(Delivered by Hon'ble Vivek Varma, J.)

1. This appeal arises out of the judgment of conviction and order of sentence dated 30.10.1984 passed by the VII Additional Sessions Judge, Allahabad in S.T. No. 36 of 1982 convicting the appellants Chhabboo Lal, Modi and Mishrilal under Section 302/34 and 201 of IPC and sentencing them to undergo imprisonment for life and to undergo rigorous imprisonment for three years under Section 201 IPC.

2. The prosecution case states that Sri Chandrama Singh (P.W.-9) submitted a written report (Ex-Ka-6) at P.S. Ghoorpur on 5.9.1981 with assertion that his cousin brother Sheo Sagar Singh @ Matar Singh (deceased), resident of village Neebi, P.S. Ghoorpur, District Allahabad on 3.9.1981 left his home in the afternoon for Sewar, but did not return. It came to his knowledge that on the same day at about 3 p.m., deceased was seen with Mishrilal at his house along with accused Chhabbu Lal and Modi. He suspected that Sheo Sagar Singh @ Matar Singh has been killed by the accused appellants and thereafter the dead body has been removed. As per the details given the deceased was wearing a white sando vest and a white pyjama.

3. The First Information Report (Ex-ka-9) was lodged on 5.9.1981 at about 21.45 P.M. at Police Station Ghoorpur, District Allahabad. After investigation, the police submitted a charge sheet (Ex-Ka 22) on 21.10.1981 against the accused/appellants under sections 302, 201,120 B IPC. The trial court framed the charges and charged the appellants Chhabboo Lal and Modi with the commission of offences under Section 302, 201 IPC while the appellant Mishrilal was charged under section 302 read with Section 34 IPC and 201 IPC. On denial of charges by the accused trial commenced.

4. In support of its case, the prosecution produced 15 witnesses and exhibited 22 documents. The accused-appellants were examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C. and they were confronted with the incriminating evidence adduced against them during the course of trial, which they denied and pleaded innocence and false implication.

5. The trial Court after examining the evidence available on record found that the circumstantial evidence available on record makes a chain of events that indicate definite involvement of the accused appellants in the crime in question and by the impugned judgment convicted and sentenced the appellants Chhabboo Lal, Mishrilal and Modi. Hence this appeal at the behest of convicted accused persons.

6. It is contended by learned counsel for the appellants that there is no eyewitness account of the incident and the conviction rests on circumstantial evidence but none of the circumstances from which inference of guilt can be drawn has been proved beyond reasonable doubt. The alleged confession made by the appellant Chhabboo before P.W.-4 Gajraj Singh is not corroborated by other cogent and reliable evidence and the recovery of dead body and seizure of various articles were not in accordance with law.

7. On the other hand, learned AGA opposing the submission of the appellants and supporting the impugned judgment submitted that chain of circumstances established on basis of adequate evidence clearly indicates involvement of the accused appellant in committing the crime in question. It is pointed out that the accused appellants committed the murder of Sheo Sagar Singh and threw his body. The dead body and several articles were discovered at the pointing out of the accused appellants. All these circumstances have adequately been established by the prosecution evidence which is sufficient to prove involvement of the accused appellants in the crime in question.

8. Heard learned counsels for the appellants, learned AGA and scanned the entire record and considered the arguments advanced.

9. The case of the prosecution consisted of following circumstances:-

(i) evidence of last seen of the deceased Shiv Sagar Singh in the company of the appellants,

(ii) extra judicial confession of the appellant Chhabboo Lal, and

(iii) discovery of incriminating articles relating to the offence at the instance of the appellants, while in police custody.

EVIDENCE OF LAST SEEN OF THE DECEASED IN THE COMPANY OF APPELLANTS

10. The original story as set up in the FIR is at variance with the story set up by the prosecution at the trial. In the FIR only this much had been stated by the informant that on 3.9.1981 at about 3 p.m. deceased was seen sitting at the door of appellant Mishrilal along with other two appellants. This part of the FIR is extracted below:-

ष्उसी दिन शिव सागर लगभग तीन बजे दिन मिश्री लाल पुत्र बिहारी केवट ग्राम नीबी के साथ उसी के दरवाजे पर छबबू लाल पुत्र राम लाल यादव व मोदी पुत्र राम केवल केवट ग्राम नीबी के साथ बैठे देखे गये थे मुझे संदेह है कि इन्हीं तीनों व्यक्तियों ने मिलकर शिव सागर की हत्या करके लाश को कहीं छिपा दिया है जिस समय घर से शिवसागर घर से निकले थे ष्

11. From the aforequoted version, it is clearly evident that the informant Chandrama Singh (P.W.-9) had himself not seen the deceased sitting alongwith the appellants at the house of appellant Mishrilal. Therefore from the said contents of the FIR, it is evident that the FIR version is based on some one else's information and the informant is not the witness of that fact. Before the trial court in his examination-in-chief, the informant (P.W-9) stated that he had seen the deceased at the house of appellant Mishrilal in the company of the appellants. However, under cross examination as to why did he not mention this fact in the FIR, what he is deposing in the court, he stated that what has been deposed by him in the Court had been written as such in the FIR. He infact admitted that he knew the said fact. When asked as to why did he not mention that fact in the FIR, he gave a strange answer that he did not write that fact because he did not want to raise a storm (rwQku) in the report. This was an absurd answer given by the said witness, therefore, on being further cross examined in that regard, he gave a different reason stating that in his understanding the said fact an important fact but he did not write that fact in the FIR as he could not recollect it when he wrote the FIR. He further stated that he did not tell this fact to the Investigating Officer during investigation, i.e. in his statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C.

12. Smt Panchraje (P.W.-8), is the mother of the deceased, claims to have last seen the deceased before his murder. She deposed that the accused Modi came to her house. Sheo Sagar Singh and Modi both left for Sewar and thereafter Sheo Sagar Singh did not return. In the cross-examination this witness stated that she had told this fact to the informant (P.W.-9) in the evening at about 6-7 p.m. on that day itself, i.e. on 3.9.1981. The FIR was lodged after two days on 5.9.1981 at 9.45 p.m. If at all, it were a fact that P.W.-8 had told P.W.-9 that her deceased son had gone for Sewar alongwith the appellant Modi there is no reason why the informant P.W.-9 (who is none else than her own nephew) would neither have lodged the FIR nor mention that fact in the FIR nor stated that fact to the Investigating Officer during investigation. It is highly improbable that such an important fact of the case (i.e. the deceased was taken by the accused from the latters' house) would not be revealed by the informant in the FIR as well as during the investigation of the case.

13. Since this story of the prosecution that the mother of the deceased, P.W.-8 had seen appellant Modi at her house and the deceased had gone alongwith him for Sewar that she had told this fact to the informant before lodging of the FIR was coming for the first time in the trial, therefore, when the informant (P.W.-9) appeared in the witness box he was questioned about this fact in the cross-examination. It was quite probable that the prosecution had introduced P.W.-8 in the case as no other person of the village was coming forward to state that he had seen the deceased in the company of the appellants before the death of the deceased. It is doubtful that the P.W.-8 had last seen the deceased Sheo Sagar Singh in the company of appellant-Modi.

14. The statement of P.W.-9 in the court contradicts the version of the FIR. This appears to be a case where the witness was trying to improve upon the story as had been set up originally in the FIR and as such the deposition of P.W-9 in the court, regarding his having seen the deceased the last in the company of appellants does not appears to be trustworthy and thus he is not a reliable witness. His credit as a witness thus stood impeached.

15. However, even if it is accepted that P.W.-8 had last seen the deceased in the company of appellant Modi, that fact, itself is not sufficient to prove the charge of murder against Modi. Further, that evidence is not against the other two accused. Even otherwise it is a settled position of law that accused cannot be convicted unless there is some other corroborative pieces of evidence. The Supreme Court in the matter of State of Goa Vs Sanjay Thakran, 2007) 3 SCC 755, Brahm Swaroop Vs State of UP, 6 SCC 288 and Anjan Kumar Sharma and others Vs State of Assam, (2017) SCC online 622 has held as under:-

"In the absence of proof of other circumstances, the only circumstance of last seen together and absence of satisfactory explanation cannot be made the basis of conviction."

EXTRA JUDICIAL CONFESSION OF APPELLANT CHHABBOO LAL

16. The prosecution witness Gajraj Singh (P.W.-4) has been examined to prove extra-judicial confession alleged to have been made to him by the appellant Chhabboo Lal. This witness had deposed that in the night of 5.9.1981 at about 1/1.30 while he was sleeping, the appellant Chhabboo Lal came to him and woke him up and told him that he and other two appellants, on the asking of Satyawan, had murdered the deceased Sheo Sagar Singh in the house of appellant Mishrilal and requested him to save him from the police as the police was camping in the village and it had already arrested the other two appellants. He has further deposed in the examination in chief that after hearing the confessional statement of appellant Chhabboo Lal he was perturbed and he had asked the appellant to go away from him and he would not help him. Having said so he again slept. Later on in the morning the police arrested Chhabboo Lal at the door of his house. In the cross-examination, this witness has categorically stated that he had no friendship with the police and he could not have helped the accused Chhabboo Lal. He has also stated that his house is nearly 1 km away from the house of Chhabboo Lal. There is no other corroborative evidence about this extra judicial confession.

17. The testimony of witness P.W.-4 does not inspire confidence. Firstly, because, there is no evidence that this witness is such a man, whom one would approach for help. The statement and the evidence do not suggest that any one would fall upon him in the hours of need or when placed in a difficult situation. Secondly, there is no evidence on record to even feebly suggest that he is a close associate of appellant Chhabboo Lal and that he used to help him or had even helped this appellant in the past. On the contrary, as already noted above, this witness had himself admitted in the cross-examination that he could not have helped the appellant Chhabboo Lal as he had no friendship with the police. In this set of facts it is highly improbable that the appellant Chhabboo Lal would make any confession whatsoever before such a person.

18. Law on extra judicial confession is well settled by the Apex Court. In State of Punjab Vs Bhajan Singh, AIR 1975 SC 258, it has been held that extra-judicial confession by itself is a very weak evidence which requires corroboration which would inspire utmost confidence. Thus, it would not at all safe to rely upon it. As regards extra-judicial confession, relevant paragraph of the Apex Court judgment in Makhan Singh Vs State of Punjab, 1988 (Supp) SCC 526 is as under:-

" On 10 August, 1985 F.I.R. was lodged by Nihal Singh (PW-2)1 and on 13.8.85 the appellant went to Amrik Singh (PW-3) to make an extra judicial confession. Amrik Singh says that the appellant told him that as the Police was after him he had come and confessed the fact so that he might not be unnecessarily harassed. There is nothing to indicate that this Amrik Singh was a person having some influence with the Police or a person of some status to protect the appellant from harassment. In his cross-examination he admits that he is neither the Lumbardar or Sarpanch nor a person who is frequently visiting the Police Station. He further admits that when he produced the appellant there was a crowd of 10 to 12 persons. There is no other corroborative evidence about the extra judicial confession. As rightly conceded by the learned counsel for the State that extra judicial confession is a very weak piece of evidence and is hardly of any consequence."

19. In Balwinder Singh Vs State of Punjab, 1996 SCC (Cri) 59, while considering the evidentiary value of extra-judicial confession, the Supreme Court has held as under.

"10.An extrajudicial confession by its very nature is rather a weak type of evidence and requires appreciation with a great deal of care and caution. Where an extrajudicial confession is surrounded by suspicious circumstances, its credibility becomes doubtful and it loses its importance. The courts generally look for independent reliable corroboration before placing any reliance upon an extra judicial confession."

20. Thus, the extra-judicial confession made by appellant Chhabboo before P.W-4, is tested on the touchstone of aforesaid judicial pronouncements, it is rendered unworthy of credence, and being so does not inspire confidence of this court.

EVIDENCE OF DISCOVERY OF INCRIMINATING ARTICLES AT THE INSTANCE OF APPELLANTS.

21. Before appreciating the testimony of the prosecution witnesses of recovery we may record an important fact relating to recovery of the body of the deceased. The dead body was recovered from the paddy field of one Sumer of the village Neebi, i.e the village where deceased lived. From the site plan Ex-ka-20, it is evident that adjacent to the field of Sumer, on the three sides, there are fields of other persons, wherein paddy had been sown. These paddy fields lay at a distance of only one and half furlongs from the Abadi of village Neebi. It is thus clear that the field wherefrom dead body of deceased Sheo Sagar Singh was recovered was an open field accessible to all and sundry and visible from all sides and was quite close to the village Abadi. The Investigating Officer (P.W-12) had himself stated in the cross-examination that the field where the dead body was lying is open from three sides. He had further stated that when he went towards the paddy field where the dead body was lying it was visible from 10-12 steps from where he was standing. Thus, it cannot be said that the dead body of the deceased was discovered at the pointing out of the appellants Mishrilal and Modi.

22. The other incriminating articles which were alleged to have been recovered at the pointing of the appellants were gandasa, ashes of half burnt pieces of baniyan, pieces of pyjama of the deceased, bamboo sticks, gamacha, dhoti and rope by which the body was allegedly tied.

23. The offence of murder is alleged to have been committed in village Neebi and the incriminating articles are alleged to have been recovered from this village.

24. The prosecution has produced Manik Chand Singh, P.W.-5, Genda Singh P.W.-6 and Investigating officer P.W.-12 to prove discovery of dead body of deceased and other incriminating articles, mentioned above, at the instance of pointing out of the appellants.

25. So far as the prosecution witnesses P.W-5 and P.W.-6 are concerned they do not belong to Village Neebi. They belong to another village-Baramar. P.W.-6 has deposed that he and P.W.-5 belong to the same village. P.W.-5 has deposed in his examination in chief that his village is 4-5 furlongs away from village Neebi.

26. T he testimony of these two witnesses are to the effect that it was in their presence that the appellants Modi and Mishrilal, being in police custody, had allegedly confessed before the police that they had killed Sheo Sagar Singh and they may show the places where they had kept his dead body and other incriminating articles relating to the offence. These two witnesses have also stated that appellant Chhabboo Lal was arrested on 6.9.1981 and being in police custody he had got the recoveries made of the pyjama, gamacha, dhoti and rope.

27. P.W-5 has deposed that he was sitting in his village at the tea shop of Mahangoo where 3-4 persons came from the side of village Neebi for taking paan and biri at the shop. They were talking that lot of police had come in the village Neebi. On hearing this he guessed that as Shiv Sagar Singh was missing the police might have come to the village in that connection. He then set out for village Neebi along with Rajendra and Lal Singh. When he reached village Neebi he saw that police personnel, appellants Modi and Mishrilal were sitting alongwith villagers. Investigating Officer was interrogating the appellants Modi and Mishrilal about the murder of the deceased Sheo Sagar Singh. The said two appellants had told the police before him that they had killed the deceased and that they can get dead body and other incriminating article recovered from the places where they are lying.

28. It is an admitted case of the prosecution that after lodging of the FIR on 5.9.1981 at about 9.45 p.m. the Investigating Officer (P.W.-12) reached village Neebi at about 11.15 p.m on the same date and he reached the house of appellants Modi and Mishrilal and any time after 12 in the mid night and started interrogating them. P.W-5 had stated in the cross-examination that he had reached village Neebi about 12 or 12.15 in the night.

29. We may at the very outset state that it is highly improbable that P.W.-5 in the mid night, would take the trouble to go from his village Baramar to another village Neebi, that too just to see why the police is camping there. This witness has stated in his cross-examination that when he was taking tea in his village shop, few person came there from the side of village Neebi and it was from their conversation that he learnt that in village Neebi lot of police has come and then he set out for village Neebi. It would be significant to mention here that this witness had admitted in the cross-examination that he had not told the Investigating Officer during the investigation about the fact that he was taking tea in his village and that few persons from the side of Village Neebi had come and from them he learnt that police had come to village Neebi. This would mean that it is an afterthought of the prosecution and surely a deliberate attempt to improve the prosecution case in the trial to explain and justify the presence of this witness in village Neebi for being a witness of the case. We may, therefore, hold that it is unbelievable that P.W.-5 was taking tea at the tea shop of his village at about 11 or 12 in the night. The reason is that it is common knowledge that even these days tea shops in the villages are not open at such a dead hours of night, what to say of the times of 38 years back in the year 1981, when the present incident had taken place. We, therefore, hold that P.W-5 is a got up witness of police and the prosecution has chosen him witness as no witness of village Neebi was coming forward to support the prosecution case. The suggestion given to this witness by the defence that he is a stooge of police and has made deposition under the influence of police appears to be correct. The incriminating articles were definitely not recovered in his presence. For all these reasons we hold that P.W-5 is not at all a reliable witness.

30. Another witness P.W-6 is also of the village of P.W.-5. His presence in village Neebi at the time of recovery is also unbelievable. This witness, for his presence in village Neebi, had given explanation in the trial that the millstone of his grist mill was not working so he had gone to village Neebi in the night at about 9 p.m. to call a mechanic named, Ganga Teli, who lived in village Neebi. He also stated that he went to the house of mechanic Ganga Teli who met him and thereafter he stayed whole night at the house of the said mechanic. He did so because the said mechanic asked him to stay at his home and in the morning he would accompany him to the place where the flour-mill of PW-6 was situated. He further stated that during his stay at the house of mechanic, the appellants had come to the village and at 12 to 12-30 in the night he reached at the house of the appellants. The appellant Modi was also present there and both the appellants told the SHO that they can show the place where they have hidden the dead body of the deceased. Thereafter PW-6 stated that he alongwith appellants and police went to the place where the dead body was lying. He had seen the dead body at the place where the appellants had indicated. This witness is also a witness of recovery of half burnt piece of baniyan of the deceased. He is also a witness of recovery of Gandasa and bamboo sticks from the house of the appellant Mishrilal. He is also a witness of recovery of pieces of p*yjama, Dhoti, Gamcha* etc. at the pointing out of appellant Chabbu Lal. These recoveries were made on 06.09.1981.

31. The statement of this witness does not inspire confidence particularly to the explanation that he had shown his presence in village Neebi. The deposition that this witness had gone to village Neebi to call mechanic Ganga Teli and he stayed at the house of the said mechanic is not believable. It is highly improbable that a person whose gristmill was not working, chose in the night by 9.00 P.M. to go to the village to call a mechanic of his choice for repairs. More so, when the repair could not have been undertaken in the night, there is no evidence of the fact that alleged repair work of the system was very urgent. To the contrary, the evidence is that there was no such urgency, otherwise this witness would not have stayed there whole night at the house of the said mechanic. It is also not comprehensible that a person who has gone to call the mechanic, has stayed in the night and would not return to his own village, which is only at a distance of a furlong from his village Neebi. The most significant fact that needs to be pointed out is that whatever explanation or reason that PW-6 has given about his presence is coming for the first time in the court and not during investigation. This is enough to suggest that said explanation of PW-6 about his presence in village Neebi is nothing but an after-thought of the prosecution. Therefore, we hold that PW-6 is a wholly unreliable witness. Therefore, the prosecution has failed to prove the discovery of incriminating articles at the instance of the appellant from the evidence of P.Ws.-5 and 6.

32. Now remains the evidence of PW-12, the Investigating Officer of the case.

33. The testimony of investigating officer PW-12 shows that he has not stated the actual words spoken by the appellants leading to the discovery of dead body of the deceased and other incriminating articles of the case. It would be worthwhile to extract the examination in chief of this witness with regard to the discovery of incriminating articles at the instance of the appellants. He has deposed in his examination in chief as follows:-

"fदनांक 5.9.81 को मैं एस.ओ. धूरपुर तैयानात था यह मुकदमा मेरे मौजूदगी में कायम हुआ, तफतीश मैंने खुद ली उसी समय उसी दिन मैंने वादी मुकदमा चन्दरमा सिंह का बयान लिया उसके बाद मय फोर्स व सरकारी जीप के मौके पर ग्राम नीवी गया वहा मृतक की मां श्रीमती पंचराजा का बयान लिया दिनांक 6.9.81 को लगातार रात में ही 12 बजे के बाद संदिग्ध अभियुक्त मिश्री लाल व मोदी से पूछताछ करने के गरज से उनके निवास स्थान पर गया तो यह लोग पुलिस को देखकर भागे कि पुलिस ने घेर मारकर पकड लिया और उनसे पूछताछ की गई दोनों आदमियों ने अलग अलग पूछताछ पर जुर्म से एकवाल करके मितृक शिव सागर सिंह के लाश की बरामदगी कराने को कहा कि उनके निसान देही पर हमराह गवाहान जिनके सामने इकवाल किया था, गवाहान मानिक चन्द, गेंदा सिंह व मुकीम के साथ अन्तरगत धारा 27 मअपकमदबम ।बज बाजाफता लास की बरामदगी की गई ।ष

34. From the deposition of Investigating Officer (P.W.-12), it is clear that leave alone the material particulars of the place where the dead body was resting, even the substance of the whereabouts of the dead body and other recovered materials were not provided by the accused appellants. This deficiency in the evidence tendered by the Investigating Officer is itself fatal to the case of the prosecution. Moreover, the ingredients of a recovery which would incriminate the appellants under Section 27 of the Indian Evidence Act are not made out. The most essential ingredients of Section 27 of the Evidence Act is that accused had given the information to the police and it was upon that information something incriminating articles has been discovered. The prosecution has, thus, failed to prove that dead body and other incriminating articles were recovered at the pointing out of the appellants. From the aforesaid quotation, it is clear that this witness has not stated the actual words spoken by the appellants leading to discovery of dead body and other articles what he had stated is that he had made the alleged recovery according to Section 27 of Evidence Act.

