates for the purpose of preparation of the merit list. As the power of selection was given to the Selection Board, modalities thereof could be adopted by the Selection Board by moulding the procedure. Rule nowhere restricts the power of the Selection Board to decide eligibility as 50% criteria of marks, as latter part of Rule 15(b) cannot be read in isolation. Merit list of the qualifying candidates had to be prepared at the stage of second part of Rule 15 (b) itself; i.e., at the time of preparation of result of the written examination, as only the scores in the written examination were to used for preparation of the select list contemplated as final list in Rule 15 (e) of the Recruitment Board, from amongst those candidates who had qualified all subsequent stages of selection.

47. The Recruitment Rule contains adequate flexibility and is not in rigid framework as is sought to be contended by Sri Shashi Nandan learned Senior Advocate and other counsels for the petitioners. It cannot be accepted that there was no scope at all for application of normalization method or the power of the Selection Board was limited in this respect. The action of the Selection Board in issuance of the notification dated 28.06.2017 intimating its decision to adopt normalization procedure was well within the four corners of the statutory rules.

48. It is vehemently argued that the Supreme Court in Mahinder Kumar7 upheld the normalization process with the observation in paragraph no.'37.5' which states that the expression "evaluation" would take into its folds the minimum marks to be scored, the manner in which the evaluation is to be made and in the event of any requirement, to equalise the merits of the candidates in written examination and follow any appropriate procedure in consonance with law, in order to ultimately arrive at a fair process by which the candidate can be called for interview, based on the evaluation of the marks in the written examination.

49. Submission is that no-one has challenged the adoption or application of the said method. Only grievance is about the stage when it could be applied. On harmonious construction of Rule 15 (b) and 15 (e), the expression "50% marks" be read as "normalized marks", relative interpretation is to be given to normalized marks being equal to the qualifying marks, more-so when normalized marks also denote percentage having been calculated on the scale of 100, as per the equalise formula adopted by the expert agency in consultation with the Selection Board. The expression "more than one day in different shifts with separate question papers" has to be read positively to hold that the Selection Board was empowered to adopt "process of evaluation" for assessment of performance of the candidates in the written examination as "the pattern of evaluation has to be in consonance with the pattern of the examination".

50. To substantiate the plea of purposive and harmonious construction of the statutory Rule 15 (b) read with 15(e), reliance is placed upon the judgement of the Supreme Court in Paradise Printers & others Vs. Union Territory of Chandigarh & other13; D. Saibaba Vs. Bar Council of India & another14; Tirath Singh Vs. Bachittar Singh & others15 & Rakesh Wadhawan & others Vs. Jagdamba Industrial Corporation & others16.

51. He vehemently urged that the reliance placed on the decision in Sanjay Singh2 is misplaced in view of the Supreme Court decision in Sunil Kumar & others10 wherein it is clarified that Sanjay Singh2 did not lay down any binding principle of law or directions or even guidelines with regard to the holding of public examination; evaluation of papers and declaration of results by the examining body. Emphasis was laid on the observations in paragraph No.'17' of Sunil Kumar & others10 to submit that holding of public examination is a complex task and the procedure for preparation of syllabus, evaluation of answer papers and preparation of result are the areas which have to be left to the expert bodies in the field and the scope of judicial review is limited to instances of arbitrary or malafide exercise of power. No such grounds have been taken by the petitioners in their efforts to challenge the select list. It is contended that the correctness of a statistical equation is within the domain of expert and normalized score achieved therefrom cannot be said to be invalid. (Reference Rutvj Waze & another Vs. Union of India & others17).

52. It is lastly contended that the decision of the Board to adopt normalization method for preparation of merit list was notified vide notification dated 28.06.2017 displayed on its website. The candidates being fully aware had participated in the selection without raising any dispute. Now having been declared unsuccessful, they cannot be permitted to challenge the procedure. Reliance is placed on the decisions of the Supreme Court in K.H. Siraj Vs. High Court of Kerala & others18; D. Saroj Kumari Vs. R. Helen Thilakom & others19; Ashok Kumar & another Vs. State of U.P. & others20 , Union of India & others Vs. C. Girija & others21.

53. Further that mere participation in different stages of selection does not vest any right in the candidates much less a legitimate expectation to be included in the final list. Reference Union Public Service Commission Vs. S. Thiagarajan & others22 & Sanjay Kumar Pathak9.

54. Any mistake in the process of the selection does not make the entire selection invalid. Reference Man Singh Vs. Commissioner, Garhwal Mandal Pauri & others23.

55. In the end, it is contended that the selected candidates have not been put to notice in various writ petitions connected with this bunch. The relief as prayed by the petitioners, therefore, cannot be granted in absence of the affected persons being party.

56. Sri Sankalp Narain learned Advocate for the selected candidates, private-respondents, impleaded in the leading Writ Petition No.23733 of 2018 submits that to apply normalization process the notification was issued by the Selection Board and all the lists from 'list-1 to list-8' displayed at the website on 28.02.2019. Prior to the declaration of final result, a Writ Petition No. 16160 of 2018 was filed by some candidates with the prayer that the Selection Board be directed to adopt normalization method as notified and the said writ petition had been rendered infructuous with the declaration of the final result. It is contended that due to variance of question papers individual performance of the candidates varied in different batches. More than 6 lacs candidates had participated in the selection and unless and until normalization was adopted at the stage of Rule 15 (b), i.e; for preparation of eligibility list for calling the candidates for further process of selection, the entire object of adoption of the normalization process would be negated. The candidates who were required to answer tough question papers cannot be asked to compete with the candidates who answered an easy question paper. Variance in the question papers in different shifts had an impact on the overall assessment of performance of the candidates which was ruled out by the Selection Board by applying normalization at the stage of preparation of eligibility list under Rule 15(b).

57. The marks obtained in the written examination under both Rule 15(b) and (e) should be read as "normalized marks" as Rule 15 (e) itself contemplates for preparation of merit list on the basis of marks obtained by the candidates in the written examination. The stages of application of Equi-percentile Method cannot be different for the language employed in Rule 15(b) and 15(e). The methodology of equalizing marks obtained in the written examination had to be adopted at the threshold.

58. In rejoinder, Sri Ashok Khare Senior learned Counsel has placed the judgement of the Supreme Court in Umesh Chandra Shukla Vs. Union of India & others24, to state that it was held therein that the examining body cannot deviate from the Recruitment Rules while drawing the merit list so as to include ineligible candidates in the list of qualified candidates to appear at the viva-voce itself. With reference to Dr. Krushna Chandra Sahu and others Vs. State of Orissa and others25, it is contended that the Selection Board does not have inherent jurisdiction to lay down the norms for selection or to adopt its own standard in addition to what is prescribed under the Rules, as it would amount to legislating a rule of selection, which is beyond its power.

59. Placing Motilal Padampat Sugar Mills Vs. State of U.P.26, it is contended that principle of waiver or estoppel would not be attracted in the instant case, in as much as, the basic requirement for applying the said principle is that the act of waiver must be an intentional act with knowledge. The persons who are said to have been fully informed of their right and have acted with full knowledge of such right can only be said to have intentionally abandoned it. It is contended that the Selection Board did not even adhere to the procedure notified by it in the notification dated 28.06.2017.

60. Placing the judgement of Supreme Court in Veerendra Kumar Gautam & others Vs. Karuna Nidhan Upadhayay27 and the Division Bench of this Court in Karuna Nidhan Upadhya & another Vs. State of U.P. & others28, it was asserted that estoppel and acquiescence by conduct on the principle of waiver have no role where the selection process is marred by glaring illegality in the procedure of selection.

61. Having noted the rival contentions, at length, the submissions of the learned counsel for the petitioners, in brief can be summarized as follows:-

(i) the Selection Board has been conferred limited power under the Recruitment Rules only to determine the procedure of written examination;

(ii) the Selection Board is not vested with the power and authority to determine the procedure of selection which has been prescribed by the rule making authority;

(iii) the eligibility condition of obtaining 50% marks by a candidate is a condition precedent mandated under the Rules, which is not subject to any alteration or substitution by normalized score;

(iv) normalization is a method of evaluation falling within the ambit of written examination and not an eligibility condition, normalized score at the best can be applied for preparing the select list in order of merit;

(v) the Selection Board by eliminating the qualified candidates having scored 50% marks in each subject by applying the normalized score exceeded its power and authority vested by the Recruitment Rules;

62. In rebuttal the submissions on behalf of the respondents, can be briefly summarized as follows:-

(i) the Selection Board is vested with the power and authority to equalize the marks obtained by a candidate in the backdrop of written examinations held on multiple dates/multiple shifts with different papers;

(ii) the Selection Board has inherent power to adopt a fair and just procedure by equalizing the marks to place all the candidates on a level playing ground;

(iii) the Selection Board has power to equalize the eligibility marks (50%) prescribed under the Rules in an examination held in multiple shifts with different standard of papers;

(iv) candidates appearing in difficult papers would be in disadvantageous position as against candidates appearing in relatively easier question papers. The word "marks' used in Sub-clause (b) and (e) of Rule 15 would mean and include normalized marks.

(v) petitioners after participating in the selection process cannot turn around to challenge the same.

63. Rival submissions fall for consideration.

64. The question that arises for our consideration is: (i) whether the Selection Board was within its power and authority in applying the normalized percentile score to determine the eligibility of the candidates or in the alternative whether the Selection Board transgressed its authority to alter/substitute the eligibility criteria (50% marks) mandated in Sub-clause (b) of Rule 15 by normalized score to non-suit, all such candidates from the recruitment process who obtained 50% marks and above; (ii) the scope of judicial review of the Standardized Equitable Percentile Method adopted by the Selection Board.

65. The Selection Board came to be constituted under the Recruitment Rules promulgated by the Governor in exercise of powers under the Police Act, 1861. The Recruitment Rules was notified on 19 August 2014, subsequently, amended on 3 December 2015, in supersession of all existing Rules and Orders, issued in this behalf, with a view to regulating the selection, promotion, training, appointment, determination of seniority and confirmation etc. of Sub-Inspector and Inspector of the Civil Police in Uttar Pradesh Police Force.

66. The scheme for recruitment is provided under the Rule 15 of the Recruitment Rules. The relevant portion of Rule 15, for the purposes of the instant case is extracted:-

Any candidate not satisfied by his Medical Examination, may file an appeal on the day of examination itself. xxxxxxxx The candidates found unsuccessful in Medical Examination shall be declared unfit by the Appointing Authority and such vacancies shall be carried forward for next selection".

(emphasis supplied)

67. The Selection Board issued a notification/advertisement dated 17 June 2016, inviting applications from eligible male/female candidates for following posts:-

Sub-Inspector Civil Police (Male) - 2,400
Platoon Commander (P.A.C.) (Male) – 210
Fire Brigade Section Officer (Male) - 97

Sub-Inspector Civil Police (Female) - 600

68. The advertisement specified that the selections would be made in terms of Recruitment Rules. The candidates were required to submit forms online and take the written examination online. The Selection Board by notification informed that the candidates were required to answer objective type 160 questions divide into four subjects/sections, each carrying 100 marks. Two hours time was prescribed for the examination, each question was of 2.5 marks and there was no provision for negative score. The relevant portion of notification is extracted:-

Sl. No.	Subject	Number of Questions	Maximum Marks	Time
1.	General Hindi	40	100	2.00
2.	Basic Law/Constitution General Knowledge	24 16	100	Composite
3.	Numerical and Mental Eligibility Test	40	100	Time
4.	Mental Aptitude Test/I.Q. Test/Reasoning	40	100
5.	Each Questions 2.50 Marks	Total Questions 160	Total Marks 400	2.00 Hours

69. The candidates were required to obtain 50% marks in each of the four subjects to qualify for the subsequent round of recruitment process i.e. document verification/physical efficiency test. In other words, a candidate failing to obtain 50% marks in any of the subjects would render him/her ineligible to participate in the further selection process.

70. The Selection Board vide notification dated 28 June 2017 disclosed that 6,30,926 application forms were received, consequently, the Selection Board having due regard to the large number of candidates informed the candidates that the online examinations would be conducted on multiple dates in different shifts and in different question papers for each date/shift. Since the level of multiple question papers would vary, accordingly, Normalization based on "MAH-MBA/MMS CET 2015" applying Standardized Equi-Percentile method would be adopted.

71. Emphasis has been placed by the respondents upon paragraph nos. 4 and 9 of the notification to contend that in the backdrop of the Recruitment Rules and the advertisement, the Selection Board by notification dated 28 June 2017, primarily specified that Normalization would be adopted and the raw/actual marks obtained by the candidates would be equalized. In other words, candidates scoring less than 50% of normalized score would not be eligible. Paras 4 and 9 are extracted:

The direct recruitment to the posts of Sub Inspector Civil Police, Platoon Commander, PAC and Fire Officer II is being conducted on the basis of merit in terms of the marks obtained by the candidates successful in the online written examination. In view of the number of candidates, need has arisen for conducting online written examination on more than one date in different shifts with different sets of papers. Question papers of the different shifts shall be different, and keeping in view the possibility of them being not similar, the normalization of the marks obtained by the candidates in different question papers shall be done by the "MAH-MBA/MMS CET 2015" Standardized Equi-percentile method.

9. The candidates who fail to obtain 50 percent marks in each subject shall not be eligible for the recruitment."

(Translation by the Court)

72. Having due regard to the large number of applications received, the Selection Board vide notification dated 28 February 2019, informed the candidates that the written examination would be conducted at 17 districts, on and between 12 December 2017 to 23 December 2017.

73. Petitioners, herein, applied for the post of Sub-Inspector, they appeared and participated in the online written examination conducted by the Selection Board. All of them scored 50% marks in each subject, accordingly, were invited to participate in the next stage of selection process i.e. document verification/physical efficiency test. It is not disputed by the Selection Board that petitioners successfully qualified the physical efficiency test. The Selection Board, however, while declaring the final result (select list) have eliminated the petitioners on the ground that they failed to obtain 50% of the Normalized score. Consequently, petitioners were declared ineligible failing to have obtain the cut of marks prescribed under Sub-clause (b) of the Rule 15 of the Recruitment Rules.

74. It is well settled that it is the rule-making authority to prescribe the mode of selection and minimum qualification for any recruitment. The Courts and tribunals can neither prescribe the qualifications nor entrench upon the powers of the executive so long as the rule prescribing the qualification are not violative of any provisions of the Constitution, statute and rules. It is, therefore, not open to the respondents to contend that "50% marks' should be read to include the normalized percentile score by the Court.

75. In P.U. Joshi and Others vs. Accountant General, Ahmedabad and others29, it was held that Courts or Tribunals should restrain from directing the government/Selection Boards to have a particular method of recruitment or eligibility criterion, it pertains to the field of executive policy and is within the exclusive discretion and jurisdiction of the State.

"10. ... Questions relating to the constitution, pattern, nomenclature of posts, cadres, categories, their creation/abolition, prescription of qualifications and other conditions of service including ....criteria.....pertain to the field of Policy is within the exclusive discretion and jurisdiction of the State, subject, of course, to the limitations or restrictions envisaged in the Constitution of India and it is not for the statutory tribunals, at any rate, to direct the Government to have a particular method of recruitment or eligibility criteria ..... or impose itself by substituting its views for that of the State. Similarly, it is well open and within the competency of the State to change the rules relating to a service and alter or amend and vary by addition/substraction the qualifications, eligibility criteria and other conditions of service ..... from time to time, as the administrative exigencies may need or necessitate." (Refer: V.K. Sood vs. Secretary, Civil Aviation30)"

76. Similarly in Chandigarh Administration vs. Usha Kheterpal Waie and others31, the Supreme Court observed thus:

"22. It is now well settled that it is for the rule-making authority or the appointing authority to prescribe the mode of selection and minimum qualification for any recruitment. The courts and tribunals can neither prescribe the qualifications nor entrench upon the power of the authority concerned so long as the qualifications prescribed by the employer is reasonably relevant and has a rational nexus with the functions and duties attached to the post and are not violative of any provision of the Constitution, statute and rules. [See J. Rangaswamy vs. Govt. of A.P.32 and P.U. Joshi vs. Accountant General33.

77. The Recruitment Rules prescribes the mode of selection. Rule 8 mandates that a candidate for direct recruitment to the post of Sub-Inspector must possess a Bachelor degree from any University established by law in India. The procedure for direct recruitment to the post of Sub-Inspector is provided under Rule 15. Sub-clause (b) of Rule 15 provides that the candidates shall be required to appear in a written examination comprising of 400 marks. The candidates would have to answer objective type question in four subjects of 100 marks each. The Rule further mandates that a candidate "failing to obtain 50% marks' in each of the subjects shall not be "eligible for recruitment'.

78. On a plain reading of Sub-clause (b) of Rule 15, the rule making authority explicitly and clearly mandated that a candidate fulfilling the educational qualification would have to take the written examination, in the event of the candidate "failing to obtain 50% marks' in each subject would not be "eligible' to participate in the subsequent stages of recruitment. The latter part of Sub-clause (b) confers power upon the Selection Board to determine: (i) detail syllabus for the examination; (ii) to conduct written examination on one date in single shift or in more than one shift or on more than one date in different shifts with different question papers; (iii) to determine the procedure for written examination. Sub-clause (c) of Rule 15 provides that candidates found "successful in written examination under sub-clause (b)" shall be required to appear in scrutiny of documents and physical efficiency test.

79. On conjoint reading of Sub-clause (b), in particular, the first part with sub-clause (c), it is evidently clear that the Selection Board has not been conferred power to dilute, alter or prescribe the eligibility of a candidate by substituting the mandated '50% marks' by the 'normalized score' to qualify the candidates for subsequent stages of selection. The rule making authority upon prescribing the eligibility criteria, conferred limited power upon the Selection Board to determine the detailed procedure of written examination. The procedure of selection was prescribed by the rule making authority under Rule 15, however, the Selection Board was conferred limited power to determine the procedure of written examination. In the facts of the instant case, the Selection Board exceeded its authority and power by applying the normalized score and not the raw marks to determine the eligibility of the candidates while preparing the select list. The petitioners, herein, qualified the written examination by scoring '50% marks' in each subject, thereafter, were invited by the Selection Board to participate in the subsequent stages of recruitment i.e. document verification and physical efficiency test, which is of a qualifying nature, no marks are allotted. The Selection Board, however, eliminated the petitioners by applying the normalized score in order to determine the eligibility qualifying marks in contradiction to that mandated under the Rule in gross violation of Sub-clause (b) of Rule 15. The conduct of the Selection Board tantamounts to re-writing/amending the mandatory rule, thereby, vitiating the select list.

80. In Mahinder Kumar7, the issue before the Supreme Court was as to whether the High Court was empowered to formulate its own procedure in the matter of selection for the post of Madhya Pradesh Judicial Services. The ancillary question was, as to whether, the merit list could have been drawn solely based on the written examination marks and interview marks put together, without adopting the normalization process as was done by the High Court, which was not mentioned in the advertisement.

81. Rule 7 of the Madhya Pradesh Uchchtar Nyayik Seva (Bharti Tatha Seva Sharten) Niyam, 1994, which conferred power upon the High Court to specify from time to time "the procedure of selection for direct recruitment and promotion" was considered. In view of the rule, as well as, the prescription contained in the advertisement the High Court resolved that based on the evaluation of written examination papers made by the District Judges, a minimum 35% of marks in respect of SC/ST candidates and 40% of marks in respect of general candidates was required in the first and second papers to qualify for viva voce. Going by the said resolution the evaluation made by the District Judges was to be kept as the basis for ascertaining the marks scored by the candidate, both in reserved category, as well as, in general category in order to become eligible for attending the interview.

82. As per the second resolution, the Selection Committee for the purpose of determining merit of the candidates finally, felt necessary to evaluate the papers of those candidates who were short listed for the purpose of interview by way of common evaluation in which process the marks scored by the candidates in the written examination, would be normalized. The apparent purposes was, having regard to the different yardsticks applied by the District Judge evaluators, to make a further evaluation for the purpose of normalization in order to finalise the selection. After normalization was done, the marks awarded by the common evaluators and marks scored in the viva-voce would be added for the purposes of determination of merit position. In other words, the normalized marks were not the basis for determining the eligibility of the candidates to participate in the viva voce, but were applied for the purpose of determining the inter-se merit position of the candidates.

83. The Court having regard to the statutory prescription and the conditions stipulated in the advertisement held that the High Court was fully empowered on administrative side, to find a fair method by which the normalization of the marks could be worked out.

"40. We have, therefore, no hesitation in holding that by virtue of Rule 7 and para 9(i), (iii), (iv) and (vi), there was enough prescription empowering the High Court to follow its own procedure in evaluating the answer sheets initially by the District Judges and subsequently by common evaluators, before holding the interview. We, therefore, reject the said submission made on behalf of the Petitioners in attacking the procedure followed by the High Court in the matter of holding the selection...."

84. In the facts of the case at hand, the primary issue is as to whether the Selection Board was empowered to adopt the normalization equi-percentile method in scaling the raw marks obtained by the candidates, and thereafter, applying the normalized score to determine the eligibility by substituting/altering the '50% marks' prescribed in Sub-clause (b) of Rule 15 to non-suit the petitioners from the select list.

85. It is urged by the learned Additional Advocate General and the learned counsel for the private respondents/selected candidates that the word "marks' employed in Sub-clause (b) and (e) of Rule 15 would mean and include the 'normalized score' and not the raw marks obtained by the candidates in the written examination held in multiple shifts. The Selection Board in exercise of its inherent power was within its jurisdiction and authority to scale (normalize) the raw marks obtained by the candidates in the written examinations having due regard to the variance in the level of question papers. A just and fair selection would justify the approach of the Selection Board so as to place all the candidates on a level playing field before determining their eligibility.

86. The learned counsel for the respondent placed heavy reliance, in particular, on para 4 and para 9 of the notification dated 28 June 2017 to urge that the Selection Board had spelled out the rules and method of the game viz. written examination. The normalization method as per the notification was to be applied scaling the raw marks. The notification provides that having due regard to the written examination being held in multiple shifts normalization method would be adopted. Para 9 would have to be read with para 4 conjointly to mean that normalized percentile score would determine the eligibility criterion and not 50% marks. The submission on face value appears attractive but on closer examination of the notification, lacks merit being in gross violation of the statutory provisions.

87. We have carefully gone through the notification with the assistance of the learned counsel for the parties and find no such prescription as is being suggested by the respondents. The conduct of the Selection Board in inviting all the candidates who scored 50% raw marks to take the subsequent stage of selection, clearly reflects that the Selection Board was not clear whether to apply 50% marks or 50% percentile score for determining the eligibility of the candidates to qualify for the subsequent stage of selection. The petitioners herein obtained 50% marks and were invited to participate in the selection process. Even taking the case of the respondents that the notification did provide that the normalised percentile score would determine the eligibility criteria which we do not find on reading the notification. Then in that event, as held by us, the Selection Board would exceed its power and authority conferred under the Recruitment Rules, encroaching upon the domain of the rule making authority by amending/rewriting the mandatory prescription of minimum 50% marks. To that extend the notification would be in teeth of the statutory provision [Rule 15(b)] and would have to be struck down. In our opinion the notifications of the Selection Board are in consonance with Recruitment Rules.

88. On reading Sub-clause (b) and (e) of Rule 15 the word "marks" used therein have different connotation. The phrase "failing to obtain 50% marks' employed by the rule making authority in Sub-clause (b) prescribes the eligibility criterion which is mandatory qualification. In other words, a candidate failing to obtain the prescribed eligibility marks gets excluded from the recruitment process automatically. Whereas, the phrase "marks obtained by each candidates" employed in Sub-clause (e) of Rule 15, would not mean and include the marks obtained by the candidate for determining his/her eligibility, but would take within its fold the 'normalized score' for preparing the select list in order of merit after equalising the marks obtained by the candidates in Sub-clause (b). Sub-clause (b) refers to marks prescribed by the rule for eligibility purpose, whereas, Sub-clause (e) refers to marks/score obtained upon evaluation upon normalization of the marks referred to in Sub-clause (b) for the purpose of making the select list in the order of merit. Such an approach in drawing the select list in an examination held in multiple shifts would be just and fair. The Selection Board is within its powers in adopting a method of evaluation of written examination papers in the backdrop of multiple shifts/different paper exams to arrive at a process to prepare the select list in order of merit.

89. The submission of Sri Shashi Nandan, learned senior counsel that the Selection Board has not been conferred power to equalize the raw marks obtained by the candidates in the written examination at any stage of recruitment process, cannot be accepted. On harmonious interpretation of Sub-clause (b) read with Sub-clause (e) it is unambiguous and clear that Selection Board has been vested with the power and authority to determine the procedure of written examination which would include the process of evaluation. After evaluation of the papers, the Selection Board has to prepare the select list in order of merit. The marks, in a multiple shift examination, would include the "normalized score' obtained by applying the method of scaling, be it moderation or normalization, as the case may be, in order to draw the inter-se merit of the candidates. In case the submission of the learned Senior Counsel is accepted it would render Sub-clause (e) and the power of the Selection Board in determining the procedure of written examination nugatory. The Selection Board, however, is not vested to determine the eligibility of a candidate which has been prescribed by the rule making authority i.e. 50% marks. Any alteration or substitution of 50% marks would be negation of Sub-clause (b) of Rule 15.

90. In Sajnay Singh2, the Court was of the view that the expression "marks awarded" or "marks obtained in written examination" employed in the rule would not only refer to the actual marks awarded by the examiner. The process of evaluation does not end on marks being awarded by an examiner but would imply that the marks awarded by the examiner can be altered by moderation. Para '20' is extracted:

"20. We cannot accept the contention of the petitioner that the words "marks awarded" or "marks obtained in the written papers" refers only to the actual marks awarded by the examiner. 'Valuation' is a process which does not end on marks being awarded by an Examiner. Award of marks by the Examiner is only one stage of the process of valuation. Moderation when employed by the examining authority, becomes part of the process of valuation and the marks awarded on moderation become the final marks of the candidate. In fact Rule 20(3) specifically refers to the 'marks finally awarded to each candidate in the written examination', thereby implying that the marks awarded by the examiner can be altered by moderation."

91. Once the written examination part is fulfilled, the Examining Body/ Selection Board has to formulate a procedure by which the answer papers are to be evaluated in order to ascertain the marks scored by the respective candidates. The expression 'evaluation' takes within its fold the manner in which the evaluation is to be made, to equalize the merits of the candidates in the written examination. Paragraph '37.5' of Sanjay Singh2 is extracted:

"37.5. The expression 'evaluation' would, therefore, take into its fold the minimum marks to be scored, the manner in which the evaluation is to be made and in the event of any requirement, to equalize the merits of the candidate in the written examination and follow any appropriate procedure in consonance with law, in order to ultimately arrive at a fair process by which the candidate can be called for interview, based on the evaluation of the marks in the written examination."

92. The Selection Board, in the instant case, however, erred in applying the normalized score in violation of the mandatory rule [Rule 15(b)] to determine the eligibility of a candidate to take the subsequent round of selection, instead of confining the normalized score to determine the inter-se merit of the candidates.

93. The members of the Selection Board or for that matter, any other Selection Committee, do not have the jurisdiction to lay down the criteria for selection unless they are authorised specifically in that regard by the rules made under Article 309. It is basically the function of the rule making authority to provide the qualification for selection. In the instant case, the rule making authority conferred limited power upon the Selection Board to determine the "procedure of written examination', which would include evaluation of papers and to draw the select list in order to merit. The Selection Board has not been conferred power by the rule making authority to prescribe the criteria/eligibility (minimum marks) for selection, rather, the procedure of selection has been codified by the rule making authority which could not have been breached/altered by the Selection Board while exercising its limited power of determining the procedure of written examination.

94. In Umesh Chandra Shukla23, the challenge was with regard to the validity of the candidates relating to the competitive examination held by the High Court of Delhi for the purpose of recruiting candidates for the posts in the Delhi Judicial Service. The Delhi Judicial Service Rules, 1970, inter alia, mandated that only such candidates would be called for viva voce who have obtained 50% in each written paper and 60 per cent in the aggregate except in the case of candidates belonging to the Scheduled Castes/Tribes, in whose case the qualifying marks would be 40% in each written paper and 50% in the aggregate.

95. The issue before the Supreme Court was whether it was open to the High Court to include in the list prepared under the rules names of the candidates who had not secured the minimum marks prescribed in the written examination for being eligible to appear in the viva-voce test. In other words, the Supreme Court was considering as to whether the High Court, having regard to the rules, had the power to add two marks to the marks obtained in each paper by way of moderation to make a candidate eligible. The Court in para-'13' held as follows:

"13. The question for decision is whether such a resolution can be passed by the High Court which is entrusted with the duty of conducting the examination. The High Court had not found any defect in the question papers or any irregularities in the valuation of the answer books. It may be that some candidates had obtained high marks in some papers and by reason of their not obtaining the required marks in the other papers or 60% and above in the aggregate they may not have become qualified for the viva voce test. In our opinion this alone would not be sufficient to add any marks by way of moderation. It is relevant to note the mandatory character of clause (6) in the Appendix to the Rules which says only such candidates will be called for viva voce who have obtained 50% marks in each written paper and 60% in the aggregate..... Addition of any marks by way of moderation to the marks obtained in any written paper or to the aggregate of the marks in order to make a candidate eligible to appear in the viva voce test would indirectly amount to an amendment of clause (6) of the Appendix."

(emphasis supplied)

96. Further, the Court held that moderation had an adverse effect on the candidates who otherwise scored the required qualifying marks in the examination but were declared ineligible for viva-voce test.

"The candidates who appear at the examination under the Delhi Judicial Service Rules acquire a right immediately after their names are included in the list prepared under rule 16 of the Rules which limits the scope of competition and that right cannot be defeated by enlarging the said list by inclusion of certain other candidates who were otherwise ineligible, by adding extra marks by way of moderation.

Exercise of such power of moderation is likely to create a feeling of distrust in the process of selection to public appointments which is intended to be fair and impartial. It may also result in the violation of the principle of equality and may lead to arbitrariness. The cases pointed out by the High Court are no doubt hard cases, but hard cases cannot be allowed to make bad law. In the circumstances, we lean in favour of a strict construction of the Rules and hold that the High Court had no such power under the Rules. We are of the opinion that the list prepared by the High Court after adding the moderation marks is liable to be struck down." (para 13)

97. The decision was followed in Durgacharan Misra v. State of Orrisa and others34 and the limitation of the Selection Committee was pointed out that it had no jurisdiction to prescribe the "minimum marks which a candidate had to secure at the viva-voce test." The Selection Committee does not even have the inherent jurisdiction to lay down the norms for selection nor can such power be assumed by necessary implication.

98. In Ramachandra lyer and others vs. Union of India and others35, Supreme Court observed that the Selection Board had no power to add to the required qualification. The relevant para is extracted:

"By necessary inference, there was no such power in the ASRB to add to the required qualifications. If such power is claimed, it has to be explicit and cannot be read by necessary implication for the obvious reasons that such deviation from the rules is likely to cause irreparable and irreversible harm."

99. It may be pointed out that rule making function under Article 309 is legislative and not executive as was laid down by the Supreme Court in B.S. Yadav and others v. State of Haryana and others36. For this reason also, the Selection Committee or the Selection Board cannot be held to have jurisdiction to lay down any standard or basis for selection as it would amount to legislating a rule of selection.

100. Similarly, in Umesh Chandra Shukla23, it was observed that the Selection Committee does not possess any inherent power to lay down its own standards in addition to what is prescribed under the Rules.

101. The precedents cited hereinabove have been noticed and followed by the Supreme Court in Krushna Chandra Sahu24

102. In view thereof, it follows that the power to make rules regulating the conditions of service of persons appointed or seeking appointment on government posts is available to the Governor of the State under the Proviso to Article 309 or under a statute and it is in exercise of this power the Recruitment Rules, was made. Where the statutory Rules, in a given case, is not made either by the Parliament or the State Legislature, or, for that matter, by the Governor of the State, it would be open to the appropriate Government, the Central Government under Article 73 and the State Government under Article 162, to issue executive instructions. Further, if the Rules have been made but are silent on any subject or point in issue, the omission can be supplied and the rules can be supplemented by executive instructions. But where the rules prescribe the procedure of selection by categorically providing the qualification and the eligibility criteria then in that event the examining Selection Board lacks inherent jurisdiction to entrench upon the eligibility criteria. (See: Sant Ram v. State of Rajasthan37.)

103. We are also fortified in our conclusion while tracing the evolution of the Rules pertaining to the recruitment of Sub Inspector. The Recruitment Rules came to be amended on 3 December 2015. The selections have been made pursuant to the amended Rules. Sub clause (b) of Rule 15 provides that "candidates failing to obtain 50% marks in each of the subject shall not be eligible for recruitment". The same phrase was employed in Sub-clause (e) of Rule 15 that came to be amended. In other words, eligibility criteria was not altered or changed by rule making authority. The only change brought about by the amendment was that the procedure for written examination was entrusted upon the Selection Board exclusively by omitting Appendix-3 which prescribed the procedure of written examination. We are informed that the superseded Rule (prior to enactment of Recruitment Rules) governing the appointment and selection of Sub-Inspector, viz., "The Uttar Pradesh Sub-Inspector And Inspector (Civil Police) Service Rules, 2008", Rule 15(f) provided that the candidate "who fails to obtain minimum 50% marks' in each subject shall not be eligible for recruitment. It is, thus, evident that the rule making authority was fully conscious that the candidates are required to score minimum marks (50%), failing which, they shall not be eligible for recruitment. The eligibility criteria was retained while promulgating Recruitment Rules. The Selection Board was not conferred the power and jurisdiction by the rule making authority to alter or amend the eligibility criteria. The Selection Board by the amended rules was vested with exclusive, but limited power to determine the procedure of the written examination, which includes evaluation of papers by adopting method of scaling to equalise the different levels of papers in examination held in multiple shifts and, accordingly, draw the select list. We accordingly find merit in the contention of the petitioners that Selection Board exceeded its authority by disqualifying the petitioners.

104. Now coming to the ancillary issue whether the Selection Board was justified in scaling the raw marks. Whether percentile and percentage are the same concepts. The scope of judicial review of the normalisation method adopted by the Selection Board.

105. Where the number of candidates taking the examinations are limited, it is to be assumed that there will be uniformity in the evaluation, but where large number of candidates take the examination, in different shifts and in different papers, it therefore, becomes necessary to evaluate the question papers by evolving a procedure to ensure uniformity in the level of question papers. The examining bodies have been adopting different methods, and most examining bodies/Selection Boards appear to take the view that moderation is the appropriate method to bring about uniformity in evaluation where several examiners manually evaluate the answer scripts of descriptive (conventional) type question papers in regard to same subjects. Scaling is resorted to where a common merit list has to be prepared in regard to candidates who have taken examination in different subjects, in pursuance of an option given to them. Scaling places the scores from different tests or test forms on to a common scale. Normalization is adopted to equalize objective question papers held in different shifts. There are, thus, different methods of statistical scoring. Standard Score method, Linear Standard Score method, Normalized Equi-Percentile method are some of the recognized methods for scaling.

106. The concept of normalisation of marks was introduced to equalise the level of difficulty of question paper of government exams, conducted in various shifts, in different papers. For example, a student who has appeared in first session or shift of the written exam might have scored low marks. However, the same student would have scored more or even higher marks if he had appeared in any of the latter shifts of the same exam. To eradicate this discrepancy the exam conducting Selection Boards have introduced the concept of normalisation of marks in exams to equalize the different levels of objective question papers held in multishifts in same subjects, based on common syllabus.

107. Normalisation of marks, therefore, means increasing and/or decreasing the marks obtained by students in different timing sessions (shifts) to a certain number. In statistics, the term normalization refers to the scaling down of the data set such that the normalized data falls in the range between 0 and 1. Such normalization techniques help in comparing corresponding normalized values from two or more different data sets in a way that it eliminates the effects of the variation in the scale of the data sets i.e. a data set with large values can be easily compared with a data set of smaller values. The normalized score/percentile is obtained by applying a formula.

108. Percentiles, however, should not be confused with percentage. The latter is used to express fractions of a whole, while percentiles are the values below which a certain percentage of the data in a data set is found. In practical terms, there is a significant difference between the two. The percentage score reflects how well the student did in the exam itself, the percentile score reflects how well he did in comparison to other students. Percentile rank would, therefore, mean percentage of scores that fall at or below a given score. Usually written to the nearest whole percent and are divided into 100 equally sized groups. The lowest score is at the first percentile and the highest score is at the 99th percentile.

109. It is relevant to place on record that none of the aggrieved candidates have made any allegation of mala fides or lack of bona fides, as against the Selection

Board or its members or for that matter in the manner in which subsequent stages of selection were held by the Committee or with regard to the computation of normalized score arrived at by applying the Standardized Equi-Percentile method. In the absence of challenge to the normalization method and the scores obtained by the Selection Board in scaling the marks of the candidates scored in written examination, we take it that the normalisation formula and the normalized percentile score worked out by the Selection Board is just and fair.

110. Shri Tarun Agrawal, learned counsel for the petitioners on the strength of hypothetical statistics/data attempted to persuade the Court to examine whether the normalisation adopted by the Selection Board would to lead to absurd results. The learned counsels for the respondents on the other hand attempted to show on hypothetical data that the method adopted by the Selection Board was just and fair. On specific query, they, however, submit that hard (actual) data pertaining to the written examination has not been relied upon by either of the parties nor it is available on the record. In absence of pleadings and hard data to that effect we decline to examine the methodology of evaluation on hypothetical statistical data. Academic questions based on hypothesis cannot be gone into to determine the issue inter se parties.

111. We would, however, examine briefly the precedents where the Court interfered or declined to interfere with results of written examination adopting methods to equalise the raw marks.

112. In Sanjay Singh2, the Supreme Court was considering the validity of the selections held for appointment in the U.P. Judicial Service on the basis of a competitive examination in which the Rules prescribed five papers, all of which were compulsory for all the candidates. The U.P. Public Service Commission had scaled the marks awarded to the candidates by following the scaling method. The Court, on examining the Judicial Service Rules which governed the selection did not permit scaling down the marks obtained by the candidates. A further question with regard to the correctness of the adoption of scaling method to an examination where the papers were compulsory and common to all the candidates was also considered. In doing so the Court observed as follows:-

"24.The moderation procedure referred to in the earlier para will solve only the problem of examiner variability, where the examiners are many, but valuation of answer-scripts is in respect of a single subject. Moderation is no answer where the problem is to find inter se merit across several subjects, that is, where candidates take examination in different subjects. To solve the problem of inter se merit across different subjects, statistical experts have evolved a method known as scaling, that is, creation of scaled score. Scaling places the scores from different tests or test forms on to a common scale. There are different methods of statistical scoring. Standard score method, linear standard score method, normalized equipercentile method are some of the recognized methods for scaling."

113. It was furthermore observed:

"25...Scaling process, whereby raw marks in different subjects are adjusted to a common scale, is a recognized method of ensuring uniformity inter se among the candidates who have taken examinations in different subjects, as, for example, the Civil Services Examination."

114. The Court came to the conclusion that the U.P. Public Service Commission had not ensured nor considered the preconditions of the scaling method and the consequential effects in the declaration of the results which were found to be unacceptable. The Supreme Court held that the adoption of the scaling method in the given facts had resulted in treating unequals as equal.

115. In Sunil Kumar10, the question before the Supreme Court was whether Sanjay Singh2 laid down any principle or direction regarding the methodology that has to be adopted by the Commission while assessing the answer scripts of the candidates in a public examination and specially whether any such principle or direction has been laid down governing public examinations involving different subjects in which the candidates are to be tested. Closely connected with the aforesaid question was the extent of the power of judicial review to scrutinize the decisions taken by another constitutional authority i.e. the Public Service Commission in the facts of the case.

116. The appellants therein had contended that Sanjay Singh2 categorically held that the system of moderation is applicable only to cases where the candidates take a common examination i.e. where there are no optional subjects and all the papers in which the candidates appear are the same. In a situation where the subjects are different, according to the appellants, it has been held in Sanjay Singh2 that it is the scaling method has to be applied and in such situations the system of moderation would not be relevant. The Court rejected the contention of the appellants that in Sanjay Singh2 there was a declaration of law of precedent that in an examination where the papers are common, the system of moderation must be applied and to an examination when the papers and subjects are different, scaling is the only available option. Paragraph 19 is extracted:

"19. The entirety of the discussion and conclusions in Sanjay Singh (supra) was with regard to the question of the suitability of the scaling system to an examination where the question papers were compulsory and common to all candidates. The deficiencies and shortcomings of the scaling method as pointed out and extracted above were in the above context. But did Sanjay Singh (supra) lay down any binding and inflexible requirement of law with regard to adoption of the scaling method to an examination where the candidates are tested in different subjects as in the present examination? Having regard to the context in which the conclusions were reached and opinions were expressed by the Court it is difficult to understand as to how this Court in Sanjay Singh (supra) could be understood to have laid down any binding principle of law or directions or even guidelines with regard to holding of examinations; evaluation of papers and declaration of results by the Commission. What was held, in our view, was that scaling is a method which was generally unsuitable to be adopted for evaluation of answer papers of subjects common to all candidates and that the application of the said method to the examination in question had resulted in unacceptable results. Sanjay Singh (supra) did not decide that to such an examination i.e. where the papers are common the system of moderation must be applied and to an examination where the papers/subjects are different, scaling is the only available option. We are unable to find any declaration of law or precedent or principle in Sanjay Singh (supra) to the above effect as has been canvassed before us on behalf of the appellants. The decision, therefore, has to be understood to be confined to the facts of the case, rendered upon a consideration of the relevant Service Rules prescribing a particular syllabus.

117. The Supreme Court further observed that the requirement of adoption of moderation, scaling or normalization by their very nature should be left to the expert bodies in the field, including, Public Service Commission and the scope of judicial review is limited to instances of arbitrary or mala fide exercise of power or being against statutory provision.

"20. We cannot understand the law to be imposing the requirement of adoption of moderation to a particular kind of examination and scaling to others. Both are, at best, opinions, exercise of which requires an indepth consideration of questions that are more suitable for the experts in the field. Holding of public examinations involving wide and varied subjects/disciplines is a complex task which defies an instant solution by adoption of any singular process or by a strait jacket formula. Not only examiner variations and variation in award of marks in different subjects are issues to be answered, there are several other questions that also may require to be dealt with. Variation in the strictness of the questions set in a multi-disciplinary examination format is one such fine issue that was coincidentally noticed in Sanjay Singh (supra). A conscious choice of a discipline or a subject by a candidate at the time of his entry to the University thereby restricting his choice of papers in a public examination; the standards of inter subject evaluation of answer papers and issuance of appropriate directions to evaluators in different subjects are all relevant areas of consideration. All such questions and, may be, several others not identified herein are required to be considered, which questions, by their very nature should be left to the expert bodies in the field, including, the Public Service Commissions. The fact that such bodies including the Commissions have erred or have acted in less than a responsible manner in the past cannot be a reason for a free exercise of the judicial power which by its very nature will have to be understood to be, normally, limited to instances of arbitrary or malafide exercise of power."

118. The Supreme Court declined to interfere with the results and the decision of the Bihar Public Service Commission in adopting the scaling method to the examination.

119. It therefore, follows that the appropriate method to bring about uniformity in evaluation is left to the examining authorities. The method adopted by the examining authority/Selection Board is not subject to judicial review until it is shown that the exercise of the authority was mala fide, violative of the statutory provision or the method had resulted in absurd results rendering the entire selection manifestly arbitrary. In the facts of the instant case no allegation of mala fide has been made against the Selection Board or its members or with regard to the procedure of selection. It has not been shown by either of the parties based on hard statistics that normalisation had resulted in manifest, arbitrary or fair result.

120. The learned Additional Advocate General finally has submitted that it is well within the domain of the Selection Board under Sub-clause (b) of Rule 15 of the Recruitment Rules, to determine the procedure for written examination. It cannot be objected by the petitioners after having appeared in the examination knowing fully well about the procedure of the written examination notified by the Selection Board on 28 June 2017. In support of his above contention, reliance has been placed on the Supreme Court judgment in D. Sarojakumari vs. R. Helen Thilakom and others38.

121. In reply to the contention, learned counsels for the petitioners would urge that when a candidate appears at an examination without objection and is subsequently found to be unsuccessful, a challenge to the process is precluded, but in the facts of the present case, the petitioners are not assailing the process of selection nor the notification of the Selection Board prescribing the procedure, but are respectfully praying that the process of selection mandatorily prescribed under the Recruitment Rules, be followed and applied strictly. It is further submitted that there may be no estoppel against the statute or Rules and if the process of selection is in derogation of the Rules, the same could have been assailed by the candidates who have been declared unsuccessful. The petitioners, herein, qualified the written examination and all subsequent stages of selection, but have been excluded from the select list. Reliance has been placed on the Raj Kumar and others vs. Shakti Raj And others39, referring para-16 which reads thus:-

"16. Yet another circumstance is that the Government had not taken out the posts from the purview of the Board, but after the examinations were conducted under the 1955 Rule and after the results were announced, it exercised the power under the proviso to para 6 of 1970 notification and the posts were taken out from the purview thereof. Thereafter the Selection Committee was constituted for selection of the candidates. The entire procedure is also obviously illegal. It is true, as contended by Shri Madhava Reddy, that this Court in Madan Lal vs. State of J & K [(1995) 3 SCC 486] and other decisions referred therein had held that a candidate having taken a chance to appear in an interview and having remained unsuccessful, cannot turn round and challenge either the constitution of the selection Board or the method of Selection as being illegal; he is estopped to question the correctness of the selection. But in this case, the Government have committed glaring illegalities in the procedure to get the candidates for examination under 1955 Rules & so also in the method of selection and exercise of the power in taking out from the purview of the Selection Board and also conduct of the selection in accordance with the Rules. Therefore, the principle of estoppel by conduct or acquiescence has no application to the facts in this case. Thus, we consider that the procedure offered under the 1955 Rules adopted by the Government or the Committee as well as the action take by the Government are not correct in law."

122. On specific query, learned Additional Advocate General submits that all the petitioners herein who obtained 50% minimum marks (qualifying marks) were allowed to participate in the subsequent stages of selection i.e. physical standard test, document verification and physical efficiency test. It is, therefore, urged that the Selection Board would not be required to undertake any fresh exercise of selection/recrutiment in preparation of the select list in order to merit.

123. Having due regard to the facts and circumstances of the case and the provisions mandated by the Recruitment Rules, the writ petition is allowed by passing the following orders:

i) the select list dated 28 February, 2019 is set aside and quashed;

ii) the candidates having failed to obtain 50% marks (raw marks) in each subject are declared ineligible for recruitment/selection;

iii) the Selection Board shall prepare the select list in order to merit on normalized score, derived by Standardized Equi-Percentile Method;

iv) Selection Board to comply the order within six weeks from the date of filing of certified copy of this order and the selected candidates shall be sent for training.

124. No order as to costs.

Employees Services Rules, 1985 - Rules 16, 19-When the procedure undertaken for recruitment was not correct- no illegality whereby financial approval was not granted -Petitioners have sought a writ of certiorari for quashing order dated 19.05.2005, passed by District Inspector of Schools, whereby financial approval to the appointment of petitioners was declined. Dismissing this petition, the High Court held - The procedure undertaken for recruitment was defective - No record to show how the Selection Committee was formed. Provisions of Rules of 1985 were not strictly complied with. (Para 10 & 12)

Writ petition challenges order dated 05.05.2005, passed by the District Inspector of Schools, Mainpuri.

Writ Petition dismissed (E-4)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Shyam Shamshery, J.)

1. Petitioners have approached this Court by way of filing present writ petition seeking a writ of certiorari for quashing the order dated 19.5.2005 passed by the District Inspector of Schools, Mainpuri, whereby financial approval to the appointment of the petitioners on Class IV posts in the Government Girls Inter College Mainpuri was declined.

2. A co-ordinate Bench of this Court, vide order dated 18.4.2014, allowed the present writ petition and set aside the impugned order dated 19.5.2005, with the direction to respondent nos.2 and 3 to pay the salary and arrears of the petitioners, in accordance with law.

3. State of U.P. being aggrieved, preferred Special Appeal Defective No.177 of 2015 before the Division Bench of this Court and the said appeal was allowed, vide order dated 28.4.2017 wherein the order dated 18.4.2014 passed by the co-ordinate Bench of this Court was set aside and writ petition was restored to decide afresh in the light of the observations made in the order. The order dated 28.4.2017 is mentioned hereinafter :-

"Heard learned counsel for the parties.

Cause shown for the delay of 277 days in filing of the instant appeal is to the satisfaction of the Court.

Delay is condoned. The delay condonation application stands allowed.

Heard learned counsel for the parties.

The judgement and order under appeal is liable to be set aside on a short ground i.e. the learned Single Judge has not examined as to what was the constitution of the Selection Committee, which had recommended the petitioners for appointment on Class-IV posts in Government Girls Inter College, Mainpuri and whether procedure prescribed has been followed or not. Selection has to be in conformity with the provision of 'Group D' Employees Service (U.P.) Rules, 1985.

It has also to be ascertained as to whether there has been strict compliance of the 'Group D' Employees Service Rules, 1985, both in the matter of publication of advertisement, invitation for calling of name from employment exchange constitution of selection committee and the procedure of selection thereto. Since the aforesaid aspect of the matter has escaped the attention of learned Single Judge the judgement and order dated 18.4.2014 is hereby set aside.

Mere deposit of the money with the advertisers cannot lead to a presumption that advertisement infact had been published in the news paper. The petitioner had obliged to produce the news paper in support of his contention that there has been due advertisement. We further find that learned Single Judge has also not adverted to the issue of ban imposed on Class-IV appointment, which aspect in our opinion is also crucial before any mandamus can be issued for payment of salary mere information of the vacancies / advertisement to the higher authorities will not lead to presume that the ban imposed by the State Government has been diluted.

For all the aforesaid reasons, judgement and order dated 18.4.2014 is hereby set aside. The writ petition is restored to its original number. Let the same be decided in light of the observation made hereinabove .

With the aforesaid observations, the appeal is allowed."

For all the aforesaid reasons, judgement and order dated 18.4.2014 is hereby set aside. The writ petition is restored to its original number. Let the same be decided in light of the observation made hereinabove .

With the aforesaid observations, the appeal is allowed."

4. In this background, this writ petition is now being heard. On the basis of order dated 28.4.2017, passed by a Division Bench, following are the issues for consideration of the Court :-

(a) Whether strict compliance of procedure prescribed in Section 19 of the 'Group D' Employees Services (U.P.) Rules, 1985 (hereinafter referred as 'the Rules of 1985') such as valid constitution of the Selection Committee, proper publication of advertisement, invitation for calling names from employment exchange etc. for appointment of petitioners on Class IV were followed or not ?

(b) What is the effect of ban imposed by State of U.P. on Class IV appointment under Government Order dated 3.11.1997 ?

5. It has not been disputed by learned counsel appearing on behalf of rival parties that appointment of Class IV employees in respondent college are governed by 'Group D' Employees Services (U.P.) Rules, 1985 (hereinafter referred as 'Rules of 1985'). For the purpose of proper adjudication of present writ petition, it is essential to quote Rule 19 of the Rules of 1985, which prescribed 'Procedure for Selection' :-

"19. Procedure for Selection.- (1) The appointing authority shall determine the number of vacancies to be filled during the course of the year as also the number of the vacancies to be reserved for the candidates belonging to the Scheduled Castes, Scheduled Tribes and other categories. The vacancies shall be notified to the Employment Exchange. The appointing authority may also invite application directly from the persons who have their names registered in the Employment Exchange. For this purpose, the appointing authority shall issue an advertisement in a local daily newspaper besides pasting the notice for the same on the notice board. All such applications shall be placed before the Selection Committee.

(2) When the names of the General candidates and Reserve Candidates (for whom vacancies are required to be reserved under the orders of the Government) have been received by the Selection Committee it shall inter view and select the candidate for the various posts.

(3) In making selection the Selection Committee shall give weightage to the retrenched employees awarding marks in the following manner:

(i) For the first complete year: 5 marks

(ii) For the next and every completed year of service: 5 marks

Provided that the maximum marks awarded to a retrenched employee under this sub-rule shall not exceed : 15 marks

(4) The number of the candidates to be selected will be larger (but not larger by more than 25 per cent) than the number of vacancies for which the selection has been made. The names in the select list shall be arranged according to the marks awarded at the interview."

6. The procedure prescribed in Rule 19 of the Rules of 1985 could be summarized as follows :-

(i) Determination of vacancies by the appointment authority and also number of vacancies to be reserved for the candidates belonging to the Schedule Caste and Schedule Tribes.

(ii) Determined vacancies shall be notified to the Employment Exchange.

(iii) Appointing Authority may also invite applications directly from the persons who are registered in the Employment Exchange.

(iv) Appointing Authority shall issue an advertisement in a local daily newspaper and also paste notice of the same on the notice board.

(v) All the applications received shall be placed before Selection Committee.

(vi) Selection Committee shall take interview and select the candidates and prepare select list according to marks awarded in the interview for making selection. The Selection Committee shall give weightage to the retrenched employees by awarding marks as prescribed in Rule 19(3).

7. Constitution of Selection Committee is prescribed in Rule 16 of the Rules of 1985, which is quoted hereinafter :-

"16. Constitution of Selection Committee.- For the purpose of recruitment to any post, there shall be constituted a Selection Committee as follows:

1.Appointing Authority;

2.An officer belonging to Scheduled Castes/Scheduled Tribes, nominated by the District Magistrate if the appointing authority does not belong to Scheduled Castes/Scheduled Tribes. If the appointing authority belongs to Scheduled Castes/Scheduled Tribes, an officer other than belonging to Scheduled Castes/Scheduled Tribes, Minority Community and Backward Class to be nominated by the District Magistrate;

3.Two officers nominated by the appointing authority, one or whom shall be an officer belonging to Minority Community and the other to Backward Class. If such suitable officers are not available in his department or organisation, such officers shall on the request of the appointing authority, be nominated by the District Magistrate and on his failure to do so, by reason of non-availability of suitable officer, such officers shall be nominated by the Divisional Commissioner."

8. Constitution of Selection Committee could be summarized as follows :-

a. Appointing Authority.

b. An officer belonging to S.C./S.T. nominated by Magistrate.

c. Two Officers nominated by Appointing Authority, one from Minority Community and other from Backward Class from the department in organisation.

d. Some provisions are mentioned, in case, members as mentioned above are not available.

9. From the record available, following procedure was adopted for the selection of the petitioners :-

(i) Advertisement for the post of Class IV, (one for OBC and other for B.C.) was published on 27.3.2001 and 25.3.2001 in a newspaper namely 'Danik Sach Kya Hai' and 'Danik Jantantra' respectively, which is on record of the writ petition.

(ii) Vacancies were not notified to the Employment Exchange, however, selected candidates (petitioners) were registered at Employment Exchange.

(iii) No record or detail of Constitution of Selection Committee is available on record.

(iv) 7 candidates appeared for interview.

(v) A letter dated 8.4.2001 was issued under the signature of Principal, Government Girls' Inter College, Mainpuri, Principal Government Girls' Inter College, Karhet Mainupri and Assistant Basic Shiksha Adhikari, Mainpuri (member of Selection Committee) declaring the petitioners as selected as Class IV employee in pursuance of interview.

(vi) Appointment letters were issued to the petitioners and the same has been placed on record to show the numbers given by the Selection Committee to the candidates.

10. From the above, it is clear that procedure adopted was defective so much as no record is submitted to show how the Selection Committee was formed as per Rule 16 of the Rule of 1985. Only document to show composition of Selection Committee is a letter communicating about selection of petitioners which is signed by three persons, however, there is no nomination on behalf of District Magistrate regarding persons from S.C./S.T., Minority and B.C. Commonly as prescribed in Rule 16 of the Rules of 1985. Vacancies were not notified from Employment Exchange, therefore, the provisions of the Rules of 1985 were not strictly complied with for the selection process under taken for appointment of petitioners.

11. Next issue which require consideration is regarding ban imposed on recruitment by Government Order dated 3.11.1997, the said G.O. had imposed ban on fresh recruitment, however, by subsequent G.O. dated 6.9.2000, said ban was removed sofar as appointment on the posts which are reserved for Schedule Castes/Schedule Tribes, specifically in Class III and Class IV. Therefore, the recruitment of petitioners was not barred according to G.O. dated 3.11.1997 as petitioners were appointed in the year 2001 when subsequent G.O. dated 6.9.2000 has lifted the ban.

12. As discussed above, the procedure undertaken for the recruitment of petitioners was not correct and there was no strict compliance of provisions of the Rules of 1985. The entire impugned selection is irregular, and therefore, there is no illegality in the impugned order whereby financial approval was not granted. Accordingly, the writ petition lacks merit, hence dismissed.

A. U.P. Intermediate Education Act, 1921 - Sections 2(a), 2(b), 2(d), 7(3), 7(4), U.P. High School and Intermediate Colleges (Payment of Salaries of Teachers and Other Employees) Act, 1971 - Sections 2(b), U.P. Board of Basic Education Act, 1972-Sections 2(1)(d-1), 2(1)(d-2), 2(b), 2(d), 3, 4, 19, U.P. Recognized Basic Schools (Recruitment and Conditions of Service of Teachers and other Conditions) Rules, 1975 - Rule 2(c), 2(e), 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, U.P. Junior High School (Payment of Salaries of Teachers and Other Employees) Act, 1978 - Section 2(b), 2(d), 2(e), 2(2)(e-e), 2(f), 2(j), 10, U.P. State Universities Act, 1973 - Section 37(2) - Statute of Sampurnanand Sanskrit University-Statute 12.01 and U.P. Board of Sanskrit Education, 2000 -Sections 2(e), 2(f), 3, 9, 13 - Mere recognition by the Board does not entitle the institution to seek maintenance grant from the State.

B. Whether the primary institution in question can be said to be attached institution or integral part of the institution which is imparting Sanskrit Education from "Prathama" to "Acharya" (Junior High Schools to Post Graduate Level) and that whether recognition by District Basic Education Officer for running Classes I to V by itself put obligation on the State to pay to the teachers of the primary institution - Answering the questions in negative and dismissing this petition, the High Court held - As far as the primary institution (Class I to V), neither there was any provision in the Statute of the erstwhile University (Varanasi Sanskrit Vidyalaya Act, 1956) or in the Sampurnanand Sanskrit University first Statute, 1978 to regulate the same. There was, thus, no question of affiliation with the said Universities. Mere permission by the University to run classes I to V, therefore, is of no relevance. (Para 28)

C. After referring to all the relevant statutes, it was observed that at the best, the part of the institution- in-question running classes I to V can be said to be recognized by the Board of Basic Education pursuant to the order dated 10.01.1973. Maintenance grant provided to the institution in question for imparting Sanskrit education from "Prathama" (Junior High School) to "Shashtri" (Graduation) would not ipso-facto extend the said grant to the primary institution (Classes I to V), treating it as an integral part of the Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya. (Para 29)

D. State is under no obligation to provide maintenance grant to each private institution imparting primary education or free education to children from age (6 to 14 years). At the same time, it is necessary for a primary institution to seek recognition by the Board of Basic Education- Mere recognition by the Board, however, does not entitle the institution to seek maintenance grant from the State- Further, even in a recognized institution, not receiving maintenance grant, the appointment of teachers has to be made with the approval of the Basic Education Officer.(Para 33)

E. The recognition granted on 10.01.1973 is a permanent valid recognition within the meaning of the Basic Education Act, 1972 read with the Rules, 1975. The primary section of the institution in question is, thus, to be treated as a separate entity being a "recognized school" within the meaning of Rules, 1975 and shall be governed by the Act 1972 read with Rules 1975 as a "Junior Basic School" within the meaning of Section 2(1)(d-1) of the Basic Education Act, 1972 for all other relevant purposes. 2. Ramesh Upadhaya Vs St. of U.P. & ors., 1193 AWC 847 (Para 2, 4, 6, 34)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mrs. Sunita Agarwal, J.)

1. Heard Sri A.B.Singh, learned counsel for the petitioners and Sri Vishal Tandon, learned brief holder appearing on behalf of the State.

2. The petitioners (seven in number) claimed to be working as Assistant Teachers in the Primary School attached to Jhauwa Dharma Nagar Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya Shikriganj, Gorakhpur, seek to challenge the order dated 21.08.2009 passed by the respondent no.4 rejecting their claim for payment of salary from the State Exchequer in the light of the judgement of this Court in Ramesh Upadhya Vs. State of U.P. & others reported in 1193 AWC 847.

3. The facts in brief relevant to decide the controversy at hand are that the institution namely Jhauwa Dharma Nagar Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya Shikriganj, Gorakhpur is affiliated to the Sampurnanand Sanskrit University, Varanasi which imparts Sanskrit education. It is contended that the said institution is aided and recognized and the salary of teachers of the college is being paid from the State fund but the teachers of the attached primary school section are not getting their salary from the State Exchequer.

4. It is contended that the primary institution, attached to the Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya was duly recognized by the District Basic Education Officer, Gorakhpur vide letter dated 10.01.1973 and permission to run the primary classes (Classes I to V) was duly accorded by the Sampurnanand Sanskrit University. Both the letters of recognition and permission to run the classes are appended as Annexure no.'1' & '2' to the writ petition. It is contended that the Government order was issued in the year 1989 providing for payment of salary to the attached primary section of the Intermediate College but the teachers working in the Sanskrit institutions recognized and affiliated from Junior High School to the Post Graduate level were not being paid salary from the State exchequer. Pleading protection of doctrine of equality under Article 14 of the Constitution, few teachers of the primary section of a Sanskrit University approached this Court in "Ramesh Upadhya" (Supra). This Court had issued directions to the State-respondents to pay salary to the primary section teachers in the Sanskrit institution in the same line as has been done in the case of primary sections/ institution attached to the High School and Intermediate Colleges. The primary teachers were also held entitled to other consequential benefits like Group Insurance, General Provident fund, retiral benefits etc. as was being paid to the primary section teachers in the High School and Intermediate colleges. Submission is that only requirement was that the secondary or degree college/institution must be affiliated with the Sampurnanand Sanskrit University and the primary section should be attached to the parent institution, which is aided and recognized. It is contended that the primary section of the institution-in-question is having the same status as that of the institution in "Ramesh Upadhya" (supra), the teachers working therein are, therefore, entitled to the same relief.

5. The petitioners claim to have been appointed in the year 1971-77, 1980-89 on different dates in the institution in question for teaching primary classes (class I to V). The submission is that they are entitled to salary and other allowances being teachers working in a recognized primary institution. Aggrieved by non-consideration of their claim, the petitioners filed a Writ Petition No.24514 of 2009 which was disposed of with the direction to consider their prayer and pass appropriate order. The Deputy Director (Sanskrit) for the Director of Education, U.P. Allahabad had passed the order dated 21.08.2009 rejecting their representation and hence this writ petition.

6. Learned counsel for the petitioner vehemently urged that with the permission being granted to the institution-in-question to run primary classes (from Class I to V) and the recognition given by the District Basic Education Officer, it cannot be said that the petitioners are not entitled to salary from the State fund. The plea taken by the Deputy Director that the decision in "Ramesh Upadhyaya" (supra) is not binding on him in as much as, in a similar matter a reference has been made to the Larger Bench of the Apex Court, is contemptuous. Mere reference to the Larger Bench of an issue would not take away the binding effect of the decision of a Court passed on merits.

7. As far as the merit of the order impugned, nothing much could be urged by learned counsel for the petitioners apart from the assertions noted herein above.

8. Learned Standing Counsel in rebuttal submits that mere recognition of the institution-in-question to run primary classes (I to V) would not bring any obligation on the State to pay salary of the teachers from the State fund, in much as, the institutions imparting Sanskrit education are not governed by the U.P. Basic Education Act' 1972 (in short Act' 1972). In order to regulate Sanskrit Education in the State of U.P. and for establishing the Board of Secondary Sanskrit Education, the U.P. Board of Secondary Sanskrit Education Act' 2000 (in short Act' 2000) had been enacted. The said Act provides for establishment of the U.P. Board of Secondary Sanskrit Education established under Section 3 thereof. The Government Sanskrit School and other institutions imparting Sanskrit Education upto Uttar Madhyama (Senior Secondary School) (Intermediate), affiliated to or recognized by the Government Sanskrit College, Varanasi or Sampurnanand Sanskrit University, Varanasi, running in the State of U.P. immediately before the commencement of the Act' 2000 are now deemed to have been recognized by the Board of Sanskrit Education from the date of commencement of the said Act and shall be governed by the provision of the Act' 2000. The examination of the persons pursuing "Prathama" (Junior High School), "Purva Madhyama" (High School) or "Uttar Madhyama" (Intermediate), courses of study in said institution are now being conducted by the Board of Sanskrit Education established under the Act' 2000.

9. Pertinent is to note that the institution-in-question is being run by a private committee of management which has not been impleaded in the present petition. Learned counsel for the petitioner was though permitted to implead Sampurnanand Sanskrit University as respondent no.5 in the array of parties, but there is no proper incorporation in the writ petition. No counter affidavit has been filed on behalf of Sampurnanand Sanskrit University. The Board of Sanskrit Education has not been impleaded as respondent though the District Inspector of School, Inspector of Sanskrit Pathshala has been impleded as respondent no.3.

10. The question before this Court is as to whether the primary institution in question can be said to be attached institution or integral part of the institution which is imparting Sanskrit Education from "Prathama" to "Acharya" (Junior High Schools to Post Graduate Level) and that whether recognition by the District Basic Education Officer for running Classes I to V by itself put obligation on the State to pay to the teachers of the primary institution.

11. To appreciate the said controversy, it would be apt to go through the relevant provisions of a few statutory enactments and the rules framed by the Government from time to time. In 1921, the U.P. Intermediate Education Act' 1921 (in short Act' 1921) was enacted to establish the Board of High School and Intermediate Education, which took place of the Allahabad University in regulating and supervising the System of High School and Intermediate Education in U.P. and prescribed courses therefor. Section 2 (a) of the Act' 1921 as amended in 1975 defines "Board" means the Board of High School and Intermediate Education and "Institution" defines in Section 2 (b) means a recognized Intermediate College, Higher Secondary School or High School and includes, where the context so requires, a part of an institution. "Recognition" in Section 2 (d) means recognition for the purpose of preparing candidates for admission to the Board's Examinations.

12. Section 7 sub sections (3) & (4) confer power on the Board to conduct examination at the level of the High School and Intermediate courses and to recognize institutions for the purpose of its examination; respectively. The U.P. High School and Intermediate Colleges (Payment of Salaries of Teachers and Other Employees) Act' 1971 (U.P. Act No.24 of 1971) was enacted to regulate the payment of salaries to teachers and other employees of the High School and Intermediate Colleges receiving aid out of the State fund and to provide for matters connected therewith. Section 2 (b) of the Act' 1971 defines "Institution" which means a recognized institution receiving maintenance grant from the State Government and includes a Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya or a Sanskrit Vidayalaya receiving maintenance grant from the State Government. It provides power to the Inspector of School namely District Inspector of Schools to make supervision in the matter of payment of salary to the teachers and other employees of the institution receiving maintenance grant and take action against such management which failed to disburse salary and post retiral benefits within time.

13. The U.P. Board of Basic Education Act' 1972 (in short as the Act'

1972) provides for the establishment of the Board of Basic Education and for matters connected therewith. The object of the Act is to strengthen the Basic Education (Primary and Junior High School) by reorganizing, reforming and expanding elementary education and to increase their usefulness by taking control and management of the primary education-institution, which were earlier managed by the Local Bodies (such as Zila Parishad and Municipal Board and Mahapalika in the State of U.P.). The said Act came into being from the academic session 1972-73. The expression "Basic Education" defined in Act' 1972 means :-

"Education upto the eight class imparted in schools other than high schools or intermediate college, and the expression "basic schools" shall be construed accordingly"

14. The definition of "Junior Basic School" and "Junior High School" in clauses (d-1) & (d-2) of sub section (1) of Section 2 inserted by U.P. Act No.2 of 2018, deemed to have come into force in August, 1972, provides the definition of the said expressions as follows:-

2(d-1)-"Junior Basic School" means a basic school in which education in imparted upto class fifth."

2(d-2)-"Junior High School" means a basic school in which education is imparted to boys or girls or to both from class sixth to class eighth."

15. One of the important functions of the Board as provided in Section 4 of Act' 1972 is to organize, co-ordinate and control the imparting of Basic Education. On coming into force of the said Act, the power of management, supervision and control over the Basic Schools defined in clauses (d-1) & (d-2) of sub Section (2), which before the appointed day was with the local bodies, stood transferred in respect of such school to the Board.

16. In exercise of powers under Sub Section (1) of Section 19 of the Act' 1972, the U.P. Recognized Basic Schools (Recruitment and Conditions of Service of Teachers and other Conditions) Rules' 1975 were framed. The "Junior Basic School" defined therein is an institution other than the High Schools or Intermediate Colleges imparting education upto Class V. "Recognized School" defined in Rule 2 (e) of Rules' 1975 means any "Junior Basic School", not being an institution belonging to or wholly maintained by the Board or any local body, recognized by the Board before the commencement of the Rules' 1975 for imparting education from Classes I to V. The "Board" in Rule 2 (c) of the Rules' 1975 means the U.P. Board of Basic Education constituted under Section 3 of the Act and the "District Basic Education Officer" in Section 2 (d) means the District Basic Education Officer appointed by the State Government.

17. For the applicability of the Rules' 1975, Rule 3 provides that every "recognized institution" shall be bound by the conditions and restriction specified therein. Rule 4 says that every "recognized school" must posses adequate financial resources for its efficient working and adequate facilities in accordance with the standard specified by the Board for teaching the subjects in respect of which such school is recognized. Rule 5 to 8 of the Rules' 1975 regulate the requirement of building and equipment to run the school, tuition fee and text books needed as per the curriculum prescribed by the Board. Rule 9 deals with the appointment of teachers in a recognized school and provides that no person shall be appointed as teacher or other employee in any recognized school unless he possess such qualifications as specified in this behalf by the Board and for whose appointment the previous approval of the Basic Education Officer has been obtained in writing. The procedure for appointment as provided therein is by publication of vacancy in daily newspaper and approval of selection by the Basic Education Officer. As far as the salary of teachers is concerned, Rule 10 provides that every recognized school shall pay the same scale of pay, dearness allowance etc. as are being paid to the teachers and employees of the Board possessing similar qualification and the payment shall be disbursed through cheque.

18. The recognition is granted with the object to supervise the working of the management of the recognized school to meet the standards of primary education.

19. The U.P. Junior High School (Payment of Salaries of Teachers and Other Employees) Act' 1978 came to be enacted by the U.P. Legislature to regulate the payment of salaries to the teachers and other employees of the junior high school receiving aid out of State fund and to provide for matters connected therewith. Clauses (b) & (d) of Section 2 of the Act' 1978 defines "Education Officer" as District Basic Education Officer appointed under the U.P. Basic Education Act' 1972 and "Inspector" means the District Inspector of Schools. Section 2 (e) defines "institution" means a recognized Junior High School for the time being receiving maintenance grant from the State Government. Sub section (2) (e-e) inserted by U.P. Act No.3 of 2018 provides for definition of "Junior High School" to mean as an institution which is different from the High School or Intermediate College in which education is imparted to boys or girls or to both from class VI to VIII.

20. "Maintenance grant" as defined in clause (f) of Section 2 means grant-in-aid of an institution provided by the State Government, by general or special order in that behalf to the level of the institution directed in the order. "Salary" of teachers means the aggregate of the emoluments including dearness or any other allowance, for the time being payable to a teacher or employee at the rate approved for the purpose of payment of maintenance grant. Section 2 (j) in the definition clause says :-

"(j) Other words and expressions defined in the Uttar Pradesh Basic Education Act, 1972 and not herein defined shall have the meanings assigned to them in that Act."

21. Section 10 of Act' 1978 makes State Government liable for payment of salaries of teachers and employees of every institution receiving maintenance grant due in respect of any period after the appointed day.

22. A cumulative reading of the aforesaid enactments indicates that though in Section 2(b) of the Act' 1971, expression "institution" includes a Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya or a Sanskrit Vidyalaya receiving maintenance grant from the State Government but neither the Basic Education Act' 1972 nor the Payment of Salaries Act' 1978 includes schools imparting Sanskrit education at junior high school level i.e. "Prathama". The Sanskrit Vidyalaya or Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya were initially maintained under the Varanasi Sanskrit Vidyalaya Act' 1956 which was renamed as Sampurnanand Sanskrit University, Varanasi. During the course of time, Sampurnanand Sanskrit University, Varanasi first Statute 1978 was framed under the U.P. State Universities Act' 1973 to regulate the affiliation of the institutions imparting Sanskrit Education. In Statute 12.01 of the Statute of the Sampurnanand Sanskrit University, framed under Section 37 (2) of the U.P. State Universities Act' 1973, four categories of institutions have been provided which were affiliated by the Sampurnanand Sanskrit University to conduct the examination for the courses imparted by them.

1.	स्नाकोत्तर उपाधि महाविद्यालय (Post Graduate Degree College)	for imparing courses from "Prathama" upto "Acharya" and Post Graduate examination.
2.	उपाधि महाविद्यालय (Degree Colleges)	affiliated for "Shastri" (Graduate) examination (which may include courses from Prathama to Shashtri).
3.	उत्तर माध्यमिक महाविद्यालय (Senior Secondary School)	affiliated for imparting education upto "Uttar Madhyama" (Intermediate) examination (may include such institutions imparting courses from Prathama to Uttar Madhyama)
4.	पूर्व माध्यमिक विद्यालय (High School)	affiliated for imparting education upto "Purva Madhyama" (High School) which may include courses from Prathama to Madhyama.

23 Thus, under the Statute of the Sampurnanand Sanskrit University, affiliation could be granted from "Prathama" (junior High School) to "Shashtri" (Post Graduate). There was no provision for grant of recognition or affiliation for the purpose of running a primary education Classes (I to V) institution in the Statute of the Sampurnanand Sanskrit University.

24. With the enactment of the U.P. Board of Sanskrit Education' 2000 w.e.f 01.11.2000, (deemed to have come into force on 30.09.2000) enacted to regulate the Sanskrit education in the State of U.P., the institution imparting Sanskrit education upto "Uttar Madhyama (Intermediate)" are now recognized by the U.P. Board of Secondary Sanskrit Education established under Section 3 of the said Act. The "institution" as defined in Section 2 (f) of the Act' 2000 means:-

"Institution" means a sanskrit school imparting sanskrit education upto Uttar Madhayama recognized by the Board".

25. Section 2 (e) provides that the District Inspector of School shall discharge the functions of "Inspector" under the Act. Under Section 9 of the Act' 2000, the Board is to prescribe courses of instructions, text books etc. for "Prathama", "Madhyama", "Uttar Madhyama" (Junior High School to Intermediate) courses in Sanskrit Education and to conduct examination of the said courses and to grant diploma or certificate to the persons pursuing the same.

26. Section 13 of the Act' 2000 states that all institutions imparting Sanskrit Education upto "Uttar Madhyama", constituted in the State of U.P., immediately before the commencement of this Act, affiliated to or recognized by the Government Sanskrit College, Varanasi or Sampurnanand Sanskrit University, Varanasi shall be deemed to have been recognized by the Sanskrit Education Board under the Act' 2000 and shall cease to be affiliated to or recognized by the said college or University and shall be governed by the provisions of the Act' 2000.

27. Meaning thereby since September 30, 2000, the part of the institution-in-question for imparting Sanskrit education from "Prathama to Uttar Madhyama" is governed by the provisions of the Act' 2000 and is deemed to be recognized by the U.P. Board of Sanskrit Education. For the purposes of higher Sanskrit education such as "Shashtri" & "Acharya" course, the institution continue to be affiliated with the Sampurnanand Sanskrit University which shall conduct the said examination.

28. As far as the primary institution (class I to V), neither there was any provision in the Statute of the erstwhile University or in the Sampurnanand Sanskrit University first Statute' 1978 to regulate the same. There was, thus, no question of affiliation with the said Universities. Mere permission by the University to run classes I to V, therefore, is of no relevance.

29. At the best, the part of the institution in question running classes I to V can be said to be recognized by the Board of Basic Education pursuant to the order dated 10.01.1973 (Annexure No.'1' to the writ petition.). Maintenance grant provided to the institution-in-question for imparting Sanskrit education from "Prathama" (Junior High School) to "Shashtri" (Graduation) would not ipso-facto extend the said grant to the primary institution (classes I to V), treating it as an integral part of the Sanskrit Mahavidyalaya. The law laid down by the Supreme Court in the case of State of U.P. and others Vs. Pawan Kumar Dwivedi & others reported in 2014 (9) SCC 692 would not be attracted in the above noted facts and circumstances of the present case, in as much as, in the said case question was of payment of salary to the teachers and employees of a recognized "basic school" running classes from primary to junior high school i.e. classes I to VIII. By reading of the expression "Junior High School" for the purposes of Act' 1978 having the same meaning as that of the "Basic Education" in Section 2(b) of Act' 1972, it was held therein that the expression "Junior High School" in the Act' 1978 is intended to refer to the schools imparting "Basic Education" i.e. education upto class VIII. It was held that the fact that the legislature used expression "Junior High School" in the Act' 1978 and not the "basic school" as used and defined in Act' 1972 is insignificant. It was concluded that if a "junior basic school" (classes I to V) is added after obtaining necessary recognition to the recognized and aided Senior basic school (class VI to VIII), then such "junior basic school" became integral part of one school i.e. the basic school having classes I to VIII.

30. The said analogy drawn by the Apex Court, in the opinion of this Court, cannot be imported here to bring a primary institution/[classes (I to V)] added to an institution imparting Sanskrit education from junior High School level "(Prathama)" to the higher level of education "(Shahstri or Acharya)".

31. As regards the obligation of the State of imparting free education to the children upto the age of 14 years, a constitutional guarantee under Article 21-A of the Constitution brought by 86th Amendment' 2002, suffice it to note that even prior to the insertion of the said Article, the Apex Court in Unni Krishnan, J.P. and others Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh and others reported in 1993 (1) SCC 645 had observed that children upto the age of 14 years have a fundamental right to free education stipulated in Article 45 of the Constitution of India. However, at the same time, it observed that the said obligation cannot be said to be performed only through the State school but it can also be done by permitting, recognising and aiding voluntary non-governmental organisations, who are prepared to impart free education to children.. The observation in paragraph no.176 in Unni Krishnan (supra) read as follows:-

"176. This does not however mean that this obligation can be performed only through the State Schools. It can also be done by permitting, recognising and aiding voluntary non-governmental organisations, who are prepared to impart free education to children. This does not also mean that unaided private schools cannot continue. They can, indeed, they too have a role to play. They meet the demand of that segment of population who may not wish to have their children educated in State-run schools. They have necessarily to charge fees from the students. In this judgment, however, we do not wish to say anything about such schools or for that matter other private educational institutions except "professional colleges'. This discussion is really necessitated on account of the principles enunciated in Mohini Jain v. State of Karnataka (1992) 3 SCC 666 and the challenge mounted against those principles in these writ petitions."

32. In T.M.A. Pai Foundation and Ors. Vs. State of Karnataka and Ors. reported in 2002 (8) SCC 481, the eleven judges Constitutional bench of the Apex Court had approved the view of Unni Krishnan's (supra) to the extent that it had held that primary education is a fundamental right, though it did not agree with the scheme framed in Unni Krishnan (supra) case and the direction to impose the same in respect of the fee charged by private institutions.

33. Thus, under the scheme of the legal Enactments and the judicial pronouncement of the Apex Court noted above, at least this much is clear that the State is under no obligation to provide maintenance grant to each private institution imparting primary education or free education to children from age (6 to 14 years). At the same time, it is necessary for a primary institution to seek recognition by the Board of Basic Education. Mere recognition by the Board, however, does not entitle the institution to seek maintenance grant from the State. Further, even in a recognized institution, not receiving maintenance grant, the appointment of teachers has to be made with the approval of the Basic Education Officer.

34. The decision in "Ramesh Upadhaya" (supra) by the co-ordinate bench of this Court does not consider any of the above legal aspect of the matter and as such is not binding on this Court being per-incurium.

35. It must, therefore, be held that the petitioners are not entitled to get salary from the State exchequer for the mere fact that the primary institution was recognized by the Board of Basic Schools. In so far as the plea that it was an attached institution to the Sanskrit Degree College, the same is found misconceived for the above noted reasons.

36. At the same time, this Court does not agree with the conclusion of the Deputy Director of Education (Sanskrit) that the Board of Basic Education was not having power to grant recognition to the institution-in-question to run primary classes. The recognition granted on 10.01.1973 is a permanent valid recognition within the meaning of the Basic Education Act' 1972 read with the Rules' 1975. The primary section of the institution-in-question is, thus, to be treated as a separate entity being a "recognized school" within the meaning of Rules' 1975 and shall be governed by the Act' 1972 read with Rules' 1975 as a "Junior Basic School" within the meaning of Section 2(1) (d-1) of the Basic Education Act' 1972 for all other relevant purposes.

37. It shall not open for the Basic Education Officer or any other educational authority to interfere in the running of the said "junior basic school" except in a case of contravention of the Act' 1972 or the Rules' 1975. However, it will be open for the management to make a request to the State Government for bringing this institution in its grant-in-aid list, in accordance with law.

38. Subject to the above observations and directions, the writ petition is dismissed.

Present writ petition challenges order dated April 11, 2002, passed by Regional Manager, U.P. State Road Transport Corporation, Aligarh; order dated June 10, 2003, passed by Regional Chief Manager, U.P. State Road Transport Corporation, Meerut; Revisional Order dated November 17, 2003, passed by Chairman, Transport Corporation, Lucknow.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.)

1. Heard Sri S.K. Rao, learned counsel for petitioner and Sri Ramanuj Pandey, learned counsel for respondents.

2. This writ petition under Article 226 of Constitution of India has been filed by sole petitioner Bijendra Pal, assailing order dated 11.04.2002 (Annexure- 6 to the writ petition) passed by Regional Manager, U.P. State Road Transport Corporation, Aligarh (hereinafter referred to as "Disciplinary Authority") imposing punishment of removal; order dated 10.06.2003 (Annexure- 8 to the writ petition) passed by Regional Chief Manager, U.P. State Road Transport Corporation, Meerut rejecting appeal of petitioner and Revisional Order dated 17.11.2003 (Annexure-10 to the writ petition) passed by Chairman, Transport Corporation, Lucknow rejecting petitioner's representation. A mandamus has also been prayed by petitioner directing respondents to reinstate him in service with all consequential benefits.

3. Facts in brief, giving rise to the present writ petition are, that petitioner was initially appointed as Driver in U.P. State Road Transport Corporation (hereinafter referred to as "UPSRTC") and posted in Aligarh Depot, Iind, (Budha Bihar Depot). He met an accident in 1994 and was declared disabled to work as Driver vide UPSRTC's order dated 15.03.1995. Hence, he was accommodated to work as Conductor and posted in Hathras Depot.

4. On the allegation of carrying passengers without ticket and causing loss to UPSRTC, petitioner was suspended vide order dated 30.04.2001. A charge-sheet dated 10.05.2001 was served upon him containing single charge, which reads as under:-

"आपके विरूद्ध श्री मनोज कुमार त्रिवेदी सहायक क्षेत्रीय प्रबन्धक, बुलन्दशहर ने रिपोर्ट प्रस्तुत की है कि दिनांक 25.4.2001 को नरौरा डिपो की बस सं0 यू0पी0 81/ 9328 जिसका संचालन आप श्री रनवीर सिंह चालक के साथ बबराला –दिल्ली मार्ग पर कर रहे थे, का आकस्मिक निरीक्षण अपने सहयोगी वरिष्ठ स्टेशन प्रभारी व अन्य के साथ बुलन्दशहर पहुंचते हुये 17.00 बजे किया। निरीक्षण के समय आपकी बस में कुल 41 यात्री यात्रारत पाये गये। बस का भौतिक निरीक्षण करने पर पाया गया कि बस में 18 यात्री शिकारपुर से दिल्ली के बिना टिकट पाये तथा 09 यात्री जो शिकारपुर से दिल्ली के लिये बैठे थे तथा किराया भी दिल्ली से शिकारपुर तक का दिया गया, परन्तु इन 09 यात्रियो को आपके द्वारा शिकारपुर से दिल्ली के टिकट न देकर कम दूरी के टिकट बुलन्दशहर से दिल्ली का दिया गया था। निरीक्षकों द्वारा बिना टिकट यात्रियों के टिकट आपके टिकट रिक्त पुस्तिका से टिकट सं0 5927191 पर 45 ग 9 त्र 405 तथा 592192 पर 45 ग 9 त्र 405 जारी कर यात्रियों को दिया तथा शिकारपुर से बुलन्दशहर का अन्तर टिकट सं0 5927190 पर 10 ग 9 त्र 90 का जारी कर यात्रियों को दिया गया। बिना टिकट यात्रियों से आप किराया धनराशि निरीक्षण से पूर्व ही वसूल कर चुके थे। निरीक्षको द्वारा मार्ग पत्र में आवश्यक टिप्पणी अंकित कर मार्ग पत्र की एवं जारी किये गये टिकटों की मूल प्रतियों को निरीक्षण स्थल पर ही रोक लिया गया तथा मार्ग पत्र पर आपके भी हस्ताक्षर कराये गये। यदि बस का आकस्मिक निरीक्षण न किया गया होता तो आप निगम किरया धनराशि 900/– अपने निजी स्वार्थ में हड़पने में सफल हो जाते और निगम को हानि उठानी पड़ती। आपका यह कृत्य भ्रष्टाचार मे लिप्त पाये जाने का द्योतक है।

"Shri Manoj Kumar Trivedi, Asstt. Regional Manager, Bulandshahr has presented a report against you that he along with his colleagues, the Senior Station Incharge and others, reached Bulandshahr and made a surprise inspection of Bus No. UP 81/9328 of Narora Depot, which you were plying along with the driver Ranveer Singh, on 25.04.2001 at 17 o'clock. At the time of the inspection, total 41 passengers were found travelling in your bus. On physical inspection of the bus,18 passengers were found to be travelling without ticket in the bus from Shikarpur to Delhi and 09 passengers were travelling from Shikarpur to Delhi and they had paid fare for Delhi to Shikarpur. Despite all this, all the 09 passengers were given tickets by you for Bulandshahr to Delhi, that is for a lesser distance instead of tickets from Shikarpur to Delhi. The passengers travelling without tickets were issued tickets by the Inspectors, 45x9 =405 on ticket no. 5927191 from your ticket blank book and the passengers were issued 45x9 on ticket number 592192. The passengers were issued tickets for differential distance for Shikarpur to Bulandshahr, 10x9=90 on ticket no. 5927190. You had realized fare from the ticket-less passengers prior to the inspection. The inspectors on inspection site itself recorded necessary remarks in the Route Book and withheld the originals of the tickets issued, and even your signature was obtained. If surprise inspection of the bus had not been made, you would have managed to grab the fare amount of Rs. 900 for your private ends and the Corporation would have to suffer the said loss. This act of yours is reflective of your involvement in corruption.

Hence, you stands charged with (1) being involved in corrupt practices by letting 18 passengers travel without tickets and issuing tickets for lesser distance to 09 passengers on 25.04.2001, (2) working against the interest of the Corporation, (3) not performing your duties and responsibilities, (4) working contrary to the employees conduct code and (5) working against the employees service regulations and so on."

(English Translation by Court)

5. Assistant Regional Manager (Karmik), Aligarh was appointed as Enquiry Officer to conduct enquiry. Denying the charge, petitioner submitted reply dated 30.05.2001. Enquiry officer after conducting enquiry, submitted report dated 05.11.2001 holding charges proved, whereafter a show cause notice dated 25.01.2002 was issued, supplying copy of enquiry report to petitioner. Disciplinary Authority agreeing with the findings of Enquiry Officer, proposed punishment of "Removal" in the said show-cause notice. Petitioner submitted reply dated 06.03.2002. Thereafter, Disciplinary Authority imposed punishment of removal vide order dated 11.04.2002. Against said order, petitioner preferred appeal which was dismissed vide order dated 10.06.2003 and thereafter revision was also dismissed vide order dated 17.11.2003. These three orders of Disciplinary Authority, Appellate Authority and Revisional Authority are under challenge in the present writ petition.

6. Learned counsel for petitioner contended that charge of carrying 27 passengers without ticket has been held proved though not even a single passenger has been examined and therefore, it cannot be said that charge has been proved by adducing any valid evidence; enquiry has not been conducted properly and charge has been held proved on conjecture and surmises; and that punishment is highly excessive and disproportionate the charge found proved. He has placed reliance on a Supreme Court decision in Roop Singh Negi Vs. Punjab National Bank 2009(2) SCC 570.

7. Learned counsel for respondents, however, submitted that petitioner was a Conductor in the bus and Inspection Team of UPSRTC checked the vehicle; inspection Report has been duly proved and non-examination of passengers, who were found travelling in the bus without ticket, is of no legal consequences since examination of passengers was not necessary in such cases; adequate opportunity was given to petitioner and punishment imposed upon him is just and valid, hence, no interference is called for.

8. From the record, it transpires that on 25.04.2001, petitioner was working as Conductor in Bus No. UP-81/9328 of Naraura Depot, running on Babrala-Delhi route. A surprise checking was conducted by Senior Station In-charge and others at around 5:00 p.m. when bus was reaching at Bulandshahr. Inspection Team found a total 41 passengers travelling in the bus, out of which 18 passengers, travelling from Shikarpur to Delhi were without any ticket and 9 passengers who boarded bus at Shikarpur and their destination was Delhi had paid fare from Shikarpur to Delhi but tickets were issued by petitioner for a shorter distance i.e. Bulandshahr to Delhi, instead of Shikarpur to Delhi. Further, petitioner had already charged fare from passengers who were found travelling without ticket. Inspection Team issued tickets to passengers travelling without ticket from Ticket Book possessed by petitioner. Ranveer Singh was driver of the bus.

9. In the reply to charge-sheet submitted by petitioner, he admits this fact that he was working as Conductor in Bus No. UP-81/9328 on 25.04.2001, when bus was running from Babrala to Delhi route. When bus reached Shikarpur, 27 passengers boarded and when they were boarding, Sri Manoj Kumar Trivedi, Assistant Regional Manager, Bulandshahr along with checking squad came. Petitioner asked checking team that let passengers sit in the bus and thereafter petitioner may be allowed to issue tickets and then checking be conducted but checking team snatched Ticket Book from petitioner and arbitrarily issued tickets and under threat obtained signature of petitioner on the inspection note. He alleged that Assistant Regional Manager, who conducted checking has concealed the fact that bus was at halt and not running which was got stopped and thereafter checked. He further said that checking was made at Shikarpur and not while bus was reaching Bulandshahr.

10. Thus, preparation of Inspection Report mentioning the fact that checking was conducted when bus was reaching at Bulandshahr and passengers were found without ticket and that checking report was signed by petitioner are the facts which are admitted by petitioner. He, however, has disputed contents of inspection note.

11. In these circumstances, onus shifted upon petitioner to show that contents of checking report were not correct and his signature was obtained under threat for which he did not adduce any evidence whatsoever. Even Driver of bus who was in a position to give correct facts, was not produced by petitioner in support of his defence whereby he challenged correctness of the facts stated in checking report which admittedly contained petitioner's signature.

12. The question as to how oral enquiry would be conducted depends on facts of each case.

13. It cannot be disputed when a charge is completely denied, Employer has to prove the charge first and thereafter employee would be required to adduce his defence to disprove the allegations, but when some part of the incident is admitted that the manner in which it happened is disputed by employee, the fact given by employee in his defence is to be proved by him.

14. In the present case, a checking report was prepared mentioning the factum that petitioner was carrying passengers without ticket and thereby caused loss to UPSRTC. This checking report was duly signed by petitioner. This document was an evidence relied in the charge-sheet. Since in reply, aforesaid document itself was not disputed by petitioner, instead his stand was that the facts stated in the report do not depict correct facts and contain some incorrect facts, hence, onus was upon petitioner to show that checking report contained incorrect facts.

15. One of the best witness which would have been able to make his statement on this aspect, whether checking was conducted when bus was reaching Bulandshahr or Shikarpur and whether passengers were boarding the bus at Shikarpur when checking was made or passengers had actually travelled distance from Shikarpur and while reaching Bulandshahr, checking was made and they were found without ticket, could have been got verified by petitioner through Driver of bus but he made no such attempt. Since documents of department, as such, was not denied but correctness thereof was denied, hence, non-examination of any oral evidence on behalf of Employer makes no difference in the facts of this case and onus itself shifted upon petitioner to show that facts stated in the report were not correct as he put his defence in reply to charge-sheet.

16. In these facts and circumstances, the judgment cited by learned counsel for petitioner in his support, I find has no application to the facts of this case.

17. So far as non-examination of ticket-less passengers is concerned, I find that in the case of charge of travelling of passengers without tickets, factum that passengers were not made witnesses or their statements were not recorded, has not been found to be relevant or a crucial aspect for valid inquiry.

18. The scope of judicial review in such matter was examined in State of Haryana and Another v. Rattan Singh 1977 (2) SCC 491, wherein Court held that sufficiency of evidence in proof of finding by a domestic Tribunal is beyond scrutiny but in absence of any evidence in support of ending his certainty justified judicial review and interference by Court. However, evidence of Inspector of flying squad was relevant and if it supports the charge, it cannot be said that finding recorded by domestic Tribunal proving the charge is based on no evidence. Court specifically held "We cannot hold that merely because statements of passengers were not recorded the order that followed was invalid. Likewise, the re-evaluation of the evidence on the strength of co-conductor's testimony is a matter not for the Court but for the administrative Tribunal."

19. A similar view was taken in Divisional Manager, Rajasthan S.R.T.C. vs. Kamruddin (2009) 7 SCC 552.

20. Both the above authorities were followed while repelling similar argument that non-examination of passengers would vitiate findings of guilt raised in North West Karnataka Road Transport Corporation v. H.H. Pujar (2008) 12 SCC 698.

21. Learned counsel for petitioner urged that in fact, no oral enquiry was held since dates were fixed but no witness by Employer was examined and, therefore, here is a case where major penalty of removal has been imposed without holding any oral enquiry. He placed reliance on a Division Bench Judgment of this Court in Writ A No. 7500 of 2016, Kunwar Pal vs. State of U.P. and Another, decided on 29.05.2018.

22. As I have already held that here is a case where charge is founded on a checking report existence thereof was not disputed by petitioner. In fact, he has also signed the said report but what he claimed is that report contained incorrect facts and for proving this aspect, onus lay upon petitioner to adduce evidence but he did not adduce any evidence, therefore, it cannot be said that non-production of any witness by Employer vitiates disciplinary proceedings in the case in hand. Hence, the aforesaid judgment and the principle of law is not applicable to the facts of this case.

23. Lastly, it is contended that punishment imposed upon petitioner is highly excessive or disproportionate to the gravity of charge and, therefore, it deserves to be set aside.

24. Here also, I find no force in the submission. It is not a case where misconduct of petitioner has not been found proved. It is also not a case where disciplinary enquiry was not conducted in a fair manner or principles of natural justice have been denied. The question of imposition of major penalty upon a Conductor of a Transport Corporation who has been found short charging of fare or carrying passengers without ticket was considered by Supreme Court in Karnataka S.R.T.C. v. B.S. Hullikatti (2001) 2 SCC 574, and Court said as under:-

"5. On the facts as found by the Labour Court and the High Court, it is evident that there was a short-charging of the fare by the respondent from as many as 35 passengers. We are informed that the respondent had been in service as a Conductor for nearly 22 years. It is difficult to believe that he did not know what was the correct fare which was to be charged. Further-more, the appellant had during the disciplinary proceedings taken into account the fact that the respondent had been found guilty for as many as 36 times on different dates. Be that as it may, the principle of res ipsa loquitur, namely, the facts speak for themselves, is clearly applicable in the instant case. Charging 50 paise per ticket less from as many as 35 passengers could only be to get financial benefit by the Conductor. this act was either dishonest or was so grossly negligent that the respondent was not fit to be retained as a Conductor because such action or inaction of his is bound to result in financial loss to the appellant-Corporation.

6. It is misplaced sympathy by the Labour Courts in such cases when on checking it is fund that the Bus Conductors have either not issued tickets to a large number of passengers, though they should have, or have issued tickets of a lower denomination knowing fully well the correct fare to be charged. It is the responsibility of the Bus Conductors to collect the correct fare from the passengers and deposit the same with the Company. they act in a fiduciary capacity and it would be a case of gross misconduct if knowingly they do not collect any fare or the correct amount of fare."

25. The above decision was followed by a three Judges Bench of Supreme Court in Regional Manager, Rajasthan State Road Transport Corporation vs. Ghanshyam Sharma SCC (2002) 10 330, wherein Court said "The main duty or function of the Conductor is to issue tickets and collect fare and then deposit the same with the Road Transport Corporation and when a conductor fails to do so, then it will be misplaced sympathy to order his re-employment instead of dismissal."

26. The above authorities show that a Conductor held fiduciary relation with Employer and if he is found allowing travelling by passengers without tickets, it is a serious misconduct justifying maximum penalty of dismissal. Mere fact that subsequently fare was relied by checking squad it found sufficient to condone the misconduct committed by person concerned. Further it is not a number of passengers or quantum of ticket which will weigh the penalty but is the conduct which is of substance to examine whether penalty is justified or not. A Conductor who has failed to discharge his only duty of allowing passengers to travel after paying appropriate fare and to deposit the same with Employer is guilty of serious misconduct and deserves to be given maximum punishment.

27. In Writ Petition No. 4253 (S/S) of 1991 Jagdish Prasad Sharma Vs. U.P. State Public Services Tribunal & Others, decided on 15.2.2017, which was also case of bus conductor of UPSRTC. This Court in para 14 and 15 said as under :-

"14. We do not propose to multiply authorities on this aspect and suffice it to mention that dishonesty, lack of integrity on the part of an official of Corporation, going to the extent of causing loss to Corporation, of which the official is holding position in trust, is a very serious matter. It is the aptitude of a person which leans towards dishonesty and corruption or bad conduct, that needs punished. The circumstances or quantum of loss or amount of misappropriation or other things cannot be considered as a justification for such misconduct on the part of official concerned, so as to justify a lenient view on the issue of punishment.

15. There is no question of leniency or sympathy. In fact any indulgence in such matter will make even Court a party to such dishonest action, which has to be avoided, prevented and is totally uncalled for. Court cannot be a party to a misdeed of a person. On the contrary, once a person had indulged in misconduct, shown lack of integrity or honesty etc., adequate preventive punishment, which may be a lesson to others also, is need of the day."

28. In Regional Manager, U.P.S.R.T.C, Etawah & Ors. vs Hoti Lal & Anr 2003(3) SCC 605, where Court said that it is the responsibility of Bus Conductor to collect correct fare from passengers and deposit the same with Corporation. They act in a fiduciary capacity and it would be a case of gross misconduct if knowingly they do not collect any fare or the correct amount of fare.

29. In Divisional Controller, KSRTC (NWKRTC) Vs. A.T. Mane, (2005) 3 SCC 254, amount found in possession being unaccounted money was only Rs. 93/-, but dealing with the question of quantum of punishment, Court said;

"..... question of quantum of punishment, one should bear in mind the fact that it is not the amount of money misappropriated that becomes a primary factor for awarding punishment, on the contrary, it is the loss of confidence which is the primary factor to be taken into consideration. In our opinion, when a person is found guilty of misappropriating corporation's fund, there is nothing wrong in the corporation losing confidence or faith in such a person and awarding a punishment of dismissal."

(emphasis added)

30. In Divisional Controller, N.E.K.R.T.C. Vs. H. Amaresh (2006) 6 SCC 187, Court held that even short remittance amounts to mis-conduct and justifies major penalty.

31. In Uttar Pradesh State Road Transport Corporation Vs. Nanhe Lal Kushwaha, 2009 (8) SCC 772, Court held that a Conductor depositing lesser amount, irrespective of fact that the amount was small and the incumbent has retired, no interference would be justified in the matter of penalty.

32. In Rajasthan State TPT Corporation and another Vs. Bajrang Lal, (2014) 4 SCC 693, Court said;

"in cases involving corruption- there cannot be any other punishment than dismissal. Any sympathy shown in such cases is totally uncalled for and opposed to public interest. The amount misappropriated may be small or large; it is the act of misappropriation that is relevant." (emphasis added)

33. Applying the exposition of law as discussed above to the facts of the case, I find that petitioner was a Conductor whose responsibility was to ensure that any passenger who travel in the bus in which he is working as Conductor has paid due fare for the distance he has to travel and no person is allowed to travel without ticket so that no loss is caused to UPSRTC. Petitioner has not discharged his above duty and committed a serious misconduct in discharge of his duty.

34. When an employee fails to discharge fundamental duties he is supposed to perform, which includes even financial aspects, Courts are not supposed to interfere in the discretion of selection of punishment by Disciplinary Authority since they are the best judge to decide what punishment should be impose upon erring official. The role of Court in the matter of departmental proceedings is very limited and Court cannot substitute its own views and findings by replacing findings arrived at by authority on detailed appreciation of evidence on record. In the matter of imposition of sentence, scope of interference by Court is very limited and restricted to exceptional cases. Punishment imposed by Disciplinary Authority or Appellate Authority unless, shocking to the conscience of the Court, cannot be subjected to judicial review. Court has to record reasons as to why punishment is disproportionate. Failure to give reasons amounts to denial of justice.

35. In Union of India v. Bodupalli Gopalaswami, (2011) 13 SCC 553, Sanjay Kumar Singh v. Union of India & Ors., (AIR 2012 SC 1783) and S.R. Tewari v. Union of India, (2013) 6 SCC 602, Court said that mere statement that punishment is disproportionate to charge is not sufficient and appropriate reasons have to be recorded by Court if it proposed to interfere with quantum of punishment.

36. Explaining the earlier judgment In Ranjit Thakur v. Union of India & Ors., AIR 1987 SC 2386, where Court held that punishment has to suit the offence and the offender. It should not be vindictive or unduly harsh. It should not be so disproportionate to the offence as to shock the conscience and amount in itself to conclusive evidence of bias.

37. In Union of India & Ors. v. R.K. Sharma, AIR 2001 SC 3053, Court said that if the charge was ridiculous, the punishment was harsh or strikingly disproportionate it would warrant interference. However, it is only in extreme cases, which on their face, show perversity or irrationality, there could be judicial review and courts should not interfere merely on compassionate grounds. The employees when act in fiduciary capacity and commits default, in financial matters, major penalty has been upheld.

38. In the entirety of the facts as discussed above and the exposition of law, I do not find any manifest error in the orders impugned in the present petition so as to justify interference by this Court.

39. Writ petition lacks merit and is accordingly dismissed.

A. Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 - Section 90; U.P. Motor Vehicle Rules, 1998: Rules 60,

91 (2)-Petitioners challenged order dated 22.11.2018, passed by the Regional Transport Authority, Aligarh, which was dismissed on the ground of limitation by the Appellate Tribunal. Allowing the petition, the High Court held - In absence of publication or proof of communication of order, the date of order would be deemed to be the date on which the order is communicated or published. (Para 20, 22)

B. Power to condone delay has to be liberally construed to advance the cause of justice. (Para 23)

Writ Petition allowed (E-4)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ashok Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Sri A.R. Dube, learned counsel for the petitioners and Sri P.K. Giri, learned Additional C.S.C., who represents all the respondents.

2. Considering the nature of the order that is being passed, the learned counsel for the respondents does not pray for time to file counter affidavit and therefore with the consent of learned counsel for the parties, this petition is being disposed of finally.

3. The petitioners are aggrieved by an order and the judgment of the State Transport Appellate Tribunal, U.P. dated 26.04.2019 thereby the State Transport Appellate Tribunal, herein after referred as the 'Appellate Tribunal' has dismissed / rejected the Misc. Case No. 28 of 2019 and 29 of 2019 filed by the petitioner nos. 1 and 2 solely on the ground of limitation without touching the merit of the case.

4. The fact of the case are that the petitioners are indulged in transport business and they applied for grant of permanent stage carriage permits on the route. The applications of the petitioners for grant of stage carriage permits are considered by the Regional Transport Authority, Aligarh and the Regional Transport Authority, Aligarh by its resolution have granted permanent stage carriage permit to the petitioners by imposing model condition of vehicle of ten years age. The date of grant of permission by the Regional Transport Authority, Aligarh was 22.11.2018, however according to the petitioner the order of grant of permission was not pronounced on the said date i.e. on 22.11.2018 and it was kept pending by the Regional Transport Authority, Aligarh.

5. The petitioners' claims that on several times they approached the office of the Regional Transport Authority, Aligarh and requested for issuance of the copy of the grant of permission, however the same was not delivered.

6. According to the petitioners the applications are moved on 19.12.2018 before the Regional Transport Authority, Aligarh with a request to provide the certified copy of the order granting the permission dated 22.11.2018 to the petitioners but neither any information was supplied nor the copy of the decision was issued.

7. The petitioners' claims that they have continuously approached the office of the Regional Transport Authority, Aligarh but failed in their efforts to get the copy of the order dated 22.11.2018 of grant of permission.

8. The petitioners submits that the copy of the order dated 22.11.2018 passed by the Regional Transport Authority, Aligarh was only provided to the petitioners on 21.02.2019 in which the date of issuance of the copy of the order was mentioned as 19.12.2018 instead of 21.02.2019. The petitioners approached the office of the Secretary, Regional Transport Authority, Aligarh to correct the date of issuance of the order dated 22.11.2018 but no heed was paid on the request of the petitioners to correct the date of issuance of the copy of the order dated 22.11.2018.

9. The counsel for the petitioners submits that since permanent stage carriage permits have been granted to the petitioners on the applied route with the condition that for lifting the permit the age of the vehicle should not be more than ten years.

10. According to the petitioners the condition stipulated in the permit was not correct nor acceptable, hence the petitioners were advised by their counsel to file an appeal / Misc. case before the State Transport Appellate Tribunal, U.P., hence the petitioners have filed Misc. Case / Appeals before the State Transport Appellate Tribunal, U.P. at Lucknow, which are numbered being Misc. Case No. 28 of 2019 and Misc. Case No. 29 of 2019.

11. Both the above Misc. cases were heard together by the Appellate Tribunal and are decided by a common judgment and order dated 26.04.2019 whereby the appeals / Misc. cases of the petitioners are dismissed on the ground of limitation without touching the merit of the case, hence the present petition.

12. The contention of the counsel for the petitioners is that admittedly the copy of the judgment and order passed by the Regional Transport Authority, Aligarh has been served upon the petitioners on 21.02.2019 against which the appeals / Misc. cases have been filed by the petitioners on 14.03.2019, that is within a period of 30 days, even then the Appellate Tribunal has dismissed the appeals / Misc. cases of the petitioners treating the same are filed beyond the prescribed limitation.

13. Learned counsel for the petitioners submits that the copy of the impugned order passed by the Regional Transport Authority, Aligarh dated 22.11.2018 are received on 21.02.2019 and not on 19.12.2018 therefore the rejection of the appeals / Misc. cases by the appellate Tribunal is totally illegal, arbitrary and bad.

14. Learned counsel for the petitioners placed reliance of the provision of Section 90 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988 which reads as follows:-

"Section 90. Revision.- The State Transport Appellate Tribunal may, on an application made to it, call for the record of any case in which an order has been made by a State Transport Authority or Regional Transport Authority against which no appeal lies, and if it appears to the State Transport Appellate Tribunal that the order made by the State Transport Authority or Regional Transport Authority is improper or illegal, the State Transport Appellate Tribunal may pass such order in relation to the case as it deems fit and every such order shall be final.

Provided that the State Transport Appellate Tribunal shall not entertain any application from a person aggrieved by an order of a State Transport Authority or Regional Transport Authority, unless the application is made within thirty days from the date of the order.

Provided further that the State Transport Appellate Tribunal may entertain the application after the expiry of the said period of thirty days, if it is satisfied that the applicant was prevented by good and sufficient cause from making the application in time.

Provided also that the State Transport Appellate Tribunal shall not pass an order under this section prejudicial to any person without giving him a reasonable opportunity of being heard."

15. Learned counsel for the petitioners submits that admittedly the order dated 22.11.2018 passed by the Regional Transport Authority, Aligarh was not communicated to the petitioners either on the date of order or thereafter or before 21.02.2019 therefore the rejection of the appeals / Misc. cases by the Appellate Tribunal on the ground of limitation is wholly illegal bad and is also against the provision of Section 90 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988.

16. Learned counsel for the petitioners has referred the second proviso of Section 90 of the Act.

17. Learned counsel for the petitioners submits that since there was no delay in filing the appeals / Misc. cases at the hands of the petitioners therefore there was no occasion to file the delay condonation application.

18. He has further referred Rule 91(2) of U.P. Motor Vehicle Rules, 1998 which provides that any aggrieved person may prefer an appeal within a period of 30 days of the receipt of the order.

19. In the instant case the petitioners claims that they received the copy of the order impugned only on 21.02.2019 and the same were never communicated to the petitioners prior to 21.02.2019 therefore the appeals / Misc. cases filed by the petitioners on 18.03.2019 are well within the prescribed period of limitation.

20. Assailing the order passed by the Appellate Authority, learned counsel for the petitioners have submitted that under Rule 60 of the U.P. Motor Vehicles Rules, 1998 every decision of the Regional Transport Authority or State Transport Authority has to be published on the notice board by the Secretary of the concerned Regional Transport Authority or the State Transport Authority and in absence of its publication or proof of its communication / information of the order, the date of the order would be deemed to be the date on which the order is communicated or published and as there exists no material on record to show that the order was published, as per the provisions of the Motor Vehicles Rules or otherwise communicated to the petitioners, the date of the order would be deemed to be the date of its knowledge, hence appeal / Misc. cases of the petitioners were filed well within the period of limitation. In the alternative, it has been submitted that in any view of the matter since the Appellate Authority had the power to condone the delay in filing the appeal, the appeals / Misc. cases of the petitioners ought not to have been rejected on the ground of limitation or on technical ground as such the appeals / Misc. cases ought to have been decided by the Appellate Tribunal on merits.

21. Learned Additional C.S.C., who has appeared on behalf of all the respondents, though sought to defend the order passed by the Appellate Authority but did not dispute the fact that the Appellate Authority / Appellate Tribunal had the power to condone the delay as per the provisions of second proviso to Section 90 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988.

22. Having considered the rival submissions, I am of the opinion that prima facie there appears no delay in filing the appeals / Misc. cases before the Tribunal however, the delay if any noticed by the Tribunal ought to have been condoned when the petitioners have explained in their memo of appeal / affidavit that the order was neither published nor communicated and that no knowledge about the order was received by the petitioners upon enquiry from the office of the respondent no. 2 and that the copy of the order was only received by the petitioners on 21.02.2019 the Appellate Tribunal should have been proceeded in the matter by deciding the appeals / Misc. cases filed by the petitioners on merits.

23. It is well settled that power to condone the delay has to be liberally construed to advance the cause of justice and the limitation should not be used to shut out adjudication on merits, particularly, where the delay is not inordinate which, if condoned, would cause substantial prejudice to the other affected party. Accordingly, this Court considers it appropriate to set aside the orders passed by the State Transport Appellate Tribunal, U.P., Lucknow, dated 26.04.2019 and the Appellate Tribunal therefore is directed to proceed in the matter and to decide the appeals / Misc. cases filed by the petitioners on its merit.

24. The Appellate Tribunal will consider all legal and factual pleas on merits to be raised before it by the petitioners.

25. With the above directions, the writ petition stands allowed.

The State of U.P. & Ors. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Petitioner:
Ms. Manisha Chaturvedi

Counsel for the Respondents:
C.S.C.

A. Uttar Pradesh Recruitment of Dependants of Government Servants Dying in Harness Rules, 1974 - Rule 5 - Compassionate appointments are an exception and cannot be made the rule - delay in making a claim dilutes the case of immediate financial penury - Petitioner's mother died in harness on 18.10.1999 - He attained majority in 2003- Made a representation on 11.10.2018 and approached this Court by present petition to decide the representation - Dismissing this petition, the High Court held - The concept of compassionate appointments is created only to enable the bereaved family to tide over the immediate financial crisis. They are an exception and cannot be made the rule - Mere death of an employee in harness does not entitle his family to such source of livelihood. (Para 14, 16, 17 & 19)

B. Strictly, this claim cannot be upheld on the touchstone of Article 14 or 16 of the Constitution of India. (Para 21, 24, 26 & 27)

C. Delay in making applications for appointment on compassionate grounds raises a presumption that the immediate financial crisis has been tided over. (Para 23, 28, 30, 31, 32 & 33)

D. The refusal to permit agitation of stale claims is based on the principle of acquiescence. (Para 54)

E. The rule of delay and laches by preventing the assertion of belated claims puts to final rest long dormant claims. The policy of litigative repose, creates certainty in legal relations and curtails fruitless litigation. (Para 55)

C. Emotional distress and financial penury are two distinct facts. Emotional distress occasioned by the death of the employee is not material for the appointment on compassionate grounds. (Para 38)

D. Third party interest created on the account of delay cannot be disturbed while exercising extraordinary jurisdiction under Art. 226. (Para 39, 42, 43 & 44)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ajay Bhanot, J.)

1. Heard Ms. Manisha Chaturvedi, learned counsel for the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel for the respondents.

2. The petitioners claims, that he is entitled for appointment, under the dying-in-harness rules. The petitioner has made, several representations on 08.02.2015, 06.05.2017, 09.07.2017, 15.11.2017 and lastly on 11.10.2018, for grant of appointment on compassionate grounds. However, the same has not been decided till date.

3. The prayer made by the petitioner, is for a direction to the authorities, to decide his representation dated 11.10.2018, for appointment on compassionate grounds.

4. The submission of Ms. Manisha Chaturvedi, learned counsel for the petitioner, is that the petitioner could not apply for appointment, on compassionate grounds, in the immediate aftermath of the death of his mother, since he was minor at that point in time. The petitioner applied for appointment after he attained majority. The petitioner cannot be faulted, for the delay, on his part in making such application. Her prayer is that, the claim of the petitioner, for appointment under dying-in-harness rules, may be decided within a stipulated period of time.

5. Learned Standing Counsel raises a preliminary objection to the maintainability of the writ petition. He submits that the petition is barred by delay and laches. No satisfactory explanation to the delay and laches on part of the petitioner, in approaching this court has been made in the writ petition. He submits, that the delay in making the claim for appointment is not liable to be condoned. The family of the petitioner, did not face any immediate financial crisis, upon the death of his mother.

6. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel for the State.

7. Certain facts relevant for the judgment are established beyond the pale of dispute.

8. The mother of the petitioner was working on the post of Peon in the Nazarat, Collectorate, Gorakhpur. She died in harness on 18.10.1999. The petitioner was a minor, at the time of the death of his mother. Petitioner claims, that he attained majority, in the year 2003.

9. The petitioner submitted an application, for grant of appointment, on compassionate grounds, for the first time on 13.07.2007. Thereafter several applications, were submitted by the petitioner, on 06.05.2017 and 11.10.2018 ,before the authority concerned. The respondent authorities, did not act upon his claim, and failed to appoint him, under the "U.P. Recruitment of Dependants of Government Servants Dying in Harness Rules, 1974".

10. The petitioner approached this Court by instituting the instant writ petition, on 28.05.2019, with a prayer to decide the representation of the petitioner dated 11.10.2018. The said representation of the petitioner, for appointment on compassionate grounds was moved almost 19 years after the death of the mother of the petitioner. The writ petition has been instituted by the petitioner, almost 20 years after the death of his mother.

11. This is the admitted case of the petitioner.

12. Grant of appointment on compassionate grounds in the respondent corporation is regulated and governed by the Uttar Pradesh Recruitment of Dependants of Government Servants Dying in Harness Rules, 1974 (hereinafter referred to as the " Dying in Harness Rules").

13. The concept of dying in harness is unique to Service Law Jurisprudence.

14. The validity of the concept of appointments on the basis of an employee dying in harness was called in question before the courts. The constitutional validity of the aforesaid appointments soon came to be tested. The compassionate ground appointments passed the test of constitutional validity by a slender margin. The justification to make compassionate ground appointments was provided on the footing that the kin of the deceased stood on the brink of financial penury or faced an immediate financial crisis on account of the death of working member of the family. This feature alone constituted the kin of a deceased employee into one class and on the footing alone the rationale of compassionate ground appointments was justified.

15. It would be apposite to reinforce the narrative with good authority.

16. The purpose of compassionate appointments provides their justification. The death of a bread winner forces the family of the deceased into penury. The immediacy of the financial crisis creates the requirement for urgent redressal. The concept of compassionate appointments is created only to enable the bereaved family to tide over the immediate financial crisis.

17. The Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Umesh Kumar Nagpal Vs. State of Haryana, reported at (1994) 4 SCC 138, explained the purpose of compassionate in following terms:

"2.The question relates to the considerations which should guide while giving appointment in public services on compassionate ground. It appears that there has been a good deal of obfuscation on the issue. As a rule, appointments in the public services should be made strictly on the basis of open invitation of applications and merit. No other mode of appointment nor any other consideration is permissible. Neither the Governments nor the public authorities are at liberty to follow any other procedure or relax the qualifications laid down by the rules for the post. However, to this general rule which is to be followed strictly in every case, there are some exceptions carved out in the interests of justice and to meet certain contingencies. One such exception is in favour of the dependants of an employee dying in harness and leaving his family in penury and without any means of livelihood. In such cases, out of pure humanitarian consideration taking into consideration the fact that unless some source of livelihood is provided, the family would not be able to make both ends meet, a provision is made in the rules to provide gainful employment to one of the dependants of the deceased who may be eligible for such employment. The whole object of granting compassionate employment is thus to enable the family to tide over the sudden crisis. The object is not to give a member of such family a post much less a post for post held by the deceased. What is further, mere death of an employee in harness does not entitle his family to such source of livelihood. The Government or the public authority concerned has to examine the financial condition of the family of the deceased, and it is only if it is satisfied, that but for the provision of employment, the family will not be able to meet the crisis that a job is to be offered to the eligible member of the family. The posts in Classes III and IV are the lowest posts in non-manual and manual categories and hence they alone can be offered on compassionate grounds, the object being to relieve the family, of the financial destitution and to help it get over the emergency. The provision of employment in such lowest posts by making an exception to the rule is justifiable and valid since it is not discriminatory. The favourable treatment given to such dependant of the deceased employee in such posts has a rational nexus with the object sought to be achieved, viz., relief against destitution. No other posts are expected or required to be given by the public authorities for the purpose. It must be remembered in this connection that as against the destitute family of the deceased there are millions of other families which are equally, if not more destitute. The exception to the rule made in favour of the family of the deceased employee is in consideration of the services rendered by him and the legitimate expectations, and the change in the status and affairs, of the family engendered by the erstwhile employment which are suddenly upturned."

18. A similar sentiment was echoed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Director of Education (Secondary) v. Pushpendra Kumar, reported at (1998) 5 SCC 192 in the following terms:

"8.The object underlying a provision for grant of compassionate employment is to enable the family of the deceased employee to tide over the sudden crisis resulting due to death of the bread-earner which has left the family in penury and without any means of livelihood. Out of pure humanitarian consideration and having regard to the fact that unless some source of livelihood is provided, the family would not be able to make both ends meet, a provision is made for giving gainful appointment to one of the dependants of the deceased who may be eligible for such appointment. Such a provision makes a departure from the general provisions providing for appointment on the post by following a particular procedure. Since such a provision enables appointment being made without following the said procedure, it is in the nature of an exception to the general provisions. An exception cannot subsume the main provision to which it is an exception and thereby nullify the main provision by taking away completely the right conferred by the main provision. Care has, therefore, to be taken that a provision for grant of compassionate employment, which is in the nature of an exception to the general provisions, does not unduly interfere with the right of other persons who are eligible for appointment to seek employment against the post which would have been available to them, but for the provision enabling appointment being made on compassionate grounds of the dependant of a deceased employee. InUmesh Kumar Nagpalv.State of Haryana[(1994) 4 SCC 138 : 1994 SCC (L&S) 930 : (1994) 27 ATC 537] this Court has taken note of the object underlying the rules providing for appointment on compassionate grounds and has held that the Government or the public authority concerned has to examine the financial condition of the family of the deceased and it is only if it is satisfied, that but for the provision of employment, the family will not be able to meet the crisis that a job is to be offered to the eligible member of the family. In that case the Court was considering the question whether appointment on compassionate grounds could be made against posts higher than posts in Classes III and IV. It was held that such appointment could only be made against the lowest posts in non-manual categories. It was observed: (SCC p. 140, para 2)

"The provision of employment in such lowest posts by making an exception to the rule is justifiable and valid since it is not discriminatory. The favourable treatment given to such dependant of the deceased employee in such posts has a rational nexus with the object sought to be achieved, viz., relief against destitution. No other posts are expected or required to be given by the public authorities for the purpose. It must be remembered in this connection that as against the destitute family of the deceased there are millions of other families which are equally, if not more destitute. The exception to the rule made in favour of the family of the deceased employee is in consideration of the services rendered by him and the legitimate expectations, and the change in the status and affairs, of the family engendered by the erstwhile employment which are suddenly upturned."

19. However, there is a caution. Compassionate ground appointments are an exception and cannot be made the rule. The exception can be maintained only by strictly adhering to the pre-conditions of the appointment in a strict fashion. A relaxation in the aforesaid pre-conditions would open a floodgate of appointments on compassionate grounds. It will turn the compassionate ground appointments into a regular source of recruitment. The constitutionally accepted mode of appointment to public office or any other post under the State Government or its instrumentalities is by open and transparent recruitment process. Such recruitment process would invite eligible persons from the open market to compete for appointment. This process is consistent with the mandate of Article 14 and Article 16 of the Constitution of India.

20. It was with this constitutional mandate in mind that the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Mumtaz Yunus Mulani v. State of Maharashtra, reported at (2008) 11 SCC 384 cautioned that compassionate appointment were not an alternative mode of recruitment to public employment, by laying down the law thus:

"However, it is now a well-settled principle of law that appointment on compassionate grounds is not a source of recruitment. The reason for making such a benevolent scheme by the State or the public sector undertaking is to see that the dependants of the deceased are not deprived of the means of livelihood. It only enables the family of the deceased to get over the sudden financial crisis."

21. The Hon'ble Supreme Court reiterated the purpose and limitations of compassionate ground appointment in the case of State of Haryana v. Ankur Gupta, reported at (2003) 7 SCC 704 held thus:

"6. As was observed in State of Haryana v. Rani Devi [(1996) 5 SCC 308

: 1996 SCC (L&S) 1162 : JT (1996) 6 SC 646] it need not be pointed out that the claim of the person concerned for appointment on compassionate ground is based on the premise that he was dependent on the deceased employee. Strictly, this claim cannot be upheld on the touchstone of Article 14 or 16 of the Constitution of India. However, such claim is considered as reasonable and permissible on the basis of sudden crisis occurring in the family of such employee who has served the State and dies while in service. That is why it is necessary for the authorities to frame rules, regulations or to issue such administrative orders which can stand the test of Articles 14 and 16. Appointment on compassionate ground cannot be claimed as a matter of right. Die-in-Harness Scheme cannot be made applicable to all types of posts irrespective of the nature of service rendered by the deceased employee. InRani Devi case [(1996) 5 SCC 308 : 1996 SCC (L&S) 1162 : JT (1996) 6 SC 646] it was held that the scheme regarding appointment on compassionate ground if extended to all types of casual or ad hoc employees including those who worked as apprentices cannot be justified on constitutional grounds. In LIC of India v. Asha Ramchhandra Ambekar [(1994) 2 SCC 718 : 1994 SCC (L&S) 737 : (1994) 27 ATC 174] it was pointed out that the High Courts and Administrative Tribunals cannot confer benediction impelled by sympathetic considerations to make appointments on compassionate grounds when the regulations framed in respect thereof do not cover and contemplate such appointments. It was noted in Umesh Kumar Nagpal v.State of Haryana [(1994) 4 SCC 138 : 1994 SCC (L&S) 930 : (1994) 27 ATC 537] that as a rule, in public service appointments should be made strictly on the basis of open invitation of applications and merit. The appointment on compassionate ground is not another source of recruitment but merely an exception to the aforesaid requirement taking into consideration the fact of the death of the employee while in service leaving his family without any means of livelihood. In such cases the object is to enable the family to get over sudden financial crisis. But such appointments on compassionate ground have to be made in accordance with the rules, regulations or administrative instructions taking into consideration the financial condition of the family of the deceased.

7. In Director of Education (Secondary) v. Pushpendra Kumar [(1998) 5 SCC 192 : 1998 SCC (L&S) 1302] it was observed that in the matter of compassionate appointment there cannot be insistence for a particular post. Out of purely humanitarian consideration and having regard to the fact that unless some source of livelihood is provided the family would not be able to make both ends meet, provisions are made for giving appointment to one of the dependants of the deceased who may be eligible for appointment. Care has, however, to be taken that provision for grant of compassionate employment which is in the nature of an exception to the general provisions does not unduly interfere with the right of those other persons who are eligible for appointment to seek appointment against the post which would have been available, but for the provision enabling appointment being made on compassionate grounds of the dependant of the deceased employee. As it is in the nature of exception to the general provisions, it cannot substitute the provision to which it is an exception and thereby nullify the main provision by taking away completely the right conferred by the main provision.

22. It was in the experience of the State Government that a large number of applications for compassionate ground appointments were made much after the death of the government servants. Rule 5 of the said Rules provides for the said contingency. Rule 5 authorizes the State Government to condone the delay in making of an application for an appointment on compassionate grounds. The State Government undoubtedly has the power to condone the delay in filing of an application for appointment on compassionate grounds. However, while considering the scope of such power, purpose of compassionate ground appointments can not be lost sight of. The stated purpose which is the only justifiable ground for such appointments, is that the family which is facing immediate financial crisis, should be supported by providing an employment to a member of such family to tide over the crisis.

23. Only present and imminent financial crisis provides the sole justification for making appointments on compassionate grounds. Delay in making such applications for appointment on compassionate grounds raises a presumption that the immediate financial crisis has been tided over. Lifting of the immediate financial penury, denies the justification for making an appointment on compassionate grounds.

24. The criteria of financial hardship faced by the family of the deceased caused by his death, provides a thin membrane of legitimacy to compassionate appointments. Bereft of this thin cover of legitimacy or if any other criteria is employed to make compassionate appointments, the appointments would become vulnerable to a constitutional challenge. Appointments based on descent or claims of appointment which rest on heredity, invite the wrath of Article 16 of the Constitution of India.

25. It would be apposite to fortify the narrative with good authority.

26. The Hon'ble the Supreme Court set its face against appointments based on descent in the case of Bhawani Prasad Sonkar Vs Union of India and Others, reported at (2011) 4 SCC 209. The Hon'ble the Supreme Court in Bhawani Prasad Sonkar (supra), spoke as follows:

"Now, it is well settled that compassionate employment is given solely on humanitarian grounds with the sole object to provide immediate relief to the employee's family to tide over the sudden financial crisis and cannot be claimed as a matter of right. Appointment based solely on descent is inimical to our constitutional scheme, and ordinarily public employment must be strictly on the basis of open invitation of applications and comparative merit, in consonance with Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India. No other mode of appointment is permissible. Nevertheless, the concept of compassionate appointment has been recognised as an exception to the general rule, carved out in the interest of justice, in certain exigencies, by way of a policy of an employer, which partakes the character of the service rules. That being so, it needs little emphasis that the scheme or the policy, as the case may be, is binding both on the employer and the employee. Being an exception, the scheme has to be strictly construed and confined only to the purpose it seeks to achieve."

"In Umesh Kumar Nagpal v. State of Haryana [(1994) 4 SCC 138 : 1994 SCC (L&S) 930 : (1994) 27 ATC 537] , while emphasising that a compassionate appointment cannot be claimed as a matter of course or in posts above Classes III and IV, this Court had observed that: (SCC p. 140, para 2)

1. "2. ... The whole object of granting compassionate employment is thus to enable the family to tide over the sudden crisis. The object is not to give a member of such family a post much less a post for post held by the deceased. What is further, mere death of an employee in harness does not entitle his family to such source of livelihood. The Government or the public authority concerned has to examine the financial condition of the family of the deceased, and it is only if it is satisfied, that but for the provision of employment, the family will not be able to meet the crisis that a job is to be offered to the eligible member of the family. The posts in Classes III and IV are the lowest posts in non-manual and manual categories and hence they alone can be offered on compassionate grounds, the object being to relieve the family, of the financial destitution and to help it get over the emergency. The provision of employment in such lowest posts by making an exception to the rule is justifiable and valid since it is not discriminatory. The favourable treatment given to such dependant of the deceased employee in such posts has a rational nexus with the object sought to be achieved viz. relief against destitution. No other posts are expected or required to be given by the public authorities for the purpose. It must be remembered in this connection that as against the destitute family of the deceased there are millions of other families which are equally, if not more destitute. The exception to the rule made in favour of the family of the deceased employee is in consideration of the services rendered by him and the legitimate expectations, and the change in the status and affairs, of the family engendered by the erstwhile employment which are suddenly upturned."

"Thus, while considering a claim for employment on compassionate ground, the following factors have to be borne in mind:

(i) Compassionate employment cannot be made in the absence of rules or regulations issued by the Government or a public authority. The request is to be considered strictly in accordance with the governing scheme, and no discretion as such is left with any authority to make compassionate appointment dehors the scheme.

(ii) An application for compassionate employment must be preferred without undue delay and has to be considered within a reasonable period of time.

(iii) An appointment on compassionate ground is to meet the sudden crisis occurring in the family on account of the death or medical invalidation of the breadwinner while in service. Therefore, compassionate employment cannot be granted as a matter of course by way of largesse irrespective of the financial condition of the deceased/incapacitated employee's family at the time of his death or incapacity, as the case may be.

(iv) Compassionate employment is permissible only to one of the dependants of the deceased/incapacitated employee viz. parents, spouse, son or daughter and not to all relatives, and such appointments should be only to the lowest category that is Class III and IV posts.

27. A similar stand against impermissibility of appointments based on descent was taken at an earlier point in time in the case of V. Sivamurthy Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, reported at (2008) 13 SCC 730, hereunder:

"18. (a) Compassionate appointment based only on descent is impermissible. Appointments in public service should be made strictly on the basis of open invitation of applications and comparative merit, having regard to Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution of India. Though no other mode of appointment is permissible, appointments on compassionate grounds are a well-recognised exception to the said general rule, carved out in the interest of justice to meet certain contingencies."

28. Delay in making a claim for compassionate grounds appointment dilutes the case of immediate financial penury and consequently negates the entitlement for appointment on compassionate grounds.

29. Appointments on compassionate grounds cannot wait for the claimants to attain majority or to enable them to acquire additional qualifications and get a better deal in appointments. Infact, such grounds militate against claim for compassionate grounds appointment.

30. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Sanjay Kumar Vs. State of Bihar and Others reported at 2000 (7) SCC 192 reiterated the purpose of a compassionate grounds appointments to tide over the sudden crisis resulting from the death of the earner in a family. However, the reservation of a vacancy to enable such person to attain majority was negatived by the Hon'ble Supreme Court by holding thus:

"3. We are unable to agree with the submissions of the learned Senior Counsel for the petitioner. This Court has held in a number of cases that compassionate appointment is intended to enable the family of the deceased employee to tide over sudden crisis resulting due to death of the breadearner who had left the family in penury and without any means of livelihood. In fact such a view has been expressed in the very decision cited by the petitioner in Director of Education v. Pushpendra Kumar [(1998) 5 SCC 192 : 1998 SCC (L&S) 1302 : (1998) 2 Pat LJR 181] . It is also significant to notice that on the date when the first application was made by the petitioner on 2-6-1988, the petitioner was a minor and was not eligible for appointment. This is conceded by the petitioner. There cannot be reservation of a vacancy till such time as the petitioner becomes a major after a number of years, unless there are some specific provisions. The very basis of compassionate appointment is to see that the family gets immediate relief."

31. A Division Bench of this Court after citing good authority, also concluded that financial penury ceased to exist in case an application was made long years after the death of the employee in the case of Smt. Sonal Laviniya and another vs. Union of India and another reported at 2003 (5) AWC 4070:

"38. The purpose of providing such an employment has been to render the financial assistance to the family, which has lost the bread earner immediately after the death of the employee. If the application has been filed after expiry of 9½ years the element of immediate need stood evaporated and there was no occasion for the respondents to consider the case of the petitioner for such a relief. The observation made by the learned Tribunal are in consonance with the law laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court and no exception can be taken out."

32. A similar view was taken by learned Single Judge of this Court in the case of Sanjeev Kumar Vs. Food Corporation of India and Others, registered as Writ A No. 11083 of 2018, entered on 03.05.2018:

"In a case of compassionate appointment, it is the immediacy of appointment that is of prime consideration to ameliorate the financial hardship be falling the bread winner of the family. If the family of the bread winner or the claimant has managed to survive for 27 years after the death of the government servant, it cannot be said that there is any immediacy of the appointment. Compassionate appointment is an exception to the well established Rule of equality in the matter of recruitment to government service and therefore exceptional grounds must exist to justify such appointment."

33. The question of delay in filing applications for appointment under Dying-in-harness Rules and the consequences of such delay on the right to be appointed on compassionate grounds was posed to a Full Bench of this Court in the case of Shiv Kumar Dubey Vs. State of U.P. reported at 2014 (2) ADJ 312. For ease of reference, the relevant part of the judgment in Shiv Kumar Dubey (supra) is reproduced hereunder:

"29. We now proceed to formulate the principles which must govern compassionate appointment in pursuance of Dying in Harness Rules:

A provision for compassionate appointment is an exception to the principle that there must be an equality of opportunity in matters of public employment. The exception to be constitutionally valid has to be carefully structured and implemented in order to confine compassionate appointment to only those situations which subserve the basic object and purpose which is sought to be achieved;

[emphasis supplied]

(ii) There is no general or vested right to compassionate appointment. Compassionate appointment can be claimed only where a scheme or rules provide for such appointment. Where such a provision is made in an administrative scheme or statutory rules, compassionate appointment must fall strictly within the scheme or, as the case may be, the rules;

The object and purpose of providing compassionate appointment is to enable the dependent members of the family of a deceased employee to tide over the immediate financial crisis caused by the death of the bread-earner;

(iv) In determining as to whether the family is in financial crisis, all relevant aspects must be borne in mind including the income of the family; its liabilities, the terminal benefits received by the family; the age, dependency and marital status of its members, together with the income from any other sources of employment;

Where a long lapse of time has occurred since the date of death of the deceased employee, the sense of immediacy for seeking compassionate appointment would cease to exist and this would be a relevant circumstance which must weigh with the authorities in determining as to whether a case for the grant of compassionate appointment has been made out;

(vi) Rule 5 mandates that ordinarily, an application for compassionate appointment must be made within five years of the date of death of the deceased employee. The power conferred by the first proviso is a discretion to relax the period in a case of undue hardship and for dealing with the case in a just and equitable manner;

The burden lies on the applicant, where there is a delay in making an application within the period of five years to establish a case on the basis of reasons and a justification supported by documentary and other evidence. It is for the State Government after considering all the facts to take an appropriate decision. The power to relax is in the nature of an exception and is conditioned by the existence of objective considerations to the satisfaction of the government;

[emphasis supplied]

Provisions for the grant of compassionate appointment do not constitute a reservation of a post in favour of a member of the family of the deceased employee. Hence, there is no general right which can be asserted to the effect that a member of the family who was a minor at the time of death would be entitled to claim compassionate appointment upon attaining majority. Where the rules provide for a period of time within which an application has to be made, the operation of the rule is not suspended during the minority of a member of the family." (emphasis supplied).

34. The facts of the case found earlier shall now be considered in the light of the judicial authority stated in the preceding part of the judgment.

35. The mother of the petitioner died in harness on 18.10.1999. The petitioner made an application for grant of appointment on compassionate grounds on 11.10.2018. Delay in making the application for appointment on compassionate grounds, is defended on the sole ground, that on the date of death of the mother of the petitioner, the petitioner was minor. The petitioner applied for appointment on compassionate grounds when he attained majority. On these established facts and in view of the legal narrative in the preceding paragraphs, the claim of the petitioner is untenable in law.

36. Moreover, in the light of the discussion in the earlier part of the judgment, post cannot be kept reserved, for the kin of a deceased employee, till they attain majority.

37. In view of the delay, in filing the application, for grant of appointment on compassionate grounds, this Court consistent with the narrative in the earlier part of the judgment, finds that the financial crisis, if any, occasioned by the death of the mother of the petitioner, was not existing when the application for grant of compassionate grounds appointment, was made by the petitioner. There is no lawful basis for grant of appointment on compassionate grounds to the petitioner.

38. Emotional distress and financial penury are two distinct facts. Emotional distress occasioned by the death of the employee is not material for appointment on compassionate grounds. Immediate financial penury, caused to the family by the death of the employee, is the only relevant consideration for appointment under dying-in-harness rules.

39. There is yet another aspect of the matter. The petitioner has approached this Court 20 years, after the cause of action arose. The issue of delay and laches on the part of the petitioner, as pointed out by learned Standing Counsel, shall now be considered. The petition is barred by delay and laches. The petitioner has approached this Court almost after 20 years from the date of death of his mother. There is no satisfactory explanation for laches and the delay in filing the petition on the part of the petitioner. Further third party rights have been entrenched. The law has long set its face against the indolent litigants to approach this Court after a long delay.

40. The courts have consistently observed that delay and laches on part of the litigant will disentitle him to any relief. In this regard the Hon'ble Supreme Court has settled the law with clarity and observed it with consistency.

41. The line of authorities on this point both consistent and long. It would be apposite to cite same authorities which would give a good sense of law on the point.

42. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of R & M Trust Vs. Koramangala Residents Vigilance Group and others reported at 2005 (3) SCC 91 held thus:-

"There is no doubt that delay is a very important factor while exercising extraordinary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution. We cannot disturb the third party interest created on account of delay. Even otherwise also why Court should come to rescue of person who is not vigilant of his rights."

43. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Maharashtra State Road Transport Corporation Vs. Balwant Regular Motor Service reported at AIR 1969 SC 329 held thus:-

"Now the doctrine of laches in Courts of Equity is not an arbitrary or a technical doctrine. Where it would be practically unjust to give a remedy, either because the party has, by his conduct, done that which might fairly be regarded as equivalent to a waiver of it, or where by his conduct and neglect he has, though perhaps not waiving that remedy, yet put the other party in a situation in which it would not be reasonable to place him if the remedy were afterwards to be asserted in either of these cases, lapse of time and delay are most material. But in every case, if an argument against relief, which otherwise would be just, is founded upon mere delay, that delay of course not amounting to a bar by any statute of limitations, the validity of that defence must be tried upon principles substantially equitable. Two circumstances, always important in such cases, are, the length of the delay and the nature of the acts done during the interval, which might affect either party and cause a balance of justice or injustice in taking the one course or the other, so far as relates to the remedy."

44. A similar sentiment was echoed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Shiv Dass Vs. Union of India reported at 2007 (9) SCC 274 the Hon'ble Supreme Court opined as under:-

"the High Court does not ordinarily permit a belated resort to the extraordinary remedy because it is likely to cause confusion and public inconvenience and bring in its train new injustices, and if writ jurisdiction is exercised after unreasonable delay, it may have the effect of inflicting not only hardship and inconvenience but also injustice on third parties. It was pointed out that when writ jurisdiction is invoked, unexplained delay coupled with the creation of third party rights in the meantime is an important factor which also weighs with the High Court in deciding whether or not to exercise such jurisdiction."

45. When the issue of delay and laches came up before the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Shankara Co-op Housing Society Ltd. Vs. M. Prabhakar and Ors reported at 2011(5)SCC 607 the Hon'ble Supreme Court reiterated settled position of law and confirmed the well established criteria which has to be considered before exercise of discretion under Article 226 of the Constitution of India. The relevant portion is extracted herein below:-

"53. The relevant considerations, in determining whether delay or laches should be put against a person who approaches the writ court under Article 226 of the Constitution is now well settled. They are: (1) there is no inviolable rule of law that whenever there is a delay, the court must necessarily refuse to entertain the petition; it is a rule of practice based on sound and proper exercise of discretion, and each case must be dealt with on its own facts. (2) The principle on which the court refuses relief on the ground of laches or delay is that the rights accrued to others by the delay in filing the petition should not be disturbed, unless there is a reasonable explanation for the delay, because court should not harm innocent parties if their rights had emerged by the delay on the part of the Petitioners. (3) The satisfactory way of explaining delay in making an application under Article 226 is for the Petitioner to show that he had been seeking relief elsewhere in a manner provided by law. If he runs after a remedy not provided in the Statute or the statutory rules, it is not desirable for the High Court to condone the delay. It is immaterial what the Petitioner chooses to believe in regard to the remedy. (4) No hard and fast rule, can be laid down in this regard. Every case shall have to be decided on its own facts. (5) That representations would not be adequate explanation to take care of the delay."

46. The Hon'ble Supreme Court also noticed the ingenuous devices adopted by unscrupulous litigants to tide over the delay and laches on part of such litigants. One such commonly used device is by filing a representation to the authorities after a long delay. Such litigants then approach the Court with an innocuous prayer to decide the representation. Once such representation is decided in compliance of orders of the court, it is claimed that a fresh cause of action has arisen. Stale wine does not became fresh in a new bottle. The Hon'ble Supreme Court saw through the designs of such litigants and foiled their intent in no uncertain terms.

47. The Hon'ble Supreme Court considered this issue in the case of C. Jacob Vs. Director of Geology & Min.

Indus. Est. and another reported at 2008 (10) SCC 115. The law laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court would guide the fate of the case. The relevant extract of the judgment is reproduced hereunder for ease of reference :-

"6. Let us take the hypothetical case of an employee who is terminated from service in 1980. He does not challenge the termination. But nearly two decades later, say in the year 2000, he decides to challenge the termination. He is aware that any such challenge would be rejected at the threshold on the ground of delay (if the application is made before Tribunal) or on the ground of delay and laches (if a writ petition is filed before a High Court). Therefore, instead of challenging the termination, he gives a representation requesting that he may be taken back to service. Normally, there will be considerable delay in replying such representations relating to old matters. Taking advantage of this position, the ex-employee files an application/writ petition before the Tribunal/High Court seeking a direction to the employer to consider and dispose of his representation. The Tribunals/High Courts routinely allow or dispose of such applications/petitions (many a time even without notice to the other side), without examining the matter on merits, with a direction to consider and dispose of the representation. The courts/tribunals proceed on the assumption, that every citizen deserves a reply to his representation. Secondly they assume that a mere direction to consider and dispose of the representation does not involve any `decision' on rights and obligations of parties. Little do they realize the consequences of such a direction to `consider'. If the representation is considered and accepted, the ex-employee gets a relief, which he would not have got on account of the long delay, all by reason of the direction to `consider'. If the representation is considered and rejected, the ex-employee files an application/writ petition, not with reference to the original cause of action of 1982, but by treating the rejection of the representation given in 2000, as the cause of action. A prayer is made for quashing the rejection of representation and for grant of the relief claimed in the representation. The Tribunals/High Courts routinely entertain such applications/petitions ignoring the huge delay preceding the representation, and proceed to examine the claim on merits and grant relief. In this manner, the bar of limitation or the laches gets obliterated or ignored"

48. A similar view was taken by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of S.S. Rathore Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh reported at 1989 (4) SCC 582. The relevant extract of the judgment is reproduced hereunder for ease of reference :-

"It is proper that the position in such cases should be uniform. Therefore, in every such case only when the appeal or representation provided by law is disposed of, cause of action shall first accrue and where such order is not made, on the expiry of six months from the date when the appeal was filed or representation was made, the right to sue shall first accrue. Submission of just a memorial or representation to the Head of the establishment shall not be taken into consideration in the matter of fixing limitation."

49. Law has long set its face against delay in approaching the court. The courts have consistently declined to condone the delay and denied relief to litigants who are guilty of laches. Litigants who are in long slumber and not vigilant about their rights are discouraged by the courts. Belated claims are rejected at the threshold. Rip Van Winkles have a place in literature, but not in law !

50. All this is done on the foot of the rule of delay and laches. Statutes of limitation are ordained by the legislature, rule of laches was evolved by the courts. Sources of the law differ but the purpose is congruent. Statutes of limitation and the law of delay and laches are rules of repose.

51. The rule of laches and delay is founded on sound policy and is supported by good authority. The rule of laches and delay is employed by the courts as a tool for efficient administration of justice and a bulwark against abuse of process of courts.

52. Some elements of public policy and realities of administration of justice may now be considered.

53. While indolent litigants revel in inactivity, the cycle of life moves on. New realities come into existence. Oblivious to the claims of the litigants, parties order their lives and institutions their affairs to the new realities. In case claims filed after inordinate delay are entertained by courts, lives and affairs of such individuals and institutions would be in a disarray for no fault of theirs. Their lives and affairs would be clouded with uncertainty and they would face prospects of long and fruitless litigation.

54. The delay would entrench independent third party rights, which cannot be dislodged. The deposit of subsequent events obscures the original claim and alters the cause itself. The refusal to permit agitation of stale claims is based on the principle of acquiescence. In certain situations, the party by its failure to raise the claim in time waives its right to assert it after long delay.

55. The rule of delay and laches by preventing the assertion of belated claims puts to final rest long dormant claims. This policy of litigative repose, creates certainty in legal relations and curtails fruitless litigation. It ensures that the administration of justice is not clogged by pointless litigation.

56. The above stated position of law, on the question of delay and laches, on part of the petitioner, controls the facts of the case. There is no satisfactory explanation of the delay in writ petition. The entrenched rights of third parties are not liable to be disturbed in such view of the conduct of the petitioner.

57. The claim of the petitioner for appointment on compassionate grounds, is untenable in law.

58. The writ petition is dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Lavania, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and the learned State Counsel.

2. By means of the present writ petition, the petitioner has challenged the judgment and order dated 11.12.1997, passed by the State Public Services Tribunal, Lucknow (in short "Tribunal") in Claim Petition No. 626/V/1990 [Suresh Singh v. State of U.P. and others].

3. Facts, in brief as submitted by the learned counsel for the petitioner, of the present case are to the effect that the petitioner was appointed on the post of Constable in Provincial Armed Constabulary (in short "PAC") on 28.02.1981. Thereafter, the petitioner while was on duty fell ill, as such, he submitted medical certificate to opposite party No. 5-Commandant, 25th Battalion PAC, Raebareli, and the same was not accepted by the opposite party No. 5. The petitioner being aggrieved, annoyed and in frustrated mood, on account of act of opposite party no.5, submitted his resignation letter dated 25.11.1987. In fact, under coercion and duress, the resignation of the petitioner was obtained on 25.11.1987.

4. Vide order dated, 19.12.1987, the opposite party No. 5 accepted the resignation letter singed by the petitioner. After acceptance of the resignation letter, the leave without pay was sanctioned by the opposite party No. 5 in the following manner:-

"(1) 165 days - 30.01.1987 to 03.07.1987.
(ii) 110 days - 30.08.1987 to 18.12.1987."

5. It is submitted by the learned counsel for the petitioner when the petitioner recovered from illness, his wife submitted a detailed representation in regard to reinstatement of the petitioner in service. The same was rejected by the competent authority vide order dated 25.07.1990 (Annexure No. 20 to the writ petition).

6. Aggrieved by the order dated 25.07.1990, the petitioner approached the Tribunal by means of the Claim Petition No. 626/V/1990 [Suresh Singh v. State of U.P. and others], which was dismissed vide order dated 11.12.1997 with the following finding:-

"I am, therefore, not prepared to believe the case of the petitioner that resignation letter dated 25.11.1987 was obtained by the opposite party No. 4 from the petitioner under duress and coercion. I, therefore, find no illegality in the order whereby the resignation of the petitioner was accepted by the competent authority.