35. In the case in hand, admittedly no motive has been established by the prosecution and further from the facts and circumstances of the case, it comes out that other circumstances are not constituting a chain of circumstance to record conviction of the appellants.

36. It may also be noted that the Apex Court recently in the case of Devi Lal Vs State of Rajasthan (Criminal Appeal No. 148 of 2010 decided on 8.1.2019 while dealing with circumstantial evidence, observed as under:-

"14. The classic enunciation of law pertaining to circumstantial evidence, its relevance and decisiveness, as a proof of charge of a criminal offence, is amongst others traceable decision of the court in Sharad Birdhichand Sarda Vs State of Maharashtra, 1984 (4) SCC 116. The relevant excerpts from para 153 of the decision is assuredly apposite:-

"153. A close analysis of this decision would show that the following conditions must be fulfilled before a case against an accused can be said to be fully established:

(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established.

It may be noted here that this Court indicated that the circumstances concerned "must or should" and not "may be" established. There is not only a grammatical but a legal distinction between "may be proved" and "must be or should be proved" as was held by this Court in Shivaji Sahabrao Bobade and Another Vs State of Maharashtra (1973) 2 CC 793 where the observations were made:

"Certainly, it is a primary principle that the accused must be and not merely may be guilty before a court can convict and the mental distance between 'may be' and must be' is long and divides vague conjectures from sure conclusions."

(2) the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty;

(3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency;

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved; and

(5) there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused."

15. It has further been considered by this Court in Sujit Biswas Vs State of Assam, 2013(12) SCC 406 and Raja Alias Rajinder Vs State of Haryana, 2015 (11) SCC 43. It has been propounded that while scrutinizing the circumstantial evidence, a court has to evaluate it to ensure the chain of events is established clearly and completely to rule out any reasonable likelihood of innocence of the accused. The underlying principle is whether the chain is complete or not, indeed it would depend on the facts of each case emanating from the evidence and there cannot be a straight jacket formula which can be laid down for the purpose. But the circumstances adduced when considered collectively, it must lead only to the conclusion that there cannot be a person other than the accused who alone is the perpetrator of the crime alleged and the circumstances must establish the conclusive nature consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused.

37. In view of the settled legal position as well from the facts as stated above, we are of the considered opinion that this appeal deserves acceptance. Hence, the same is allowed. The judgment of conviction and order of sentence dated 30.10.1984 passed by the VII Additional Sessions Judge, Allahabad in S.T. No. 36 of 1982 is set aside. The accused appellants be acquitted from the charges under which they were found guilty. As per record, appellants Chhabboo Lal and Mishrilal are on bail, therefore, their bail bonds and sureties stand discharged. Appellant Modi who had been taken into custody pursuant to Non Bailable Warrant dated 21.2.2018, is directed to be set at liberty forthwith, if not wanted in any other case.

The record of the court below be returned forthwith.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Manoj Misra, J.)

1. This appeal has been filed against the judgment and order dated 03.11.1993 passed by the 5th Additional Sessions Judge, Agra in S.T. No.299 of 1990 (State Vs. Raju alias Rajendra) whereby the appellant Raju @ Rajendra has been convicted for offence punishable under Section 302 IPC and has been sentenced to undergo imprisonment for life.

2. The facts giving rise to the appeal are as under:

3. Lala Ram (PW-1) father of Mukesh (the deceased) lodged first information report (FIR) on 01.05.1990 at 11.30 pm (Case Crime No.48 of 1990) at P.S. Madan Mohan Gate, District Agra, alleging that, at about 10 pm, when the informant was inside his house and his son Mukesh (the deceased) and his younger brother Nand Kishor (PW-3) were sleeping at the door of the house, he heard cries; upon which, he rushed to the spot and saw Raju alias Rajendra son of Gauri Shanker (the appellant) running away in the lane, just in front of his house, with a blood stained knife in his hand and his son Mukesh (the deceased) lying injured and under the care of informant's brother Nand Kishor (PW-3) and neighbour Jaggo Lal (PW-2). The incident was allegedly witnessed in the light of a bulb lit just outside informant's house. The FIR further alleges that Nand Kishor (PW-3) and Jaggo Lal (PW-2) informed the informant that Raju (the appellant) had assaulted Mukesh (the deceased) with knife and ran away. FIR also alleges that upon hearing cries, informant's son Dilip (not examined) and other neighbours including Bangali son of Babu Ram (not examined) arrived at the spot. It is alleged that they all took the deceased to the emergency ward where the doctor declared him dead. The motive for the crime disclosed in the FIR was that on 29.04.1990 some altercation had taken place between the accused and the deceased at the time of marriage in the house of Taro Maharaj (not examined) in connection with which the accused had threatened the deceased. Thereafter, a day before the incident also, Raju (appellant) had come with boys of the locality and had extended threats to Mukesh (the deceased). In the first information report it was stated that the body of Mukesh (deceased) was lying at S.N. Hospital.

4. Upon lodging of the FIR, the police swung into action. After preparing the inquest report at the hospital, on 02.05.1990, blood soaked earth was taken from the spot; portion of the blood stained cot was collected; blood stained pillow and pillow cover was collected; and, on 04.05.1990, recovery of blood stained knife was made on the pointing out of the accused. The postmortem report revealed two incised wounds. One on the upper region of the chest and the other on the stomach region. As per report, death was caused due to shock and haemorrhage as a result of anti mortem injuries. The postmortem was conducted on 02.05.1990 at 2.30 pm and as per the doctor's opinion, the death could have occurred about half a day before. After conducting investigation charge sheet was submitted and the case was committed to the court of sessions. Charge of an offence of murder punishable under Section 302 IPC was framed against the accused-appellant who pleaded not guilty.

5. In the trial, three eye witnesses of the incident were examined, namely, Lala Ram (PW-1); Jaggo Lal (PW-2) and Nand Kishor (PW-3). PW-1 - Lala Ram reiterated what was stated in the first information report and disclosed about existence of light at the time of incident. He also stated that the first information report was scribed by his son-in-law Vijay (PW-4) on his dictation and, thereafter, lodged at the police station. He proved the first information report which was marked Exhibit 1. He disclosed that, on 29.04.1990, at the time of marriage in the locality, there had been altercation between Mukesh (the deceased) and Raju (the appellant) and, though, upon intervention, on that day, the situation was calmed down but, on the next day as well as on the third day, Raju (the appellant) had extended threat of life to the deceased. In his cross examination, he disclosed that his house stood in the name of his father and that he has an electricity connection as well as an electricity meter. He stated that when he came out upon hearing the cries, he saw Raju (the appellant) running away in the lane. He also disclosed that, on that day, Mukesh (the deceased) had eaten his food between 4 pm & 5 pm. He stated that Mukesh used to sleep outside at the door of the house where there was a bulb and just below it, Mukesh's (deceased's) cot was there. He denied the suggestion that there was no light or that he had no valid electricity connection. He stated that in Taro's daughter's wedding, he was present. He stated that Raju (the appellant) had been demanding money from his younger son Raju (not examined) though he was not aware as to for what purpose money was being demanded. Upon suggestion that money was being demanded in connection with betel shop dues, he stated that the appellant - Raju does not have a betel shop though his father Gauri has one. He denied the suggestion that his son Raju (not examined) had betel shop dues payable. He stated that in the altercation that had taken place during marriage, he had intervened. He denied the suggestion that the incident had occurred under the influence of liquor. He denied the suggestion that somebody else had inflicted knife injury to his son. He also denied the suggestion that he had made false implication on account of enmity.

6. PW-2 - Jaggo Lal stated that in the night of the incident, he was sleeping at the Chabutra just outside his house and near him, the deceased (Mukesh) and Nand Kishor were sleeping. He stated that upon hearing cries, he and Nand Kishor woke up and saw Raju alias Rajendra (the appellant) inflicting knife blow on the stomach of the deceased (Mukesh). He stated that on hearing cries, Dilip (not examined) and Lala Ram (PW-1) had arrived. He stated that Mukesh raised alarm when he was inflicted knife blow on the neck and thereafter second knife blow was inflicted on the stomach. He stated that he saw Raju alias Rajendra (the appellant) inflicting knife blow in the light of a bulb, which was lit just outside the house of PW-1 (Lala Ram). He also stated that after inflicting knife blows, Raju ran away with the knife. In his cross examination, PW-2 stated that his house is situated just in front of the house of Lala Ram (PW-1) and, in between, there is a narrow lane about four hands wide. He stated that in front of his house, there is a Chabutra which is just 2 paces from his house and this Chabutra is about 3 paces wide and 3 paces long. He stated that he was lying on the Chabutra with no cot laid there. He stated that his feet were towards the house of Lala Ram. He stated that Mukesh (the deceased) was sleeping on the cot placed in the lane just in front of his house. He disclosed that the bulb was placed just above the door on the wall of the house though he was not aware about the wattage of the bulb. He stated that Lala Ram is his neighbour and not a relative. He denied the suggestion that he was sleeping at the time of the incident. He stated that, in fact, he was awake. He stated that at the Chabutara, he was alone and there was no one else. He denied the suggestion that at the Chabutara Nand Kishor was sleeping. He stated that Nand Kishor's cot was just adjacent to the cot of the deceased (Mukesh), which was just 2 paces away from the wall of the house of Lala Ram. He also stated that Raju's house is just 10-11 paces away. He also disclosed that next to the house of Lala Ram, there are houses of Bangali and Ninnu. He stated that upon hearing the noise, members of the locality also arrived but before that, Raju had escaped. He disclosed that he had not gone to the hospital with Mukesh (the deceased). He denied the suggestion that he was cousin of Lala Ram. He denied the suggestion that he had not seen the incident.

7. PW-3 -Nand Kishor stated that on the night of the incident, he was sleeping in a cot just next to the cot of the deceased. Near them, his neighbour Jaggo Lal (PW2) was also sleeping. He stated that he woke up on hearing the cry of Mukesh. He saw Gauri's son Raju alias Rajendra (the appellant) inflicting knife blow on Mukesh. He saw Raju inflicting knife blow around the neck and, thereafter, second knife blow on the stomach region. He stated that upon hearing the noise, his brother Lala Ram (PW-1), Dilip, Jaggo Lal (PW-2) and Bangali had arrived. He stated that he saw the appellant Raju in the light of bulb which was lit at the door of Lala Ram's house. He stated that there was also a bulb in the lane. He stated that there was sufficient light. He stated that after inflicting knife blows, the accused-appellant had escaped. He stated that Mukesh was thereafter rushed to the emergency ward of the hospital where he was declared dead. He narrated the incident that occurred during the course of marriage of Taro Maharaj's daughter. He stated that in that incident, there was an altercation between the accused - Raju and the deceased-Mukesh. He stated that 2-3 days later, Raju (the appellant) had extended threat of life to the deceased. In his cross examination, he disclosed that his cot lay just next to the cot of Mukesh (the deceased) and that the Chabutra of Jaggo Lal is just 3-4 paces away from where the cots were. He stated that Jaggo Lal was sleeping on the floor of his Chabutra. He stated that Lala Ram is his real brother and he resides in the same house. He stated that in the lane, there is tiled house of Bangali, which is just about 8 paces away, where also there was a bulb lit on the night of the incident. He stated that there was another bulb at the door of Lala Ram. He stated that he was not aware about the wattage of those two bulbs. Upon being questioned as to who pays for the electricity bill, he stated that the electricity bill is paid by his brother. He denied the suggestion that there was no electricity connection in the house. He also denied the suggestion that there was no electricity bulb at the place. He stated that upon hearing the commotion and seeing people come, Raju escaped and could not be apprehended on the spot. He stated that he did not go to the hospital with Mukesh. He denied the suggestion that he had not witnessed the incident and was giving testimony only because he was brother of Lala Ram.

8. PW-4- Vijay Singh, son-in-law of the informant (Lala Ram), deposed that he was the person who scribed the FIR on the dictation of his father-in-law Lala Ram. He stated that he had arrived at the emergency ward of the hospital. He proved the written report, which was marked exhibit-1. He denied the suggestion that the report was prepared as per the suggestion of the Inspector.

9. PW-5- Sri O.P. Kalra, Sub Inspector. He stated that on the date when the first information report was lodged, he was S.O., P.S. Madan Mohan Gate, Agra; that the case was registered at the police station in his presence; and he had investigated the matter. He stated that he had visited the spot and prepared site plan (Ex-3). He proved the inquest memo (Ex-2). He stated that he collected blood soiled earth as well as blood stained pillow and blood stained cot, which were marked exhibits 4 to 6. He stated that members of the public had arrested Raju on 04.05.1990 and on his pointing out, he had recovered blood stained knife of which Fard (Ex-7) was prepared. He proved preparation and submission of the charge sheet (Ex-9). In nutshell he proved the various steps taken during the course of investigation.

10. PW-6 -Dr. R.K. Yadav proved that the postmortem was conducted on 02.05.1990 at 2.30 pm. He proved the postmortem report (Ex-12) . He stated that there were two anti-mortem injuries. One was incised wound 2 cm x 0.5 cm x cavity deep on the left side chest and the other was incised wound 2 cm x 0.5 cm x cavity deep on the left side of stomach just 9 cm above from navel region at 11 O'clock position. He stated that upon internal examination, left lung membrane and lung were found ruptured. Likewise, membrane of stomach was also found ruptured with blood in the cavity. He stated that the death was on account of shock and haemorrhage. He stated that the injuries were sufficient to cause death in ordinary course. He stated that he could not tell with certainty as to when death could have occurred. He, however, stated that the deceased might have had his meals about 6-8 hours before his death. He stated that according to the medical college/police record, the deceased was brought to the hospital at 10.50 pm.

11. After closure of prosecution evidence, the statement of the accused-appellant under Section 313 Cr.P.C. was recorded in which he denied the prosecution case and claimed that he has been falsely implicated on account of enmity.

12. The trial court after assessing the evidence led before it came to the conclusion that the prosecution was successful in establishing the guilt of the accused beyond doubt; that the prosecution case was supported not only by the family members of the deceased, whose presence on the spot was natural, but also by the testimony of an independent witness, namely, Jaggo Lal, who was just few paces away from the place of the incident at the time of occurrence and who deposed that in the light of a bulb he saw the accused inflicting knife blows on the deceased. The trial court found that the spot where the incident occurred was duly proved by material exhibits such as blood soaked earth; blood drenched cot; and the site plan prepared by the Investigating Officer. The trial court found that the prosecution case was consistent with the medical evidence which disclosed that the deceased had sustained incised wound injuries on the upper region of the chest and stomach. Hence, it recorded conviction of the appellant for the offence punishable under section 302 IPC.

13. After convicting the accused, the trial court heard the accused on the question of sentence and upon finding that the accused had been convicted for an offence punishable under Section 302 IPC, awarded life sentence.

14. We have heard Ms. Anita Singh for the appellant; and Sri Deepak Mishra, learned A.G.A., for the State.

15. The learned counsel for the appellant urged that the prosecution was not successful in establishing the guilt of the appellant for the following reasons:- (a) that the incident occurred in the darkness of the night when, admittedly, the witnesses were sleeping and, according to their own claim, they woke up on hearing cries and, therefore, it cannot be said that they saw as to who inflicted the injuries that caused the death of the deceased; (b) that the source of light at the place of occurrence was not duly established as no document was produced to prove that informant's house had an electricity connection in respect of which electricity bills were paid; (c) that the alleged recovery of the assault weapon (knife) was not proved, inasmuch as, the knife was not produced in court as a material exhibit and, otherwise also, the witness of the recovery other than the Investigating Officer was not examined; (d) that several other persons, who are stated to have arrived at the spot upon hearing commotion, were not produced by the prosecution; (e) that the motive shown for the alleged crime was not strong enough to warrant an act of murder; and (f) that the Panch witnesses were not examined.

16. Per contra, Sri Deepak Mishra, learned A.G.A., submitted that the place of the incident was duly proved by the witnesses of fact as well as by the Investigating Officer who had visited the spot and had collected the blood soaked earth; pieces of blood drenched cot; blood drenched pillow; and blood drenched pillow cover and had also prepared a site plan showing that the incident had occurred just at the door of the informant's house where the deceased was sleeping in a cot next to the cot of his uncle (PW-3) and in front of the Chabutra of Jaggo Lal (PW-2) who had also witnessed the incident. He stated that the distance between the place where the deceased was sleeping and the place where Jaggo Lal (PW-2) was sleeping was hardly three paces and, therefore, as there were two knife blows inflicted, it was very much possible that upon victim's cry, on receipt of the first knife blow, the other two persons, who were sleeping in close proximity, would wake up and witness infliction of the second knife blow. He submitted that since PW-2 is an independent witness and he disclosed that he was at the spot when the incident occurred and had seen the accused inflicting knife blow, there is no reason to disbelieve his testimony and, otherwise also, the evidence led by the prosecution is consistent and unblemished. He submitted that merely because the material exhibit (knife) was not produced in court it would not render the prosecution case unbelievable as it was based on ocular evidence which was unblemished and consistent with the medical evidence. He, therefore, submitted that the appellant has rightly been convicted.

17. We have carefully perused the record and have considered the rival submissions.

18. Upon perusal of the record, we find that by producing material exhibits such as blood soaked earth; plain earth, blood stained pieces of cot; blood stained pillow cover; blood stained pillow; and oral evidence of the eyewitnesses as well as the investigation officer, who had also prepared the site plan, in absence of suggestion that the incident occurred at some other place, it was fully established that the occurrence was at the door of the house of the informant which was situated just in front of the Chabutra of Jaggo Lal (PW-2) at a distance of just about three paces.

19. The postmortem report established that there were two incised wounds, cavity deep, on the body of the deceased. One was on the left side chest region and the other was on the left side of stomach region. Nothing abnormal was detected with respect to Larynx, Pharynx, Trachea and Oesophagus. Thus, it could be assumed that, upon receipt of first incised wound on the chest, the deceased was in a position to raise alarm. Under the circumstances, it was probable that upon infliction of the first wound, the deceased raised an alarm which woke up the other two persons, sleeping nearby, to witness the incident. The postmortem was duly proved by the doctor who appeared as PW-6. He stated that he conducted the postmortem on 02.05.1990, at 2.30 pm. He also proved that from the medical college /police record it appears that the deceased was brought to the hospital at 10.50 pm on 01.05.1990. He stated that the deceased could have had his food 6-8 hours before he was inflicted injuries which matches with the statement of PW-1, who, in his cross examination, had stated that the deceased must have had his food in between 4 pm and 5 pm. The lodging of the FIR was duly proved by PW-1 (Lala Ram); the investigation, preparation of the Panchnama; collection of blood soaked earth; plain earth; pillow; pieces of blood drenched cot were duly proved by PW-5 (Investigating Officer) who also proved the preparation of site plan. The inquest was conducted at the hospital at about 11.30 pm which was proved by the Investigating Officer (PW-5) and was marked exhibit Ka-2. He disclosed that the information on the basis of which inquest was conducted was received from Lala Ram. Although there is overwriting in the digits "11.30" but the digits are also written in the brackets as 23.30 over which there is no overwriting.

20. From the above evidence, the place; the time of occurrence; and the lodging of the first information report is duly established. As the first information report had come into existence at the time of inquest, which was conducted at about 11.30 pm (night), it is clear that the first information report was promptly lodged as is established from the chik FIR which has been proved by the Investigating Officer.

21. Once the place and time of the occurrence has been proved, we have to examine the reliability of the testimony of the eye witnesses to find out whether they have truthfully deposed about the incident.

22. From the statement of PW-1 it appears that he was inside the house and upon hearing cries he rushed outside to find out his son lying injured on the cot and the appellant-Raju running away with a blood stained knife in his hand. He proved the presence of his neighbour Jaggo Lal (PW-2); and his brother Nand Kishor (PW-3) at the place of occurrence. He proved the existence of the source of light by stating that at the door of his house, there was a bulb lit. He stated that in the light of that bulb as also other bulbs, he could see what he saw. He stated that he had rushed his son to the emergency ward of the hospital where the doctors declared him dead. He disclosed about the time of the incident as between 10 pm and 10.15 pm. He stated that the first information report was scribed at the hospital by his son-in-law Vijay (PW-4) upon his instruction. He also disclosed about the motive for the crime by stating that, on 29.04.1990, in a marriage procession, there had been an altercation between Mukesh (the deceased) and Raju (the appellant) and that in connection therewith, threats were extended to the deceased by the accused-appellant. In his cross examination, on a question put to him with regards to the existence of source of light, he stated that there existed a bulb and that he had a valid electricity connection. No question or suggestion was put to him that there was no supply of electricity in the locality where the incident took place. In his cross examination, PW-1 refuted the suggestion that he had not seen the incident. On the basis of his deposition, even if we hold that PW-1 did not see the actual infliction of injuries, he is reliable and trustworthy in so far as his statement relates to the motive for the crime; the time and place of occurrence; and as to the presence of the other two witnesses on the spot.