The petitioner has not filed any application to show that he made any application to opposite party-4 for taking him back in service. In his claim petition he has re referred to the representation contained in Annexure -18 to the claim petition sent to the Chief Minister. In this representation sent by the wife of the petitioner, she had prayed to the Chief Minister that the petitioner may be taken back in service. The opposite parties have denied that any such representation was received by them. The petitioner has not filed any document to show that any such representation was received in the office of the Chief Minister. Even if it is presumed that the petitioner had moved any application before the Inspector General, PAC, for giving him re-employment, the petitioner had no right to get re-employment under the opposite parties and if his representation for taking him back in service has been rejected by the Inspector General of PAC vide his order dated 25.07.1990 contained in Annexure-19 to the claim petition, I do not find any illegality in it. I find that the order contained in Annexure-19 to the claim petition is an administrative order and there is no question of giving any reason for rejecting the representation of the petitioner seeking re-employment because the petitioner has no right to get re-employment under the Provincial Armed Constabulary. Even the learned counsel for the petitioner has not been able to show that the petitioner had any right to get re-employment and any such right of the petitioner has been infringed by the impugned order dated 25.07.1990.

The petitioner has no where mentioned in the claim petition as to where Chabbiley Khan was appointed and when he submitted his resignation and when he was re-employed. It is also not mentioned where the said Chabbiley Khan was posted when his resignation was accepted and where he was posted after re-employment. Thus, there is nothing on record to show that the case of the petitioner is similar to the said

Chabbiley Khan. I, therefore, hold that the petitioner has failed to prove that the opposite party No. 3 has in any way discriminated against him when he rejected the representation of the petitioner vide his order dated 25.07.1990 (contained in Annexure-19 to the claim petition) for taking him back in service.

In view of the above considerations, I do not find any merit in the claim petition which is liable to be dismissed."

7. Learned counsel for the petitioner while challenging the impugned order dated 11.12.1997, passed by the Tribunal submitted that in the present case, the resignation of the petitioner was obtained by way of threat and coercion adopted by the opposite party No. 5, as such, the petitioner may be reinstated in service.

8. In addition to the aforesaid, the learned counsel for the petitioner placed reliance on the order dated 19.02.2018 passed by this Court in Writ-A No. 34378 of 2005 (Chhabiley Khan v. State of U.P. and others). The order dated 19.02.2018 reads as under:-

"Heard learned counsel for the petitioner and learned Standing Counsel.

This writ petition has been filed by the petitioner seeking direction in the nature of mandamus commanding the respondents to sanction the advance increments of pay in time scale by counting the period of resignation by exercising the power conferred under Regulation 416 of U.P. Police Regulation.

As per the writ petition, the petitioner was appointed on 26.10.1970 as constable in 30th Battalion P.A.C (Provincial Armed Constabulary), Gonda, District Gonda. Subsequently, he resigned from service on 30.7.1979 due to some family problems and his resignation was accepted by the competent authority vide order dated 18.8.1979. Subsequently, the petitioner was again enlisted as constable vide order dated 21.11.1986 and joined his duty on 15.12.1986.

Learned counsel for the petitioner states that the Commandant 25th Battalion P.A.C, Raebareli vide letter dated 11.10.1988 (annexure-4 to the writ petition) recommended to sanction the advance increments of pay to the extent to bring a re-enlisted constable to the stage he would reached on the time scale of constable in the U.P. Police in view of the paragraph 416 of the Police Regulation, but till date no decision has been taken by the concerned respondent.

Under the aforesaid circumstance, the Director General of Police, U.P. Lucknow is directed to consider the grievances of the petitioner and pass the appropriate order in the matter as per the recommendation made by the Commandant 25th Battalion P.A.C Raebareli for which the petitioner is also directed to make fresh representation within two weeks from today, annexing all the relevant documents and orders passed by the concerned authority. In case, the petitioner file representation, the same shall be decided by reasoned and speaking order by the respondent no.4 within a period of three months from the date of production of certified copy of this order.

The writ petition is, accordingly, disposed of."

9. Reliance placed by learned counsel for the petitioner on the judgment dated 19.02.2018 passed by this Court in Writ-A No. 34378 of 2005 (Chhabiley Khan v. State of U.P. and others) is concerned, the same is not applicable in the facts and circumstances of the present case, as such, the petitioner cannot derive any benefit from it, as in the said case, the petitioner-Chhabiley Khan was enlisted as constable after acceptance of resignation and the writ petition was filed for direction to state-respondents to sanction the advance increments of pay in time scale by continuing the period related to acceptance of resignation and re-enlistment of petitioner as constable.

10. The learned counsel for the petitioner also placed reliance on the judgment of the Division Bench of this Court passed in the case of Abdul Hamid Vs. District Inspector of Schools, [(2018) 4 UPLBEC 2839].

11. The aforesaid judgment is also not applicable in the said case, as the Deputy Inspector of Schools (DIOS) after passing the order dated 22.01.1981, holding resignation to be invalid passed another order dated 15.05.1998 holding that resignation to be invalid, passed another order dated 15.05.1998 holding that resignation is valid and the issue for consideration before the Court that whether DIOS is empowered to review its Order. This Court held that DIOS can not review its order and in view of the above, interfered in the order dated 15.05.1998.

12. Learned counsel for the State while reverting the contention raised by the learned counsel for the petitioner submitted that in the present case, the story set-up by the petitioner for submitting his resignation is wholly incorrect and wrong. The Tribunal after taking into consideration all the facts, dismissed the claim petition of the petitioner. While dismissing the claim petition, the Tribunal recorded findings on the issue of right to re-employment after acceptance of resignation and the story framed by the petitioner for submitting his resignation and held that once the petitioner's resignation has been accepted then he has no locus to withdraw the said resignation.

13. We have heard the learned counsel for the parties and gone through the record carefully.

14. Admittedly, the petitioner made a request for re-employment/withdrawal of resignation after acceptance of resignation. It is also admitted position that fact of acceptance of resignation was in the knowledge of the petitioner, as appears from the representation of the wife of the petitioner for re-employment of petitioner, which is on record as Annexure No. 19 to the writ petition, on which the order dated 25.07.1990 (challenged before the Tribunal) was passed, whereby the request for re-employment was rejected.

15. It is settled proposition of law that once the resignation of an employee/person is accepted then it becomes absolute and cannot be withdrawn.

16. The word 'Resignation' in relation to an office connotes the act of giving up or relinquishment of the office. To relinquish office means to cease to hold office or to lose hold of the office. Therefore, it means that the employees wants to sever his relation from the employer without any riders and then only it would amount to resignation.

17. Corpus Juris Secundum Vol. 77 page 311 defines the words 'resign' and 'resignation' as under:-

"RESIGN" To give up; to surrender by a formal act; to yield; to relinquish; to give up one's office or position; to withdrawn from. The word" resign" in its ordinary and usual sense, imports a voluntary act, and has been held not to include the act of one whose continuance in a position has been terminated by death or by induction into the armed forces under th Selective Service Act.

"RESIGNATION. It has been said that "resignation" is a term of legal art, having legal connotation which describe certain legal results. It is characteristically the voluntary surrender of a position by the one resigning, , made freely and not duress, and the word is defined generally as meaning the act of resigning or giving up, as a claim, possession, or position."

18. In Words and Phrases (permanent Edn.) Vol. 37 at page 473, the word 'Resign' denoting voluntarily act, relinquish to give up, surrender by formal out, yield, relinquish, give up ones' office or position, or withdraw from it. Further at age 436 the word resignation has been define as:-

"To constitute a ' resignation', it must be unconditional and with an intent to operate as such. There must be an intention to relinquish a portion of the term of office accompanied by an act of relinquishment. It is to give back, to give up in a formal manner, an office."

19. Black's Law Dictionary Sixth Edition Page 1310 defines the resignation as formal renouncement or relinquishment of an office. It must be made with intention of relinquishing the office accompanied by act of relinquishment. It is said that resignatio est juris proprii spontanea refutatio i.e. resignation is spontaneous relinquishment of one's own right thus the term of resignation implies voluntarily surrender of the position by a person resigning and acting freely not under duress and it becomes effective when the authority competent to make appointment accept it.

20. Moreover the resignation must be unambiguous and where an ambiguous letter of resignation is submitted, the authority should right to the employee to explain or clear the ambiguity instead of proceeding to accept the same. Further, the resignation becomes absolute when it is accepted by the appointing authority, date of communication of acceptance to him is not material.

21. Once the appointing authority accepts the resignation submitted by the Government servant, it becomes absolute and cannot be withdrawn thereafter. The date on which he was informed of the such acceptance is not material for the purpose till the resignation is accepted by the appropriate authority in consonance with the rules governing the acceptance, the public servant has locus poenitentiae but not thereafter.

22. Hon'ble Supreme Court while considering the meaning of the word "resigning office" in the case of Union of India etc. Vs Gopal Chandra Misra and others, AIR 1978 SC 694 held as under:-

"In the general juristic: sense, also the meaning of " resigning office" is not different. There also , as a rule, both, the intention to give up or relinquish the office and the concomitant act of its relinquishment, are necessary to constitute a complete and operative resignation (see, e.g. American Jurisprudence, 2nd Edition Volume 15A , page 80) although the act of relinquishment may take different forms or assume a unilateral or bilateral character , depending on the nature of the office and the conditions governing it. Thus, resigning office necessarily involves relinquishment of the office , which implies cessation or termination of, or cutting as under from the office . Indeed the completion of the resignation and the vacation of the office , are the causal and effectual aspects of one and the same event."

23. Further in para 42 of the aforesaid judgment the Hon'ble Apex Court approving the principle of withdrawal before the relationship of the employer and the employee held as under:-

"The general principle that emerges from the foregoing conspectus is that in the absence of anything to the contrary in the provisions governing the terms and conditions of the office post, an intimation in writing sent to the; competent authority by the incumbent, of his intention or proposal to resign his office/post from a future specific date, can be withdrawn by him at any time before it becomes effective, i.e. before it effects termination of the tenure of the office/post or the employment."

24. In the case of P. Kasilingam V. P.S.G. College of Technology, AIR 1981 SC 789, Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that :-

"It may be conceded that it is open to a servant to make his resignation operative from a future date and to withdraw such resignation before its acceptance. The question as to when a Government servant's resignation becomes effect came up for consideration by this Court in Raj Kumar Vs. Union of India , (1968) 3 SCR 857; (AIR 1969 SC, 180) . It was held that the services of a Government servant normally stand terminated form the date on which the letter of resignation is accepted by the appropriate authority, unless there is any law or statutory rule governing the conditions of services to the contrary. There is no reason why the same principle should not apply to the case."

25. In Moti Ram Vs. Param Dev (1993) 2 SCC 725, this Court observed as hereunder:-

"As pointed out by this Court, 'resignation' means the spontaneous relinquishment of one's own right and in relation to an office, it connotes the act of giving up or relinquishing the office. It has been held that in the general juristic sense, in order to constitute a complete and operative resignation there must be the intention to give up or relinquish the office and the concomitant act of its relinquishment. It has also been observed that the act of relinquishment may take different forms or assume a unilateral or bilateral character, depending on the nature of the office and the conditions governing it, Union of India Vs. Gopal Chandra Misra (1978) 2SCC 301, If the act of relinquishment is of unilateral character, it comes into effect when such act indicating the intention to relinquish the office is communicated to the competent authority. The authority to whom the act of relinquishment is communicated is not required to take any action and the relinquishment takes effect from the date of such communication where the resignation is intended to operate in praesenti. A resignation may also be prospective to be operative from a future date and in that event it would take effect from the date indicated therein and not from the date of communication. In cases where the act of relinquishment is of a bilateral character, the communication of the intention to relinquish, by itself, would not be sufficient to result in relinquishment of the office and some action is required to be taken on such communication of the intention to relinquish, e.g. acceptance of the said request to relinquish the office, and in such a case the relinquishment does not become effective or operative till such action is taken. As to whether the act of relinquishment of an office is unilateral or bilateral in character would depend upon the nature of the office and the conditions governing it."

26. In Union of India Vs. Wing Commender T Porthasarathy (2001) 1 SCC 158, the Apex Court has held that when a public servant has tendered resignation his service normally stands terminated from the date on which the letter of his request is accepted by the appropriate authority and the absence of any law or statutory rule governing the condition of his service contrary to the delay not be open to the public servant to withdraw his resignation after it is accepted by the appropriate authority.

27. In the case of Dr. Prabha Atri Vs. State of U.P. and other, (2003) 1 SCC 701, Hon'ble Supreme Court has observed that letter when constitutes resignation , such a letter , held must be unconditional and intending to operate as such. Where an employee, required to submit his explanation for a certain lapse on his part, while submitting his explanation added that if the explanation was found to be not acceptable he would have no option left but to tender his resignation with immediate effect, held, such a letter did not amount to resignation. At best it could amount to a threatened offer to resign. The words "with immediate effect" in the said letter , held , could not be given undue importance dehors the context tenor of the language used, the purport of the letter and the portion of the letter indicating the circumstances in which the letter was written. Moreover, stopping the domestic enquiry by the management consequent to acceptance of the alleged resignation, held , had not significance in ascertaining the true or real intention of the said letter.

28. The Supreme Court in (2005) 5 SCC 455, North Zone Cultural Center and another v. Vedpathi Dinesh Kumar has observed that the resignation becomes effective on acceptance even if not communicated. Non Communication of the acceptance does not make the resignation inoperative provided there is in fact on acceptance before the withdrawal when the relevant rules not postulating communication of acceptance as a condition precedent for coming into effect of resignation. Employee tendering resignation with immediate effect and employer accepting the same on the same day but communicating the acceptance to the employee after 13 days. During the intervening period, the employee withdrawing his resignation. Such delay of mere 13 days, held , not an undue delay so as to infer that resignation had not already been accepted. Even the continued attendance to duty and signing of attendance register by the said employee during the intervening period held, of no assistance to claim that the resignation had not taken effect. More so, when there was no responsible officer in the office during that time and taking the advantage of that situation the employee had marked his attendance, hence the High Court's decision holding that communication of the acceptance of resignation subsequent to withdrawal of the resignation by the employee had become redundant was held improper.

29. Recently, the Hon'ble Apex Court in judgment passed in the case of Air India Express Ltd. Vs. Gurdarshan Kaur Sandhu reported in 2019 SCC Online SC 1082, summarized the legal portion on the issue of withdrawal of resignation. The relevant paras are reproduced as under:-

"12. The circumstances under which an employee can withdraw the resignation tendered by him and what are the limitations to the exercise of such right, have been dealt by this Court in a number of decisions.

A] In Jai Ram v. Union of India; AIR 1954 SC 584, the concerned Government servant was to attain age of 55 years on 26.11.1946. He applied on 07.05.1945 for leave preparatory to retirement in terms of Fundamental Rule 86. The request was finally allowed and he was given 6 months' leave which was to expire on 25.05.1947. Ten days before such expiry i.e. on 16.05.1947, he sent an intimation that he would resume his duties which request was rejected. The submission that the age of retirement was 60 years was rejected by this Court. The submission that in terms of Rule 56(b)(i) of Chapter IX of the Fundamental Rules, if found efficient, he could have continued till he attained the age of 60 years, was rejected. It was observed that when a public servant himself expresses his inability to continue in service any longer and seeks permission for retirement, the required exercise in terms of said Rule 56(b)(i) to decide whether to continue him beyond the age of 55 years was rightly not undertaken and the age of retirement for him would be 55 years. In the context whether he could apply for resuming duties on 16.05.1947, it was observed by the Constitution Bench of this Court,:--

"It may be conceded that it is open to a servant, who has expressed a desire to retire from service and applied to his superior officer to give him the requisite permission, to change his mind subsequently and ask for cancellation of the permission thus obtained; but he can be allowed to do so long as he continues in service and not after it has terminated.

As we have said above, the plaintiff's service ceased on the 27th of November 1946; the leave, which was allowed to him subsequent to that date, was post-retirement leave which was granted under the special circumstances mentioned in F. R. 86. He could not be held to continue in service after the 26th of November 1946, and consequently it was no longer competent to him to apply for joining his duties on the 16th of May 1947, even though the post-retirement leave had not yet run out. In our opinion, the decision of the Letters Patent Bench of the High Court is right and this appeal should stand dismissed."

B] In Raj Kumar v. Union of India; (1968) 3 SCR 857, an officer belonging to the Indian Administrative Service tendered resignation and addressed a letter to the Chief Secretary to the Government of Rajasthan on 30.08.1964 that it may be forwarded to the Government of India with remarks of the State Government. The State Government recommended that the resignation be accepted and on 31.10.1964 the Government of India requested the Chief Secretary to the State Government "to intimate the date on which the appellant was relieved of his duties so that a formal notification could be issued in that behalf". Before the date could be intimated and formal notification could be issued, the officer withdrew his resignation by letter dated 27.11.1964. On 29.03.1965 an order accepting his resignation was issued. The challenge raised by the officer was rejected and the High Court held that the resignation became effective on the date the Government of India had accepted it. While dismissing the appeal, a Bench of three Judges of this Court observed:--

"The letters written by the appellant on August 21, 1964, and August 30, 1964, did not indicate that the resignation was not to become effective until acceptances thereof was intimated to the appellant. The appellant informed the authorities of the State of Rajasthan that his resignation may be forwarded for early acceptance. On the plain terms of the letters, the resignation was to become effective as soon as it was accepted by the appointing authority. No rule has been framed under Article 309 of the Constitution which enacts that for an order accepting the resignation to be effective, it must be communicated to the person submitting his resignation.

Our attention was invited to a judgment of this Court in State of Punjab v. Amar Singh Harika (AIR 1966 SCR 1313) in which it was held that an order of dismissal passed by an authority and kept on its file without communicating it to the officer concerned or otherwise publishing it did not take effect as from the date on which the order was actually written out by the said authority; such an order could only be effective after it was communicated to the Officer concerned or was otherwise published. The principle of that case has no application here. Termination of employment by order passed by the Government does not become effective until the order is intimated to the employee. But where a public servant has invited by his letter of resignation determination of his employment, his services normally stand terminated from the date on which the letter of resignation is accepted by the appropriate authority and in the absence of any law or rule governing the conditions of his service to the contrary, it will not be open to the public servant to withdraw his resignation after it is accepted by the appropriate authority. Till the resignation is accepted by the appropriate authority in consonance with the rules governing the acceptance, the public servant concerned has locus poenitentiae but not thereafter. Undue delay in intimating to the public servant concerned the action taken on the letter of resignation may justify an inference that resignation has not been accepted. In the present case the resignation was accepted within a short time after it was received by the Government of India. Apparently the State of Rajasthan did not immediately implement the order, and relieve the appellant of his duties, but the appellant cannot profit by the delay in intimating acceptance or in relieving him of his duties."

C] In Union of India v. Gopal Chandra Mishra; (1978) 2 SCC 301, the issue for consideration was whether a High Court Judge, who had by letter in his own hand writing sent to the President intimated his intention to resign the office with effect from a future date would be competent to withdraw the resignation before the date had reached? The decisions in Jai Ram; AIR 1954 SC 584 and Raj Kumar; (1968 3 SCR 857), were considered and while dealing with the scope of clause(a) of the proviso to Article 217 of the Constitution, the Constitution Bench of this Court stated:--

"20. Here, in this case, we have to focus attention on clause (a) of the proviso. In order to terminate his tenure under this clause, the Judge must do three volitional things: Firstly, he should execute a "writing under his hand". Secondly, the writing should be "addressed to the President". Thirdly, by that writing he should "resign his office". If any of these things is not done, or the performance of any of them is not complete, clause (a) will not operate to cut short or terminate the tenure of his office.

22. It may be observed that the entire edifice of this reasoning is founded on the supposition that the "Judge" had completely performed everything which he was required to do under proviso (a) to Article 217(1). We have seen that to enable a Judge to terminate his term of office by his own unilateral act, he has to perform three things. In the instant case, there can be no dispute about the performance of the first two, namely: (i) he wrote a letter under his hand, (ii) addressed to the President. Thus, the first two pillars of the ratiocinative edifice raised by the High Court rest on sound foundations. But, is the same true about the third, which indisputably is the chief prop of that edifice? Is it a completed act of resignation within the contemplation of proviso (a)? This is the primary question that calls for an answer. If the answer to this question is found in the affirmative, the appeals must fail. If it be in the negative, the foundation for the reasoning of the High Court will fail and the appeals succeed.

13. The tenor and the effect of resignation were then considered in paragraph 28 and it was held that the letter in question was merely an intimation or notice to resign the office on a future date and it was open to withdraw the resignation before the arrival of the indicated future date. The observations were:--

"28. The substantive body of this letter (which has been extracted in full in a foregoing part of this judgment) is comprised of three sentences only. In the first sentence, it is stated: "I beg to resign my office as Judge, High Court of Judicature at Allahabad." Had this sentence stood alone, or been the only content of this letter, it would operate as a complete resignation in praesenti, involving immediate relinquishment of the office and termination of his tenure as Judge. But this is not so. The first sentence is immediately followed by two more, which read : "I will be on leave till July 31, 1977. My resignation shall be effective on August 1, 1977." The first sentence cannot be divorced from the context of the other two sentences and construed in isolation. It has to be read along with the succeeding two which qualify it. Construed as a whole according to its tenor, the letter dated May 7, 1977, is merely an intimation or notice of the writer's intention to resign his office as Judge, on a future date viz. August 1, 1977. For the sake of convenience, we might call this communication as a prospective or potential resignation, but before the arrival of the indicated future date it was certainly not a complete and operative resignation because, by itself, it did not and could not, sever the writer from the office of the Judge, or terminate his tenure as such.

14. The Court went on to state the principles as:--

"41. The general principle that emerges from the foregoing conspectus, is that in the absence of anything to the contrary in the provisions governing the terms and conditions of the office/post, an intimation in writing sent to the competent authority by the incumbent, of his intention or proposal to resign his office/post from a future specified date can be withdrawn by him at any time before it becomes effective, i.e. before it effects termination of the tenure of the office/post or the employment.

50. It will bear repetition that the general principle is that in the absence of a legal, contractual or constitutional bar, a "prospective" resignation can be withdrawn at any time before it becomes effective, and it becomes effective when it operates to terminate the employment or the office-tenure of the resignor. This general rule is equally applicable to government servants and constitutional functionaries. In the case of a government servant/or functionary/who cannot, under the conditions of his service/or office, by his own unilateral act of tendering resignation, give up his service/or office, normally, the tender of resignation becomes effective and his service/or office-tenure terminated, when it is accepted by the competent authority. In the case of a Judge of a High Court, who is a constitutional functionary and under proviso (a) to Article 217(1) has a unilateral right or privilege to resign his office, his resignation becomes effective and tenure terminated on the date from which he, of his own volition, chooses to quit office. If in terms of the writing under his hand addressed to the President, he resigns in praesenti, the resignation terminates his office-tenure forthwith, and cannot therefore, be withdrawn or revoked thereafter. But, if he by such writing, chooses to resign from a future date the act of resigning office is not complete because it does not terminate his tenure before such date and the Judge can at any time before the arrival of that prospective date on which it was intended to be effective, withdraw it, because the Constitution does not bar such withdrawal."

15. As regards the applicability of the rule in Jai Ram; AIR 1954 SC 584, it was stated:--

"49. In our opinion, none of the aforesaid reasons given by the High Court for getting out of the ratio of Jai Ram case is valid. Firstly, it was not a "casual" enunciation. It was necessary to dispose of effectually and completely the second point that had been canvassed on behalf of Jai Ram. Moreover, the same principle was reiterated pointedly in 1968 in Raj Kumar case. Secondly, a proposal to retire from service/office and a tender to resign office from a future date for the purpose of the point under discussion, stand on the same footing. Thirdly, the distinction between a case where the resignation is required to be accepted and the one where no acceptance is required, makes no difference to the applicability of the rule in Jai Ram case."

D] In Balram Gupta v. Union of India; 1987 Supp SCC 228, the concerned officer was an accountant in the Photo Division of the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting. While holding that the matter was covered by the decisions of this Court in Raj Kumar; (1968 3 SCR 857) and Gopal Chandra Misra; (1978) 2 SCC 301, this Court considered the relevant guidelines and observed:

"12. In this case the guidelines are that ordinarily permission should not be granted unless the officer concerned is in a position to show that there has been a material change in the circumstances in consideration of which the notice was originally given. In the facts of the instant case such indication has been given. The appellant has stated that on the persistent and personal requests of the staff members he had dropped the idea of seeking voluntary retirement. We do not see how this could not be a good and valid reason. It is true that he was resigning and in the notice for resignation he had not given any reason except to state that he sought voluntary retirement. We see nothing wrong in this. In the modern age we should not put embargo upon people's choice or freedom. If, however, the administration had made arrangements acting on his resignation or letter of retirement to make other employee available for his job, that would be another matter but the appellant's offer to retire and withdrawal of the same happened in such quick succession that it cannot be said that any administrative set-up or arrangement was affected. The administration has now taken a long time by its own attitude to communicate the matter. For this the respondent is to blame and not the appellant."

E) The principles laid down in Union of India v. Gopal Chandra Misra; (1978) 2 SCC 301 have since then been followed by this Court in P. Kasilingam v. P.S.G. College of Technology; (1981) 1 SCC 405, Punjab National Bank v. P.K. Mittal; 1989 Supp (2) SCC 175, Moti Ram v. Param Dev; (1993) 2 SCC 725, Power Finance Corpn. Ltd. v. Pramod Kumar Bhatia; (1997) 4 SCC 280, Nand Keshwar Prasad v. Indian Farmers Fertilizers Coop. Ltd.; (1998) 5 SCC 461, J.N. Srivastava v. Union of India; (1998) 9 SCC 559, Union of India v. Wing Commander T. Parthasarathy; (2001) 1 SCC 158, Shambhu Murari Sinha v. Proect & Development India Ltd.; (2002) 3 SCC 437, Bank of India v. O.P. Swarnakar; (2003) 2 SCC 721, Reserve Bank of India v. Cecil Denis Solomon; (2004) 9 SCC 461, Srikantha S.M. v. Bharath Earth Movers Ltd.1, Secy., Technical Education, U.P. v. Lalit Mohan Upadhyay; (2007) 4 SCC 492, New India Assurance Company Ltd. v. Raghuvir Singh Narang; (2010) 5 SCC 335 and Union of India v. Hitendra Kumar Soni; (2014) 13 SCC 204.

F) In Punjab National Bank v. P.K. Mittal9 a permanent officer in the bank sent a letter of resignation on 21.01.1986 in terms of Regulation 20 of PNB (Officers) Service Regulation, 1979, which was to become effective on 30.06.1986. By communication dated 07.02.1986, he was informed that his resignation was accepted with immediate effect. The resignation was withdrawn by the officer on 15.04.1986. The issue therefore arose in the context of said Regulation 20, whether the officer could withdraw the resignation. Regulation 20 was as under:

"20.(1) Subject to sub-regulation (3) of Regulation 16, the bank may terminate the services of any officer by giving him three months' notice in writing or by paying him three months' emoluments in lieu thereof. (2) No officer shall resign from the service of the bank otherwise than on the expiry of three months from the service on the bank of a notice in writing of such resignation:

Provided further that the competent authority may reduce the period of three months, or remit the requirement of notice.

16. The submission that Clause 2 of Regulation 20 and its proviso were intended only to safeguard the bank's interest and as such the bank could accept the resignation before the date when it was to come into effect was rejected by this Court in following terms:

7. Dr. Anand Prakash emphasises that as clause (2) and its proviso are intended only to safeguard the bank's interests they should be interpreted on the lines suggested by him. We are of the opinion that clause (2) of the regulation and its proviso are intended not only for the protection of the bank but also for the benefit of the employee. It is common knowledge that a person proposing to resign often wavers in this decision and even in a case where he has taken a firm decision to resign, he may not be ready to go out immediately. In most cases he would need a period of adjustment and hence like to defer the actual date of relief from duties for a few months for various personal reasons. Equally an employer may like to have time to make some alternative arrangement before relieving the resigning employee. Clause (2) is carefully worded keeping both these requirements in mind. It gives the employee a period of adjustment and rethinking. It also enables the bank to have some time to arrange its affairs, with the liberty, in an appropriate case, to accept the resignation of an employee even without the requisite notice if he so desires it. The proviso in our opinion should not be interpreted as enabling a bank to thrust a resignation on an employee with effect from a date different from the one on which he can make his resignation effective under the terms of the regulation. We, therefore, agree with the High Court that in the present case the resignation of the employee could have become effective only on or about 21-4-1986 or on 30-6-1986 and that the bank could not have "accepted" that resignation on any earlier date. The letter dated 7-2-1986 was, therefore, without jurisdiction.

8. The result of the above interpretation is that the employee continued to be in service till 21-4-1986 or 30-6-1986, on which date his services would have come normally to an end in terms of his letter dated 21-1-1986. But, by that time, he had exercised his right to withdraw the resignation. Since the withdrawal letter was written before the resignation became effective, the resignation stands withdrawn, with the result that the respondent continues to be in the service of the bank. It is true that there is no specific provision in the regulations permitting the employee to withdraw the resignation. It is, however, not necessary that there should be any such specific rule. Until the resignation becomes effective on the terms of the letter read with Regulation 20, it is open to the employee, on general principles, to withdraw his letter of resignation. That is why, in some cases of public services, this right of withdrawal is also made subject to the permission of the employer. There is no such clause here. It is not necessary to labour this point further as it is well settled by the earlier decisions of this Court in Raj Kumar v. Union of India, Union of India v. Gopal Chandra Misra and Balram Gupta v. Union of India.

17. It is thus well settled that normally, until the resignation becomes effective, it is open to an employee to withdraw his resignation. When would the resignation become effective may depend upon the governing service regulations and/or the terms and conditions of the office/post. As stated in paragraphs 41 and 50 in Gopal Chandra Misra; (1978) 2 SCC 301, "in the absence of anything to the contrary in the provisions governing the terms and conditions of the office/post" or "in the absence of a legal contractual or constitutional bar, a "prospective resignation' can be withdrawn at any time before it becomes effective". Further, as laid down in Balram Gupta; 1987 Supp SCC 228, "If, however, the administration had made arrangements acting on his resignation or letter of retirement to make other employee available for his job, that would be another matter.""

30. Thus, considering the settled proposition of law on the issue of withdrawal of resignation, as stated hereinabove and admitted facts of the present case to the effect that the petitioner submitted his resignation from service on 25.11.1987, on personal grounds and the same was accepted by the opposite party No. 5 on 19.12.1987 and acceptance of resignation was in the knowledge of the petitioner and thereafter, for withdrawal of the resignation, the representation was submitted, on which order dated 25.07.1990 was passed, whereby the request of re-employment made in the representation was rejected, we are of the view that after acceptance of resignation, it was not open for the petitioner to withdraw the same subsequently. Hence, there is no illegality or infirmity in the impugned order dated 11.12.1997, passed by the Tribunal in Claim Petition No. 626/V/1990 [Suresh Singh v. State of U.P. and others], which is under challenge in the present writ petition.

31. Resultantly, the writ petition lacks merits. Hence, dismissed. No order as to costs.

A. Service Law - Compassionate Appointment - Scheme of 1998; Clause 10(a) and 16(c) - claim for compassionate appointment rejected - competent authority was under obligation to consider the financial condition - compassionate appointment cannot be claimed as a matter of right - Tribunal righty dismissed claim petition in light of the proven financial status of the family of the deceased

The Court while relying on the judgment in State of Himachal Pradesh and Anr Vs. Shashi Kumar held that there is no right to compassionate appointment. While considering the application for compassionate appointment in light of the policies framed therein and judgments on this issue, the benefits received by the family on account of family welfare measures including family pension and death gratuity as well as income from other resources are required to be considered. (Para 12)

1. St of H.P. & Anr Vs Shashi Kumar (2019) 3 SCC 653

(Delivered by Hon'ble Saurabh Lavania, J.)

1- Heard learned Counsel for the petitioner and learned Counsel for the respondents.

2- The petitioner has filed the present writ petition, for the following main reliefs:-

"1. To issue a writ, order or direction in the nature of certiorari thereby quashing the impugned judgment and order passed by the Central Administrative Tribunal dated 12.04.2017 and Rejection Order dated 23.07.2015 passed by O.P. No. 4 Assistant General Manager, Lucknow, contained Annexure No. 1 and 9 to the writ petition.

2. To issue a Writ, Order or Direction in the nature of Mandamus Commanding the Opp. Parties to consider the case of the petitioner for Appointment under Scheme for Compassionate Appointment dated 09.10.1998, in the interest of Justice."

3- The brief facts of the case are that father of the petitioner was working in Bharat Sanchar Nigam Ltd. on the post of Phone Mechanic. On 15.07.2005, the father of the petitioner died and the petitioner moved an application dated 23.02.2006 for compassionate appointment before the General Manager Telicom, BSNL, Faizabad and the same was forwarded to the Chief General Manager, Telecom, U.P. (East) Circle, Lucknow. Thereafter, vide letter/order dated 21.01.2018, the High Power Committee rejected the application of the petitioner for compassionate appointment. Thereafter, aggrieved by the said order dated 21.01.2018, the petitioner filed the Original Application No. 404 of 2009 before the Central Administrative Tribunal (in short "Tribunal") and the same was allowed by the order dated 06.05.2011. The Tribunal directed the opposite parties to consider the case of the petitioner afresh in view of Circular dated 09.10.1998. The relevant portion of the order dated 06.05.2011, is reproduced below:-

" Finally, therefore, in view of the aforesaid facts and circumstances, this O.A. deserves to be and is accordingly allowed. The impugned order dated 21.1.2008 (Annexure -1) alongwith minutes of the High Power Committee dated 11.12.2007 passed by the respondent authorities, so far it relates to the applicant, are hereby set aside. The respondents are directed to consider the case of the applicant afresh in view of the relevant O.M./circulars which were in force at the relevant time, ignoring the subsequent circular letter dated 27.06.2007 which cannot have retrospective effect. As the matter is already become quite old, it is desirable that this matter is finalized within a reasonable period say within 6 months from the date of certified copy of this order is produced by the applicant to the respondents. No order as to costs."

4- Thereafter, the order dated 06.05.2011 passed by the Tribunal in O.A. No. 404 of 2009 , was challenged by the opposite parties by filing Writ Petition No.1877(SB) of 2011 (Bharat Sanchar Nigam Ltd. Versus Amit Kumar Singh) and the same was also dismissed by this Court vide order dated 03.11.2011, which reads as under:-

"We have heard learned counsel for parties and perused the pleadings of writ petition.

Learned counsel for petitioner, Bharat Sanchar Nigam Limited, submitted that the direction to reconsider the case of respondent as given vide the impugned order is contrary to a judgment of Hon'ble the Apex Court reported in 2007 (1) ESC 66 (SC) (State Bank of India & Others vs. Jaspal Kaur) which has laid down the ratio that unless the financial condition is entirely penury, compassionate appointment cannot be made. In the said case, the financial condition of the applicant was not found to be one of destitution and besides the Bank had already paid a sum of Rs. 4,57,607.00 as terminal benefits apart from payment of a pensionary benefit of Rs. 2055/- per month.

On a careful consideration of rival submissions, we do not find any merit in the case for the reason that the Tribunal has only directed the Corporation to reconsider the case of the respondent and has not issued any direction to give appointment on compassionate ground.

Thus, the Writ Petition is dismissed."

5- Thereafter, the opposite parties challenged the order of this Court dated 03.11.2011 by filing Special Leave Petition (C) No. 13043 of 2012 and the same was dismissed vide order dated 18.02.2015. Thereafter, the petitioner, in relation to appointment on compassionate ground, submitted the representation before the concerned authorities alongwith the orders of this Court, but no action was taken by them. Thereafter, the petitioner filed Contempt Petition No. 58 of 2015 before the Tribunal and thereafter the opposite party no. 4 rejected the representation/application of the petitioner by its order dated 23.07.2015.

6- Aggrieved by the order dated 23.07.2015, the petitioner preferred a claim petition O.A. No. 475 of 2015 under Section 19 of Administrative Tribunal Act 1985, before the Tribunal, with the following reliefs:-

"1. Issuing/passing of an order or direction setting aside the impugned decision dated 23.07.2015 passed by the respondent No. 4 communicated vide letter/order dated 04.08.2015, issued by the respondent No. 3 (as contained in Annexure No. A-1), after summoning the original records.

2. Issuing/passing of an order or direction to the respondents to consider the case of the applicant afresh for appointment on compassionate grounds and to appoint the applicant on any post according to his eligibility and educational qualification, etc. within a period of two months."

7- Tribunal after considering the pleadings given by the learned Counsel for the parties and on the material on record, vide order dated 12.04.2017,dismissed the claim petition . The relevant portion of the order dated 12.04.2017, is reproduced below:-

"15. After taking into consideration the rival submissions of the parties, this Tribunal is of the view that this petition lacks merit and liable to be dismissed on following grounds:

(i) that the applicant's family received the terminal benefits of approximately six lakh coupled with family pension of more than three thousand per month apart from D.A. (ii) the fact that the income from the cultivation is Rs. 3000/- per month has not been rebutted and the same was based on the report of Revenue Authorities i.e. SDE (HRD) Faizabad. Same was also reflected in the income certificate issued by the Tehshildar, Amdbedkarnagar.

(iii) the applicant's family purchased a house as is evident from the report after the death of the deceased employee.

(iv) both the sons are major and the applicant is residing in a rented accommodation near township of NTPC, Ambedkarnagar on monthly rent of Rs. 2500/- which shows that the applicant has sufficient means to survive and the family cannot be said to be living in penurious condition.

(v) that the entire agricultural land which has been shown in extract Khatoni is not the same but has been shown as only 0.5 acres.

(vi) that the property possessed and shown in the inspection report has not been specifically denied and rejoinder has been filed by simply denying the allegation. Due to evasive denial the facts pleaded in CA amounts to be admitted by the applicant.

16. In view of the above, the O.A. sans merit and is accordingly dismissed. There shall be no order to cost."

8- Assailing the orders impugned, the learned Counsel for the petitioner submits that the concerned authorities and Tribunal, both, rejected the claim of the petitioner for compassionate ground after considering the terminal/pensionary benefits received, on account of death of his father, by the family of the petitioner, income from agricultural and other aspect and as such Tribunal as well as concerned authorities erred in law and fact both, as the reasons of rejection of claim of the petitioner for appointment on compassionate ground are beyond the scope of scheme of compassionate appointment dated 09.10.1998 (in short "Scheme of 1998") (Annexure No. 10 to the writ petition). The reasons for rejection of claim of the petitioner for compassionate appointment cannot be taken into account as per Scheme of 1998.

9- Per contra, the learned Counsel for the respondents submitted that the reasons considered while rejecting the claim of the petitioner for compassionate appointment can be taken into account, as per Scheme of 1998. Thus, there is no illegality in the order dated 12.04.2017 of the Tribunal as well as order 23.07.2015 passed by respondent no. 4.

10- We have considered the submissions of learned Counsel for the parties and perused the records.

11- We find from Scheme of 1998 (Annexure No. 10 to the writ petition), particularly Clause 10(a), 16(c), that while considering the case for providing compassionate appointment, the competent authority is under obligation to consider the financial condition of the family. Clause 10(a) and 16(c) are quoted herein under for ready reference:-

"10(a) In deserving cases even where there is already an earning member in the family, a dependent family member may be considered for compassionate appointment with prior approval of the Secretary of the Department/Ministry concerned who, before approving such appointment, will satisfy himself that grant of compassionate appointment is justified having regard to number of dependents, assets and liabilities left by the Government Servant, income of the earning member as also his liabilities including the fact that the earning member is residing with the family of the Government Servant and whether he should not be a source of support to other members of the family.

16 (c) The Scheme of compassionate appointments was conceived as far back as 1958. Since then a number of welfare measures have been introduced by the government which have made a significant difference in the financial position of the families of the Government Servants dying in harness/retired on medical grounds. An application for compassionate appointment should, however, not be rejected merely on the ground that the family of the Government Servant has received the benefits under the various welfare schemes. While considering a request for appointment on compassionate ground a balanced and objective assessment of the financial condition of the family has to be made taking into account its assets and liabilities (including the benefits received under the various welfare schemes mentioned above) and all other relevant factors such as the presence of an earning member, size of the family, ages of the children and the essential needs of the family, etc.

12- In the facts of the case we would like to refer the judgment of the Hon'ble Apex Court passed in the case of State of Himachal Pradesh and Another Versus Shashi Kumar, reported in (2019) 3 SCC 653: (2019) 1 SCC (L&S) 542.

The Hon'ble Apex Court after considering the policy of compassionate appointment and relevant judgments on the issue, held that benefits received by family on account of welfare measures including family pension and death gratuity as well as income from other resources are required to be considered. The Hon'ble Apex Court further held that there is no right to compassionate appointment. The terms of policies framed for providing compassionate appointment must be implemented. The relevant paragraphs of the judgment are as under:-

"18. While considering the rival submissions, it is necessary to bear in mind that compassionate appointment is an exception to the general rule that appointment to any public post in the service of the State has to be made on the basis of principles which accord with Articles 14 and 16 of the Constitution. Dependants of a deceased employee of the State are made eligible by virtue of the policy on compassionate appointment. The basis of the policy is that it recognises that a family of a deceased employee may be placed in a position of financial hardship upon the untimely death of the employee while in service. It is the immediacy of the need which furnishes the basis for the State to allow the benefit of compassionate appointment. Where the authority finds that the financial and other circumstances of the family are such that in the absence of immediate assistance, it would be reduced to being indigent, an application from a dependent member of the family could be considered. The terms on which such applications would be considered are subject to the policy which is framed by the State and must fulfil the terms of the policy. In that sense, it is a well-settled principle of law that there is no right to compassionate appointment. But, where there is a policy, a dependent member of the family of a deceased employee is entitled to apply for compassionate appointment and to seek consideration of the application in accordance with the terms and conditions which are prescribed by the State.

19. The policy in the present case which was formulated on 18-1-1990 categorically speaks of providing employment assistance to dependants of government servants who have died while in service, "leaving their families in indigent circumstances". The policy, in other words, is designed to meet the needs of those families where the death of a government servant has left them in indigent circumstances, requiring immediate means of subsistence. The policy recognises in Para (10) that the benefits which are received by a family on account of welfare measures are required to be considered. Among them, the policy stipulates that family pension and death gratuity are required to be taken into account in assessing the financial circumstances of the family. The policy does not preclude the dependants of a deceased employee from being considered for compassionate appointment merely because they are in receipt of family pension. What the policy mandates is that the receipt of family pension should be taken into account in considering whether the family has been left in indigent circumstances requiring immediate means of subsistence. The receipt of family pension is, therefore, one of the considerations which is to be taken into account. Para (10)(c) of the policy sets out the measures provided by the State which have a bearing on the financial need of the family.

20. In view of the clear terms of the policy, we are of the view that the High Court was in error in issuing a mandamus to the Government to disregard its policy. Such direction could not have been issued by the High Court. The High Court has drawn sustenance in issuing a mandamus in the above terms from a decision of this Court in Govind Prakash Verma [Govind Prakash Verma v. LIC, (2005) 10 SCC 289 : 2005 SCC (L&S) 590] . That was a case of compassionate appointment where in the course of the proceedings before the High Court, a learned Single Judge had directed Life Insurance Corporation, which was the employer of the deceased employee, to make an enquiry and submit a report on whether the members of the family engaged in gainful employment were also supporting the family of the deceased employee. This Court, in an appeal against the judgment of the High Court rejecting the petition for compassionate appointment, observed that the officer who had enquired into the matter in pursuance of the order of the learned Single Judge completely omitted to furnish any report on the points which were required by the High Court to be investigated. The High Court rejected the petition on the ground that the family was in receipt of family pension and other amounts towards terminal benefits. Reversing the view of the High Court, a two-Judge Bench of this Court held thus: (Govind Prakash Verma case [Govind Prakash Verma v. LIC, (2005) 10 SCC 289 : 2005 SCC (L&S) 590] , SCC p. 291, para 6)

"6. In our view, it was wholly irrelevant for the departmental authorities and the learned Single Judge to take into consideration the amount which was being paid as family pension to the widow of the deceased (which amount, according to the appellant, has now been reduced to half) and other amounts paid on account of terminal benefits under the Rules."

21. The decision in Govind Prakash Verma [Govind Prakash Verma v. LIC, (2005) 10 SCC 289 : 2005 SCC (L&S)

590] has been considered subsequently in several decisions. But, before we advert to those decisions, it is necessary to note that the nature of compassionate appointment had been considered by this Court in Umesh Kumar Nagpal v. State of Haryana [Umesh Kumar Nagpal v. State of Haryana, (1994) 4 SCC 138 : 1994 SCC (L&S) 930] . The principles which have been laid down in Umesh Kumar Nagpal [Umesh Kumar Nagpal v. State of Haryana, (1994) 4 SCC 138 : 1994 SCC (L&S) 930] have been subsequently followed in a consistent line of precedents in this Court. These principles are encapsulated in the following extract: (Umesh Kumar Nagpal case [Umesh Kumar Nagpal v. State of Haryana, (1994) 4 SCC 138 : 1994 SCC (L&S) 930] , SCC pp. 139-40, para 2)

"2. ... As a rule, appointments in the public services should be made strictly on the basis of open invitation of applications and merit. No other mode of appointment nor any other consideration is permissible. Neither the Governments nor the public authorities are at liberty to follow any other procedure or relax the qualifications laid down by the rules for the post. However, to this general rule which is to be followed strictly in every case, there are some exceptions carved out in the interests of justice and to meet certain contingencies. One such exception is in favour of the dependants of an employee dying in harness and leaving his family in penury and without any means of livelihood. In such cases, out of pure humanitarian consideration taking into consideration the fact that unless some source of livelihood is provided, the family would not be able to make both ends meet, a provision is made in the rules to provide gainful employment to one of the dependants of the deceased who may be eligible for such employment. The whole object of granting compassionate employment is thus to enable the family to tide over the sudden crisis. The object is not to give a member of such family a post much less a post for post held by the deceased. What is further, mere death of an employee in harness does not entitle his family to such source of livelihood. The Government or the public authority concerned has to examine the financial condition of the family of the deceased, and it is only if it is satisfied, that but for the provision of employment, the family will not be able to meet the crisis that a job is to be offered to the eligible member of the family. The posts in Classes III and IV are the lowest posts in non-manual and manual categories and hence they alone can be offered on compassionate grounds, the object being to relieve the family, of the financial destitution and to help it get over the emergency. The provision of employment in such lowest posts by making an exception to the rule is justifiable and valid since it is not discriminatory. The favourable treatment given to such dependant of the deceased employee in such posts has a rational nexus with the object sought to be achieved viz. relief against destitution. No other posts are expected or required to be given by the public authorities for the purpose. It must be remembered in this connection that as against the destitute family of the deceased there are millions of other families which are equally, if not more destitute. The exception to the rule made in favour of the family of the deceased employee is in consideration of the services rendered by him and the legitimate expectations, and the change in the status and affairs, of the family engendered by the erstwhile employment which are suddenly upturned."

22. Specifically in the context of considering the financial circumstances of the family of the deceased employee, several judgments of this Court have elaborated on the principles to be followed.

23. The decision in SBI v. Kunti Tiwary [SBI v. Kunti Tiwary, (2004) 7 SCC 271 : 2004 SCC (L&S) 943] involved an interpretation of an Office Memorandum dated 7-8-1996 circulated to all banks in the light of the decision in Umesh Kumar Nagpal [Umesh Kumar Nagpal v. State of Haryana, (1994) 4 SCC 138 : 1994 SCC (L&S) 930] . The Indian Banks Association adopted the directions of this Court in the scheme which was proposed for the appointment of heirs of deceased employees. The scheme contemplated that in order to determine the financial condition of the family, the following amounts would have to be taken into account: (Kunti Tiwary case [SBI v. Kunti Tiwary, (2004) 7 SCC 271 : 2004 SCC (L&S) 943] , SCC p. 273, para 7)

"7. ... (a) Family pension.

(b) Gratuity amount received.

(c) Employee's/Employer's contribution to provident fund.

(d) Any compensation paid by the Bank or its Welfare Fund.

(e) Proceeds of LIC policy and other investments of the deceased employee. (f)

Income of family from other sources.

(g) Employment of other family members.

(h) Size of the family and liabilities, if any, etc."

Eventually, this recommendation was accepted in the scheme. In the light of these recommendations and the scheme, this Court observed that where the family of a deceased employee was not left without means of livelihood, the claim for compassionate appointment could not be sustained. It may be noted that in that case it was on a review of the overall financial position of the family, including amounts received towards terminal benefits that the decision was taken.

24. The decision of this Court in Punjab National Bank v. Ashwini Kumar Taneja [Punjab National Bank v. Ashwini Kumar Taneja, (2004) 7 SCC 265 : 2004 SCC (L&S) 938] followed the same principle. While reiterating the view which was taken in Kunti Tiwary [SBI v. Kunti Tiwary, (2004) 7 SCC 271 : 2004 SCC (L&S) 943] , this Court held that the scheme specified the amounts which were required to be taken into consideration.

25. The decision in SBI v. Somvir Singh [SBI v. Somvir Singh, (2007) 4 SCC 778 : (2007) 2 SCC (L&S) 92] has noticed the scheme for appointment of dependants of deceased employees on compassionate grounds framed by State Bank of India. The Court expressly held that the authorities were not in error in taking account of the terminal benefits, investments and the monthly family income including the family pension paid by the Bank. The view of this Court finds expression in the following extract: (SCC p. 784, para 12)

"12. The competent authority while considering the application had taken into consideration each one of those factors and accordingly found that the dependants of the employee who died in harness are not in penury and without any means of livelihood. The authority did not commit any error in taking the terminal benefits and the investments and the monthly family income including the family pension paid by the Bank into consideration for the purposes of deciding as to whether the family of late Zile Singh had been left in penury or without any means of livelihood. The scheme framed by the appellant Bank in fact mandates the authority to take those factors into consideration. The authority also did not commit any error in taking into consideration the income of the family from other sources viz. the agricultural land."

In the view of this Court, the only issue to be considered was whether the claim for compassionate appointment had been considered in accordance with the scheme. The income of the family from all sources was required to be taken into consideration according to the scheme. This having been ignored by the High Court, the appeal filed by the Bank was allowed.

26. The judgment of a Bench of two Judges in Mumtaz Yunus Mulani v. State of Maharashtra [Mumtaz Yunus Mulani v. State of Maharashtra, (2008) 11 SCC 384 : (2008) 2 SCC (L&S) 1077] has adopted the principle that appointment on compassionate grounds is not a source of recruitment, but a means to enable the family of the deceased to get over a sudden financial crisis. The financial position of the family would need to be evaluated on the basis of the provisions contained in the scheme. The decision in Govind Prakash Verma [Govind Prakash Verma v. LIC, (2005) 10 SCC 289 : 2005 SCC (L&S) 590] has been duly considered, but the Court observed that it did not appear that the earlier binding precedents of this Court have been taken note of in that case.

27. In Union of India v. Shashank Goswami [Union of India v. Shashank Goswami, (2012) 11 SCC 307 : (2013) 1 SCC (L&S) 51] , this Court considered a circular issued by the Office of the Comptroller and Auditor General of India in terms of which the total income of the family from all sources, including terminal benefits received, was required to be taken into account. Income limits were specified in the circular for Group "B', Group "C' and Group "D' posts. Taking note of the fact that a family pension has been authorised to the widow of the deceased employee, this Court held that the case of the dependant did not fall within the income limits meant for Group "C' posts.

28. The same principle has been reiterated in another decision of a Bench of two Judges of this Court in SBI v. Surya Narain Tripathi [SBI v. Surya Narain Tripathi, (2014) 15 SCC 739 : (2015) 3 SCC (L&S) 689] . While adverting to a submission of the learned counsel based on the decision in Govind Prakash Verma [Govind Prakash Verma v. LIC, (2005) 10 SCC 289 : 2005 SCC (L&S) 590] , this Court noted thus: (Surya Narain Tripathi case [SBI v. Surya Narain Tripathi, (2014) 15 SCC 739 : (2015) 3 SCC (L&S) 689] , SCC p. 741, paras 8-9)

"8. He relied upon the judgment of this Court in Govind Prakash Verma v. LIC [Govind Prakash Verma v. LIC, (2005) 10 SCC 289 : 2005 SCC (L&S) 590] where a view has been taken that the compassionate appointment cannot be refused on the ground that another member of the family had received appropriate employment and the service benefits were adequate. We may humbly state that this view runs counter to the view which was taken earlier in Umesh Kumar Nagpal [Umesh Kumar Nagpal v. State of Haryana, (1994) 4 SCC 138 : 1994 SCC (L&S) 930] which was not cited before the Court in Govind Prakash [Govind Prakash Verma v. LIC, (2005) 10 SCC 289 : 2005 SCC (L&S) 590] . The subsequent two judgments which were referred above also take the same view as in Umesh Kumar Nagpal [Umesh Kumar Nagpal v. State of Haryana, (1994) 4 SCC 138 : 1994 SCC (L&S) 930] . Mr Vikas Singh has drawn our attention to the judgment in SBI v. Somvir Singh [SBI v. Somvir Singh, (2007) 4 SCC 778 : (2007) 2 SCC (L&S) 92] where the 1998 Scheme has been considered.

9. In all the matters of compassionate appointment it must be noticed that it is basically a way out for the family which is financially in difficulties on account of the death of the breadearner. It is not an avenue for a regular employment as such. This is in fact an exception to the provisions under Article 16 of the Constitution. That being so, if an employer points out that the financial arrangement made for the family subsequent to the death of the employee is adequate, the members of the family cannot insist that one of them ought to be provided a comparable appointment. This being the principle which has been adopted all throughout, it is difficult for us to accept the submission made on behalf of the respondent."

29. Now, it is in this background that it would be necessary to advert to the decision in Canara Bank [Canara Bank v. M. Mahesh Kumar, (2015) 7 SCC 412 : (2015) 2 SCC (L&S) 539] . A scheme for compassionate appointment of 8-5-1993 was prevalent in Canara Bank when the employee died on duty in October 1998. Faced with the rejection of an application for compassionate appointment, the High Court was moved in a writ petition in which a learned Single Judge issued [M. Mahesh Kumar v. Canara Bank, 2003 SCC OnLine Ker 657 : (2003) 98 FLR 1030] a direction for reconsideration of the claim for appointment. During the pendency of the appeal before the Division Bench, the scheme for compassionate appointment was replaced by a new scheme providing for ex gratia in lieu of appointment. The main issue which fell for consideration before this Court was whether the subsequent scheme which was formulated in 2005 providing for ex gratia payment would govern or whether the application would have to be disposed of on the basis of the earlier scheme of 1993. It may be noted that the application for compassionate appointment in that case had been rejected on the ground that the family of the respondent was not in indigent circumstances, as required by the scheme for compassionate appointment of 1993.

30. Dealing with the applicability of the subsequent scheme, a Bench of two Judges of this Court held, following the earlier decision in SBI v. Jaspal Kaur [SBI v. Jaspal Kaur, (2007) 9 SCC 571 : (2007) 2 SCC (L&S) 578] , that the cause of action to be considered for compassionate appointment arose when the earlier scheme was in force. Hence, the claim could not be decided on the basis of the subsequent scheme which provided only for the payment of ex gratia. Moreover, as a matter of fact, the subsequent scheme was superseded in 2014 by reviving the scheme for the provision of compassionate appointment.

31. Hence, the issue which has been dealt with in Canara Bank [Canara Bank v. M. Mahesh Kumar, (2015) 7 SCC 412 : (2015) 2 SCC (L&S) 539] is whether the application for grant of compassionate appointment could have been rejected on the basis of a scheme which had come into force after the date of submission of the application. That, as this Court observed, was the main question which fell for consideration. The Bench of two Judges, however, also noted that it was urged on behalf of the appellant Bank that the family of the respondent was in receipt of family pension. This, the Court held, was of no consequence in considering the application for compassionate appointment.

32. The learned Senior Counsel appearing on behalf of the appellants has sought to distinguish the above observations, in the judgment in Canara Bank [Canara Bank v. M. Mahesh Kumar, (2015) 7 SCC 412 : (2015) 2 SCC (L&S) 539] , by submitting that it is not the case of the State of Himachal Pradesh that mere receipt of family pension would disable an applicant from submitting an application for compassionate appointment or preclude consideration of the claim. On the contrary, the submission which is urged is that the scheme requires consideration of all relevant sources of income and hence, receipt of family pension would be one of the criteria which would be taken into consideration in determining as to whether the family of the deceased employee is in indigent circumstances. We find merit in this submission for the simple reason that it is in accord with the express terms of the scheme of 18-1-1990 as modified by the State. The scheme contemplates that payments which have been received on account of welfare measures provided by the State including family pension are to be taken into account. Plainly, the terms of the scheme must be implemented.

33. For these reasons, we have come to the conclusion that the High Court was not justified, based on the decision in Govind Prakash Verma [Govind Prakash Verma v. LIC, (2005) 10 SCC 289 : 2005 SCC (L&S) 590] in issuing a direction to the State to act in a manner contrary to the express terms of the scheme which require that the family pension received by the dependents of the deceased employee be taken into account."

13- Learned Counsel for the petitioner could not point out any other good reason or ground to establish that the reasoning given by the Tribunal and respondent no. 4, while rejecting the claim of the petitioner, is unjustified and illegal.

14- Keeping in view the provision of the scheme of 1998 and the observations made by the Hon'ble Apex Court in the judgment passed in the case of State of Himachal Pradesh(Supra), we hold that there is no illegality in the order dated 12.07.2017 passed by the Tribunal and order dated 23.07.2015 passed by respondent no. 4. For the aforesaid reason, we do not find a fit case for interference.

15- The petition is misconceived and hence dismissed accordingly.

1. Heard Sri K.D. Nag, learned counsel for petitioner, Sri R.C. Saxena, learned counsel for applicant-respondent No. 1 and perused the record.

2. Facts in brief of the present case are that applicant-respondent No. 1/Ravindra Kumar Singh has filed an O.A. No. 75 of 2010 (Ravindra Kumar Singh Vs. Union of India and others), challenging the entire disciplinary, i.e. memorandum of charge, inquiry report, second stage advice of the CVC and the penalty order compulsorily retiring him from service and also challenged the penalty order dated 30.07.2010 by means of amendment in the said O.A. before the Central Administrative Tribunal (hereinafter referred to as the "Tribunal') In addition to abvoesaid O.A., applicant-respondent has also filed O.A. No. 316/2007.

3. Both the O.As were clubbed together and decided by the common judgment by the Tribunal.

4. So far as the O.A. No. 316/2007 is concerned, the Tribunal in its judgment and order dated 01.09.2017 held as under:-

"23. The only relief claimed in OA No. 316/2007 is challenged to the charge-sheet on the ground that the same has been issued by an incompetent authority. In view of the above, there is no merit in this OA, Which is liable to be dismissed. Ordered accordingly."

5. So far as the O.A. No. 75 of 2010 is concerned, the Tribunal in its judgment dated 01.09.2017 held as under:-

"24. As far as OA No. 75/2010 is concerned, we have already recorded our opinion that the procedure adopted by the disciplinary authority is in contravention to sub-rules (2)and (3) (a) of rule 15 of the CCS(CCA)Rules, 1965, as also violative of principles of natural justice. The impugned penalty order is thus liable to be set aside on this count. We order accordingly. notwithstanding the setting aside of the impugned penalty order, the matter is remitted back to the disciplinary authority to pass a fresh order after taking into consideration the reply of the applicant to the inquiry report, without taking into consideration the second stage advice of CVC."

6. The findings on which the abvoesaid judgment has been passed by Tribunal is quoted hereinbelow:-

"16. It is admitted case of the parties that on receipt of the inquiry report the disciplinary authority failed to forward the same to the Government servant. To the contrary without seeking response of the Government servant, CVC's advice was sought by recording its own tentative opinion of imposing the penalty, whereas ex facie the requirement of the rule is that the disciplinary authority is under a bounden duty to forward the report of the inquiry firstly to the charged officer for his representation and it is only after the comments/representation of the charged officer that the disciplinary authority, if after examining the representation of the Government servant to the inquiry report, is of the opinion that the penalty as prescribed under rules is required to be imposed, may seek second stage advice of the Commission. The object of this provision is based upon sound principles of natural justice. The disciplinary authority is not required to formulate its opinion merely on the basis of the inquiry report, except where he disagrees on the findings of the inquiring authority on any article of charge without considering the reply/representation of the Government servant to the findings of the inquiring authority. The very object is that the disciplinary authority on consideration of the representation/reply of the charged officer to the findings of the inquiring authority may change its opinion. In the present case, the disciplinary authority in gross contravention of the provisions of sub-rule (2) and sub-rule (3)(a) of rule 15, chose to seek second stage advice of CVC before providing opportunity to the Government servant to submit his representation/reply to the report of the inquiring authority. It is also pertinent to note that though the disciplinary authority is not bound by the advice of the Commission, nonetheless, the advice of the Commission, whether CVC or UPSC, is capable of influencing the mind of the disciplinary authority and in such an eventuality it would not be an independent, impartial and fair application of mind by the disciplinary authority to the findings of the inquiring authority. The import of CVC's advice at the initial stage without having the benefit of the Government servant's response to the inquiry report is prone to seriously impact the decision making approach of the disciplinary authority. Thus, such a procedure is not only in contravention of sub-rules (2) and (3)(a) of rule 15 but also violative of the principles of natural justice.

17. Sub-rule 3(b) of rule 15 also requires the disciplinary authority to forward or cause to be forwarded a copy of the advice of the Commission received under clause (a) to the Government servant to provide him another opportunity to respond to the advice of the Commission. Thus, a two-fold protection has been provided to the Government servant (i) to respond to the report of the inquiry to provide a fair opportunity to the disciplinary authority to examine the report of the inquiry in the light of the defence of the Government servant; and (ii) in the event the advice of the Commission is against the Government servant, to enable the Government servant to again respond to such advice for the impartial and due application of mind by the disciplinary authority.

18. In Managing Director, ECIL v B. Karunakar & others [(1993) 4 SCC 727] a Constitution Bench of the Hon'ble Supreme Court held that it is the right of the employee to have the report of the inquiry officer to defend himself effectively notwithstanding whether he asked for the report or not. The report has to be furnished to him even if the statutory rules do not permit furnishing of the report or are silent on this aspect. This is in consonance with Article 311(2) of the Constitution of India and principles of natural justice. However, where the disciplinary authority before providing opportunity to the Government servant makes up its mind to an impose penalty and further strengthens its opinion with the advice of CVC or UPSC, the very purpose of asking the Government servant to submit his representation is frustrated and renders it meaningless and illusory.

19. The role and purpose of the Central Vigilance Commission in the matter of disciplinary proceedings is prescribed under Section 19 of the Central Vigilance Commission Act, 2003. Such consultation is on the basis of the rules and regulations governing vigilance or disciplinary matters relating to persons appointed to public services and posts in connection with the affairs of the Union. Any regulations made under the Central Vigilance Commission Act, 2003 have to be read harmoniously with the provisions of rule 15 of the CCS (CCA) Rules, 1965.

20. In the present case, from the record we find that vide letter dated 20.08.2009, the disciplinary authority sought the second stage advice of CVC. While seeking advice the disciplinary authority not only simply forwarded the report of the inquiring authority but also its own findings and conclusions on each article of charge. The opinion of the disciplinary authority recorded in the aforesaid letter is as under:

"Taking into account the findings of the Inquiry Officer as well as the views of the undersigned, it is considered that the imposition of one of the major penalty on Shri R.K Singh, Inspector (now Supdt) recommended by the CVC in its first stage Advice aforementioned would be just, fair and proper. Accordingly, I strongly recommend that one of the major penalty under Rule 11 of CCS (CCA) Rules, 1965 should be imposed upon Shri R.K. Singh, Inspector (now Supdt)."

CVC vide its office memorandum dated 22.01.2010 communicated to the disciplinary authority for acceptance of the inquiry officer's report for imposition of suitable major penalty in agreement with the disciplinary authority. The aforesaid memorandum reads as under:

"Sub: Disciplinary Proceedings against Shri R.K. Singh, Inspector (now Supdt.).

CBEC may refer to their U.O. Note No.V-566/5/2001-Pt.II-Cus/04 dated 07.01.2010 on the subject cited above.

2. Commission has observed that the IO's report and as the views of the DA are appropriate as the inquiry establishes the active involvement of the CO in leaving his station unauthorisedly for abetting the export fraud which was unraveled by DRI.

3. Commission, hence, in agreement with DA, advises for acceptance of IO's Report and imposition of suitable major penalty upon Shri R.K. Singh, then Inspector (now Supdt.).

4. Department's files are returned herewith. Receipt of Commission's advice/Department's files may be acknowledged. Action taken may be intimated."

From the above office menmorandum, we find that CVC has not discharged its role in accordance with law. As a matter of fact, CVC seems to have been influenced by the opinion of the disciplinary authority and has endorsed its opinion without any application of mind, and vice versa, the disciplinary authority being influenced by the opinion of CVC imposed the penalty. In the entire process, the principles of natural justice have been sacrificed by both the authorities.

21. The applicant has also challenged the competence of the Commissioner, Central Excise to issue the charge memorandum. It is stated that the Commissioner was not competent to issue the charge-sheet. Reliance is placed upon order dated 16.01.2003 issued by the Ministry of Finance, Department of Revenue, CBEC, New Delhi, whereby the Chief Commissioner, Central Excise/Customs, Lucknow was declared as the cadre controlling authority. Copy of this letter is placed on record as Annexure-1 with OA No.723/2010 in OA No.75/2010. Aforesaid letter reads as under:

"Sub: Declaration of Chief Commissioner of Central Excise/Customs as Cadre Controlling Authorities upto Group 'B' level staff.

Sir

I am directed to say that the question of declaring the Chief Commissioner of Central Excise/Customs as cadre controlling authority in respect of staff upto Group 'B' level had been under consideration of the Central Board of Excise and Customs (hereinafter referred to as the Board) for some time. It has now been decided by the Board that all the powers that are presently being exercised by the respective Chief Commissioners as the cadre controlling authority should henceforth be exercised by their respective Chief Commissioners. However there would be no merger or bifurcation of the existing cadres i.e. the functions of each cadre controlling authority shall be exercised separately and independently by the chief Commissioner. This in effect would imply that the independent entity of each cadre shall remain intact and unchanged.

2. As the cadre controlling authority, the Chief Commissioners' mandate of responsibility should also extend to:

(a) All establishment matters including recruitment, promotion and confirmation upto the level of Group B staff;

(b) Holding of Departmental Promotion Committee meetings;

(c) Monitoring the implementation of the Board's instructions with regard to transfers and equitable distribution of manpower and material resources between Commissioners/Zones; and

(d) Adequate representation of employees belonging to the SC/ST and OBC categories in the cadre under his control.

3. It is also clarified that in the formations comprising both Commissioners and Chief Commissioners, it would be the Chief Commissioner who would allocate and post staff to various formations including Commissioners'/Chief Commissioners' office.

4. It has also been decided to declare the Chief Commissioners as Head of the Department in order to enable them to carry out their responsibilities."

22. From the perusal of the aforesaid letter, we find that the Chief Commissioner was declared as the cadre controlling authority for purposes of activities mentioned therein. Insofar as the disciplinary proceedings are concerned, Part-II of the Schedule appended to the CCS (CCA) Rules, 1965 prescribes the description of service, appointing authority and the competent authority to impose penalties. Part-II of the Schedule deals with the Central Civil Services Group 'B'. Entry 12 of the aforesaid Schedule reads as under:

Serial No.	Description of service	Appointing Authority	Authority competent to impose penalties and penalties which it may impose (with reference to item numbers in Rule 11
			Authority	Penalties
(1)	(2)	(3)	(4)	(5)
12.	Central Excise Service, Group 'B'- (including Deputy Headquarters Assistant to the Collector) and District Opium Officers, Group "B'	Collector of Central Excise/land Customs; Narcotics Commissioner	Collector of Central Excuse/Land Customs Director of Inspection; Director of Revenue Intelligence; Narcotics Commissioner. In respect of (i) a member of the Service Serving in (Statistics and Intelligence Branch Central Excise) : Deputy collector (Statistics and Intelligence Branch). (ii) any other member of the Service: Assitant6 Collector of Central Excise, Group "A' All	All (i) to (iv) (i)

From this Schedule, it is evident that the Collector of Central Excise (Commissioner) is the competent disciplinary authority to impose all penalties prescribed under rule 11. The Schedule is statutory in nature. Letter dated 16.01.2003 has not amended the Schedule and thus may be for administrative purposes, but not for purposes of imposition of penalty. Otherwise also this communication does not in any manner deals with the powers of the Chief Commissioner to impose the penalty in disciplinary proceedings. Thus statutory rule would prevail and the Commissioner was and continues to be the competent authority for imposing penalty upon the applicant. The contention of the applicant is thus rejected.

23. The only relief claimed in OA No.316/2007 is challenge to the charge-sheet on the ground that the same has been issued by an incompetent authority. In view of the above, there is no merit in this OA, which is liable to be dismissed. Ordered accordingly.

24. As far as OA No. 75/2010 is concerned, we have already recorded our opinion that the procedure adopted by the disciplinary authority is in contravention to sub-rules (2)and (3) (a) of rule 15 of the CCS(CCA)Rules, 1965, as also violative of principles of natural justice. The impugned penalty order is thus liable to be set aside on this count. We order accordingly. notwithstanding the setting aside of the impugned penalty order, the matter is remitted back to the disciplinary authority to pass a fresh order after taking into consideration the reply of the applicant to the inquiry report, without taking into consideration the second stage advice of CVC."

7. Aggrieved by the order dated 01.09.2017, the present writ petition has been filed by the petitioners.

8. Sri R.C. Saxena learned counsel for applicant-respondent No. 1 has raised preliminary objection on the issue of maintainability of writ petition through affidavit. The relevant portion of the affidavit is quoted below:-

"(i) The present writ petition is barred by the doctrine of Estoppel:- The present writ petition is liable to be dismissed for the reason that after serving the certified copy of Judgement and order dated 1.9.2017 passed by Learned Tribunal in O.A. No.75/2010 along with representation dated 23.9.2017, the Disciplinary Authority, Commissioner, CGST & Central Excise Lucknow in terms and in compliance of Judgement and order dated 1.9.2017 of the Learned Tribunal issued the letter dated 12.10.20 17 requiring the deponent to submit the representation against the inquiry report dated 29.7.2009 within a period of 15 days for taking decision after considering the representation, if submitted by the deponent and thereafter the deponent in compliance of letter dated 12.10.2017 submitted representation dated 24.10.2017 and further representation dated 29.6.2018 to the Disciplinary authority for taking decision but no decision has yet been taken by the disciplinary authority in terms of judgement and order dated 1.9.2017. From the above it is absolutely clear that the Petitioners accepted the judgement of the Learned Tribunal dated 1.9.2017 and also implemented the impugned judgement and order dated 1.9.2017 by issuing letter dated 12.10.2017. Thus, from the own actions of the Petitioners/Respondents that they had no intention to challenge the impugned judgement and order of the learned tribunal as the letter dated 12.10.2017 issued by themselves for implementing the judgement and order dated 1.9.2017 of the learned tribunal they are barred & stopped by the Doctrine of Estoppel as such the present writ petition is liable to be dismissed on this ground alone. The true electrostat copy of the letter dated 12.10.2017 excluding the copy of inquiry report and the representations dated 24.10.2017 & 29.6.2018 submitted by the deponent are filed here with as Annexure

No.-CA-1, CA-2 & CA-3 to this counter affidavit.

(ii) Writ Petition is liable to be dismissed for concealment of material facts/documents:- The petitioners/respondents have cunningly and most dishonestly have concealed the most material facts/documents in the writ petition that for the purpose of compliance of judgement and order of Learned Tribunal dated 1.9.2017 the letter dated 12.10.2017 contained in Annexure No. CA-1 was already issued to the deponent requiring the deponent to submit his representation for taking appropriate decision by the disciplinary authority which was submitted by the deponent on 24.10.2017 & 29.6.2018 contained in Annexure No.-CA-2 & CA-3 and the disciplinary authority despite the above has yet not taken any decision. In view of the above, since the petitioners/respondents have not approached this Hon'ble Court with clean hands and are guilty of concealment of material facts and documents, the writ is liable to be dismissed for the said reasons.

(iii) Moving of two Applications seeking for extension of time to comply with the judgement and order before the Learned Tribunal in 0.A. No.75/2010, debars the petitioners/respondents to challenge the said impugned judgement and order dated 1.9.2017 before this Hon'ble Court:- It is the well settled legal position that either the respondents may comply with the directions of the Hon'ble Court within the time specified or if the compliance is not possible for any reason within the specified period, the only course open to the Respondents is that they should moved the concerned court for the purpose of extension of further time for compliance of the said directions. In the present case also since the Petitioners/respondents could not take decision within a specified time of 3 months, they approached and filed two applications for further extension of time before the Learned Tribunal in OA No.75/2010 for complying with judgement and order dated 1.9.2017. Moving of above two applications for further extension of time itself finds mention in para 29 and 31 of the writ petition. Therefore, on one hand when above applications of the petitioners/respondents seeking for extension of time for compliance of iudgement and order dated 1.9.2017 are still pending with the learned tribunal in the aforesaid O.A. No.75/2010, they are under legal obligation to comply with the judgement and order dated 1.9.2017 and they can not permitted to challenge the same judgement and order dated 1.9.2017 for compliance of which they have sought for extension of time before Learned Tribunal. In this regard the deponent refers and rely upon the decision of Hon'ble Supreme court in the case of M.L. Sachdev vs Union of India & another reported in 1991 SCC(L&S) 606, Para 7 in which the Hon'ble Apex Court has held that once it was found that before the extended date the direction was not being complied with, it was the obligation of the respondent-contemnor to approach the court for further extension of time or to receive such direction as the court in its discretion thought it appropriate to make. Thus, it is absolutely clear that the very purpose of moving application for extension of further time is to aimed at to comply with the judgement and order and its direction and not for challenging the iudgement and order before higher court in the garb of said application for extension of time as such the present writ is barred by principles of Estoppel and constructive resjudicata.