23. In so far as PW-2 - Jaggo Lal is concerned, he stated that on the date of the incident in between 10 pm to 10.15 pm he was lying at the Chabutra of his house, just in front of the place where the deceased (Mukesh) and Nand Kishor were sleeping. He stated that he heard a cry/shriek, upon which, he woke up and saw Raju (the appellant) inflicting a knife blow on the stomach of the deceased. He stated that upon hearing the commotion, Dilip; Lala Ram; and other neighbours also arrived. He stated that the deceased cried on being inflicted with wound on the neck region and thereafter wound was inflicted in the stomach region. He stated that he saw the accused-appellant inflicting knife injury in the light of the bulb. He stated that there was a bulb lit at the outer wall of the house of Lala Ram and Nand Kishor. He stated that after inflicting knife injury, Raju (appellant) ran away towards his house. In his cross examination, he stated that his house is just in front of the house of Lala Ram (informant) and, in between, there is a four hands wide lane (Gali). He stated that in front of his house, just two paces away, there is his Chabutara which is about three paces wide and three paces long. He stated that he was lying on this Chabutara at the time of the incident. He stated that when he was lying there, his feet were towards the house of Lala Ram; and Mukesh (the deceased) was sleeping on a cot in the lane which was in between the two houses. He stated that the bulb lit was fixed on a holder which was on the wall of Lala Ram. He denied the suggestion that he had any relations with Lala Ram. We find that he qualifies as an independent witness whose presence is disclosed in the FIR also. Further, no suggestion was made to him that he has enmity with the accused-appellant. His testimony has been consistent throughout and has not been shaken by the cross examination.

24. PW-3 - Nand Kishor stated that he was sleeping on a separate cot next to the deceased and that he saw the accused-appellant inflicting knife blows on the neck and stomach region of the deceased. He also disclosed about the existence of bulb and source of light. He disclosed that an incident of altercation between Raju (accused-appellant) and Mukesh (the deceased) had occurred during the course of marriage of the daughter of Taro Mahraj, which took place few days before the incident. He also disclosed that threat was extended to the deceased by the accused-appellant. In his cross examination, nothing substantial came out. We are of the view that though he may be a relative of the informant and as such an interested witness but his presence is natural at the spot and is also proved by independent witness (PW-2).

25. PW-4 -Vijay had disclosed that he had written the first information report, which was marked exhibit 1, on the instruction of his father-in-law (Lala Ram) given at the hospital. PW-5 - O.P. Kalra proved conducting of investigation. He proved the site plan and established the place of occurrence by proving recovery of blood soaked earth and plain earth as also blood stained pillow and pieces of blood drenched cot which were exhibited. PW-6 - Dr. R.K. Yadav proved the postmortem of the deceased and confirmed existence of two anti mortem incised wound injuries which are consistent with the ocular evidence. He also proved that from the medical college /police record it appears that the deceased was brought there at about 10.50 pm.

26. When we proceed to analyze the evidence, we find that the witnesses have proved the place of occurrence; the time of occurrence; and the source of light at the time of incident. No suggestion was put to the witnesses that at the place where occurrence took place, there was no supply of electricity or that the electricity was not being supplied at the time of occurrence. The existence of bulb at the wall of the house of the informant is quite natural. It is also natural that the bulb remained lit as in summer months, to ward off heat, house inmates sleep outside. Moreover there is no suggestion that the parties were affluent, having the facility of cooler/ air conditioner etc, and, therefore would not sleep outside. The place of occurrence was established by collection of plain earth and blood soaked earth as also by collection of pieces of blood drenched cot and blood stained pillow. No suggestion was put to Jaggo Lal (PW-2) that he had any motive to falsely implicate the accused-appellant. The testimony of Jaggo Lal is clear and consistent and it demonstrates that he was there at the place and time of the occurrence and he heard cry of the deceased which invited his attention towards the deceased to enable him to witness infliction of knife blow by the appellant on the stomach of the deceased. As the injury was not such which severed vocal chord etc raising of alarm on receipt of first injury was quite natural thereby giving sufficient opportunity to the witnesses to witness infliction of the second blow even if they were sleeping when the first blow was inflicted. Further, the testimony of the witnesses is consistent with each other. The prosecution thus succeeded in not only proving the act of crime by the appellant but also the motive for the crime by disclosing that on 29.04.1990 there had been altercation between the deceased and the accused in connection with which threats were extended. The argument of the learned counsel for the appellant that the witnesses were sleeping at the time of incident and could not have witnessed the incident is not acceptable because there were two injuries inflicted on the body of the deceased and therefore it was highly probable that upon receipt of first blow the deceased would have raised an alarm thereby stirring up the persons sleeping near him to enable them to witness the second blow, as is the testimony of the eye witnesses examined by the prosecution.

27. The submission of the learned counsel for the appellant that the source of light was not proved as the electricity connection papers were not proved is also not acceptable because it is not the case of the defence that there was no supply of electricity in the locality. Otherwise, the existence of the bulb has been established by oral testimony and is also shown in the site plan prepared during the course of investigation. Moreover, Lala Ram (PW-1) has also specifically stated that he had an electricity connection. Under the circumstances, non proving of electricity connection papers would not be fatal to the prosecution case. More so, when an independent witness has in his testimony disclosed that an electricity bulb was lit and nothing has come from his cross examination to suggest that he had any motive to falsely implicate the accused-appellant.

28. The contention of the learned counsel for the appellant that there had been no production of the recovered knife before the court and therefore there was a serious lacuna in the prosecution case rendering the conviction bad in law is not acceptable for the reason that it is well settled legal position that if the prosecution case is established by ocular evidence, which is reliable and consistent with the medical evidence, latches on the part of the investigating agency would not be sufficient to acquit the accused and discard the prosecution case which is otherwise proved by reliable oral testimony. In this context, regard be had to decision of the Apex Court in the case of Sanjeev Kumar Gupta Vs. State of U.P.: (2015) 11 SCC 69 wherein it was held that even if the investigation suffers from certain flaws such as non-recovery of the weapon used by the accused appellants and other material, the entire prosecution case cannot be brushed aside when it is proved by ocular evidence and corroborated by medical evidence. Similar view has been taken earlier by the Apex Court in the case of Amit Vs. State of U.P. (2012) 4 SCC 107.

29. The contention of the learned counsel for the appellant that the prosecution has failed to examine other witnesses that had arrived on the spot and, therefore, the benefit must go to the accused-appellant is also not worthy of acceptance because it is not the quantity of the evidence but the quality of the evidence that is to be considered. (Govindaraju alias Govinda Vs. State: (2012) 4 SCC 722). The prosecution had examined three eye witnesses. First was the informant, who was a resident of the same house where the incident occurred. He deposed about hearing the cry of the deceased upon receipt of knife blow and accused-appellant running away with blood stained knife. The second witness (PW-2) is a person who was lying on his Chabutra just few paces away in front of the place where the deceased was lying. He disclosed that upon hearing cry from the deceased, he woke up and saw the appellant inflicting knife blow on the stomach region of the deceased. The third witness (PW-3) is a person who was an inmate of the same house at the door of which the deceased slept and the said witness was sleeping just next to the deceased. These three witnesses were consistent in their stand and their presence at the spot could not be doubted by the questions put to them in the cross examination.

30. The submission of the learned counsel for the appellant that Panch witnesses were not examined and, therefore, prosecution failed to prove its case is also worthy of rejection because the preparation of the Fard etc. was proved by the Investigating Officer and no such question was put to him to suggest that he had not been a witness to its preparation.

31. In view of the above, we are of the considered view that the prosecution has been successful in establishing the guilt of the accused-appellant beyond the pale of doubt and that there exists a ring of truth in the prosecution story, therefore, we uphold the conviction of the appellant for the offence punishable under Section 302 IPC.

32. At this stage, the learned counsel for the appellant invited attention of the Court to the statement of the appellant recorded under Section 313 CrPC, wherein he had disclosed his age as about 18 years, to raise a claim for the benefit of juvenility. It was urged that the previous bench, upon noticing the said aspect, had allowed the appellant to set up the plea of juvenility. In that regard, attention of the Court was invited to order dated 07.03.2017, which is extracted below:-

"Heard Kumari Anita Singh, learned counsel for the appellant.

It has been submitted by the learned counsel for the appellant that since the age of the appellant- Raju @ Rajendra mentioned in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. is about 18 years, he must have positively been juvenile on the date of the incident.

Learned counsel for the appellant prays for and is allowed two weeks' time to move an application under Section 7A of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2000.

List this appeal on 30.3.2017."

33. The learned counsel for the appellant submitted that pursuant to the above order, an application was filed on 30.03.2017 to decide the appeal of the appellant as a juvenile in conflict with law. This application was supported by an affidavit in which Class-2 Transfer Certificate of the appellant issued by Headmistress of Mahatma Gandhi Junior High School, Agra, disclosing the date of birth of appellant as 06.11.1974, was enclosed along with an Election Voter ID Card disclosing the year of birth of the appellant as 1974. It was contended that from the above material it is ascertainable that on the date of commission of the crime, that is 01.05.1990, the appellant was below 16 years in age and therefore was entitled to the benefit of the provisions of Juvenile Justice Act, 1986 as well as the subsequent Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2000.

34. On the aforesaid application, on 17.07.2017, the previous Bench of this Court had passed the following order:-

"This application u/s 7-A of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2000 has been filed on behalf of the appellant Raju @ Rajendra with the prayer to declare him juvenile in conflict with law.

The application is supported by an affidavit of one Pramod Kumar, S/O Sri Nem Singh, presently posted as Sub-Inspector of police at P.S.- Madan Mohan Gate, District- Agra.

It has been submitted by learned counsel for the appellant that age of the appellant Raju @ Rajendra mentioned in his statement recorded u/s 313 Cr.P.C. was about 18 years. Moreover, it is apparent from the perusal of the Scholar's Register & Transfer Certificate issued by the Principal of Mahatma Gandhi Junior High School Baah, District- Agra that the date of birth of the appellant Raju @ Rajendra is 06.11.1974 and hence the appellant on the date of incident i.e. 01.05.1990, was minor and as such it should be declared that he was juvenile in conflict with law on the date of occurrence.

Per contra Sri J.K. Upadhyay, learned AGA submitted that the Scholar's Register & Transfer Certificate of the appellant Raju @ Rajendra, brought on record as Annexure No.1 to the affidavit accompanying the application u/s 7-A of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2000, upon enquiry was found to be true.

After having heard the submissions made by learned counsel for the parties, we are of the view that the said issue should be examined by the concerned Juvenile Justice Board after giving notice to the complainant.

In view of the above, we remit this matter to the District & Sessions Judge, Agra with the direction to him to refer the appellant's claim for being declared juvenile in conflict with law to the Juvenile Justice Board, Agra within a week from the date of receipt of this order and the application u/s 7-A of the Juvenile Justice (Care & Protection of Children) Act, 2000. He shall further ensure that the Juvenile Justice Board, Agra adjudicates upon the appellant's claim for being declared juvenile in conflict with law within two months from the date of such reference after hearing the informant.

The report/ order of the Juvenile Justice Board, Agra shall be placed before this Court on the next date fixed.

List this appeal after six weeks.

Office is directed to communicate this order and transmit the complete record of the application u/s 7-A of the Juvenile Justice (Care & Protection of Children) Act, 2000 moved by the appellant Raju @ Rajendra to the District & Sessions Judge, Agra within a week from today. "

35. Pursuant to the above order, the Juvenile Justice Board, Agra submitted its report dated 16.09.2017 stating that the appellant - Raju alias Rajendra was juvenile at the time of the incident and was aged 15 years 5 months and 25 days.

36. By order dated 04.10.2017, photostat copy of the report, dated 16.09.2017, was directed to be supplied to the learned A.G.A., to solicit an objection, if any.

37. Pursuant to the above order, a counter affidavit was filed on behalf of the State. Thereafter, by order dated 16.07.2018, office was directed to call for the records from the Juvenile Justice Board, Agra relating to the claim of juvenility set up by the appellant. Pursuant to which, the record of the Board has been placed before us.

38. From a perusal of the record it appears that the Juvenile Justice Board, Agra while conducting inquiry on the claim of juvenility had issued notice to the informant (Lala Ram). Pursuant to which, his son Dilip had appeared as a witness and his statement was recorded on 16.09.2017. Dilip disclosed that his father Lala Ram is no more alive. In respect of the appellant's claim of juvenility, Dilip stated that he has no documentary evidence as regards the age of the appellant on the date of the incident but, according to his estimate, the appellant must have been 18-19 years old at the time of the incident. He further stated that, according to his estimate, the appellant must be 40 years old now. In his cross examination, he stated that he has done guesswork regarding the age of the appellant being 18-19 years old at the time of the incident though it may be one or two years less or more. The Board considered the statement of the appellant also. He had stated that he was born in the year 1974 and had studied up to Class-2. In his cross examination, he stated that except for Mahatma Gandhi Junior High School, he studied in no other school. He stated that he has one daughter and two sons. He stated that his elder daughter is aged about 19 years, born in 1996. He stated that he was married in the year 1995. He also stated that he remained in jail for a period of about 10 months.

39. In the inquiry, the statement of Nutan Mittal, Assistant Principal of Mahatma Gandhi Junior High School was also recorded. She had produced the scholar register of the institution. She stated that in the scholar register, the name of the appellant is entered at Sl. No.1463. The date of birth entered in the scholar register is 06.11.1974. She stated that as per the scholar register, the concerned student (appellant) took admission in Class-1 on 20.05.1982 and passed out Class-2 on 20.05.1984. She proved the Transfer Certificate which disclosed the date of birth of the appellant as 06.11.1974. She was crossed examined by the Assistant Prosecuting Officer.

40. After recording the statement of the witnesses, the Juvenile Justice Board, Agra came to a definite conclusion that the date of birth of the appellant was 06.11.1974 and that on the date of the incident, that is 01.05.1990, the appellant was aged 15 years 5 months and 25 days and, as such, a juvenile under the provisions of Section 2(h) of Juvenile Justice Act, 1986.

41. Upon being called upon by the Court to submit an objection to the report submitted by the Juvenile Justice Board, a counter affidavit has been filed by Sri Krishna Upadhyay, Sub-Inspector, Police Station Madan Mohan Gate, District Agra. In paragraph 3 of the counter affidavit, dated 04th December, 2017, it has been stated as follows:-

"That in compliance of the order passed by this Court the deponent verified the aforesaid Scholar's register & Transfer Certificate Form from the office of Basic Shiksha Adhikari Agra in which the name of the appellant is mentioned at serial no. 1436 in which the date of birth of the appellant is recorded as 06.11.1974, the deponent has also verified the aforesaid date of birth from the institution namely Mahatma Gandhi Junior High School B.M. Khan Agra, in which the aforesaid date of birth is mentioned. A copy of the Scholar's Register & Transfer Certificate Form verified by the Basic Shiksha Adhikari Agra along with certificate issued by the Principal of institution are collectively being filed and marked herewith as Annexure no.CA-1 to this affidavit."

42. A perusal of Annexure 1 to the counter affidavit would reveal that in the Scholar's Register & Transfer Certificate Form of Mahatma Gandhi Junior High School, Agra the name of Rajendra alias Raju son of Gauri Shanker is entered at Sl. No.1463 disclosing his date of birth as 06.11.1974. The date of admission is 03.07.1981 and date of passing out is 30.06.1983.

43. During the course of arguments, the learned A.G.A. could not demonstrate before us that victim's family had questioned the report of the Juvenile Justice Board, Agra declaring the appellant juvenile, that is aged 15 years 5 months and 25 days, on the date of the incident. Even before us, in this appeal, no objection has been taken to the above report by any member of the victim's family.

44. As the Juvenile Justice Board, Agra had conducted an inquiry to determine the age of the appellant at the time of the incident and, after giving opportunity of hearing to the members of the victim's family, on the basis of date of birth recorded in educational certificate, had come to a definite conclusion that the appellant was 15 years 5 months and 25 days old at the time of the incident, we accept the report and hold that the appellant was a juvenile, as defined by Section 2(h) of the Juvenile Justice Act, 1986; Section 2(k) of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2000; and Section 2(35) of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, on the date of the incident.

45. It is well settled legal principle that the claim of juvenility can be raised at any stage including the appellate stage. In the case of Jitendra Singh alias Babbu Singh Vs. State of U.P. (2013) 11 SCC 193 the incident had occurred on the midnight of 23.05.1988/24.05.1988. The allegation was that the accused-appellant had set his wife on fire for dowry. The appellant was convicted under Section 304-B IPC as also under Section 498-A IPC. The conviction and sentence was challenged in criminal appeal before the High Court, which was dismissed. Against the judgment and order passed by the High Court, the appellant went in appeal before the Supreme Court. During the pendency of the proceedings, the appellant filed a petition raising additional grounds including that on the date of commission of the offence, he was a juvenile or child within the meaning of that expression as defined in Section 2(k) of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2000. According to the appellant, his date of birth was 31.08.1974 and, therefore, when the offence took place, he was aged about 14 years. On the application claiming juvenility, a report was called. After receiving objections, the court came to a definite conclusion that the appellant was about 17 years old when the incident had occurred. The question that arose for consideration before the Apex Court was whether the conviction of the appellant could be sustained on merits and, if so, what was the sentence that could be awarded to the appellant. The Apex Court upheld the conviction and, on the question of sentence, by taking into account the provisions of Juvenile Justice Act, 1986, held as follows:-

"31. In the present case, the offence was committed by the appellant when the Juvenile Justice Act, 1986 was in force. Therefore, only the "punishments' not greater than those postulated by the Juvenile Justice Act, 1986 ought to be awarded to him. This is the requirement of Article 20(1) of the Constitution. The "punishments' provided under the Juvenile Justice Act, 1986 are given in Section 21 thereof and they read as follows:

"21. Orders that may be passed regarding delinquent juveniles.--(1) Where a Juvenile Court is satisfied on inquiry that a juvenile has committed an offence, then, notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in any other law for the time being in force, the Juvenile Court may, if it so thinks fit,--

(a) allow the juvenile to go home after advice or admonition;

(b) direct the juvenile to be released on probation of good conduct and placed under the care of any parent, guardian or other fit person, on such parent, guardian or other fit person executing a bond, with or without surety as that Court may require, for the good behaviour and well-being of the juvenile for any period not exceeding three years;

(c) direct the juvenile to be released on probation of good conduct and placed under the care of any fit institution for the good behaviour and well-being of the juvenile for any period not exceeding three years;

(d) make an order directing the juvenile to be sent to a special home,--

(i) in the case of a boy over fourteen years of age or of a girl over sixteen years of age, for a period of not less than three years;

(ii) in the case of any other juvenile, for the period until he ceases to be a juvenile:

Provided that .....
Provided further that .....

(e) order the juvenile to pay a fine if he is over fourteen years of age and earns money.

(2) Where an order under clause (b), clause (c) or clause (e) of sub-section (1) is made, the Juvenile Court may, if it is of opinion that in the interests of the juvenile and of the public it is expedient so to do, in addition make an order that the delinquent juvenile shall remain under the supervision of a probation officer named in the order during such period, not exceeding three years, as may be specified therein, and may in such supervision order impose such conditions as it deems necessary for the due supervision of the delinquent juvenile:

(3) -(4)"

32. A perusal of the "punishments' provided for under the Juvenile Justice Act, 1986 indicate that given the nature of the offence committed by the appellant, advising or admonishing him [clause (a)] is hardly a "punishment' that can be awarded since it is not at all commensurate with the gravity of the crime. Similarly, considering his age of about 40 years, it is completely illusory to expect the appellant to be released on probation of good conduct, to be placed under the care of any parent, guardian or fit person [clause (b)]. For the same reason, the appellant cannot be released on probation of good conduct under the care of a fit institution [clause (c)] nor can he be sent to a special home under Section 10 of the Juvenile Justice Act, 1986 which is intended to be for the rehabilitation and reformation of delinquent juveniles [clause (d)]. The only realistic punishment that can possibly be awarded to the appellant on the facts of this case is to require him to pay a fine under clause (e) of Section 21(1) of the Juvenile Justice Act, 1986.

33. While dealing with the case of the appellant under IPC, the fine imposed upon him is only Rs.100/-. This is ex facie inadequate punishment considering the fact that Asha Devi suffered a dowry death.

34. Recently, one of us (T.S. Thakur, J.) had occasion to deal with the issue of compensation to the victim of a crime. An illuminating and detailed discussion in this regard is to be found in Ankush Shivaji Gaikwad v. State of Maharashtra (2013) 6 SCC 770. Following the view taken therein read with the provisions of Section 20 of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2000 the appropriate course of action in the present case would be to remand the matter to the jurisdictional Juvenile Justice Board constituted under the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2000 for determining the appropriate quantum of fine that should be levied on the appellant and the compensation that should be awarded to the family of Asha Devi."

46. After holding as above, in paragraphs 57 to 60 of the report, the Apex Court concluded as follows:-

"57. The appellant was a juvenile on the date of the occurrence of the incident. His case has been examined on merits and his conviction is upheld. The only possible and realistic sentence that can be awarded to him is the imposition of a fine. The existing fine of Rs.100/- is grossly inadequate. To this extent, the punishment awarded to the appellant is set aside. The issue of the quantum of fine to be imposed on the appellant is remitted to the jurisdictional Juvenile Justice Board. The jurisdictional Juvenile Justice Board is also enjoined to examine the compensation to be awarded, if any, to the family of Asha Devi in terms of the decision of this Court in Ankush Shivaji Gaikwad.

58. Keeping in mind our domestic law and our international obligations, it is directed that the provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code relating to arrest and the provisions of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2000 being the law of the land, should be scrupulously followed by the concerned authorities in respect of juveniles in conflict with law.

59. It is also directed that whenever an accused, who physically appears to be a juvenile, is produced before a Magistrate, he or she should form a prima facie opinion on the juvenility of the accused and record it. If any doubt persists, the Magistrate should conduct an age inquiry as required by Section 7A of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2000 to determine the juvenility or otherwise of the accused person. In this regard, it is better to err on the side of caution in the first instance rather than have the entire proceedings reopened or vitiated at a subsequent stage or a guilty person go unpunished only because he or she is found to be a juvenile on the date of occurrence of the incident.