*(iv) The present writ petition is liable to be dismissed on the ground of delay and laches:- The Hon'ble Tribunal passed the judgement and order dated 1.9.2017 contained in Annexure No. 1 to the writ petition considering the entire facts and grounds raised on behalf of petitioner and the respondents and decided all the issues involved into the matter, setting aside the impugned punishment order of compulsory retirement and remitted back the matter to the disciplinary authority for passing a fresh order within a period of three months. The petitioner/respondents within a period of about one month partially complied with the judgement and order dated 1.9.2017 by issuing letter dated 12.10.2017 contained in Annexure No.-CA-1 and when remaining compliance about taking of final decision could not be possible within the specified period of 3 months, they approached the learned Tribunal for extension of time by means of two applications. From the moving of these applications for extension of time for complying with the directions of Learned Tribunal, the petitioners/respondents can not get rid off from the 3 months limitation for filing the writ petition. The reason is that seeking of time for compliance of directions is all together contrary to the question of limitation for filing of writ petition. It is wonder that the petitioners/ respondents have not even mentioned any facts and grounds for condoning the period beyond three months in any part of the entire writ petition. It appears that the petitioners/respondents misleading the Hon'ble court and not disclosing that the period of limitation for challenging the judgement and order dated 1.9.2017 had already expired as on 1.12.2017 and further expiry of one year, filed the above writ petition which was liable to have been dismissed on the ground of delay and laches. It is not disputed that even if any writ petition suffers from the delay and laches, the Hon'ble Court has power to condone the delay for sufficient reasons to be pleaded and brought on record but the delay in question has to be explained with reasons so that the concerned Hon'ble court may be able to pass appropriate order but in the present case the relevant facts and reason about Condonation of delay have not been pleaded at all instead several letters of departmental correspondents of different subsequent dates have been referred in the writ petition which are irrelevant as regards the question of limitation for filing of writ petition against the judgement and order dated 1.9.2017. In view of the above, the present writ petition is liable to be dismissed on the ground of limitation also."

9. Learned counsel for petitioners, in rebuttal, so far as the matter in regard to delay in filing the writ petition, submits that after passing of the judgment by Tribunal dated 01.09.2017 the steps were taken as stated in paragraph Nos. 29 to 34 of the writ petition, so keeping in view the said facts as well as the judgment passed by Hon'ble the Apex Court int eh case of Smt. Sudama Devi Vs. Commissioner and others, 1983 (2) SCC 1 and in the case of State of Rajasthan & others Vs. Bal Kishan Mathur (dead) Through Legal Representatives and others, 2014 (1) SCC 592, delay in filing the writ petition may be condoned.

10. Sri K.D. Nag, learned counsel for petitioners-Union of India while opposing the other objections raised by learned counsel for respondent as well as on merit of judgment passed by the Tribunal submits as under:-

"1. That it is admitted fact that there were very serious allegations against Ravindra Kumar Singh (OP-1 in instant WP), including those relating to extending assistance to the offenders by misusing is official position and attempting to get released the detained export consignments of offenders, against the interest of the Customs department. Hence Disciplinary proceedings were conducted against the OP-1 in accordance with law wherein full opportunity was provided to him. The Charge Sheet was issued on 29.09.2003, whereas after providing full opportunity, the punishment order of compulsory Retirement of R. K. Singh (OP-1) was passed by the disciplinary authority on 30.07.2010. (refer Para-12 of WP).

2. That it is also admitted fact that a Memorandum of Charges dated 29.09.2003 was served to R. K. Singh (OP-1), to which he submitted his reply dated 08.10.2003. The gravity and seriousness of Charges is evident as the Article of Charges have been quoted in the final Judgment and Order dated 01.09.2017, impugned in the writ petition (refer Para-3 of WP).

3. That it is also admitted fact that the enquiry officer proceeded with the enquiry proceedings in accordance of law. After giving full opportunity and after observing all norms of natural Justice, the inquiry was concluded on 04.06.2009. At that stage R. K. Singh submitted detailed Statement of Defense dated 21.07.2009 and after considering the statement of defense of R. K. Singh (OP-1 in instant WP), the inquiry officer submitted Inquiry Report dated 29.07.2009 to the disciplinary authority (refer Para-5 of WP).

4. That it is also admitted that vide office order dated 05.02.2010 (i.e. Show Cause Notice- before awarding punishment) the (i) copy of the Inquiry Report dated 29.07.2009 and (ii) copy of IInd stage advice memo dated 22.01.2010 of CVC was serve to R. K. Singh (OP- 1 in WP) for his reply /representation in the matter of action proposed against him. The fact of serving the copy of the Inquiry Report dated 29.07.2009 and copy of IInd stage advice memo dated 22.01.2010 of CVC has been acknowledged by the Tribunal in the end of paragraph 5 of the impugned judgment dated 01.09.2017 (Ann. - 1 to wp). As such all norms of opportunity of representation, fair play and natural justice were observed at that stage also. As such no prejudice caused to R. K. Singh (refer Para-7 of WP).

5. That OP-1 (R. K. Singh) submitted his representation dated 12.03.2010 in response to the office order dated 05.02.2010 (i.e. Show Cause Notice before awarding punishment) (refer Para-9 of WP).

6. That after considering the entire material relating to disciplinary proceeding including the representation dated 12.03.2010 of OP-1 (R. K. Singh) in response to the office order dated 05.02.2010 (i.e. Show Cause Notice - before awarding punishment), the punishment order dated 30.07.2010 for 'compulsory retirement' of R. K.Singh (OP-1 in instant WP) was passed by the disciplinary authority (refer Para-12 of WP).

7. That it is pertinent to mention that the Disciplinary Proceedings in question against the opposite party commenced on 29.09.2003, with the issuance of Memorandum of Charges dated 29.09.2003 (Charge Sheet) and got concluded on 30.07.2010 by issuance punishment order dated 30.07.2010 for compulsory retirement of R. K. Singh in a span of seven year duration. In the prolong detailed Disciplinary Proceedings, all possible opportunities of representation /reply hearing in his defense were provided to the opposite party and all opportunities were fully availed by the opposite party.

8. That during the course of Disciplinary Proceedings, opposite party (R.K. Singh) filed two original applications i.e. OA No. 316 / 2007 and OA No.75 /2010, in the Central Administrative Tribunal, Lucknow Bench, Lucknow, but he did not plead as to what and factual prejudice was caused to him actual and factual prejudice was caused to him and in what manner during inquiry proceedings through which he was compulsorily retired.

9. That the Tribunal has acknowledge that along with the copy of Inquiry Report, the advice of the commission (CVC) was also send to the R. K. Singh for his comments - before passing punishment order. As such it cannot be said that there is failure of opportunity of hearing to the Government Servant, and in fact the final decision of imposition of penalties was taken only after considering the reply dated 12.03.20100 of R. K. Singh in response to the office order dated 05.02.2010 (i.e. Show Cause Notice - before awarding punishment) of disciplinary authority (refer Para-25 of WP).

10. That for allowing the OA No.75 / 2010 vide impugned judgment dated 01.09.2017, the Learned Tribunal relied on the legal principle laid down by the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India on the issue of 'Non Supply of Report of Inquiry Officer' in the matter of Managing Director, ECIL, Hyderabad Vs. B. Karunakar - (1993) 4 SCC 727.

11. That in paragraph 30 (v) of the judgment in - Managing Director, ECIL, Hyderabad Vs. B. Karunakar, reported at (1993) 4 SCC 727, Hon'ble Supreme Court of India observed -

"30 (v) ..... Whether in fact, prejudice has been caused to the employee or not on account of the denial to him of the report, has to be considered on the facts and circumstances of each case. Where, therefore, even after the furnishing of the report, no different consequence would have followed, it would be a perversion of justice to permit the employee to resume duty and to get all the consequential benefits. It amounts to rewarding the dishonest and the guilty and thus to stretching the concept of justice to illogical and exasperating limits. It amounts to an - unnatural expansion of natural justice which in itself is antithetical of justice.

In the instant matter in hand of R. K. Singh, a Show Cause Notice-before awarding punishment (i.e. order dated 05.02.2010) was issued to R. K. Singh and along with that the (i) copy of the Inquiry Report dated 29.07.2009 and (ii) copy of IInd stage advice memo dated 22.01.2010 of CVC was serve to R. K. Singh (OP-1 in WP) for his reply /representation in the matter of action proposed against him. The fact of the serving the copy of the Inquiry Report dated 29.07.2009 and copy of IInd stage advice memo dated 22.01.2010 of CVC has been acknowledged by the Tribunal in the end of paragraph 5 of the impugned judgment dated 01.09.2017 (Ann.-1 to WP).

The Learned Tribunal failed to record the appropriate findings as to what actual and factual prejudice was caused to

R. K. Singh and in what manner. Thus the impugned judgment dated 01.09.2017 (Ann. 1 to WP) is in sheer violation to the principle laid down in Managing Director, ECIL, Hyderabad Vs. B. Karunakar (1993) 4 SCC 727 itself.

12. That in support of contention of the writ petition, the petitioner is further relying on the judgment given in the matter of S. K. Singh Vs. Central Bank of India & others (1996) 6 SCC 415 (copy attached), wherein the Hon'ble Supreme Court of India held - since the dismissed employee failed to explain, as to what prejudice was caused to him on account of non-supply of the Charge Sheet, the 'dismissal order' was rightly not interfered with by the Hon'ble Single Judge and also rightly not interfered by the Division Bench of High Court. Lastly Hon'ble Apex Court also dismissed the SLP filed by the dismissed employee.

13. That in support of contention of the writ petition, the petitioner is further relying on the paragraphs 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 36 & 44 of the judgment given in the matter of - Haryana Financial Corporation & another Vs. Kailash Chandra Ahuja - (2008) 9 SCC 31 (copy attached).

14. That in support of contention of the writ petition, the petitioner is further relying on the paragraphs 7, 8, 9 & 10 of the judgment given in the matter of - Uttarakhand Transport Corporation & another Vs. Sukhver Singh - (2018) 1 SCC 231 (copy attached).

15. That in preliminary objection dated 25.03.2019, the counsel for OP-1 has opposed the writ petition on the ground of 'Estoppel' as the departmental authorities invited objections of OP-1 in furtherance of judgment dated 01.09.2017 (Ann. 1 to WP), impugned in instant writ petition. Hence departmental authorities are stopped to challenge the judgment dated 01.09.2017 passed by the Central Administrative Tribunal.

In reply it most respectfully submit that parties (particularly the departmental authorities) before the Central Administrative Tribunal, in the OA have every 'legal right' rather 'legal duty' to challenge the judgment of the Tribunal and seek judicial review at next higher forum i.e. the Hon'ble High Court. It is most respectfully submitted that 'legal right' or 'legal duty' cannot be blocked on the ground of 'Estoppel'.

It is further submitted that none of the legal right of the OP-1 are getting affected by judicial review /judicial scrutiny by the Hon'ble High Court of the judgment dated 01.09.2017 passed by the Central Administrative Tribunal.

16. That in the 'Counter Affidavit' dated 18.04.2019, the OP-1 has referred the Judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court delivered in the matter of S. P. Chengalvaraya Naidu Vs. Jagannath - 1994 AIR 853.

In this connection it is submitted the judgment of Apex Court delivered in the matter of S. P. Chengalvaraya Naidu Vs. Jagannath relates to the property dispute, where some manipulation were made in the property related document by one party and preliminary decree was obtain at the back of aggrieved party.

In the instant writ petition, unwanted interference by the Central Administrative Tribunal in the departmental disciplinary proceedings is to be examined by the Hon'ble High Court."

11. In order to consider the matter in respect to condonation of delay, we feel appropriate to go through the law as laid down by Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of Smt. Sudama Devi Vs. Commissioner and others, 1983 (2) SCC

1 and in the case of State of Rajasthan & others Vs. Bal Kishan Mathur (dead) Through Legal Representatives and others, 2014 (1) SCC 592, wherein it has been held as under:-

" It is correct that condonation of delay cannot be a matter of course; it is also correct that in seeking such condonation the State cannot claim any preferential or special treatment. However, in situation where there has been no gross negligence or deliberate inaction or lack of bonafides this Court has always taken a broad and liberal view so as to advance substantial justice instead of terminating a proceeding on a technical ground like limitation. Unless the explanation furnished for the delay is wholly unacceptable or if no explanation whatsoever is offered or if the delay is inordinate and third party rights had become embedded during the interregnum the Courts should lean in favour of condonation. Our observations in Postmaster General v. Living Media India Ltd. : (2012) 3 SCC 563 and Amalendu Kumar Bera v. State of West Bengal : (2013) 4 SCC 52 do not strike any discordant note and have to be understood in the context of facts of the respective cases.

Postmaster General v. Living Media India Ltd. (supra)

28. Though we are conscious of the fact that in a matter of condonation of delay when there was no gross negligence or deliberate inaction or lack of bona fides, a liberal concession has to be adopted to advance substantial justice, we are of the view that in the facts and circumstances, the Department cannot take advantage of various earlier decisions. The claim on account of impersonal machinery and inherited bureaucratic methodology of making several notes cannot be accepted in view of the modern technologies being used and available. The law of limitation undoubtedly binds everybody, including the Government.

29. In our view, it is the right time to inform all the government bodies, their agencies and instrumentalities that unless they have reasonable and acceptable explanation for the delay and there was bona fide effort, there is no need to accept the usual explanation that the file was kept pending for several months/years due to considerable degree of procedural red tape in the process. The government departments are under a special obligation to ensure that they perform their duties with diligence and commitment. Condonation of delay is an exception and should not be used as an anticipated benefit for the government departments. The law shelters everyone under the same light and should not be swirled for the benefit of a few.

Amalendu Kumar Bera v. State of West Bengal (supra)

10. ... True it is, that courts should always take liberal approach in the matter of condonation of delay, particularly when the Appellant is the State but in a case where there are serious laches and negligence on the part of the State in challenging the decree passed in the suit and affirmed in appeal, the State cannot be allowed to wait to file objection Under Section 47 till the decree-holder puts the decree in execution....

Merely because the Respondent is the State, delay in filing the appeal or revision cannot and shall not be mechanically considered and in the absence of "sufficient cause" delay shall not be condoned."

12. Thus, in view of the abvoesaid law as laid down by Hon'ble the Apex Court we in the interest of justice thinks that delay in filing the writ petition may be condoned and is hereby condoned.

13. So far the other preliminary objections, as raised by Sri R.C. Saxena, learned counsel for applicant-respondent No. 1, as stated hereinabove in regard to maintainability of the writ petition, except in regard to condonation of delay in regard to which we have already condoned.

14. From the material on record, the position which emerged out is that rather admitted facts that after passing of the judgment and order dated 01.09.2017 by the Tribunal in O.A. No. 75/2010, whereby the Tribunal remitted the matter back to the disciplinary authority to pass a fresh order after taking into consideration the reply of the applicant/R.K. Singh to the inquiry report, without taking into consideration the second stage advice of CVC. Thereafter, the competent authority/Diciplinary Authority has issued a letter dated 12.10.2017 written by the Commissioner/Disciplinary Authority, CGST & Central Excise, Lucknow, which on reproduction reads as under:-

Subject: Disciplinary case against Shri Ravindra Kumar Singh, Inspector [now Superintendent (Retired)] under rule 14 of the CCS (CCA) Rules, 1965-forwarding of Inquiry report Reg.

With reference to the Memorandum C.No.-05/Vig/Lko/2001/Pt/411 dated 29.9.2003 issued by Commissioner, Central Excise, Lucknow and in compliance of the order dated 01.09.2017 passed by Hon'ble CAT, Lucknow in O.A. NO. 75/2010 filed by Shri Ravindra Kumar Singh, Superintendent (Retired), please find enclosed herewith a copy of Inquiry report dated 29.07.2009.

In this regard, if you with to make any representation or submission against the said Inquiry report dated 29.07.2009, you may do so in writing the Disciplinary Authority i.e. the Commissioner, CGST & Central Excise, Lucknow within 15 days of receipt of this letter The disciplinary Authority will take decision after considering the representation/ submission, if any, submitted by you.

Encl: As above

CGST & Central Excise :: Lucknow

15. In response to the abovesaid letter, applicant-respondent No. 1/R.K. Singh submitted his reply/submission on merit before the Disciplinary Authority, which are annexed as C.A.2 and C.A.-3 along with the affidavit filed in support of the preliminary objection taken by the applicant-respondent No. 1,. Further, petitioners, respondents in O.A., have not considered and disposed of the same as per the direction given by the Tribunal.

16. Further, as per the admitted fact, thereafter petitioners, respondents in the O.A., have moved two applications for extension of the time before the Tribunal which are pending for consideration.

17. The said facts relates to letter dated 12.10.2017 have been deliberately concealed by the petitioner while filing the present writ petition before this Court.

18. Taking into consideration the aforesaid facts as well as the fact that when a person approaches a Court of Equity in exercise of its extraordinary jurisdiction under Article 226/227 of the Constitution, he should approach the Court not only with clean hands but also with clean mind, clean heart and clean objective. (See The Ramjas Foundation & Ors. Vs. Union of India & Ors., AIR 1993 SC 852; K. P. Srinivas Vs. R. M. Premchand & Ors., (1994) 6 SCC 620).

Thus, who seeks equity must do equity. The legal maxim "Jure Naturae Aequum Est Neminem cum Alterius Dectrimento Et Injuria Fieri Locupletiorem", means that it is a law of nature that one should not be enriched by the loss or injury to another.

In the case of Nooruddin vs. (Dr.) K. L. Anand, (1995) 1 SCC 242, the Supreme Court observed as under:

".....Equally, the judicial process should never become an instrument of appreciation or abuse or a means in the process of the Court to subvert justice."

Similarly, in the case of Ramniklal N. Bhutta & Anr. vs. State of Maharashtra & Ors., AIR 1997 SC 1236, the Apex Court observed as under :-

"The power under Article 226 is discretionary. It will be exercised only in furtherance of justice and not merely on the making out of a legal point..... the interest of justice and public interest coalesce. They are very often one and the same. .....The Courts have to weight the public interest vis-a-vis the private interest while exercising the power under Article 226....indeed any of their discretionary powers.

19. In the case of M/s. Tilok Chand Motichand & Ors. Vs. H. B. Munshi & Anr., AIR 1970 SC 898; State of Haryana vs. Karnal Distillery, AIR 1977 SC 781; and Sabia Khan & Ors. Vs. State of U.P. & Ors., AIR 1999 SC 2284, the Apex Court held that filing totally misconceived petition amounts to abuse of process of the Court and such a litigant is not required to be dealt with lightly, as petition containing misleading and inaccurate statement, if filed, to achieve an ulterior purpose, amounts to abuse of the process of the Court.

20. In the case of Agriculture & Process Food Products Vs. Oswal Agro Furane & Ors., AIR 1996 SC 1947, the Apex Court had taken a serious objection in a case filed by suppressing the material facts and held that if a petitioner is guilty of suppression of very important fact his case cannot be considered on merits. Thus a litigant is bound to make "full and true disclosure of facts". While deciding the said case, the Supreme Court had placed reliance upon the judgment in King vs.

General Commissioner, (1917) 1 KB 486, wherein it was observed as under :-

"Where an ex parte application has been made to the Court for a rule nisi or other process, if the Court comes to the conclusion that the affidavit in support of the application was not candid and did not fairly state the facts, but stated them in such a way as to mislead the Court as to the true facts, the Court ought, for its own protection and to prevent abuse of its process, to refuse to proceed any further with the examination of its merits....."

21. In the case of Abdul Rahman vs. Prasony Bai & Anr., AIR 2003 SC 718 and S.J.S. Business Enterprises (P) Ltd. Vs. State of Bihar & Ors., (2004) 7 SCC 166, the Supreme Court held that whenever the Court comes to the conclusion that the process of the Court is being abused, the Court would be justified in refusing to proceed further and refuse relief to the party. This rule has been evolved out of need of the Courts to deter a litigant from abusing the process of the Court by deceiving it. However, the suppressed fact must be material one in the sense that had it not been suppressed, it would be led any fact on the merit of the case.

22. In the case of S.P. Chengalvaraya naidu Vs. Jagannath, 1994 AIR 853, Hon'ble the Apex Court held as under (relevant portion):-

"The courts of law are meant for imparting justice between the parties. One who comes to the court, must come with clean hands. We are constrained to say that more often than not, process of the court is being abused. Property-grabbers, tax-evaders, bank-loan-dodgers and other unscrupulous persons from all walks of life find the court-process a convenient lever to retain the illegal-gains indefinitely. We have no hesitation to say that a person, who's case is based on falsehood, has no right to approach the court. He can be summarily thrown out at any stage of the litigation.

Non-production and even non-mentioning of the release deed at the trial is tantamount to playing fraud on the court. We do not agree with the observations of the High Court that the appellants- defendants could have easily produced the certified registered copy of Ex. B-15 and non-suited the plaintiff. A litigant, who approaches the court, is bound to produce all the documents executed by him which are relevant to the litigation. If he withholds a vital document in order to gain advantage on the other side then he would be guilty of playing fraud on the court as well as on the opposite party."

23. As well as the fact that applicant-respondent No. 1/R.K. Singh had retired from the service during the pendency of the O.A. before the Tribunal after attaining the age of superannuation on 31.02.2016. The said fact was neither brought on record by the petitioner nor respondents before the Tribunal.

24. So in view of the abovesaid facts and taking into consideration the fact that once the petitioners have acted and complied the direction issued by the Tribunal vide judgment and order dated 01.09.2017 passed in O.A. No. 75/2010, we are of the considered opinion that the reliefs as claimed by the petitioner for quashing of the judgment and order dated 01.09.2017 passed by Tribunal, cannot be granted.

25. Further, taking into consideration the admitted position between the parties that as per the direction given by the Tribunal after quashing of the order dated 30.07.2010 by which the penalty has been imposed upon applicant-respondent No. 1, the petitioners had proceeded to issue a letter dated 12.10.2017, to which applicant-respondent No. 1 has already submitted his reply, the competent authority/disciplinary authority is directed to decide the same within a further period of eight weeks from the date of receiving a certified copy of the order in accordance with law which governs the field and while doing so, the finding which is given by the Tribunal while quashing the order dated 30.07.2010 in O.A. No. 75/2010 by which it has set aside the penalty imposed upon the respondent No. 1 shall not be binding rather will not be an impediment in the way of the Punishing Authority.

26. In the result, writ petition is disposed of with the above observations.

27. No order as to costs.

A. Service Law - U.P. Government Servants Conduct Rules, 1956; Rule 3 - defines misconduct - manner which is inconsistent with due and faithful discharge of his duty in service amounts to misconduct - monthly details for payment of entertainment tax which were kept in different files can be an act of negligence but not of misconduct

The Court observes that for an act to qualify "misconduct" what is of primary importance is to ascertain as to whether such an act of omission or negligence would result in irreparable damage or damage caused by such an act would be so heavy that the degree of culpability would be very heavy. (Delivered by Hon'ble Devendra Kumar Upadhyaya, J. & Hon'ble Mohd. Faiz Alam Khan, J.)

1. Heard learned State counsel representing the petitioner.

2. This petition filed under Article 226 of the Constitution of India challenges the order dated 07.03.2019 passed by U.P. State Public Service Tribunal, Lucknow whereby the claim petition no.1343 of 2017 filed by respondent no.1 challenging the order of punishment of censure and the appellate order, has been allowed and the punishment of censure has been set-aside.

3. Submission of learned counsel for the petitioner is that finding given by the Tribunal vide impugned judgment and order dated 07.03.2019 to the effect that in absence of any mens rea the charge against respondent no.1, as alleged, would not amount to misconduct, is erroneous in view of the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Union of India and others vs. J.Ahmad, reported in AIR (1979) Supreme Court 1022.

4. A show cause notice was issued to respondent no.1 under Rule 10 (2) of U.P. Government Servant (Discipline and Appeal) Rules, 1999 (hereinafter referred to as 'Rules, 1999'), which provides the procedure for award of minor punishment. According to said show cause notice, the petitioner was required to furnish his reply in respect of irregularities said to have been committed by him which are mentioned in said show cause notice dated 23.10.2015. The alleged irregularity attributed to the respondent no.1 was that as per requirement of Rule 10 (2) of U.P. Cable Television Network (Exhibition), Rules 1997, monthly details are required to be presented/furnished in Form-5, however, in the concerned file Form-5 was available only in relation to the months of November, 2014, December, 2014 and January, 2015 and that Form-5 in relation to earlier months were not available. The respondent no.1 submitted his reply to the said show cause notice vide his letter dated 04.12.2015 and stated that at the time of inspection of the relevant file, all Forms-5 pertaining to the cable operator were available in separate Dak files, however, on account of urgency at the time of inspection only available Forms-5 were inserted in the file, but the cable operator has been making payment of entertainment tax every month in time. Along with the reply, respondent no.1 also annexed copies of all Forms-5 pertaining to the cable operator concerned, of the earlier months from the date respondent no.1 had taken charge of the area concerned. The said reply dated 04.12.2015 is on record which contains Formd-5 pertaining to earlier months from February, 2014 till December, 2014. The Commissioner, Entertainment Tax, U.P. however, passed an order on 19/21.01.2016 and found that respondent no.1 had not kept Forms-5 of every month relating to cable operator concerned though he was required to keep the same and accordingly awarded the respondent no.1 punishment of censure. Respondent no.1 challenged the said order dated 19/21.01.2016 by filing statutory appeal under the provision of Rules, 1999, which too was dismissed by the State Government vide its order dated 28.03.2017.

5. Challenging the aforesaid two orders i.e. the order of punishment dated 19/21.01.2016 and the order passed by the appellate authority, dated 28.03.2017, respondent no.1 preferred claim petition before U.P. State Public Service Tribunal, which has been allowed vide impugned judgment and order dated 07.03.2019. Learned Tribunal while passing the impugned judgment has considered the reply submitted by respondent no.1 to the show cause notice and has concluded that issue at hand was only to the effect that respondent no.1 had not kept all Forms-5 of the cable operator in the file; rather they were kept in separate files and accordingly at the time of inspection, total number of Forms-5 found were less than the actual number of Forms-5 which were to be maintained and kept by respondent no.1. The Tribunal has given a finding that the relevant document, namely, Forms-5 were not kept in the file concerned, however, they were kept elsewhere, hence the same, at the most, may amount to negligence and it will not amount to any misconduct for the reason that by keeping Forms-5 respondent no.1 was not going to be benefited in any manner.

6. So far as the employees of the State Government are concerned, 'misconduct' has not been defined anywhere, however, for the purposes of regulating the conduct of its employees, the State Government has made Rules under the proviso appended to Article 309 of Constitution of India which are known as U.P. Government Servants Conduct Rules, 1956 (hereinafter referred to as "Conduct Rules"). Rule 3 of the said Rules clearly mandates that every government servant shall at all times maintain absolute integrity and devotion to duty. It further provides that every government servant shall at all times conduct himself in accordance with specific or implied orders of government regulating their behaviour and conduct which may be in force.

7. The Conduct Rules thus provide a code of conduct for government employees, however what is primary is that every government servant has to maintain absolute integrity and devotion to duty and further that he has to conduct himself in accordance with specific or implied orders of government regulating to their behaviour and conduct.

8. What flows from Rule 3 of Conduct Rules is that if a government servant conducts himself in a manner which is inconsistent with due and faithful discharge of his duty in service, the same will amount to misconduct. However, every act of omission would not constitute misconduct for the purposes of drawing disciplinary proceedings as has been held by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of J. Ahmad (supra). An act of omission which runs contrary to the expected conduct of an employee would certainly constitute misconduct, however some other act of omission or negligence in performance of duty and a lapse in performance of duty or error of judgment may amount to negligence in discharge of duty but would not constitute misconduct unless the consequences directly attributable to negligence would be such as to be irreparable or the resultant damage would be so heavy that the degree of culpability would be very high.

9. These observations have been made in the case of J. Ahmad (supra), relevant extract of which is mentioned herein below:-

"A single act of omission or error of judgment would ordinarily not constitute misconduct though if such error or omission results in serious or atrocious consequences the same may amount to misconduct as was held by this Court in P. H. Kalyani v. Air France, Calcutta (5), wherein it was found that the two mistakes committed by the employee while checking the load-sheets and balance charts would involve possible accident to the aircraft and possible loss of human life and, therefore, the negligence in work in the context of serious consequences was treated as misconduct. It is, however, difficult to believe that lack of efficiency or attainment of highest standards in discharge of duty attached to public office would ipso facto constitute misconduct. There may be negligence in performance of duty and a lapse in performance of duty or error of judgment in evaluating the developing situation may be negligence in discharge of duty but would not constitute misconduct unless the consequences directly attributable to negligence would be such as to be irreparable or the resultant damage would be so heavy that the degree of culpability would be very high."

10. Thus, for an act of omission to qualify 'misconduct', what is of primary importance is as to whether such act of omission or negligence would result in irreparable damage or damage caused by such an act would be so heavy that the degree of culpability would be very high. It is also clear that negligence or mistake may not ipso facto constitute misconduct when its consequences are serious.

11. This Court in a judgment rendered on 16.08.2018 in the case of Sri Kishan vs. State of U.P. and others, Writ-A No.26115 of 2004 after reviewing the entire law relating to misconduct vis-a-vis negligence including the judgment in the cases of Baldev Singh Gandhi vs. State of Punjab and others, AIR 2002 SC 1124, Noratannal Chouraria vs. M.R. Murli & another, reported in 2004 (5) SCC 689 and State of Punjab and others vs. Ram Singh Ex-Constable, (1992) 4 SCC 54 and also J.Ahmad (supra) has held as under:-

"12. The allegations at the best may show that the petitioner is not very alert or careful but in absence of anything further, mere carelessness or lack of seriousness of an employee or failure to show better efficiency, upto desired level, ipso facto would not amount to 'misconduct' warranting punishment as held in J. Ahmed (supra) that Lack of efficiency or failure to attain highest standards in discharge of duties attached to public office would not constitute misconduct, unless the consequences directly attributable to negligence would be such as to be irreparable or the resultant damage would be so heavy that the degree of culpability would be very high, which is not the case in hand".

12. If the misconduct as alleged against respondent no.1 is examined on the touch stone of what has been laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of J.Ahmad (supra) and other judgments referred to hereinabove, what we find is that respondent no.1 was alleged to have not kept certain documents in the file concerned. It is not the charge against respondent no.1 that he did not maintain the said documents being its custodian. It is also not the charge against respondent no.1 that documents (Forms-5) pertaining to cable operator were not kept at all.

13. To the contrary, it is apparent from the reply submitted by respondent no. 1 to the charge sheet is that though all Forms-5 pertaining to the cable operator were not available in the file, however, they were kept in different files. It is also not the charge against respondent no.1 that he had failed to realize the amount of entertainment tax payable by the cable operators. Accordingly, at the most respondent no.1 can be said to have conducted himself negligently but there being no serious consequence of keeping Forms-5 at separate place, such act of respondent no.1 cannot, in our considered opinion, be construed as misconduct.

14. In view of the aforesaid, we do not find any illegality or irregularity in the impugned order dated 07.03.2019 passed by U.P State Public Service Tribunal which warrants any interference by this Court in exercise of its extraordinary jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution of India.

15. The writ petition, thus, lacks merit and is hereby dismissed.

16. There will be no order as to costs.

A. Service Law - U.P. Police Officer of Subordinate Rank (Punishment and Appeal) Rule, 1991; Section 14 (1) - honorable acquittal in criminal case will exonerate the petitioner from departmental proceedings - squarely covered by S. Bhaskar Reddy case

" An acquittal based on benefit of doubt would not stand on par with a clean acquittal on merit after a full-fledged trial, where there is no indication of the witnesses being won over. The long standing view on this subject was settled by this Court in R.P. Kapur Vs. Union of India, whereby it was held that a departmental proceeding can proceed even though a person is acquitted when the acquittal is other than honorable" (Para 34)

The expressions "honorable acquittal", "acquitted of blame", "fully exonerated" are unknown to the Code of Criminal Procedure or the Penal Code, which are coined by judicial pronouncements. When the accused is acquitted after full consideration of prosecution evidence and that the prosecution had miserably failed to prove the charges levelled against the accused, it can possibly be said that the accused was honorably acquitted. (Para 43)

B. Constitution of India - Article 14 - doctrine of equality applies on the delinquents - no discrimination while imposing punishment

Punishment should not be disproportionate while comparing the involvement of co-delinquents who are parties to the same transaction or incident. (Para 53)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Anil Kumar, J.)

1. Heard Sri Manjeev Shukla, learned counsel for the petitioners/State and Sri Manish Kumar, Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Ganesh Kumar Gupta, learned counsel for the claimant-respondent no.2/ Sushil Kumar Mishra.

2. By means of present writ petition, petitioners have prayed for quashing of the impugned judgment and order dated 4.7.2018 passed by U.P. State Public Service Tribunal, Indira Bhawan,Lucknow(herein after referred as the "Tribunal') in Claim Petition No.1035 of 2014 (Sushil Kumar Mishra Vs. State of U.P. and others).

3. Facts, in brief, as submitted by learned counsel for the petitioners are that on 2.11.2011 a Truck having registration no. RJ-14 UB3210 was intercepted by the police of the police-station Chakeri, District Kanpur Nagar .It was found that in the said truck cows and bullocks were being carried for slaughtering. When the police interrogated the driver of the truck, namely, Ram Kumar son of Prem Singh and other persons present in the truck , they stated that claimant/respondent no.2 by putting his motorcycle was facilitating the smooth movement of the truck so that the cattle present in the truck may be taken to Bihar for slaughtering.

4. In view of the said fact, an F.I.R. was lodged on the same day i.e. on 2.11.2011 in case crime no. 1247 of 2011 at police-station Chakeri District Kanpur under section 11 of the Animal Cruelty Act and 3/5 and 8 of Cow Slaughter Act.

5. After investigation, the Investigating officer has submitted charge-sheet before the court concerned. Accordingly , a case no. 1A of 2012 (State Vs. Sushil Kumar Mishra) and case no.1354A of 2012 (State Vs. Gyanandra Bahadur Singh and Sunil Kumar Shukla) as case crime no.1247 of 2011 under Sectin 3/8,5Ka/34 Cow Slaughter Act and section 11/34 of Animal Cruelty Act, Police Station Chakeri District Kanpur Nagar was registered. By means of order dated 28.3.2017, Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate, Court no.3 Kanpur Nagar acquitted the claimant-respondent no.2 and other persons from the charges levelled against them.

6. In the meantime, under rule 14(1) of U.P. Police Officer of Subordinate Rank (Punishment and Appeal) Rule ,1991 (herein after referred as the "Rules,1991')a departmental enquiry was initiated against the claimant-respondent no.2 and a charge-sheet dated 21.02.2012 was issued to the claimant-respondent no.2, to which he submitted a reply on 3.3.2012.Thereafter enquiry officer conducted disciplinary proceeding in the matter in question and submit his report dated 27.9.2012 to the punishing authority. On 29.9.2012 D.I.G./ S.S.P.,Kanpur Nagar/punishing authority issued a show cause notice to the claimant-respondent no.2 alongwith enquriy report, to which he submitted his reply. By order dated 23.5.2013, punishing authority/ S.S.P. Kanpur Nagar dismissed the claimant- respondent. no.2 from service.

7. Aggrieved by the order dated 23.5.2013, claimant-respondent no.2 filed an appeal before Deputy Inspector General of Police, Kanpur Zone, Kanpur Nagar, the same was dismissed vide order dated 30.6.2013.

8. Against the orders dated 23.5.2013 and 30.6.2013, claimant-respondent no.2 filed revision, the same was also dismissed by Inspector General of Police, Kanpur Zone, Kanpur by order dated 24.1.2014.

9. The claimant-respondent no.2 filed a claim petition no.1035 of 2014 challenging the punishment order dated 23.5.2013, appellate order dated 30.6.2013 and revisional order dated

24.1.2014 before the Tribunal . By order dated 4.7.2018 the Tribunal allowed the claim petition of the claimant-respondent no.2 and directed to reinstate the claimant-respondent no.2 in service and further directed that so far as the matter in respect to back wages for the period from dismissal in service to the period of reinstatement in service is concerned, the competent authority shall pass a speaking order within three months from the date of receipt of the certified copy of the order.

10. Sri Manjeev Shukla learned counsel for the petitioners while challenging the impugned judgment and order dated 4.7.2018 passed by the Tribunal in Claim Petition No.1035 of 2014 (Sushil Kumar Mishra Vs. State of U.P. and others) submits that the same is erroneous and unsustainable in the eye of law as the Tribunal has allowed the claim petition only on the ground that claimant/respondent no.2 has been acquitted in the criminal trial therefore he could not have been punished in the disciplinary proceedings in relation to the same charges, matter, the view taken by the Tribunal is contrary to the law laid down by Hon'ble Supreme Court in its various judgments.

11. He submits that Hon'ble the Supreme Court in its catena of judgments has categorically held that a criminal trial and disciplinary proceedings are carried out for entirely different purpose and the standard of proof is also different in both the proceedings therefore, merely because acquittal order has been passed in the criminal trial result of the disciplinary proceedings against a Government Servant will not stand affected.

12. He also submits that the Apex Court in catena of judgemtns has categorically held that in a criminal trial on the basis of evidence produced by the prosecuting agency the case has to be proved beyond reasonable doubt whereas in disciplinary proceedings evidence relied upon has to be tested on preponderance of probabilities therefore, even if the Government Servant has been acquitted in criminal trial , the said acquittal will not affect the result of the disciplinary proceedings.

13. He further submits that from a bare persual of the inquiry report submitted by the inquiry officer in the present matter it is patently manifest that a detailed inquiry has been conducted in the matter in which statement of witness have recorded in presence of the claimant-respondent no.2 and he has also been afforded opportunity to cross examine the prosecution witnesses in the inquiry and thereafter inquiry officer has concluded that the charges leveled against the claimant-respondent no.2 are proved as such merely because in relation to the same matter claimant-respondent no.2 has been acquitted in criminal trial, the aforesaid disciplinary inquiry cannot stand vitiated.

14. It is also submitted by learned counsel for the petitioners that in the disciplinary inquiry it has been found proved that the conduct of claimant-respondent no.2 in getting the Truck No. RJ-14 UB-3210 passed through area is not proper and has ultimately tarnished the image of the disciplined force.

15. In rebuttal, Sri Manish Kumar, learned counsel for claimant-respondent no.2 submits that on the same incident, same set of facts, circumstances and evidence the crime case no.1247/2011 was registered in which the claimant-respondent no.2 has been honorably acquitted. The dismissal of the claimant-respondent no.2 on the pretext that charge-sheet has been filed against him in the criminal case is unsustainable as mere filing of the charge-sheet by the police would not amount to conviction of the claimant- respondent no.2 . In the instant case, the claimant-respondent no.2 has been honorably acquitted by the trial court in the criminal case vide judgment dated 28.3.2017.

16. He further submits that it is a settled law that where a criminal case in departmental proceedings are based on similar facts and evidences and the employees had been acquitted in the criminal case, the dismissal would be unsustainable. In this regard, he has placed reliance on the following judgments:-

1. S. Bhaskar Reddy and another Vs. Superintendent of Police and another, (2015) 2 SCC 365

2. G.M.Tank Vs. State of Gujrat and others (2006) 5 SCC 446

3. Shashi Bhushan Prasad Vs. Inspector General Central Industrial Security Force and others (2019) SCC online SC 952

4. Joginder Singh Vs. Union Territory of Chandigarh and others (2015) 2 SCC 377.

17. Learned counsel for the claimant-respondent no.2 submits that in the instant case, the two other persons named alongwith the opposite party no.2 in the F.I.R. namely Constable Gyanendra Bahadur Singh and Constable Sunil Kumar Shukla, against whom also the charge-sheet was filed by the police in the criminal case, have been awarded only a censure entry while in the case of the claimant-respondent no.2, the order of dismissal has been passed which is not only disproportionate to the charges levelled against the claimant-respondent no.2 but also discriminatory and in violation of Article 14 of the Constitution of India.

18. He also submits that once it is not disputed by the petitioners that the order of dismissal passed against the claimant-respondent no.2 is on the basis of same criminal case, same set of facts, documents and evidence and when the claimant-respondent no.2 (alongwith Constable Gyanendra Bahadur Singh and Constable Sunil Kumar Shukla) has been acquitted honourably on 28.3.2017, the punishment of dismissal is arbitrary and the judgment dated 4.7.2018 passed by the U.P. State Public Services Tribunal being a reasoned and speaking order and in accordance with law settled in the judgments of the Hon'ble the Apex Court, is full justified and there is no infirmity in the same. Hence, the writ petition is liable to be dismissed with cost.

19. We have heard learned counsel for the parties and gone through the record.

20. The undisputed facts of the present case are that an incident took place on 2.11.2011 and an F.I.R. was lodged on the same day i.e. on 2.11.2011 as case crime no. 1247 of 2011 at police-station Chakeri, District-Kanpur under section 11 of the Animal Cruelty Act and section 3/5 and 8 of Cow Slaughter Act. After investigation, the Investigating officer submitted the charge-sheet before the court concerned. Thereafter a case no.

1A of 2012 (State Vs. Sushil Kumar Mishra) and case no.1354A of 2012 (State Vs. Gyanandra Bahadur Singh and Sunil Kumar Shukla) as case crime no.1247 of 2011 under Section 3/8,5Ka/34 Cow Slaughter Act and section section 11/34 of Animal Cruelty Act, Police Station Chakeri, District-Kanpur Nagar was registered. By means of order dated 28.3.2017, Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate, Court no.3, Kanpur Nagar acquitted the claimant-respondent no.2 and other persons from the charges levelled against them. The court concerned while acquitting the claimant-respondent no.2 and other co-accused persons has given the following findings:-

"प्रश्नगत मामले में अभियोजन द्वारा किसी जानवर का वध किया जाना या चोटहिल होना या मृत्यु होने का कथन नहीं किया गया है | कथित ट्रक थाना चकेरीए जनपद कानपुर नगर में सीज किया गया है जो बिहार राज्य की सीमा से बहुत ही दूर है | ऐसे में मात्र अभियुक्त के पुलिस के समक्ष दिये गये बयान के आधार पर परिवहन की बात साबित नहीं होती है |अभियोजन द्वारा जो साक्षी प्रस्तुत किये गये है, उनमे से किसी भी साक्षी ने ट्रक में लदे पशुओं से अभियुक्तगण उपरोक्त द्वारा निर्दयता पूर्वक करने का कथन नहीं किया गया है | जिससे धारा -11 पशुक्रूरता अधिनियम उपरोक्त अभियुक्तगण के विरुद्ध साबित नहीं होता है |

उपरोक्त किये गये सम्यक विश्लेषण के उपरान्त न्यायालय इस मत पर पहुँचती है कि अभियुक्तगण सुशील कुमार मिश्रा ज्ञानेन्द्र बहादुर सिह व सुनील शुक्ला के विरुद्ध अभियोजन धारा 3/8 सपठित धारा -34, 5 क गो वध निवारण अधिनियम व धारा .11 पशु क्रूरता निवारण अधिनियम का आरोप युक्तियुक्त संदेह से परे साबित करने में असफल रहा है। अभियुक्तगण सुशील कुमार मिश्रा , ज्ञानेंद्र बहादुर सिंह व् सुनील शुक्ला को धारा 3/8 सपठित धारा .34,5 क गो वध निवारण अधिनियम व धारा -11 पशु क्रूरता निवारण अधिनियम के अन्तर्गत दोषमुक्त किये जाने योग्य है।"

21. Further in the present case, In the meantime a departmental proceedings against the claimant-respondent no.2 under rule 14(1) of U.P. Police Officer of Subordinate Rank (Punishment and Appeal) Rule ,1991 (herein after referred as the "Rules,1991') and a charge-sheet was issued on 21.2.2012 to the claimant-respondent no.2, to which he submitted a reply on 3.3.2012 denying the charges leveled against him. Thereafter enquiry officer conducted the disciplinary proceedings and submitted his report dated 27.9.2012 to the punishing authority. On 29.9.2012 D.I.G./ S.S.P. Kanpur Nagar/ punishing authority issued a show cause notice to the claimant-respondent no.2 alongwith enquriy report, to which he submitted his reply. By order dated 23.5.2013, punishing authority/ S.S.P. Kanpur Nagar, dismissed the claimant-respondent no.2 from service. Thereafter claimant-respondent no.2 filed an appeal before Deputy Inspector General of Police, Kanpur Zone, Kanpur Nagar, the same was dismissed vide order dated 30.6.2013. Aggrieved by the said order, claimant-respondent has filed revision under the Rules,1991 , the same was also dismissed by Inspector Generl of Police, Kanpur Zone, Kanpur by order dated 24.1.2014.

22. The core question is to be considered under what circumstances acquittal in criminal case will absolve/exonerate the petitioner from departmental punishment. In the present case, as noticed, the punishment imposed on the petitioners is not based on the conclusion of the criminal case. It is based on the findings recorded in the departmental inquiry which is based on the depositions of witnesses in the departmental inquiry. The standard of proof required in the departmental inquiry and in the criminal case are different. It is profitable to refer to certain judgments of Supreme Court on this aspect.

23. In Union of India Vs. Sardar Bahadur, (1972) SCC 618, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as under:

"15. A finding cannot be characterized as perverse or unsupported by any relevant materials if it is a reasonable inference from proved facts. Now what are the proved facts: Nand Kumar as representative of Ram Sarup Mam Chand and Mam Chand and Company of Calcutta filed five applications for licences to set-up steel re-rolling mills on 14th June, 1956. On 25th June, 1956, a cheque drawn in favour of P.S. Sundaram was given to the respondent by Nand Kumar for Rs. 2500; the cheque was endorsed and the amount credited in the account of the respondent. When the respondent borrowed the amount in question from Nand Kumar, he was not working in the Industries Act Section. Nand Kumar knew that the respondent was working in the Steel & Cement Section of the Ministry and the applications for the grant of licences for setting up the steel plant re-rolling mills would go to that section. Even if the applications were to be dealt with at the initial stage by the Industries Act Section the respondent at least was expected to know that in due course the section in which he was working had to deal with the same. This is borne out by the fact that in July 1956 copies of the applications were actually sent to the Steel & Cement Section where the respondent was working. If he, therefore, borrowed money from Nand Kumar a few days earlier it seems rather clear that he placed himself under pecuniary obligation to a person who was likely to have official dealings with him. The words likely to have official dealings take within their ambit the possibility of future dealings between the officer concerned and the person from whom he borrowed money. A disciplinary proceeding is not a criminal trial. The standard proof required is that of preponderance of probability and not proof beyond reasonable doubt. If the inference that Nand Kumar was a person likely to have official dealings with the respondent was one which a reasonable person would draw from the proved facts of the case, the High Court cannot sit as a court of appeal over a decision based on it. Where there are some relevant materials which the authority has accepted and which materials may reasonably support the conclusion that the officer is guilty, it is not the function of the High Court exercising its jurisdiction under Article 226 to review the materials and to arrive at an independent finding on the materials. If the enquiry has been properly held the question of adequacy or reliability of the evidence cannot be canvassed before the High Court (See : State of Andhra Pradesh v. S. Sree Rama Rao, AIR 1963 SC 1723) No doubt there was no separate finding on the question whether Nand Kumar was a person likely to have official dealings with the respondent by the Inquiring Officer or the President. But we think that such a finding was implied when they said that Charge No. 3 has been proved. The only question was whether the proved facts of the case would warrant such an inference. Tested in the light of the standard of proof necessary to enter a finding of this nature, we are satisfied that on the material facts proved the inference and the implied finding that Nand Kumar was a person likely to have official dealings with the respondent were reasonable."

24. In Depot Manager, A.P. SRTC Vs. Mohd. Yousuf Miya, (1997) 2 SCC 699, the Apex Court expressed its view as under:

"8. We are in respectful agreement with the above view. The purpose of departmental enquiry and of prosecution are two different and distinct aspects. The criminal prosecution is launched for an offence for violation of a duty, the offender owes to the society or for breach of which law has provided that the offender shall make satisfaction to the public. So crime is an act of commission in violation of law or of omission of public duty. The departmental enquiry is to maintain discipline in the service and efficiency of public service. It would, therefore, be expedient that the disciplinary proceedings are conducted and completed as expeditiously as possible. It is not, therefore, desirable to lay down any guidelines as inflexible rules in which the departmental proceedings may or may not be stayed pending trial in criminal case against the delinquent officer. Each case requires to be considered in the backdrop of its own facts and circumstances. There would be no bar to proceed simultaneously with departmental enquiry and trial of a criminal case unless the charge in the criminal trial is of grave nature involving complicated questions of fact and law. Offence generally implies infringement of public (sic duty), as distinguished from mere private rights punishable under criminal law. When trial for criminal offence is conducted it should be in accordance with proof of the offence as per the evidence defined under the provisions of the Evidence Act. Converse is the case of departmental enquiry. The enquiry in a departmental proceedings relates to conduct or breach of duty of the delinquent officer to punish him for his misconduct defined under the relevant statutory rules or law. That the strict standard of proof or applicability of the Evidence Act stands excluded is a settled legal position. The enquiry in the departmental proceedings relates to the conduct of the delinquent officer and proof in that behalf is not as high as in an offence in criminal charge. It is seen that invariably the departmental enquiry has to be conducted expeditiously so as to effectuate efficiency in public administration and the criminal trial will take its own course. The nature of evidence in criminal trial is entirely different from the departmental proceedings. In the former, prosecution is to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt on the touchstone of human conduct. The standard of proof in the departmental proceedings is not the same as of the criminal trial. The evidence also is different from the standard point of the Evidence Act. The evidence required in the departmental enquiry is not regulated by the Evidence Act."

25. In the case of Suresh Pathrella Vs. Oriental Bank of Commerce, (2006) 10 SCC 572, the Apex Court held as under:

"11. In our view, the findings recorded by the learned Single Judge are fallacious. This Court has taken the view consistently that acquittal in a criminal case would be no bar for drawing up a disciplinary proceeding against the delinquent officer. It is well-settled principle of law that the yardstick and standard of proof in a criminal case is different from the disciplinary proceeding. While the standard of proof in a criminal case is a proof beyond all reasonable doubt, the proof in a departmental proceeding is preponderance of probabilities."

26. In West Bokaro Colliery (TISCO Ltd.) Vs. Ram Pravesh Singh, (2008) 3 SCC 729, the Apex Court held as under:

"20. The Tribunal has set aside the report of the enquiry officer and the order of dismissal passed by the punishing authority by observing that the charges against the respondent were not proved beyond reasonable doubt. It has repeatedly been held by this Court that the acquittal in a criminal case would not operate as a bar for drawing up of a disciplinary proceeding against a delinquent. It is well-settled principle of law that yardstick and standard of proof in a criminal case is different from the one in disciplinary proceedings. While the standard of proof in a criminal case is proof beyond all reasonable doubt, the standard of proof in a departmental proceeding is preponderance of probabilities."

27. In Mazdoor Sangh Vs. Usha Breco Ltd., (2008) 5 SCC 554, the Apex Court laid down:

"33. Before a departmental proceeding, the standard of proof is not that the misconduct must be proved beyond all reasonable doubt but the standard of proof is as to whether the test of preponderance of probability has been met. The approach of the Labour Court appeared to be that the standard of proof on the management was very high. When both the parties had adduced evidence, the Labour Court should have borne in mind that the onus of proof loses all its significance for all practical purpose."

28. In Samar Bahadur Singh Vs. State of U.P., (2011) 9 SCC 94, the Apex Court categorically held:

"7. Acquittal in the criminal case shall have no bearing or relevance to the facts of the departmental proceedings as the standard of proof in both the cases are totally different. In a criminal case, the prosecution has to prove the criminal case beyond all reasonable doubt whereas in a departmental proceedings, the department has to prove only preponderance of probabilities. In the present case, we find that the department has been able to prove the case on the standard of preponderance of probabilities. Therefore, the submissions of the counsel appearing for the appellant are found to be without any merit".

29. In the case of Karnataka SRTC Vs. M.G. Vittal Rao, (2012) 1 SCC 442, Supreme Court has held as under:

"11.The question of considering reinstatement after decision of acquittal or discharge by a competent criminal court arises only and only if the dismissal from services was based on conviction by the criminal court in view of the provisions of Article 311(2)(b) [sic Article 311(2) second proviso (a)] of the Constitution of India, or analogous provisions in the statutory rules applicable in a case. In a case where enquiry has been held independently of the criminal proceedings, acquittal in a criminal court is of no help. The law is otherwise. Even if a person stood acquitted by a criminal court, domestic enquiry can be held, the reason being that the standard of proof required in a domestic enquiry and that in a criminal case are altogether different. In a criminal case, standard of proof required is beyond reasonable doubt while in a domestic enquiry it is the preponderance of probabilities that constitutes the test to be applied."

30. The Apex Court in the case of Inspector General of Police Vs. S. Samuthiram, (2013) 1 SCC 598 emphasised:

"6. As we have already indicated, in the absence of any provision in the service rules for reinstatement, if an employee is honourably acquitted by a criminal court, no right is conferred on the employee to claim any benefit including reinstatement. Reason is that the standard of proof required for holding a person guilty by a criminal court and the enquiry conducted by way of disciplinary proceeding is entirely different. In a criminal case, the onus of establishing the guilt of the accused is on the prosecution and if it fails to establish the guilt beyond reasonable doubt, the accused is assumed to be innocent. It is settled law that the strict burden of proof required to establish guilt in a criminal court is not required in a disciplinary proceedings and preponderance of probabilities is sufficient. There may be cases where a person is acquitted for technical reasons or the prosecution giving up other witnesses since few of the other witnesses turned hostile, etc. In the case on hand the prosecution did not take steps to examine many of the crucial witnesses on the ground that the complainant and his wife turned hostile."

31. In SBI Vs. Narendra Kumar Pandey, (2013) 2 SCC 740, the Apex Court held as under:

"23. The inquiring authority has examined each and every charge levelled against the charged officer and the documents produced by the presenting officer and came to the conclusion that most of the charges were proved. In a departmental enquiry, the disciplinary authority is expected to prove the charges on preponderance of probability and not on proof beyond reasonable doubt. Reference may be made to the judgments of this Court in Union of India v. Sardar Bahadur and R.S. Saini v. State of Punjab. The documents produced by the Bank, which were not controverted by the charged officer, support all the allegations and charges levelled against the charged officer. In a case, where the charged officer had failed to inspect the documents in respect of the allegations raised by the Bank and not controverted, it is always open to the inquiring authority to accept the same".

32. In Commr. of Police Vs. Mehar Singh, (2013) 7 SCC 685, the Apex Court held as under:

"24. We find no substance in the contention that by cancelling the respondents candidature, the Screening Committee has overreached the judgments of the criminal court. We are aware that the question of correlation between a criminal case and a departmental enquiry does not directly arise here, but, support can be drawn from the principles laid down by this Court in connection with it because the issue involved is somewhat identical, namely, whether to allow a person with doubtful integrity to work in the department. While the standard of proof in a criminal case is the proof beyond all reasonable doubt, the proof in a departmental proceeding is preponderance of probabilities. Quite often criminal cases end in acquittal because witnesses turn hostile. Such acquittals are not acquittals on merit. An acquittal based on benefit of doubt would not stand on a par with a clean acquittal on merit after a full fledged trial, where there is no indication of the witnesses being won over. In R.P. Kapur v. Union of India this Court has taken a view that departmental proceedings can proceed even though a person is acquitted when the acquittal is other than honourable."

33. In SBI Vs. R. Periyasamy, (2015) 3 SCC 101, the Apex Court held as under:-

"11. It is interesting to note that the learned Single Judge went to the extent of observing that the concept of preponderance of probabilities is alien to domestic enquiries. On the contrary, it is well known that the standard of proof that must be employed in domestic enquiries is in fact that of the preponderance of probabilities. In Union of India v. Sardar Bahadur, this Court held that a disciplinary proceeding is not a criminal trial and thus, the standard of proof required is that of preponderance of probabilities and not proof beyond reasonable doubt. This view was upheld by this Court in SBI v. Ramesh Dinkar Punde. More recently, in SBI v. Narendra Kumar Pandey, this Court observed that a disciplinary authority is expected to prove the charges levelled against a bank officer on the preponderance of probabilities and not on proof beyond reasonable doubt."

34. In the case of S. Bhaskar Reddy (supra) after placing earlier judgment rendered by Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of SBI Vs. R. Periyasamy, (2015) 3 SCC 101, Hon'ble the Apex Court held as under:-

"An acquittal based on benefit of doubt would not stand on a par with a clean acquittal on merits after a full-fledged trial, where there is no indication of the witnesses being won over. The long-standing view on this subject was settled by this Court in R.P. Kapur Vs. Union of India, whereby it was held that a departmental proceeding can proceed even though a person is acquitted when the acquittal is other than honourable."

35. The judgment of Captain M. Paul Anthony and G.M. Tank (supra) were again considered by the Supreme Court in Divisional Controller, Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation Vs. M.G. Vittal Rao, (2012) 1 SCC 442. In para-24, the Apex Court considered the judgment of Captain M. Paul Anthony(supra), and opined that this judgment is not of universal application. The judgment of G.M. Tank (supra) was considered in para-23 of the judgment. After considering this judgment and after taking note of the basic judgment of R.P. Kapoor (supra), the Apex Court held that the departmental inquiry and criminal case can run simultaneously despite the fact that the same are founded upon the same factual matrix. It was held that facts, charges and nature of evidence, etc. involved in an individual case would determine as to whether decision of acquittal would have any bearing on the findings recorded in the departmental inquiry. This view is followed by the Supreme Court in State of West Bengal and others Vs. Sankar Ghosh- (2014) 3 SCC 610. In this case also, the Apex Court explained the judgment of Captain M. Paul Anthony and G.M. Tank (supra). In para, 16, 17 and 18 of this judgment, the Apex Court held that the proof required in the departmental inquiry is different than the proof required in a criminal case. In Indian Overseas Bank, Annasalai and another Vs. P. Ganesan and others- (2008) 1 SCC 650, the Apex Court reiterated the same principle. In Ajit Kumar Nag Vs. Indian Oil Corporation Ltd., (2005) 7 SCC 764, it was held as under:-

"....The two proceedings criminal and departmental are entirely different. They operate in different fields and have different objectives. Whereas the object of criminal trial is to inflict appropriate punishment on offender, the purpose of enquiry proceedings is to deal with the delinquent departmentally and to impose penalty in accordance with service Rules.....

36. In Nelson Motis Vs. Union of India, (1994) 4 SCC 711, the Apex Court held as under:

"5. So far the first point is concerned, namely whether the disciplinary proceedings could have been continued in the face of the acquittal of the appellant in the criminal case, the plea has no substance whatsoever and does not merit a detailed consideration. The nature and scope of a criminal case are very different from those of a departmental disciplinary proceeding and an order of acquittal, therefore, cannot conclude the departmental proceeding. Besides, the Tribunal has pointed out that the acts which led to the initiation of the departmental disciplinary proceeding were not exactly the same which were the subject matter of the criminal case."

37. In NOIDA Entrepreneurs Assn. Vs. NOIDA, (2007) 10 SCC 385, Supreme Court has held as under:

"16. The standard of proof required in departmental proceedings is not the same as required to prove a criminal charge and even if there is an acquittal in the criminal proceedings the same does not bar departmental proceedings. That being so, the order of the State Government deciding not to continue the departmental proceedings is clearly untenable and is quashed. The departmental proceedings shall continue."

38. In the case of State (NCT of Delhi) Vs. Ajay Kumar Tyagi, (2012) 9 SCC 685, the Apex Court has held as under:

"25. We are, therefore, of the opinion that the exoneration in the departmental proceeding ipso facto would not result in the quashing of the criminal prosecution. We hasten to add, however, that if the prosecution against an accused is solely based on a finding in a proceeding and that finding is set aside by the superior authority in the hierarchy, the very foundation goes and the prosecution may be quashed. But that principle will not apply in the case of the departmental proceeding as the criminal trial and the departmental proceeding are held by two different entities. Further, they are not in the same hierarchy."

39. Hon'be the High Court of Madhya Pradesh in the case of R.K. Solanki vs. Central Bank of India, 2018 Lab IC 1652 has held as under :-

9. The scope of departmental inquiry and criminal cases have been considered by the Apex Court in number of cases. The said issue is no longer res integra. In B.C. Chaturvedi Vs. Union of India, (1995) 6 SCC 749 the Supreme Court has held as under:

"12. Judicial review is not an appeal from a decision but a review of the manner in which the decision is made. Power of judicial review is meant to ensure that the individual receives fair treatment and not to ensure that the conclusion which the authority reaches is necessarily correct in the eye of the court. When an inquiry is conducted on charges of misconduct by a public servant, the Court/Tribunal is concerned to determine whether the inquiry was held by a competent officer or whether rules of natural justice are complied with. Whether the findings or conclusions are based on some evidence, the authority entrusted with the power to hold inquiry has jurisdiction, power and authority to reach a finding of fact or conclusion. But that finding must be based on some evidence. Neither the technical rules of Evidence Act nor of proof of fact or evidence as defined therein, apply to disciplinary proceeding. When the authority accepts that evidence and conclusion receives support therefrom, the disciplinary authority is entitled to hold that the delinquent officer is guilty of the charge. The Court/Tribunal in its power of judicial review does not act as appellate authority to reappreciate the evidence and to arrive at its own independent findings on the evidence. The Court/Tribunal may interfere where the authority held the proceedings against the delinquent officer in a manner inconsistent with the rules of natural justice or in violation of statutory rules prescribing the mode of inquiry or where the conclusion or finding reached by the disciplinary authority is based on no evidence. If the conclusion or finding be such as no reasonable person would have ever reached, the Court/Tribunal may interfere with the conclusion or the finding, and mould the relief so as to make it appropriate to the facts of each case."

40. In Bank of India Vs. Degala Suryanarayana, (1999) 5 SCC 762, it is held by the Apex Court as under:

"11. Strict rules of evidence are not applicable to departmental enquiry proceedings. The only requirement of law is that the allegation against the delinquent officer must be established by such evidence acting upon which a reasonable person acting reasonably and with objectivity may arrive at a finding upholding the gravamen of the charge against the delinquent officer. Mere conjecture or surmises cannot sustain the finding of guilt even in departmental enquiry proceedings. The court exercising the jurisdiction of judicial review would not interfere with the findings of fact arrived at in the departmental enquiry proceedings excepting in a case of mala fides or perversity i.e. where there is no evidence to support a finding or where a finding is such that no man acting reasonably and with objectivity could have arrived at that finding. The court cannot embark upon reappreciating the evidence or weighing the same like an appellate authority. So long as there is some evidence to support the conclusion arrived at by the departmental authority, the same has to be sustained. In Union of India v. H.C. Goel the Constitution Bench has held:

The High Court can and must enquire whether there is any evidence at all in support of the impugned conclusion. In other words, if the whole of the evidence led in the enquiry is accepted as true, does the conclusion follow that the charge in question is proved against the respondent? This approach will avoid weighing the evidence. It will take the evidence as it stands and only examine whether on that evidence legally the impugned conclusion follows or not."

41. In Lalit Popli Vs. Canara Bank, (2003) 3 SCC 583, Supreme Court has held as under:

"16. It is fairly well settled that the approach and objective in criminal proceedings and the disciplinary proceedings are altogether distinct and different. In the disciplinary proceedings the preliminary question is whether the employee is guilty of such conduct as would merit action against him, whereas in criminal proceedings the question is whether the offences registered against him are established and if established what sentence should be imposed upon him. The standard of proof, the mode of enquiry and the rules governing the enquiry and trial are conceptually different. (See State of Rajasthan v. B.K. Meena.) In case of disciplinary enquiry the technical rules of evidence have no application. The doctrine of proof beyond doubt has no application. Preponderance of probabilities and some material on record are necessary to arrive at the conclusion whether or not the delinquent has committed misconduct.

17. While exercising jurisdiction under Article 226 of the Constitution the High Court does not act as an appellate authority. Its jurisdiction is circumscribed by limits of judicial review to correct errors of law or procedural errors leading to manifest injustice or violation of principles of natural justice. Judicial review is not akin to adjudication of the case on merits as an appellate authority.

18. In B.C. Chaturvedi v. Union of India the scope of judicial review was indicated by stating that review by the court is of decision-making process and where the findings of the disciplinary authority are based on some evidence, the court or the tribunal cannot reappreciate the evidence and substitute its own finding."

42. In M.V. Bijlani Vs. Union of India, (2006) 5 SCC 88, Supreme Court opined as under:

"25. It is true that the jurisdiction of the court in judicial review is limited. Disciplinary proceedings, however, being quasi-criminal in nature, there should be some evidence to prove the charge. Although the charges in a departmental proceeding are not required to be proved like a criminal trial i.e. beyond all reasonable doubt, we cannot lose sight of the fact that the enquiry officer performs a quasi-judicial function, who upon analysing the documents must arrive at a conclusion that there had been a preponderance of probability to prove the charges on the basis of materials on record. While doing so, he cannot take into consideration any irrelevant fact. He cannot refuse to consider the relevant facts. He cannot shift the burden of proof. He cannot reject the relevant testimony of the witnesses only on the basis of surmises and conjectures. He cannot enquire into the allegations with which the delinquent officer had not been charged with."

43. In the case of S. Bhaskar Reddy and another Vs. Superintendent of Police and another (2015) 2 SCC 365 has held as under:-

"21.It is an undisputed fact that the charges in the criminal case and the Disciplinary proceedings conducted against the appellants by the first respondent are similar. The appellants have faced the criminal trial before the Sessions Judge, Chittoor on the charge of murder and other offences of IPC and SC/ST (POA) Act. Our attention was drawn to the said judgment which is produced at Exh. P-7, to evidence the fact that the charges in both the proceedings of the criminal case and the Disciplinary proceeding are similar. From perusal of the charge sheet issued in the disciplinary proceedings and the enquiry report submitted by the Enquiry Officer and the judgment in the criminal case, it is clear that they are almost similar and one and the same. In the criminal trial, the appellants have been acquitted honourably for want of evidence on record. The trial judge hascategorically recorded the finding of fact on proper appreciation and evaluation of evidence on record and held that the charges framed in the criminal case are not proved against the appellants and therefore they have been honourably acquitted for the offences punishable under 3 (1) (x) of SC/ST (POA) Act and under Sections 307 and 302 read with Section 34 of the IPC. The law declared by this Court with regard to honourable acquittal of an accused for criminal offences means that they are acquitted for want of evidence to prove the charges.

The meaning of the expression "honourable acquittal" was discussed by this Court in detail in the case of Deputy Inspector General of Police & Anr. v. S. Samuthiram, (2013) 1 SCC 598, the relevant para from the said case reads as under :-

"24. The meaning of the expression "honourable acquittal" came up for consideration before this Court in RBI v. Bhopal Singh Panchal (1994) 1 SCC 541. In that case, this Court has considered the impact of Regulation 46(4) dealing with honourable acquittal by a criminal court on the disciplinary proceedings. In that context, this Court held that the mere acquittal does not entitle an employee to reinstatement in service, the acquittal, it was held, has to be honourable. The expressions "honourable acquittal", "acquitted of blame", "fully exonerated" are unknown to the Code of Criminal Procedure or the Penal Code, which are coined by judicial pronouncements. It is difficult to define precisely what is meant by the expression "honourably acquitted". When the accused is acquitted after full consideration of prosecution evidence and that the prosecution had miserably failed to prove the charges levelled against the accused, it can possibly be said that the accused was honourably acquitted."

After examining the principles laid down in the above said case, the same was reiterated by this Court in a recent decision in the case of Joginder Singh v. Union Territory of Chandigarh & Ors.(2015) 2 SCC 377.

Further, in Capt. M. Paul Anthony v. Bharat Gold Mines Ltd. & Anr. (supra) this Court has held as under:-

"34. There is yet another reason for discarding the whole of the case of the respondents. As pointed out earlier, the criminal case as also the departmental proceedings were based on identical set of facts, namely, "the raid conducted at the appellant's residence and recovery of incriminating articles there from". The findings recorded by the enquiry officer, a copy of which has been placed before us, indicate that the charges framed against the appellant were sought to be proved by police officers and panch witnesses, who had raided the house of the appellant and had effected recovery. They were the only witnesses examined by the enquiry officer and the enquiry officer, relying upon their statements, came to the conclusion that the charges were established against the appellant. The same witnesses were examined in the criminal case but the Court, on a consideration of the entire evidence, came to the conclusion that no search was conducted nor was any recovery made from the residence of the appellant. The whole case of the prosecution was thrown out and the appellant was acquitted. In this situation, therefore, where the appellant is acquitted by a judicial pronouncement with the finding that the "raid and recovery" at the residence of the appellant were not proved, it would be unjust, unfair and rather oppressive to allow the findings recorded at the ex parte departmental proceedings to stand.

35. Since the facts and the evidence in both the proceedings, namely, the departmental proceedings and the criminal case were the same without there being any iota of difference, the distinction, which is usually drawn as between the departmental proceedings and the criminal case on the basis of approach and burden of proof, would not be applicable to the instant case."

Further, in the case of G.M. Tank v. State of Gujarat and Ors.(supra) this Court held as under:-

"20.....Likewise, the criminal proceedings were initiated against the appellant for the alleged charges punishable under the provisions of the PC Act on the same set of facts and evidence. It was submitted that the departmental proceedings and the criminal case are based on identical and similar (verbatim) set of facts and evidence. The appellant has been honourably acquitted by the competent court on the same set of facts, evidence and witness and, therefore, the dismissal order based on the same set of facts and evidence on the departmental side is liable to be set aside in the interest of justice.

30. The judgments relied on by the learned counsel appearing for the respondents are distinguishable on facts and on law.....It is true that the nature of charge in the departmental proceedings and in the criminal case is grave. The nature of the case launched against the appellant on the basis of evidence and material collected against him during enquiry and investigation and as reflected in the charge-sheet, factors mentioned are one and the same. In other words, charges, evidence, witnesses and circumstances are one and the same. In the present case, criminal and departmental proceedings have already noticed or granted on the same set of facts, namely, raid conducted at the appellant's residence, recovery of articles therefrom. The Investigating Officer Mr V.B. Raval and other departmental witnesses were the only witnesses examined by the enquiry officer who by relying upon their statement came to the conclusion that the charges were established against the appellant. The same witnesses were examined in the criminal case and the criminal court on the examination came to the conclusion that the prosecution has not proved the guilt alleged against the appellant beyond any reasonable doubt and acquitted the appellant by its judicial pronouncement with the finding that the charge has not been proved. It is also to be noticed that the judicial pronouncement was made after a regular trial and on hot contest. Under these circumstances, it would be unjust and unfair and rather oppressive to allow the findings recorded in the departmental proceedings to stand.

31. In our opinion, such facts and evidence in the departmental as well as criminal proceedings were the same without there being any iota of difference, the appellant should succeed. The distinction which is usually proved between the departmental and criminal proceedings on the basis of the approach and burden of proof would not be applicable in the instant case. Though the finding recorded in the domestic enquiry was found to be valid by the courts below, when there was an honourable acquittal of the employee during the pendency of the proceedings challenging the dismissal, the same requires to be taken note of and the decision in Paul Anthony case will apply. We, therefore, hold that the appeal filed by the appellant deserves to be allowed."

44. Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of Shashi Bhushan Prasad Vs. Inspector General Central Industrial Security Force and others, AIR 2019 SC 3586 after taking into consideration the various judgments on the point in issue has held as under:-

"The scope of departmental enquiry and judicial proceedings and the effect of acquittal by a criminal Court has been examined by a three Judge Bench of this Court in Depot Manager A.P. State Road Transport Corporation Vs. Mohd. Yousuf Miya and Others, 1997 (2) SCC 699. The relevant para is as under:-

"The purpose of departmental enquiry and of prosecution are two different and distinct aspects. The criminal prosecution is launched for an offence for violation of a duty, the offender owes to the society or for breach of which law has provided that the offender shall make satisfaction to the public. So crime is an act of commission in violation of law or of omission of public duty. The departmental enquiry is to maintain discipline in the service and efficiency of public service. It would, therefore, be expedient that the disciplinary proceedings are conducted and completed as expeditiously as possible. It is not, therefore, desirable to lay down any guidelines as inflexible rules in which the departmental proceedings may or may not be stayed pending trial in criminal case against the delinquent officer. Each case requires to be considered in the backdrop of its own facts and circumstances. There would be no bar to proceed simultaneously with departmental enquiry and trial of a criminal case unless the charge in the criminal trial is of grave nature involving complicated questions of fact and law. Offence generally implies infringement of public (sic duty), as distinguished from mere private rights punishable under criminal law. When trial for criminal offence is conducted it should be in accordance with proof of the offence as per the evidence defined under the provisions of the Evidence Act. Converse is the case of departmental enquiry. The enquiry in a departmental proceedings relates to conduct or breach of duty of the delinquent officer to punish him for his misconduct defined under the relevant statutory rules or law. That the strict standard of proof or applicability of the Evidence Act stands excluded is a settled legal position. The enquiry in the departmental proceedings relates to the conduct of the delinquent officer and proof in that behalf is not as high as in an offence in criminal charge. It is seen that invariably the departmental enquiry has to be conducted expeditiously so as to effectuate efficiency in public administration and the criminal trial will take its own course. The nature of evidence in criminal trial is entirely different from the departmental proceedings. In the former, prosecution is to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt on the touchstone of human conduct. The standard of proof in the departmental proceedings is not the same as of the criminal trial. The evidence also is different from the standard point of the Evidence Act. The evidence required in the departmental enquiry is not regulated by the Evidence Act. Under these circumstances, what is required to be seen is whether the departmental enquiry would seriously prejudice the delinquent in his defence at the trial in a criminal case. It is always a question of fact to be considered in each case depending on its own facts and circumstances. In this case, we have seen that the charge is failure to anticipate the accident and prevention thereof. It has nothing to do with the culpability of the offence under Sections 304A and 338, IPC. Under these circumstances, the High Court was not right in staying the proceedings."

18. The exposition has been further affirmed by a three Judge Bench of this Court in Ajit Kumar Nag Vs. General Manager (PJ), Indian Oil Corporation Limited, Haldia and Others ,2005 (7) SCC 764, this Court held as under: -

"As far as acquittal of the appellant by a criminal court is concerned, in our opinion, the said order does not preclude the Corporation from taking an action if it is otherwise permissible. In our judgment, the law is fairly well settled. Acquittal by a criminal court would not debar an employer from exercising power in accordance with the Rules and Regulations in force. The two proceedings, criminal and departmental, are entirely different. They operate in different fields and have different objectives. Whereas the object of criminal trial is to inflict appropriate punishment on the offender, the purpose of enquiry proceedings is to deal with the delinquent departmentally and to impose penalty in accordance with the service rules. In a criminal trial, incriminating statement made by the accused in certain circumstances or before certain officers is totally inadmissible in evidence. Such strict rules of evidence and procedure would not apply to departmental proceedings. The degree of proof which is necessary to order a conviction is different from the degree of proof necessary to record the commission of delinquency. The rule relating to appreciation of evidence in the two proceedings is also not similar. In criminal law, burden of proof is on the prosecution and unless the prosecution is able to prove the guilt of the accused

"beyond reasonable doubt", he cannot be convicted by a court of law. In a departmental enquiry, on the other hand, penalty can be imposed on the delinquent officer on a finding recorded on the basis of "preponderance of probability". Acquittal of the appellant by a Judicial Magistrate, therefore, does not ipso facto absolve him from the liability under the disciplinary jurisdiction of the Corporation. We are, therefore, unable to uphold the contention of the appellant that since he was acquitted by a criminal court, the impugned order dismissing him from service deserves to be quashed and set aside."

45. A Division Bench of this Court in the case of Sukh Ram Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2018 (4) ESC 1772 after taking into consideration the various judgments on the point in issue has held as under:-

"(19) The principles discussed above can be summed up and summarized as follows:

19.1. When charge(s) of misconduct is proved in an enquiry the quantum of punishment to be imposed in a particular case is essentially the domain of the departmental authorities;

19.2. The Courts cannot assume the function of disciplinary/departmental authorities and to decide the quantum of punishment and nature of penalty to be awarded, as this function is exclusively within the jurisdiction of the competent authority;

19.3. Limited judicial review is available to interfere with the punishment imposed by the disciplinary authority, only in cases where such penalty is found to be shocking to the conscience of the Court;

19.4. Even in such a case when the punishment is set aside as shockingly disproportionate to the nature of charges framed against the delinquent employee, the appropriate course of action is to remit the matter back to the disciplinary authority or the appellate authority with direction to pass appropriate order of penalty. The Court by itself cannot mandate as to what should be the penalty in such a case.

19.5. The only exception to the principle stated in para 19.4 above, would be in those cases where the co-delinquent is awarded lesser punishment by the disciplinary authority even when the charges of misconduct were identical or the co-delinquent was foisted with more serious charges. This would be on the Doctrine of Equality when it is found that the concerned employee and the co-delinquent are equally placed. However, there has to be a complete parity between the two, not only in respect of nature of charge but subsequent conduct as well after the service of charge sheet in the two cases. If the co-delinquent accepts the charges, indicating remorse with unqualified apology, lesser punishment to him would be justifiable.

46. From the bare perusal of the charge-sheet dated 21.02.2012 and contents of F.I.R. as well as judgment of Trial court it transpires/ apparent that charge(s) in the departmental proceedings are nothing but allegations made in the F.I.R. dated 02.11.2011, in relation to which charge-sheet was filed in the court and untimately claimant-respondent no.2 was acquitted vide judgment dated 28.03.2017 by the trial court. It further appears that the witnesses mentioned in the charge-sheet to prove the charge in the departmental proceedings are Sri Jai

Narain Singh, Sri Jai Shanker Prasad , Sri Jagdish Prasad, Sri Hemant Singh and Sri Ram Adhar Gautam and before trial court, out the same , Sri Jai Shanker Prasad, Sri Jagdish Prasad , Sri Hemant Sinigh and Sri Ram Adhar Gautam were produced as prosecution witnesses. The claimant-respondent no.2 was asked to submit his reply on the charges similar to the allegation made in criminal proceedings in disciplinary proceedings under Rule 14(1) of Rules 1991.

47. Further in criminal case after filing of the report in relation to F.I.R. the case(s) were registered against the claimant-respondent no.2 and other co-accused person in which by means of judgment and order dated 28.3.2017, the trial court court had Honorable acquitted the claimant-respondent no.2 and other co-accused after considering the evidence and statement of prosecution witnesses name above.

48. From the aforesaid, we are of the view that the case of the claimant-respondent no.3 is squarely covered under the judgment of Hon'ble Apex Court pased in the case of S. Bhaskar Reddy (supra)

49. Taking into consideration the said fact as well as the findings given by the Tribunal while allowing the claim petition quoted below, we do not find any illegality or infirmity on the part of the Tribunal thereby allowing the claim petition on the point in issue.

"इस तरह उपरोक्त विवेचना के आधार पर यह स्पष्ट हो जाता है कि याची के विरुद्ध पशु तस्करों द्वारा पशुओं को ट्रक द्वारा वध किये जाने हेतु ले जाने पर उसके द्वारा उक्त ट्रक को पास कराने सम्बन्धी आरोप लगाकर कार्यवाही की गयी जिसमें याची व अन्य दो आरक्षियों के विरुद्ध आपराधिक मामला दर्ज किया परन्तु उक्त आपराधिक मामले में न्यायालय द्वारा साक्षियों के बयानों को गलत मानते हुए उन्हें दोष मुक्त कर दिया गया है | याची के दोष मुक्त होने के बाद यह स्पष्ट हो जाता है कि उसके विरुद्ध की गयी एफ आई आर व पुलिस के कथन सही नहीं है | अतः हमारे विचार से उन्हीं आरोपों एवं साक्ष्यों के आधार पर जिसमे याची को न्यायालय द्वारा आपराधिक मामले में दोष मुक्त किया जा चुका है, उसके विरुद्ध अनुशासनिक कार्यवाही में उसे दण्डित किया जाना किसी भी प्रकार से विधिक नहीं कहा जा सकता |"

50. In the present case alongwith claimant-respondent no.2, two other co-accused, namely, Gyanandra Bahadur Singh and Sunil Kumar Shukla were also named in the F.I.R. in respect to incident which took place on 2.11.2011 on the basis of which a case was registered against them and a criminal proceedings were initiated in the trial court and vide judgment and order dated 28.3.2017 the Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate- III, Kanpur Nagar had acquitted the claimant-respondent no.2 and other co-accused persons from the charges levelled against them.

51. Further, departmental proceedings were initiated against the said persons alongwith the claimant-respondent no.2 in respect of the same incident and the said two persons were awarded censure entry while in the case of claimant-respondent no.2 the order of dismissal has been passed. In this regard, the Tribunal has given the following findings:-

"याची के विद्वान अधिवक्ता द्वारा यह भी तर्क दिया गया है कि आरक्षी सुनील कुमार शुक्ला व आरक्षी ज्ञानेंद्र बहादुर सिंह को उसी अपराधिक मामले में अभियुक्त होने के बावजूद उन्हें केवल परिनिन्दा प्रविष्टि के दण्ड से दण्डित किया गया। याची द्वारा आरक्षी सुनील कुमार शुक्ला के विरुद्ध पारित परिनिन्दा प्रविष्टि के आदेश की छायाप्रति दाखिल की गयी है। याची के विद्वान् अधिवक्ता द्वारा दिये गये उपरोक्त तर्क पर हमारे द्वारा विचारण किया गया। चूँकि यह स्वीकृत तथ्य है कि एक ही मामले में तीनो आरक्षी संलिप्त थे तथा अन्य दो आरक्षियों को परिनिन्दा प्रविष्टि का दण्ड प्रदान कर छोड़ दिया गया जबकि याची को सेवा से पदच्युत किये जाने का दण्ड प्रदान किया गया है जो हमारे विचार से समानता के सिद्धान्त के विपरीत है।"

52. The said findings given by the Tribunal is perfectly valid rather in accordance with Article 14 of the Constitution of India as well as the doctrine of equality.

53. The Doctrine of Equality applies to all who are equally placed; even among persons who are found guilty. The persons who have been found guilty can also claim equality of treatment, if they can establish discrimination while imposing punishment when all of them are involved in the same incident. Parity among co-delinquents has also to be maintained when punishment is being imposed. Punishment should not be disproportionate while comparing the involvement of co-delinquents who are parties to the same transaction or incident. The Disciplinary Authority cannot impose punishment which is disproportionate, i.e., lesser punishment for serious offences and stringent punishment for lesser offences.

54. In this regard, Hon'ble the Apex court in the case of Director General of Police and others Vs. G. Dasayan (1998) 2 SCC 407, wherein one Dasayan, a Police Constable, along with two other constables and one Head Constable were charged for the same acts of misconduct. The Disciplinary Authority exonerated two other constables, but imposed the punishment of dismissal from service on Dasayan and that of compulsory retirement on Head Constable. This Court, in order to meet the ends of justice, substituted the order of compulsory retirement in place of the order of dismissal from service on Dasayan, applying the principle of parity in punishment among co-delinquents. This Court held that it may, otherwise, violate Article 14 of the Constitution of India.

55. In Anand Regional Coop. Oil Seedsgrowers' Union Ltd. Vs. Shaileshkumar Harshadbhai Shah, 2006 (6) SCC 548, Ho'nble the Supreme Court held that the workman was dismissed from service for proved misconduct. However, few other workmen, against whom there were identical allegations, were allowed to avail of the benefit of voluntary retirement scheme. In such circumstances, this Court directed that the workman also be treated on the same footing and be given the benefit of voluntary retirement from service from the month on which the others were given the benefit.

56. Hon'ble the Apex Court in the case of Rajendra Yadav Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh & Others 2013 (3) SCC 73 paragraph nos. 9 to 12 as ruled as under:-

"(9) The Doctrine of Equality applies to all who are equally placed; even among persons who are found guilty. The persons who have been found guilty can also claim equality of treatment, if they can establish discrimination while imposing punishment when all of them are involved in the same incident. Parity among co- delinquents has also to be maintained when punishment is being imposed. Punishment should not be disproportionate while comparing the involvement of co-delinquents who are parties to the same transaction or incident. The Disciplinary Authority cannot impose punishment which is disproportionate, i.e., lesser punishment for serious offences and stringent punishment for lesser offences.

(10) The principle stated above is seen applied in few judgments of this Court. The earliest one is Director General of Police and others Vs. G. Dasayan (1998) 2 SCC 407, wherein one Dasayan, a Police Constable, along with two other constables and one Head Constable were charged for the same acts of misconduct. The Disciplinary Authority exonerated two other constables, but imposed the punishment of dismissal from service on Dasayan and that of compulsory retirement on Head Constable. This Court, in order to meet the ends of justice, substituted the order of compulsory retirement in place of the order of dismissal from service on Dasayan, applying the principle of parity in punishment among co-delinquents. This Court held that it may, otherwise, violate Article 14 of the Constitution of India.

(11) In Shaileshkumar Harshadbhai Shah case (supra), the workman was dismissed from service for proved misconduct. However, few other workmen, against whom there were identical allegations, were allowed to avail of the benefit of voluntary retirement scheme. In such circumstances, this Court directed that the workman also be treated on the same footing and be given the benefit of voluntary retirement from service from the month on which the others were given the benefit.

(12) We are of the view the principle laid down in the above mentioned judgments also would apply to the facts of the present case. We have already indicated that the action of the Disciplinary Authority imposing a comparatively lighter punishment to the co-delinquent Arjun Pathak and at the same time, harsher punishment to the Appellant cannot be permitted in law, since they were all involved in the same incident. Consequently, we are inclined to allow the appeal by setting aside the punishment of dismissal from service imposed on the Appellant and order that he be reinstated in service forthwith. Appellant is, therefore, to be re-instated from the date on which Arjun Pathak was re-instated and be given all consequent benefits as was given to Arjun Pathak. Ordered accordingly. However, there will be no order as to costs."

57. The issue came up before the Apex Court in another case Lucknow Kshetriya Gramin Bank & Another Vs. Rajendra Singh 2013 (12) SCC 372. Paragraph nos. 9 to 20 of the aforesaid judgement which are relevant for the issue in hand are extracted herein under:-

"(9) Mr. Mehta referred to the judgment of this Court in Obettee (P) Ltd. V. Mohad Shafiq Khan (2005) 8 SCC 46 wherein identical features, as prevailing in this case, were held as distinctive features and different and higher punishment was held to be justified in the following manner:

"8. On consideration of the rival stands one thing becomes clear that Chunnu and Vakil stood on a different footing so far as the Respondent workman is concerned. He had, unlike the other two, continued to justify his action. That was clearly a distinctive feature which the High Court unfortunately failed to properly appreciate. The employer accepted to choose the unqualified apology given and regrets expressed by Chunnu and Vakil. It cannot be said that the employer had discriminated so far as the Respondent workman is concerned because as noted above he had tried to justify his action for which departmental proceedings were initiated. It is not that Chunnu and Vakil were totally exonerated. On the contrary, a letter of warning dated 11.4.1984 was issued to them.

9. IN Union of India Vs. Parma Nanda the Administrative Tribunal had modified the punishment on the ground that two other persons were let off with minor punishment. This Court held that when all the persons did not stand on the same footing, the same yardstick cannot be applied. Similar is the position in the present case. Therefore, the High Court's order is clearly unsustainable and is set aside."

(10) Per contra Mr. Vishwanathan, learned Sr. Counsel and Mr. Rajeev Singh, the learned counsel appearing for the respondent in these appeals argued that the circumstances of the two sets of cases were almost identical and therefore in the facts of this case, the directions of the High Court were perfectly in order. They pointed out that the other three employees had also denied the charges in the first instance, in their replies to the charge sheets served upon them. For some curious reasons the Appellant-Bank did not hold any common enquiry even when the charges leveled in all six charge-sheets were identical. Instead the Bank first picked up only the Respondents herein, and held the enquiry against them. It is only after in the enquiry the charges were established against the Respondents and the punishment of dismissal was imposed on them, that the enquiry against the other three employees was commenced. That at this stage, knowing the fate of their cases, those three employees accepted the charges and tendered unconditional apologies.

(11) The learned Counsel argued that the Bank had given definite advantage to those three employees by deferring their enquiries enabling them to make up their mind after knowing the result in the case of the Respondents. They, thus, argued that it cannot be said that those three employees had accepted the charges at the outset. Their submission was that in such circumstances imposition of different and higher-penalty on the Respondents herein would clearly amount to invidious discrimination, as held by this Court in Rajendra yadav V. State of M.P. In that case two employees were served with charge sheets who were involved in the same incident. A person who had more serious role was inflicted a comparatively lighter punishment than the Appellant in the said case. This was held to be violative of the doctrine of Equality Principles enshrined under Article 14 of the Constitution of India. The discussion which ensued, while taking this view, reads as under:

"8. We have gone through the inquiry report placed before us in respect of the Appellant as well as Constable Arjun Pathak. The inquiry clearly reveals the role of Arjun Pathak. It was Arjun Pathak who had demanded and received the money, though the tacit approval of the Appellant was proved in the inquiry. The charge leveled against Arjun Pathak was more serious than the one charged against the Appellant. Both the Appellants and other two persons as well as Arjun Pathak were involved in the same incident. After having found that Arjun Pathak had a more serious role and, in fact, It was he who had demanded and received the money, he was inflicted comparatively a lighter punishment. At the same time, the Appellant who had played a passive role was inflicted with a more serious punishment of dismissal from service which, in our view, cannot be sustained."

58. Further a Division Bench of this Court in the case of Sukh Ram Vs. State of U.P. and others, 2018(4) ESC 1772 held in para 20 as under:-

"20. It is made clear that such a comparison is permissible only when the other employee(s) who is given lighter punishment was a co-delinquent. Such a comparison is not permissible by citing the cases of other employees, as precedents, in all together different departmental enquiries."

59. For the foregoing reasons, we are of the considered opinion that there is no illegality or infirmity in the impugned jdugment passed by Tribunal.

60. The writ petition lacks merit and is dismissed.

A. Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Section 306 / 34 - Appeal against conviction - A conviction on mere allegation of harassment without any positive action in proximity to the time of occurrence on the part of accused that led a person to commit suicide is not sustainable under section 306 IPC. (Para 24)

Grievance of dowry demand and consequential harassment shall not be general in nature and there should be some specific incident and should have provocative capability to drive the deceased to such distressed state, mental and physical that she could elect to end her life. Here the test of "person of common prudence" must also be applied. (Para 24)

Failure to provide an opportunity to accused of cross-examination of a prosecution witness vitiates trail and it tantamounts to condemning him unheard. (Para 29)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pradeep Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. These criminal appeals have been preferred against the judgment and order dated 07.09.2018, passed by learned District & Sessions Judge, Chandauli, in Sessions Trial No. 178 of 2012 (State vs. Rakesh Yadav), arising out of Case Crime No. 44 of 2009, under Section 306/34 IPC, Police Station Baluwa, District Chandauli, whereby the appellants Rakesh Yadav, Akhand Yadav and Sheela Devi have been convicted and sentenced under Sections 306/34 IPC for ten years rigorous imprisonment and Rs. 50,000/- fine each and in default six months additional imprisonment each. It has further been directed that period already passed in jail shall be adjusted against the sentence.

2. Brief facts of the case is that the daughter of the complainant Bindu was married to Rakesh Yadav, who was living in the joint family of Dashrath Yadav and Munni Lal. About three years and eight months ago, a partition took place between them and they started living separately. At the time of partition, Munni Lal had taken a loan of Rs. 1,00,000/- from Dashrath Yadav. Therefore, accused Munni Lal (Father-in-law), Rakesh Yadav (Husband), Akhand Yadav (Jeth) and Sheela Devi (Jethani) started pressurizing and beating deceased Bindu to bring Rs. 1,00,000/- from her parents for payment of aforesaid loan. On 22.02.2009, on the occasion of Shivratri, when the complainant went to meet his daughter Bindu with Siya Ram Yadav, his daughter asked him to arrange Rs. 1,00,000/-, if he wants to see her alive. She told that her in-laws will kill her as Dashrath Yadav is regularly pressurizing for payment of money. She also said that if the complainant will not arrange Rs. 1,00,000/-, she will commit suicide with her children. They tried to console her and came back. On 25.02.2009, the complainant got information from her another daughter Inda Devi that Bindu has been beaten and forcibly expelled from the house and whether she reached to him or not. On 26.02.2009, when the informant was going to Kailawar for searching her daughter Bindu and her children, in Chandauli, he was informed by some persons that the dead bodies of a woman and two children are lying on the railway track. When he reached there, he found that his daughter and her two children had committed suicide after coming under a train. A report was given to Police Station Balua about the incident on 26.02.2009 naming all the accused persons and a case was registered against them for offence under Section 306/34 IPC. His daughter was aged about 35 years and her daughter was aged about 14 years and her son was aged about 12 years.

3. The inquest report was prepared and the dead bodies were sent for post-mortem in the district hospital where the post-mortem was conducted. After completing the investigation, charge sheet was submitted against the accused persons namely Munni Lal. Rakesh Yadav, Akhand Yadav and Sheela Devi. The case was committed for trial and charge was framed against all the accused persons for evidence under Section 306 IPC.

4. The prosecution examined Chowki Incharge, Kailawar Sri Moti Lal as PW-1, Ramvriksh Yadav as PW-2, Siyaram Yadav as PW-3, Inda Devi as PW-4, retired SI Chandrakanti as PW-5 and Dr. Ravindra Nath Singh as PW-6. They have proved the written report as Exhibit Ka-1, site map as Exhibit Ka-2, Charge sheets as Exhibits Ka-3 and Ka-4, post-mortem reports as Exhibits Ka-5 to Ka-7, chik first information report as Exhibit Ka-8, G.D. Report as Exhibit Ka-9, Inquest reports as Exhibits Ka-10 to Ka-12 and the papers for sending the three dead bodies for post-mortem as Exhibits Ka-13 to Ka-26.

5. Accused Munni Lal died during trial, hence the case against him was abated. The statements of remaining accused persons have been recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., who admitted the marriage but denied the prosecution story. They stated it to be false that they expelled the deceased persons from the house after beating them. The fact is that she along with her children had gone to her parents on the occasion of Maha Shivratri and while coming back from there, she and her children got injured in accident by train near Majhwar Railway Station and died on spot. The death of all deceased took place out of accident by train but the complainant has filed a false case against them. The accused persons have examined in defence DW-1 Dharmraj Yadav and DW-2 Indrapal Singh Yadav.

6. After hearing counsel for both the parties and perusing the evidence on record, the learned sessions judge by the impugned judgment convicted and sentenced the accused persons.

7. Feeling aggrieved by the impugned judgment, criminal appeals have been filed on the ground that the judgment is against the evidence on record and is against law. The conviction is wholly illegal and is liable to be set aside. The offence under Section 306/34 IPC was not established against the appellants. The statements of the witnesses are contradictory and against FIR version as well as site map. No independent witness has been examined and the witnesses examined, have turned hostile. Clearly the accident took place by train and there was no role of the convicted appellants, therefore, the impugned judgment is liable to be set aside and the accused persons are entitled for acquittal.

8. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

9. PW-1 Moti Lal Yadav has been examined to prove that the accused Munni Lal has died and it has no relevance with the prosecution case and during trial the case against the accused Munni Lal has been abated by the learned court below.

10. PW-2 Ramvriksh Yadav (complainant) has stated that Bindu was married to accused Rakesh Yadav. Her father-in-law and his brother had joint family. A few years ago from the date of incident, due to partition in the family, they started living separately. Munni Lal had taken a loan of Rs. 1,00,000/- from Dashrath Yadav and for the payment of the said loan, the accused persons were demanding Rs. 1,00,000/- and treating Bindu with cruelty and they used to beat her. On 22.02.2009, when he went to meet Bindu, she told him everything and said that the accused persons are pressurizing and harassing her for bringing Rs. 1,00,000/- and if this continues, she will commit suicide. On 26.02.2009, when he came to Chandauli, somebody told him that dead bodies of a woman and two children are lying on the railway track. He went there and recognized that it was the body of his daughter and her two children. She committed suicide with her children because of dowry harassment by coming under the train. He lodged the first information report about the incident.

11. PW-3 Siyaram Yadav has stated that Bindu was married to Rakesh Yadav and after three or four years, she went to her in-laws family after "Gaona". Subsequently, a partition took place between Munni Lal and Dashrath Yadav. Munni Lal has taken a loan of Rs. 1,00,000/- from Dashrath Yadav after partition and the in-laws of Bindu were demanding Rs. 1,00,000/- for payment of loan and harassing her. On 25.02.2009, Indu, the real sister of the deceased informed on telephone that Bindu has been forced to leave the matrimonial house after she has been beaten by her in-laws and when he and complainant went to search her, she was found dead with her children on the railway track. Bindu committed suicide due to dowry harassment.

12. PW-4 is Inda Devi, real sister of the deceased Bindu has stated that her sister was married with Rakesh Yadav. The accused persons were harassing her and the deceased had informed her on 25.02.2009 at 07:00 PM by telephone that her in-laws used to beat her. She informed her father for the same and on the next day, the dead bodies of Bindu and her two children were found on the railway track. She committed suicide because of harassment by the accused persons.

13. PW-5 is SI Chandrakanti has investigated the case and has stated that he recorded statements of the witnesses, prepared the site plan of the place of occurrence Exhibit Ka-2, and filed charge sheet which is Exhibit Ka-3. She also recorded the statements of other accused persons and the witnesses of inquest. She filed charge sheet also against accused persons which is Exhibit Ka-4. She has also proved other police papers.

14. PW-6 is Dr. Ravindra Nath Singh who conducted the post-mortem of all the three dead bodies. He has stated that on 26.02.2009, he was deputed at District Hospital, Chandauli and he conducted postmortem of the three dead bodies. On the body of deceased Preeti following ante-mortem injuries were found :-

1. Lacerated wound on the left side of face.

2. Abrasion 4x3 cm on the front of both knees.

3. Lacerated wound 6x3 cm above 5 cm from the right hand wrist.

4. Lacerated wound 10x4 cm on the scalp, 8 cm above the left ear with swelling around left eye.

Internal Examination

The fronto-peraital bone of scalp was found broken, brain and brain membranes were lacerated, both kidneys, pleura, peritoneum and both lungs were found pale. According to Doctor, death occurred due to shock and brain hemorrhage as a result of ante-mortem head injuries caused in accident within 12 to 24 hours. He has proved postmortem report as Ext. Ka-5.

15. On the same day postmortem of the dead body of Bindu alias Indu was conducted by the witness and following injuries were found :-

1. Cranial conty was open was open and empty, frontal bone was lacerated, both eye ball was absent.

2. Lacerated wound 5x3 cm in size on face.

3. Lacerated wound 2x2 cm on right ear.

4&5. On the right side of chest two contusions of 10x4 and 9x5 cm were found.

6. Contusion 5x2 cm on right cheek.

7. Loosening of upper teeth.

8. Contusion in the area of 60x20 cm on right side of back, on stomach, right side of hip, on the back side of right thigh, all connected with each other.

9. Contusion 10x4 cm on the right thigh and the bone was broken.

10. Contusion 10x4 cm on left hand.

Internal Examination

Frontal bone of scalp and skull found crushed and fractured. Both eye ball found absent. Contusion found on the right side of abdomen in the area of about 10x4 cm. Brain and brain membranes, base of skull were fractured, both kidneys, pleura, peritoneum and both lungs were found pale. According to Doctor, death occurred due to shock and brain hemorrhage as a result of anti mortem head injuries caused in accident within 12 to 24 hours. He has proved postmortem report as Ext. Ka-6.

16. On the same day, postmortem of dead body of Ravi was conducted and following injuries were found :-

1. Whole of the skull including mandible amputated and missing.

2.Whole of neck lacerated and crushed.

3. Upper limb amputated through shoulder.

4. Lower limb amputated through 10 cm below the knee joint.

5. Lacerated wound found on the right leg 15x10 cm 5 cm below knee, fracture was found.

6. Laceration on waist 10x3 cm on the left side.

7. Multiple small contusion and abrasion on whole body.

Internal examination

Scalp and skull, membranes, brain and base of skull was damaged as per injury mentioned above. Both kidneys, pleura, peritoneum, pancreas, spleen and both lungs were found pale. According to Doctor, death occurred due to instantaneous anti mortem injuries at neck, vessels and spinal cord caused in accident within 12 to 24 hours. He has proved postmortem report as Ext. Ka-7.

17. PW-6 Dr Ravindra Nath Singh who conducted postmortem has stated that the postmortem of the three dead bodies was done by him in between 3.40 PM to 5 PM and the bodies were brought by GRP, Mughalsarai. Deceased Bindu Devi was aged about 35 years, Preeti of 14 years and Ravi was about 12 years old. Rigor Mortise was present in all the three dead bodies which was indicative of fact that death must have occurred more than 12 hours before and all the injuries found on the dead bodies must have come in a train accident simultaneously and in one go. Semi digested food was found which indicates that they must have taken meals 2 ½ to 3 hours prior to death.

18. From the reading of the postmortem report, nature of injuries found on the dead bodies and statement of doctor, it is clear that all the three sustained injuries and died due to injuries which must have been caused by a running train, may be accident or otherwise. This is further supported by the inquest reports of dead bodies Ext. Ka-10, Ka-11 and Ka-12, prepared on 26.2.2009 from 9.20 AM to 12.30 PM before five witnesses and all the witnesses and the officer who prepared inquest report were of the view that the deceased persons must have died being hit by train.

19. The prosecution version is that deceased Bindu was being harassed and treated with cruelty by accused persons as they were demanding one lac rupees for repayment of loan taken by her father in law and on the date of incident she was expelled from her matrimonial house after beating by accused persons along with children and provoked by same she committed suicide with her two children. On the other hand, the defence has put a case of denial and has put forward a case of accident alleging that Bindu and her children had gone to her parents on Shivratri festival and while coming back they got trapped as crossing gate was closed and the accident took place by a train resulting in their unfortunate death. It has been also argued that the deceased with her husband and children were living separately from other accused and the family was leading a good and happy family life. Therefore, the issue which was to be determined was whether it was a case of accident or the deceased persons committed suicide and if they committed suicide, whether it has been proved by prosecution that the accused persons provoked and abetted them to commit suicide.

20. Section 306 incorporates the offence of abetment of suicide and the main ingredients of the offence is the suicidal death and abetment thereof. The suicide is an intentional killing of oneself. Section113-A of the Evidence Act provides presumption as to abetment of suicide by a married woman as below :-

"Abetment of suicide by a married woman: When the question is whether the commission of suicide by a woman had been abetted by her husband or any relative of her husband and it is shown that she had committed suicide within a period of seven years from the date of her marriage and that her husband or such relative of her husband had subjected her to cruelty, the Court may presume, having regard to all the other circumstances of the case, that such suicide had been abetted by her husband or by such relative of her husband.

Explanation- For the purpose of this section, "cruelty" shall have the* same meaning as in section 498-A of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860)."

21. Explanation to section 498-A IPC defines cruelty caused on wife by husband or his relatives as follows :-

"(a) any willful conduct which is of such a nature as is likely to drive the woman to commit suicide or to cause grave injury or danger to life, limb or health (whether mental or physical) of the woman; or

(b) harassment of the woman where such harassment is with a view to coercing her or any person related to her to meet any unlawful demand for any property or valuable security or is on account of failure by her or any person related to her to meet such demand."

22. It is pertinent to mention that at the time of death Bindu was aged about 35 years and her daughter was about 14 years in age and son was of 12 years in age. Thus, Bindu must have died nearly 15 years of her marriage and as such no presumption will be available under section 113-A of the Evidence Act and the prosecution is required to establish the facts constituting abetment in addition to the fact of commission of suicide by three deceased persons.

23. In Ghulam Mustafa vs State of Uttarakhand, AIR 2015 SC 3101, the Court held that a casual remark or something said in a routine way or in usual conversation should not be construed or misunderstood to mean 'abetment.' A conviction on mere allegation of harassment without any positive action in proximity to the time of occurrence on the part of accused that led a person to commit suicide is not sustainable under section 306 IPC. Again, in Gurucharan vs State of Punjab, AIR 2017 SC 74, it has been held that to constitute the offence under section 306 IPC, there should be a live link between abetment and suicide and the intention and involvement of the accused to aid or instigate the commission of suicide is imperative. So far as the grievance of dowry demand and consequential harassment is concerned, it should not be general in nature and there should be some specific incident and should have provocative capability to drive the deceased to such distressed state, mental and physical that she could elect to end her life.

24. In Nachhatter Singh vs State of Punjab, (2011) II Cri. LJ 2292 (SC), the court remarked that in case of abetment of suicide by married woman, the cruelty and harassment meted out must be of nature to drive a person of common prudence to commit suicide. Every quarrel between husband and wife which results in suicide cannot be taken to abetment by husband. For abetment, standard of reasonable or practical woman as compared to headstrong and over sensitive one is to be applied. In Mangat Ram vs State of Haryana, AIR 2014 SC 1782, it was laid down that a woman can commit suicide for various reasons, such as, depression, financial difficulties, disappointment in love, tired of domestic worries, acute or chronic ailments and so on and need not be due to abetment. Therefore, reasoning that no prudent woman will commit suicide unless abetted by someone is perverse and not sustainable under law. In Ghulam Mustafa vs State of Uttarakhand, AIR 2015 SC 3101, the Court held that a casual remark or something said in a routine way or in usual conversation should not be construed or misunderstood to mean 'abetment.' A conviction on mere allegation of harassment without any positive action in proximity to the time of occurrence on the part of accused that led a person to commit suicide is not sustainable under section 306 IPC. Again, in Gurucharan vs State of Punjab, AIR 2017 SC 74, it has been held that to constitute the offence under section 306 IPC, there should be a live link between abetment and suicide and the intention and involvement of the accused to aid or instigate the commission of suicide is imperative. So far as the grievance of dowry demand and consequential harassment is concerned, it should not be general in nature and there should be some specific incident and should have provocative capability to drive the deceased to such distressed state, mental and physical that she could elect to end her life.

25. Though, Gurucharan vs State of Punjab (supra) was a case based on dowry harassment, the last four lines mentioned in bold letters are still relevant and they require specific incident, and not general allegations, having provocative capability to drive the deceased to such distressed state, mental and physical that she could elect to end her life. Routine behaviour, remark or quarrel by husband in matrimonial life in a drunken state cannot be taken to be sufficient to the extent to constitute abetment unless something extra-ordinary, more than normal wear and tear of married life, is shown on or just before the date of incident. The burden of proving close link, in proximity of time between abetment and suicide, heavily lies on prosecution and the prosecution has utterly failed in discharging this burden.

26. Now coming to the facts of this case. Three fact witnesses have been examined by the prosecution. PW-2 is the father and informant and from his statement in examination-in-chief, it appears that he has stated that when he went to his daughter Bindu on 22.2.2009, she told about cruelty and harassment by accused persons on account of demand of one lac rupees for repayment of debt and she was so disturb that she wanted to commit suicide. He also stated that he got a report scribed and lodged FIR. When he was put to cross-examination, he disowned his FIR and said that he did not lodge any such FIR nor he signed over it and he does not know who wrote the same and who delivered it to police. He has also stated that her married life was happy and there was no complaint from either side.

27. There is one more aspect in relation to PW-2 which has not been considered by the learned trial court. From the perusal of the statement of PW-2 it appears that his cross-examination was not completed and the same was continued on 29.9.2016 and the case was fixed for remaining cross-examination on 4.11.2016, 7.11.2016, 7.12.2016, 2.2.2017, 18.3.2017, 15.5.2017, 29.6.2017, 17.8.2017, 28.9.2017, 15.11.2017, 28.11.2017, 12.12.2017 and 3.1.2018, but the prosecution did not produce PW-2 for cross-examination during trial, although, other prosecution witnesses were examined. This resulted in the denial of the valuable right of the accused to cross-examine the witness. It has been nowhere mentioned in the order-sheet that the witness was not produced as he was not traceable or had died. It has also not been shown that the opportunity of cross-examination was closed by the court by a specific order to that effect. Moreover, he has himself disowned the FIR and statement of such witness cannot become basis for conviction and if at all such statement could be used, the same may be for the support of other evidence.

28. The main object of cross-examination is to find out the truth and detect falsity in the testimony of a witness. According to Powell (Law of Evidence, 10th Edition, 463) the objects of cross-examination are to impeach the accuracy, credibility, general value of the evidence given in-chief, to shift the facts already stated by the witness, to detect and expose discrepancies, or to elicit the suppressed facts which will support the case of the cross-examining party. Phipson (On Evidence, 15th Ed., 2000, para 11-17) has remarked that 'the object of cross-examination is two fold- to weaken, qualify, or destroy the case of the opponent; and to establish the party's own case by means of his opponent witness.'

29. In Dwarka Das vs State of J&K, 1979 Cri LJ 550 (J&K), it has been observed that the right of cross-examination is referable not only to section 138 of the Evidence Act but is one of the principles of natural justice that evidence may not be read against a party until the same has not been subjected to cross-examination, or at least an opportunity has not been given for cross-examination. Section 138 impliedly lays down that the statement of a witness would be read as evidence against a party only when it had been tested on the anvil of cross-examination or opportunity was afforded for the purpose. The testimony of a witness is not a legal evidence unless subjected to cross-examination. In Kartar Singh vs State of Punjab, (1994) 3 SCC 569 and Mohd. Hussain vs State (Government of NCT of Delhi) (2012) 2 SCC 584, it has been held that the right of cross-examination is included in the right of accused in a criminal case, to confront the witness against him not only on facts but also to discredit the witness by showing that his testimony in-chief was untrue and biased. Failure to provide an opportunity to accused of cross-examination of prosecution witness vitiates the trial. In Sunil Mehta vs State of Gujarat, (2013) 9 SCC 209, it has been further held that in a criminal case, using the testimony of a witness at the trial without giving the accused the opportunity of cross-examination, is tantamount to condemning him unheard.

30. The purpose of the above discussion is to indicate that the evidence of PW-2 cannot form basis for conviction as he was not produced for cross-examination and a very little cross-examination (ten to fifteen lines) which was conducted by the defence, that too demolished the credibility of the witness as he denied that any written report was given and FIR was lodged by him and that he did not know who signed over the same. Moreover, he stated about the good matrimonial life of deceased. It is also pertinent to mention that the witness was not declared hostile. After that little cross-examination, he did not turn up nor he was further produced for cross-examination.

31. PW-3 Siyaram is brother of PW-2 and he claims to be present with him when they visited to the in-laws of the deceased. But the fact that he also accompanied the informant does not find mention in the statement of PW-2. PW-3 has stated in his cross-examination that Bindu used to come to her parents and used to return to her husband after staying a day or two. He has also stated that in his knowledge there was no dispute of any kind between two sides. Very importantly, he has stated that he cannot say whether Bindu and two sons died out of train accident or they committed suicide. He has stated that for the first and last time he went to in-laws of Bindu on 22.2.2009 and nothing was demanded by her in-laws, their stay there was very cordial and Bindu and her children raised no complaints. He says that both the children were born in her laws house and all the arrangements were made by in-laws and they were given usual education by them and daughter was studying in class 9th and son was studying in 7thclass. Thus, the statement of this witness does not prove the prosecution version on the point of demand, cruelty and harassment or abetment and he is not sure whether the deceased persons committed suicide.

32. PW-4 Inda, sister of deceased, has stated that the deceased informed her on phone on 25.2.2009 that the accused persons are treating her with cruelty and have committed maar-peet and she will not live there. She informed the same to her father. PW-2 has said nothing about this information in his statement. In the cross-examination, PW-3 Siyaram has said it, but he has been contradicted on this point with reference to his statement recorded by IO in which he has not stated that fact. Then, the information, if any, was given to the father of deceased and not to PW-3. It is also pertinent to mention that the witness has admitted that the deceased and she, both do not have any mobile phone nor prior to incident, they ever talked to each other and there was mobile connectivity between them. Therefore, it is doubtful that the deceased talked to her or she further informed to her father. She has further stated that the deceased and her husband were living separately from other accused her brother in law and his wife and as such, it is highly doubtful how they abetted the deceased.

33. PW-4 Inda has further stated about good and happy married life of deceased as after marriage she used to happily come to her parents whenever she liked and there was no restriction on her. Her two children were studying and they were happy and healthy. The deceased never made any complaints about her husband and in-laws. She has stated that to go to the parents and on coming back to in laws, one has to step over the railway track and after crossing the railway track, another means of travel is to be taken for both sides. She has further stated that there was no complaint to deceased before the accident. She has admitted that because of death of deceased and her children, her father and family became emotional and angry.

34. The statement of PW-5 IO Ms Chandrkranti is very relevant who has stated that during investigation, she found that Munnilal and Dashrath were separated a long back and there was no dues of one lac rupees and this fact was found to be wrong in investigation. She has stated that the deceased persons died out of train accident while crossing the railway track at railway crossing situated at Chandouli-Sakaldiha road in the west of Majhwar railway station. She has also stated that there was no evidence of cruelty and harassment by accused persons for any demand of one lac rupees. She has also stated that witness Siyaram (PW-3) never stated to her about Inda Devi informing him on phone that Bindu has been expelled by accused persons after beating her. Proving Ext. Ka-25, the witness has stated that about the accident GRP Moghulsarai was having prior information and the dead bodies were removed from railway track and were kept near the railway track in front of Police Chowky, Chandouli and from there the dead bodies were taken in possession and proceeding of inquest was conducted. Pw-5 has also stated that none of the witnesses examined by her stated that the deceased persons committed suicide by jumping over the track. She has also stated that it came to her knowledge during investigation that the deceased and her children had gone to her parents 2 to 4 days before prior to accident. It is notable that it has been specific case of defence that the deceased and her children had gone to her parents on the occasion of Maha Shivratri and while returning when trying to cross railway track at the railway crossing they were hit by train and died in accident. The statement of IO supports the defence version and it cannot be ignored nor it can be said that the IO has given false statement for which she had no reason. The learned trial court appears to have adopted a very casual approach in rejecting the statement of IO. If her statement was suffering from infirmity, the benefit in such circumstances should have been given to the accused persons.

35. The two witnesses who have been examined by the defence DW-1 Dharmraj Yadav and DW-2 Indrpal Singh Yadav have stated that the deceased and her children had gone to her parents on Maha Shivratri and while coming back they sustained injuries by train accident when they were crossing the railway track. They have also stated that married life of the deceased was good and cruelty and harassment on her was never heard. Both these witnesses come in relation of Bindu from her maternal side and they have stated that accused Akhand and Sheela got separated and Bindu and her husband used to live with Munnilal. The children of deceased were studying in the Junior High School, Mathela and the deceased had full liberty to go to her parents whenever she wished. There was no complaint of any harassment. When all the three died in accident, her father lodged case out of anger and emotions. A similar statement has been given by PW-4 Inda Devi.

36. In Anil Sharma Vs. State of Jharkhand, (2004) 5 SCC 679, it has been held that an accused can examine himself u/s 315 CrPC as a defence witness and equal treatment should be given to the evidence of prosecution and defence. Standard and parameter for evaluation of evidence is the same whether it is a prosecution witness or defence witness. Unfortunately, the learned trial court has applied different yardstick for evaluation of defence witness and has discarded their testimony on the ground that they have good relations with accused persons and have been brought by accused side to give evidence. If this was a good ground for rejecting their testimony, the prosecution witnesses are closely related with complainant as he is father of the deceased and PW-3 and PW-4 are his brother and daughter. Moreover, the defence witnesses are also relatives of the complainant and as such their testimony assumes greater weight, more so when the prosecution witnesses also have stated in such way that there appears to be greater possibility of deceased dying out of accident.

37. There is one more perspective on the basis of which a conclusion of death by accident finds support. The age of the daughter at the time of incident was about 14 years. PW-1 has stated that the daughter was born after 6-7 years of marriage. PW-2 has stated that after 3-4 years of marriage, her GAUNA (a matrimonial ceremony when the girl for the first time goes to her in-laws) took place. DW-1 and DW-2 have also stated that both were married 20-25 years before. In every case the marriage must have taken place 20 years ago. Therefore, it is not a case of suicide by a young bride. After 20 years of marriage where the matrimonial life of deceased was good and happy as two children were born to her, and she had enough freedom and could go to her parents alone and come back, a freedom which is not much seen in village life, more particularly when prosecution has alleged harassment. When the life of deceased was enough settled, it does not suit to reasoning that she could have been in any way abetted to commit suicide. There is no allegation that the children were also put to cruelty or they were also beaten before the incident. They were studying and were leading happy and healthy life. In such case there was no occasion for them to commit suicide. They were aged about 14 and 12 years and in their age, children attain sufficient understanding and it cannot be reasonably believed that they could get prepared to commit suicide merely on saying of their mother. On the contrary, they could check their mother from committing suicide. This is also indicative of an unfortunate accident in which they all lost their lives.

38. There is no principle of law that wherever wife commits suicide, the husband will bear the responsibility and will be held liable. Where marriage of both has passed about 15-20 years, two children were born and both studying in school in a usual way and the family is leading happy life, general allegation of harassment cannot be sufficient to hold the accused persons guilty for the offence of abetment of suicide. It has not been stated by the prosecution witnesses that any demand was made by the accused persons before them or from them. No witness has been examined to show cruelty and harassment with the deceased before the incident or abetment in proximity of time for committing suicide. Postmortem report shows that semi-digested food was found and that indicates that deceased have taken meals and it also falsifies that she was not given food on account of cruelty for pressurizing the demand. The trial court is required to look into all the circumstances of the case and to attract the offence under section 306 IPC, the alleged cruelty, instigation or encouragement by accused should not only be proved by prosecution but also be of such nature which leaves no option to the deceased except to commit suicide. From the evidence on record and attending circumstances as well as postmortem report of dead bodies, a possibility of deceased loosing life due to accident appears to be more probable in comparison to their committing suicide. There is no evidence led by prosecution that there was abetment of such grave nature which was likely to drive them to commit suicide in group. The witnesses of prosecution also do not disclose any serious fact creating a panic situation for all to commit suicide. The prosecution evidence if considered in totality, makes out a case of accident rather than a suicide.

39. On the basis of above discussion, I find that the conviction and sentence recorded by the learned trial court suffers from perversity and the impugned judgment is not sustainable under law.

40. Therefore, all the three appeals are allowed and the impugned judgment and order dated 07.09.2018, passed by learned District & Sessions Judge, Chandauli, in Sessions Trial No. 178 of 2012 (State vs. Rakesh Yadav), arising out of Case Crime No. 44 of 2009, under Section 306/34 IPC, Police Station Baluwa, District Chandauli, whereby the appellants have been convicted and sentenced under Sections 306/34 IPC is set aside and appellants Rakesh Yadav, Akhand Yadav and Sheela Devi are consequently acquitted.

41. Appellants Rakesh Yadav, Akhand Yadav and Sheela Devi be set at liberty forthwith.

42. Office is directed to transmit back the lower court record along with a copy of this judgment for information and necessary compliance.

2. This Criminal (Capital) Appeal No. 205 of 2018 (reference no. 8 of 2018) has been preferred against the judgment and order dated 20.11.2018 preferred by accused appellants, Sarfaraz Ali, Md. Sahid, Sadiq and Rashid against the judgement and order dated 20.11.2018 passed in S.T. No. 957 of 2010 and in connected S.T. No. 9 of 2011.

3. Criminal Appeal No. 206 of 2018 has been preferred by accused, Arshad against the same judgement passed in S.T. No.9 of 2011.

4. Criminal Appeal No. 207 of 2018 has been preferred by accused appellants, Farukh and Mumtaj against the same judgment in S.T. No. 9 of 2011.

5. In the said combined judgement of S.T. No. 957 of 2010 and S.T. No. 9 of 2011, the trial court has convicted the appellants Sarfaraz Ali, Md. Sahid, Sadiq, Arshad, Rashid, Farukh and Mumtaj under Section 302 read with Section 149 I.P.C. and sentenced with death penalty directing them to be hanged till death and fine of Rs. 1,000/- each and in default of payment of fine, one year additional R.I.; under Section 148 I.P.C., all of them have been sentenced with three years R.I. and fine of Rs. 1,000/- and in default of payment of fine, six months additional S.I. each; under Section 452 I.P.C., all of them have been sentenced with three years' R.I. and fine of Rs. 1,000/- and in default of payment of fine, six months S.I. each; under Section 307 I.P.C. read with Section 149 I.P.C., they have been awarded life imprisonment. Accused appellants, Sarfaraz Ali and Md. Sahid have been further convicted and sentenced with three years R.I. and find of Rs. 1,000/- under Section 25 of Arms Act in S.T. No. 958 of 2010 and S.T. No. 959 of 2010 respectively in the same judgment.

6. The trial court has passed combined judgment in S.T. No. 957 of 2010 along with S.T. No. 9 of 2011, S.T. No. 958 of 2010 and S.T. No. 959 of 2010 on 20.11.2018.

7. Since all the appeals mentioned above arise out of the same common judgment, in the interest of justice, all the three appeals are being disposed of jointly by us.

8. The prosecution case as disclosed in the F.I.R. is that the brothers of informant i.e. Naseem and Khalil (P.W.3) had had a quarrel about seven to eight days prior to the present occurrence with Sadiq S/o Iqbal of the same village which was got settled due to intervention of the villagers but Sadiq had given a threat that he would see them. Due to the said animosity on 27.2.2010 at about 2:00 p.m., Sadiq (A-1), his brother, Sahid (A-2) and others of his family i.e. Arshad (A-3) S/o farzullah, Rashid (A-4) S/o Isfaq, Sarfaraz (A-5) S/o Shaukat, Farukh (A-6) S/o Islam, Mumtaj (A-7) S/o Ismail, all residents of village, Harsauli came there, out of whom, Sadiq was armed with country-made gun and rest of them were armed with country-made pistols, at the house of informant and Sadiq abusingly uttered 'sale naseem tujhe dekhna hai' and entered into the informant's house and started making fire with an intention to kill in which his brother, Naseem, Khalil, Raiyyan and his nephew, Sakir received fire arm injury. Informant was also fired upon but he saved his life by fleeing from there and concealing himself. These accused believing that all the brothers of the informant and his nephew had died, went away from there. This occurrence was witnessed by Ilias S/o Yaqoob R/o Makhyali who was informant's guest and ladies of the house i.e. Vakeela, Shabnam and Nerbun. The informant had taken brother, Naseem to government hospital, Muzaffarnagar where he was declared dead while the other brother, Khalil was fighting for his life. The medical examination was also conducted of injured, Raiyyan and Sakir. Due to this indiscriminate firing made by the accused, terror had gripped the village and the villagers had closed their doors and children and ladies were running here and there. No one could summon up courage to stop the accused from assaulting and, thereafter, the assailants fled away firing.

9. P.W.4, Constable Sahab Singh has stated in examination-in-chief that on the said written report, Exhibit Ka-1 being given at P.S., Shahpur on 25.02.2010 at 16:30 hours (4:30 p.m.), a Case Crime No. 163 of 2010 under Sections 147, 148, 149, 452, 307, 302 I.P.C. and under Section 7 of Criminal Law Amendment Act was registered against accused No.1, Sadiq, accused no.2, Sahid S/o Iqbal, accused no.3, Arshad S/o Farqula, accused no.4, Rashid S/o Ishfaq, accused no.5, Sarfaraz S/o Shaukat, accused no. 6, Farukh S/o Islam, accused no. 7, Mumtaj S/o Ismail all residents of village, Harsauli, P.S. Shahpur, District Muzaffarnagar by Constable Sahab Singh (P.W.4) who prepared chik F.I.R., Exhibit Ka-2 and made entry of this case in G.D., Exhibit Ka-3 at report no. 33 at 16:30 hours on 25.02.2010.

10. Sahab Singh (P.W.4) was provided recovery memo by the then S.H.O., Pramod Panwar, P.W.8 on 27.02.2010 of one country-made pistol of 12 bore, one country-made pistol of 315 bore, two cartridges of 12 bore and one cartridge of 315 bore which were recovered from accused, Sarfaraz Ali and Md. Sahid respectively and on the basis of the same, he registered Crime No. 165 of 2010 under Section 25/27 of Arms Act against accused, Sarfaraz and Crime No. 166 of 2010 under Section 25 Arms Act against accused Sahid. The chik F.I.R. of this case was prepared by him which is Exhibit Ka-4 and the same is paper no. 4 in file of S.T. No. 958 of 2010 (State Vs. Sarfaraz). The photo-copy of the concerned chik report is available on the file of S.T. No. 959 of 2010, State Vs. Sahid as paper no. 4 which is exactly the same as Exhibit Ka-4, which is being certified by him and marked as Exhibit Ka-5. On the basis of Exhibit Ka-4, he made entry in G.D. at report no. 23 at 15:10 hours, carbon copy of which is available in the file of S.T. No. 958 of 2010 which is paper no. 9/2 which was prepared by him in his hand-writing in same process. The said carbon-copy is proved by him by original G.D. and it is marked as Exhibit Ka-6. The photo-copy of the concerned G.D. is filed in file of S.T. No. 959 of 2010 which is paper no. 8/2, which this witness has certified to be the exact carbon-copy of original G.D. and has been marked as Exhibit Ka-7.

11. P.W.8, Inspector Pramod Panwar has stated in examination-in-chief that the investigation of this case was assigned to him on 25.2.2010. On the said date, he had written parcha no. 1 in which after copying the chik F.I.R. and G.D., recorded the statements of Constable Sahab Singh and Md. Irfan S/o Shamshuddin. He inspected the place of incident and prepared the site-plan, recovered one empty cartridge of 12 bore, one empty cartridge of 315 bore and took plain and blood stained soil and prepared its recovery memo. The site-plan is Exhibit Ka-19. The recovery memo of plain and blood stained soil was paper no. 8/1 in the file which was got prepared by S.I., Sri Bagesh Kumar Sharma at the spot at his dictation which was signed by P.W.8 and S.I. Bagesh Kumar himself and had already been marked as Exhibit Ka-12. Similarly paper no. 8/2, Fard in respect of recovery of one empty cartridge of 12 bore and one empty cartridge of 315 bore connected with Crime No. 163 of 2010 were prepared at the scene of occurrence at his dictation by S.I., Bagesh Kumar Sharma which is already marked as Exhibit Ka-14. One sealed bundle was presented in court pertaining to Crime No. 163 of 2010 which was opened with the permission of Court and out of it, one live cartridge of 12 bore was taken out from one panni which had mark on it as L.G.1 etc. dated 21.07.2010. On the bundle which was a white cloth, was marked as material exhibit-1 and the white panni was marked as Material Exhibit-2; live cartridge of 12 bore was marked as material Exhibit-3 and three other empty cartridges of 12 bore were marked as T-1, T-2 and were material Exhibits 4 and 5 respectively. There was another empty cartridge of 12 bore which was marked as E.C.-1 and it was marked as material Exhibit-6. From out of the white panni, one live cartridge of 315 bore bearing on it L.C.2 was taken out and was marked as material Exhibit-7. Further from the said panni, three blank cartridges of 315 bore were taken out which had mark on it as T.C.-3 and T.C.-4 etc. which were marked as material exhibits 8 and 9 respectively. The third empty cartridge of 315 bore was having written on it E.C.-2 and was marked as material Exhibit-10. From the white panni, one envelope of grey color was taken out on which pallets, P-1 was written, the envelope was marked as material Exhibit-1 and from out of the said envelope, one pudia of white paper was taken out which contained one small Pellet and date 21.07.2010 was written thereon; this paper was marked as material Exhibit-12 and the Pellet taken out of it was marked as material Exhibit-13. One grey colored envelope, on which white paper was pasted and deceased Naseem S/o Shamshuddin and others was written on it and one Pellet, which was sent after being sealed, was taken out and seal was also taken out and were marked as material Exhibits 14 and 15.

12. On 26.02.2010, he received post-mortem report of deceased, Naseem which was recorded in C.D. on 27.2.2010. On getting information from informer, accused Sarfaraz and Md. Sahid were arrested from their houses. From Sarfaraz, one country-made gun of 12 bore and one live cartridge of 12 bore were recovered and from Sahid, one country-made pistol of 315 bore and one live cartridge of 315 bore were recovered. The said articles were sealed on the spot and its fard was dictated by him to S.I. Anek Singh and was signed by companion police officials and accused Sarfaraz and Md. Sahid and one copy of it was given to each accused. The original fard is kept on file of Sarfaraz under Section 25/27 of Arms Act, P.S. Shahpur which is paper no. 5 and it was stated by this witness that the same was prepared at the time when country-made pistol and gun were recovered from both the accused, Sarfaraz and Sahid and the same is marked as Exhibit Ka-20. Further this witness has stated that out of it, one sealed bundle bearing material Exhibit-1, one country-made pistol and one 315 bore pistol were taken out which were marked as material Exhibits 14 and 15 respectively. Both were found in running condition. The statement of the accused were taken. On 28.2.2010, statement of injured, Raiyyan, Shaqib, witness Ilias, Smt. Vakeela, Smt. Shabnam, Smt. Jaitun were recorded who stated themselves to be eye-witnesses of the occurrence and supported the prosecution version as mentioned in F.I.R. On 17.03.2010, warrant under Section 82 Cr.P.C. was obtained against accused, Farukh, Arshad, Mumtaj, Rashid and Sadiq from court which were executed on 24.3.2010. The original inquest report and post-mortem were copied in C.D. in which it was recorded that Naseem had died by bullet injury as per doctor's version. The statement of witness of inquest report were also recorded which included Yaseen and Naseebuddin, Shabbir, Mehar Hasan, Subhrati. On 13.4.2010, he sent the case property, for being tested to F.S.L., Agra through Constable Surendra. On 21.4.2010, he recorded statement of witnesses, Tahir and Shaukeen who were witnesses of recovery of two country made pistols and also of recovery of plain and blood stained soil. On 11.5.2010, after getting sufficient evidence against accused, Sarfaraz and Sahid, charge-sheet was submitted which is Exhibit Ka-21. On 11.5.2010, accused, Rashid and Arshad surrendered before the court of C.J.M. On 18.10.2010, the statements of these two accused were recorded in jail with the permission of court. On 28.5.2010, the bail application was heard of accused, Sadiq, Mumtaj and Farukh in compliance with High Court's order and on 10.6.2010, their bail applications were rejected and they were sent to jail. On 14.6.2010, their statements were taken in jail. On 21.6.2010, all the three aforesaid accused were taken on Police Custody Remand (P.C.R.). On 6.7.2010, charge-sheet was submitted against accused, Sadiq, Arshad, Rashid, Farukh and Mumtaj which is Exhibit Ka-23.

13. Further this witness has stated that other sealed bundle was opened before court on which Vidhi Vigyan Prayogshala was written relating to Crime No. 163 of 2010 and out of it, one pant of black color, one banyan white, one cloth of brown color and two sealed bundles were taken out and were marked as material Exhibits 16, 17, 18 and 19 and this witness stated that these were the same clothes which deceased, Naseem was wearing at the time of occurrence. The two containers were wrapped in cloth which was marked as Material Exhibits 20 and 21. From out of the said container, cement, mitti and tickli were marked as material Exhibit-22 while from other containers, blood stained soil and ordinary soil was taken out and the bundle was marked as material Exhibit-23 and container was marked as material Exhibit-24. The blood stained soil was marked as material Exhibit-25. From out of the bundle, material Exhibit-1, the country-made pistol of 315 bore and live cartridge of 12 bore, which were recovered from accused, Sarfaraz Ali and Md. Sahid, were taken out regarding which, the accused had stated that by the said weapons, both of them had made fire upon the deceased, Naseem and others on 25.2.2010.

14. On the basis of evidence gathered by the prosecution, charge under section 148, 452, 302 read with 149 and 307 read with 149 IPC has been framed against the accused-appellants Sarfraz and Sahid on 20.5.20111. A separate charge has been framed under section 148, 452, 302/149 and 307/149 IPC against accused-appellants Sadiq, Arshad, Rashid and Farukh Mumtaj on the same day. On the same day two separate charges were framed under section 25 Arms Act; one against the accused Sarfraz and other against accused Sahid, to all the above charges, the above-named accused pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

15. In order to prove its case, Mohd. Irfan as PW1, Raiyyan as PW2, Khalil Ahmad as PW3, Sahab Singh as PW4, S.I. Bagesh Kumar Sharma as PW5, Dr. Pradeep Kumar Mittal as PW6, Dr. Radheyshaym Verma as PW7, Inspector Promod Panwar as PW8 and Dy. Inspector Baljor Singh as PW9 have been examined.

16. The prosecution evidence was closed and the statement of the accused were recorded under section 313 Cr.P.C, in which the entire evidence gathered against them has been stated to be false and have taken the plea that they have been falsely implicated due to the enmity. In addition, the accused Sarfraz has stated that in respect of the occurrence, which happened with him, his father Shaukat had lodged a case crime no. 163A of 20110 under sections 307, 504, 506 IPC, in which charge-sheet has been submitted against Khalil, Raiyyan and Shakir and the case is pending in this very court. He had used force against the complainant side only in self defence and has filed the copy of the FIR of the said case, which is Exhibit Kha-1. The accused-appellant Sahid has initially stated that he has been implicated in the case only because of being of the same family. The same defence has been taken by the other co-accused Sadiq. The co-accused Arshad has additionally stated that on 24.2.2010 the daughter of his brother-in-law Smt. Shakeela, who was married in village Kalyanpur, had died and after hearing the said news, he along with his brother Musarraf had gone there on 25.2.2010 from their village Harsauli and had reached in village Kalyanpur at 8.00 A.M. and remained there till 3.00 P.M. Mohammad Farukh has additionally stated that he has medical store in the village and on the date of the incident, he had gone somewhere and was not available at medical store. Subsequently, he came to know that an occurrence had happened near the said medical store with Sarfraz son of Shakeel regarding which, case crime 163A of 2010 was registered under section 307, 504, 506 IPC, in which charge-sheet has been submitted against Khalil, Raiyyan and Shakir, because of this enmity, he has been falsely implicated. Accused Mumtaj and Rashid both have additionally stated that because of them being of the same family, they have been falsely implicated. In defence, from the side of the accused, Dr. Radhey Shyam Verma as DW1, Haqiqat as DW2, S.I. Bagesh Kumar Sharma as DW3 and Dr. Sukrampal Singh as DW4, have been examined.

17. On the basis of the above evidence, the trial court after having considered the same and in the light of the arguments made from both the sides, has convicted the accused-appellants and sentenced them as mentioned above. Now we have to see in the light of the argument made in this appeal as to whether the said judgment needs to be interfered with or should it remain as such.

18. In order to prove its case, from the side of prosecution, in support of the prosecution version as mentioned in the FIR, the informant Mohd. Irfan has stated as PW1, in examination in chief, that the occurrence took place on 25.2.2010 at 2.00 P.M. About 7-8 days prior to this occurrence, while playing volley ball, a quarrel had taken place between him and his brothers Naseem and Khalil on the one side and the accused Sadiq on the other, in which maar-peet had also taken place but after the intervention of some respected persons of the village, the matter was compromised between the parties, but the accused Sadiq had given a threat to his brothers that he would see them. On 25.02.2010 when PW1 was present at his house with his brothers namely, Naseem, Khalil, nephew Shakir, his mother Wakeela, Bhabi Jaiboon, Bhabi Shabnam and Ilyas and he and his brother, after coming from the field, were taking off fodder to be placed in the machine, then all of a sudden, at about 2.00 P.M. accused Sadiq armed with country made gun and others namely, Sahid, Arshad, Rashid, Sarfraz, Mumtaj and Farukh, all armed with country made pistol entered into his house and started abusing and uttered "Maro Salo Ko" and then all of them started making fire from their respective weapons upon the complainant side. In this assault, his brother Naseem, he himself, Khalil, Raiyyan and his nephew Shakir received fire arm injuries while he himself fled from there and concealed himself to save his life. The ladies of his house raised alarm and after hearing the sound of pistol and guns, a lot of people had assembled there coming from different lanes and thereafter the accused left the scene of occurrence giving threat. Thereafter, with the aid of his relative and family members, he brought his injured brothers to police chawki first by a vehicle and one police personnel had taken the injured person to the District Hospital, where Naseem was declared dead by the doctors as soon as he was seen. His other brothers namely, Khalil, Raiyyan and nephew Shakir were got admitted for being medically examined, thereafter, he had written report of this case in the hospital taking the same he had gone to police station Shahpur, where he got the case registered. He had identified Exhibit Ka-1 to be the same report, which he had given at the police station.

19. After drawing the attention to the above statement of this witness, learned counsel for the appellants had argued that the FIR was ante-timed because medical examination of the injured persons was conducted between 15-15 hours-15-30 hours, while the FIR had been registered on the same day at 16.30 hours, which would show that medical examinations of the injured, were already conducted before lodging the FIR.

20. In cross examination, this witness has stated that the name of his father is Shamsuddin, who is alive. He had three wives and from the first wife there was no child born. From the second wife, Iqbal was born and from the third wife, PW1, Raiyyan, Imran, Naseem, Saleem and Khalil were born. He cannot tell as to how much land is possessed by Shahmsuddin. Iqbal, who is son of Shamsuddin, was living separate while rest of the accused were also living separate. From among the children of his mother, Naseem, Khalil and Saleem were living at one place while others namely Iqbal, Raiyyan, Ifran and Imran were living in a house at a distnace leaving in between one house. All the brothers named above, were married.

21. He has further stated that one case under section 307, 504, 506 IPC is also pending in the same court, in which the present case is pending and the complainant of the said case is Shaukat son of Alauddin. The injured in the said case was accused Sharfraz son of Shaukat. The son of Sharfraz was also caused injuries in the said case, in the said case, after investigation, the police had submitted charge sheet. He has also stated that the accused of the said case were his real brothers namely, Naseem, Khalil and Raiyyan and one more injured in that case was his nephew Shakir son of Raiyyan. He has further stated that in the present case, his real brother Naseem has been murdered while Raiyyan, Khalil and Shakir have received injuries but of his own, he has further stated that the above-named case under section 307 IPC was a false one as no such occurrence has taken place.

22. It has also been stated by this witness that all the accused shown in this case, they all are descendant of Kallu and Jagira and that the father of Kalu and Jagira was Hatham. It is right to say that there is distance of one kms. between the residential places of the families of Kallu and Jagira and his (PW1) families. Further, he has stated that all his brothers do agricultural work but he does not know as to how much land they possessed and the said agricultural land is common, however, their food is cooked separately but they lived together. The ancestors of accused namely Kallu and Jagira were real brothers of the ancestors of PW1.

23. He has no knowledge as to who were playing the volley ball in the field and what were their names. His brothers Naseem and Khalil had not told him the name of those persons, who were playing there because he had not asked for the same. He had come to know about the quarrel on the same day in the evening but he had not made any written report nor oral at the police Chauki in that regard. Rashid son of Raja Din had met him in the evening of the incident, who had accompanied him to the hospital. He had met him in the Government Hospital, Muzaffar Nagar. At that time, there were many people of the village including Intijar son of Islam Uddin, his uncle's son Subrati and many others. Imran and Iqbal sons of Shamsuddin had also reached the hospital and with them one police personnel had accompanied them from Chawki. All the injured were in the same vehicle, which was Maruti 800 and all the injured namely, Khalil, Raiyyan and Shakir were sitting while Naseem was made to lie on his lap. Soon after 5-7 minutes of the occurrence, lot of blood was coming out from the wounds, which had made all their clothes wet. Among injured, only Naseem was unconscious while rest injured were conscious and were talking. It has further been stated that by the time they reached Muzaffar Nagar, they had felt that the Naseem was still breathing but when they reached the hospital at 3.15 PM, there Naseem was declared dead and two persons had taken away the dead body of Naseem. Other three injured namely Khalil, Raiyyan and Shakir were medically examined in front of him.

24. On the date of incident, Farukh was present at the said medical store where medicines are sold. The said medical store is situated in the house of Meharban son of Isab Uddin and adjoining to this medical store to the south of it, is a lane and thereafter is situated abadi and thereafter one or two lanes and then is situated the main road. From the house of accused, the medical store of Farukh was situated about 600 meters away and there was no other medical store in that vicinity.

25. The main door of his house is towards east, which had a shutter, which remained closed in the night. His house is constructed in the area of about 600 to 700 sq.yards in which he lives and his cattles are also kept there. On 25.2.2010 there were 5, 7 and 10 buffalos tied in that house. Inspection of the place of occurrence was made by the Investigating Officer in his presence, although he does not recollect its date and time. Perhaps, the Inspector was Bagish Sharma, whom he had shown the place of incident, where cartridges were lying and his brother Naseem was lying. The places where Pellet embedded in the walls, were also shown and the place from where the accused had run away, after having made fire was also shown. The Investigating Officer had not got the photography done of the said place, where Pellet hits wall. After verandah, there is one gallery and on both sides of it, there are rooms. The ladies of his house live in curtains and thereafter of his own he has stated that he has three storyed residential house. On the third floor of which, ladies live. On the date of incident as well as prior to that, there was a door installed in the gallery of his house, which used to remain open during the day but the same remains, closed in the night. After the said gallery, lies a Sahan, in which cattle are tied. In the said veranda, there is no residential room and due to shed, cattle are tied in the said veranda and there is no other kind of construction. For going upto the third floor, there is only one passage, which goes through stairs. On the third floor, there were six rooms, out of which four had exit towards north side while rest had exit towards west and east sides. There was no curtain in those rooms but there were doors in them. He had not shown those rooms to the Investigating Officer. In the stair case, which leads upto the third floor from the ground floor, there is no door at the ground floor. There is one room constructed at the third floor, which remains vacant and the same is used only when guests come. In his house, after the gallery, there is a Sahan in which cattle are tied, which place is 'Kachcha'. Gallery is cemented and Varanda is also cemented. After veranda, there is Sahan and upon that 'kharanja' is laid. For looking after the cattle, he has not engaged any servant. Near the stair case, one fodder cutting machine, which is run by electricity, is also installed, which is used sometimes for the said purposes. All these places were shown to the Investigating Officer at the time of inspection.

26. This witness has further stated that after the gallery, varandah is about 11 ft. wide and after the said veranda, there is a gallery, which is about 11 ft. long and about 9 to 10 ft. wide. Just after the gallery, there is a kachcha floor and about 3-4 ft. to the west of it, there is kharanja. All the four persons namely, Khalil, Raiyyan, Shakair and Naseem had come from the field of Sugarcane. They had come in a buggi, which was parked outside the varanda and all the above four persons were emptying the buggi. The Investigating Officer was shown the said place. On the said day, no altercation/conversion had happened with the accused. He has further stated that after the incident of volley ball, compromise had taken place. There was no social relationship between his family and the family of the accused. The accused were living about seven meters away near Harsauli road. The agricultural lands of the informant and the accused were adjoining to each other. None of the seven accused had met him since the date of incident. He cannot tell as to from which direction the accused had entered the Gher, because at that time, they were taking off the 'Gole' for the purposes of cutting the fodder. They were cutting the said fodder in the machine, which was installed beneath the stair case and the said machine was being run by hand by Khalil and Raiyyan.

27. Further, this witness has stated that he does not know exactly about Shakir as to where he was and what was he doing. When he had come after taking water, the accused had started the incident and as soon as they came and started abusing then Naseem, after having seen them, ran towards the stair case. With abusing, simultaneously all the accused reached near the fodder cutting machine armed with pistol while Sadiq had gun, which was a licensed one. He had no licensed weapon in his house. He has knowledge about the bore of the country made pistol. Soon after coming, the accused started making fires but he could not see whether they were making fires after taking aim or not. He has seen the country made pistol of the accused by which about 14-15 fires were made and soon after firing, the complainant side started fleeing but accused chased them. The place where the fodder machine was being used, the injured Naseem, Khalil, Raiyyan and Shakir had received fire arm injuries, which were caused to them while they were fleeing. Raiyyan, Khailil and Shakir had scaled northern side wall and had jumped over the other side of the wall to save their lives but he cannot tell whether the accused had chased them or not. He had not alleged this fact in the report that Khalil, Raiyyan and Shakir had run towards north after scaling the wall. The Investigating Officer has recorded his statement and to him he had told that after getting injured by fire, the above three persons had fled from there after jumping over the northern, wall which might have been 4-5 ft. high. At the time when this occurrence happened, he (PW1) was standing there and thereafter has stated of his own that he was in the stair case where there were small wall. He cannot tell as to whether he had told the Investigating Officer about the same nor had he mentioned the same in his report. When the fires were being made, he did not see as to which injured had received fire arm injury at which place because he was running away from there to save his live and after fleeing, the injured Naseem had straightway reached the third floor of the house. All the seven accused had not gone to the third floor making fires, rather none of them had gone there. He has further stated that the fire had hit the third floor and then again stated that possibly did not get hit. He was put a question as to whether all the seven accused had reached the third floor making fires, to which he responded that Sadiq, Sahid, Rashid and Sharfraz were going by the stair- case to the third floor but none of them could reach. The fire was made from the stair case.

28. Further, this witness has stated that Naseem had received fire arm injury on the third floor when he had turned around to see but he could not see as whose shot had hit Naseem. He had told the Investigating Officer that injury was caused on the third floor. He does not known as to whether the blood was lying or not at the place where machine was installed or at the stair case, which led to third floor. Subsequently, he had seen blood lying at the third floor but had not seen any blood lying near fodder cutting machine. All the accused had made fires but cannot tell as to what was the distance between the injured and the accused when the fire was made. The accused had halted for about 5-7 minutes while the fire was being made and two empty cartridges were found. The empty cartridges were found near the machine but he had not seen them himself. The said empty cartridges were of the gun. When the Investigating Officer had come, Naseem had received gun shot injury on the upper portion of his chest while Khalil had received injury on his face and hand as well as on chest. Shakir had received fire arm injury on his forehead while Raiyyan had received injuries on the finger of his left hand. Khalil had received fire arm injury on his hand and chest as well as on his face. Khalil, Raiyyan and Shakir were got admitted in Muzaffar Nagar hospital from where Shakir and Raiyyan were discharged while Khalil was admitted. Khalil was referred after 5-7 days to some other hospital. He had remained in the hospital for about 5 days. Khalil, Raiyyan and Shakir, whether they were operated or not after having received arm injury, he does not know although all the three had been X-rayed but he does not know its outcome. He has further stated that Exhibit Ka-1 was written by him in the hospital at 3.30 p.m. on the date of incident.

29. This witness has further stated that Ilias S/o Yakoob R/o Makhiali was real brother-in-law (sala) of his deceased brother Naseem and further stated on his own that the wife of deceased, Naseem i.e. Shabnam started living with Rashid S/o Raiyyan after the death of Naseem meaning thereby that she had contracted marriage with him. He was also real nephew of deceased, Naseem.

30. He had not given information of this occurrence to any of his relatives. The occurrence had happened at about 2 p.m. but he did not make any mention of it to anyone nor did he divulge the names of the accused, although he went on to say that everyone had seen the occurrence and he had lodged the report as well by name.