60. Accordingly, the matter is remanded to the jurisdictional Juvenile Justice Board constituted under the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2000 for determining the appropriate quantum of fine that should be levied on the appellant and the compensation that should be awarded to the family of Asha Devi. Of course, in arriving at its conclusions, the said Board will take into consideration the facts of the case as also the fact that the appellant has undergone some period of incarceration."

47. While agreeing with the above conclusion, Hon'ble T.S. Thakur, J., while supplementing the judgment, in paragraphs 85 and 86 of the judgment, as per report, concluded as follows:-

"85. In the totality of the above circumstances, there is no reason why the conviction of the appellant should be interfered with, simply because he is under the 2000 Act a juvenile entitled to the benefit of being referred to the Board for an order under Section 15 of the said Act. There is no gainsaying that even if the appellant had been less than sixteen years of age, on the date of the occurrence, he would have been referred for trial to the Juvenile Court in terms of Section 8 of the 1986 Act. The Juvenile Court would then hold a trial and record a conviction or acquittal depending upon the evidence adduced before it. In an ideal situation a case filed before an ordinary Criminal Court when referred to the Board or Juvenile Court may culminate in a conviction at the hands of the Board also. But law does not countenance a situation where a full-fledged trial and even an appeal ends in a conviction of the accused but the same is set aside without providing for a trial by the Board.

86. With the above observations, I agree with the Order proposed by brother Lokur, J."

48. The aforesaid decision of the Apex Court was rendered at the time when the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2000 was in force. In the instant case, the claim of juvenility was raised after the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015 had come into force with effect from 15.01.2016.

49. The proviso to sub-section (2) of Section 9 of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015 (for short Act, 2015) enables raising of a claim before any court even after final disposal of the case and such a claim is to be determined in accordance with the provisions contained in the Act and the Rules made thereunder even if the person has ceased to be a child on or before the date of commencement of the Act.

50. By order of this Court, an inquiry was held by the Juvenile Justice Board, Agra and the appellant has been found to be aged below 16 years and, therefore, is a child in conflict with law even as per the provisions of the Act, 2015. Therefore, even if we deal with the appellant as per the provisions of the Act, 2015, the orders that could be passed regarding child found to be in conflict with law are those which have been provided in Section 18 of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015. Section 18 is extracted below:-

"18. Orders regarding child found to be in conflict with law.- 1. Where a Board is satisfied on inquiry that a child irrespective of age has committed a petty offence, or a serious offence, or a child below the age of sixteen years has committed a heinous offence, then, notwithstanding anything contrary contained in any other law for the time being in force, and based on the nature of offence, specific need for supervision or intervention, circumstances as brought out in the social investigation report and past conduct of the child, the Board may, if it so thinks fit,--

a. allow the child to go home after advice or admonition by following appropriate inquiry and counselling to such child and to his parents or the guardian;

b. direct the child to participate in group counselling and similar activities;

c. order the child to perform community service under the supervision of an organisation or institution, or a specified person, persons or group of persons identified by the Board;

d. order the child or parents or the guardian of the child to pay fine:

Provided that, in case the child is working, it may be ensured that the provisions of any labour law for the time being in force are not violated;

e. direct the child to be released on probation of good conduct and placed under the care of any parent, guardian or fit person, on such parent, guardian or fit person executing a bond, with or without surety, as the Board may require, for the good behaviour and child's well-being for any period not exceeding three years;

f. direct the child to be released on probation of good conduct and placed under the care and supervision of any fit facility for ensuring the good behaviour and child's well-being for any period not exceeding three years;

g. direct the child to be sent to a special home, for such period, not exceeding three years, as it thinks fit, for providing reformative services including education, skill development, counselling, behaviour modification therapy, and psychiatric support during the period of stay in the special home:

Provided that if the conduct and behaviour of the child has been such that, it would not be in the child's interest, or in the interest of other children housed in a special home, the Board may send such child to the place of safety.

2. If an order is passed under clauses (a) to (g) of sub-section (1), the Board may, in addition pass orders to--

i. attend school; or

ii. attend a vocational training centre; or

iii. attend a therapeutic centre; or

iv. prohibit the child from visiting, frequenting or appearing at a specified place; or

v. undergo a de-addiction programme.

3. Where the Board after preliminary assessment under section 15 pass an order that there is a need for trial of the said child as an adult, then the Board may order transfer of the trial of the case to the Children's Court having jurisdiction to try such offences."

51. When we compare the provisions of Section 21 of Juvenile Justice Act, 1986 with the provisions of Section 18 of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015, we find that there exist similar provisions for orders that could be passed in respect of a juvenile in conflict with law including direction to pay fine. Hence, by applying the law laid down by the Apex Court in Jitendra Singh's case (Supra) and by keeping in mind the provisions of Section 18(1) (d) of the Act, 2015, we are of the view that the appropriate punishment that ought to be awarded to the appellant, who was a juvenile on the date of the incident, would be 'fine'. We find that the court below while convicting the appellant has not awarded any fine. As to what quantum of fine is to be awarded can appropriately be determined by the Juvenile Justice Board after giving opportunity of hearing to the appellant in the light of the observations contained in the judgment of the Apex Court in Jitendra Singh's case (Supra). Accordingly, the appeal is partly allowed. The conviction of the appellant under Section 302 IPC is upheld. However, the punishment awarded to the appellant by the court below is set aside. The appellant who is on bail need not surrender. The sureties are discharged. The matter is remanded to the Juvenile Justice Board, Agra constituted under the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015 for determining the appropriate quantum of fine that should be levied on the appellant and the compensation that should be awarded to the family of the victim, as per the law. The appellant shall cooperate in the proceedings in that regard and shall put in appearance before the Juvenile Justice Board, Agra by or before 15th October, 2019.

52. Let the record of the court below as well as the record of Juvenile Justice Board, Agra be sent back.

THE HON'BLE MANOJ MISRA, J.
THE HON'BLE VIRENDRA KUMAR SRIVASTAVA, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 288 of 1991

Mahesh ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri D. Dahma, Sri Divya Ojha, Sri Prem Chandra, Sri Sangam Lal Keshwani.

Counsel for the Opposite Party:
D.G.A.

A. Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Section 302 read with Section 34 I.P.C- criminal appeal - section 313 Cr.P.C - injuries sustained by the deceased were very serious - so much of chaff has been mixed with the grain that it becomes almost impossible to sift the grain from the chaff. The benefit of which would have to be extended to the accused - prosecution has failed to establish the guilt of the accused beyond the pale of doubt- The appellant's conviction is therefore unsustainable-appellant is entitled to the benefit of doubt.

Held:- Under the circumstances, the prosecution evidence has to be tested before its acceptance and conviction is to be recorded only when it is found reliable. Where doubts arise about the truthfulness of the prosecution evidence, the benefit of doubt would always go to the accused (Para-42)

B. Code of criminal procedure 1973 - Section 157 - Procedure for investigation- no time-limit for a report under section 157 Cr.P.C could be specified as a rule - mere absence to mention crime number in inquest report or medical papers by itself is not significant to discard the FIR as ante-timed or to disbelieve the prosecution case. (Para 31)

Held:- It is equally well settled that each case would have to be tested on its own facts and circumstances derived from the evidence led. In cases where the substantive evidence led throws questions that are left unanswered or leaves out gaps in the prosecution story, such latches, as noticed in Meharaj Singh's case, may assume importance as to whether benefit of doubt is to be provided to the accused.

1. This appeal has been filed by Mahesh son of Dibbu Mehtar against the judgment and order dated 13.02.1991 passed by the Ist Additional Sessions Judge, Aligarh in Sessions Trial No. 662 of 1987 by which the appellant, along with Gajendra Singh @ Gajpal son of Girraj Singh Jat; and Jagdish son of Ram Swarupa Mehtar, has been convicted for offence punishable under Section 302 read with Section 34 I.P.C. and awarded life imprisonment as well as fine of Rs. 2,000/- and, in case of default in payment of fine, to undergo one year additional rigorous imprisonment. The other two convicted accused, namely, Jagdish and Gajendra Singh, had jointly filed a separate Criminal Appeal No. 232 of 1991 which stood abated as they expired during the pendency of appeal. Thus, this judgment deals with the appeal filed by Mahesh only.

2. Briefly put the prosecution case is as under. The deceased - Mahendra Singh was working as a Homeguard attached to Police Station (for short P.S.) Pisawa, Aligarh. Like every day, on 11.07.1987, at about 6.45 p.m., he, along with his father Todar Singh (informant-P.W.1) who had to sleep over night at the shop of his other son (Mehtab Singh) at Pisawa, was going on a bicycle to P.S. Pisawa to attend his duty. As they reached near Kumargarha Nala, four persons, namely, Jagdish son of Swarupa Mehtrar; Mahesh son of Dibbu Mehtar (appellant); Gajendra Singh @ Gajpal son of Girraj Jat; and an unknown person (later disclosed as Biri Singh), who were all hiding behind Patel bushes, came out and surrounded them. Gajendra shouted at Mahendra (the deceased) as to why he did not allow the pigs of Jagdish and Mahesh to graze in his field. Upon which, the deceased - Mahendra responded by saying that they would have destroyed his maize crop. On hearing the reply, Gajendra exhorted the other accused persons to finish off Mahendra (deceased) whereafter all four accused took out their knives and after putting the deceased on ground started assaulting him with knives, as a result, the deceased received injury on his neck. Witnessing attack on his son, the informant (P.W.1) cried for help, upon which, villagers, namely, Gulzar (P.W.2); Girraj (not examined); Tara Singh (not examined); and Harveer Singh (not examined) arrived. On seeing them coming, and sensing that the deceased had died, the accused escaped. Thereafter, Mahendra was brought in an injured condition to P.S. Pisawa where the report (Ex. Ka 1) was scribed by Kishan Singh (not examined) on dictation of the informant (P.W.1). After signing the same, PW1 got the first information report (FIR) (Ex Ka 2) registered at P.S. Pisawa at 20:15 hours (8:15 p.m.) which was entered by Head Moharir Ramvir Singh (P.W.3) in the register on 11.7.1987 as case crime no.32 of 1987 for offences punishable under sections 307/324 IPC. Thereafter, P.W.5 - Rajendra Singh Tomar, Investigation Officer (I.O.), proceeded to record the statement (Ex Ka 10) of Mahendra Singh (the injured), under section 161 CrPC, at about 9.00 p.m. However, as the condition of the injured was very serious he was taken to Pisawa hospital. There no doctor could be found. Hence, he was taken to J.N. Medical College Hospital, Aligarh and was admitted there at about 10.50 p.m. However, he succumbed to his injuries at the hospital at about 11.20 p.m. on 11.07.1987 itself. As the said hospital was under P.S. Civil Lines, Aligarh, information of Mahendra Singh's death was given by the hospital to P.S. Civil Lines, Aligarh, which prepared the inquest report (Ex Ka 12). Thereafter, upon receipt of death report, on 12.7.1987, the offences were altered and Sections 302 read with 34 IPC were added.

3. The lodging of the FIR was proved by P.W. 1 and P.W.-3. Dr. Mohd. Arshad (P.W.4), who had examined the deceased - Mahendra at the hospital, proved the injury record (Ex Ka 5) and confidential memo (Ex Ka 6) to demonstrate that Mahendra (the deceased) was brought by his brother Mehtab (not examined) to the hospital at 10:50 p.m. on 11.07.1987 as a case of cut-throat (stab injury neck), where he expired at 11:20 p.m.

4. The post mortem report (exhibit Ka-13) was proved by Dr. R.P. Gupta (P.W.6) of Malkhan Singh Hospital, Aligarh. The post mortem examination disclosed a solitary ante mortem injury as follows:-

"An incised wound measuring 4 cm x 2 cm (in middle) muscle deep on left side neck, 5 cm above the medial end of left clavicle, oblique in direction. Spindle shaped in figure. Margins are well defined. On exposure, the wound runs towards right side downwards, cutting through and through trachea and oesophagus, reached right side in muscles. Great vessels of right side are also cut."

5. The prosecution examined six witnesses. Only two were witnesses of fact, namely, P.W.1- informant -Todar Singh (father of the deceased) and P.W.2

- Gulzar. P.W.-3- Ramveer Singh was head moharir at the police station who made GD entry of the first information report; P.W.5 - Rajendra Singh Tomar conducted the investigation; P.W.4-Dr. Mohd Arshad is the doctor who examined the deceased when he was brought to the hospital in the night of 11.07.1987; and P.W.6 - Dr. R.P. Gupta is the doctor who conducted the post-mortem examination.

6. P.W.4 in his testimony stated that the injured Mahendra Singh was brought to the hospital by his brother Mehtab Singh, where he died at 11:20 p.m. in the night of 11.07.1987 and information of his death was given to P.S. Civil Lines.

7. P.W.6-Dr. R.P. Gupta proved the post-mortem report which disclosed that post mortem examination was conducted on 12.7.1987 at about 3.30 p.m. and a solitary incised wound was found on the neck region. He stated that, according to his opinion, the deceased died due to excessive bleeding caused by the injury. He stated that it was possible that the deceased died on 11.07.1987 at 11:20 p.m.; that the injury was caused by a knife; and that the injury might have been inflicted at about 6:45 p.m. on 11.07.1987. On cross-examination, he stated that after receipt of such injury though it was possible that the injured might have been able to speak but the probability that he might not have been able to speak is higher. He also stated that if he could have managed to speak then such speech would not have lasted for more than 5-10 minutes after such injury. He stated that the possibility that the injury was caused between 8:30 and 9 p.m. of 11.07.1987 is there.

8. P.W.1-Todar Singh, who is the informant, reiterated the story narrated in the first information report except that in his testimony he also named the fourth accused, who was left unnamed in the FIR, as Biri Singh. He stated that all four had assaulted the deceased with knives though the knife blow of Gajendra caused the injury. He stated that he had raised alarm, upon which, Gulzar, Tara, Harveer and Girraj arrived. Seeing them, the accused ran away. As his son was injured and bleeding, he tied a Tahmat (head-cloth) on the neck of his son. Thereafter they arranged for a cot and carried the injured Mahendra to P.S. Pisawa where the FIR was written by Kishan Singh on dictation of informant and thereafter informant got it lodged after putting his signature. He disclosed that the deceased had been working as a homeguard and, on the fateful day, he was going to attend his duty at P.S. Pisawa. As regards the motive for the crime, he disclosed that 5-7 days before the incident, pigs of Jagdish and Mahesh had entered the field of the deceased and the deceased had scolded them therefore they had a grudge against the deceased. The fourth accused, namely, Biri Singh, was disclosed as brother-in-law (Behnoi) of Mahesh. P.W.1 stated that he had taken his injured son Mahendra to M.S. Hospital and there he expired at about midnight. He stated that at the time of the incident, there was sunlight.

9. In his cross-examination, he stated that before inflicting knife blows, the accused persons had exhorted each other and all four had caught hold the deceased and, after putting him down, had inflicted knife blows. He stated that while they were inflicting knife blows, Mahendra Singh was trying to get up and was twisting and moving sideways. He stated that he did not make any attempt to catch hold any of the accused persons while they were inflicting knife blows because he was standing 2-3 paces away and the entire incident just lasted two minutes. He stated that only a single blow was received by the deceased although all four were trying to inflict blows. He stated that he is not in a position to disclose about the length of the knife. P.W.1 also stated that as soon as Mahendra received knife blow, he had raised alarm. Immediately, thereafter, he stated that he raised alarm the moment Mahendra was pinned down. He stated that Tara Singh and Harveer Singh had arrived before infliction of knife blow whereas rest arrived later. He stated that the field of Gulzar - P.W.2 is at a distance of 60-70 paces from the spot. He stated that the injured was taken on a cot. The cot was brought from Pisawa. He stated that Mahendra got unconscious on receiving knife blow but later regained consciousness and was conscious at the police station. He stated that in the FIR he had specifically disclosed about receipt of solitary knife blow by Mahendra but he does not know as to how it has been written that all four had inflicted knife injuries on the neck. He further stated that he had told the scribe to write that knife blow of Gajendra had caused the injury to his son but the scribe told him that it would result in death penalty. He also stated that the accused Gajendra is a Jat whereas the other accused are Bhangi.

10. In his cross-examination, at the instance of Mahesh and Biri Singh, he stated that he had seen Biri Singh earlier but he was not aware of his name and relationship with Mahesh, though, later, after two days, he became aware of his name and relationship on being told by the investigation Officer. In his cross-examination, he stated that the witnesses took 3-4 minutes to arrive after he had raised the alarm. Upon suggestion that Mahesh was falsely implicated because he had refused to lift night soil, he stated that Mahesh and his father never used to clean his toilets. He denied the suggestion that he had not seen the incident or that he had falsely implicated the accused only because they had stopped cleaning his toilets. He stated that after the incident, about 10 minutes were taken to arrange a cot as from the spot Pisawa was about a kilometer away. He also stated that Harveer, Tara had accompanied him to the Hospital.

11. P.W.2 - Gulzar Singh stated that he arrived at the spot upon hearing shouts of Gajendra Singh. When he reached there, he found that Gajendra Singh; Jagdish; Mahesh; and Biri Singh were inflicting knife blows on Mahendra Singh (deceased). He stated that he was just 5-7 paces away from the spot but he could not notice as to whose blow caused the injury to the deceased. He stated that at that time Tara, Harveer and Girraj Singh all had arrived and Todar Singh (informant) was shouting. He stated that upon seeing them, the accused escaped. In his cross-examination, he stated that his field is 50-60 yards away; that before his arrival, Todar Singh had arrived; that he, Harveer and Tara arrived simultaneously from different directions; that Girraj arrived later from the village. Harveer and Tara arrived on a Buggy (cart). He stated that when he had arrived there all four accused had put the deceased on the ground and were inflicting knife blows. He stated that he had seen all the accused inflicting knife blows but he is not sure as to who caused the injury. He stated that Mahendra was brought on a cot to P.S. Pisawa. The cot was called from Pisawa.

He stated that the distance between Pisawa and the place of occurrence is about four furlongs and that Pisawa is about six furlongs from his village. He stated that about 15-20 minutes were spent in arranging for the cot. He stated that he had been with the deceased till 10 p.m. He denied the suggestion that he has falsely implicated the accused on account of party bandi.

12. In his cross-examination, he stated that he knew Biri Singh from before as Biri Singh happens to be the Behnoi (brother in law) of Mahesh. However, his name was not known, which came to be known on the next day. He also stated that Todar Singh had dictated the first information report in his presence and he had informed Todar Singh at that time that Mahesh's brother in law is also one of the persons involved. In his cross-examination, he admitted that Mahesh had been cleaning toilets though he claimed that he never used to clean his toilets. He denied the suggestion that Mahesh was implicated because he refused to lift his toilet's night soil.

13. P.W.3- Ramveer Singh, Head Moharir (clerk), who made the GD entry of the FIR at P.S. Pisawa, though proved the lodging of the FIR but, during cross-examination, upon suggestion that FIR was ante-timed and was lodged after death of Mahendra, after denying the said suggestion, admitted that on that day other than the concerned FIR only a non-cognizable report was registered at 6:40 am in the morning. He also stated that information / special report of the concerned FIR was sent on 13.7.1987 at about 8.00 am in the morning as in the night no vehicle was available.

14. P.W.5- Rajendra Singh Tomar, who conducted the investigation, stated that he first recorded the statement of the injured Mahendra Singh; thereafter of the informant Todar Singh and of the scribe Ramveer Singh and, thereafter, he proceeded to the spot, collected samples of blood stained and plain earth and prepared site plan. On his return, on receipt of information regarding death of the injured, the case was converted into one under section 302 / 34 IPC on 12.07.1987. He stated that inquest was carried out by P.S. Civil Lines. He stated that after completing the investigation the charge-sheet was filed under his signature.

15. In his cross examination, he stated that along with informant and the injured several others had come to the police station. He stated that although the condition of the deceased was serious when he was brought to the police station but he could speak therefore, after lodging of the first information report, his statement was recorded and thereafter he was sent to the hospital. He stated that Mahendra was sent to Pisawa hospital but there the doctor was not available and therefore he was taken to Malkhan Singh Hospital. He stated that the informant had stayed back at the police station whereas the rest had gone to the hospital with the injured. He stated that the injured had a cloth tied around his neck of which possession was not taken by him. He stated that the informant had gone with him to the spot and had remained with him till about 6.30 am (next day morning). He stated that he had reached the spot at about 10.30 p.m. on the night of the incident. The site plan was prepared next day morning, at about 5:45 am. He stated that blood stained earth was found at that spot where, as per the site plan, knife blow is stated to have been inflicted, and at no other place. He stated that the deceased Mahendra was Home Guard posted at P.S. Pisawa and his duty hours were from 6 pm to 4 am. He admitted that he had not noted the location of the fields of Gulzar and Girraj in the site plan.

16. Upon recall, he stated that the statement of Mahendra (deceased) had been recorded by him. The statement was thereafter exhibited as Ex Ka 10.

17. In his cross-examination, upon recall, he stated that he had recorded the statement of the injured at about 9 pm and that he took about 20 minutes to record the statement. He stated that he had not taken adequate precaution while recording statement and that he did not take the signature of the injured on his statement. He stated that when he recorded his statement no other person was present. He stated that the injured was in a fit condition to give his statement. He denied the suggestion that the injured was not in a position to give his statement and that the recorded statement is bogus.

18. The accused were confronted with the prosecution evidence. They denied the prosecution case in their statement recorded under section 313 CrPC and claimed that they have been falsely implicated.