31. He has further stated that indiscriminate firing was made by the accused, no fire arm injury was caused to any of the animals which were tied there in the 'gher'. The marks of bullets had been caused in the walls particularly in northern wall where 5 to 7 bullets had hit. Such marks were shown by him to the I.O. but he does not recollect whether empty bullets were lying there or not. He had saved his life by concealing himself in room at the second floor and had closed the doors. There was no lady in the said room as the ladies used to live in the rooms on the second floor. The doors of the rooms were not closed. On the second floor there were six rooms constructed out of which two were towards east and rest were towards south. The accused had only made fires upon him although he did not utter any word except that Naseem was abused by them. The neighbours had closed the doors of their houses and none of them had come to the spot at the time of occurrence and had reached only after the occurrence. Further he has stated that in respect of Sarfaraz having received injuries, he was told after he had lodged the report, by S.O. but he does not recollect the exact time when it was told. The case in respect of Sarfaraz having received injuries was also being contested in the same court in which his real brothers Khalil, Raiyyan and his nephew, Shakir had got themselves bailed out. He has no knowledge whether any medical board was constituted for medical examination of Sarfaraz nor does he has knowledge whether Sarfaraz had received any treatment at Meerut Medical College after having received fire arm injuries.

32. He has further stated that on the stair-case railing has been installed after raising wall of bricks and the said railing begins from the side where machine was installed. The stair-case was three feet wide. When the accused reached on the third floor, they were continuously firing while chasing Naseem (deceased). Accused ascended stair-case while making fires. Naseem did not receive any injury till he reached the third floor and whatever injuries were received by him were caused to him only when he reached the third floor. Some accused had stayed back near the machine but he cannot say whether they were making fires or not. In his memory, no empty cartridge was found on the third floor. How the Naseem was found lying i.e. whether with face down or face up etc., he cannot tell. Accused were continuously making fire upon Naseem so that no one could come near them. When the accused had left, his mother, brothers and various other persons had taken Naseem to the ground floor in injured condition where he was made to lie on a cot. Naseem was not speaking anything; his clothes were smeared with blood. When Naseem was lying on the cot, the remaining injured, Khalil, Raiyyan and Shakir were also brought there by the villagers after lifting them. All the three had jumped over the wall and were lying in the other house, the said house was to the north of the house in which machine was installed and between them, there was house of Jabbar. The house in which they were lying also belonged to them (informant side). In house of Jabbar, these injured were lying there, blood was also found spread there. He had shown blood lying on the third floor and also in the other house as well as on the clothes, to the I.O. but the clothes were not taken into possession by him (I.O.).

33. He has further stated that he had told I.O. that he had a heated argument with accused Sadiq followed by abusing and 'marpeet' but if the same has not been recorded, he could not tell its reason. He had also told I.O. that his brother after having returned from the field was taking off the fodder and was placing it on the machine but if the same was not recorded, he cannot tell its reason. He had also told I.O. that ladies of the house raised alarm and after hearing the sound of fires, lot of people had assembled there, whereafter the accused fled from there making fires but why the same was not recorded by the I.O. in his statement, he cannot tell its reason. He had also told I.O. that he had taken his injured brothers in a vehicle and had gone first to the police chauki in the village and from there one police personnel had accompanied them to the hospital but if the same has not been recorded, he cannot tell its reason. He cannot tell as to for how long, he stayed at P.S., Shahpur after reaching there but stated that he might have stayed there for about half an hour. He does not remember whether police had already arrived in the village before he reached there. When he returned home, he did not find any of the injured i.e. Khalil, Raiyyan and Shakir in the village and he does not remember as to whether any of these injured had returned to the village by the evening. When the dead body of his brother, Naseem came there at that time, Raiyyan and Shakir were present there. For the post-mortem of Naseem, he had gone. He was not present at the time when his panchayatnama was filled up nor did he see any Inspector or any police personnel filling up panchayatnama. He had reached the post-mortem house next day in the morning at about 8:00 a.m. and had found the dead body there but does not recollect whether any I.O. / police personnel was present there or not. He has denied not to have seen the occurrence and that he was making false statement due to the injured and deceased being his family members. He has also denied that after having consulted the police personnel, he had lodged the F.I.R. on the next day of the occurrence. He has also denied the suggestion that about ten days prior to this occurrence, quarrel had happened between the son of Shaukat i.e. Sarfaraz and his brother, Naseem (deceased) in respect of weighing of sugar-cane. He has also denied the suggestion that on 25.02.2010 at about 2:00 p.m., Sarfaraz (accused) had gone to take medicine from medical-store of Farukh and at that time, Naseem, Khalil, Raiyyan and Shakir (complainant side) were having lathi, katta and gun in their hands and by showing fear of these weapons, Sarfaraz was tried to be dragged by them in their house and that in the lane which was adjacent to their house, Sarfaraz was caused injuries by lathis by Khalil, Raiyyan and Naseem who were having guns, had caught hold of Sarfaraz and then Shakir told his companions that he should be shot and at this instigation, Shakir made fire upon Sarfaraz with an intention to kill by the katta which he was having in his hand. It is also wrong to say that as soon as Naseem was about to make fire, Sarfaraz snatched the gun from the hands of Naseem, whereafter all the said four persons (complainant side) chased Sarfaraz then Sarfaraz made fire from the said gun in order to defend himself which was snatched by him and somehow could save his life and returned home. He has denied the knowledge that Sarfaraz was medically examined in Meerut Medical College. It is also wrong to say that the real incident is the case which was lodged by Shaukat against the complainant side.

34. For appreciation of evidence of P.W.1 and other-witnesses, it will be essential to read and evaluate the same in the light of site-plan which is Exhibit Ka-19. In this site-plan, by arrow is shown the passage from where the accused came armed with guns. By 'A' is shown the place where the accused are stated to have made indiscriminate firing. By another arrow with zero at the tail end of it is shown the passage by which the injured are stated to have fled to defend themselves, by 'X' is shown the place where deceased received fire arm injury, which is the third floor of the house of the complainant side and he is shown to have received the said injury when he looked back upon the accused while running; by 'D' and 'E' are shown the places from where one empty cartridge of 12 bore and one empty cartridge of 315 bore were recovered. By 'B' is shown the place where plain-soil and by 'C' is shown the place from where blood stained soil was taken into possession. By 'F' is shown the ground floor of the house of complainant side and by 'B-1' is shown the second floor and above, of the complainant side.

35. This witness has proved the motive of the occurrence by stating that about 7 to 8 days ago prior to the occurrence that took place on 25.02.2010, the quarrel had happened between the deceased, Naseem and Khalil of the complainant side with accused Sadiq while playing volleyball in which both the sides had indulged in abusing each other and a little marpeet had also taken place but the matter was got compromised by the respectable persons of the village but at that time accused, Sadiq had given threat to deceased and his brother, Khalil that he would see them and in, pursuance to this motive, the occurrence was given effect to from the accused side on 25.02.2010 when P.W.1 and his brother after having come from their field were taking off fodder from the vehicle and were placing the same on fodder machine. Then, all of sudden, the accused named above came there armed with country made pistol and started abusing them exhorting 'maro salo ko' which was followed by indiscriminate firing made by them. In this assault, his brother, Naseem (deceased) and other brothers i.e. Khalil, Raiyyan and Shakir also received fire arm injuries while P.W.1 himself saved his life by concealing himself somehow. This witness has made clear in cross-examination that Naseem immediately ran towards the stair-case to save his life and rest of the three injured had jumped over the wall which was to the north of the said stair-case and had landed in the place where there was house of Jabbar after getting injured and it is apparent that this witness has proved his presence on the place of incident and according to him, by the side of the said stair-case, there was fodder cutting machine where the deceased and his brothers (injured persons) were involved in cutting of fodder when this occurrence took place and the deceased fled towards the third floor of the house and he was followed by the accused persons who was continuously making fire upon him and fire was also made by them from the stair-case and ultimately the deceased got seriously injured at place shown by 'X' in the site-plan which is third floor of the house of the complainant. This witness has denied the cross version of the accused that on the said date i.e. 25.02.2010 at about 2:30 p.m., Sarfaraz (accused) had gone to take medicines from the medical-store of Farukh where Naseem (deceased) and three injured (Khalil, Raiyyan and Shakir) who were armed with lathis, country made pistol and gun tried to drag Sarfaraz into their house which was located adjacent to the said lane where the said shop was located and it was in self-defence that Sarfaraz had made fire upon the deceased by the gun which was snatched by him from Naseem when he was about to make fire upon him and also denied that Khalil, Raiyyan and Shakir had made any fire upon Sarfaraz with an intention to kill.

36. During argument, the main emphasis was placed by the learned counsel for the appellants upon the fact that the occurrence did take place but not in the manner as has been stated by the prosecution rather it took place as stated by the defence side and in-fact the injury caused to the deceased were caused in self defence by the accused side and that cross case was registered against the complainant side in which they have been also held guilty under Section 307 I.P.C. We would give opinion in respect of the fact as to whether the version set-up by the defence is a cross-case or not after having evaluated the entire evidence as to whether if there were cross-cases, as to which side was aggressor or whether it was a free fight.

37. P.W.2 who is also an injured eye-witness of the occurrence i.e. Raiyyan has stated in examination-in-chief that about three years ago when he was playing volleyball in the field of kabristan, a quarrel took place at about 4:00 to 5:00 p.m. between Sadiq (A-2) on the one hand and Khalil (P.W.3) & Naseem (deceased) on the other which was got compromised by the villagers but despite that Sadiq had given threat to Naseem that he would see him and three days thereafter when he along with others were coming home after taking fodder and the same was being taken off of the 'buggie' near the fodder cutting machine, right then Sadiq, Arshad, Sahid, Sarfaraz, Farukh, Rashid and Mumtaj came there and told 'sale naseem' and, thereafter started making indiscriminate firing in which Raiyyan, Shakir and Khalil got injured. This occurrence took place at about 1:45 p.m. Sadiq was having gun while others were having pistols. All these accused were of his village who knew him from before and they were all recognized by him in the Court. Soon after receiving injury, P.W.2 fled to save his life after jumping over the wall while his brother, Naseem (deceased) ascended the stair-case but accused pursued him and made fires upon him from the stair case. His brother, Irfan was also fired upon. Naseem was left in dead condition by the accused and fled from there. On the spot, P.W.2, Khalil, Shakir, Vakeela, Jainub, Shabnab and one other relative, Ilias were present who have seen the occurrence. About two minute thereafter, Irfan came near P.W.2 and stated that Naseem was in serious condition and should be taken to the hospital so that his life could be saved. Thereafter, all of them took Naseem and on way one constable was found at police chauki, Harsauli, he (police personnel) also sat in the said vehicle and as soon as they reached the hospital, Naseem was declared dead while P.W.2 Khalil and Shakir were medically examined in district hospital in Muzaffar Nagar. Khalil was admitted because of serious condition and the F.I.R. of this case was lodged by his brother, Irfan.

38. In cross-examination, this witness has stated that it is right to say that the father of accused Sarfaraz i.e. Shaukat has lodged a case against P.W.2, Khalil, Naseem and Shakir under Sections 307, 504 and 506 I.P.C. at P.S., Shahpur but he cannot tell whether the said occurrence is of the same time and date which has been stated to be the date and time of the present occurrence but the police of Shahpur has filed charge-sheet in that case which is pending in this Court. The injured in that case is Sarfaraz.

39. Further this witness has given the same genealogy of Shamshuddin which has been narrated by P.W.1 and has also stated about the wife of Naseem having married the son of Raiyyan as was stated by P.W.1, hence the same is not being repeated.

40. As regards to the manner of occurrence, he has stated that the occurrence of firing had closed at 2:00 p.m. and soon after the occurrence, police had come there after 5 to 7 minutes. Irfan (P.W.1) had given full details of the said occurrence to S.O. Shahpur. He (P.W.2) was not in conscious condition when the police had come as he has suffered injury in his hand, thereafter, said that he was fully conscious. Lot of villagers had assembled there. When the police arrived, at that time, Naseem was lying at the third floor of his house in injured condition but, thereafter, stated that police had not arrived by then and had not gone to the third floor. He further stated that all the injured had gone in Maruti Car and had reached the government hospital by 2:30 p.m., at that time one constable of Shahpur was accompanying them. As regards the motive, he also referred to the earlier occurrence and stated that 3-4 days after the earlier occurrence in which quarrel had happened in the field of Kabristan, the present occurrence was given effect to by the accused. Prior to this occurrence and subsequent to the compromise between the parties, no other dispute had arisen between them nor any meeting took place between two sides in village. No written report was got lodged in respect of the quarrel which had happened during playing volleyball. This witness has also narrated about his mother being third wife of his father, therefore, the genealogical aspect mentioned in the statement of P.W.1 is not being repeated here.

41. As regards the location of medical-store where incident of cross-case is said to have taken place. This witness has stated that the medical-store which is near the house of deceased, Naseem belongs to Kale S/o Shaukat but he does not recollect the direction in which it is located from the house of Naseem. His house is located in the lane which is going adjacent to the said medical-store which is located in the house of Meherban.

42. Further he has stated that his relatives, Rashid, Shaukeen, Saiyad and Ilias had come to the place of incident soon after receiving news but he cannot tell the exact time of their arrival as he had come to Muzaffar Nagar. None of his relatives had gone to Muzaffar Nagar with him. They had gone to Muzaffar Nagar by his maruti car in which five men i.e. Irfan, P.W.2 himself, Khalil, deceased (Naseem), Intezar had gone which was driven by him (P.W.2).

43. The vehicle was parked at the same place where the incident of firing had started and soon after the occurrence i.e. within 15 to 50 minutes thereafter, they had started from the said place. One constable was also taken along from the check-post who was provided to accompany them by S.O. Pramod Kumar.

44. The dead body was not taken down from the roof. The dead body was brought down by him, Irfan and Khalil by lifting the same which was of Naseem. About two to three constables had come at about 3 ¼ p.m. but only one constable had accompanied them to the hospital. S.O. had taken full information from village, Harsauli about the occurrence, whom everything was told by him and Imran which was noted by him in his diary at about 3:15 p.m. At the time of medical examination, the S.O. was present in the hospital.

45. He does not remember as to in whose (S.O.) presence, the panchayatnama was filled up. He had accompanied the dead body of Naseem from the government hospital on the next day. Along with him was Irfan and his son Shakir also. Khalil was got admitted. He does not know as to whether S.S.P. had spoken anything to Sheher Kotwal regarding lodging of the report. He along with others had gone to the post mortem house in the night after crossing the bridge and there was no police personnel. He, Irfan and Shakir were present there.

46. He has further stated that all the 7 accused were armed who had made fires. Sadiq was having a gun but does not recollect whether it was single barrel or double barrel gun while rest of the accused were having small arms but cannot tell their bores. All the accused had come in their 'Gher' from the passage which went north-south. The gallery of the said 'Gher' is about 8 feet wide and after this gallery, there is some vacant space left for tying the animals, the area of the said place is around 300 yards. There is one stair-case to go up-stairs in the said house which is located in southern direction in the gallery. In this boundary, the stair-case is built for going to second floor and third floor of the house. In this very 'Gher', the fodder cutting machine is installed adjacent to the stair-case but between the said machine which is electricity operated and the gallery, this fodder machine is installed at a distance of 15 paces from the said stair-case by the side of gallery. The floor of the said 'Gher' is 'kutcha' while gallery is having 'kharanja' and just prior to the gallery towards road side is varandah which also has a 'kharanja' which means that it has bricks spread. The buggie on which they had brought the fodder was parked on the main road adjacent to the 'kharanja'. About 10 minutes had passed since they had brought the fodder in buggie when the occurrence happened and they were in process of taking off the fodder which was to be cut through fodder cutting machine. In that very 'gher' cattle were also tied on the other side. By the side of stair-case, there was a wall about 5 to 6 feet high. He had not seen accused entering into the 'gher' as he was busy in cutting of grass which was cut for about 5 minutes. All that accused had come at that very place where fodder machine was cutting the fodder. The accused had abused Naseem saying that 'Naseem bahar nikal'. Naseem did not respond and then firing began. All the accused had not surrounded them rather they were on the one side from where they had made fire. He told that at the time when fire was made, there was a distance of about 20 paces between them but he cannot tell as to for how many minutes the firing continued but it was indiscriminate firing being made continuously during which time many persons of 'moholla' had come but their names, he cannot reveal. At the place where fodder was being cut, nobody had got injured nor had he felt any blood spread over there although stampede had followed the firing. He does not recollect as to on which particular part of the body, injured had received injuries but Naseem had received injuries on the upper portion of the body while he, P.W.2 had jumped over the wall. There was one room at the third floor of the house which has doors on all sides. There was none in the said room at that time. He had not gone to the third floor but he had gone there only to call Irfan. At that time Naseem was lying dead over there. He and Irfan had brought Naseem down, who was having lot of fire arm injuries on his fore-head, chest and neck. Lot of blood was also lying there. Shakir had received injury on his fore-head while P.W.2 had received injury on his left hand and fingers on the rear portion and not on any other part of the body. No Pellet was extracted from the said injury. He further stated that he had received bullet injury which was taken out by doctor and his hand was bandaged but he does not know whether the said bullet was sealed by the doctor or not. Naseem had received many injuries of bullet. Although he did not have any injury of pallets on his body, rather had received many bullet injuries. Khalil and Shakir had not received any Pellet injuries but had received many bullet injuries. Khalil was also medically examined in front of him and the said bullets were taken out by the doctor during medical examination but he does not recollect whether they were sealed or not. He did not pay attention as to whether there were any blank cartridges lying. Khalil had become unconscious on the spot who was picked up and was taken in a vehicle. He does not recollect whether Khalil had received injuries in his chest. He does not know where the ladies of the house were present at that time. Whatever fodder was being cut, was lying there, he had told about the said fodder cutting machine to the I.O. but does not recollect whether he had shown that the same was operable by electricity. He had shown the said machine also to him. If all these facts have not been recorded by him, he cannot tell its reason. At that time, there were 5-7 cattle also tied there when firing was made. The fire was being made inside and outside of the house. By inside, he meant store where the firing had begun which belonged to Kale Khan in which direction the said store of Kale Khan was located from his house, he does not know nor does he know whether accused had come from the side of adda towards their house. The place from where they had started making fire, the commotion had started. When he came out after hearing the said commotion, the accused continued to make fires for about 4 to 5 minutes inside the 'gher'. They were coming from the side of store making fires, at that time the marks of fire were made in the house of Umar, which was located in front of the primary school as well as in his own house. He did not see any cattle receiving any injury although he had not seen marks of fires on the wall.

47. He does not recollect as to for how many days Khalil and Shakir remained hospitalized for how many days because he had absconded after the occurrence because Sarfaraz' father Shaukat had lodged a report to the effect that he was fired upon by P.W.2 and his companions. In the case in which Sarfaraz was stated to have received injuries, F.I.R was lodged at the police station in which he had got himself bailed out and the said case is still proceeding in the same court. The other case which was proceeding against him, in that, Afroz, Musharraf and Gaiyur are witnesses. The real brother of Gaiyur i.e. Mumtaj is an accused in this case. The name of real grand father of Sarfaraz is Allaudin @ Bhura who has sons namely Ali Mohammad, Fatehdeen, Zameer Hasan in complaint of the cross case of Shaukat whose son is accused Sarfaraz.

48. It is right to say that all the accused live separate and also do agricultural work separately. He had told I.O. that in the field of Kabristan, a quarrel had taken place while playing volleyball between Sadiq, Khalil and Naseem at about 4:00 p.m. which was got compromised, although dispite that Sadiq had given Naseem a threat to see and three days thereafter, this occurrence took place in the manner which has been stated above by him. He has denied that he had not seen the occurrence and was making false statement.

49. This witness has also proved the occurrence as stated by the prosecution that on 25.02.2010 at about 2:00 p.m. by all the seven accused named above who are stated by him to be armed with fire arm weapons. It is also proved by that the firing had started near the place where fodder machine was installed and at that time the work of cutting fodder was going on which was being done by deceased and as well as by the three injured named above have stated to have received injuries to jump over the wall situated to the north of the stair-case which led to the third floor of the house of the complainant side, where the deceased, Naseem had tried to flee to save himself but the accused had pursued him in that direction and had made several fires upon him from the stair case and finally, he received injuries by which he lay in badly injured condition on the third floor from where he was brought down by the P.W.1, P.W.2 and other companions for being taken to the hospital. Lot of argument was made in respect of there being no possibility of the deceased having received injury in the manner as it is being stated to have been received because according to the prosecution witnesses, the deceased was fleeing towards the third floor and he was being chased by the accused and continuous fires were being made upon him. But there is discrepancy in the statement of P.W.1 and P.W.2 with respect to the fire having been made at the deceased on third floor, because it has come in evidence of P.W.1 that fire was made from the stair-case and the accused had not gone up to the third floor while P.W.2 at one place had stated that the accused had chased the deceased and had made fire upon him at the third floor as well. With respect to blood being found at the place 'X' which is shown in the site-plan at the third floor, no evidence appears to have been gathered by the I.O. to have found blood there which has been shown to have been collected by him from place 'C' where he had found the blood smeared soil which is on the verandah from where blood smeared soil was collected by him. By citing this, it was argued that the place of occurrence was not proved by the prosecution and in no way, the injuries could have been caused to the deceased at the third floor from the place shown by the I.O. i.e. 'A' from where the indiscriminate firing is stated to be made upon the deceased as well as injured persons. We are of the view that the presence of P.W.2 cannot be disbelieved on account of the said discrepancy pointed out from the side of defense because in such kind of occurrence where large number of accused are involved in making fires upon the complainant side, it would be very difficult for the injured as well as other witnesses, who are present on the spot, to have witnessed as to who out of the accused was in particular making fire upon whom and the injury to the injured as well as to the deceased was caused by which accused. It is quite apparent from the statement of P.W.2 as well as P.W.1 both that when this occurrence happened, they tried to save their live by running from the place where they were cutting fodder which was on the ground floor in the 'gher' and three out of them who had received injuries saved themselves after crossing boundary to land up in the place of Jabbar while the deceased tried to save himself by going up stairs on the third floor but in badly injured condition in the said firing, he lost his life before he could reach the hospital, therefore, place of occurrence would be treated to have extended from the place where the fodder machine was installed and the incident started up to the place where dead body of the deceased, Naseem was found.

50. The third injured eye-witness is Khalil who has been examined as P.W.3 and in the examination-in-chief, he stated the same facts which have been mentioned by P.W.1 and P.W.2 and this witnesses in examination-in-chief has subsequently stated that accused had followed, Naseem through stair-case up to the third floor and there, Naseem was fired upon and that after the occurrence, the accused fled from there. During this occurrence, his brother, Irfan was in the house and had seen the accused and after fleeing from there, he had saved his life. He has clearly stated that in the firing made, he, Raiyyan and his nephew, Shakir had got injuries and all the three including himself had crossed over the boundary to save their life.

51. In cross-examination, this witness has admitted that on the date of incident, accused, Sarfaraz S/o Shaukat had received fire arm injuries regarding which his father, Shaukat had lodged F.I.R. against the deceased, Naseem, P.W.3 himself, his brother, Raiyyan and nephew Shakir in which charge-sheet was submitted and they had got themselves bailed out.

52. He has further stated in cross-examination that on the date of incident, Farukh medical store was located five to seven houses away from his house but he does not recollect whether on the date of incident the said medical store was open or closed. Farukh is not related to the accused. After the school, the first house next to the medical store is that of Farukh, exit of which is towards the house of P.W.3 and his entire family lives in that house. There was no enmity between complainant side and Farukh.

53. This witness has also reiterated in cross-examination the same facts as narrated by P.W.1 and P.W.2 with respect to a quarrel having taken place between the deceased, his brother and the accused, Sadiq while playing volleyball and has also corroborated the version that the compromise had been effected between the parties. In the said marpeet, some internal injuries were suffered by the complainant side but no medical examination was got done nor any report was lodged, therefore, this witness has also proved the motive of enmity between two sides because of earlier happening, although he has failed to narrate the exact time when the said incident happened. The statement with respect to genealogy of the complainant side is also the same as that of P.W.1. In respect of the occurrence, he has stated that he regained consciousness 2 to 3 days after the occurrence and for all this while he remained in district hospital Muzaffar Nagar although he was not operated by the doctors. An X-Ray was conducted 2-3 days after the occurrence but he had got one Pellet extracted on his own at his house. He has suffered injury on the right side of face, on right side of chest and on the right side of right shoulder and arm which were pretty grievous but cannot tell their sizes and about 6 to 7 days after the occurrence, he was referred to Meerut Medical College but no parcha was made there because he was told that he would get alright and he did not take any treatment there.

54. Further he stated that he had been picked up by his brother Irfan but does not know about others. He has crossed over the boundary and had jumped into the house of his brother, Iqbal to conceal himself. He does not know whether besides him, in the house, any person had jumped or not but all the injured had run in the same direction. He has further stated that all the brothers do agricultural work together and distribute equally the produce of it. On the date of incident who all had gone to the fields, he does not recollect but has stated that they had gone for cutting the sugar-cane at about 7 to 8:00 a.m. and had returned home about 10:00 p.m. in their 'gher' and were resting. All the brothers were living separate in their respective houses but they were all located in one 'gher' and it is the same 'gher' in which the incident happened, he cannot tell its area in bighas or yards. In the said 'gher' there are 13 residential rooms constructed: there is no room on the ground floor except one kotha in which articles were kept for running water. The said house is three storeyed. On the first floor there are 6 rooms which are constructed on the rear side of sehan. The main door of the two rooms opens towards kharanja while doors of the rest of 4 rooms are towards north. On the second floor also, there are 6 rooms exactly like that of the first floor but on the third floor there is a room, its one door opens towards kharanja and one towards the north. The said room at the third story is at the centre of the house. All the three brothers were residing in the said house which included Naseem, Saleem and P.W.3. All the three are married and their wives also live in that house. He lives along with family on the second floor but none lives on the first floor nor anyone lives on the third floor. On the third floor, there is no residential room and only guests etc. are accommodated. This witness has also stated that deceased, Naseem's wife Shabnam had married Rashid after his death.

55. This witness has further stated that 'Gher' is surrounded by boundary wall and to the north of it is located, gher of Jabbar and by the side of it towards north goes a stair-case up to the third storey which is about 1 ½ feed wide without any railing. There is wall of bricks by the help of which one can go up to the third floor. There is some kattcha place left in his 'gher' for the purpose of tying the cattle which is about 15 yard wide in length and is located towards north the house of Jaffar. In their house, there is only one fodder cutting machine but for running the same, there was no electricity motor but had only affixed on it a handle for cutting the fodder, which machine is lying towards north in the 'gher' near the stair-case. He had brought the fodder near the said fodder cutting machine which was about 50 kgs. and for cutting this fodder, all the brothers were not there rather only he, Raiyyan and Naseem were busy in cutting the fodder. About half of the fodder had been cut and at that time, his brother, Irfan was present there but was not cutting fodder, he does not do normally the agricultural work and does so only when it is felt necessary. At that time there were 5 to 7 cattle tied at the said place.

56. The main door of his house is towards the east i.e. towards the side of Kharanja and there a gallery in the said 'Gher' which is about 8 to 9 feet wide. As soon as he heard the abusive language in gallery, he left the work and came to the gallery where accused were present having openly wielding country made pistol and guns in their hands. At the time when for the first time, he saw them, there was no fire being made in the gallery and when they (P.W.3) and his brothers came in front of the said gallery, the accused started making fires upon them by their respective weapons indiscriminately and about 200-250 fires were made but he cannot tell exactly. The said fire was made for about 1 ½ minute. All the accused were having waist belt having cartridges. In front of the gallery, P.W.3, Naseem and Raiyyan were present. Shakir was working in the gallery somewhere else. They and the accused were sitting face to face. There must have been distance of about 25 to 30 feet between them. All of them (complainant side) had received injuries there only but had not fall down rather had fled from there towards north and saved their life after crossing the boundary. Within two to four minutes after this occurrence, his brother, Irfan reached there where he (P.W.3) was concealing himself behind the wall and at that time, he had not seen Irfan having received any injury, he had come along and had picked up and taken him to the 'gher'. At that time, Naseem was already placed in the car which was parked outside the Gher. At that very time, he was also placed in the said car and Irfan immediately proceeded. He regained consciousness next day after having been treated. At that time, Shakir S/o Shabbir, his Mamu was there but he did not tell anything about the occurrence or the injured or deceased persons. Irfan had met him next day in the evening in hospital but did not give him any information with regard to the fact that against him also, a case had been filed nor had he told him anything about the accused, Sarfaraz having received any injury.

57. After the occurrence, Irfan met him next day in the evening about 5:00 p.m.-6:00 p.m. and at that time P.W.3 was admitted in Government Hospital, Muzaffar Nagar. Prior to him meeting his brother, Irfan, P.W.3 was not operated or x-rayed in the district hospital Muzaffar Nagar. He remained hospitalized for 6 to 7 days and was x-rayed once or twice. His brother, Raiyyan had taken him from Muzaffar Nagar to Meerut for treatment but he does not know why he was taken to Meerut. He was having relief but he was taken for ensuring whether he had any pallets or bullet in his body but he was not got admitted there. He had received injuries on his hand and chest. In his t-shirt, the marks were there of bullet having crossed. He does not recollect whether the marks of bullets were there on the walls of the 'gher'. He does not recollect that cattle were tied in the side but stated that at the time of occurrence, the cattle were not tied there. Lot of blood of his brother, Naseem had spread there. Later on, he said that he does not recollect as to whose blood was lying there.

58. He has admitted that a cross-case of the present case was pending in this Court against him, his brother, nephew Raiyyan and Shakir in which cross examination was going on. Further he has stated that he does not know as to what allegations were made in the said case by Shaukat against him. He has denied that he was making false statement on the basis of concoction.

59. He had given statement to the I.O. that at that time he was inside the house and that they were cutting fodder for their cattle and that he, Raiyyan and Shakir had crossed over the boundary to save themselves. Further he had given statement to the I.O. that Naseem had fled towards third story of his house to save himself by the stair-case where the accused had caused him bullet injuries and that on the second and third floor, women of the house live and that he was admitted in District Hospital for his treatment but if the same facts were not recorded, he cannot tell its reason.

60. The statement of this witness is trust worthy and believable to the extent that he was also present at the time of occurrence although he has exaggerated a little bit by saying that he had become unconscious and regained consciousness only after two to three days after the occurrence. This kind of exaggeration is found often in the statements of injured witnesses to show the nature of seriousness of their injury but that can be over-looked. He is one of the witnesses who had received injuries in this occurrence and saved himself by crossing the wall with other co-injured. Although we do not find that it would be possible for him to have seen the deceased, Naseem being fired upon by the accused persons on the third floor as he had crossed over the boundary and he was brought back by P.W.1 and others for being treated subsequently but he is definitely a witness of the occurrence that the accused had come in the 'gher' of the complainant side in order to make deadly assault upon them and kill them and in this process, this witness had crossed over the boundary to save himself while the deceased, Naseem received fatal injuries who was found in badly injured condition on the place 'X' shown on the third floor of the complainant's house from where he was taken to hospital and was later on proclaimed dead.

61. PW 4, Constable Sahab Singh has stated in cross-examination that the original GD dated 25/02/2010 is in front of him, according to which, prior to the said case, on 25/02/2010 Naksha Najri was prepared by a Constable, Yash Vir Singh, who was posted with him and with whose signature and writing he was conversant. The said Naksha Najri was prepared in the presence of SHO Promod Panwar at 6:15 AM on 25/02/2010, and at serial number 6 of the said Naksha Naukari the Ravanagi of SI Bagesh Kumar Sharma is shown on 23/02/2010. Prior to the registration of present case, crime number 162 of 2010 under section 60 of Excise Act at 10:45 AM is entered. The posting of constable 639 Ram Mehar Singh is shown at PS Shahpur, Chauki Harsoli. He does not know whether at the said police Chauki Harsoli, GD is run or not.

62. The entry of the present case is made at report no. 33 and in the same GD the Ravanagi of SHO Promod Panwar along with force and panchayatnama and other papers is also made. On the original GD, signature is available of SO Promod Panwar. No entry has been made in the said GD of dispatching SR (special report). The name of the person who carried the said special report is not recorded in the said GD nor is there any entry made of the said person who had returned. All this was being stated by him after having perused the GD dated 25/02/2010. There is no mention made of return of police force and its members which was dispatched vide report number 33 dated 25/02/2010 in the said GD. After the Ravanagi of the SO from the police station his subordinate is made In- charge of police station. In the GD the name of the said Incharge subordinate officer has not been indicated.

63. As per GD dated 25/02/2010 entry in respect of the accused was made by him at 24.00 hours. It is right to say that on 25/02/2010, the GD was forwarded by Promod Panwar on 26/02/2010 and not by the officer in charge in his absence. On his own this witness has stated that the GD was forwarded on 26/02/2010 and at that time SHO Promod Panwar was not present on the police station. No entry has been made in GD of the return of constable 639, Ram Mehar Singh on 25/02/2010 after getting the injured Naseem, Khalil, Raiyyan and Shakir having been admitted for medical examination. The original chick report was sent to Circle Officer's office on 26/02/2010, but there was no documentary proof in front of him of the same.

64. He has further stated that at the time of registration of the case SHO Promod Panwar was not present on the police station. No order was passed by the SO to register the case. It is wrong to say that the chick report and other papers were prepared anti-timed pertaining to crime no. 163 of 2010.

65. After preparing the chick report of case under sections 25/27 of Arms Act, the case property was deposited in Malkhana. At the police station there is maintained Malkhana register, in which date of entry is always entered and description is made of the case therein. The case property is sent to sadar Malkhana after conclusion of the trial, however during the trial the same is kept at the police station.

66. The chick of crime no. 160 3A/2010, under sections 307, 504, 506 IPC vs Naseem and others was prepared by him on the basis of written report given by the informant, Shaukat and on that basis the case was registered on 10/3/2010 at 6:30 PM by him, the original chick report was available on the summoned file of the Sessions Trial No. 74 of 2011, State vs Khalil and others under sections 307, 504 and 506 IPC, PS Shahpur. The said chick report was prepared by him, the photocopy of which after comparing with the original was filed as Exhibit Kha - 1.

67. This witness is a formal witness who has simply stated that he had prepared the chick F.I.R. of the present case, nothing in the cross-examination has emerged which would persuade us to believe that the F.I.R. was anti-timed in this case. The lapses which he has admitted to be there with respect to several entries not being made regarding return of the person who had taken special report, would only be taken to be a procedural error committed by the investigating officer but that would not reduce the statement of this witness to be doubtful as regards lodging the F.I.R. at appropriate time as has been mentioned in the chick FIR.

68. SI Bogesh Kumar Sharma has stated as PW 5 that on 25/02/2010 he was posted at PS Shahpur and on that day he had registered a case crime no. 163/2010 under sections 147, 148, 149, 452, 307, 302 IPC and 7 Criminal Law Amendment Act on a written report of informant Irfan son of Shamshuddin resident of Harsoli. The panchayatnama of the deceased Naseem son of Shamshuddin was filled up at District hospital, Muzaffarnagar by him on 25/02/2010 at 17.10 to 18.50 hours. In the said panchayatnama, he had made Ishtafaq, Yaseen, Jamiluddin, Manzoor Hasan, Shubrati as panchas. In panchayatnama the description of the dead body was made including that of the clothes that he was wearing. In the estimation of the panchas, the cause of death was the injuries received on the body of the person of the deceased and because of that, opinion was expressed for conducting post-mortem report to identify the cause of death. The dead body was sealed and was handed over to constable Ramveer and constable Vijendra Singh for taking the same for post-mortem. This witness has proved panchayatnama of the deceased as Exhibit Ka - 8 which has been signed by him and his companions. He has also proved photo Nash, Exhibit Ka 8, Chitthi RI, Exhibit Ka 10, Chitthi CMO, Exhibit Ka 11, challan Nash, Exhibit Ka 12, fard in respect of taking plain floor and bloodstained pieces of floor and clothes which is Exhibit Ka 13, which was prepared at the instance of In-charge police station Shri Vinod Kumar. Fard was also prepared of taking into possession 1 empty cartridge of 12 bore and 1 empty cartridge of 315 bore pertaining to crime no. 163 of 2010, which was prepared at the instruction of In-charge PS Promod Panwar in his handwriting, which is Exhibit Ka-14.

69. In cross-examination this witness has stated that he had received information of this case through first information report. He has no knowledge whether the information of this case was got received at the police station prior to him coming to know about it. The case was registered at the PS in his absence. At the time when he received this information that the case had been registered, at that time he was posted at Chauki Harsoli. The said police Chauki was located in the same village where the occurrence took place at a distance of about 1 ½ Km. from the police station. The said village is connected with the road which goes to Shahpur Budhana. There were two routes to go to the said village. There was R.T. set at Harsoli police Chauki. No CD is maintained at the said Chauki because the said Chauki was not reporting Chauki. From police force which had come from PS Shahpur, he had come to know that some occurrence had happened in the village.

70. He has further stated that he had received information about the occurrence at 4:30 PM. The village in which occurrence took place was about 2 - 2 ½ km away from the main road, because of that he did not go straight to the place of incident, rather went to the village first, thereafter straightaway went to the Government hospital, Muzaffarnagar. He was with Promod Panwar, who was also present at the time of panchayatnama as the same was performed in his presence and under his instruction. He admitted this to be right that the signature of SHO is not available on any above challani document such as panchayatnama, Chitthi RI, Chitthi CMO, challan Nash and photo Nash etc.. There was a lot of crowd in the hospital which led to the problem of maintaining law and order, because of which the SHO became involved in maintaining peace.

71. He has denied to have given wrong statement with respect to presence of the SHO and that the SHO Promod Panwar was not present on the spot. The panchayatnama was prepared till 6.50 for about 1 hour and 40 minutes, during which the injuries sustained by the deceased were also noticed and mentioned and also the opinion of panchas was recorded. The panchayatnama was filled up in the hospital and at 6.50 p.m. on 25/02/2010 the dead body was handed over to the constables. From the District hospital, the Police Line, Muzaffarnagar was about 1 km away and the police at the most could have taken about half an hour in reaching there. The challan Nash was prepared by him, at the back of which there is entry made in respect of depositing of the papers vide report no. 57 time 23.40 hours on 25/02/2010, which bears the signature of the then RI.

72. At the time of filling up panchayatnama, he had chick report with him which he had read. In the said chick report the time of occurrence is mentioned as 2 PM on 25/02/2010 and no place is mentioned where the death took place of the deceased. It is right to say that on challan Nash, the time of death was recorded as 2.50 p.m. it is also right to say that the witnesses which were shown in panchayatnama were not mentioned as witnesses in the first information report and it was also right to say that he was not an investigating officer in this case. He on his own has stated that on the basis of information obtained by him, he had mentioned the time of death to be 2.50 p.m. He does not remember as to whether he had given statement to the IO that he did not have knowledge about the entry of time of death made in challan Nash. It is right to say that on paper no. 6/1, signature is there of RI bearing seal of District hospital, Muzaffarnagar, in which beneath p.m. number 166, Time 8.40 a.m. has been indicated along with date 26/02/2010. According to the available papers, such as Challan Nash post-mortem is endorsed to have been conducted on 26/02/2010 at 11 AM, after having obtained the papers at 10.50 a.m..

73. After filling up panchayatnama he and SHO Saheb along with force had gone to village Harsoli but at what time he reached there he does not recollect but it had become dark by then. The reports which are prepared by him i.e. Exhibit Ka - 13 and Exhibit Ka - 14, were prepared on the spot, but no mention is made therein of the source of light.

74. In the F.I.R. it is mentioned as to in whose house this occurrence had taken place, but in Exhibit Ka 13 and Exhibit Ka 14, it was not specifically indicated as to in whose house or at which particular place, the plain floor as well as bloodstained floor was taken into possession and similarly in Exhibit Ka - 14 also no such specific place was indicated, except that place of incident and the case crime no. was mentioned. The occurrence regarding which he has made description belongs to case crime no. 160 of 2010. This place of occurrence is located in the house of deceased Naseem and informant Irfan in village Harsoli at P.S. Shahpur. The witness was shown the site plan, to which he stated that the same was prepared by him, which was a copy prepared by him of the site plan prepared by SHO Saheb. The said site plan bore signature of Promod Panwar and the place of incident was inspected by I.O. Promod Panwar.

75. The house of the informant was three storeyed. The floor was broken of the house which was situated in gallery, where blood of the injured was lying.

76. The empty cartridge of 12 bore and empty cartridge of 315 bore were found lying near the staircase and whatever articles were taken in possession by the police, the fard was prepared with regard to that which was signed by SHO, this witness as well as witness Tahir and Shaukeen Hassan and their entry was made in the same night at the police station. The higher authorities of police had already left the place of incident before this witness reaching there. He has denied the suggestion of having done ante-dated and anti-timed proceedings and that he did not make any such recovery.

77. This witness is also a formal witness who had simply proved the challani documents such as panchayatnama, photo Nash, challan Nash, Chitthi RI, Chitthi CMO and fard recovery of cartridges etc. apart from panchayatnama, therefore his testimony does not appear to suffer from any infirmity nor any infirmity has been pointed out in his statement.

78. Dr. Pradeep Mittal has been examined as PW 6 who has stated in examination in chief that on 25/02/2010 he had examined the injured Khalil at 3:15 PM who was brought by constable 634, Ram Mehar Singh of PS Shahpur and had found following injuries on his person:

2 - 2 lacerated wounds 0.75 cm, x 0.25 cm, second one 0.3 cm x 0.3 cm depth not probed, 4 cm apart each other present on front of left shoulder, 2 cm above left clavicle, bleeding present from the wound, kept under observation, advised x-ray chest AP view.

3 - 2 lacerated wound 0.75 cm x 0.25 cm, second one 0.3 cm x 0.3 cm depth not probed, present on front of left upper arm, 10 cm above left elbow, 8 cm apart each other, bleeding present from wounds, kept under observation, x-ray advised left upper arm.

4 - lacerated wound 0.7 cm x 0.3 cm depth not probed, right side of chest 2.5 cm away right nipple at 3 o'clock position, depth not probed bleeding present from wound, kept under observation and x-ray advised of chest AP view.

79. All the injuries' duration was fresh and for finding out the nature of injuries, the patient was referred to surgeon. This witness has proved the injury report Exhibit Ka 15 of this injured.

80. On the same day on 25/02/2010 at 3. 25 PM he medically examined injured Shakir who was also brought by the same constable and found on his person following injuries:

1 - lacerated wound 0.7 cm x 0.3 cm, right side of head, 9 cm above right eye, depth not probed, bleeding present, kept under observation, x-ray advised of skull.

81. He has proved the injury memo of this injured as Exhibit Ka 16.

82. On the same day he examined medically the injured Raiyyan at 3.35 PM who was brought by the same constable and found following injuries on his person:

83. All the injuries' duration was found fresh and for knowing the nature of the injury the patient was referred to orthopedic surgeon. This witness has proved the medical report of this injured as Exhibit Ka 17.

84. In cross-examination this witness has stated that it was right to say that in the hospital, for medical examination, three registers were being maintained. Medico legal register, voluntary register, medico-legal police register and accidental case register. The injuries of the three injured would have been also noted in MLPC register. It is right to say that no serial number has been indicated in the District hospital's register of the injury memos Exhibit Ka 15 to Ka 17. It is also not indicated as to by which medical officer, they were forwarded for medical examination. It is also right to say that on all the three medical reports there was no crime no. Or case number indicated. On all the three medical reports it was not indicated as to what was general condition of these injured, however it is stated by him that if general condition happens to be poor, in such a situation the patient is admitted in the hospital for the purposes of treatment but in the present case it was not so. It is also right to say that the condition shown of all the three injured was almost similar but he cannot tell as to whether the pellets of 12 bore would disperse, if yes how much. It is also right to say that in all the injuries of these injured persons depth was not probed and there was no blackening present. He has not indicated as to by which weapon the said injuries could have been caused to the said injured persons. All the three injured were given reference lips and were also referred to the surgeon, but at no stage any one came to him to find out his opinion as to whether the said injuries were simple or grievous. He would not give any opinion in respect of injuries unless sought for. He has denied the suggestion that because of the police having told so, he had recorded the said injuries, although it was right to say that he had not given any treatment to the injured.

85. Dr. Radheshyam Verma has been examined as PW 7 who has stated that on 26/02/2010 at about 11 AM he had conducted post-mortem of the deceased Naseem son of Shamshuddin, whose dead body was brought by 2 constables and was identified by them namely Ravir Singh and Brijendra Singh Rathi. He found following ante-mortem injuries on the person of the deceased:

present on the neck. It is 6.0 cm below from the angle of the left side mandible.

6 - Wound of exit size 2.5 cm x 1.75 cm x chest cavity deep present on left side chest wall was rated as just below from the left and scapular border. Its margins are outwards and irregular.

86. It was noted in the margin that maximum pellets had injured tissues and had returned back from the same path like injury number 1, 2 and 3.

87. On internal examination after opening skull, the brain was found yellow and it was found lacerated also. The 5th, 6th, 8th and 9th ribs of the chest were found broken. The left lung was lacerated and in left-side pleural cavity, 1.5 litres of blood was found. Heart was lacerated. Cause of death was shock and haemorrhage as a result of fire arm weapon induced injuries. This witness has proved the post-mortem report Exhibit Ka - 18 and has opined that the deceased might have died on 25/02/2010 at about 2 PM by fire arm injuries.

88. It has been stated in cross-examination by this witness that by the said injury instant death was possible. He had not given any opinion in respect of injury no. 4. With regard to injury no. 1, 2 and 3 he had indicated that the pellets had entered and had returned by the same route and came out of the body. Injury no. 1 and 5 had blackening. He has stated that he could not tell as to whether the said blackening could have been caused by making fire from distance of 3 feet or less. It is right to say that trajectory of injury no. 5 to 6 was from above to downwards. He has denied that he did not take proper precautions in conducting the post-mortem.

89. From a perusal of the statement of this witness it is apparent that he had conducted the post-mortem of the deceased and has found the deceased to have died because of fire arm injuries, 2 out of which are found to have been caused from close range as blackening was found. It is also a case of the prosecution that the accused had opened fire upon the deceased as well as on injured by which deceased died and injured also received injuries and the time of the said injuries to have been caused to the deceased is also found to be the same which has been stated in the F.I.R. as the time of this occurrence. Therefore we find that the testimony of this witness is corroborating the eye-witnesses' account noted above. The argument was made on the side of the appellants that the trajectory of the injury number 5 and 6 was found from above to downward and hence it does not match the statement of the eye-witnesses. We are not inclined to accept this argument because when indiscriminate firing is made, it is difficult for the witnesses to notice as to how and from which angle the injuries were caused. Moreover in this case the occurrence has been admitted by the accused side, the only defence taken by the accused side is that the said injury to the deceased was caused in self-defence and the accused was also caused firearm injury for which cross case was registered against the complainant side.

90. Now we would deal with the statement of the Investigating Officer Pramod Panwar (P.W.8) who has stated in cross-examination that it was right to say that till registration of this case on 25/02/2010 at PS Shahpur at 4:30 PM he did not have any kind of information about happening of this occurrence. He has admitted that at Shahpur and Chauki Harsoli there was wireless set and in respect of serious occurrences information used to be exchanged. He does not remember as to whether at Chauki Harsoli, SI Baljor Singh was in charge or not although police remains there round-the-clock. The concerned In-charge had not given any information on CUG mobile of any serious occurrence. Further he stated that after registration of the case in GD at report no. 33 time 11.30 hours, his Ravanagi was done with SI Bagesh Kumar Sharma apart from other police team by Government jeep, however Ravanagi of SI Baljor Singh does not find place in GD. After his Ravanagi he did not stop at Chauki Harsoli to take any police personnel along nor did he find out anything about the occurrence. According to the informant Irfan, police was available at Chauki Harsoli. It is wrong that he had sent the injured for treatment to District hospital. If it is written in his statement that prior to registration of F.I.R. he was present in District hospital, the same is wrong. The informant had met him at the police station for the first time after lodging the F.I.R. but he does not remember whether the written report was given to him or to Head Morrier, by him, but there was no order of his for registration of the case. It was wrong to say that at the time when written report was given at the police station he was not present there and because of that reason only there was no order on the said written report of his to the effect that case be registered. In Naksha Nokari whatever police happens to be there at the police Chauki, the description of their presence and details are noted in the GD. It had come to his knowledge during investigation that the injured were medically examined on the basis of Majrubi Chitthi which was given by constable Ram Mehar Singh. And this witness was asked as to from where the Majrubi Chitthi was issued, he stated that the same was issued from the police station. After having seen Exhibit Ka 15 , Exhibit Ka 16, Exhibit Ka 17 of the three injured namely Shakir, Raiyyan and Khalil he stated that their medical examinations were conducted at District hospital between 3.15 p.m. to 3.35 PM and all the three medical reports were provided to him by constable Ram Mehar Singh. During investigation, after his Ravanagi and return from the District hospital, these three injury memos were provided to him by the said constable and at the same time entry was made of these documents in GD no. 37 at 4 PM at PS Kotwali Nagar. After registration of the first information report he had instructed SI Bagesh Sharma to prepare panchayatnama at his instruction. It was right to say that at none of the pages of the said panchayatnama, there was his signature and on his own he stated that he was busy in other work. In Exhibit Ka 8, panchayatnama there is direction available for taking along constable Raghuveer Singh of Chauki Harsoli and constable Brijendra Rathi and SI Baljor

Singh along with available force to reach village Harsoli. According to panchayatnama the proceedings were held between 5.00 p.m. to 6.50 p.m. at Sadar hospital, Muzaffarnagar and on challan lash, Exhibit Ka 12, vide report no. 57 time 23.40 hours on 25/02/2010 is endorsed as the time of dead body reaching police line Muzaffarnagar. From the District hospital, police line was situated about 2 kilometres away. He has denied the suggestion that on 25/02/2010 till 23.40 hours, the F.I.R. had not been written at the police station. It was right to say that proceedings of panchayatnama were in last leg, right then they had proceeded for the place of incident. He, on his own, stated that SI Bagesh Sharma had come to the place of incident after concluding the proceedings and till then this witness had not done any written work. Whatever written work was done was done only after coming of SI Bagesh Sharma. After reaching the place of accident, first of all he made inspection of the place of incident and SI Bagesh Sharma prepared the site plan which is Exhibit Ka 19. The bloodstained and ordinary floor which were taken in possession, were the places outside the gate of the house of informant in varandah shown by "C' and "B', apart from that there is no other place shown from where anything was lifted. From this place, from where blood smeared floor was taken into possession, no empty cartridge was recovered. In site plan, from places shown by "D' and "E", blank cartridges of 12 bore and 315 bore respectively were recovered. The said witness had stated under 161 Cr. P.C. about fire to have been made by seven accused and has also written the same in written report that all of them had made indiscriminate firing in his house but during investigation only 2 cartridges mentioned above were recovered. Irfan had not shown him any marks of pallets on the walls of their residential house nor were they shown by informant to him, otherwise he would have shown them in the site plan. He was also not shown the fodder cutting machine near the staircase or sacks full of fodder otherwise he would have indicated them. He does not remember whether to the west of the place shown by "C' there was any iron gate or not. It was told by informant that the accused had made firing from the place shown by "A'. By "X' is shown the place where deceased had received the shot. By "B1' is shown the room on the third storey. It is right to say that the places which are shown by other letters than "B' and "C', no blood was found. In the fard relating to recovery of empty cartridges, got prepared by him by Bagesh Sharma, the word place of incident is written and not specifically Makan Dalan and on his own he stated that in the first information report the place of incident has been indicated. In both the fard i.e. of collecting the empty cartridges as well as of taking blood smeared soil, no specific time has been disclosed because he did not consider it necessary but he denied that he had not prepared those fard on 25/02/2010. He has further stated that on 26/02/2010 at 6:30 AM he had deposited three bundles after returning to the police station along with the sample seal. It is right to say that the said articles were deposited in Malkhana of police station and the description of the said articles was made in the Malkhana register of the PS. It is also right to say that on the fard of blood smeared and ordinary soil no other witness had put his signatures. It is also stated by him that when the case property becomes in excess, then only the articles are deposited in Sadar Malkhana. He had arrested accused Sarfaraz and Sahid on 27/02/2010 at 1:20 PM and according to Exhibit Ka 7 the accused was got sent along with Majrubi Chitthi for medical examination to PHC Shahpur with the help of constable Aslam and constable Samarpal. During investigation he was sent to hospital in Shahpur, but no medical report was submitted of accused Sarfaraz at PHC Shahpur. He had not incorporated the said document in investigation under sections 302 IPC, rather the investigating officer of cases under sections 25 of Arms Act, S I Baljor Singh pertaining to crime no. 165 of 2010 was given a copy of the same, while the original of which was in ST No. 958/10, State vs Sarfaraz and the Doctor of PHC Shahpur had advised x-ray of the chest as well as right-hand of the injured Sarfaraz. On 27/02/2010, at the time of arrest of accused by him, the statement of Sarfaraz was recorded under sections 161 Cr. P.C. in which he had stated that on the date of incident, prior to the present incident Naseem, Khalil and his brothers had done Marpit in which he had got badly injured and also had stated that firing was done from both the sides and almost of the same type statement was also made by accused Sahid also, but in consonance with the U.P. Police Rules, no detailed investigation was done in respect of the statements by made by the accused. He has knowledge that the cross case of the present case relates to crime no. 163A/10, under sections 307/504/506 IPC, which was investigated by SI Bagesh Kumar Sharma and the case diary relating to that was perused by him and in the said case the said IO had submitted charge sheet against the informant of the present case and others. It is further stated by him that he had received the x-ray report of Raiyyan and Shakir which were entered in Parcha number 7 dated 11/03/2010 and in that it was mentioned that there was no bony injury found. The statements of witnesses named in F.I.R. namely, Ilyas Shabnam and Zubain could not be recorded on 25/02/2010 because of being busy in official work. He has denied that he had not recorded statement of these witnesses because by then F.I.R. had not been registered. It was right to say that during investigation he did not obtain supplementary medical report of the injured Raiyyan, Shakir and Khalil because there was no seriousness in the x-ray report. At the time when Irfan had lodged report, thereafter he had not apprised him that Sarfaraz had also received injuries.

91. The cause of occurrence has been shown to be quarrel which happened one week prior to the occurrence on account of playing volleyball, but in this regard he had not recorded the statement of independent witnesses, although in this regard the witnesses had made statements to him. The witness Irfan had not told him that he and his brother, after having returned from the field, were taking off fodder from the buggi to be placed on fodder machine nor had he given this statement that when women of the house raised alarm and sound of country made pistol were heard, due to fear people had assembled. This witness had also not stated to him that after putting his injured brother in the vehicle, first of all he came to the police Chauki of the village and from there he took along a police constable and then they went to the hospital. Witness Raiyyan had not stated to him that fodder machine was being run with hand, leaving which they fled and the fodder was left lying there. This witness had not told him that at the time of occurrence they were cutting fodder. This witness has further stated that he could not find any such evidence during investigation that injured Raiyyan Khalil and Shakir had remained admitted for the treatment. He has denied that he did not make independent investigation and entire investigation was done by him sitting at the police station and filed charge sheet.

92. This witness is a formal witness but his statement is of enormous importance as he has conducted the investigation in this case. There are few noteworthy points which need to be taken into consideration particularly the statement made by this witness that he did not find blood at any other place except at the places shown by "B' and "C' which meant that he did not find any blood at the place shown by "X' where the deceased was found lying in injured condition on the third storey of the house of the informant, which is a little intriguing for us because the above-mentioned eye-witnesses particularly PW 1 and PW 2 have clearly stated that the deceased had run to the third floor of his house to save his life who was pursued by the accused and was being fired upon continuously, therefore in such a situation there was likelihood of the blood being found on the said place shown by "X' at the third floor. But we find that this appears to be lacuna on the part of the investigating officer not to have collected blood from there, the benefit of which cannot be allowed to go to the accused. There are few other statements also made by this witness such as him not having found any mark of fire made on the walls of the gher, even though it is a prosecution case that there firing was made by the accused persons, it was argued that had there been made such kind of firing, certainly such kind of marks would have been found and also the cattle which were tied there would also have received injuries and therefore being found nothing of the sort there would create doubt in the mind of prudent person about the prosecution version being true. We are not much impressed by the said argument because it was not necessary that such marks would have been found on the walls because that would depend upon the intensity of the fire and also in evidence it has come that cattle were tied on one side, and it could be possible that on the said side fires may not have been made. This witness has also stated that the injured on the side of the complainant namely, Raiyyan Khalil and Shakir had not received serious injuries because of which he had not collected supplementary medical examination report of the injured persons, but that would not mean that the said injured had not received injuries in this occurrence. The Doctor has proved that these injured had received injuries and since lacerated wound is found, it could not be ruled out that they would have been caused by the fire arm. There appears to be lapse on the part of investigating officer in not making serious investigation as per his own admission and the case of accused Sarfaraz having been fired upon by Naseem, Khalil and his brothers on the pretext that it was not permissible under the U.P. Police Rules although he has admitted that he had full knowledge that there was a cross case being crime no. 163A/10 registered at the same PS which was being investigated by S I Bagesh Kumar Sharma, who had filed charge sheet against the complainant side in this case and the same was perused by this witness. It would be appropriate for this witness, who has investigated the present case to have investigated the said matter as well to reach the right conclusion as to who was the aggressor or whether both the sides were involved in free fight in which injuries were suffered on both the sides. Be that as it may, we have to form an opinion on the basis of evidence which has been placed before us. We find that whatever discrepancies have been noticed in the statement made by this witness in respect of the statements which were given before him by PW 1, 2 and 3 who are eye-witnesses, do not appear to relate to the material aspect of the case and such contradictions of the prosecution may be overlooked keeping in view the fact that in a matter of assault like the present one when large number of the accused were assaulting the deceased and the other injured by fire arms, it could be possible certainly omissions/commissions could be there which should be taken to be natural. Therefore the testimony of this witness is found to be in favour of the prosecution and does not appear to suffer from any serious lacuna.

93. S.I. Baljor Singh has been examined as P.W. 9 who has stated that on 27/02/2010 he was posted as SI at PS Shahpur and on that day he was assigned the investigation of case crime no. 165 of 2010 under sections 25/27 State vs Sarfaraz and also of crime no. 166/2010 under sections 25/27 vs Sahid. On 27/02/2010 he had copied chick F.I.R., GD and had taken statement of the constable clerk Sahab Singh, statement of accused Sarfaraz and Sahid in Parcha 1 and also took a statement of SI Anil Singh and constable 34 Jitendra Singh. On 3/3/2010 he took the statement of informant SHO Promod Panwar, constable 388 Samaryab and at the instance of S.I., Anek Singh made the spot inspection and prepared site plan. The original site plan was kept on the file of ST No. 958/2010 which is paper no. 8 in his handwriting and the same has been exhibited as Exhibit Ka 23 and a carbon copy of the same is placed on the file of ST no. 959/2010 which is paper no. 7 and which is marked Exhibit Ka 24. On 04/03/2010, he filed charge sheet no. 40/2010 in crime no. 165 of 2010 which is paper no. 3 and is marked Exhibit Ka 25. In crime no. 166 of 2010 pertaining to sections 25/27 of the Arms Act State vs Sahid, he filed charge sheet no. 41/2010 which is paper no. 3 and is marked Exhibit Ka 26. Against those accused persons he proceeded, sanction was obtained from the District Magistrate on 18/03/2010 by him which is paper no. 6 and the same is marked Exhibit Ka 27. Against accused Sahid prosecution sanction was obtained on 18/03/2010, which is paper no. 6 on the file and the same is marked Exhibit Ka 20. One SCD Parcha was also prepared by him on 24/03/2010.

94. In cross-examination this witness has stated that in both the cases mentioned above charge sheet was submitted by him on 04/03/2010 and in both the cases prosecution sanction was received by him on 18/03/2010. The medical examination of accused Sarfaraz was got done at PHC Shahpur through police. The reference slip of the said injured accused Sarfaraz in original was available on file, which along with his medical report were obtained by him during investigation and were annexed in case diary. A carbon copy of the said medical report was provided by him in the murder case to the investigating officer by him and not the original. The entry of these papers was made in GD of the police station. He was Sub Inspector under the SHO. In this matter the arrest was made by the SHO, recovery was also made by SHO. For prosecution sanction he himself had taken the weapons to the District Magistrate which was opened by him and was shown to the District Magistrate after making fire and both the bundles were opened and thereafter resealed by him with the seal of the District Magistrate. He had collected the weapons from the Malkhana of the police station. He has denied that he did not make investigation in accordance with law and simply because he was subordinate to the SHO he had completed investigation sitting at the police station and submitted charge sheet. He has further stated that he does not recollect whether at the time of taking the weapons from the police station, entry was made in the Malkhana register or not. He clarified that at the police station there is a Malkhana register but it does not bear number of the article deposited and the identification of the case property is made by crime number.

95. This witness is a formal witness of the cases against two accused named above, namely, Sarfaraz and Sahid from whom firearm weapons where recovered and this witness had made investigation in the cases against them under sections 25/27 of Arms Act and submitted charge-sheet after taking proper sanction from the District Magistrate.

96. From the side of defence doctor Radheshyam Verma has been examined as DW 1 who was posted at T B hospital, Muzaffarnagar. He has stated that on 26/02/2010 he was deployed on emergency duty. On the said date one patient by the name Sarfaraz Ali son of Shaukat Ali aged about 23 years resident of village Harsoli had come to him at about 9.25 AM and was medically examined in emergency and following injury was found on his person:

(i) Pellet induced injuries over right side chest and trauma over posterior chest wall.

97. Further this witness has stated that he had referred the patient to be admitted in Medical College, Meerut and for conducting medico-legal examination of the injuries. The original reference slip is in the file of ST No. 724/2011 State vs Khalil and others under sections 307/504/506 IPC PS Shahpur, photo copy of which is filed which is marked Exhibit Kha - 2.

98. This witness has been cross-examined and has stated that he did not conduct any medical examination of the said patient nor did he conduct an x-ray nor any x-ray was shown to him during his examination. He had simply referred the patient to medical college Meerut, although he denied that he had mentioned "bullet induced injuries' at the instance of the accused. By whom the same has been written, he does not know. He cannot tell as to whether in the clothes which the said patient was wearing there was any whole. In the reference slip he has not disclosed that any treatment was given to him. In the said reference slip the only reference of the name of Sarfaraz is made and not of any of his relatives. He denied that because of pressure upon him he had mentioned in the slip bullet induced injuries and also stated it to be wrong that Sarfaraz did not have any injury on head. He stated it to be right that he had not seen any other injury nor does he remember as to whether the patient had come himself for being referred or was brought by someone.

99. Hakikat has been examined as DW 2, who has stated in examination- in-chief that he knows Sarfaraz of his village who is son of Shaukat and he also knows Khalil, Nadeem, Raiyyan son of Shamshuddin and Shakir son of Raiyyan and Naseem who has died. The occurrence took place about 7 ¼ years ago on 25/02/2010 at about 2:30 PM. His house was in front of the medical store of Farukh which was located in the house of Mahadev. On the said day at about 2:30 PM Sarfaraz had come to take medicines, right then Naseem, Khalil, Raiyyan and Shakir came there with Lathis, country made pistol and gun at the said medical store and tried to drag Sarfaraz inside their house. He had seen that there was a lane by the side of the house of Naseem and others , where Sarfaraz was caused injuries by lathis by Khalil and Raiyyan. Khalil, Raiyyan and Naseem had caught hold of Sarfaraz, Naseem was armed at that time by a gun. All of them told Shakir "Mar sale ko goli" and at this instigation Shakir made fire upon Sarfaraz with an intention to kill and as soon as Naseem was disposed to make fire upon Sarfaraz, looking his life in danger, he snatched the said gun from the hand of Naseem somehow and started fleeing. Behind him these people also chased him with an intention to kill, then Sarfaraz in order to save his own life made fire from the said snatched gun and fled in injured condition from there. Subsequently he came to know that Naseem had died. This occurrence was seen by him and apart from him by Gaiyur, Musharraf, Ifroz and other Mohalla persons.

100. In cross-examination this witness has stated that he had not given the statement he made today in writing to any higher police officer and it was also stated by him to his counsel and to none else. He came to know yesterday only when police had lifted him. He could not tell as to in which direction is the opening of the house of accused as he does not know the directions. The distance of the house of accused from his own house would be about half km. but in which direction he could not tell. His house is situated in different Mohalla than the houses in which accused are located and in between, there are about 50 houses. Between his house and the house of Farukh there is one road. The store of the Farukh opens on the road, which restore was being run for about 5 to 6 years. It was told by the villagers that after the occurrence Sarfaraz had been referred to Meerut. After getting injured, where Sarfaraz had gone, he did not know. After getting injuries in head Sarfaraz had fallen in the lane outside. He kept lying there for about half second and thereafter got up and fled and thereafter stated that when he got up, then the fire was made at him, which hit his chest from a distance of about half feet, by which he fell down and none lifted him. After half second of getting hit he again got up and snatched the gun of Naseem but he cannot tell whether it (gun) had single barrel or double barrel. By the said gun no fire was made upon Sarfaraz. After snatching the said gun, Sarfaraz fled towards his house. He did not run after him, rather kept standing there only. After having run 15 - 16 paces Sarfaraz made fire upon accused to save his life, he made just one fire. He was looking all this from the place of occurrence. He does not know whether the fire made by Sarfaraz hit anyone or not. After making fire Sarfaraz ran towards his house along with the gun but he does not know what he did with the said gun. He does not know whether

Sarfaraz had gone to his home or not. He had seen him only up to the medical store and thereafter he had gone home. What happened thereafter of Sarfaraz he cannot tell as to where he had gone? He had not gone to his house next day or even thereafter because he did not know as to where he was. Sarfaraz was of his clan but he cannot tell as to what was his relation with him. Sarfaraz used to do farming. When the occurrence happened Farukh was not at the medical store. He had not seen him prior to or even after the occurrence but he further stated that it was not so that there was no medical store of Farukh. The name of father of Farukh was Islamu.. Farukh has medical store even today which is being run by Kala son of Shaukat. The said Kala is not related to Farukh. It is wrong to say that there was no medical store of Kala. Farukh had gone to jail after the occurrence but how many days after the occurrence, he does not know. Farukh was son of the brother of Sarfaraz. Naseem son of Shamshuddin was murdered on the same day, of which he was narrating the occurrence. The brother of Naseem namely Khalil had also received firearm injury or not, he cannot tell. He also could not tell whether Raiyyan and Shakeb had received fire arm injuries. It was right to say that Sadik, Sajid, Arshad, Rashid, Sarfaraz, Farukh and Mumtaj were in jail but why, he could not tell. About one hour after the occurrence police had arrived. He had not met them. After having seen the police he had closed himself in his house. About the occurrence he had told the villagers only. Prior to narrating it in the court he did not tell about it to the police. He does not know as to for how long police stayed there. He was at his home and thereafter did not see police personnel. He denied that he had not seen any such occurrence and the house which he was stating to be his, was not his house and that he was making false statement only because of being of the family of Sarfaraz.

101. The statement of this witness does not appear to be trustworthy and confidence inspiring because he has stated himself to be present on the place of incident when firing was being made from the side of the complainant upon Sarfaraz and the description that he has given that Sarfaraz had fallen after getting hit and thereafter again got up, and ran for certain distance and again he was shot at and thereafter fell down but again got up and this time he snatched the gun from the hands of Naseem when he was about to make fire upon him and thereafter he fled towards his house in injured condition and while he was being chased by the accused with an intention to kill him, Sarfaraz made fire upon the complainant side but he cannot tell as to who got hurt by that. Had he been there certainly he would have seen as to who had got the injury by the fire made by Sarfaraz. He appears to have made the said statement only with a view to defending the accused Sarfaraz by cooking up a story so as to enable him have right of private defence and in excise of the same to prove that he had made fire upon the complainant side which might have hit the deceased Naseem although he did not specifically said so.

102. S.I. Bagesh Kumar Sharma has been examined as D.W. 3 who has stated that on 10/03/2010 he was posted on the post of S I at P.S. Shahpur and on that day after registration of the case crime no. 163 of 2010 under sections 307, 504, 506 IPC against accused Naseem, Khalil, Raiyyan son of Shamshuddin and Shakir son of Raiyyan, residents of Harsoli, the investigation was assigned to him. On the said day he copied the chick F.I.R., GD and took statement of the F.I.R. writer and thereafter on 11/03/2010 he took the statement of the informant in Parcha no. 2 and also of witness Afroz son of Jabbar, resident of Harsoli, Musharraf son of farzullah and Gafoor son of his Ismail, residents of Harsoli and also received injury memos of injured Sarfaraz and inspected the place of occurrence and prepared the site plan which is paper no. 9 and is marked as Exhibit Kha - 3. On 15/03/2010 in Parcha no. 3 effort was made to arrest the accused who could not be found. In Parcha no. 6 dated 23/03/2010, the statement of Sarfaraz was recorded after permission from court as he was detained in prison. In CD 7 dated 04/04/2010 raid was made to arrest the accused but could not be found. In CD 8 dated 14/4/2010 again raid was made but accused could not be found hence report was submitted for obtaining NBW. In CD 9 dated 15/04/2010 the effort was made to arrest the accused persons by obtaining NBW but they could not be found. In CD 10 dated 21/04/2010 and CD 11 dated 11/05/2010 raid was conducted but accused could not be found. In CD 12 dated 23/05/2010 a report was submitted for issuing warrant under sections 82 and 83 of the Criminal Procedure Code. In CD 13 dated 26/05/2010, NBW was issued against the accused. In CD 14 dated 27/05/2014 raid was made for executing NBW but could not be executed. In CD 15 dated 28/05/2010, warrant under sections 82 Cr.P.C. were obtained for service but accused could not be found. In CD 16 dated 13/06/2010 raid was conducted but accused could not be found. In CD 18 dated 29/06/2010 a report was submitted for obtaining warrant under sections 83 Cr. P.C. In CD 19 dated 02/07/2010 warrant were obtained against accused under sections 83 Cr. P.C.. In CD 20 dated 18/07/2010, medical report of injured Sarfaraz were received. The accused were released on interim bail from High Court. Charge-sheet no. 118/2010 was submitted after having found sufficient evidence against accused Khalil, Raiyyan and Shakir, which is paper number 3 and is marked as Exhibit Kha - 4. The summoned file of ST no. 724 of 2011 State vs Khalil and Sarfaraz was in front of him, in which site plan and the said charge sheet were placed and these two documents were marked as Exhibit Kha - 3 and Kha - 4.

103. This witness in cross-examination has stated that he has not shown the medical store of Farukh in the site plan. He cannot tell the distance and the direction of medical store of Farukh from the place of incident. He does not know whether Farukh was an accused in cross case. He did not find out as to where Farukh was. He had inspected the place of incident at the instance of the informant. Informant is not an eye-witness of this case. He had not gone to the place of incident taking along any eye-witness. Sarfaraz is an accused in cross case, who had stated that he had snatched the gun and thereafter had made fire in defence. He did not enquire from Sarfaraz as to where the said gun was nor did he ask about it from any other witness. He did not enquire about it even from Farukh. He did not find out anything about the deceased and injured of the cross case. He cannot tell the distance of lane from the place of occurrence shown by "X' nor could he tell the width of the said lane. He did not find any such evidence on the place of incident which would reflect that the occurrence happened because he had gone to the place of incident many days after the occurrence. He had not gone to the house of Naseem on the date of incident.. He had not taken his statement or of any person of kolhu in respect the occurrence. He had not recorded statement of any eye-witness whose houses were near the place of incident. He had not gone to the hospital to record the statement of any employee in respect of the injuries caused. The clothes of Sarfaraz were not taken into possession nor did he make any queries about the same from him. He had gone to the house of the informant but did not make any endorsement regarding it. No damage was noticed in the house of informant. Sarfaraz had not stated to him that when he had gone to the store of Farukh he was present there. Rather he had given statement that Raiyyan, Khalil and Naseem had caught hold of him and Shakeel had made fire from the country made pistol which he was carrying in his hand. Shaukat had stated to him that he had gone to lodge report at PS Shahpur but the same was not lodged. He had also stated that Naseem told Shakir "mar sale ko goli'. This witness had not told that all the four accused had made fire upon his son Sarfaraz rather had told that Sarfaraz had made fire. He has denied to have submitted charge- sheet on the basis of false investigation.

104. From the statement of this witness it is apparent that he was very lax in conducting the investigation in respect of vital aspects of the matter. He has admitted not to have recorded the statements of independent witness who were living in the vicinity nor did he record any statement of any employee of the hospital with respect to the injuries having been caused to Sarfaraz. Shaukat, he stated, had not told him that all the four accused had made fire upon Sarfaraz rather had stated that it was Sarfaraz who made fire upon them. He also did not find out anything about the injuries caused to the deceased and the injured of the cross cases, which ought to have been done by him for fair investigation.

105. Dr. Mukund Pal Singh has been examined as DW 4, who has stated to have medically examined Sarfaraz on 26/02/2010 at 12.50 p.m., who was brought by Md. Hashim son of Suleman, resident of Sher Nagar, Nai Mandi District Muzaffarnagar, who was referred from Muzaffarnagar hospital to Meerut and found following injuries on his person:

3 - Contusion 10 cm × 2 cm on the right side of front of abdomen below right subcostral, red in colour.

4 - Contusion multiple in number on lower part of abdomen in an area of 8 cm × 6 cm, average size 3 cm into 2 cm, 5 cm below umblicus.

106. He has opined that injury no. 1, 3 and 4 could have been caused by blunt object while injury number 2 could have been caused by a firearm. X-ray was advised keeping the injury no. 1 and 2

under observation. The nature of the injury no. 3 and 4 were found to be simple and were received within one day. The patient was referred from District hospital Muzaffarnagar, regarding which police was informed. According to him, injury no. 2 was possible to have been caused on 25/02/2010 at 2.30 p.m. by fire arm and all these injuries were received within 24 hours of the medical examination. He has proved the said medical report which is marked as Exhibit Kha - 5. He had conducted medical examination at the reference slip of District hospital Muzaffarnagar.