19. The trial court on the basis of the evidence produced by the prosecution convicted Jagdish; Mahesh (Appellant) and Gajendra Singh but acquitted Biri Singh by giving him benefit of doubt on the ground of non disclosure of his name or identity in the first information report even though his identity as Behnoi of Mahesh was known. The trial court also discarded the alleged dying declaration recorded by the Investigating Officer by observing that from the medical evidence it becomes clear that the deceased was not at all in a condition to get his statement recorded.

20. We have heard Sri Sangam Lal Kesarwani and Sri Prem Chandra Yadav for the appellant; the learned A.G.A. for the State; and have perused the record.

21. Sri Sangam Lal Kesarwani, learned counsel for the appellant, has submitted that according to the prosecution case all four accused were armed with knives and they had put down the deceased on the ground and had inflicted several knife blows and that the incident lasted for about two minutes but the post mortem report of the deceased reveals a solitary incised wound. This would suggest that the incident was not witnessed by the witnesses and the story was subsequently developed.

22. He submitted that the presence of P.W.1 on the spot becomes doubtful for the following reasons: (a) his son was being assaulted in front of his eyes yet he makes no attempt to save him; (b) no bloodstained clothes of PW1 have been collected to demonstrate that he had been with the deceased at the time of the incident and had carried the deceased to the hospital; (c) that the medical papers suggests that the deceased was brought to the hospital by his brother - Mehtab Singh and not by PW1, whereas Mehtab Singh has not been examined as a witness. Moreover, it has not been disclosed as to how Mehtab Singh was with the deceased at the time of his medical examination.

23. He submitted that FIR appears to be ante-timed for the following reasons: (a) no chitthi majroobi (letter for medical examination of injured) was prepared and produced by the police and the medical papers also do not disclose that the injured was taken to the hospital with a letter from the police station concerned, which suggests that at the time when the deceased was taken to hospital, no report was in existence and registered at the police station and that after receipt of information about the death, first information report was lodged and the story was developed; (b) the inquest was conducted by a different police station; (c) the inquest papers do not disclose about prior registration of case, rather, it discloses that information was received from the hospital; and (d) that report under section 157 CrPC was given not on 12.07.1987 but on 13.07.1987, that is, after the post mortem examination of the deceased.

24. He also submitted that from the statement of P.W.1 it appears that Tara and Harveer, who were not examined as witness, had arrived earlier whereas the remaining witnesses arrived later, which suggests that Gulzar had not witnessed the incident and had arrived later upon getting information about the incident.

25. It has been submitted that the nature of the incident suggests that some unknown assailant had inflicted injury upon the deceased and had escaped and the story was set up on the basis of suspicion and guess work.

26. It has been submitted that neither the weapon of assault nor bloodstained clothes, if any, of the accused have been recovered. The prosecution has therefore not been able to establish its case beyond the pale of doubt. He further submitted that the very fact that the police had shown that a dying declaration was recorded when, in fact, the deceased was not at all in a condition to even speak, would go to show that there was an effort to falsely implicate persons to solve out the case as a Home Guard had been the victim.

27. It was also argued that if the deceased, who was Home Guard deputed at P.S. Pisawa, been brought injured at the police station, it is but natural that a police constable would have accompanied him for medical examination/treatment. But, from medical papers, it appears, he was brought to the hospital by his brother who has not been produced as a witness. He thus submitted that the prosecution has left many questions unanswered, which leaves a lot of doubt about the truthfulness of the prosecution case, hence, the appellant is entitled to the benefit of doubt.

28. Per contra, learned A.G.A. has supported the judgment of the court below by submitting that the first information report was lodged promptly; the doctor in his cross-examination has admitted that the incident could have occurred on or about the time at which it is purported to have occurred; that the presence of eye-witnesses cannot be doubted as they have appeared from adjoining fields; and that there is no cogent reason brought on record as to why the witnesses would be lying. It has also been submitted that there is no such serious conflict between ocular and medical evidence as very often blows may miss the body of the victim and, therefore, under the circumstances, merely because a solitary injury has been found, the involvement of four persons in the incident cannot be ruled out. Moreover, they have been convicted with the aid of section 34 IPC.

29. We have given thoughtful consideration to the rival submissions and have perused the record carefully.

30. Upon consideration of the rival submissions, one of the issues that falls for our consideration is whether the FIR was ante-timed. To find out whether the FIR has been ante-timed certain external checks are there. Some of these checks have been noticed by the apex court in Meharaj Singh (L/Nk.) v. State of U.P., (1994) 5 SCC 188, where, in paragraphs 12 and 13 of the judgment, as reported, it was observed:

12. FIR in a criminal case and particularly in a murder case is a vital and valuable piece of evidence for the purpose of appreciating the evidence led at the trial. The object of insisting upon prompt lodging of the FIR is to obtain the earliest information regarding the circumstance in which the crime was committed, including the names of the actual culprits and the parts played by them, the weapons, if any, used, as also the names of the eyewitnesses, if any. Delay in lodging the FIR often results in embellishment, which is a creature of an afterthought. On account of delay, the FIR not only gets bereft of the advantage of spontaneity, danger also creeps in of the introduction of a coloured version or exaggerated story. With a view to determine whether the FIR was lodged at the time it is alleged to have been recorded, the courts generally look for certain external checks. One of the checks is the receipt of the copy of the FIR, called a special report in a murder case, by the local Magistrate. If this report is received by the Magistrate late it can give rise to an inference that the FIR was not lodged at the time it is alleged to have been recorded, unless, of course the prosecution can offer a satisfactory explanation for the delay in despatching or receipt of the copy of the FIR by the local Magistrate. Prosecution has led no evidence at all in this behalf. The second external check equally important is the sending of the copy of the FIR along with the dead body and its reference in the inquest report. Even though the inquest report, prepared under Section 174 CrPC, is aimed at serving a statutory function, to lend credence to the prosecution case, the details of the FIR and the gist of statements recorded during inquest proceedings get reflected in the report. The absence of those details is indicative of the fact that the prosecution story was still in an embryo state and had not been given any shape and that the FIR came to be recorded later on after due deliberations and consultations and was then ante-timed to give it the colour of a promptly lodged FIR. In our opinion, on account of the infirmities as noticed above, the FIR has lost its value and authenticity and it appears to us that the same has been ante-timed and had not been recorded till the inquest proceedings were over at the spot by PW 8.

13. It appears that it was a blind murder and none of the eyewitnesses were actually present at the scene. The ante-timing of the FIR was obviously made to introduce eyewitnesses to support the prosecution case....."

(Emphasis Supplied)

31. Though in several subsequent decisions the apex court has held that no time-limit for a report under section 157 CrPC could be specified as a rule and that mere absence of mention of crime number in inquest report or medical papers by itself is not significant to discard the FIR as ante-timed or to disbelieve the prosecution case, if otherwise the substantive evidence brings home the charge without reasonable doubt (vide Mahmood v. State of U.P., (2007) 14 SCC 16; Jaishree Yadav v. State of UP, (2005) 9 SCC 788), but, it is equally well settled that each case would have to be tested on its own facts and circumstances derived from the evidence led. In cases where the substantive evidence led throws questions that are left unanswered or leaves out gaps in the prosecution story, such latches, as noticed in Meharaj Singh's case (supra), may assume importance as to whether benefit of doubt is to be provided to the accused.

32. In the instant case, we find that the injuries sustained by the deceased were very serious inasmuch as his Trachea as well as Oesophagus, including the main vessels, were cut which, in ordinary course, would result in heavy bleeding and severe pain as well as shock. The doctor (P.W.6) who carried out the post mortem examination was of the view that with such an injury ordinarily the victim would not be in a position to speak and, if he could, that capacity would not last beyond 5 to 10 minutes from the time of infliction of the injury. The doctor (P.W.6) accepted the possibility that the injury sustained by the deceased might have been caused between 8.30 p.m. and 9.00 p.m. of 11.7.1987, though he did not rule out the possibility of the injury being caused at the time stated by the prosecution. What assumes importance is that the nature of the injury suffered by the deceased was such that the normal course of human conduct, particularly, of father or close relative of the injured, would be to rush the injured to the hospital straight away for immediate medical attention rather than to take him to the police station and wait there for over an hour. The medical papers disclose that the injured was brought to the hospital by Mehtab Singh and not by the police, without any chitthi majroobi, which is suggestive of the possibility that the injured was rushed to the hospital straight away. This possibility gets credence from other circumstances noticed herein after. The deceased was a home guard posted at P.S. Pisawa. If he had been brought in an injured condition at that police station, the least that was expected is that a constable would have been deputed to accompany him to the hospital. As per medical papers/ evidence, deceased's brother, Mehtab Singh, brought him to the hospital. Though the I.O. (P.W.5) stated that a constable had gone to the Pisawa hospital and he returned because doctor could not be found there, but neither the name of that constable is disclosed nor Mehtab, whose name finds mention in medical papers, has been examined. Interestingly, the inquest proceeding was conducted at the hospital by the police of P.S. Civil Lines on information given by the hospital. Had there been information to the hospital that FIR has already been lodged at P.S. Pisawa there was a possibility of information being provided to that police station. Neither any one from police station Civil Lines nor any of the witnesses of inquest proceeding has been examined. Importantly, PW1 and PW2 are not Panch witnesses.

33. From the testimony of the doctor (P.W.6) the possibility of recording the statement of the injured by P.W.5 is ruled out, if the incident had occurred at 6.45 p.m. because the deceased could not have had sustained his speaking capacity beyond 5 to 10 minutes post the incident so as to enable the I.O. (P.W.5) to record his statement at about 9.00 pm. and, that too, for about 20 minutes, as is the claim of P.W.5. This circumstance is suggestive of two possibilities. One that the incident did not occur at 6.45 p.m., as alleged, and the other is that the dying declaration is bogus. What was the reason to show that the statement of the injured was recorded. Perhaps, the answer of that can be found in the alleged statement of the injured (Ex. Ka 10), which has been discarded by the court below.

34. On perusal of Ex Ka 10, the alleged statement of the injured made before his death, we find that it makes an effort to explain the absence of more than one injury on the injured as also to bring out the name of the fourth unnamed person, namely, Biri Singh. This clearly signifies that the I.O. had tried to fill in the gaps in the prosecution case, after getting information, by setting up the statement of the deceased.

35. Further, we may observe that if the I.O. had recorded the statement of the deceased and had come to know about the identity of the fourth person there was no reason for him not to disclose this fact to the informant then and there at the police station itself on 11.07.1987. The informant (P.W.1), on the other hand, in his cross-examination, at the instance of Mahesh, stated that he came to know about the involvement of Biri Singh through the I.O. about 2 days later. This discrepancy not only throws doubt about recording of the dying declaration but is also suggestive of the probability that the I.O. filled up the police papers some time later to suit the prosecution case.

36. Another feature which is worthy of notice is that the I.O. (PW5) stated that the informant stayed with him till next day morning and in the night of 11.7.1987 itself he went to the spot and took blood stained earth and plain earth samples. The fard (Ex-Ka-7) of that recovery discloses Chhido Nath and Vijendra Singh as witnesses of recovery. Both of them have not been examined. Interestingly, PW1 states that from P.S. Pisawa he had brought the injured Mahendra to M.S. Hospital. If that was so, then how could he have stayed back at the police station as claimed by the I.O. so as to enable him to visit the spot and collect blood stained earth, etc in the night of 11.07.1987.

37. When we see the prosecution evidence in its entirety and the aspects discussed above, ante-timing of the FIR or the incident cannot be ruled out. The statement of P.W.3 that prior to the registration of the concerned FIR only one non cognizable report had been entered in the morning of that day (11.07.1987) at the police station concerned shows that there was sufficient scope in the General Diary to make entries without the necessity of overwriting or interpolation.

38. Now, we shall proceed to examine the reliability of the ocular evidence. P.W.1 is the father of the deceased. He claims himself to be an eye witness. He, in his FIR as well as statement in court, states that four accused surrounded the deceased, pinned him down, took out knives and inflicted him blows. As against multiple knife injuries a solitary incised wound has been found. Even assuming that few blows may have missed but when some one is pinned down and his entire body is available for attack it is quite unbelievable that all the blows would miss. This discrepancy, PW1 sought to explain by stating that he tried to tell the scribe of the FIR that only the blow of Gajendra had caused the injury but the scribe retorted that it would result in death penalty. If P.W.1 had seen the incident and was convinced about what he saw why would he agree to dilute the case against Gajendra. Further, P.W.1 stated that after infliction of injury the deceased stood up, ran few paces and then fell down unconscious and, thereafter, regained consciousness and was also able to speak. Interestingly, I.O. (PW 5) stated that he could find blood at only one spot. When we appreciate the statement of P.W.1 in the light of the statement of the doctor that the deceased could not have sustained his speech faculty for more than 5 to 10 minutes after the injury, the statement of P.W.1 does not at all inspire confidence. Doubts as regards the presence of P.W.1 at the place of occurrence also surface from the medical papers which indicate that Mehtab Singh, son of P.W.1, who has not been examined, brought the deceased to the hospital. P.W.1 did not make any effort to save his son and has suffered no injury. Link evidence such as blood stained clothes of the informant to show that he has been with the deceased have not been collected and produced. No doubt, every person may react differently to a given situation and therefore absence of effort on the part of informant to save his son may not be a clinching circumstance to discredit him but when all the circumstances are put together, including attribution of role of inflicting knife blows on the deceased to four persons as against solitary injury found on his body, they throw a serious doubt about the presence of P.W.1 on the spot at the time of occurrence. Further, it may be noticed that though P.W.1 states that he had been to the hospital with his son (injured) but the Investigating Officer states that P.W.1 had stayed at the police station. Under the circumstances, the statement of P.W.1 does not inspire confidence to enable us to uphold conviction of the accused persons.

39. The statement of P.W. 2 falls in the same category. More over, he appears to be a chance witness who came to the spot on hearing cries. He has neither accompanied the deceased to the hospital nor has been an inquest witness. He also states that all four accused pinned down the deceased and inflicted knife blows, which is in conflict with medical evidence as noticed above. That apart, from his testimony, it appears that he had informed the informant before lodging of the FIR that fourth accused was Behnoi of Mahesh but, interestingly, there is no such mention in the FIR, which is suggestive of the fact that he may not have been there with the informant till the time of lodging of the first information report. Thus, his testimony also does not inspire confidence to enable us to sustain the conviction.

40. Apart from above, there is another unexplained gap in the prosecution story which is as to why Gajendra would espouse the cause of the other three co-accused more so when Gajendra was Jat by caste and the others were members of lower caste (Bhangi).

41. When we test the prosecution case on all the aspects discussed above and keep in mind that four persons have been nominated with identical role of pinning down the deceased and inflicting blows on him with knives as against solitary injury found on the deceased, we get the feeling that the prosecution case is not only embellished but also highly exaggerated. In this context, it would be useful to refer to the observations made by the apex court in Dinesh and Another V. State of Haryana (Criminal Appeal No. 1076 of 2000, decided on October 10, 2001) reported in (2015) 17 SCC 804. In paragraph 17 of the judgment, as reported, it was observed: "If the prosecution has tried to implicate three persons-- the father and the two sons, while only one or two of them might have assaulted the injured Santra Devi and positive role is assigned to the three accused persons, which is not corroborated by medical evidence, the court is left guessing about the exact number of assailants and the manner in which they may have assaulted the injured. The present one is the case where a little grain has been mixed up with so much of chaff that it is almost not possible to separate the grain. Though a court of facts is obliged to make an effort at finding out the truth by separating it from the falsehood, but, on finding it not possible to do so, it is not permissible for the court to spin out altogether a new case, different from the one alleged by the prosecution, and to convict the accused." In the light of the decision noticed above, when we take a conspectus of the prosecution evidence it appears to us that so much of chaff has been mixed with the grain that it becomes almost impossible to sift the grain from the chaff. The benefit of which would have to be extended to the accused. We are therefore of the considered view that the prosecution has failed to establish the guilt of the accused beyond the pale of doubt. The appellant's conviction is therefore unsustainable.

42. The contention of the learned AGA that the defense was not successful in establishing motive for false implication therefore the prosecution case was worthy of acceptance is unacceptable simply for the reason that the ultimate burden to prove the guilt beyond the pale of doubt is on the prosecution. The prosecution evidence is not to be accepted as gospel truth merely because no sufficient motive is shown for false implication. It may be observed that the apex court in Shankarlal Gyarasilal Dixit v. State of Maharashtra, (1981) 2 SCC 35 (paragraph 35) had observed that "different motives operate on the minds of different persons in the making of unfounded accusations. Besides, human nature is too willing, when faced with brutal crimes, to spin stories out of strong suspicions." Under the circumstances, the prosecution evidence has to be tested before its acceptance and conviction is to be recorded only when it is found reliable. Where doubts arise about the truthfulness of the prosecution evidence, the benefit of doubt would always go to the accused.

43. Thus, for all the reasons recorded above, the appellant is entitled to the benefit of doubt. The appeal is allowed. The judgment and order dated 13.02.1991 passed by the Ist Additional Sessions Judge, Aligarh in Session Trial No. 662 of 1987 convicting and sentencing the appellant is hereby set aside. The appellant is acquitted of the charge. If the appellant is on bail, he need not surrender.

44. Let a copy of the order as well lower court record be sent to the court concerned for compliance.

A. Indian Penal Code, 1860 - criminal appeal - Sections 147 (punishment for rioting), Section 148 (rioting armed with deadly weapons), Section 149 (every member of unlawful assembly guilty of offence committed in prosecution of common object), Section304 (punishment for culpable homicide not amounting to murder),Section 326(voluntary causing grievous hurt by dangerous weapon or means),Section323(voluntarily causing grievous hurt), Section504 IPC (Intentional insult with intent to provoke breach of peace) - accused persons were examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C, 1973- Prosecution proved motive of the alleged incident. - the involvement of all the accused appellants in the alleged incident is established - injured witness has made clear and cogent statement - version is consistent with medical evidence- conviction. (Para 9, 27 & 28)

B. Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Natural witness may not be labelled as interested witness -Interested witnesses are those who want to derive some benefit out of the litigation/case- A witness is interested only if he derives benefit from the result of the case or as hostility to the accused. It is well settled that if a case is based on direct testimony of eye witnesses, proof of motive is not required. (Para 23 & 24)

C. Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Consistency of oral evidence with medical evidence - though the ocular testimony of a witness has greater evidentiary value vis-a-vis medical evidence, but when medical evidence makes the ocular testimony improbable, that becomes a relevant factor in the process of the evaluation of evidence. (Para 25)

Held:- Whether the members of the unlawful assembly really had the common object to cause the murder of the deceased has to be decided in the facts and circumstances of each case, nature of weapons used by such members, the manner and sequence of attack made by those members on the deceased and the circumstances under which the occurrence took place. It is an inference to be deduced from the facts and circumstances of each case (Para 28)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Raj Beer Singh, J.)

1. This appeal arises out of impugned judgment and order dated 02.11.2000 passed by learned Additional District & Sessions Judge, Court No. 7, Azamgarh in Session Trial No. 203 of 1988 (State vs. Sankatha and Others), whereby accused-appellant Dhruv Raj Rai has been convicted under Section 304 Indian Penal Code (hereinafter referred to as 'IPC') and sentenced to seven years rigorous imprisonment along with fine of Rs. 1,000/- and accused-appellants, namely Ramesh Rai, Radhey Shyam, Ghan Shyam alias Dhannu, Man Shyam alias Munnu, Rajeshwar Rai, Singhasan, Jagdish and Mahendra have been convicted under Section 304/149 IPC and sentenced to seven years rigorous imprisonment and fine of Rs. 1,000/- each. All the appellants-accused were further convicted under Section 326/149 IPC and sentenced to five years rigorous imprisonment with fine of Rs. 500/- each. Accused-appellants Ramesh Rai and Radhey Shyam were further convicted under Section 147 IPC and sentenced to one year rigorous imprisonment. Accused-appellants, namely, Ghan Shyam alias Dhannu, Man Shyam alias Mannu, Rajeshwar Rai, Singhasan, Jagdish, Mahendra and Dhruv Raj Rai were further convicted under Section 148 Cr.P.C. and sentenced to two years rigorous imprisonment. In default of payment of fine under Sections 304 and 326 IPC, accused-appellants have to undergo six and three months additional imprisonment. The substantial sentences awarded to each of the accused persons were directed to run concurrently.

2. At the very outset it may be mentioned that co-accused Sankatha, Ghan Shyam and Surya Bali have died during trial, while accused-appellant no. 2 Rajeshwar Rai and accused-appellant no. 5 Ghan Shyam alias Dhannu have expired during pendency of this appeal and thus, appeal in respect of appellant no. 2 Rajeshwar Rai and accused-appellant no. 5 Ghan Shyam alias Dhannu stand abated.

3. The prosecution version is that before the incident of the present case, on 09.01.1987 Ghan Shyam Rai and others have given beatings to complainant Rajender Rai (PW 1) and others and in that regard a case was lodged. The incident of the present case took place on 06.03.1989. It was alleged that on 06.03.1987 at around 11:30 AM when Bajrangi Rai was going to irrigate his field, the accused-appellants came there and hurling abuses, they asked him to stop irrigation. Hearing noise, one Phool Chand, Gorakh Rai, Harikesh Rai and some other persons also reached there but the accused-appellant no. 1 Dhruv Raj Rai gave a spear (ballam) blow at Bajrangi while remaining accused persons started beating with lathis. When PW-2 Phool Chand, Rajendra Rai and Harikesh tried to intervene, they were also beaten by the accused persons.

4. The complainant reported matter to police by submitting a written tehrir Ex. Ka-1 and on that basis, case was registered against all the accused persons under Sections 147, 148, 149, 326, 323, 504 IPC on 06.03.1989 at about 12:45 PM vide FIR Ex. Ka-10.

5. Injured Phool Chand was medically examined by PW-4 Dr. Abdul Moin vide MLC Ex. Ka-2 and following injuries were found on his person:

(i) 3.5 cm x 1 cm x muscle deep lacerated wound on the right side of forehead 1 cm above the right eyebrow. Clotted blood present.

(ii) 2.5 cm x 0.5 cm x muscle deep vertical lacerated wound on the forehead including inner part of right eyebrow. Clotted blood present.

(iii) 10 cm x 1 cm x scalp deep lacerated wound on the middle part of head 15 cm above the left ear. Clotted blood present.

(iv) 4.5 cm x 1.0 cm x through and through incised wound on the letf ear. Blood clotted present. Margins clear cut.

(v) 13.5 cm x 0.5 cm x muscle deep oblique incised wound on the left side of neck including the pinna of left ear. Margins clear cut blood present.

(x) 2 cm x 1.5 cm abrasion on the back of left elbow just. Clotted blood present.

(xi) 3.5 cm x 0.5 cm x muscle deep irain severe incised wound on the outer and back of left upper arm 7 cm above the left elbow joint.

(xii) 10 cm linear abrasion on the left side of abdomen including lower part of chest.

(xiv) 10 cm x 4 cm contusion on the dorsum of left hand. Adv. x-ray. Kept U.O.

On the same day, injured Harikesh Rai was also medically examined by PW-4 Dr. Abdul Moin vide MLC Ex. Ka-3 and following injuries were found on his person:

(i) 2 cm x 1.5 cm scalp deep triangular lacerated wound on the front of head 8 cm above the base of nose.

(ii) 8 cm x 1 cm abrasion on the right side of head 11 cm above the right ear. Blood present.

(iii) 17 cm x 2.5 cm oblique contusion on the right upper back 8 cm below the shoulder joint colour reddish.

(ix) 4 cm x 2.5 cm abrasion on the outer and back of left upper arm 6 cm above the elbow joint. Blood present.

(x) 15 cm x 2 cm contusion on the outer and back of left forearm including elbow joint colour reddish.

(xi) 13 cm x 11 cm contusion on the dorsum of left hand including wrist joint. Adv. X-ray.

(xii) 2 cm x 0.3 cm abrasion on the dorsum of right hand 4 cm below the wrist joint blood present.

Injured Rajendra Rai was medically examined by PW-4 Dr. Abdul Moin vide MLC Ex.Ka-4 and following injuries were found on his person:

(i) 3 cm x 0.5 cm x scalp deep irain severe incised wound on the front of head 7 cm above the base of nose. Blood present. Margins clean cut.

(ii) 4 cm x 0.5 cm x scalp deep vertical lacerated wound on the left side of head 10cm above the left ear. Blood present.

(iii) 5 cm x 0.5 cm x upto bone deep lacerated wound on the middle part of head 2 cm above the injury no. II.

(iv) 3 cm x 0.5 cm x scalp deep lacerated wound on the right side of head 11 cm above the right ear.

(v) 2 cm x 2.5 cm x scalp deep lacerated circular wound on the right side of head 2 cm below the injury no. IV.

(vi) 8 cm x 2.5 cm x 2 cm deep incised wound on the right shoulder region. Clotted blood present. Adv. x-ray kept U.O.

(vii) 7 cm x 2.5 cm abraded contusion on the outer part of right upper arm 14 cm below the injury no. VI. Blood present colour reddish.

(viii) 7 cm x 0.5 cm abrasion on the outer and lower part of right upper arm 4 cm above the elbow joint. Blood present.

(ix) 8 cm x 2 cm abraded contusion on the outer and back of right forearm 11 cm below the elbow joint. Blood present scalp not formed colour reddish.

(x) 8 cm x 5 cm contusion with 0.5 cm x 0.2 cm x muscle deep lacerated wound on the dorsum of right hand 6 cm distal to wrist joint colour reddish. Blood present.

(xi) 5 cm x 1 cm x muscle deep incised wound on the ventral aspect of right palm including wrist joint margin clear cut blood present.

(xii) 3 cm x 0.5 cm x muscle deep incised wound on the right palm including base of ring finger margins clear cut. Blood present.

(xiii) 2.5 cm x 0.5 cm x muscle deep incised wound on the ventral aspect of right middle finger 1 cm x proximal to its tip.

(xiv) 4 cm x 0.5 cm x muscle deep incised wound on the ventral aspect of right ring finger 1.5 cm proximal to its tip.

(xv) 2 cm x 0.5 cm x muscle deep incised wound on the ventral aspect of right little finger 1 cm proximal to its tip.

(xvi) 0.5 cm x 0.3 cm x muscle deep lacerated wound on the outer part of right leg 18 cm below the knee joint. Blood present

(xvii) 5 cm x 0.5 cm x muscle deep incised wound on the front of right leg. 1.5 cm below the injury no. XVI.

(xviii) 2 multiple abrasion in the areas of 29 cm x 13 cm on the front and outer part of right leg 10 cm below the knee joint.

(xix) 12 cm x 2.5 cm contusion on the inner and front of left upper arm 26 cm below the left shoulder joint.

(xx) 7 cm x 1 cm x muscle deep incised wound irain severe on the ventral aspect of left palm adjacent to writ joint.

(xxi) 12 cm x 2 cm x upto bone deep incised wound on the outer part of

6. During treatment, injured Bajrangi Rai succumbed to injuries and thus, sec 304 IPC was added. Inquest proceedings on the dead body of Bajrangi Rai were conducted by S.I. Ambika Pandey and thereafter his dead body was sent for postmortem.

7. PW-5 Dr. N.K. Jaiswal conducted post-mortem on the dead body of deceased vide post-mortem report Ex. Ka-8 and following injuries were found on his person:

(i) penetrating wound 2.25 cm x 1 cm x abdominal cavity deep left side abdomen oblique in direction 6 cm below and out from umbilicus 4 o'clock position.

(ii) 16 cm stitched wound (surgical) paramedian vescial rt side abdomen lower part 1 cm away from umbilicus one drainage tube present left side abdomen lower part.

According to autopsy surgeon, the cause of death o*f the deceased is due to shock and haemorrhage as a result of ante-mortem injury.*

8. After completion of investigation, all the accused-appellants were charge sheeted. Learned trial court framed charge against accused Dhruv Raj Rai under Section 304 IPC, 148, 304/149, 326/149 IPC, while accused-appellants Ramesh Rai and Radhey Shyam were charged under section 147, 326/149 and 304/149 IPC and accused-appellants Ghan Shyam alias Dhannu, Man Shyam alias Mannu, Rajeshwar Rai, Singhasan, Jagdish and Mahendra were charged under Section 148, 326/149 and 304/149 IPC. The accused persons pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

9. So as to hold the accused persons guilty, prosecution has examined seven witnesses. After prosecution evidence, accused persons were examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C, wherein they have denied the evidence and claimed false implication. However, no oral evidence was adduced in defence. In documentary evidence, accused persons have filed copies of certain documents viz Ex. Kha-1 to kha-5 in their defence.

10. After hearing and analyzing the evidence on record, learned Trial court convicted the accused-appellants under the aforesaid sections vide impugned judgment and order dated 02.11.2000 and sentenced them as mentioned in paragraph no. 1 of this judgment.

11. Being aggrieved by the impugned judgment and order of trial court, the accused-appellants have preferred present criminal appeal.

12. Heard Sri Rajendra Rai, learned counsel for the accused-appellants, Sri Sharad Kumar Srivastava, learned counsel for the complainant and Sri Nagendra Kumar Srivastava, learned A.G.A. for the State-respondent.

13. Learned counsel for the accused-appellants has argued:

(i) that there is undue delay in lodging the FIR. As per prosecution version, the alleged incident took place on 06.03.1987 at 11:30 AM but the FIR was lodged on 06.03.1987 at 12:45 hours, which shows that FIR was lodged after making consultation and the same makes prosecution case doubtful.

(ii) that PW-1 Rajender Rai, PW-2 Phoolchand, PW-3 Surendra Kumar Rai are interested witnesses and thus, their testimony cannot be believed. Further, in his cross-examination, PW 1 has not supported prosecution version regarding involvement of accused-appellants, which makes prosecution version doubtful.

(iii) that the appellants have been falsely implicated in this case on account of enmity. In that regard certain documents of previous litigation were also referred. It was argued that accused-appellants have been falsely implicated on account of land dispute.

(iv) that medical evidence is not consistent with the ocular testimony of the witnesses and thus, the evidence of PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3 cannot be relied upon.

(v) that for the sake of argument, even if the prosecution version is taken as such, no offence under Section 304/149, 326/149 IPC is made out. It was pointed out that the alleged incident has taken place in the year 1987 and thus, the period of about 32 years has already elapsed.

(vi) that there are serious contradictions and inconsistencies in the statements of the witnesses, which rendered their evidence unreliable.

14. On the other hand, supporting the impugned judgement, it has been argued by State counsel that the conviction of the appellants is in accordance with law and there is no infirmity in the same. In the alleged incident several persons have sustained serious injuries and thus, the delay in lodging the FIR is quite natural as the first priority of injured persons would be to get medical treatment and not to rush to the police station for lodging FIR. In the alleged incident PW-2 Phoolchand and two more persons have sustained severe injuries and thus, their presence at the spot can not be doubted at the spot. The injured witness has made clear and cogent statement against the accused-appellants and no major contradiction or inconsistency could be pointed out. It was further submitted that testimony of a witness can not be disbelieved on the ground that he is related to deceased or is an interested witness. An injured witness would be the last person to spare the actual assailants and to falsely implicate any innocent person. It was further submitted that evidence of PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3 has been amply corroborated by medical evidence and the nature of injuries sustained by injured persons as well as by deceased and the manner of assault and the weapon used, clearly brings out a case against the accused-appellants under Section 304 and 326 of IPC besides Section 147/148 of IPC, under which they have been held guilty by the learned trial court. It was argued that conviction of all the accused-appellants is based on evidence and there is no error or illegality in the impugned judgment and order.

15. I have considered the rival contentions of learned counsel for both the parties and perused record.

16. In evidence, PW-1 Rajender Rai stated that before the incident, on 09.01.1987 Dhruv Raj Rai, Mahender, Ramesh, Ghanshyam alias Dhannu and Singhasan have assaulted him and regarding that incident a case was registered at police station Phoolpur, district Azamgarh. The incident of present case took place on 06.03.1987 at 11:30 AM. When Bajrangi Rai was going to irrigate his land by pumping set, accused Dhannu, Munnu, Rajeshwar having gandasa, accused Radhey Shyam, Sankatha, Ramesh having lathi, accused Singhashan, Ghan Shyam having sword, accused Dhruv Raj and Mahender having ballam and accused Jagdish having country made pistol, came there and making exhortation, accused Dhruv Raj assaulted Bajrangi by ballam and thereafter all the accused persons assaulted the injured as well as the deceased.

17. PW-2 Phool Chand Rai stated that on the day of incident at about 11:15-11:30 AM, he was present at his agricultural land. Near his land, deceased Bajrangi was irrigating his wheat crop. Accused Sankatha Rai, Dhruv Raj Rai, Ramesh Rai, Ghan Shyam Rai son of Surya Bali Rai, Jagdish Rai, Mahendra Rai, Rajendra Rai, Ghan Shyam alias Dhannu son of Rajeshwar Rai, Manshyam alias Munnu, Singhasan Rai, Radhey Shyam Rai came there. Accused Sankatha, Ramesh and Radhey Shyam were having lathi, accused Ghan Shyam, Man Shyam and Rajeshwar were having spear (ballam), accused Dhruv Raj and Mahendra were also having spear, accused Ghan Shyam, Man Shyam and Rajeshwar were having gadasi, accused Ghan Shyam son of Suryabali and Singhashan were having sword and Jagdish was having country made pistol. They asked Bajrangi to stop water of irrigation and when Bajrangi refused to do so, they hurled abuses and starting beating Bajrangi. Hearing noise, PW-2 Rajendra, Harikesh and one Rajendra reached there but they were also assaulted by the accused persons. Dhruv Raj has given a spear blow at Bajrangi. PW-2 Phool Chand further stated that in this incident, he as well as one Rajendra and Harikesh also sustained injuries. Bajrangi died of injuries sustained in the alleged incident as he has suffered a spear blow at his stomach. Bajrangi was taken to police station and thereafter to hospital. PW-2 and other injured were also taken to hospital and were medically examined. Rajendra Rai has lodged report at police station and has taken deceased Bajrangi to hospital. PW 2 further stated that about 1-1 ½ months prior to this incident, Ghan Shyam, Rajeshwar and Raju etc. have assaulted Rajendra and regarding that incident, Mahendra, Dhruv Raj, Ramesh, Singhasan and Ghan Shyam alias Dhannu have faced the trial and they were convicted in that case. In the alleged first incident, Bajrangi and his brother Surendra have helped Rajender and due to this reason, accused persons have developed an animosity towards Rajrangi and Surender.

18. PW-3 Surendra Kumar Rai stated that on 08.01.1987 Ghan Shyam alias Dhannu, Singhasan, Mahendra, Dhruv Raj and Ramesh have assaulted

Rajender. He (PW-3) has taken Rajendra to Varanasi and provided treatment to him and in that incident, PW-3 was an witness. In that case, above stated accused persons were convicted. Due to this, accused persons have developed animosity towards him. The incident of this case took place on 06.03.1979 at 11:30 AM. He (PW-3) and his brother Bajrangi were irrigating their land by pumping set and while his brother was at his land, hearing noise, PW-3 also reached there and saw that Sankatha Rai, Radhey Shyam and Ramesh were having lathi, Dhruv Raj Rai and Mahendra were having spear, Singhasan Rai and Ghan Shyam son of Suryabali were having sword, Jagdish was having country made pistol, Rajeshwar Rai, Ghan Shyam alias Dhannu, Ghan Shyam alias Munnu were having gadasi and they all were making exhortation to kill Bajrangi. Jagdish has fired a shot with country made pistol. Hearing noise, Harikesh Rai, Phool Chand Rai, Rajendra Rai also reached there. On the exhortation of Jagdish Rai, Dhruv Raj Rai gave a spear blow at Bajrangi, which hit at his stomach while rest of the accused persons assaulted Harikesh Rai, Phool Chand Rai and Rajendra. PW-3 further stated that he was irrigating his land but accused persons wanted to irrigate their land and have asked them to stop water of irrigation. In this incident, Bajrangi, Harikesh Rai, Phool Chand and Rajendra have sustained injuries. Bajrangi has sustained serious injuries. Rajender Rai has lodged the FIR and Bajrangi was taken to the hospital. Harikesh, Phool Chand and Rajendra were also medically examined and were provided treatment. On 06.03.1987, Bajrangi Rai succumbed to injuries in district hospital.

19. PW-4 Dr. Abdul Moin has medically examined injured Phool Chand Rai, Harikesh Rai, Rajendra Rai and has proved their MLC as Ex.Ka-2, Ex. Ka-3 and Ex. Ka-4.

20. PW-5 Dr. N.K. Jaiswal has conducted postmortem on the dead body of the deceased Bajrangi while PW-6 Dr. P.K. Sinha has medically examined deceased Bajrangi on 06.03.1987, while he was in injured condition.

21. PW-7 S.I. Shakuntala Pandey has proved FIR Ex. Ka-10 and GD entry Ex.Ka-11 by way of secondary evidence. She has also proved other relevant documents of inquest Ex.Ka-13 to Ex.Ka-16 including panchayatnama by way of secondary evidence. She has also proved site plan of the spot prepared by S.I. Vijay Singh as Ex.Ka-18 and chargesheet as Ex.Ka-19 by way of secondary evidence.

22. So far as the question of delay in lodging FIR is concerned, it is well settled that if delay in lodging FIR has been explained from evidence on record, no adverse inference can be drawn against prosecution merely on the ground that the FIR was lodged with delay. There is no hard and fast rule that any length of delay in lodging FIR would automatically render the prosecution case doubtful. In "Ravinder Kumar & Anr. Vs. State of Punjab", (2001) 7SCC 690, Hon'ble Apex Court held that:

"The attack on prosecution cases on the ground of delay in lodging FIR has almost bogged down as a stereotyped redundancy in criminal cases. It is a recurring feature in most of the criminal cases that there would be some delay in furnishing the first information to the police. It has to be remembered that law has not fixed any time for lodging the FIR. Hence a delayed FIR is not illegal. Of course a prompt and immediate lodging of the FIR is the ideal as that would give the prosecution a twin advantage. First is that it affords commencement of the investigation without any time lapse. Second is that it expels the opportunity for any possible concoction of a false version. Barring these two plus points for a promptly lodged FIR the demerits of the delayed FIR cannot operate as fatal to any prosecution case. It cannot be overlooked that even a promptly FIR is not an unreserved guarantee for the genuineness of the version incorporated therein. When there is criticism on the ground that FIR in a case was delayed the court has to look at the reason why there was such a delay. There can be a variety of genuine causes for FIR lodgment to get delayed. Rural people might be ignorant of the need for informing the police of a crime without any lapse of time. This kind of unconversantness is not too uncommon among urban people also. They might not immediately think of going to the police station. Another possibility is due to lack of adequate transport facilities for the informers to reach the police station. The third, which is a quite common bearing, is that the kith and kin of the deceased might take some appreciable time to regain a certain level of tranquility of mind or sedativeness of temper for moving to the police station for the purpose of furnishing the requisite information. Yet another cause is the persons who are supposed to give such information themselves could be so physically impaired that the police had to reach them on getting some nebulous information about the incident."

In Amar Singh Vs. Balwinder Singh & Ors. (2003) 2 SCC 518, the Hon'ble Apex Court held that :

"In our opinion, the period which elapsed in lodging the FIR of the incident has been fully explained from the evidence on record and no adverse inference can be drawn against the prosecution merely on the ground that the FIR was lodged at 9.20 p.m. on the next day. There is no hard and fast rule that any delay in lodging the FIR would automatically render the prosecution case doubtful. It necessarily depends upon facts and circumstances of each case whether there has been any such delay in lodging the FIR which may cast doubt about the veracity of the prosecution case and for this a host of circumstances like the condition of the first informant, the nature of injuries sustained, the number of victims, the efforts made to provide medical aid to them, the distance of the hospital and the police station etc. have to be taken into consideration. There is no mathematical formula by which an inference may be drawn either way merely on account of delay in lodging of the FIR."

In this connection it will also be useful to take note of the following observation made in Tara Singh V. State of Punjab AIR (1991) SC 63.

"The delay in giving the FIR by itself cannot be a ground to doubt the prosecution case. Knowing the Indian conditions as they are, one cannot expect these villagers to rush to the police station immediately after the occurrence. Human nature as it is, the kith and kin who have witnessed the occurrence cannot be expected to act mechanically with all the promptitude in giving the report to the police. At times being grief stricken because of the calamity it may not immediately occur to them that they should give a report. After all it is but natural in these circumstances for them to take some time to go to the police station for giving the report. Of course, in cases arising out of acute factions there is a tendency to implicate persons belonging to the opposite faction falsely. In order to avert the danger of convicting such innocent persons the courts should be cautious to scrutinize the evidence of such interested witnesses with greater care and caution and separate grain from the chaff after subjecting the evidence to a closer scrutiny and in doing so the contents of the FIR also will have to be scrutinised carefully. However, unless there are indications of fabrication, the court cannot reject the prosecution version as given in the FIR and later substantiated by the evidence merely on the ground of delay. These are all matters for appreciation and much depends on the facts and circumstance of each case."

In Sahebrao & Anr. Vs. State of Maharashtra (2006) 9 SCC 794, Court has held:

"The settled principle of law of this Court is that delay in filing FIR by itself cannot be a ground to doubt the prosecution case and discard it. The delay in lodging the FIR would put the Court on its guard to search if any plausible explanation has been offered and if offered whether it is satisfactory."..

From the above discussed exposition of law, it is manifest that prosecution version can not be rejected solely on the ground of delay in lodging FIR. Court has to examine the explanation furnished by prosecution for explaining delay. There may be various circumstances particularly number of victims, atmosphere prevailing at the scene of incidence, the complainant may be scared and fearing the action against him in pursuance of the incident that has taken place. If prosecution explains the delay, Court should not reject prosecution story solely on this ground. Therefore, the entire incident as narrated by witnesses has to be construed and examined to decide whether there was an unreasonable and unexplained delay which goes to the root of the case of the prosecution and even if there is some unexplained delay, court has to take into consideration whether it can be termed as abnormal. Recently in Palani V State of Tamilnadu, Criminal Appeal No. 1100 of 2009, decided on 27.11.2018, it was observed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court that in some cases delay in registration of FIR is inevitable. Even a long delay can be condoned if witness has no motive for falsely implicating the accused. In the instant case, the alleged incident took place on on 06.03.1987 at 11.30 AM and the FIR was registered on the same day at 12.45 hours. In this case evidence shows that one person namely Bajrangi has sustained serious injuries and after the incident he was taken to hospital by the complainant. Three other injured have also sustained multiple injuries. The distance of police station from the spot was shown four miles. The FIR was registered within one hour 15 minutes of the incident. In view of all these facts, it can not be said that there is undue delay in lodging the FIR and thus, the contention of learned counsel for the appellant has no force.