107. In cross examination this witness has stated that the injured Sarfaraz was not admitted although he had come there at about 12.50 p.m.. He could not tell as to for how long they stayed in the hospital. He was brought in fully conscious condition. He did not find any abnormality in his general condition nor did he enquire from him as to where did he get those injuries. He also did not enquire anything about FIR being lodged in respect of the said occurrence in which he received these injuries however he had informed about it to the Medical College police on phone but he does not know whether police had arrived or not. He also does not recollect whether x-ray was conducted of the injured and whether the same was placed before him for preparing supplementary report or not. He does not recollect whether the injured had undergone any operation or not. The injury no. 2 was lacerated wound, but he could not tell as to from how much distance a fire would be required to be made for causing such kind of wound. He could not tell whether any pellet was taken out of injury no. 2 after operation. He further stated that when contusion is caused, its colour would be red and would remain so between 12 to 24 hours. Injury number 3 and 4 could have been received by him 5 to 10 minutes prior to conducting of the medical examination. Injury no. 1 was a lacerated wound and the blood clots within 6 hours. He could not tell the duration of injury no. 2. Injury no. 3 and 4 could have been manufactured. He has denied to have prepared the false medical exemption report in collusion with the accused. He could not tell about the nature of the injury no. 2. He could not tell whether the injury was dangerous to life or not. He could not tell the depth of the pellets. The pellets were not in front of him today. He had not stitched any injury of the injured.

108. This witness is a formal witness, who has stated to have medically examined the injured Sarfaraz upon being referred from District hospital Muzaffarnagar on a reference slip. He has clearly admitted that the said patient was not admitted and that he was not in a position to disclose the nature of the injuries as to whether they were dangerous to life or not because no x-ray report was presented before him for supplementary report to be prepared. He has gone to the extent of saying that injury no. 3 and 4 could have been manufactured. He has also noticed that the injured was not in a critical condition, rather was fully conscious. Therefore from his statement the said injured does not appear to have suffered any serious kind of injuries.

109. From the side of the learned counsel for the appellants it has been argued that in the present case one died while three are stated to have become injured on the side of prosecution in this occurrence and elaborated that the deceased was Naseem while the injured were Khalil (PW 3), Raiyyan and Shakir. While on the side of defence, accused Sarfaraz had received injuries caused from the side of prosecution, but no explanation was given thereof. The place of occurrence has also been changed. In fact the occurrence had started at the medicine store which was about 600 - 700 metres away from the house of the informant and the prosecution has shifted place of occurrence by showing it that accused side had assaulted the complainant side by fire arms inside the gher of the complainant side and further shifted the place of occurrence by stating that the accused had made fire upon the deceased Naseem from the staircase. There was no motive for giving effect to this occurrence, however attention was drawn to the last Para of page 48 of the paper book in which it was mentioned that the effort was made by the prosecution to create motive that few days prior to this occurrence a quarrel had taken place between brothers of PW 1 Irfan namely, Naseem and Khalil with the accused side, was not any serious kind of quarrel which would create motive to commit the present occurrence and that is why PW 1 failed to disclose the names even of those persons who were playing the volleyball on the said date. Much emphasis was laid on the right of self-defence because it was argued that accused Sarfaraz opened fire upon deceased Naseem as Naseem along with the other three namely, Khalil, Raiyyan and Shakir had assaulted Sarfaraz with Lathi Danda, country made pistol and gun at the medicine shop and when Naseem was about to make fire on Sarfaraz, he (Sarfaraz) had snatched gun from the hand of the Naseem and ran towards his house to save his life and had made fire upon the complainant side in defence. It was also emphasized that the injuries caused to the accused Sarfaraz were not explained by the prosecution side which clearly indicates concealment of origin of the occurrence. Attention has also been drawn to the fact that Majrubi Chitthi were given to the injured prior to lodging of the F.I.R. which shows that the F.I.R. was anti-timed. No x-ray was conducted of the injured although PW 6 had examined all the three injured. Hence it was evident that the injuries sustained by them could not be serious. Attention was drawn to the statement of PW 6, Dr. Pradeep Mittal who had stated that for knowing the nature of injuries he had referred the injured persons to the surgeon and attention was also drawn to page 139 and 140 of the paper book in which this witness has admitted that there was no reference of crime no. on the three injury reports. The medical examination of all the three injured was conducted between 3:15 PM to 3:35 PM while the F.I.R. was lodged at 4:30 PM. Attention was also drawn to the statement of PW 1 at page 43 and 44, wherein this witness has admitted that cross case of the present case under sections 307, 504, 506 IPC was going on in the court, complainant of which was Shaukat, father of the injured Sarfaraz, in which charge sheet was submitted against real brothers of PW 1 namely, Naseem (deceased) , Khalil, Raiyyan and Shakir. Attention was also drawn to the statement of PW 1 at page 67 in which he has stated that Sarfaraz had received the injury, was apprised to him by SO after he (PW 1) lodged report. This witness also had admitted that in the said case his brothers named above had got themselves bailed out. The attention was also drawn to page 72 of the paper book in which PW 1 has denied the suggestion that on 25/02/2010 at 2:30 PM Sarfaraz had gone to take medicine from the medical store of Farukh and at that time Naseem, Khalil, Raiyyan and Shakir having Lathi, country made pistol and gun, tried to drag Sarfaraz into their house and that in the lane by the side of the house of the complainant, Sarfaraz was caused injuries by Lathi by Khalil and Raiyyan and both the them along with Naseem, who was armed with gun, had caught hold of Sarfaraz and then Shakir had exhorted "mar sale ko goli' and at this Shakir made fire on Sarfaraz with an intention to kill him by country made pistol and when Naseem was about to make fire on him by the gun in his hand Sarfaraz snatched the same from his hand and thereafter all the four above named complainant side chased him, then Sarfaraz opened fire upon them in order to defend himself and somehow returned home to save his life. The attention was also drawn to the statement of PW 2 Raiyyan at page 75 of the paper book in which he admitted that the case under sections 307, 504 and 506 IPC was got registered by father of Sarfaraz against the complainant side. The attention was also drawn to the statement of PW 3 Khalil at page 99 of the paper book in which this witness has also admitted the case having been registered against the complainant side by Shaukat. It was argued that the place and time of incident of both the occurrences are one and the same. On behalf of the accused Arshad it was also argued that improvement has been made in respect of place of occurrence by the prosecution side, which shows that the occurrence happened in some other manner than in the manner as has been stated in the F.I.R. No role was assigned to him hence he cannot be treated to be a member of unlawful assembly. He had no motive of committing offence, hence his conviction with the aid of sections 149 IPC was bad in law. Nothing was recovered from his possession. It was also argued on behalf of the appellants that no blood was found on the staircase nor any pellets were found there , which would indicate that the occurrence did not take place there. The incident took place at the medicine shop of Farukh where Sarfaraz had already received firearm injury and then he had snatched the gun and when he fled to save his life, the complainant side had chased him. On 27 /02/2010 recovery of paunia , a small gun has been shown from him . In order to conceal the genesis of the incident, the injuries caused to the accused Sarfaraz have been concealed. No blood was found on the third floor/storey of the house which also shows that no incident took place there. In fact the occurrence took place in the manner as was mentioned in Exhibit Kha - 1 and not as mentioned in Exhibit Ka – 1.

110. From the side of prosecution it was vehemently argued that the cross case has been concocted by the father of the accused i.e. Shaukat . It is very unnatural that the injured Sarfaraz was taken to Sasural of Shaukat in Sher Nagar and thereafter he was shown in District hospital Muzaffarnagar , from where he was referred to Meerut for medical examination. No defence was taken in the statement under sections 313 Cr. P.C. that the accused Sarfaraz had made fire in defence. It clearly proved beyond reasonable doubt by the prosecution side that it were the accused who had come prepared with common object of the unlawful assembly formed by them to make assault upon the deceased and the other injured persons in order to kill them and with that object in mind they had opened fire upon them by which deceased had died and three other injured had received injuries. The appeal therefore deserves to be dismissed.

111. After having heard the arguments of both the sides and having perused the entire evidence on record we find that according to prosecution version, about 7-8 days prior to the present occurrence, a dispute had occurred between informant's brothers i.e. Naseem (deceased) and Khalil (PW-3) on the one hand and accused Sadiq on the other, while they were playing volleyball, which was settled between them by intervention of some villagers but accused Sadiq had given a threat to them to see. In pursuance of the said threat on 25.2.2010 at about 2:00 pm, accused Sadiq, his brother Sahid and other family members namely Arshad, Rashid, Sarfaraz, Farukh and Mumtaj came at the house of informant armed with country made pistols and guns and Sadiq abused Naseem "Sale Naseem Tujhe Dekhna hai" and then all of them entered the house of informant and started making fire with an intention to kill, in which PW-1's brother Naseem, Khalil, Raiyyan and his nephew Shakir received fire arm injuries. The informant fled from there in order to save his life, while the accused taking the brothers of the deceased and his nephew dead, had also fled from there. The informant had taken the injured persons to the Muzaffar Nagar District Hospital, where his brother Naseem was declared dead, while Khalil was fighting for his life.

112. On the other hand, the version of the defence is that ten days ago prior to the present occurrence, the son of Shaukat namely, accused Sarfaraz had a quarrel with Naseem (deceased) S/o Shamshuddin in respect of weighing of buggi of sugarcane at Kolhu and the same was got settled by few persons present there. At that time Naseem had given threat to Sarfaraz that he would see him but ignoring that threat, his son Sarfaraz had gone on 25.2.2010, at about 2:30 pm, at the medical store of Farukh to bring medicine for his father Shaukat, right then, Naseem (deceased), Khalil (injured), Raiyyan (injured) S/o Shamshuddin and Shakir (injured) S/o Raiyyan, came there at the said medical store armed with Lathi, country made pistols and guns in their hands and forcibly tried to drag Sarfaraz to their house and Sarfaraz was assaulted by Khalil and Raiyyan by Lathi in the lane adjacent to their house and Raiyyan, Khalil and Naseem, who were having guns, had caught hold of Sarfaraz and then Shakir had told "Mar Sale Ko Goli", at this exhortation, Shakir made fire upon Sarfaraz by country made pistol in his hand with an intention to kill and as soon as Naseem was about to make fire upon Sarfaraz, Sarfaraz sensing that he might be killed, snatched gun from the hand of the Naseem and thereafter all the four above persons had chased Sarfaraz, who in order to save his life, made fire and somehow saved his life and came home. It is further the case of the defence that the family of complainant side was big and they all reached the house of accused due to which the accused had closed his door and windows and in the night after concealing themselves, had gone to Shernagar (Sasural of Shaukat) and from there accused- Sarfaraz was taken to Muzaffarnagar District hospital but from there he was referred to Meerut for medical examination because of serious injuries. Shaukat had given an application dated 2.3.2010 addressing to

D.I.G., Saharanpur, whereon after the order having been passed, a cross-case was registered as Crime No. 163A of 2010, under Sections 307, 504 and 506 IPC against complainant side, which included Naseem (deceased), Khalil, Raiyyan and Shakir on 10.3.2010 at 18:30 pm.

113. It could be most pertinent to mention here that from the side of accused, F.I.R. has been lodged against the complainant side showing the occurrence to have taken place on 25.2.2010 at 2:30 pm in which deceased Naseem along with other injured namely Khalil, Raiyyan and Shakir have been made accused, while from the side of prosecution, the occurrence is shown to have taken place on 25.2.2010 at 2:00 pm, which raises a question as to how incident could have been done by Naseem (deceased) at 2:30 pm when he is stated to have died, by prosecution side, in occurrence, which took place at 2:00 pm, this question does not appear to have been dealt with by the trial court on the basis of evidence adduced from both the sides. It is also apparent from the judgment of the trial court that it has taken the occurrence of Crime No. 163A of 2010 to be not a cross case of the occurrence of Crime No. 163 of 2010 and has treated them to be two separate incidents having been committed at two different point of time and has awarded punishment to both the sides.

114. In order to prove the prosecution case, which has been mentioned above, the informant Irfan (PW-1) has supported the said version in examination-in-chief by saying that on the date of occurrence i.e. 2.5.2010, he along with his brother was taking off fodder from the buggi after having returned from the field to be placed on the fodder machine to be cut, right then at about 2:00 pm, all of a sudden accused Sadiq armed with country made pistol and accused Sahid, Arshad, Rashid, Sarfaraz, Mumtaj and Farooq armed with country made pistols entered his house saying "Maro salon ko" and at this, they all opened fire from the respective weapons in their hands, in which his brother Naseem, he himself, Khalil, Raiyyan and his nephew Shakir had received fire arm injuries. He saved his life by concealing himself. The women of the house had raised alarm and also after hearing the sounds of fires, people had assembled there but the accused fled from there, giving him threats and, thereafter, he with the help of other family members had taken his injured brother to hospital taking along with him a constable from the police Chauki of the village but doctor pronounced Naseem dead, while other injured brothers were got admitted for treatment. The F.I.R. has been promptly lodged because occurrence took place at 2:00 pm while on the same day the F.I.R. has been lodged at 2:30 pm, though the distance of the village Harsauli, where the occurrence took place from the P.S. was 7 kms. This witness has been cross-examined at length. He has stated in cross-examination that by 3:15 pm, he had reached Government Hospital Muzaffar Nagar and soon, thereafter, the doctor declared Naseem dead. The accused had started the occurrence soon after coming there. One accused, started abusing seeing him Naseem ran towards the staircase. All were armed with country made pistols except Sadiq, who was armed with gun. Soon after coming there, accused started firing upon them, about 14-15 fires were made. As soon as fire started, the complainant side fled from there. The place where fodder was being cut, Naseem, Khalil, Raiyyan and Shakir had received injuries and they, thereafter, fled from there. Raiyyan, Khalil and Shakir had jumped towards the northern wall to save their life, while Naseem fled towards the third floor of his house, who was chased by the accused. He had received fire arm injury when he had turned around to see the accused. The I.O. has shown the place where Naseem was lying in injured condition by "X' on the third floor of the complainant's house in site plan, which is Ext. Ka.-19.

115. It is apparent from the statement of this witness that initially the firing took place near the fodder machine, where deceased Naseem along with his other brothers was busy in cutting the fodder and when the assault was made by the accused side, three of injured, who are named above, crossed over the northern boundary to save their life, while the deceased Naseem ascended the third floor of the house but he was pursued by the accused and fire was made upon him even from the staircase and ultimately he lay in deeply injured condition at place "X' from where he was taken down after the accused had fled from there. Similarly PW-2, Raiyyan, who is also an injured witness, has supported the version of prosecution stated above, whose statement has been mentioned above in detail. The third injured namely, Khalil, has also supported the prosecution version as narrated above.

116. All these three injured witnesses have been cross-examined at length except Irfan but nothing such has been elicited in cross-examination, which would make their presence doubtful on the place of occurrence particularly because of them being injured witnesses. The injuries received by them have been proved by PW-6, Dr. Pradeep Mittal, who found injured Khalil to have suffered five injuries, all were lacerated wounds, although he has stated that to know the nature of said injuries, he had referred the patient to surgeon. The injuries caused to Khalil were suffered on face, left shoulder, left hand, left chest and right thigh. Similarly, the other injured Shakir had received one lacerated wound on his head. The third injured Raiyyan had received two lacerated wounds, one on little finger and the other on left hand. These injured were also referred to surgeon for knowing the nature of injuries. It is true that these three injured were examined by Dr. between 3:15 pm to 3:35 pm, although F.I.R. was lodged at 4:30 pm, which establishes that injuries were examined by the Dr. before lodging the F.I.R. It can be well understood that if somebody has assaulted by fire arm weapons, the primary aim of all the injured and his family members would be to get themselves medically examined first rather than rush to the police station to lodge F.I.R., therefore, we find that nothing adverse should be inferred in the present case merely because the injuries were got examined by Doctor prior to lodging the F.I.R. simply on that count it cannot be said that the F.I.R. was ante-timed and no benefit should be allowed to go to the accused because of this reason.

117. As regards, the deceased Naseem, his post mortem was conducted by R.S. Verma (PW-7) on 26.2.2010 at 11:00 am and had found six ante mortem wounds on his person. Injury no. 1 was on his forehead, injury no. 2 was on his face, injury no. 3 was on his neck, injury no. 4 was on his clavicle and injury no. 5 was on his chest, while injury no. 6 was also on chest. All these injuries were fire arm injuries, which according to the doctor were possible to have been caused on 25.2.2010 at 2:00 pm by which the deceased would have died. Therefore, it is well established by the testimonies of PW-6 and PW-7 that all the injuries sustained by the three injured named above as well as one deceased were fire arm injuries and the assailants/accused were also established by the prosecution side to have been armed with country made pistol and gun by which they are stated to have fired upon them, therefore, the ocular testimony is corroborated by the medical examination reports in the present case.

118. As regards the motive of giving effect to this occurrence, it is mentioned by all the three witnesses of fact i.e. PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3 that about 7-8 days prior to this occurrence, a dispute had arisen between the deceased Naseem and Khalil on the one hand and accused Sadiq on the other while playing volleyball, which was resolved by the villagers at that time but the accused Sadiq had given threat to the deceased that he would see him and it was in pursuance to this threat that the present occurrence was given effect to. The said animosity which has been proved by all the three witnesses is found to be sufficient by us for giving effect to the present occurrence by the accused.

119. As regards the place of occurrence, regarding which it was argued by the learned counsel for the appellants that it has been shifted because according to the defence, the occurrence had started at the shop of medicine belonging to Farukh, which was adjacent to the lane, where accused Sarfaraz had gone to purchase medicine for his father and it was there that the three injured mentioned above as well as deceased had gone there, who all had tried to drag the accused Sarfaraz towards their house and in the process one fire was also made by one of the injured witnesses, while two others including the said injured witness had caught hold of Sarfaraz and Shakir had made fire upon Sarfaraz with an intention to kill him and, thereafter, when Naseem (deceased) tried to also make fire upon him, his gun was snatched by Sarfaraz in order to save himself and fled towards his house and while he was being chased, he made fire upon the complainant side. It is further argued by the learned counsel for the appellants that the accused are stated to have entered the 'Gher' of the complainant side where they are stated to have made fire upon the deceased and the injured persons indiscriminately but neither any marks of bullets were found on the walls of the 'Gher' nor any cattle, which are stated to be tied there, received any injuries, which shows that the said occurrence did not happen, rather the occurrence happened in some other manner. It was also argued that place of occurrence is shifted by showing the incident to have happened inside the 'Gher' near the fodder cutting machine and, thereafter, when the injured fled from there in order to save their life crossing the wall, the accused chased the deceased Naseem, who headed towards the third floor of his house and he was stated to have been fired upon from the staircase. In this regard there were inconsistent statements of PW-1 to PW-3 as some of them have stated that the accused had followed the deceased right up to third floor and shot him there, while others have stated that the fire was made upon the deceased only from the staircase, such kind of discrepancies would make case of prosecution doubtful. We are not inclined to accept this argument of learned counsel for the appellants because in a situation like the one in the present case in which as many as seven accused are stated to have made indiscriminate firing in prosecution of common object of the unlawful assembly formed by them in order to eliminate the deceased and kill other injured persons, it would be difficult for the witnesses, even if they are injured witnesses, who have seen the occurrence, to divulge distinctly as to which of accused had made fire and from where. It has come in evidence beyond any doubt that all the seven accused, who have been named in the F.I.R., had entered in the 'Gher' of the complainant side in order to eliminate the deceased and caused injuries to the injured persons in prosecution of common object of unlawful assembly formed by them.

120. In this regard, it would be pertinent to mention here that the place of occurrence would extend from the place, where initially firing was made near the fodder cutting machine and, thereafter, right up to the place where deceased Naseem was found lying in injured condition at place shown by "X' at the third floor, therefore, from the evidence on record, we do not find that there was such kind of shifting of place of incident, which would make the prosecution case to be doubtful.

121. Now we would dealt with aspect of the defence case which has been stated above.

122. From the side of defence, four witnesses have been examined to prove their defence. From among the eye-witnesses, Hakikat has been examined as DW-1, whose testimony has already been mentioned above by us and we find that he has tried to prove the defence version in examination-in-chief that he was witness of the occurrence of 25.2.2010 at 2:30 pm, which happened at the medical store of Farrukh, where he was present when accused Sarfaraz had come to take medicine for his father and it was then that Naseem (deceased) Khalil, Raiyyan and Shakir had come there armed with Lathi, country made pistol and gun and had tried to drag Sarfaraz into their house and Shakir was beaten by them in the lane adjacent to the house of the complainant, who was caught hold up by Khalil, Raiyyan and Naseem. Shakir had exhorted that 'Mar Sale Ko Goli', at which Shakir had fired upon Sarfaraz by his country made pistol and as soon as Naseem was about to make fire, Sarfaraz sensing threat to his life, had snatched the gun from his hand and fled towards house in order to save himself, they were pursued by the complainant side and in order to save his life, Sarfaraj made fire upon the complainant side by the said snatched gun. Later on he came to know that Naseem had died. The said occurrence was seen by Gayoor, Musarraf, Imroz and none of these witnesses have been examined in defence from the side of accused. In cross-examination, made by the complainant side, the testimony of this witness was found to be not confidence inspiring because he had admitted that he failed to know as to where Sarfaraz had gone after having got injured. The narration made by him of the said injured-accused because having fallen and again getting up and then again getting hit by bullet and then again getting up and finally making fire upon the complainant side in order to save himself, does not sound natural. He has further stated that he continued to stay there and witnessed this incident and could not tell as to whom shot hit, which was made by Sarfaraz. Had he been present on the spot. He certainly would have seen the person, who was hit by the shot made by Sarfaraj, therefore the testimony of this witness is not trustworthy and it appears that because of being close to the accused side, he had made false statement.

123. As regards, DW-2, who is Dr. R.S. Verma, it may be mentioned that he had simply referred the accused Sarfaraz on 26.2.2010 at 9:25 pm, when he was brought in emergency in District Hospital, Muzaffarnagar to the medical college Meerut, and he failed to give explanation as to who had recorded the injury in respect of the said patient, which mentioned Pellet induced injuries over right side chest and trauma over posterior chest wall. He has simply proved Ext. Kha-2, which is reference slip. He has also admitted in cross-examination that no X-ray was shown to him at the time of medical inspection made of the said patient. From the statement of this witness, we do not find that he found the accused to be in serious condition.

124. DW-3, S.I. Bagesh Kumar Sharma, he had conducted the investigation of the alleged cross-case, in which he submitted charge sheet. He in cross-examination, has stated that Shaukat had not told him that Naseem told Shakir 'Mar Sale Ko Goli'. This witness had also not stated to him that all the four accused (complainant side) made fire upon Sarfaraz, rather it was told by him that Sarfaraz had made fire.

125. This witness has stated that he did not record the statement of any persons/eye-witnesses living in vicinity in respect of correctness of the present occurrence, which happened with Sarfaraz. He has also stated that the informant of the cross-case was not eye-witness and he has not taken any eye-witness to the place of incident for making site plan. It appears from the statement of this witness that he did not make serious effort to come to the truth of the occurrence nor does it appear that he evaluated this fact as to how it was possible that according to prosecution side, the occurrence took place at 2:00 pm in which Naseem had died, while the same deceased had been made accused along with three other injured persons in a cross-case in respect of the occurrence, which is stated to have occurred at 2:30 pm on the same day as a dead person could not be believed to have participated in the said occurrence, which falsifies the whole defence version.

126. Dr. Mukund Pal Singh has been examined as DW-4, who has proved four injuries on the person of accused Sarfaraz. Injury no. 1 is incised lacerated wound on the left side of the head, injury no. 2 is incised lacerated wound on left side of chest and injury no. 3 is contusion on abdomen in right side and injury no. 4 is contusion on abdomen covering large area and has proved his injury memo, which is Ext. Kha-5. In cross-examination, this witness has clearly stated that the said injured-accused was not admitted in hospital. He was fully in conscious condition, no abnormality was found in his general condition. From his statement, it can fairly be gathered that the said injured was not having any serious kind of injuries and this witness has gone to the extent to state that injury no. 3 and injury no. 4 could have been manufactured.

127. On the basis of defence witnesses, we are of the view that the defence version does not appear to be trustworthy and the same needs to be discarded, while the prosecution has been able to prove its case to the hilt on the basis of sound proof of evidence which has been discussed above and, therefore, these appeals deserve to be dismissed with respect to all the accused having been held guilty by the trial court in crime no. 163 of 2010, under Section 148, 307 read with 149, 302 read with 149, 452 IPC and 7 Criminal Law Amendment Act, and is accordingly, dismissed.

128. Since all the accused were armed with deadly weapons, the offence under Section 147 does not stand proved because none of the accused was armed with ordinary weapons. Therefore, the accused mentioned-above stand acquitted of offence under section 147 IPC.

129. We further are of the view that on the basis of evidence of PW-4, Constable Sahab Singh, and PW-5, S.I. Bogesh Kumar Sharma, PW-8 S.I. Pramod Kumar and P.W. 9, S.I. Balzor Singh, it is also evident that on 27.2.2010 at about 1:20 pm, from the possession of the accused Sarfaraz and Sahid one 12 bore gun and one cartridge of 12 bore and one country made pistol of 315 bore and one live cartridge of 315 bore were recovered for which they did not possess any valid license and, therefore, the trial court has also held them guilty under Section 25 of Arms Act rightly. Therefore, appeals of the accused persons for being held guilty under Section 25 of Arms Act also stand dismissed.

130. Now it would be pertinent for us to express our opinion as to whether the punishment awarded by the trial court is on the higher side as they have been awarded punishment under Section 302 read with 149 IPC for being hang till death.

131. As regards reduction of the sentence from death penalty to life imprisonment, we would like to rely upon the law laid-down by Supreme Court in Farooq @ Karattaa Farooq & Ors vs. State Of Kerala (2002) 4 SCC 697 in which in paragraph no. 8 following is held:

"Next question which is to be considered is as to whether the High Court was justified in upholding the death penalty imposed against appellant Farooq and appellant Sathar. Reference in this connection may be made to the Constitution Bench decision of this Court in the case ofBachan Singh v. State of Punjab, AIR 1980 SC 898, as well as, following the same, three Judge Bench decision of this Court inMachhi Singh & Ors. v. State of Punjab1983 (3) SCC 470, wherein various circumstances have been enumerated and it was laid down that if the case squarely falls within its ambit, only in that eventuality, death penalty can be awarded. It was observed that in rarest of rare cases when collective conscience of the community is so shocked that it will expect the holders of the judicial power centre to inflict death penalty irrespective of their personal opinion as regards desirability or otherwise retaining death penalty, such a penalty can be inflicted. In the facts and circumstances of the present case, it is not possible to come to the conclusion that the present case would fall within the category of rarest of rare one. Therefore, we are clearly of the opinion that in the fitness of things, extreme penalty of death was not called for and the same is fit to be commuted to life imprisonment."

132. It is apparent from the above position of law that death penalty should be awarded only in circumstances as enumerated in the above-mentioned cases and only in that eventuality when collective conscience of the community is so shocked that it will expect the court to inflict death penalty irrespective of their personal opinion as desirability. In the present case, we find that facts were not such as would shock our conscience to that extent that we would feel compelled to award death penalty because the murder in the present case is not committed in such gruesome manner that it will require imposition of death penalty.

133. In this regard, in our opinion, this is not one of such cases in which the offence of murder is committed in such gruesome manner that it would require imposition of death penalty. The accused are stated to have made fires upon the deceased and also on other three injured persons by which they have received injuries. Therefore, we find it adequate that ends of justice would be met if the punishment under Section 302/149 IPC is reduced to that of life imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 10,000/- and in default of payment of fine, two months simple imprisonment. Rest of the punishments which have been awarded under the above mentioned sections do not require any interference and they are upheld.

134. Accused are in jail.

135. The Criminal (Capital) Appeal No.205 of 2015 stands partly allowed and the reference for confirmation stands rejected.

136. The Criminal Appeal Nos. 206 of 2018 and Criminal Appeal No.207 of 2018 stand dismissed.

137. Let a copy of this judgment be transmitted to the court below along with original record of lower court for necessary information and compliance forthwith

Criminal Appeal No. 564 of 1998
along with
Criminal Appeal No. 1839 of 2004

Ram Shanker & Ors. ...Appellants
Versus
State of U.P. ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sri Anand Mohan, Begum Sabiha Kamal, Sri Mohd. Shahid Akhtar.

Counsel for the Respondent:
Govt. Advocate.

A. Section 149, 299, 300, 302 & 304 Part- 1 and Part-2 I.P.C. Distinguish between motive intention and knowledge.

Relative witness: -

Relationship with deceased is not a factor that affects credibility of witness, more so, a relative would not conceal the actual culprit and make allegation against an innocent person. The testimony of the PW-1 and PW-6 cannot be discarded only on the basis of their relationship with the deceased.

The trial Court is able to seprate grain from the chaff, the reliable and acceptable part of the evidence can be accepted and the untruthful part of the evidence may be rejected and on the basis of truthful evidence some accused may be convicted and others may be acquitted.

Distinguish between motive intention and knowledge: -

There is intent and knowledge then the same would be a case of Section 304 Part I and if it is only a case of knowledge and not intention to cause murder and bodily injury then the same would fall Under Section 304 Part II. The facts and circumstances of the present case of grave and sudden provocation and hence the Accused is entitled to the benefit of Section 300 Exception 4 of the Indian Penal Code."

It is a case of culpable homicide not amounting to murder inasmuch as the incident happened on account of sudden fight between the friends who had gathered for a drink party arranged. There was no pre-mediation and the act done by the Appellant was in the heat of passion without the Appellant taking any undue advantage or acted in a cruel manner.

Over all discussion, it is apparent that the act of appellant is covered under Section 304 Part-I of the I.P.C. instead of Section 300 punishable under Section 302 of the I.P.C. and, therefore, appellant is liable to be convicted under Section 304 Part-I of I.P.C. and not under Section 302 I.P.C.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mohd. Faiz Alam Khan, J.)

1. Heard Shri Mohd. Shahid Akhtar, Advocate for the appellant in Criminal Appeal Nos. 542 of 1998, 564 of 1998, 541 of 1998 and as Amicus Curiae for appellant, Kalloo in Criminal Appeal No. 1839 of 2004 as well as Shri Chandra Shekhar Pandey, learned A.G.A. for the State.

These Criminal Appeal Nos. 542 of 1998, 564 of 1998, 541 of 1998, 1839 of 2004 have been filed by above appellants against the judgment and order dated 29.09.1998 passed by learned Additional Sessions Judge XIth, Lucknow in Sessions Trial No. 316 of 1996 "State vs. Siya Ram and others", arising out of Case Crime No. 86 of 1995, under Sections 147, 148, 149 and 302 I.P.C., Police Station Itaunja, District Lucknow, whereby all the appellants were convicted under Section 147, 148, 149 and 302 I.P.C. and sentenced for life imprisonment.

2. The prosecution case as borne out of the record of the Subordinate Court is that a written report was presented by Sri Rafique Khan son of Sri Husaini Khan resident of Village Ludhauli, Police Station Itaunja, District Lucknow to S.H.O. Police Station Itaunja, on 22.05.1995 at about 9:45 pm. alleging that the younger brother of the applicant namely Zaheer Khan is running a shop of Electric appliances at Manpur Chauraha. One Munna son of Ram Shanker Pasi is employed in his shop as a servant. On 22.05.1995 at about 8:30 pm., he (Rafique) and Zaheer went to the residence of Munna with regard to some work pertaining to installation of decorative lights and when Zaheer called Munna from the main gate of the house, Siya Ram Lodhi son of Munni Lal, Karan Singh son of Bhagwan Bux Singh, Harish Chandra son of Hem Raj, Santosh Singh son of Sheetla Bux Singh, Arjun Singh son of Bhagwan Bux Singh, Khem Chandra son of Munna, Ram Shanker son of Putti Lal and Kallu son of unknown emerged out from the house and dragged his brother namely Zaheer inside the house and started assaulting him by "Kicks and Fists'. His brother fell down and Siya Ram took out a knife from his pocket and stabbed Zaheer below his chest with an intention to kill him. His brother (Zaheer)after receiving grievous injuries died at the spot, inside the house of Ram Shanker. On hearing alarm, Mohd. Shamim son of Maqsood Khan and Krishna Kumar Mishra son of Lal Bihari Mishra of the same village Ludhauli arrived on the spot and witnessed the incident in the light of torch and 'Dhibri' , which was lighting inside the house. The other villagers of the village also arrived on the spot and witnessed the incident. The dead body of his brother is lying inside the house of Ram Shanker.

3. On the basis of the aforesaid written application (Exhibit-ka-1), Chik FIR (Exhibit-ka-2) was prepared and a case was registered at Case Crime No. 86 of 1995 on 22.05.1995 at 9:45 pm, under Sections 147, 148, 149 and 302 I.P.C.. A corresponding G.D. entry (Exhibit-ka-3), was also made in the General Diary as Serial No. 86 of 1995 at 9:45 pm. on 22.05.1995 and investigation of the F.I.R. was entrusted to S.H.O. Shri M.M. Khan. The Investigating Officer visited the place of incident and prepared Inquest Report (Exhibit-ka-5) and other necessary papers for the purpose of postmortem of the dead body i.e. 'Photo Lash' (Exhibit-ka-7), Sample Seal (Exhibit-ka-6), letter to C.M.O, (Exhibit-ka-9), Form No.13 (Exhibit-ka-8). The Investigating Officer also prepared the Site Plan (Exhibit-ka-10) and collected the blood stained and simple soil from the place of occurrence and also prepared a Recovery-memo (Exhibit-ka-11). The dead body of deceased Zaheer was thereafter sent for postmortem.

4. P.W.-4/Doctor Nalini Kant Tripathi conducted the postmortem on the body of the deceased Zaheer on 23.05.1995 at 11:30 am and prepared a postmortem report (Exhibit-ka-4). He found the age of the deceased as about 32 years, a person of average built body. Rigor mortis was present all over the body. The postmortem staining was present on the back, Eyes were closed and mouth was half open.

The Doctor found following ante mortem injuries on the dead body of the deceased:-

Injury No.1/Stab wound of 5 cm. x 2 cm. x abdominal cavity deep present on point of abdomen 6 cm. above from umbilicus, margins are sharp and clear cut and well defined. On opening ecchymosis present beneath injury, small intestine cut through and through at one place place. Small intestine and abdomen omentum is coming out of wound. Direction is oblique forward to move downward.

Injury No.2/Stab wound of 4 cm. x 2 cm. x Abdomen cavity deep present on right side lower base 7 cm. behind mid line and 10 cm. above from post superior Iliac spine. Margins are sharp clear cut and well defined. Direction is obliquely forwarded upward from right to left. On opening ecchymosis present underneath injury. Stomach cut through and through at one place about 01 liter of fluid and clotted blood with food material present in abdominal cavity.

On internal examination, 90 ml. liquid food matter was found in the Stomach, digested food and gases were found in small intestine and faecal matter and gases were found in big intestine. Galbladder was empty. The cause of death was determined as death occurred due to shock and haemorrhage, as a result of, Anti-mortem stab wounds .

The Investigation Officer, during the course of investigation also sent the blood stained soil and other articles, recovered form the spot, for chemical examination and the report of the chemical analyst (Exhibit-ka-12) is available on record, which states that human blood has been found on all these articles. The Investigating Officer after completing the investigation filed a charge-sheet against all the named accused persons under Section 147, 148, 149 and 302 I.P.C.

5. The case being triable by the Court of Sessions was committed to the Sessions Court and charges under Section 147, 149/302 I.P.C. were framed against Karan Singh son of Bhagwan Bux Singh, Harish Chandra son of Hem Raj, Santosh Singh son of Sheetla Singh, Arjun Singh son of Bhagwan Bux Sing, Khem Chandra son of Munna, Ram Shanker son of Putti Lal, while charges under Section 148 and 149/302 of I.P.C. was framed against accused-appellant, Siya Ram. The appellants denied the charges and claimed trial.

6. The prosecution in order to bring home the charges framed against appellants/accused persons relied on following documentary evidence:-

1. Application FIR, Exhibit-ka-1

2. Chick FIR, Exhibit-ka-2

3. G.D. Entry of FIR, Exhibit-ka-3

4. Postmortem report, Exhibit-ka-4

5. Inquest Report, Exhibit-ka-5

6. Seal Sample, Exhibit-ka-6

7. Photo Lash, Exhibit-ka-7

8. Form-13, Exhibit-ka-8

9. Letter to C.M.O, Exhibit-ka-9

10. Site Plan, Exhibit-ka-10

11. Seizure Memo of Simple & blood stained Soil, Exhibit-ka-11

12. Chemical Analyst Report, Exhibit-ka-12

13. Charge-sheet, Exhibit-ka-13

Apart from the above mentioned documentary evidence, the prosecution also testified following witnesses :-

P.W.-1/Rafique Khan
(Informant/Eye witness)

P.W.-2/Mohd. Shamim
(Eye witness)

P.W.-3/Constable Vishnu Narayan Shukla,
(Scribe of the Chick FIR and G.D.)

P.W.-4/Doctor Nalini Kant Tripathi, the (Doctor, who conducted postmortem)

P.W.-5/Shri M.M. Khan, (Investigating Officer)

P.W.-6/Raees Khan @ Rahees,
(Scribe of the application of FIR)

7. After the completion of prosecution evidence, the statement of appellants was recorded under section 313 of the Code Of Criminal Procedure wherein they denied the occurrence as alleged by the prosecution and alleged false implication due to enmity. Appellant Siyaram also denied his presence at the spot and further stated that police has shielded the actual culprits. He claimed that deceased has been murdered as he was of bad character. Appellant Ram Shankar Stated that injured Zaheer entered his house to save his life. He went to the house of Rafique to call him and when he went to lodge the report the dead body of deceased remained in his care.

Appellants in their defence also produced D.W.-1 Loknaam, D.W.-2 Khemchandra, D.W.-3 Santram and D.W.-4 Krishna Kumar.

8. The Trial Court after appreciating and analyzing the evidence made available on record came to the conclusion that the prosecution has been able to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt against appellants Siya Ram, Karan Singh, Harishchandra, Ram Shanker and Kalloo, and vide impugned judgment and order convicted and sentenced the appellants in the manner described in the first paragraph of this judgment. Trial Court by the same judgment and order acquitted the accused persons Santosh Singh, Arjun Singh and Khemchandra of the charges under Sections 147, 148, 149/302 I.P.C. No appeal, till date, is stated to have been filed by the State against the Judgment and Order of acquittal, pertaining to Santosh Singh, Arjun Singh and Khemchandra.

Shri Mohd. Shahid Akhtar, learned counsel for the appellants while referring to the judgment of the Trial Court submits that the Court below has convicted the appellants only on the basis of "surmises, assumptions and conjectures'. The prosecution, according to him, failed in its duty to prove the charges against the appellants.

9. Learned counsel for appellant-accused further submits that as per the facts and circumstances of the present case, the case of other appellants is different from the case of appellant Siyaram and in absence of any unlawful assembly they could not be convicted for the Act of Siyaram.

Learned counsel for the appellants further submits that the Court below have acquitted 03 accused persons and convicted the appellants on the same set of evidence. No motive has been proved of the crime and the prosecution story is highly improbable.

He further submits that the evidence of 02 eye witnesses namely P.W.-1/Rafique and P.W.-2/Mohd. Shamim is not trustworthy in facts and circumstances of the case and also on the count that they are related to the deceased Zaheer and, therefore, their evidence is partisan and interested and could not be believed

He further submits that the story of the prosecution is highly improbable specially the fact that deceased Zaheer was dragged inside the house by all accused persons and the theory of prosecution that all accused persons caught hold of him and dragged the deceased for some distance is not believable in the facts and circumstances of the case, as no mark of injury or any sign has been found on the body of the deceased, which may suggest any scuffle. The Investigating Officer namely P.W.-5/M.M. Khan has also not found any sign of scuffle at the spot. Therefore, the story of the prosecution is full of lies.

He further submits that, in fact it is a blind murder. Deceased Zaheer has been murdered somewhere else by some unknown persons and to save himself, he came in the Courtyard of Ram Shanker and simply on the basis that his dead body has been found there, the appellants have been falsely roped in.

He further submits that P.W.-2/Mohd. Shamim is a chance witness and other independent witness/Krishna Kumar has not been produced by the prosecution and he testified himself as defence witness (D.W.-4) and in his statement has stated that P.W.-2/Mohd. Shamim was with him at the time of occurrence. Therefore, the presence of P.W.-2/Mohd. Shamim at the spot is highly doubtful and could not be believed in the facts and circumstances of the case.

It is further submitted by learned counsel for the appellants that the accused persons were not having any prior information of the arrival of the deceased and, therefore, in absence of any prior enmity, there was neither any opportunity nor occasion for the appellants to form any unlawful assembly. No member of the assembly except Siya Ram was having any arm with him and the fact that Siya Ram is possessing a knife, was not known to any other accused person either before or during the hot talks or during alleged scuffle of deceased with Siya Ram. Therefore, there was no unlawful assembly formed at any time of the alleged incident.

10. Per contra, Shri Chandra Shekhar Pandey, learned A.G.A. submits that the prosecution by reliable and acceptable evidence has proved the case of prosecution and in cases of direct evidence, the prosecution is not obliged to prove the motive and, therefore, the case is to be decided on the basis of direct evidence of eye witnesses.

He further submits that on the day of occurrence the deceased was dragged into the house by all accused persons and the unlawful assembly was formed at that point of time when deceased was dragged inside the house by all appellants and accused Siya Ram as a member of that Unlawful Assembly, in order to achieve its common object, stabbed deceased Zaheer in his Stomach and waist and caused his death. Therefore, each and every appellant is liable for the murder of Zaheer, being part and parcel of the Unlawful Assembly.Therefore, the Court below has not acted illegally in convicting the appellants and no interference is required in the Judgment and Order of the Trial Court and the appeal is liable to be dismissed.

11. Before proceeding further, it is expedient to have a brief survey of the evidence of the prosecution as well as of the defence available on record, so that the evidence available on record may be appreciated in a better way in the backdrop of the arguments advanced on behalf of the appellants and State.

P.W.-1/Rafique Khan is the brother of the deceased Zaheer and was accompanying him at that point of time. He has stated that Munna was working with Zaheer and on the fateful day at 8:30 pm, when he along with Zaheer came to the house of Munna to take him (Munna) with them and gave a call to him from his main door, father of Munna i.e. Ram Shanker came out followed by Siya Ram, Kalloo, Harishchandra, Karan Singh and 03 other unknown persons and they caught hold of the deceased. Ram Shanker, Kallu, Harishchandra and Karan Singh caught hold of the deceased and Siya Ram took out a knife from his pocket and started stabbing the deceased below his chest. The incident was witnessed by him as well as by Shamim and Krishna Kumar, who were holding torches in their hand and a*''Dhibri'* was also lighted inside the house. He also narrated the motive of crime as some dispute about monetary transaction between Siya Ram and Zaheer. He acknowledges that the FIR was written by Raees on his dictation.

In cross-examination, he stated that Munna was working as an employee of Zaheer, so was Putanni. On the fateful night, they took a contract of decorative lighting near Shamsherganj and all material pertaining to that was already transported to the Site and as Munna did not come to the shop, they came to the house of Munna to call him. He further stated that responding to the call given by deceased- Zaheer, at first, Ram Shanker came out and thereafter other accused persons named by him in his chief-examination emerged and dragged Zaheer inside the house. They took his brother inside the house near the door of "Baretha' and at that time Siya Ram took out a knife and stabbed Zaheer. He did not go inside the house and raised an alarm. His brother used to come at the house of Munna as and when required. The dead body of Zaheer was lying near the door. He further stated that a women lived in the house of Munna and he did not know whether she was of loose character. He stated to have told "Daroga Ji' that she was of loose character and she was on talking terms with his brother Zaheer and his brother has been killed due to this.

P.W.-2/Mohd. Shamim is a witness, who though was not accompanying the deceased or P.W.-1/Rafiq Khan, but on the fateful day, he went to the shop of deceased, as he was in need of some money and when he did not find Zaheer at the shop and was informed by a neighbor Shopkeeper that Zaheer had gone to Munna's home, he came to Manpur. When he reached near the Railway line, he heard an alarm being raised by Rafique, which was coming from the house of Munna. He went near the main door of Munna and saw 5 to 6 persons catching hold of Zaheer, he recognized few of them as Siya Ram, Kalloo, Harishchandra and Ram Shanker but could not identify others. Siya Ram stabbed Zaheer with a knife, who fell down and he gave another blow and thereafter, accused persons fled away. He was having a torch and according to him, a "Dhibri' was also lighting inside the house. In nut shell, he stated that he went to the shop of Zaheer as he was in need of some money and after being informed that Zaheer had gone to the house of Munna, he came there and on the way he met Krishna Kumar. When he reached the spot, he found Rafique raising an alarm that Zaheer was being dragged and he found all accused persons surrounding the deceased and therefore, he could not see who amongst the accused persons was holding which part of the body of Zaheeer. Siya Ram's face was in front of Zaheer and all other accused persons were scattered here and there. There was no source of light at the place, where Zaheer was being dragged and only a "Dhibri' was lighting at the door. He again stated that the main door of the house was open and he did not make any attempt to save his brother. He further stated that his brother was dragged for about 10 ft. and all accused persons were catching hold of him. He remained at the door till the incident was over and when the accused persons stopped assaulting the deceased, he returned to his home. He further stated that Krishna Kumar took his own way from Manpur Crossing. When he first heard the alarm raised by Rafique, he could not understand that Zaheer is being done to death or who are the persons committing the crime. Zaheer was injured below his chest and he had told at his home that the knife might have been used by only one person.

P.W.-3/Constable Vishnu Narayan Shukla has proved the Chick FIR, Exhibit-ka-2 and G.D., Exhibit-ka-3 to be in his own hand writing and signatures.

P.W.-4/Doctor Nalini Kant Tripathi has proved to have conducted the postmortem on the body of the deceased (Zaheer) on 23.05.1995 at about 11:30 am and also to have prepared the postmortem report, Exhibit-ka-4. The injuries noted by him on the person of the deceased Zaheer as well as other observations pertaining to internal and external examination have been elaborately dealt with in Para no. 4 of this Judgment.

P.W.-5/Shri M.M. Khan is the Investigating Officer of the crime, who proved preparation of Inquest Report as Exhibit-ka-5. He also stated to have prepared and proved necessary papers required for the postmortem of the deceased and have stated to have also prepared the Site Plan, Exhibit-ka-10 and Memo of collection of blood stained and simple soil as Exhibit-ka-11 and also to have submitted the Charge-sheet against the accused persons as Exhibit-ka-13.

In cross-examination, he stated that the body of the deceased was lying inside the house of Ram Shanker. There was a pool of blood around the body. He found one wound below the chest of deceased, which may be caused by any sharp aged weapon. According to him, he found no other visible injury marks on the body of the deceased and he also did not find any trail of blood from the main door of the house till the place, where the body was lying. He further stated in his cross-examination that he did not find any sign of "struggle' near the dead body. He admitted to have been told by witness Shamim that deceased was of a bad character and he along with accused persons were having illicit relationship with the same girl and reason of his murder was the bad character of the deceased. He further stated that if someone is standing at the right side of the main door of the house of Ram Shankar, where the dead body of the deceased was found, he could not see what is happening inside the house. While referring to the Site Plan, this witness stated that from Point-B and C shown in the Map, one could not be able to see Point-A.

P.W.-6/Raees Khan @ Rahees is brother of deceased, who stated to have written the FIR on the dictation of P.W.-1/Rafique Khan and proved the same in his hand writing as Exhibit-ka-9. Admittedly, he came at the scene of occurrence after the incident was over, therefore, his testimony is not of much relevance so far as the commission of the crime is concerned.

Accused persons in their defence have also produced 04 witnesses:-

D.W.-1 Loknaam has been produced by the accused persons to prove the fact that the police arrested the Khemchandra at about 9-10 pm from his home.

D.W.-2 is Khemchandra, has also stated that he was arrested at about 9-10 pm. by the police from his home.

D.W.-3/Santram has stated that Siya Ram accused is known to him as they are residents of the same village. He is son of Ram Shanker Pasi. Munna is also the other son of Ram Shanker. He stated that deceased Zaheer was done to death and his dead body was lying in the house of Ram Shanker. Siya Ram also went to see the dead body along with him. He further stated that on the next day also, he saw Siya Ram in the village.

D.W.-4/Krishna Kumar is the witness about whom, P.W.-2/Mohd. Shamim has stated that he met him at Manpur Crossing and from there, he took his own way. This witness stated that Ram Shanker came to meet him about 10 days ago. He met with the Investigating Officer, however, his statement was not recorded by him. He went to the scene of crime. Before incident, he was at Manpur Crossing, where he met with Shamim (P.W.-2) who told him to accompany him to village Manpur. Thereafter, Shamim departed from there and he after taking beetle returned to his home. When he arrived at his house, a little thereafter there was alarm in the village that Shamim had been killed. He also went to the spot along with others and saw that the dead body of Zaheer was lying inside the house of Ram Shanker and there was a pool of blood. He went to the spot at about 8:00 pm. He was not having any watch with him. He stated that Ram Shanker was also there.

12. Having gone through the evidence made available on record, the case of the prosecution, as put forth in the shape of oral and documentary evidence before the Court below, is that, deceased Zaheer was running a shop of electrical goods at Village Manpur and he was also doing the work of electricity decoration. Munna, who is the son of accused-appellant/Ram Shanker Pasi was working in his shop as an employee and he used to install decorative lights as and when required. On the fateful night, deceased Zaheer came to the house of Munna with his younger brother Rafiq, as he had sent decorative material at a Site and as on that day Munna did not come to the shop, they came to the house of Munna for the purpose of sending him to the Site for installation of decorative lights. The story as unfolds further from the statement of witnesses is that at 8:30 pm, when deceased Zaheer along with Rafique arrived at the house of Munna and called him (Munna) from the main door of his house, at first Ram Shanker emerged from inside the house and, thereafter, all other accused persons came and caught hold of Zaheer and dragged him inside the house of Ram Shanker, while others caught hold of the deceased from all around , Siya Ram took out a knife and stabbed Zaheer below his chest and all other assaulted him with fists and kicks.

13. The first submission of Ld. Counsel for the appellants is that PW1 Sri Rafique and P.W.-6 Raees Khan are the real brothers of deceased and they are interested witnesses. Trial Court by the same judgment and order has acquitted the accused persons Santosh Singh, Arjun Singh and Khemchandra of the charges under Sections 147, 148, 149/302 I.P.C. and on the same set of evidence convicted the appellants, which is not tenable in the facts and circumstances of the case.

So far as the submission of Ld. Counsel for the appellants pertaining to the two witnesses i.e. PW1 Sri Rafique and P.W.-6 Raees Khan, being relatives of the deceased is concerned, this issue is no more res inregra. Hon'ble Supreme Court in Gangabhavani vs. Rayapati Venkat Reddy and Ors. , MANU/SC/0897/2013 has held as under :-

"11. It is a settled legal proposition that the evidence of closely related witnesses is required to be carefully scrutinised and appreciated before any conclusion is made to rest upon it, regarding the convict/accused in a given case. Thus, the evidence cannot be disbelieved merely on the ground that the witnesses are related to each other or to the deceased. In case the evidence has a ring of truth to it, is cogent, credible and trustworthy, it can, and certainly should, be relied upon.(Vide: Bhagaloo Lodh and Anr. v. State of U.P. MANU/SC/0700/2011 : AIR 2011 SC 2292; and Dhari and Ors. v. State of U.P. MANU/SC/0848/2012 : AIR 2013 SC 308).

12. In State of Rajasthan v. Smt. Kalki and Anr. MANU/SC/0254/1981 : AIR 1981 SC 1390, this Court held:

"5A. As mentioned above the High Court has declined to rely on the evidence of P.W. 1 on two grounds: (1) she was a "highly interested" witness because she "is the wife of the deceased".....For, in the circumstances of the case, she was the only and most natural witness; she was the only person present in the hut with the deceased at the time of the occurrence, and the only person who saw the occurrence. True it is she is the wife of the deceased; but she cannot be called an 'interested' witness. She is related to the deceased. 'Related' is not equivalent to 'interested. A witness may be called 'interested' only when he or she derives some benefit from the result of a litigation; in the decree in a civil case, or in seeing an accused person punished. A witness who is a natural one and is the only possible eye witness in the circumstances of a case cannot be said to be 'interested'. In the instant case P.W. 1 had no interest in protecting the real culprit, and falsely implicating the Respondents."(Emphasis added)(See also: Chakali Maddilety and Ors. v. State of A.P. MANU/SC/0609/2010 : AIR 2010 SC 3473).

13. In Sachchey Lal Tiwari v. State of U.P. MANU/SC/0865/2004 : AIR 2004 SC 5039, while dealing with the case this Court held:

"7....Murders are not committed with previous notice to witnesses; soliciting their presence. If murder is committed in a dwelling house, the inmates of the house are natural witnesses. If murder is committed in a street, only passers-by will be witnesses. Their evidence cannot be brushed aside or viewed with suspicion on the ground that they are mere 'chance witnesses'. The expression 'chance witness' is borrowed from countries where every man's home is considered his castle and everyone must have an explanation for his presence elsewhere or in another man's castle. It is quite unsuitable an expression in a country where people are less formal and more casual, at any rate in the matter explaining their presence."

14. In view of the above, it can safely be held that natural witnesses may not be labelled as interested witnesses. Interested witnesses are those who want to derive some benefit out of the litigation/case. In case the circumstances reveal that a witness was present on the scene of the occurrence and had witnessed the crime, his deposition cannot be discarded merely on the ground of being closely related to the victim/deceased."

In Bhagaloo Lodh and Ors. vs. State of U.P. reported in MANU/SC/0700/2011, It was held as under :-

"14. Evidence of a close relation can be relied upon provided it is trustworthy. Such evidence is required to be carefully scrutinised and appreciated before resting of conclusion to convict the accused in a given case. But where the Sessions Court properly appreciated evidence and meticulously analysed the same and the High Court re-appreciated the said evidence properly to reach the same conclusion, it is difficult for the superior court to take a view contrary to the same, unless there are reasons to disbelieve such witnesses. Thus, the evidence cannot be disbelieved merely on the ground that the witnesses are inter-related to each other or to the deceased. (Vide: M.C. Ali and Anr. v. State of Kerala MANU/SC/0247/2010 : AIR 2010 SC 1639; Myladimmal Surendran and Ors. v. State of Kerala MANU/SC/0670/2010 : AIR 2010 SC 3281; Shyam v. State of Madhya Pradesh MANU/SC/7112/2007 : (2009) 16 SCC 531; Prithi v. State of Haryana MANU/SC/0532/2010 : (2010) 8 SCC 536; Surendra Pal and Ors. v. State of U.P. and Anr. MANU/SC/0713/2010 : (2010) 9 SCC 399; and Himanshu @ Chintu v. State (NCT of Delhi) MANU/SC/0006/2011 : (2011) 2 SCC 36).

In view of the law laid herein above, no fault can be found with the evidence recorded by the courts below accepting the evidence of closely related witnesses."

It is therefore settled that merely because witnesses are close relatives of victim, their testimonies cannot be discarded. Relationship with deceased is not a factor that affects credibility of witness, more so, a relative would not conceal the actual culprit and make allegation against an innocent person.

However, in such a case Court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse the evidence of such witness to find out whether he is a natural witness and whether in the facts and circumstances of the case his evidence is cogent and credible. Keeping in view the above factual and legal matrix, we do not find any substance in the sumissions of Ld. Counsel for appellants that the testimony of the PW-1 Sri Rafeeque and PW-6 Raees be discarded only on the basis of their relation with the deceased.How ever the same has to be appreciated with care and caution.

So far as second submission of the Ld. Counsel for appellants with regard to the fact that some accused persons have been acquitted and some have been convicted on the same set of evidence by the trial Court is concerned, it is permissible for any Criminal Court to sift the evidence produced by the prosecution and to seprate truth from falsehood and if in this exercise the trial Court is able to seprate grain from the chaff, the reliable and acceptable part of the evidence can be accepted and the untruthful part of the evidence may be rejected and on the basis of truthful evidence some accused may be convicted and others may be acquitted.

Hon'ble Supreme Court Of India in Mahendran and Ors. Vs. State of Tamil Nadu and Ors. Reported in MANU/SC/0257/2019 in para 38 of the report held as under :-

"38. ..... The argument that the entire case set up is based on falsehood and thus not reliable for conviction of the Appellants, is not tenable. It is well settled that the maxim "falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus" has no application in India only for the reason that some part of the statement of the witness has not been accepted by the trial court or by the High Court. Such is the view taken by this Court in Gangadhar Behera's case, wherein the Court held as under:

15 . To the same effect is the decision in State of Punjab v. Jagir Singh MANU/SC/0193/1973 : (1974) 3 SCC 277 and Lehna v. State of Haryana, MANU/SC/0075/2002 : (2002) 3 SCC 76. Stress was laid by the Accused-Appellants on the non-acceptance of evidence tendered by some witnesses to contend about desirability to throw out the entire prosecution case. In essence prayer is to apply the principle of "falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus" (false in one thing, false in everything). This plea is clearly untenable. Even if a major portion of the evidence is found to be deficient, in case residue is sufficient to prove guilt of an Accused, notwithstanding acquittal of a number of other co-accused persons, his conviction can be maintained. It is the duty of the court to separate the grain from the chaff. Where chaff can be separated from the grain, it would be open to the court to convict an Accused notwithstanding the fact that evidence has been found to be deficient to prove guilt of other Accused persons. Falsity of a particular material witness or material particular would not ruin it from the beginning to end. The maxim "falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus" has no application in India and the witnesses cannot be branded as liars. The maxim "falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus" has not received general acceptance nor has this maxim come to occupy the status of Rule of law. It is merely a Rule of caution. All that it amounts to, is that in such cases testimony may be disregarded, and not that it must be disregarded. The doctrine merely involves the question of weight of evidence which a court may apply in a given set of circumstances, but it is not what may be called "a mandatory Rule of evidence". (See Nisar Alli v. State of U.P. MANU/SC/0032/1957 : AIR 1957 SC 366) Merely because some of the Accused persons have been acquitted, though evidence against all of them, so far as direct testimony went, was the same does not lead as a necessary corollary that those who have been convicted must also be acquitted. It is always open to a court to differentiate the Accused who had been acquitted from those who were convicted. (See Gurcharan Singh v. State of Punjab MANU/SC/0122/1955 : AIR 1956 SC 460). The doctrine is a dangerous one specially in India for if a whole body of the testimony were to be rejected, because a witness was evidently speaking an untruth in some aspect, it is to be feared that administration of criminal justice would come to a dead stop. Witnesses just cannot help in giving embroidery to a story, however, true in the main. Therefore, it has to be appraised in each case as to what extent the evidence is worthy of acceptance, and merely because in some respects the court considers the same to be insufficient for placing reliance on the testimony of a witness, it does not necessarily follow as a matter of law that it must be disregarded in all respects as well. The evidence has to be sifted with care. The aforesaid dictum is not a sound Rule for the reason that one hardly comes across a witness whose evidence does not contain a grain of untruth or at any rate exaggeration, embroideries or embellishment. (See Sohrab v. State of M.P. MANU/SC/0254/1972 : (1972) 3 SCC 751 and Ugar Ahir v. State of Bihar MANU/SC/0333/1964 : AIR 1965 SC 277.) An attempt has to be made to, as noted above, in terms of felicitous metaphor, separate the grain from the chaff, truth from falsehood. Where it is not feasible to separate the truth from falsehood, because grain and chaff are inextricably mixed up, and in the process of separation an absolutely new case has to be reconstructed by divorcing essential details presented by the prosecution completely from the context and the background against which they are made, the only available course to be made is to discard the evidence in toto. (See Zwinglee Ariel v. State of M.P. MANU/SC/0093/1952 : AIR 1954 SC 15 and Balaka Singh v. State of Punjab MANU/SC/0087/1975 : (1975) 4 SCC 511.) ....."

3 9 . Therefore, the entire testimony of the witnesses cannot be discarded only because, in certain aspects, part of the statement has not been believed."

In view of above factual and legal background the trial Court, within permissible limits, could sift the evidence and act on the acceptable part of the testimony of prosecution witnesses with regard to some accused persons and can reject the same with regard to the other accused persons.

14. The next submission of Ld. Counsel for the appellants is to the effect that the deceased might have been injured somewhere by some unknown persons and to save his life, he fell down in the courtyard of Ram Shanker's house and due to the fact that body of the deceased has been found in the house of Ram Shanker, he and other appellants have been falsely roped in.

Perusal of the record and evidence available thereon, in the background of the above argument would reveal that P.W.-1/Rafiq has stated in his statement that when Zaheer called Munna from his main gate, Ram Shanker and other accused persons emerged out and dragged deceased in the house and Siya Ram thereafter stabbed him in the Stomach.P.W.-2/Mohd. Shamim has also narrated the same story and deposed that the body of deceased was lying inside the house, after he was stabbed with a knife by Siya Ram. P.W.-5/Shri M.M. Khan, Investigating Officer of the crime has also found a pool of blood near the dead body and collected the blood stained and normal soil from there and prepared a memo, Exhibit-ka-11. Significantly, no trail of blood was found by him from the main door of Ram Shanker's house till the spot whereon body of deceased was lying. In Inquest, (Exhibit-ka-5) also it is stated that the body of deceased was lying inside the house of Ram Shanker Pasi, where there is a pool of blood around it. Importantly, D.W.-4/Krishna Kumar also in his statement stated that he visited the house of Ram Shanker Pasi on the same night, where the dead body of the deceased was lying and there was a lot of blood around it.

The above evidence available on record, clearly suggests and prove that the deceased Zaheer was done to death at the place where his body was found and the submission of Ld. Counsel for the appellants that deceased got himself injured somewhere else and just to take shelter, he came in the house of Ram Shanker Pasi, appears to be not correct in the facts and circumstances of the case.

15. Ld. Counsel for the appellants further submits that the appellants were not having any prior information about arrival of deceased at the house of Munna and their was no previous enmity of deceased with appellants, therefore there was neither any time nor occasion for the appellants to form any unlawful assembly and infact no unlawful assembly was ever formed by the appellants and the evidence of eye witnesses is not reliable. In the alternative it is also argued that even if the case of prosecution is taken on its face, the act of Siyaram may not travel beyond second part of Section 304 IPC. Moreover the motive in the instant case assumes importance and not proving of motive renders the case of prosecution as not believable and the Trial Court has materially erred in convicting the appellants with the aid of section 149 of IPC.

Hon'ble Supreme Court Of India in Chanakya Dhibar (Dead) Vs. State of West Bengal and Ors., MANU/SC/1096/2003 while dwelling on the scope of section 149 IPC has held as under :-

"11. The emphasis in Section 149 IPC is on the common object and not on common intention. Mere presence in an unlawful assembly cannot render a person liable unless there was a common object and he was actuated by that common object and that object is one of those set out in Section 141. Where common object of an unlawful assembly is not proved, the accused persons cannot be convicted with the help of Section 149. The crucial question to determine is whether the assembly consisted of five or more persons and whether the said persons entertained one or more of the common objects, as specified in Section 141. It cannot be laid down as a general proposition of law that unless an overt act is proved against a person, who is alleged to be a member of unlawful assembly, it cannot be said that he is a member of an assembly. The only thing required is that he should have understood that the assembly was unlawful and was likely to commit any of the acts which fall within the purview of Section 141. The word 'object' means the purpose or design and, in order to make it 'common', it must be shared by all. In other words, the object should be common to the persons, who compose the assembly, that is to say, they should all be aware of it and concur in it, a common object may be formed by express agreement after mutual constitution, but that is by no means necessary. It may be formed at any stage by all or a few members or the assembly and the other members may just join and adopt it. Once formed, it need not continue to be the same. It may be modified or altered or abandoned at any stage. The expression 'in prosecution of common object' as appearing in Section 149 have to be strictly construed as equivalent to 'in order to attain the common object'. It must be immediately connected with the common object by virtue of the nature of the object. There must be community of object and the object may exist only up to a particular stage, and not thereafter. Members of an unlawful assembly may have community of object up to certain point beyond which they may differ in their objects and the knowledge, possessed by each member of what is likely to be committed in prosecution of their common object may vary not only according to the information at his command, but also according to the extent to which he shares the community of object, and as a consequence of this the effect of Section 149, IPC may be different on different members of the same assembly.

12. 'Common object' is different from a "common intention" as it does not require a prior concert and a common meeting of minds before the attack. It is enough if each has the same object in view and their number is five or more and that they act as an assembly to achieve that object. The "common object" of an assembly is to be ascertained from the acts and language of the members composing it, and from a consideration of all the surrounding circumstances. It may be gathered from the course of conduct adopted by the members of the assembly. What the common object of the unlawful assembly is at a particular stage of the incident is essentially a question of fact to be determined, keeping in view the nature of the assembly, the arms carried by the members, and the behavior of the members at or near the scene of the incident. It is not necessary under law that in all cases of unlawful assembly, with an unlawful common object, the same must be translated into action or be successful. Under the Explanation to Section 141, an assembly which was not unlawful when it was assembled, may subsequently become unlawful. It is not necessary that the intention or the purpose, which is necessary to render an assembly an unlawful one comes into existence at the cutset. The time of forming an unlawful intent is not material. An assembly which, at its commencement or even for some time thereafter, is lawful, may subsequently become unlawful. In other words it can develop during the course of incident at the spot co instanti.

13. Section 149, IPC consists of two parts. The first part of the section means that the offence to be committed in prosecution of the common object must be one which is committed with a view to accomplish the common object. In order that he offence may fall within the first part, the offence must be connected immediately with the common object of the unlawful assembly of which the accused was member. Even if the offence committed is not in direct prosecution of the common object of the assembly, it may yet fall under Section 141, if it can be held that the offence was such as the members knew was likely to be committed and this is what is required in the second part of the section. The purpose for which the members of the assembly set out or desired to achieve is the object. If the object desired by all the members is the same, the knowledge that is the object which is being pursued is shared by all the members and they are in general agreement as to how it is to be achieved and that is now the common object of the assembly. An object is entertained in the human mind, and it being merely a mental attitude, no direct evidence can be available and, like intention, has generally to be gathered from the act which the person commits and the result therefrom. Though no hard and fast rule can be laid down under the circumstances from which the common object can be culled out, it may reasonably be collected from the nature of the assembly, arms it carries and behavior at or before or after the scene of incident. The word 'knew' used in the second branch of the section implies something more than a possibility and it cannot be made to bear the sense of 'might have been known'. Positive knowledge is necessary. When an offence is committed in prosecution of the common object, it would generally be an offence which the members of the unlawful assembly knew was likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object. That, however, does not make the converse proposition true; there may be cases which would come within the second part but not within the first part. The distinction between the two parts of Section 149 cannot be ignored or obliterated. In every case it would be an issue to be determined, whether the offence committed falls within the first part or it was an offence such as the members of the assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object and falls within the second part. However, there may be cases which would be within first offences committed in prosecution of the common object, but would be generally, if not always, with the second, namely, offences which the parties knew to be likely committed in the prosecution of the common object. (See Chikarange Gowda and Ors. v. State of Mysore, MANU/SC/0116/1956 : 1956CriLJ1365 ."

In Lalji v. State of U.P. MANU/SC/0283/1989 i*t was observed that:*

"Common object of the unlawful assembly can be gathered from the nature of the assembly, arms used by them and the behavior of the assembly at or before the scene of occurrence. It is an inference to be deduced from the facts and circumstances of each case.""

16. Hon'ble Supreme Court in Roy Fernandes vs State of Goa and Ors. Reported in MANU/SC/0072/2012 while eloborating the scope of section 149 of the penal code has held as under :-

"19. In Gajanand and Ors. v. State of Uttar Pradesh MANU/SC/0173/1954 : AIR 1954 SC 695, this Court approved the following passage from the decision of the Patna High Court in Ram Charan Rai v. Emperor MANU/BH/0073/1945 : AIR 1946 Pat 242:

"Under Section 149 the liability of the other members for the offence committed during the continuance of the occurrence rests upon the fact whether the other members knew before hand that the offence actually committed was likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object. Such knowledge may reasonably be collected from the nature of the assembly, arms or behavior, at or before the scene of action. If such knowledge may not reasonably be attributed to the other members of the assembly then their liability for the offence committed during the occurrence does not arise.

20. This Court then reiterated the legal position as under:

The question is whether such knowledge can be attributed to the Appellants who were themselves not armed with sharp edged weapons. The evidence on this point is completely lacking. The Appellants had only lathis which may possibly account for Injuries 2 and 3 on Sukkhu's left arm and left hand but they cannot be held liable for murder by invoking the aid of Section 149 Indian Penal Code. According to the evidence only two persons were armed with deadly weapons. Both of them were acquitted and Sosa, who is alleged to have had a spear, is absconding. We are not prepared therefore to ascribe any knowledge of the existence of deadly weapons to the Appellants, much less that they would be used in order to cause death.

21. In Mizaji and Anr. v. State of U.P. MANU/SC/0040/1958 : AIR 1959 SC 572 this Court was dealing with a case where five persons armed with lethal weapons had gone with the common object of getting forcible possession of the land which was in the cultivating possession of the deceased. Facing resistance from the person in possession, one of the members of the assembly at the exhortation of the other fired and killed the deceased. This Court held that the conduct of the members of the unlawful assembly was such as showed that they were determined to take forcible possession at any cost. Section 149 of Indian Penal Code was, therefore, attracted and the conviction of the members of the assembly for murder legally justified. This Court analysed Section 149 in the following words:

6. This section has been the subject matter of interpretation in the various High Court of India, but every case has to be decided on its own facts. The first part of the section means that the offence committed in prosecution of the common object must be one which is committed with a view to accomplish the common object. It is not necessary that there should be a pre-concert in the sense of a meeting of the members of the unlawful assembly as to the common object; it is enough if it is adopted by all the members and is shared by all of them. In order that the case may fall under the first part the offence committed must be connected immediately with the common object of the unlawful assembly of which the accused were members. Even if the offence committed is not in direct prosecution of the common object of the assembly, it may yet fall under section 149 if it can be held that the offence was such as the members knew was likely to be committed. The expression 'know' does not mean a mere possibility, such as might or might not happen. For instance, it is a matter of common knowledge that when in a village a body of heavily armed men set out to take a woman by force, someone is likely to be killed and all the members of the unlawful assembly must be aware of that likelihood and would be guilty under the second part of section 149. Similarly, if a body of persons go armed to take forcible possession of the land, it would be equally right to say that they have the knowledge that murder is likely to be committed if the circumstances as to the weapons carried and other conduct of the members of the unlawful assembly clearly point to such knowledge on the part of them all.

*22. In Shambhu Nath Singh and Ors. v. State of Bihar MANU/SC/0214/1959 : AIR 1960 SC 725, this Court held that members of an unlawful assembly may have a community of object upto a certain point beyond which they may differ in their objects and the knowledge possessed by each member of what is likely to be committed in prosecution of their common object may vary not only according to the information at his command but also according to the extent to which he shares the community of object. As a consequence, the effect of Section 149 of the Indian Penal Code may be different on different members of the same unlawful assembly. Decisions of this Court Gangadhar Behera and Ors. v. State of Orissa MANU/SC/0875/2002 : 2002 (8) SCC 381 and Bishna Alias Bhiswadeb Mahato and Ors. v. State of West Bengal MANU/SC/1913/2005 : 200*5 (12) SCC 657 similarly explain and reiterate the legal position on the subject."

17. Hon'ble Supreme Court Of India in Kuldip Yadav and Ors. Vs. State of Bihar, MANU/SC/0390/2011 while commenting on the scope of conviction with the aid of section 149 of penal Code has held as under :-

"Para 25-.....149. Every member of unlawful assembly guilty of offence committed in prosecution of common object.-If an offence is committed by any member of an unlawful assembly in prosecution of the common object of that assembly, or such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object, every person who, at the time of the committing of that offence, is a member of the same assembly, is guilty of that offence.

26. The above provision makes it clear that before convicting accused with the aid of Section 149 IPC, the Court must give clear finding regarding nature of common object and that the object was unlawful. In the absence of such finding as also any overt act on the part of the accused persons, mere fact that they were armed would not be sufficient to prove common object. Section 149 creates a specific offence and deals with punishment of that offence. Whenever the court convicts any person or persons of an offence with the aid of Section 149, a clear finding regarding the common object of the assembly must be given and the evidence discussed must show not only the nature of the common object but also that the object was unlawful. Before recording a conviction under Section 149 IPC, essential ingredients of Section 141 IPC must be established.

The above principles have been reiterated in Bhudeo Mandal and Ors. v. State of Bihar MANU/SC/0125/1981 : (1981) 2 SCC 755.

27. In Ranbir Yadav v. State of Bihar MANU/SC/0245/1995 : (1995) 4 SCC 392, this Court highlighted that where there are party factions, there is a tendency to include the innocent with the guilty and it is extremely difficult for the court to guard against such a danger. It was pointed out that the only real safeguard against the risk of condemning the innocent with the guilty lies in insisting on acceptable evidence which in some measure implicates such accused and satisfies the conscience of the court.

28. In Allauddin Mian and Ors. Sharif Mian and Anr. v. State of Bihar MANU/SC/0648/1988 : (1989) 3 SCC 5, this Court held: ...Therefore, in order to fasten vicarious responsibility on any member of an unlawful assembly the prosecution must prove that the act constituting an offence was done in prosecution of the common object of that assembly or the act done is such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object of that assembly. Under this section, therefore, every member of an unlawful assembly renders himself liable for the criminal act or acts of any other member or members of that assembly provided the same is/are done in prosecution of the common object or is/are such as every member of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed. This section creates a specific offence and makes every member of the unlawful assembly liable for the offence or offences committed in the course of the occurrence provided the same was/were committed in prosecution of the common object or was/were such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed. Since this section imposes a constructive penal liability, it must be strictly construed as it seeks to punish members of an unlawful assembly for the offence or offences committed by their associate or associates in carrying out the common object of the assembly. What is important in each case is to find out if the offence was committed to accomplish the common object of the assembly or was one which the members knew to be likely to be committed. There must be a nexus between the common object and the offence committed and if it is found that the same was committed to accomplish the common object every member of the assembly will become liable for the same. Therefore, any offence committed by a member of an unlawful assembly in prosecution of any one or more of the five objects mentioned in Section 141 will render his companions constituting the unlawful assembly liable for that offence with the aid of Section 149, IPC....