23. So far as the contention, that PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3 are interested witnesses, is concerned, it is well settled position that a natural witness may not be labelled as interested witness. Interested witnesses are those who want to derive some benefit out of the litigation/case. In case the circumstances reveal that a witness was present on the scene of occurrence and had witnessed the crime, his deposition cannot be discarded merely on the ground of being closely related to the victim. Generally close relations of the victim are unlikely to falsely implicate anyone. Relationship is not sufficient to discredit a witness unless there is motive to give false evidence to spare the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person is alleged and proved. A witness is interested only if he derives benefit from the result of the case or as hostility to the accused. In case of State of Punjab Vs Hardam Singh, 2005, S.C.C. (Cr.) 834, it has been held by the Apex Court that ordinarily the mere relations of the deceased would not depose falsely against innocent persons so as to allow the real culprit to escape unpunished, rather the witness would always try to secure conviction of real culprit. In the case of Dilip Singh Vs State of Punjab, A.I.R. 1983, S.C. 364, it was held by the Supreme Court that the grounds that the witnesses being the close relatives and consequently being the partition witness would not be relied upon has no substance. Similar view has been taken by the Supreme Court in Harbans Kaur V State of Haryana, 2005, S.C.C. (Crl.) 1213; and in State of U.P. vs. Kishan Chandra and others, 2004 (7), S.C.C. 629. The contention about branding the witnesses as 'interested witness' and credibility of close relationship of witnesses has been examined by Apex Court in number of cases. A close relative, who is a very natural witness in the circumstances of a case, cannot be regarded as an 'interested witness', as held by the Supreme Court in Dalbir Kaur v. State of Punjab, AIR 1977 SC 472. The mere fact that the witnesses were relations or interested would not by itself be sufficient to discard their evidence straight way unless it is proved that their evidence suffers from serious infirmities which raises considerable doubt in the mind of the court. Similar view was taken in case of State of Gujrat v. Naginbhai Dhulabhai Patel, AIR 1983 SC 839.

In the present case, it is correct that PW 3 Surender Kumar Rai is brother of deceased Bajrangi but it can not be a sole ground to doubt his testimony. PW 3 has been subjected to cross-examination, but no such adverse effect could emerge, so as to make his presence at the scene of offence doubtful. Regarding PW-2 Phoolchand it was submitted that there was litigation between him and some of the accused persons and thus, he is an enmical witness. In support of this contention some documents were also filed in defence. It may be seen that PW 2 has made a clear and cogent statement regarding the alleged incident. His presence at the spot is established by the fact that he himself has sustained injuries in the incident. Medical examination report of PW 2 Phoolchand shows that he has sustained as many as 14 injuries, thus, his presence at the spot is established. He has been subjected to lengthy cross-examination, but no such adverse effect could emerge, so as to affect his credibility. Version of PW-1 has been amply corroborated by PW-2 and PW-3. Thus, the contention of learned counsel for the accused-appellants has no force.

24. So far as this contention is concerned that there was enmity between the parties on account of the land dispute and that the appellants have been falsely implicated on account of that enmity, it is well repeated legal saying that enmity is a double edged weapon and it cuts both ways. On the one hand, it may be a reason for false implication while on the other hand, it may also provide a motive for commission of offence. In the instant case, one person (Bajrangi) has died and three persons sustained injuries in the alleged incident. PW-2 Phool Chand has sustained 14 injuries, Harikesh Rai has sustained 12 injuries and Rajendra Rai has sustained 24 injuries. In view of the injuries, it is apparent that deceased and injured persons were assaulted in a serious manner by using various types of weapons. The accused-appellants have not come up with any such case that if they were not involved in the incident, how deceased Bajrangi and injured persons have sustained alleged injuries. FIR of the alleged incident was lodged without any undue delay naming all the accused persons. In view of all attending facts and circumstances of the case and particularly keeping in view the nature of injuries sustained by deceased and injured persons, it cannot be imagined that the injured persons would falsely implicate the accused persons leaving their actual assailants. It is well settled that if a case is based on direct testimony of eye witnesses, proof of motive is not required. However, in the instant case it may also be seen that as per prosecution version before the incident in question, on 08.01.1987 accused Ghan Shyam alias Dhannu, Singhasan, Mahendra, Dhruv Raj Rai and Ramesh have assaulted complainant of the present case namely Rajendra Rai and regarding that incident a case was registered against them, in which the above stated accused persons were convicted. PW-3 Surendra Kumar Rai was a prosecution witness in that case. Though the present case is based on direct testimony of eye witnesses but in view of the above-stated evidence, prosecution has been able to prove motive to commit the alleged incident. In view of the aforesaid, contention of learned counsel for the accused-appellants has no force.

25. It was next argued that oral evidence is not consistent with medical evidence. It is trite law that oral evidence has to get primacy as medical evidence is basically opinionative. It is only when the medical evidence especially rules out the injury as claimed to have been inflicted as per the oral testimony, then only in a given case, the Court has to draw the adverse inference. It is well settled by a series of decisions of the Apex Court that while appreciating variance between medical evidence and ocular evidence, oral evidence of eyewitnesses has to get primacy as medical evidence is basically opinionative. But when the court finds inconsistency in the evidence given by the eyewitnesses which is totally inconsistent to that given by the medical experts, then evidence is appreciated in a different perspective by the courts. In Solanki Chimanbhai Ukabhai v. State of Gujarat, AIR 1983 SC 484, the Hon'ble Supreme Court observed as under:

"Ordinarily, the value of medical evidence is only corroborative. It proves that the injuries could have been caused in the manner alleged and nothing more. The use which the defence can make of the medical evidence is to prove that the injuries could not possibly have been caused in the manner alleged and thereby discredit the eye-witnesses. Unless, however the medical evidence in its turn goes so far that it completely rules out all possibilities whatsoever of injuries taking place in the manner alleged by eyewitnesses, the testimony of the eyewitnesses cannot be thrown out on the ground of alleged inconsistency between it and the medical evidence."

A similar view has been taken in Mani Ram & Ors. v. State of U.P., 1994 Supp (2) SCC 289; Khambam Raja Reddy & Anr. v. Public Prosecutor, High Court of A.P., (2006) 11 SCC 239; and State of U.P. v. Dinesh, (2009) 11 SCC 566. In State of U.P. v. Hari Chand, (2009) 13 SCC 542, the Hon'ble Apex Court re-iterated the aforementioned position of law and stated that in any event unless the oral evidence is totally irreconcilable with the medical evidence, it has primacy over the medical evidence.

From the above stated authorities, it is clear that though the ocular testimony of a witness has greater evidentiary value vis-a-vis medical evidence, but when medical evidence makes the ocular testimony improbable, that becomes a relevant factor in the process of the evaluation of evidence. Where the medical evidence goes so far that it completely rules out all possibility of the ocular evidence being true, the ocular evidence may be disbelieved. In the present case as per the prosecution version, deceased Bajrangi was attacked by accused Dhruraj with spear and the injury sustained by Bajragi were penetrating wound 2.25 cm x 1 cm x abdominal cavity deep on left side of abdomen and a 16 cm stitched wound at right side of abdomen. Similarly injured were attacked with clubs, sticks, 'gadasi, spear and sword. Considering the nature of injuries sustained by the deceased as well as by the injured persons, it is apparent that these injuries were possible by the alleged weapons. In view of these facts, it can not be said that oral evidence is not consistent with medical evidence. At any rate, it can not be said that the oral evidence is totally irreconcilable with the medical evidence. Further oral evidence has primacy over the medical evidence. The medical evidence does not make the ocular testimony improbable nor the alleged inconsistency is of such nature that it completely rules out all possibility of the ocular evidence being true. Thus, the contention of learned counsel for the accused-appellants has no force.

26. Learned counsel for the accused-appellants has pointed out certain contradiction and stated that in his cross-examination, PW-1 has stated that after hearing noise when he was coming out from "abadi" area, Bajrangi has met him in injured condition and PW-1 took him to the police station and that neither Surendra nor any other persons was with him. PW-1 has also stated that in the earlier incident of 08.01.1987 Surendra Rai was a witness but he has not deposed from the side of complainant. It was further pointed out that in his cross-examination PW-1 stated that the FIR was lodged on the version of injured Bajrangi Rai. From the cross-examination of PW-1, it appears that in later part of his cross-examination, he has back tracked from his earlier version and on certain important points he did not support the prosecution case. However, the alleged contradictions and inconsistencies emerged in his cross-examination, are not supported by his statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C. In his examination in-chief, PW 1 has made clear categorical statement against all the accused persons but in later part of his cross-examination, he made a volta facie on some substantial points. Considering the entire facts, it appears that in his cross-examination, PW-1 has deliberately not supported the prosecution case and turned hostile and after some cross-examination, PW-1 was declared as hostile by the prosecution. However as his examination-in-chief is fully consistent with his earlier version and FIR and also corroborated by PW-2 and PW-3 and thus, the hostility of PW-1 in his cross-examination would not affect the testimony of PW-2 and PW-3. Even the relevant part of examination of PW-1, which appears truthful and support prosecution may be taken in to consideration against the appellants-accused. Thus, the argument of learned counsel for the accused-appellants has no force.

For the sake of arguments even if it is assumed that PW 1 Rajender Rai has not witnessed the incident, as claimed by him in later part of his cross-examination, the testimony of injured witness PW 2 Phool Chand Rai is quite clear and cogent. In his statement, PW 2 has stated vivid description of the incident. No major contradiction or inconsistency could be pointed out in his statement. His statement is consistent with medical evidence. Though in the FIR, no specific weapon was attributed to the accused persons except that of accused-appellant Dhruv Raj Rai but it is well settled that FIR is not a encyclopaedia of case. Further, FIR was not lodged by PW-2 Phool Chand Rai and as stated earlier, FIR was lodged by PW-1, who has admitted in his cross-examination that he has not witnessed the incident. It was pointed out that PW-2 has admitted in his cross-examination that there was enmity between him and accused persons, however, as discussed above, it can not be a factor to doubt his testimony, which otherwise is cogent and inspires confidence. The testimony of PW-2 has been corroborated by PW-3 Surendra Kumar Rai. The testimony of PW-3 was mainly assailed on the ground that PW-2 has not spoken about his presence, however, it cannot be a reason to doubt the presence of PW-3 at the spot. The statement of PW-3 is clear and cogent and no important contradiction or infirmity could be shown in his statement. PW-2 and PW-3 have been subjected to cross-examination but no such important fact could emerge, which may create any dent on the prosecution version. As stated earlier, PW-2 is an injured witness. In Jarnail Singh Vs. State of Punjab (2009) 9SCC 719, the Supreme Court reiterated the special evidentiary status accorded to the testimony of an injured accused. It was held that the fact that witness sustained injuries at the time and place of occurrence, lends support to his testimony that he was present during the occurrence. In case, the injured witness is subjected to lengthy cross- examination and nothing can be elicited to discard his testimony, it should be relied upon. Similar view was expressed in the case of Krishan v State of Haryana, (2006) 12 SCC 459. With respect to the evidence of victim, the Supreme Court in Criminal Appeal Nos. 513-514 of 2014 decided on 09.01.2017 in case of Baleshwar Mahto & Anr. v. State of Bihar & Anr., has reiterated the law laid down in case of Abdul Sayeed v. State of Madhya Pradesh, (2010) 10 SCC 259, which reads as under :

"28. The question of the weight to be attached to the evidence of a witness that was himself injured in the course of the occurrence has been extensively discussed by this Court. Where a witness to the occurrence has himself been injured in the incident, the testimony of such a witness is generally considered to be very reliable, as he is a witness that comes with a built-in guarantee of his presence at the scene of the crime and is unlikely to spare his actual assailant(s) in order to falsely implicate someone.

"Convincing evidence is required to discredit an injured witness." [Vide Ramlagan Singh v. State of Bihar [(1973) 3 SCC 881:1973 SCC (Cri) 563:AIR 1972 SC 2593], Malkhan Singh v. State of U.P. [(1975) 3 SCC 311 : 1974 SCC (Cri) 919 : AIR 1975 SC 12], Machhi Singh v. State of Punjab [(1983) 3 SCC 470 : 1983 SCC (Cri) 681], Appabhai v. State of Gujarat [1988 Supp SCC 241 : 1988 SCC (Cri) 559 : AIR 1988 SC 696], Bonkya v. State of Maharashtra [(1995) 6 SCC 447 : 1995 SCC (Cri) 1113], Bhag Singh [(1997) 7 SCC 712 : 1997 SCC (Cri) 1163], Mohar v. State of U.P. [(2002) 7 SCC 606 : 2003 SCC (Cri) 121] (SCC p. 606b-c), Dinesh Kumar v. State of Rajasthan [(2008) 8 SCC 270 : (2008) 3 SCC (Cri) 472], Vishnu v. State of Rajasthan [(2009) 10 SCC 477 : (2010) 1 SCC (Cri) 302], Annareddy Sambasiva Reddy v. State of A.P. [(2009) 12 SCC 546 : (2010) 1 SCC (Cri) 630] and Balraje v. State of Maharashtra [(2010) 6 SCC 673 : (2010) 3 SCC (Cri) 211] 29. While deciding this issue, a similar view was taken in Jarnail Singh v. State of Punjab [(2009) 9 SCC 719 : (2010) 1 SCC (Cri) 107] , where this Court reiterated the special evidentiary status accorded to the testimony of an injured accused and relying on its earlier judgments held as under: (SCC pp. 726-27, paras 28-29)

"28. .....In Shivalingappa Kallayanappa v. State of Karnataka [1994 Supp (3) SCC 235 : 1994 SCC (Cri) 1694] this Court has held that the deposition of the injured witness should be relied upon unless there are strong grounds for rejection of his evidence on the basis of major contradictions and discrepancies, for the reason that his presence on the scene stands established in case it is proved that he suffered the injury during the said incident.

29. In State of U.P. v. Kishan Chand [(2004) 7 SCC 629 : 2004 SCC (Cri) 2021] a similar view has been reiterated observing that the testimony of a stamped witness has its own relevance and efficacy. The fact that the witness sustained injuries at the time and place of occurrence, lends support to his testimony that he was present during the occurrence. In case the injured witness is subjected to lengthy cross-examination and nothing can be elicited to discard his testimony, it should be relied upon (vide Krishan v. State of Haryana [(2006) 12 SCC 459 : (2007) 2 SCC (Cri) 214]). Thus, we are of the considered opinion that evidence of Darshan Singh (PW 4) has rightly been relied upon by the courts below."

30. The law on the point can be summarised to the effect that the testimony of the injured witness is accorded a special status in law. This is as a consequence of the fact that the injury to the witness is an inbuilt guarantee of his presence at the scene of the crime and because the witness will not want to let his actual assailant go unpunished merely to falsely implicate a third party for the commission of the offence. Thus, the deposition of the injured witness should be relied upon unless there are strong grounds for rejection of his evidence on the basis of major contradictions and discrepancies therein."

27. When the aforesaid principles are applied in the facts of this case, it would show that the injured witness PW-2 Phool Chand has named all the accused-appellants. As stated earlier, the testimony of the injured witness is accorded a special status in law and the deposition of the injured witness should be relied upon unless there are strong grounds for rejection of his evidence on the basis of major contradictions and discrepancies therein. In the instant case, injured witness PW 2 Phoolchand has made clear and cogent statement. He has been subjected to lengthy cross-examination, but nothing adverse could come out. His version is consistent with medical evidence. No such reasons could be shown as to why he would depose falsely against appellants-accused sparing his actual assailants. The prosecution has also proved motive of the alleged incident. Considering entire evidence on record, the involvement of all the accused appellants in the alleged incident is established.

28. However, examining the entire evidence carefully, it appears that all the accused appellants are not liable for conviction under all the charges as held by learned trial court. So far death of deceased Bajrangi is concerned, appellant-accused Dhruraj has been convicted under section 304 IPC while rest of the appellants-accused have been convicted under section 304 IPC with the aid of section 149 IPC. The evidence shows that deceased Bajrangi Rai has sustained merely two injuries, which have been attributed to appellant-accused Dhruraj. Provisions of Section 149 of IPC provide that if an offence is committed by any member of an unlawful assembly in prosecution of the common object of that assembly, or such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object, every person who at the time of the committing of that offence, is a member of the same assembly is guilty of that offence. The first part of Section 149 IPC states about the commission of an offence in prosecution of the common object of the assembly whereas the second part takes within its fold knowledge of likelihood of the commission of that offence in prosecution of the common object. Scope of two parts of Section 149 IPC has been explained in Rajendra Shantaram Todankar v. State of Maharashtra and Ors. [JT 2003 (2) SC 95], the Apex Court has explained Section 149 and held as under:

"14. Section 149 of the Indian Penal Code provides that if an offence is committed by any member of an unlawful assembly in prosecution of the common object of that assembly, or such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object, every person who at the time of the committing of that offence, is a member of the same assembly is guilty of that offence. The two clauses of Section 149 vary in degree of certainty. The first clause contemplates the commission of an offence by any member of an unlawful assembly which can be held to have been committed in prosecution of the common object of the assembly. The second clause embraces within its fold the commission of an act which may not necessarily be the common object of the assembly, nevertheless, the members of the assembly had knowledge of likelihood of the commission of that offence in prosecution of the common object. The common object may be commission of one offence while there may be likelihood of the commission of yet another offence, the knowledge whereof is capable of being safely attributable to the members of the unlawful assembly. In either case, every member of the assembly would be vicariously liable for the offence actually committed by any other member of the assembly. A mere possibility of the commission of the offence would not necessarily enable the court to draw an inference that the likelihood of commission of such offence was within the knowledge of every member of the unlawful assembly. It is difficult indeed, though not impossible, to collect direct evidence of such knowledge. An inference may be drawn from circumstances such as the background of the incident, the motive, the nature of the assembly, the nature of the arms carried by the members of the assembly, their common object and the behaviour of the members soon before, at or after the actual commission of the crime. Unless the applicability of Section 149 -- either clause -- is attracted and the court is convinced, on facts and in law, both, of liability capable of being fastened vicariously by reference to either clause of Section 149 IPC, merely because a criminal act was committed by a member of the assembly every other member thereof would not necessarily become liable for such criminal act. The inference as to likelihood of the commission of the given criminal act must be capable of being held to be within the knowledge of another member of the assembly who is sought to be held vicariously liable for the said criminal act....."

The same principles have been reiterated in State of Punjab v. Sanjiv Kumar alias Sanju and Ors. [JT 2007 (9) SC 274].11. Creation of vicarious liability under Section 149 IPC is well elucidated in Allauddin Mian and Others, Sharif Mian and Anr. v. State of Bihar [JT 1989 (2) SC 171], this Court held:

"8. .....Therefore, in order to fasten vicarious responsibility on any member of an unlawful assembly the prosecution must prove that the act constituting an offence was done in prosecution of the common object of that assembly or the act done is such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object of that assembly. Under this section, therefore, every member of an unlawful assembly renders himself liable for the criminal act or acts of any other member or members of that assembly provided the same is/are done in prosecution of the common object or is/are such as every member of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed. This section creates a specific offence and makes every member of the unlawful assembly liable for the offence or offences committed in the course of the occurrence provided the same was/were committed in prosecution of the common object or was/were such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed. Since this section imposes a constructive penal liability, it must be strictly construed as it seeks to punish members of an unlawful assembly for the offence or offences committed by their associate or associates in carrying out the common object of the assembly....." [underlining added].

The same principles were reiterated in paras (26) and (27) in Daya Kishan v. State of Haryana [JT 2010 (4) SC 325] and also in Kuldip Yadav and Ors. v. State of Bihar [JT 2011 (4) SC 436]. Whether the members of the unlawful assembly really had the common object to cause the murder of the deceased has to be decided in the facts and circumstances of each case, nature of weapons used by such members, the manner and sequence of attack made by those members on the deceased and the circumstances under which the occurrence took place. It is an inference to be deduced from the facts and circumstances of each case (vide Lalji and Ors. v. State of U.P. [JT 1989 (1) SC 109]; Ranbir Yadav v. State of Bihar [JT 1995 (3) SC 228]; Rachamreddy Chenna Reddy and Ors. v. State of A.P. [JT 1999 (1) SC 412]).

In prosecution of "common object' means "in order to attain the common object'. Effect of section 149 may be different on different members of the same assembly. Common object is determined keeping in view nature of the assembly, arms carried by members and behaviour of members at or near the scene of incident. It is not necessary in all cases that the same must be translated into action or be successful. It is well settled that the expression "in prosecution of common object" has to be strictly construed as equivalent to "in order to attain the common object.' The word "knew' used in the second part of section 149 IPC implies something more than possibility and it cannot bear the sense of might have known'. When an offence is committed in prosecution of the common object, it would generally be an offence which the members of the unlawful assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object. Members of an unlawful assembly may have community of object upto a certain point. The "common object' of an assembly is to be ascertained from the acts and language of the members composing it, and from a consideration of all the surrounding circumstances.