29. It is not the intention of the legislature in enacting Section 149 to render every member of unlawful assembly liable to punishment for every offence committed by one or more of its members. In order to attract Section 149, it must be shown that the incriminating act was done to accomplish the common object of unlawful assembly and it must be within the knowledge of other members as one likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object. If the members of the assembly knew or were aware of the likelihood of a particular offence being committed in prosecution of the common object, they would be liable for the same under Section 149 IPC.

30. In Rajendra Shantaram Todankar v. State of Maharashtra and Ors. MANU/SC/0002/2003 : (2003) 2 SCC 257 : 2003 SCC (Crl.) 506, this Court has once again explained Section 149 and held as under:

14. Section 149 of the Indian Penal Code provides that if an offence is committed by any member of an unlawful assembly in prosecution of the common object of that assembly, or such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object, every person who at the time of the committing of that offence, is a member of the same assembly is guilty of that offence. The two clauses of Section 149 vary in degree of certainty. The first clause contemplates the commission of an offence by any member of an unlawful assembly which can be held to have been committed in prosecution of the common object of the assembly. The second clause embraces within its fold the commission of an act which may not necessarily be the common object of the assembly, nevertheless, the members of the assembly had knowledge of likelihood of the commission of that offence in prosecution of the common object. The common object may be commission of one offence while there may be likelihood of the commission of yet another offence, the knowledge whereof is capable of being safely attributable to the members of the unlawful assembly. In either case, every member of the assembly would be vicariously liable for the offence actually committed by any other member of the assembly. A mere possibility of the commission of the offence would not necessarily enable the court to draw an inference that the likelihood of commission of such offence was within the knowledge of every member of the unlawful assembly. It is difficult indeed, though not impossible, to collect direct evidence of such knowledge. An inference may be drawn from circumstances such as the background of the incident, the motive, the nature of the assembly, the nature of the arms carried by the members of the assembly, their common object and the behavior of the members soon before, at or after the actual commission of the crime. Unless the applicability of Section 149 - either clause - is attracted and the court is convinced, on facts and in law, both, of liability capable of being fastened vicariously by reference to either clause of Section 149 IPC, merely because a criminal act was committed by a member of the assembly every other member thereof would not necessarily become liable for such criminal act. The inference as to likelihood of the commission of the given criminal act must be capable of being held to be within the knowledge of another member of the assembly who is sought to be held vicariously liable for the said criminal act...." (Emphasis ours)

18. Hon'ble Supreme Court Of India in Manjit Singh Vs. The State of Punjab, MANU/SC/1195/2019 held as under :-

"14.4. In the case of Subal Ghoral v state of West Bengal, MANU/SC/0296/2013 (supra), this Court, after a survey of leading cases, summed up the principles as follows:

52. The above judgments outline the scope of Section 149 Indian Penal Code. We need to sum up the principles so as to examine the present case in their light. Section 141 Indian Penal Code defines unlawful assembly to be an assembly of five or more persons. They must have common object to commit an offence. Section 142 Indian Penal Code postulates that whoever being aware of facts which render any assembly an unlawful one intentionally joins the same would be a member thereof. Section 143 Indian Penal Code provides for punishment for being a member of unlawful assembly. Section 149 Indian Penal Code provides for constructive liability of every person of an unlawful assembly if an offence is committed by any member thereof in prosecution of the common object of that assembly or such of the members of that assembly who knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object. The most important ingredient of unlawful assembly is common object. Common object of the persons composing that assembly is to do any act or acts stated in clauses "First", "Second", "Third", "Fourth" and "Fifth" of that section. Common object can be formed on the spur of the moment. Course of conduct adopted by the members of common assembly is a relevant factor. At what point of time common object of unlawful assembly was formed would depend upon the facts and circumstances of each case. Once the case of theperson falls within the ingredients of Section 149 Indian Penal Code, the question that he did nothing with his own hands would be immaterial. If an offence is committed by a member of the unlawful assembly in prosecution of the common object, any member of the unlawful assembly who was present at the time of commission of offence and who shared the common object of that assembly would be liable for the commission of that offence even if no overt act was committed by him. If a large crowd of persons armed with weapons assaults intended victims, all may not take part in the actual assault. If weapons carried by some members were not used, that would not absolve them of liability for the offence with the aid of Section 149 Indian Penal Code if they shared common object of the unlawful assembly.

53. But this concept of constructive liability must not be so stretched as to lead to false implication of innocent bystanders. Quite often, people gather at the scene of offence out of curiosity. They do not share common object of the unlawful assembly. If a general allegation is made against large number of people, the court has to be cautious. It must guard against the possibility of convicting mere passive onlookers who did not share the common object of the unlawful assembly. Unless reasonable direct or indirect circumstances lend assurance to the prosecution case that they shared common object of the unlawful assembly, they cannot be convicted with the aid of Section 149 Indian Penal Code. It must be proved in each case that the person concerned was not only a member of the unlawful assembly at some stage, but at all the crucial stages and shared the common object of the assembly at all stages. The court must have before it some materials to form an opinion that the Accused shared common object. What the common object of the unlawful assembly is at a particular stage has to be determined keeping in view the course of conduct of the members of the unlawful assembly before and at the time of attack, their behaviour at or near the scene of offence, the motive for the crime, the arms carried by them and such other relevant considerations. The criminal court has to conduct this difficult and meticulous exercise of assessing evidence to avoid roping innocent people in the crime. These principles laid down by this Court do not dilute the concept of constructive liability. They embody a Rule of caution."

19. Therefore the evidence of the instant case is to be appreciated on the basis of principles highlighted in the above mentioned case reports.The facts of the case, as are canvassed by the prosecution eye witnesses PW-1 Rafique and PW-2 Shamim, who claimed to have seen the crime, are to the tune that when deceased at the fateful night arrived at the house of Munna, with his brother Rafique and called him, he was dragged in the house by the accused persons. Deceased was further dragged towards the inner side of the house to a place called "Baretha', and it was there, while he was being caught hold by other accused persons, Siya Ram stabbed him in the stomach. Perusal of First Information Report would also reveal that no motive of the crime has been attributed to the accused persons. However, it has come in the statement of P.W.-1 Rafique that there was some dispute between the deceased Zaheer and Siya Ram with regard to the payment of some money, but nothing has come either in the statement of this witness or other witnesses of the prosecution as to what was the transaction between the deceased and Siya Ram. No other prosecution witness has stated about this motive, therefore, this motive in the facts and circumstances of the case appears to be neither genuine nor has been proved by the prosecution. P.W.-1/Rafique Khan in his cross-examination has stated that a women lived in the house of Munna and she was on talking terms with his brother Zaheer. He further stated to have informed "Daroga Ji' (investigating officer) that this lady was of loose character and due to this, his brother has been killed. P.W.-5/M.M. Khan, Investigating Officer in his evidence has stated that deceased and accused persons were having illicit relationship with the same women, but neither he nor P.W.-1/Rafique has stated as to who was the women with whom deceased as well as accused persons were having illicit relationship. Therefore this Lady has also not been identified by the Investigating Officer as well as by P.W.-1/Rafique. Hence this motive is also not proved by prosecution.

20. Though, no motive of the crime was alleged in the FIR, however, in the statement before the Court, a motive pertaining to some dispute of money was attempted to be developed by P.W.-1/Rafique. However, during his cross-examination he developed another motive, when he stated that his brother has been killed as he was having terms with a lady living in the house of Munna, but no name and particulars of that lady was narrated by him. Therefore, in the facts and circumstances of the case, no motive has been proved by the prosecution which may be accepted in the facts and circumstances of the case, which might have prompted the accused persons to commit the crime.

It is true that in a case based on direct evidence, motive looses its significance, however, since here we are dealing with a case, where no prior enmity between the deceased Zaheer and accused persons has been proved and in the background of the fact that it is not a case where accused persons have gone somewhere by forming an unlawful assembly rather Victim Zaheer himself came to the place of occurrence, which is the dwelling house of some of the accused persons, therefore, the motive in the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case, becomes important in the background that the accused persons have been convicted by the Trial Court with the aid of Section 149 of I.P.C. and it was not the case of prosecution that on the fateful day accused persons were having any prior information that deceased Zaheer was coming to the house of Munna. Per contra, the case of the prosecution is that, on the fateful day, as Munna did not go to the shop of Zaheer and as deceased had taken some assignment of decoration in a village and material of the same had already been dispatched, they came to Munna's house to take him to fix decorative lights at the site and when deceased Zaheer gave a call to Munna, accused persons dragged him inside the house and P.W.-1/Rafique remained outside at the main door as accused persons dragged the deceased inside for some distance and thereafter Siya Ram took out a knife from his pocket and stabbed Zaheer in Stomach and thereafter all accused persons fled away.

21. It has also come in the evidence that at the time of incident only a ''Dhibri' was lighted at the ''Barotha'. P.W/.-5/Investigating Officer Shri M.M. Khan in his evidence has stated that those standing at B and C points in the Map could not see anything happening at the Point-A. It is to be recalled that P.W.-2/Mohd. Shamim has stated that he along with DW-4 Krishna Kumar witnessed the crime while standing at Point-B and C. So keeping in view the fact that there was only a ''Dhibri' lighting and though PW-1 Rafique was having torch with him, he could not have seen the minute details of incident happening at or beyond ''Barotha', as is evident from the Site Plan, Exhibit-ka-10. Both witnesses of fact P.W.-1/Rafique and P.W.-2/Mohd. Shamim have also admitted that they did not go inside the house beond the main door till accused persons fled away. Therefore both these witnesses may have an impression of involvement of all accused persons in the incident.

22. We now revert to the discussion that nobody amongst the accused persons was having any information that deceased and his brother Rafique was coming to take Munna with them and on being called, the accused persons, in the spur of the moment, dragged Zaheer inside and after dragging him for some distance, he was caught hold by accused persons and, thereafter, Siya Ram stabbed him in the Stomach. This part of the story of prosecution is highly improbable and not acceptable as when the accused persons were not having any prior information or knowledge about the arrival of deceased, there is no possibility that any unlawful assembly might be formed by accused persons before that time, either to cause murder or hurt to deceased Zaheer. Now, when there is no previous enmity proved between accused persons and the deceased, the unlawful assembly could not have been formed at the point when Zaheer gave a call to Munna from his main door. So the only probability or possibility of formation of an unlawful assembly may be at the time, when accused persons saw the deceased Zaheer. In this backdrop, statement of Investigating Officer P.W.-5/Shri M.M. Khan is significant, when he stated that he did not find any sign of Scuffle near the dead body. In the same line is the statement of P.W.-4/Dr. Nalini Kant Tripathi, who conducted the postmortem on the body of the deceased and stated that there were only 02 incised wounds, one at Stomach and another at waist of the deceased. He categorically stated that apart from these 02 injuries, there was no other injury of any kind found on the body of the deceased. He specifically stated that there was no bruise, contusion or abrasion found on the body of the deceased. It is highly improbable, rather next to impossible that if deceased was being dragged for some distance by 7 or 8 persons and was having a scuffle, which is natural in the facts and circumstances of the case, he would not receive any kind of marks or injuries on his body during the dragging. Certainly he shall receive at least bruises, contusions or abrasions or, at least, some marks on his wrist or hands, when he was caught hold by 7 to 8 persons. Strangely, neither any injury nor any such mark has been found on the body of the deceased and absence of any such injury or mark, which may be the result of dragging and scuffling or even of catching hold coupled with the statement of P.W.-5/Shri M.M. Khan, Investigating Officer that he did not notice any sign of struggle near the body, belies the statement of prosecution eye witnesses, so far as their statement pertaining to the dragging of the deceased by 7 or 8 persons inside the house of Ram Shanker is concerned.

In Lallu Manjhi vs. State of Jharkhand, AIR 2003 SC 854, Hon,ble Supreme Court has held in Para 10 that "The Law of Evidence does not require any particular number of witnesses to be examined in proof of a given fact. However, faced with the testimony of a single witness, the Court may classify the oral testimony into three categories, namely (i) wholly reliable, (ii) wholly unreliable and (iii) neither wholly reliable, nor wholly unreliable. In the first two categories there may be no difficulty in accepting or discarding the testimony of the single witness. The difficulty arises in the third category of cases. The Court has to be circumspect and has to look for corroboration in material particulars by reliable testimony, direct or circumstantial, before acting upon testimony of a single witness."

In AIR 2003 SUPREME COURT 3617, Sucha singh v/s State of Punjab Honble Apex Court after considering Masalti and others vs. State of U.P. MANU/SC/0074/1964, State of Punjab v. Jagir Singh (AIR 1973 SC 2407) and Lehna v. State of Haryana (2002 (3) SCC 76), has opined as under:- "Stress was laid by the accused-appellants on the non-acceptance of evidence tendered by some witnesses to contend about desirability to throw out entire prosecution case. In essence prayer is to apply the principle of "falsus in uno falsus in omnibus" (false in one thing, false in everything). This plea is clearly untenable. Even if major portion of evidence is found to be deficient, in case residue is sufficient to prove guilt of an accused, notwithstanding acquittal of number of other co-accused persons, his conviction can be maintained. It is the duty of Court to separate grain from chaff. Where chaff can be separated from grain, it would be open to the Court to convict an accused notwithstanding the fact that evidence has been found to be deficient to prove guilt of other accused persons. Falsity of particular material witness or material particular would not ruin it from the beginning to end. The maxim "falsus in uno falsus in omnibus" has no application in India and the witnesses cannot be branded as liar. The maxim "falsus in uno falsus in omnibus" has not received general acceptance nor has this maxim come to occupy the status of rule of law. It is merely a rule of caution. All that it amounts to, is that in such cases testimony may be disregarded, and not that it must be disregarded. The doctrine merely involves the question of weight of evidence which a Court may apply in a given set of circumstances, but it is not what may be called 'a mandatory rule of evidence.' (See Nisar Ali v. State of Uttar Pradesh (AIR 1957 SC 366). Merely because some of the accused persons have been acquitted, though evidence against all of them, so far as direct testimony went, was the same does not lead as a necessary corollary that those who have been convicted must also be acquitted. It is always open to a Court to differentiate accused who had been acquitted from those who were convicted. (See Gurcharan Singh and another v. (AIR 1956 SC 460). The doctrine is a dangerous one specially in India for if a whole body of the testimony were to be rejected, because18witness was evidently speaking an untruth in some aspect, it is to be feared that administration of criminal justicewould come to a dead stop. Witnesses just cannot help in giving embroidery to a story, however, true in the main. Therefore, it has to be appraised in each case as to what extent the evidence is worthy of acceptance, and merely because in some respects the Court considers the same to be insufficient for placing reliance on the testimony of a witness, it does not necessarily follow as a matter of law that it must be disregarded in all respects as well. The evidence has to be shifted with care. The aforesaid dictum is not a sound rule for the reason that one hardly comes across a witness whose evidence does not contain a grain of untruth or at any rate exaggeration, embroideries or embellishment. (See Sohrab s/o Beli Nayata and another v. State of Madhya Pradesh, 1972 3 SCC 751) and Ugar Ahir and others v. State of Bihar (AIR 1965 SC 277). An attempt has to be made to, as noted above, in terms of felicitous metaphor, separate grain from the chaff, truth from falsehood. Where it is not feasible to separate truth from falsehood, because grain and chaff are inextricably mixed up, and in the process of separation an absolutely new case has to be reconstructed by divorcing essential details presented by the prosecution completely from the context and the background against which they are made, the only available course to be made is to discard the evidence in toto. (See Zwinglee Ariel v. State of Madhya Pradesh (AIR 1954 SC 15) and Balaka Singh and others v.state of punjab (AIR 1975 SC 1962). As observed by this Court in State of Rajasthan v. Smt. Kalki and another (AIR 1981 SC 1390), normal discrepancies in evidence are those which are due to normal errors of observation, normal errors of memory due to lapse of time, due to mental disposition such as shock and horror at the time of occurrence and those are always there however honest and truthful a witness may be. Material discrepancies are those which are not normal, and not expected of a normal person. Courts have to label the category to which a discrepancy may be categorized. While normal discrepancies do not corrode the credibility of a party's case, material discrepancies do so. These aspects were highlighted recently in Krishna Mochi and others v. State of Bihar etc. (2002 (4) JT (SC) 186)."

23. Therefore the fact of dragging the deceased by appellants for some distance, in absence of any injury or mark on his body and at the spot, does not appear to be either probable or has been proved by the evidence available on record. Now, when the dragging part of the story of the prosecution has not been found truthful and acceptable, there is nothing in the evidence produced by the prosecution, which may classify the assembly of the accused persons as Unlawful Assembly. In absence of any previous enmity and any prior information of the arrival of deceased at the house of Munna, the assembly of accused persons at the house of Ram Shanker could not be termed as Unlawful Assembly. Therefore, what transpires from the evidence available on record is, that when deceased Zaheer went inside the house of Ram Shanker, as he was a regular visitor of house of Munna, accused persons were inside the house and there was some scuffle of the deceased only with Siya Ram as a result of which he stabbed the deceased in his Stomach and by such assault, the deceased died at the spot. In this whole factual backdrop, there was no possibility of formation of any unlawful assembly by the accused appellants, with an object to murder Zaheer.

In AIR 2013 SUPREME COURT 3150, Raj Kumar Singh alias Raju alias Batya v. State of Rajasthan, Hon,ble Supreme Court has held that Para 17 "Suspicion, however grave it may be, cannot take place of proof and there is a large difference between something that 'may be' proved and 'will be proved'. In a criminal trial, suspicion no matter how strong, cannot and must not be permitted to take place of proof. This is for the reason, that the mental distance between 'may be' and 'must be' is quite large and divides vague conjectures from sure conclusions. In a criminal case, the Court has a duty to ensure that mere conjectures or suspicion do not take the place of legal proof. The large distance between 'may be' true and 'must be' true, must be covered by way of clear, cogent and unimpeachable evidence produced by the prosecution, before an accused is condemned as a convict, and the basic and golden rule must be applied. In such cases, while keeping in mind the distance between 'may be' true and 'must be' true, the Court must maintain the vital distance between conjectures and sure conclusions to be arrived at, on the touchstone of dispassionate judicial scrutiny based upon a complete and comprehensive appreciation of all features of the case, as well as the quality and credibility of the evidence brought on record. The Court must ensure, that miscarriage of justice is avoided and if the facts and circumstances of a case so demand, then the benefit of doubt must be given to the accused, keeping in mind that a reasonable doubt is not an imaginary, trivial or a merely probable doubt, but a fair doubt that is based upon reason and common sense."

Therefore, keeping in view the evidence on record, it is evident that there was no unlawful assembly formed by accused persons, as there was neither any motive nor sufficient time or prior information of the arrival of deceased nor it is proved that all accused persons dragged the deceased inside the house, as no injury of any kind has been found on the person of the deceased except two incised wounds stated to be inflicted by Siya Ram. Therefore, Simply by standing and witnessing a quarrel from howsoever close range, could not render the other appellants as being part and parcel of any unlawful assembly. In view of above discussion, it can not be believed that the accused persons had formed any unlawful assembly or had acted in furtherance of any unlawful object or common intention.

24. The instant case can be viewed from another angle as there cannot be any doubt to the preposition that unlawful assembly could also be formed at the spur of the moment just before or during the occurrence. It has been held by Catena of Decisions, some of which have been quoted herein-before, that the formation of any unlawful assembly can be gathered by the behavior of the assembly prior, during or subsequent to the commission of the crime as well as the arms, which are being carried by the members of such Unlawful Assembly and also the manner of assault. As said earlier, It is also possible that any unlawful assembly may be formed at the spur of the moment, but for that purpose, in our considered opinion, there must be some prior enmity between the parties, so on the basis of that enmity without happening of anything special or without any communication between the members, the accused persons may form an assembly instantly, which may be unlawful, having an illegal object. But here we are dealing with a case, where no prior enmity has been proved and the motive, which has been suggested is neither acceptable nor proved in the facts and circumstances of the case. The admitted facts on record are that none of the appellants, except Siya Ram, was carrying any arm of any kind at the place of incidence. It is also established that only Siya Ram is possessing a knife or any other sharp edged weapon and this was not disclosed to any other appellant. Nothing has either been produced on record or stated by any eye witness as to what communication, if any ?, the members of the unlawful assembly were making with each other, during the time of alleged scuffle, whereby any inference of instant formation of unlawful assembly can be derived. Therefore there is no evidence available on record whereby the formation of any unlawful assembly, in the spur of the moment, may be inferred either before or during the alleged scuffle, as no sign of any scuffle has either been found on the spot or on the body of deceased and the part of the prosecution story pertaining to dragging of deceased by all accused persons inside the house of Ram Shanker has been held herein before, not believable. Hence there is nothing left on record which may prove the fact that the accused persons during the course of alleged scuffle were having any conversation with each other, which may suggest that any unlawful assembly was actually formed in the spur of moment and the proved facts suggest only one inference that whatever arguments or any scuffle occurred at that point of time the same occurred only between the deceased and the appellant Siya Ram and other appellants were only present there and that there was no unlawful assembly formed either before or during the occurrence.

In fact the prosecution is completely silent on the point as to whether any communication was made between Siyaram and other members of alleged unlawful assembly during alleged assault. None of the eye witnesses has stated anything allegedly done or said by the other accused persons during alleged scuffle. As said earlier, the theory of prosecution pertaining to the fact that the deceased was dragged by all accused persons in the house has not been found believable, in the facts and circumstances of the case, nothing thereafter is left on record which may render the assembly of accused persons in the house of Ram Shanker, as unlawful. When formation of any unlawful assembly either at the beginning or during the course of occurrence is not proved, the appellants could not be convicted with the aid of Section 149 of the I.P.C. Hence, in this situation, the role of every individual accused/appellant is to be seen for the purpose of determining his culpability. The theory of prosecution that other accused persons except Siya Ram caught hold of the deceased is not truthful and it appears that the genesis of the incident has been suppressed by the prosecution and also that there is no overt assigned to the other accused persons (Except Siya Ram), therefore, all accused persons except Siya Ram appear to have committed no offence. Simply being present in the house of Ram Shanker could not be an offence, when formation of any unlawful assembly with any of the object classified under Section 141 of the I.P.C. has not been found proved. In these circumstances, the appellants i.e. Karan Singh, Harish Chandra, Ram Shanker and Kalloo are liable to be acquitted of the charges framed against them.

25. Ld. Counsel for the appellants has also submitted that even if the prosecution case is taken to be established with regard to appellant Siya Ram, his act will not travel beyond the ambit of section 304 part II and according to him the trial Court has acted illegally in convicting him under section 302 IPC.

Hon'ble Supreme Court in Budhi Singh Vs. State of H.P. reported in MANU/SC/1126/2012 has held as under:-

"21. From the above conspectus, it emerges that whenever a court is confronted with the question whether the offence is "murder" or "culpable: homicide not amounting to murder", on the facts of a case, it will be convenient for it to approach the problem in three stages. The question to be considered at the first stage would be, whether the accused has done an act by doing which he has caused the death of another. Proof of such causal connection between the act of the accused and the death, leads to the second stage for considering whether that act of the accused amounts to "culpable homicide" as defined in Section 299. If the answer to this question is prima facie found in the affirmative, the stage for considering the operation of Section 300 of the Penal Code, is reached. This is the stage at which the court should determine whether the facts proved by the prosecution bring the case within the ambit of any of the four clauses of the definition of "murder" contained in Section 300. If the answer to this question is in the negative the offence would be "culpable homicide not amounting to murder", punishable under the first or the second part of Section 304, depending, respectively, on whether the second or the third clause of Section 299 is applicable. If this question is found in the positive, but the case comes within any of the exceptions enumerated in Section 300, the offence would still be "culpable homicide not amounting to murder", punishable under the first part of Section 304, of the Penal Code.

22. The above are only broad guidelines and not cast-iron imperatives. In most cases, their observance will facilitate the task of the court. But sometimes the facts are so intertwined and the second and the third stages so telescoped into each other, that it may not be convenient to give a separate treatment to the matters involved in the second and third stages.

11. A Bench of this Court in the case of Thangaiya v. State of Tamil Nadu [MANU/SC/1046/2004 : (2005) 9 SCC 650] pointed out the distinction between the two sections and observed as under:

9. This brings us to the crucial question as to which was the appropriate provision to be applied. In the scheme of Indian Penal Code culpable homicide is the genus and "murder" its specie. All "murder" is "culpable homicide" but not vice versa. Speaking generally, "culpable homicide" sans "special characteristics of murder is culpable homicide not amounting to murder". For the purpose of fixing punishment, proportionate to the gravity of the generic offence, Indian Penal Code practically recognises three degrees of culpable homicide. The first is, what may be called, "culpable homicide of the first degree". This is the gravest form of culpable homicide, which is defined in Section 300 as "murder". The second may be termed as "culpable homicide of the second degree". This is punishable under the first part of Section 304. Then, there is "culpable homicide of the third degree". This is the lowest type of culpable homicide and the punishment provided for it is also the lowest among the punishments provided for the three grades. Culpable homicide of this degree is punishable under the second part of Section 304."

Hon'ble Supreme Court Of India in Arjun and Ors. Vs State of Chhattisgarh reported in MANU/SC/0153/2017, wherein the appellants assaulted the deceased with katta, gandasa and stone and deceased fell down and sustained injuries on his head and his brain matter came out and he died on the way to the hospital has held as under :-

"20. To invoke this exception (4), the requirements that are to be fulfilled have been laid down by this Court in Surinder Kumar v. Union Territory of Chandigarh MANU/SC/0589/1989 : (1989) 2 SCC 217, it has been explained as under:
7. To invoke this exception four requirements must be satisfied, namely, (i) it was a sudden fight; (ii) there was no premeditation; (iii) the act was done in a heat of passion; and (iv) the assailant had not taken any undue advantage or acted in a cruel manner. The cause of the quarrel is not relevant nor is it relevant who offered the provocation or started the assault. The number of wounds caused during the occurrence is not a decisive factor but what is important is that the occurrence must have been sudden and unpremeditated and the offender must have acted in a fit of anger. Of course, the offender must not have taken any undue advantage or acted in a cruel manner. Where, on a sudden quarrel, a person in the heat of the moment picks up a weapon which is handy and causes injuries, one of which proves fatal, he would be entitled to the benefit of this exception provided he has not acted cruelly.....

21. Further in the case of Arumugam v. State, Represented by Inspector of Police, Tamil Nadu MANU/SC/8108/2008 : (2008) 15 SCC 590, in support of the proposition of law that under what circumstances exception (4) to Section 300 Indian Penal Code can be invoked if death is caused, it has been explained as under:

18. The help of Exception 4 can be invoked if death is caused (a) without premeditation; (b) in a sudden fight; (c) without the offender's having taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner; and (d) the fight must have been with the person killed. To bring a case within Exception 4 all the ingredients mentioned in it must be found. It is to be noted that the 'fight' occurring in Exception 4 to Section 300 Indian Penal Code is not defined in the Penal Code, 1860. It takes two to make a fight. Heat of passion requires that there must be no time for the passions to cool down and in this case, the parties had worked themselves into a fury on account of the verbal altercation in the beginning. A fight is a combat between two and more persons whether with or without weapons. It is not possible to enunciate any general Rule as to what shall be deemed to be a sudden quarrel. It is a question of fact and whether a quarrel is sudden or not must necessarily depend upon the proved facts of each case. For the application of Exception 4, it is not sufficient to show that there was a sudden quarrel and there was no premeditation. It must further be shown that the offender has not taken undue advantage or acted in cruel or unusual manner. The expression 'undue advantage' as used in the provision means 'unfair advantage'.

23. When and if there is intent and knowledge, then the same would be a case of Section 304 Part I Indian Penal Code and if it is only a case of knowledge and not the intention to cause murder and bodily injury, then the same would be a case of Section 304 Part II Indian Penal Code. Injuries/incised wound caused on the head i.e. right parietal region and right temporal region and also occipital region, the injuries indicate that the Appellants had intention and knowledge to cause the injuries and thus it would be a case falling Under Section 304 Part I Indian Penal Code. The conviction of the Appellants Under Section 302 read with Section 34 Indian Penal Code is modified Under Section 304 Part I Indian Penal Code. As per the Jail Custody Certificates on record, the Appellants have served 9 years 3 months and 13 days as on 2nd March, 2016, which means as on date the Appellants have served 9 years 11 months. Taking into account the facts and circumstances in which the offence has been committed, for the modified conviction Under Section 304 Part I Indian Penal Code, the sentence is modified to that of the period already undergone."

In Surinder Kumar v. Union Territory, Chandigarh MANU/SC/0589/1989 (1989) 2 SCC 217, Hon'ble Supreme Court held that if on a sudden quarrel a person in the heat of the moment picks up a weapon which is handy and causes injuries out of which only one proves fatal, he would be entitled to the benefit of the Exception of section 300 IPC provided he has not acted cruelly. It was held that the number of wounds caused during the occurrence in such a situation was not the decisive factor. What was important was that the occurrence had taken place on account of a sudden and unpremeditated fight and the offender must have acted in a fit of anger. Dealing with the provision of Exception 4 to Section 300 this Court observed:

"..... To invoke this exception four requirements must be satisfied, namely, (i) it was a sudden fight; (ii) there was no premeditation; (iii) the act was done in a heat of passion; and (iv) the assailant had not taken any undue advantage or acted in a cruel manner. The cause of the quarrel is not relevant nor is it relevant who offered the provocation or started the assault. In Ghapoo Yadav and Ors. v. State of M.P. (2003) 3 SCC 528, MANU/SC/0124/2003, it is held as under :-

In Sukhbir Singh v. State of Haryana (2002) MANU / SC/0116/2002, (2002) 3 SCC 327, the appellant caused two Bhala blows on the vital part of the body of the deceased that was sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. The High Court held that the appellant had acted in a cruel and unusual manner in following words :-

"...All fatal injuries resulting in death cannot be termed as cruel or unusual for the purposes of not availing the benefit of Exception 4 of Section 300 IPC. After the injuries were inflicted and the injured had fallen down, the appellant is not shown to have inflicted any other injury upon his person when he was in a helpless position. It is proved that in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel followed by a fight, the accused who was armed with Bhala caused injuries at random and thus did not act in a cruel or unusual manner."

The question whether the act of the appellant will fall undder Section 304 Part I or Part II of the IPC, a distinction between these two parts of that provision was drawn in Alister Anthony Pareira v. State of Maharashtra (2012) 2 SCC 648, MANU/SC/0015/2012 in the following words:

"..... For punishment under Section 304 Part I, the prosecution must prove: the death of the person in question; that such death was caused by the act of the accused and that the accused intended by such act to cause death or cause such bodily injury as was likely to cause death. As regards punishment for Section 304 Part II, the prosecution has to prove the death of the person in question; that such death was caused by the act of the accused and that he knew that such act of his was likely to cause death...."

In Singapagu Anjaiah v. State of Andhra Pradesh (2010) 9 SCC 799, MANU/SC/0451/2010, it was observed:

"16. In our opinion, as nobody can enter into the mind of the accused, its intention has to be gathered from the weapon used, the part of the body chosen for the assault and the nature of the injuries caused..."

In Basdev v. The State of PEPSU AIR 1956 SC 488, drew a distinction between motive, intention and knowledge in the following words:

Motive is something which prompts a man to form an intention and knowledge is an awareness of the consequences of the act. In many cases intention and knowledge merge into each other and mean the same thing more or less and intention can be presumed from knowledge. The demarcating line between knowledge and intention is no doubt thin but it is not difficult to perceive that they connote different things..."

Hon'ble Supreme Court in Pulicherla Nagaraju @ Nagaraja Reddy v. State of Andhra Pradesh (2006) 11 SCC 444, MANU/SC/8419/2006 enumerated some of the circumstances relevant to find out whether there was any intention to cause death on the part of the accused :-

"...Therefore, the court should proceed to decide the pivotal question of intention, with care and caution, as that will decide whether the case falls under Section 302 or 304 Part I or 304 Part II. Many petty or insignificant matters - plucking of a fruit, straying of a cattle, quarrel of children, utterance of a rude word or even an objectionable glance, may lead to altercations and group clashes culminating in deaths. Usual motives like revenge, greed, jealousy or suspicion may be totally absent in such cases. There may be no intention. There may be no pre- meditation. In fact, there may not even be criminality. At the other end of the spectrum, there may be cases of murder where the accused attempts to avoid the penalty for murder by attempting to put forth a case that there was no intention to cause death. It is for the courts to ensure that the cases of murder punishable under Section 302, are not converted into offences punishable under Section 304 Part I/II, or cases of culpable homicide not amounting to murder, are treated as murder punishable under Section 302. The intention to cause death can be gathered generally from a combination of a few or several of the following, among other, circumstances : (i) nature of the weapon used; (ii) whether the weapon was carried by the accused or was picked up from the spot; (iii) whether the blow is aimed at a vital part of the body; (iv) the amount of force employed in causing injury; (v) whether the act was in the course of sudden quarrel or sudden fight or free for all fight; (vi) whether the incident occurs by chance or whether there was any pre-meditation; (vii) whether there was any prior enmity or whether the deceased was a stranger; (viii) whether there was any grave and sudden provocation, and if so, the cause for such provocation; (ix) whether it was in the heat of passion; (x) whether the person inflicting the injury has taken undue advantage or has acted in a cruel and unusual manner; (xi) whether the accused dealt a single blow or several blows. The above list of circumstances is, of course, not exhaustive and there may be several other special circumstances with reference to individual cases which may throw light on the question of intention..."

In the case of Surain Singh Vs. State of Punjab reported in MANU/SC/0399/2017 (2017) 5 SCC 796, Hon'ble Supreme Court has reiterated the settled legal position about the purport of Exception 4 to Section 300 of IPC. In this case, the accused had repeatedly assaulted the deceased with a Kirpan and caused injuries resulting into death. After restating the legal position, the Court converted the offence to one under Section 304 Part-II instead of Section 302 IPC and observed as under:-

"15. The weapon used in the fight between the parties is 'Kirpan' which is used by 'Amritdhari Sikhs' as a spiritual tool. In the present case, the Kirpan used by the Appellant-accused was a small Kirpan. In order to find out whether the instrument or manner of retaliation was cruel and dangerous in its nature, it is clear from the deposition of the Doctor who conducted autopsy on the body of the deceased that stab wounds were present on the right side of the chest and of the back of abdomen which implies that in the spur of the moment, the Appellant-accused inflicted injuries using Kirpan though not on the vital organs of the body of the deceased but he stabbed the deceased which proved fatal. The injury intended by the Accused and actually inflicted by him is sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death or not, must be determined in each case on the basis of the facts and circumstances. In the instant case, the injuries caused were the result of blow with a small Kirpan and it cannot be presumed that the Accused had intended to cause the inflicted injuries. The number of wounds caused during the occurrence is not a decisive factor but what is important is that the occurrence must have been sudden and unpremeditated and the offender must have acted in a fit of anger. Of course, the offender must not have taken any undue advantage or acted in a cruel manner. It is clear from the materials on record that the incident was in a sudden fight and we are of the opinion that the Appellant-accused had not taken any undue advantage or acted in a cruel manner. Where, on a sudden quarrel, a person in the heat of the moment picks up a weapon which is handy and causes injuries, one of which proves fatal, he would be entitled to the benefit of this Exception provided he has not acted cruelly.

16. Thus, if there is intent and knowledge then the same would be a case of Section 304 Part I and if it is only a case of knowledge and not intention to cause murder and bodily injury then the same would fall Under Section 304 Part II. We are inclined to the view that in the facts and circumstances of the present case, it cannot be said that the Appellant-accused had any intention of causing the death of the deceased when he committed the act in question. The incident took place out of grave and sudden provocation and hence the Accused is entitled to the benefit of Section 300 Exception 4 of the Indian Penal Code."

(Emphasis Ours)

Hon'ble Supreme Court in Atul Thakur vs. State of H.P. & others, MANU/ SC/0018/2018, AIR 2018 SC 570, while considering the applicability of Section 304 I.P.C., where deceased was assaulted with knife, held as under:-

"12. Taking overall view of the matter, the facts of the present case warrant invocation of Exception 4 to Section 300 of Indian Penal Code. For, it is a case of culpable homicide not amounting to murder inasmuch as the incident happened on account of sudden fight between the friends who had gathered for a drink party arranged at the behest of Hitesh Thakur. There was no pre-mediation and the act done by the Appellant was in the heat of passion without the Appellant taking any undue advantage or acted in a cruel manner. The number of wounds caused by the Appellant, it is a well established position, by itself cannot be a decisive factor. The High Court committed manifest error in being influenced by the said fact. What is relevant is that the occurrence was sudden and not premeditated and the offender acted in the heat of passion. The evidence supports the case of the Appellant in this behalf. The fact that the Appellant used weapon such as knife, is also not a decisive factor to attract Section 302 of Indian Penal Code. Neither the use of a knife in the commission of offence nor the factum of multiple injuries given by the Appellant would deny the Appellant of the benefit of Exception 4.

Therefore the role of appellant-Siya Ram, in commission of crime, is to be analyzed and appreciated in the background of above mentioned legal position.

26. Perusal of record would reveal that both eye witnesses of the crime i.e. P.W.-1/Rafique and P.W.-2/Mohd. Shamim have categorically stated in their statements that it was Siya Ram, who had stabbed deceased below his chest with a knife, which he was keeping in his pocket. The evidence of these witnesses of fact is believable and is reliable in the facts and circumstances of the case. P.W.-4/Dr. Nalini Kant Tripathi in his statement has corroborated the testimony of these eye witnesses by stating that at the time of postmortem, he found 02 incised wounds i.e. one at the stomach and the other at the waist of the deceased, of the dimension of 5 cm. x 2 cm. and 4 cm. x 2 cm., respectively. These 02 incised wounds correspond to the weapon of assault (knife) allegedly held by the appellant Siya Ram in his hand during the course of incident. P.W.-4 Doctor Nalini Kant Tripathi, further corroborated the testimony of P.W.-1/Rafique and P.W.-2/Mohd. Shamim with regard to the time of death of the deceased about which, he stated that the deceased might have died one day before the postmortem. He also stated that the knife used in the assault was having sharp edges on its both side.

Apart from the above mentioned 02 incised wounds, no other injury has been found on the body of the deceased as well as no other signs of struggle have been noticed by the Doctor on the body of the deceased. He also did not find any contusion, bruise or even friction on any of the part of the deceased. P.W.-4 Doctor Nalini Kant Tripathi has also categorically ruled out that Injury No.2 could not be inflicted to the deceased from behind, if 6 to 7 persons had gripped the deceased from all around. Therefore, it is also established on record that the author of both these injuries found at the person of deceased, was Siya Ram and the same has been caused from the front of the deceased. This factual matrix also finds corroboration from the statement of P.W.-2/Mohd. Shamim at Page No. 2 of his statement, when he stated that only Siya Ram was in front of Zaheer (Deceased) and all other accused persons were standing here and there. Therefore, it is also proved beyond any doubt that fatal injuries to the deceased were actually inflicted by none other than the appellant Siya Ram in his individual capacity and not as a member of any unlawful assembly.

27. The motive suggested by P.W.-1/Rafique in his statement has not been proved and it transpires that either the prosecution has suppressed the actual motive or there was no motive at all. The only significant fact surfaced in the evidence of P.W.-1/Rafique and P.W.-5/Shri M.M. Khan, Investigating Officer of the crime is that there was some woman, who lived in the house of Munna with whom deceased was on talking terms and as per the Investigating Officer, deceased and accused persons were having illicit relationship with one and the same woman and this fact was informed to the Investigating Officer by P.W.-2/Mohd. Shamim. However, in contrast, P.W.-2/Mohd. Shamim in his cross-examination, on being categorically asked has stated that, he did not know whether deceased was of loose character and he did not have any talk with "Daroga Ji' (Investigating Officer) about any illicit relationship of deceased with any woman or regarding him being of loose character. So, in this factual backdrop, no motive or prior enmity of Siya Ram with the deceased has been proved.

28. As has been said earlier there was no prior information available to the accused persons, pertaining to the arrival of deceased Zaheer and it is also established by the acceptable and reliable part of the evidence of P.W.-1/Rafique and P.W.-2/Mohd. Shamim that the incident had happened without any pre-planning or pre-meditation, in the spur of the moment and only 02 blows of knife have been given by appellant Siya Ram in the Stomach and waist of the deceased, it is also established on record that appellant Siya Ram has not acted in any brutal or cruel manner and actually no undue advantage has been taken by him in commission of the crime. Perusal of record further reveals that appellant Siya Ram was of 25 years old on 29.07.1998, when his statement under Section 313 of Cr.P.C. was recorded, therefore, he may be of the age of 45 or 46 years as of now. In the FIR, it is stated that Siya Ram gave a single blow below the chest of the deceased. In Inquest, Exhibit-ka-5, only one injury of knife has been found below the chest, though any question has not been put to the Doctor who conducted the postmortem and the knife, whereby injuries have been caused has not been recovered, the possibility of inflicting of these two injuries by a single blow of any arm having a little longer blade with both sides sharp, could also be not ruled out. P.W.-1/Rafique has also stated that appellant Siya Ram started stabbing deceased below his chest. P.W.-1/Rafique in his cross-examination at Page No. 3 has stated that appellant, Siya Ram gave knife blows to the deceased causing him fall down. P.W.-2/Mohd. Shamim in his evidence has also stated that accused Siya Ram gave 02 blows.

29. Therefore, in peculiar facts and circumstance of the case as well as from the established facts, it is apparent that the act of appellant Siya Ram is covered under Section 304 Part-I of the I.P.C. instead of Section 300 punishable under Section 302 of the I.P.C. and, therefore, appellant Siya Ram is liable to be convicted under Section 304 Part-I of I.P.C. and not under Section 302 I.P.C.

30. In view of our aforesaid discussion, the appeal filed by the appellants namely Karan Singh, Harish Chandra, Ram Shanker and Kalloo is allowed. Appellants are acquitted of the charges levelled against them. From amongst the above appellants, appellant Kallo has been released on remission of sentence by State Government and other appellants are reported to be on bail, therefore, they need not to surrender in this case. Their bail bonds are cancelled and sureties are discharged. However, each of the appellant i.e. Karan Singh, Harish Chandra, Ram Shanker and Kalloo shall file a personal bond and two sureties each in the like amount to the satisfaction of the court concerned in compliance of the Provision as contained under Section 437-A of the Code of Criminal Procedure.

31. So far as appeal pertaining to appellant, Siya Ram is concerned, the same is partly allowed. The conviction of appellant Siya Ram is maintained, but in the facts and circumstances of the case as well as on the basis of established and proved facts, he is convicted under Section 304 Part-I of the I.P.C. instead of Section 302 I.P.C. and his sentence of imprisonment for life, as awarded by the Trial Court is modified to the sentence of 09 years' rigorous imprisonment along with fine of Rs. 20,000/- and in default of payment of fine to undergo further simple imprisonment of 03 months. Out of the amount of fine, Rs. 15,000/- shall be paid to the wife of the deceased (If she is alive), and in case she is dead, this amount shall be paid to his other legal heirs in equal proportion.

Shri Shahid Akhtar, Advocate was appointed as Amicus Curiae in Criminal Appeal No. 1839 of 2004 for appellant/Kalloo will get Rs. 10,000/- as honorarium.

Appellant Siyaram is reported to be on bail. He will surrender before the Trial Court within 15 days from today to serve the sentence as modified by this Court.

A copy of this judgment be sent to the Trial Court immediately for compliance and information.

THE HON'BLE MOHD. FAIZ ALAM KHAN, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 1005 of 2019

Dr. Vishnu Chandra Tripathi & Ors.
...Appellants

Versus

State of U.P. & Anr. ...Respondents

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sri Manoj Kumar Mishra, Sri Vinay Kumar

Counsel for Respondents:
Govt. Advocate, Sri Manoj Kumar Singh

A. Sections 323, 504, 506 IPC & 3(1) DA, Dha, SC/ST (Prevention of Atrocities), Act. - Appeal against conviction. Sections 200, 202, 203 and 204 I.P.C. discussed.

The proceedings under Section 202 the accused has got absolutely no locus standi and is not entitled to be heard on the question whether the process should be issued against him or not."

A wide discretion has been given as to grant or refusal of process and it must be judicially exercised. A person ought not to be dragged into Court merely because a complaint has been filed. If a prima facie case has been made out, the Magistrate ought to issue process and it cannot be refused merely because he thinks that it is unlikely to result in a conviction.

The Magistrate is not to act as a post office in taking cognizance of each and every complaint filed before him and issue process as a matter of course. There must be sufficient indication in the order passed by the Special Judge that he is satisfied that the allegations in the complaint constitute an offence and when considered along with the statements recorded and inquiry report of investigation Under Section 202 of Code of Criminal Procedure, if any, the accused is answerable before the criminal court and there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused Under Section 204 of Code of Criminal Procedure, by issuing process for appearance. Application of mind is best demonstrated by disclosure of mind on the satisfaction.

The summoning order passed by the special Court against law laid down therefore the same could not be allowed to stand.

7. AIR 2012 SUPREME COURT 1921, Nupur Talwar Vs Central Bureau of Investigation & anr.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mohd. Faiz Alam Khan, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the appellants and learned AGA for the State as well as learned counsel for respondent no.2 and perused the record.

2. This Criminal Appeal under Section 14-A(1) SC/ST (P.A.) Act, 1989 has been filed against the order dated 29.3.2019 passed by Special Judge SC/ST Act (Prevention of Atrocities), Act, Bahraich in Criminal Case No. 46/2019 Bindra Pasi Vs. Dr. Vishnu Chandra Tripathi and others, by which the appellants have been summoned under Sections 323, 504, 506 IPC & 3(1) DA, Dha, SC/ST (Prevention of Atrocities), Act, relating to Police Station Kotwali Nagar, District Bahraich.

3. Brief facts giving rise to this appeal are, that a complaint case was filed before Special Judge SC/ST Act, Bahraich by complainant, namely, Bindra Pasi against the appellants alleging that he belongs to a scheduled caste community and for the last many years, he is working as a house hold servant at the residence of Dr. Shiv Prasad Ojha. On 10.2.2019 at about 1,00 P.M. the appellants came to the residence of his Master Dr. Shiv Prasad Ojha. Two out of three persons were holding a briefcase in their hands and on being asked they narrated their names as Dr. Vishnu Chandra Tripathi, Principal Raj College, Jaunpur and Sudhakar Maurya- Accountant of the same College while the third person, namely, Sanjay Kumar Singh introduced himself as clerk in the same College.

4. It is further stated in the complaint that he told these persons that his master is not available at home, on this Dr. Vishnu Chandra Tripathi and Sudhakar Maurya asked his name and on being told they at once became angry and addressed him with his caste. On this he went inside the house and on the instruction of his master informed them that his master will not meet them. On this all these three persons physically assaulted him and also threatened him of his life. They also attempted to drag him towards their vehicle which was standing nearby.He made a noise on which other servants, namely, Shankar Dayal and Kuldeep etc. arrived and helped the complainant. He informed the Police Station Kotwali Nagar about the incident but no action was taken by the police, on which he made a complaint to the Superintendent of Police, Bahraich. He could not get his injuries examined due to his poorness.

5. The trial court after recording the statement of the complainant and his two witnesses, namely, Kuldeep and P.W.2 ? Vikas by impugned order summoned the appellants to face trial under Sections 323, 504, 506 and Section 3(1) Da, Dha of SC/ST Act and the same is the subject matter of this appeal, being challenged by the appellants.

6. Learned counsel for the appellants submits that the appellants are Principal, Accountant and Assistant Teacher of R.K.D. P.G. College, Jaunpur. Earler one Dr. Shiv Prasad Ojha (employer of the complainant) was the Principal of this College, who is a permanent resident of Brahmnipura, whohas retired as Principal of this College.

7. It is next submitted that the appellants no. 1, 2 and 3 are permanent resident of villages situated in Jaunpur district while Dr. Shiv Prasad Ojha, where complainant/ opposite party no.2 is working as domestic, is a resident of Bahraich.

8. It is next submitted that one Dr. Asha Ram made a complaint against Dr. Shiv Prasad Ojha on 4.4.2012 pertaining to some financial embezzlement allegedly made by him and a committee to inquire the matter was constituted, which submitted a reprot against Dr. Shiv Prasad Ojha on 21.6.2018, which was forwarded to Regional Higher Educational Officer/ Administrator, Varanasi Region. A First Information Report was also lodged by appellant no.1 agaisnt Dr. Shiv Prasad Ojha and one other co-accused (Annexure no.2) pertaining to the fact that Dr. Shiv Prasad Ojha is pressurizing the appellant no.1 to illegally provide him a 'Non-encumbrance Certificate' and when he refused to issue the same, on 6.2.2019 two persons came to his house and while showing pistol threatened him to issue the 'Non-encumbrance Certificate' to Dr. Shiv Prasad Ojha otherwise he will be shot dead. It is alleged that when Dr. Shiv Prasad Ojha came to know about the registration of the FIR on 6.2.2019, he through his servant filed instant complaint on 18.2.2019 with the false and fabricated allegations. It is further submitted that the instant complaint is nothing but the counter blast of the First Information Report lodged by the appellant no.1 against Dr. Shiv Prasad Ojha and the complaint has only been lodged because the appellant no.1 refused to issue an illegal 'Non-encumbrance Certificate' to Dr. Shiv Prasad Ojha, which he was requiring to use as his defence in a departmental proceeding instituted against him.

9. It is further submitted that the court below has materially erred in summoning the appellants as it was apparent on the face of the record that the complaint has been made with an ulterior motive. It was the duty of the trial court to see the alleged facts in the back ground of the probability. The facts alleged in the complaint are patently absurd and could not be believed by a normal prudent person and therefore the instant summoning order is nothing but abuse of process of law and therefore is not sustainable and is liable to be set aside.

10. Learned AGA, however, submits that at the stage of summoning deep evaluation of the evidence is not required and only a prima facie case is to be seen. Keeping this principle in view no illegality has been committed by the court below.

11. Learned counsel for the respondent no.2 submits that the appellants despite being informed that Shri Shiv Prasad Ojha does not want to meet them assaulted the complainant as also addressed him with castiest remarks and also dragged him towards their vehicle which was standing nearby.

12. It is further submitted that statement of the complainant has been amply corroborated by the statement of P.W.1 and P.W.2 and therefore there was sufficient material / evidence available with the subordinate court to pass order of summoning. Therefore, no illegality has been done committed by the trial court and no interference is required in the impugned order, therefore the appeal preferred by the appellants is liable to be dismissed.

13. At this juncture it is fruitful to have a look so far as the law pertaining to summoning of the accused persons in a complaint case is concerned and the perusal of the case law mentioned herein below would clearly show that cognizance of an offence on complaint is taken for the purpose of issuing process to the accused. Since it is a process of taking judicial notice of certain facts which constitute an offence, there has to be application of mind as to whether the allegations in the complaint, when considered along with the statements recorded or the inquiry conducted thereon, would constitute violation of law so as to call a person to appear before the criminal court. It is not a mechanical process or matter of course.

14. In C.H.C.L.Employees Stock Option Trust VS. India Infalin Ltd. 2013(4) SCC 505 It was emphasized by the Honble Supreme Court that summoning of accused in a criminal case is a serious matter. Hence, criminal law cannot be set into motion as a matter of course. The order of the Magistrate summoning the accused must reflect that he has applied his mind to the facts of the case and the law applicable thereto. The Magistrate has to record his satisfaction with regard to the existence of a prima facie case on the basis of specific allegations made in the complaint supported by satisfactory evidence and other material on record.

15. In AIR 1998 S. C . 128 , M/s. Pepsi Foods Ltd. and another v. Special Judicial Magistrate and others held as under:-

"Summoning of an accused in a criminal case is a serious matter. Criminal law cannot be set into motion as a matter of course. It is not that the complainant has to bring only two witnesses to support his allegations in the complaint to have the criminal law set into motion. The order of the Magistrate summoning the accused must reflect that he has applied his mind to the facts of the case and the law applicable thereto. He has to examine the nature of allegations made in the complaint and the evidence both oral and documentary in support thereof and would that be sufficient for the complainant to succeed in bringing charge home to the accused. It is not that the Magistrate is a silent spectator at the time of recording of preliminary evidence before summoning of the accused. Magistrate has to carefully scrutinize the evidence brought on record and may even himself put questions to the complainant and his witnesses to elicit answers to find out the truthfulness of the allegations or otherwise and then examine if any offence is primafacie committed by all or any of the accused."

16. In AIR 2012 SUPREME COURT 1747,Bhushan Kumar and Anr v. State (NCT of Delhi) and Anr" the Apex Court has held that "10. Section 204 of the Code does not mandate the Magistrate to explicitly state the reasons for issuance of summons. It clearly states that if in the opinion of a Magistrate taking cognizance of an offence, there is sufficient ground for proceeding, then the summons may be issued. This section mandates the Magistrate to form an opinion as to whether there exists a sufficient ground for summons to be issued but it is nowhere mentioned in the section that the explicit narration of the same is mandatory, meaning thereby that it is not a pre-requisite for deciding the validity of the summons issued."

17. In AIR 1976 SUPREME COURT 1947, Smt. Na*gawwa v/s Veeranna Shivalingappa Konjalgi & others, It is held by The Apex Court that "It is well settled by a long catena of decisions of this Court that at the stage of issuing process the Magistrate is mainly concerned with the allegations made in the complaint or the evidence led in support of the same and he is only to be prima facie satisfied whether there are sufficient grounds for proceedings against the accused. It is not the province of the Magistrate to enter into a detailed discussion of the merit or de-merits of the case nor can the High Court go into this matter in its revisional jurisdiction which is a very limited one."

"4.It would thus be clear from the two decisions of this Court that the scope of the inquiry under Section 202 of the Code of Criminal Procedure is extremely limited - limited only to the ascertainment of the truth or falsehood of the allegations made in the complaint - (i) on the materials placed by the complainant before the Court; (ii) for the limited purpose of finding out whether a prima facie case for issue of process has been made out; and (iii) for deciding the question purely from the point of view of the complainant without at all adverting to any defence that the accused may have. In fact it is well settled that in proceedings under Section 202 the accused has got absolutely no locus standi and is not entitled to be heard on the question whether the process should be issued against him or not."

"It is true that in coming to a decision as to whether a process should be issued the Magistrate can take into consideration inherent improbabilities appearing on the face of the complaint or in the evidence led by the complainant in support of the allegations but there appears to be a very thin line of demarcation between a probability of conviction of the accused and establishment of a primafacie case against him. The Magistrate has been given an undoubted discretion in the matter and the discretion has to be judicially exercised by him. Once the Magistrate has exercised his discretion it is not for the High Court, or even the Supreme Court, to substitute its own discretion for that of the Magistrate or to examine the case on merits with a view to find out whether or not the allegations in the complaint, if proved, would ultimately end in conviction of the accused. These considerations are totally foreign to the scope and ambit of an inquiry under Section 202 which culminates into an order under Section 204. Thus in the following cases an order of the Magistrate issuing process against the accused can be quashed or set aside:

(1) Where the allegations made in the complaint or the statement of the witness recorded in support of the same taken at their face value make out absolutely no case against the accused or the complaint does not disclose the essential ingredients of an offence which is alleged against the accused;

(2) where the allegations made in the complaint are patently absurd and inherently improbable so that no prudent person can ever reach a conclusion that there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused;

(3) where the discretion exercised by the Magistrate in issuing process is capricious and arbitrary having been based either on no evidence or on materials which are wholly irrelevant or inadmissible and

(4) where the complaint suffers from fundamental legal defects, such as, want of sanction, or absence of a complaint by legally competent authority and the like."

18. In AIR 2015 SUPREME COURT 923,Sunil Bharti Mittal v. Central Bureau of Investigation (Three Judges Bench) Hon,ble Apex Court held as under:

"45. On the other hand, Section 204 of the Code deals with the issue of process, if in the opinion of the Magistrate taking cognizance of an offence, there is sufficient ground for proceeding. This Section relates to commencement of a criminal proceeding. If the Magistrate taking cognizance of a case (it may be the Magistrate receiving the complaint or to whom it has been transferred under Section 192), upon a consideration of the materials before him

(i.e., the complaint, examination of the complainant and his witnesses if present, or report of inquiry, if any), thinks that there is a prima facie case for proceeding in respect of an offence, he shall issue process against the accused.

46. A wide discretion has been given as to grant or refusal of process and it must be judicially exercised. A person ought not to be dragged into Court merely because a complaint has been filed. If a prima facie case has been made out, the Magistrate ought to issue process and it cannot be refused merely because he thinks that it is unlikely to result in a conviction.

47. However, the words "sufficient grounds for proceeding" appearing in the Section are of immense importance. It is these words which amply suggest that an opinion is to be formed only after due application of mind that there is sufficient basis for proceeding against the said accused and formation of such an opinion is to be stated in the order itself. The order is liable to be set aside if no reason is given therein while coming to the conclusion that there is prima facie case against accused, though the order need not contain detailed reasons. A fortiori, the order would be bad-in-law if the reason given turns out to be ex facie incorrect."

19. In AIR 2012 SUPREME COURT 1921,Nupur Talwar v. Central Bureau of Investigation and Anr it is propounded by the Hon'ble Supreme Court that "Moreover, this Court has held in Smt. Nagawwa v. Veeranna Shivalingappa Konjalgi and Ors. [(1976) 3 SCC 736 :(AIR 1976 SC 1947)] thatwhether the reasons given by the Magistrate issuing process under Section 202 or 204 Cr.P.C. were good or bad, sufficient or insufficient, cannot be examined by the High Court in the revision. All that the High Court, however, could do while exercising its powers of revision under Section 397 Cr.P.C when the order issuing process under Section 204 Cr.P.C. was under challenge was to examine whether there were materials before the Magistrate to take a view that there was sufficient ground for proceeding against the persons to whom the processes have been issued under Section 204 Cr.P.C ".

20. Section 204 of the Code deals with the issue of process, if the Magistrate after taking cognizance of a case, upon consideration of the materials before him i.e., the complaint, examination of the complainant and his witnesses or report of inquiry, if any, thinks that there is a prima facie case for proceeding in respect of an offence, he shall issue process against the accused. It has to be reminded that a wide discretion has been given to the magistrate to grant or refuse the issuance of process and it must be judicially exercised. A person ought not to be dragged into Court to face criminal trial merely because a complaint has been filed and the same has been supported by two witnesses. No doubt the Magistrate is duty bound to issue process if a prima facie case has been made out and it cannot be refused merely because he thinks that it is unlikely to result in a conviction. However, the words "sufficient grounds for proceeding" appearing in the Section are of immense importance as they amply suggest that an opinion is to be formed by the Magistrate only after due application of judicial mind that there are sufficient grounds for proceeding against the accused(s) and formation of such an opinion is to be reflected in the order itself. The order is liable to be set aside if no reason is given therein while coming to such conclusion that there is prima facie case against accused or the reasons given turns out to be ex facie incorrect or the facts are highly improbable which could not be believed by a person of common prudence.

21. Coming back to the facts of the present case the allegations of addressing with castiest remark have been levelled by the complainant Bindra Pasi against the appellants, namely, Dr. Vishnu Chandra Tripathi, who was the Principal of R.K. College Jaunpur, Sudhakar Maurya, who was the Accountant of the College and Sanjay Kumar Singh, who at that point of time was the Head Clerk of the College. The allegations are also with regard to the fact that the complainant was physically assaulted. However, in the end of the complaint it has been mentioned that due to poverty he could not get himself medically examined. The allegations have also been levelled against all the appellants that the appellants also dragged the complainant towards their vehicles. It is apparent on record that the appellants are resident of Jaunpur and Bindra Pasi complainant who admittedly works as domestic help in the house of Dr. Shiv Prasad Ojha situated at Bahraich. It is highly improbable that these three persons will go to another district, namely, Shrawasti i.e. at the house of Dr. Shiv Prasad Ojha andwill do "marpit" and will drag complainant towards their vehicles without any intimidation given by the complainant. The story as put forth by the complainant in his complaint is highly improbable and unacceptable. Many documents have been placed on record by the appellants which shows that Dr. Shiv Prasad Ojha was earlier the Principal of R.K. College, Jaunpur and there he committed some financial illegalities and an enquiry was being conducted against him. It is also stated on behalf of the appellants that an FIR was also lodged by appellant no.1, namely, Dr. Vishnu Chandra Triapthi, Principal of the College against Dr. Shiv Prasad Ojha and others pertaining to threatening him in lieu of issuance of a non-encumbrance certificate, a copy of which has been provided on record, which was registered as Case Crime No.63 of 2019. By referring to the above mentioned documents and FIR it has been stated by the appellants that when Dr. Shiv Prasad Ojha failed to pressurize the appellants for issuance of a false non-encumbrance certificate, he manufactured this criminal case through his domestic help, namely, Bindra Pasi (complainant). However, the defence of the appellants (accused persons) could not be taken into consideration at this stage as the order of the Magistrate, whereby the appellants have been summoned is to be scrutinized on the basis of facts and evidence/ material which was available with the Magistrate, at the time of issuance of process.Even if the material which has been placed by the appellants before this Court is excluded from consideration the allegations of complaint and evidence of the prosecution witness recorded under Section 202 Cr.P.C. cannot be accepted being highly improbable.

22. Three persons (appellants) stated to have assaulted the complainant and injuries have also stated to have been received by himbuthis defence that due to poverty he could not get his injuries examined, could not be accepted. More-so in the background of the fact that when the alleged assault took place, Dr. Shiv Prasad Ojha (his employers) was inside the house and even if there was some expenses expected to be incurred in medical examination the same might have been beared by Dr. Shiv Prasad Ojha. Secondly the motive of doing all these illegal activities as alleged by the complainant is missing. The pivot question is, that as to whyappellants went to the house of Dr. Shiv Prasad Ojha and for what purpose?, this has neither been alleged in the complaint nor has been stated in the evidence of the complainant or any of his witnesses. It is also significant the factum of Dr. Shiv Prasad Ojha was the Principal of a College where presently appellants are working in different - capacities has been deliberately concealed in the complaint and in totality of circumstances the allegations could not be believed by a prudent person.

23. It is to be remembered that cognizance of an offence on complaint is taken for the purpose of issuing process to the accused. Since it is a process of taking judicial notice of certain facts which constitute an offence, there has to be application of mind as to whether the allegations in the complaint, when considered along with the statements recorded or the inquiry conducted thereon, would constitute any offence so as to call a person to appear before the criminal court. It is not a mechanical process or matter of course, but as held by this Court in Pepsi Foods Limited (supra), to set in motion the process of criminal law against a person is a serious matter and it must reflect that the Magistrate has applied his mind to the facts and the statements and he is satisfied that there is sufficient ground for proceeding further in the matter by asking the person against whom the violation of law is alleged, to appear before the court. The satisfaction of the ground for proceeding further would mean that the facts alleged in the complaint would constitute an offence, and when considered along with the statements recorded, would, prima facie, make the accused answerable before the court. No doubt, nolengthy formal order or a detailed order is required to be passed at that stage of 204 Cr.P.C. but the Code of Criminal Procedure requires a speaking order to be passed Under Section 203 of Code of Criminal Procedure when the complaint is being dismissed and that too the reasons need to be stated only briefly.

24. In other words, the Magistrate is not to act as a post office in taking cognizance of each and every complaint filed before him and issue process as a matter of course. There must be sufficient indication in the order passed by the Special Judge that he is satisfied that the allegations in the complaint constitute an offence and when considered along with the statements recorded and inquiry report of investigation Under Section 202 of Code of Criminal Procedure, if any, the accused is answerable before the criminal court and there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused Under Section 204 of Code of Criminal Procedure, by issuing process for appearance. Application of mind is best demonstrated by disclosure of mind on the satisfaction. If there is no such indication in a case where the Special Judge proceeds Under Sections 190/204 of Code of Criminal Procedure, the superior Court in Appeal is bound to invoke its power in order to prevent abuse of the power of the criminal court. To be called to appear before criminal court as an accused is serious matter affecting one's dignity, self respect and image in society. Hence, the process of criminal court shall not be made a weapon of harassment.

25. Having gone through the order passed by the Special Judge, I am satisfied that there is no indication on the application of mind by the learned Special Judge while issuing process to the Appellants. The allegations made in the complaint were patently absurd and inherently improbable so that no prudent person can ever reach a conclusion that there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the appellants. The contention that the application of mind has to be inferred from the fact and circumstances of the case cannot be appreciated. Though no lengthy formal order is required at the stage of Section 204 Code of Criminal Procedure, there must be sufficient indication, in the summoning order, with regard to the application of mind by the trial court to the facts constituting commission of the offence and the statements recorded Under Section 200 and 202 of Code of Criminal Procedure so as to assess sufficiency to proceed against the offender. No doubt the veracity of the allegations is a question of evidence but here the question is not about veracity of the allegations only, but whether those who are being summoned to face trial, are answerable at all before the criminal court. There is no indication in that regard in the summoning order passed by the learned Special Judge. The summoning order dated 29.3.2019 passed by the special Court has been passed in utter disregard to the law laid down in the above mentioned cases and therefore the same could not be allowed to stand.

26. Resultantly the Appeal filed by the appellants suceeds and is Allowed and the order dated 29.3.2019 passed by the Special Judge SC/ST Act (Prevention of Atrocities), Act, Bahraich in Criminal Case No. 46 of 2019 is set aside.

Transfer Application (Criminal) No. 378 of 2019

Jalveer & Ors. ...Applicants
Versus
State of U.P. & Anr. ...Opposite Parties

Counsel for the Applicants:
Sri Kuldeep Singh Chahar

Counsel for the Opposite Parties:
G.A., Sri M.L. Jain

A. Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Section 407-application-rejection-trial delayed, by getting it transferred – adjournment was sought-non-appearance of counsel and accused on the date given-issue of warrant against accused by court was the ground for transfer.

B. It has been specifically mentioned by the Trial Judge that newly engaged Senior Counsel for defence, has sought an adjournment of the case and given an assurance that he will argue the case on the only date requested by him. This date was given to him. On that particular date, none of the accused appeared nor the counsel appeared, which compelled the court for issuing warrants against the accused persons and this was made a ground for Transfer Application, moved before the court of Sessions Judge, but nowhere it was mentioned in the said Transfer Application that there had been a direction by this Court for expeditious disposal of above Sessions Trial, that too, in a time bound frame. This has neither been mentioned before the court of Sessions Judge, Agra, nor before this Court, in this Transfer Application, which itself goes to show modus and intention of the accused-applicants, who have filed this Transfer Application, to get the trial delayed, by getting it transferred from the court where it is likely to be decided in near future. 1. This Transfer Application, under Section 407 of Criminal Procedure Code (Hereinafter, in short, referred to as "Cr.P.C."), has been filed by the accused-applicants, Jalveer and five others, against State of U.P. and Opposite party no.2, Geetam Singh, with a prayer for transferring Sessions Trial No. 643 of 2014 (State Vs. Jalveer and others), arising out of Case Crime No. 286/2014, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302 and 506 of Indian Penal Code, Police Station-Fatehpur Sikri, District Agra, from the court of Additional Sessions Judge, Court no.9, Agra, with a contention that this first Criminal Miscellaneous Transfer Application is being filed before this Court and prior to it the same was filed before the court of Sessions Judge, Agra, which was rejected by the Sessions Judge, Agra.

2. A first information report was lodged at Police Station-Fatehpur Sikri on 30.5.2014, against these accused persons with an allegation of murder of Bhupendra by the accused-applicants, whereas in autopsy examination report, there was only injury at the chest, within blackening and tattooing, around it. Investigation resulted in submission of chargesheet against Jalveer and Sahab Singh, alongwith Ghamandi, as a proclaimed offender. After committal of the case, charges were framed against Jalveer and Sahab Singh, thenafter, an application, under Section 319 of Cr.P.C., dated 26.10.2015, with a prayer for summoning Dhirendra, Ravindra and Satendra, was moved. Sahab Singh, on 18.9.2014 and Jalveer, on 23.9.2014, were released on bail. Dhirendra, Ravindra and Satendra were also released on bail by this Court. Ghamandi is in Jail since 5.9.2015. Trial proceeded before the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.9, Agra. It was scheduled on 4.5.219, when date 30.5.2019 was fixed and signature of accused were taken over blank papers. An oral statement for judgment, to be delivered on 30.5.2019, was narrated, whereas on 30.5.2019, only one hour was given for arguments in the case. The date was manipulated and written to be 15.5.2019, which was not in the knowledge of the accused persons, then 30.5.2019 was fixed, but warrant was issued against accused-applicants. Recall application was moved and date 4.7.2019 was fixed. Hence, neither opportunity for argument was given nor it was heard, rather complainant-Opposite party no.2 was seen coming out of the chamber of the Presiding Judge. Transfer Application No.586 of 2019 was filed before the court of Sessions Judge, Agra, for transferring above case on which comment of the concerned presiding Judge was called for, who, in his comments expressed no objection over it, even then said Transfer Application was rejected, vide order dated 26.7.2019. Thus, this Transfer Application, with above prayer.

3. Learned counsel for the applicants argued that he has no objection in case file of Sessions Trial is being transferred to some other court, having competent jurisdiction, with grant of single date for argument over trial. Hence, a request for allowing this Transfer Application has been made.

4. Learned AGA, appearing for the State of U.P., has vehemently opposed this Transfer Application.

5. Sri M.L. Jain, learned counsel appearing for the victim, Smt. Nemwati, wife of the deceased, has argued that it is a case of murder, committed by the accused persons, in which there is a direction for time bound disposal of the trial, given in Crl. Misc. Bail Application No. 23065 of 2017, in the order dated 9.4.2018, but the accused persons are not permitting for disposal of this trial and with an ulterior motive, this Transfer Application, on baseless ground, has been moved.

6. Heard learned counsel for the parties and perused materials on record.

7. Perusal of the order, passed by the learned Sessions Judge, Agra, reveals that allegations levelled against the Presiding Judge, concerned, was that a manipulation in date was made, warrant was issued, complainant was seen coming out from the chamber of the Presiding Judge and there is a narration of complainant in evidence that he will get accused persons convicted.

8. Comment of the Presiding Judge, filed before the learned Sessions Judge, Agra, reveals that there had been a direction for time bound disposal of above Sessions Trial, in which Ghamandi is under trial and it was a date of argument, which was a part heard argument case. When none of the accused persons appeared, it resulted in issuance of bailable warrant against them and this was subsequently acted upon by enlarging them on bail on Personal Bond. Learned counsel for accused persons did not argue on the date fixed in the court, rather a new Vakalatnama of Haridutt Sharma, Advocate, was filed, with an assurance for getting the case argued on the next date. On this assurance, learned Trial Judge adjourned the case for argument to 30.5.2019, but no argument was advanced on that date too. Neither accused persons' counsel nor accused persons appeared, which compelled learned Trial judge to issue bailable warrant. So far as allegation of coming out of Opposite party no.2 from the chamber of the Presiding Judge is concerned, the same has been vehemently opposed by the Presiding Judge.

9. Learned Sessions Judge, found Transfer Application with no substance, hence rejected the same.

10. Alleged manipulation in the ordersheet is not being substantiated by the counsel. It is undisputed that there was a direction for time bound disposal of the Sessions Trial of under trial accused and the court was endeavouring for getting same complied with and the Transfer Application was moved before the court of Sessions Judge, Agra, even in defiance of assurance given by learned counsel for defence, who was subsequently engaged on 4.5.2019, that he would argue the case on the next date fixed.

11. Apex Court in the case of State of Bihar vs. Hemlal Sah, reported in 2014, Crl. L.J., 1767, while referring a judgment of Apex Court, rendered in the case of State of Maharashtra vs. Ramdas Shrinivas Nayak, reported in AIR 1982, SC, 1249, at page 1251, has propounded that matters of judicial records are unquestionable. They are not open to doubt. Judges cannot be dragged into the arena "Judgments cannot be treated as mere counters in the game of litigation." (Per Lord Atinkson in Somasundaram Chetty Vs. Subramanian Chetty, AIR 1926, PC 136), has propounded "We are bound to accept the statement of the Judges recorded in their judgments, as to what transpired in Court. We cannot allow the statement of the Judges to be contradicted by statements at the Bar or by affidavit or other evidences. If the Judges say in their judgment that something was done, said or admitted before them, that has to be last word on the subject. The principle is well-settled that statements of fact as to what transpired at the hearing, recorded in the judgment of the court, are conclusive of the facts, so stated, and no one can contradict such statements by affidavit or other evidence. If a party thinks that the happenings in the court have been wrongly recorded in a judgment, it is incumbent upon the party, while the matter is still fresh in the minds of the Judges, to call attention of the very Judges, who have made the record to the fact that the statement made with regard to his conduct was a statement that had been made in error. That is the only way to have record corrected. If no such step is taken, the matter must necessarily end there".

12. In present case, in the ordersheet, it has been specifically mentioned by the Trial Judge that Sri Hari Dutt Sharma, newly engaged Senior Counsel for defence, has sought an adjournment of the case and given an assurance that he will argue the case on the only date requested by him. This date was given to him. On that particular date, none of the accused appeared nor the counsel appeared, which compelled the court for issuing warrants against the accused persons and this was made a ground for Transfer Application, moved before the court of Sessions Judge, Agra, but nowhere it was mentioned in the said Transfer Application that there had been a direction by this Court for expeditious disposal of above Sessions Trial, that too, in a time bound frame. This has neither been mentioned before the court of Sessions Judge, Agra, nor before this Court, in this Transfer Application, which itself goes to show modus and intention of the accused-applicants, who have filed this Transfer Application, to get the trial delayed, by getting it transferred from the court where it is likely to be decided in near future.

13. Under all above facts and circumstances, there is no ground for transferring this Sessions Trial from the court of Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.9, Agra. Hence, this Transfer Application is being rejected, with a direction and advise to learned counsel, who has filed this Transfer Application, to come to the Court with clean hands and to remain careful in future, while presenting any Transfer Application, with mentioning correct facts and circumstances before the Court.

14. In view of what has been discussed above, this Transfer Application, being devoid of merits, stands rejected.