29. Coming to the facts of present case, it may be seen that as per injury report Ex. Ka-9, deceased Bajrangi Rai has sustained one lacerated wound of 2 cm x 1.5 cm x 0.5 cm at left side of his stomach and another injury was swelling in the area of 4 cm x 3 cm at left arm. As per post-mortem report of deceased Bajrangi Rai, he has sustained one penetrating wound 2.25 cm x 1 cm x abdominal cavity deep left side of abdomen and one stitched wound of 16 cm size at right side of stomach. According to prosecution, accused appellant Dhruv Raj Rai has attacked Bajrangi with spear and other accused persons have attacked with gandasi and sticks, however, in view of post-mortem report of the deceased, it is apparent that deceased has sustained merely two injuries and the fatal injury i.e. penetrated wound, is quite probable by spear. The post-mortem report of deceased does not indicate that he was assaulted by all the accused persons, who were eleven in numbers. PW-2 and PW-3 have also not attributed any specific role to the accused persons except that of Dhruv Raj Rai, in causing injuries to deceased Bajrangi. These witnesses have stated deceased was given spear blow by Dhruv Raj Rai and thereafter rest of the accused persons assaulted injured persons. All these facts indicate that unlawful assembly of accused persons might not have common object to cause death or culpable homicide of deceased. It was the individual act of accused appellant Dhruv Raj Rai, which is responsible for causing fatal injury to the deceased. Here it would be pertinent to mention that even learned trial court has charged accused-appellant Dhruv Raj Rai under Section 304 IPC simpliciter while rest of the accused persons were charged under Section 304/149 IPC. In the facts and circumstances of the case, this court is of the view that so far the death of deceased Bajrangi is concerned, the prosecution has not proved the existence of the common object of causing death of deceased amongst the accused persons and that all of them acted in furtherance of the common object to invoke the first part of Section 149 IPC and thus, it would not be safe to convict the accused persons under Section 304 IPC with the aid of Section 149 IPC. Thus, conviction of accused appellants Ramesh Rai, Radhey Shyam, Man Shyam alias Mannu, Singhasan, Jagdish and Mahendra under Section 304/149 IPC is not sustainable. However, so far as accused appellant Dhruv Raj Rai is concerned, his conviction under Section 304 IPC is based on evidence and thus, liable to be upheld. So far as the conviction of all the accused-appellants under Section 326/149 IPC is concerned, it may be seen that learned trial court has found that accused-appellant Radhey Shyam, Sankatha and Ramesh were having lathi, while rest of the accused persons were armed with gandasi, spear, sword and country made pistol. Perusal of medical evidence shows that injured Phool Chand Rai has sustained 14 injuries, which included lacerated, incised, abrasion and contusion wounds and as per x-ray report Ex.Ka-6, he has suffered fracture in radius ulna bone and parietal bone. Injured Harikesh Rai has sustained 12 injuries and as per ex-ray report Ex.Ka-5, he has suffered fracture in radius bone. Out of the injuries sustained by injured Harikesh Rai, there were three incised wounds and other were contusions. Injured Rajendra Rai has sustained as many as 24 injuries, which included incised, lacerated and contusion wounds etc. As per x-ray report Ex.Ka-7, injured Rajendra Rai has sustained fracture in spine and scapula. In view of the evidence on record conviction of all the appellants-accused 326/149 IPC is based on evidence. The conviction of appellant-accused Ramesh Rai and Radheysyam u/s 147 IPC and of appellant-accused Manshyam @ Mannu, Singhasan, Jagdish, Mahender and Dhruraj u/s 148 IPC is also based on evidence.

30. In view of aforesaid, conviction of accused appellant Dhruv Raj Rai under Section 148, 304, 326/149 IPC is upheld. Similarly conviction of accused appellants Man Shyam alias Mannu, Singhasan, Jagdish, Mahendra, Ramesh Rai and Radhey Shyam under Section 326/149 IPC is upheld, however, their conviction and sentence under Section 304/149 IPC is set aside. Conviction of appellant Ramesh Rai and Radhey Shyam under Section 147 IPC and of appellants-accused Man Shyam alias Mannu, Singhasan, Jagdish and Mahendra under Section 148 IPC is also based on evidence and has to be upheld.

31. So far as the question of sentence is concerned, it may be observed that alleged incident took place on 06.03.1987 and since then the period of 32 years has elapsed. Accused Sankatha, Ghan Shyam and Surya Bali have died during trial, while accused-appellant no. 2 Rajeshwar Rai and accused-appellant no. 5 Ghan Shyam alias Dhannu have expired during pendency of this appeal. No doubt, a period of more than three decades has passed since the incident, however, it can not be ignored that in the alleged incident one person has lost his life and he was attacked with spear at his stomach and that three injured persons have sustained multiple injuries. Out of injured persons, injured Rajendra Rai has sustained as many as 24 injuries. So far as accused appellant Dhruv Raj Rai is concerned, considering the evidence and his specific act of attacking deceased with spear, his sentence of seven years along with fine of Rs. 1,000/- under Section 304 IPC is justified and the same is upheld accordingly.

So far as other appellants are concerned, they have not caused any injury to the deceased Bajrangi. Among the injured persons, injured Phoolchand has sustained fracture in lower V3 and in V3 shaft radius and injured Rajender Rai sustained in spine of scapula at lateral end of right scapula. Except these, all other injuries sustained by injured persons were simple in nature. Five co-accused persons have already died. At the time of recording statements under section 313 CrPC in the year 2000, accused-appellant Jagdish Rai was aged 55 years and Radheyshyam was aged 46 years. Other accused were in late thirties or early forties. It was submitted that appellants Ghanshyam Rai and Manshyam have remained in jail for about three months, while rest of the appellants remained in jail for about one month. Considering all relevant facts at this stage it would not be appropriate to send them to jail. This court is of the view that ends of justice would met if appellants-accused Ramesh Rai, Radhey Shyam, Man Shyam alias Mannu, Singhasan, Jagdish and Mahendra are sentenced to the period alraedy undergone by them along with some substantial amount of fine.

32. Resultantly conviction of appellants-accused Ramesh Rai, Radhey Shyam, Man Shyam alias Mannu, Singhasan, Jagdish and Mahendra u/s 326/149 IPC is upheld but the sentence awarded by the trial court is set aside and they are sentenced to the period alraedy undergone by them along with fine of Rs 25,000/ each under section 326/149 IPC. In default of payment of fine, they shall undergo one year imprisonment. Conviction of Appellant-accused Ramesh Rai and Radhey Shyam u/s 147 IPC is affirmed but sentence is modified and they are sentenced to the period already undergone with fine of Rs 2000/ each under Section 147 IPC. In default of payment of fine, they shall undergo two months imprisonment. Conviction of Appellants-accused Man Shyam alias Mannu, Singhasan, Jagdish and Mahendra u/s 148 IPC is affirmed but sentence is modified and they are sentenced to the period already undergone along with fine of 3000/ each under Section 148 IPC. In default of payment of fine, they shall undergo three months imprisonment. Conviction and sentence of appellants Man Shyam alias Mannu, Singhasan, Jagdish, Mahendra, Ramesh Rai and Radhey Shyam u/s 304/149 IPC is set aside. Appellants are on bail. Appellant Dhruv Raj Rai be taken into custody to serve out the sentence in accordance with law. Remaining appellants Ramesh Rai, Radhey Shyam, Man Shyam alias Mannu, Singhasan, Jagdish and Mahendra are granted three months time to deposit the fine. In case the fine is not deposited within the prescribed period, the trial court shall proceed in accordance with law.

33. It is directed that out of the total fine realized, Rs 50,000/ shall be paid to the legal heirs of deceased Bajrangi and Rs 20,000/ each shall be paid to each of the three injured of the incident.

34. The appeal is partly allowed in above terms.

A. Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Section 307/34, 302/34 I.P.C, Section 25 and 4/25 Arms Act,1959 - criminal appeal – accused were examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C. - F.I.R. is anti-timed- motive for committing a crime is something which is hidden in the mind of the accused - held - it is an impossible task for the prosecution to prove what precisely have impelled the murderer to kill a particular person- the incident is of the day hours and it happened in the presence of witnesses, as such it is a case of direct evidence - "motive" in a criminal case in face of ocular testimony of witnesses is not at all relevant - eye witnesses of the incident who have supported the case which is also corroborated by the medical and formal evidence - acquitted the appellants under Section 307/34 I.P.C., u/s 4/25 and 25 Arms Act,1959 and has convicted them under Section 302/34 I.P.C. and sentenced them to imprisonment for life.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ali Zamin, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the appellants, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the material on record.

2. This appeal has been filed by the appellants against the judgement and order dated 21.06.2005 passed in Sessions Trial No.193 of 2001 (State v/s Jagdish and others) under Section 307/34, 302/34 I.P.C. and Sessions Trial No.194 of 2000, under Section 25 and 4/25 Arms Act, Police Station Sureer, District Mathura whereby the learned Additional Sessions Judge-IV, Mathura has acquitted the appellants Jagdish, Rajendra Singh and Vijay Kumar under Section 307/34 I.P.C., u/s 4/25 and 25 Arms Act and has convicted them under Section 302/34 I.P.C. and sentenced them to imprisonment for life with fine of Rs.10,000/- and in default of payment of fine further to undergo imprisonment for one year.

3. Briefly stated the facts of the case are that on 21.12.2000 at about 4:30 p.m., Mukesh, the informant, Rohitash Kumar (deceased), his wife Mamta, sister of the first informant, niece Kavita, Sanjay son of Sumer Singh, Naresh son of Shri Indrapal Singh, Rajkumar son of Sri Kishori Lal and others were sitting on a chabutra (elevated floor) outside the house of Rohitash and talking among themselves when the three accused, namely, Jagdish, Rajendra and Vijay Kumar came there armed with weapon in their hand and stating that they would teach him a lesson with regard to Pradhan elections all the three accused persons fired at Rohitash with intention to kill. Rohitash after receiving fire arm injury in order to save himself entered into the house of Sumer Singh running through Gully, assailants also entered into the house of Sumer Singh firing behind him and they killed him there. When they reached the house of Sumer Singh, they found Rohitash lying dead and the assailants, the appellants herein, fled away firing at them with intention to kill them.

4. Informant Mukesh Kumar got scribed the report Ext.Ka-1 by Satya Deo (P.W.5) and handed it over to the police station Sureer, District Mathura, on the basis of the written report (Ext.Ka-1), chik F.I.R. Ext.Ka-19, Case Crime No.149/2000, under Sections 302, 307/34 I.P.C. was registered on 22.12.2000 at 19:00 P.M. Investigation of the case was entrusted to S.H.O. Sri Shiv Kumar Singh. On the instruction of the Investigating Officer Shiv Kumar Singh, P.W.8 S.I. S.N. Singh prepared inquest report (Ext.Ka-5) of the deceased Rohitash Kumar. He also prepared relevant documents for post-mortem and dispatched the dead body for post-mortem along with Constable Shiv Kumar and Jayanti Prasad.

5. Dr. V.S. Agnihotri (P.W.7) conducted autopsy on the dead body of the deceased Rohitash on 23.12.2000 at 3:20 P.M. and prepared report (Ext.Ka-4), according to which following injuries were found on the person of the deceased:

1. Incised wound 1 c.m. X .3 c.m. X .4 c.m. left side middle of neck.

2. Incised wound 1.5 c.m. X .3 c.m. X .3 c.m. right side of the neck on the lower part.

3. Incised wound 1.5 c.m. X .3 c.m. X .3 c.m. on the upper part of the right shoulder.

4. Incised wound 3 c.m. X 1 c.m. X cavity deep on the right side of intestine mid wall 3 c.m. below the sub- costa margin.

5. Incised wound 2 c.m. X .8 c.m. muscle deep towards right of the chest above the 10th and 11th rib.

6. Incised wound 2.5 c.m. X 1 c.m. muscle deep in front of chest above the 8th and 9th rib.

7. Incised wound 2.5 c.m. X 1 c.m. X chest cavity deep over 6th and 7th rib.

8. Incised wound 1.5 c.m. X .5 c.m. X .4 c.m. in front of left middle finger.

9. Fire arm wound of entry .5 c.m. X .2 c.m. X .3 c.m. on left side back, 8 c.m. from L-1 spine.

In internal examination 6th, 9th and 10th right side ribs were found fractured and right side lung was ruptured. In the opinion of P.W.7 Dr. V.S. Agnihotri injury no.1 to 8 are possible by knife. Injury no.9 is possible by fire arm like country-made pistol and injuries were sufficient to cause death. Death was one day old from the time of examination and it was possible at 4:30 P.M. in the evening of 22.12.2000.

6. The Investigating Officer took into his possession four live cartridges 315 bore, one empty cartridge 315 bore, two bullets in which one like 303 bore and one 315 bore from the place of incident and house of Sumer Singh and prepared memo (Ext.Ka-3). He took into his possession blood stained and plain earth from the place of dead body and prepared memo (Ext.Ka-2). He also took all the accused in police custody remand on 19.01.2001 and recovered one country-made pistol and a knife on the pointing out of accused Jagdish from the clump of bulrushes situated at the south of the hydrent about 75 steps north of the culvert towards north of side walk of both canals in village Mehmoodgadhi. He also recovered a country-made pistol and a knife on the pointing out of accused Rajendra from the clump of bulrushes situated at the north of the hydrent and from nearby a knife was also recovered on the pointing out of accused Vijay Kumar. He prepared recovery memo (Ext.Ka-16), thereafter, he took into custody the accused persons under Section 25 and 4/25 Arms Act and prepared custody memo (Ext.Ka-18). On the basis of the recovery memo chik F.I.R. (Ext.Ka-21), Case Crime No.3/2001 and 4/2001 u/s 25 and 4/25 Arms Act against the accused Jagdish, Case Crime No.5/2001 and 6/2001 u/s 25 and 4/25 Arms Act against accused Rajendra and Case Crime No.7/2001 and 4/25 Arms Act against accused Vijay Kumar, was registered.

7. The Investigating Officer after completing the investigation in Case Crime No.149/2000 submitted charge sheet (Ext.Ka-16 under Section 302/307/34 I.P.C. against the accused Jagdish, Rajendra and Vijay Kumar before the court of C.J.M. The Investigating Officer of Case Crime No.3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 of the year 2001, after completing the investigation in Case Crime No.7/2001 submitted charge sheet (Ext.Ka-26) u/s 4/25 Arms Act against accused Vijay Kumar. Charge sheet (Ext.Ka-27) in Case Crime No.6/2001 under Section 4/25 Arms Act and charge sheet (Ext.Ka-28) in Case Crime No.5/2001 under Section 25 Arms Act against accused Rajendra, charge sheet (Ext.Ka-29) in Case Crime No.3/2001 under Section 25 Arms Act and charge sheet (Ext.Ka-30) in Case Crime No.4/2001 under Section 4/25 Arms Act against Jagdish before C.J.M., who committed the accused for trial to the court of Session where Case Crime No.149/2001 was registered as a Session Trial No.193/2001 (State vs. Jagdish and others) and Case Crime Nos. 3/2001, 4/2001, 5/2001, 6/2001, 7/2001 were registered as Session Trial No.194/2001 wherefrom the above mentioned both trials were transferred to the court of Additional Session Judge-IV, Mathura for trial who framed charge under u/s 307/34 and 302/34 I.P.C. against the accused Jagdish, Rajendra and Vijai Kumar. He also framed charge u/s 4/25 and 25 Arms Act against accused Jagdish and Rajendra and u/s 4/25 Arms Act against accused Vijai Kumar. Accused denied the charge and claimed trial.

8. To prove its case prosecution has examined 12 witnesses. P.W.1 Mukesh Kumar, informant, P.W.2 Narendra Kumar @ Naresh, P.W.3 Km. Kavita, P.W.4 Ram Chander and P.W.5 Satya Deo are witnesses of fact while P.W.6 Constable Jayanti Prasad brought the dead body for post-mortem, P.W.7 Dr. V.S. Agnihotri conducted autopsy, P.W.8 S.I. S.N. Singh conducted inquest, P.W.9 H.C.P. Narendra Singh witness of recovery of arms, P.W.10 S.I. Hakim Singh scribe of chik F.I.R. and G.D., P.W.11 Netra Pal scribe of chik F.I.R. and G.D. under Section 25 Arms Act and 4/25 Arms Act, P.W.12 H.C.P. Ram Vir Singh I.O. of the Case Crime No.3, 4, 5, 6, 7 of 2001 under Section 25 and 4/25 Arms Act are formal witnesses.

9. After adducing prosecution evidence, the accused were examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C. in which they have stated that due to enmity of election of Pradhan they have been falsely implicated in the present case. Accused have produced D.W.1 Sahab Singh as defence witness.

10. After hearing the parties and scrutinising the evidence on record learned Additional Session Judge-IV, Mathura has passed the impugned judgement and order as disclosed in para 1 of the judgement. Hence this appeal.

11. Learned counsel for the appellants submits that P.W.5 Satya Deo and accused Vijay Kumar had contested the election of Pradhan, deceased Rohitash had not contested the election and he was only supporter of P.W.5 Satya Deo the winner of election. Satya Deo has stated that Rohitash did not do any special work for him. He was not his polling agent. Neither he blazed flags of Vijay Kumar nor he did quarrel with any supporter of Vijay Kumar, nor he stopped his voters going to poll. So, there is no motive for the appellants to commit the offence. He also submits that according to prosecution in the house of Sumer Singh deceased Rohtash was killed but as per inquest memo dead body has been found on chabutra of Sumer Singh. P.W.5 Satya Deo has stated that on 22.12.2000 at 7:00 P.M., he came seeing the dead body of Rohitash at that time dead body was at chabutra till then police had not come in the village, thus, from the evidence led by prosecution, place of incident is not established. He further submits that as per statement of Mukesh (P.W.1) deceased Rohtash died due to fire arm injury while P.W.-7 Dr. V.S. Agnihotri has found that there are eight incised wound and one injury of fire arm and no pellet or bullet was found from the injury, cause of death has been found shock and haemorrhage due to the injuries. Thus, from the prosecution evidence the alleged manner and mode of the incident is also not proved. He also submits that according to prosecution incident has been caused in the house of Sumer Singh and at that time his wife Savitri was present but she has not been produced by the prosecution which is fatal to the prosecution case. Lastly he submits that time of incident is alleged 4:30 P.M. on 22.12.2000 and as per F.I.R. information has been given to the police at 19:00 P.M. while P.W.1 Mukesh Kumar, informant has stated that report was scribed on the dictation of the villagers at 10:00 P.M. in presence of the police. He has also stated that daroga called him to the police station when it was less than one or two days to a month from the incident, where he got his signature on papers and he went to the police station for the first time when his signatures were obtained on papers which creates doubt regarding time of incident and giving information at the police station. There is also overwriting in the inquest memo in the column of distance of police station from the place of incident. In the column 18 has been made 16 while in chik F.I.R. distance of police station from the place of incident has been mentioned 15 kilometers, if F.I.R. was in existence and available at the time of preparing inquest memo of dead body, then such overwriting could not have been made. These anomalies make the F.I.R. anti-timed also. In fact Rohitash was killed somewhere outside the village by some unknown persons. Accused Vijay Kumar had contested the Pradhan election against P.W.5 Satya Deo, who barely won the election. Neither deceased Rohitash contested the election nor he was agent. Due to election enmity Vijay Kumar and his supporter Jagdish and Rajendra have been implicated falsely in the case. He prays that prosecution has miserably failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt against the appellants-accused. Learned Additional Session Judge-IV, Mathura without proper appreciation of evidence has passed the impugned judgement and order which is not sustainable and liable to be set aside. Appellants are liable to be acquitted.

12. On the contrary learned A.G.A. for the respondent-State, submitted that P.W.1 Mukesh, P.W.2 Narendra, P.W.3 Km. Kavita (niece of the deceased) have supported the prosecution version. P.W.4 Ram Chander, who is an independent witness has stated that on 23.12.2000 blood stained and plain earth were taken into possession by the Investigating Officer in his presence from the place where the dead body was lying in the room, inside the house of Sumer Singh. He has proved the two containers in which blood stained and plain earth were kept and sealed in his presence as material (Ext-4 and 5). He has also stated that when darogaji came, he kept the dead body on the door of Sumer Singh, but before the police came the dead body was in the house of Sumer Singh. From the testimony P.W.4 Ram Chander place of occurrence is established. The learned A.G.A. further submits that statement of P.W.1 Mukesh Kumar started on 10.07.2001 and was completed in five different dates on 12.09.2002. Informant Mukesh Kumar supported the prosecution story with regard to time of incident and lodging report at police station but when he settled the marriage of his sister (wife of the deceased) then he retracted from his previous statement and stated that the report was scribed on the dictation of villagers in the presence of police after 2 to 3 hours of the incident and again stated the time as 10:00 P.M., which is liable to be discarded. He prays that from the evidence produced by the prosecution charge under Section 302/34 I.P.C. against the appellants-accused is fully proved and the learned Additional Sessions Judge-IV, Mathura has rightly convicted and sentenced the appellants-accused in which no interference is required by this Court and the appeal is liable to be dismissed.

13. The incident is alleged to have occurred on 22.12.2000 at 4:30 P.M. and as per Ext.Ka-19 its information has been given at 19:00 P.M. on the same day. P.W.1 Mukesh has stated that after he got report scribed by Satya Deo Singh, reported the incident to the police station and proved it as Ext.Ka-1. In cross-examination on 11.01.2002 he has stated that he himself scribed the report. He did not scribe the report by asking anyone but in cross-examination on 12.06.2002, he has retracted from his previous statement and has stated that the report was scribed by the villagers in presence of police. He does not know the name of anyone who scribed the report. He has further stated that after 2 to 3 hours of the incident and again stated that at 10:00 P.M. the report was scribed. He has also stated that after one or two days short of a month from incident darogaji called him and obtained his signatures on papers in the police station. On the recovery papers of country-made pistol and knife his signatures were obtained. First time he went to police station when his signatures were obtained on the papers.

14. In State of U.P. v/s Ramesh Prasad Misra and others, (1996) 10 SCC 360, it has been held that it is equally settled law that the evidence of a hostile witness would not be totally rejected if spoken in favour of the prosecution or the accused, but it can be subjected to close scrutiny and that portion of the evidence which is consistent with the case of the prosecution or defence may be accepted.

15. In K. Anbazhagan v/s Superintendent of Police (2004) 3 SCC 767, Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that if a court finds that in the process the credit of the witness has not been completely shaken, he may after reading and considering the evidence of the witness as a whole with due caution, accept, in the light of the evidence on the record that part of his testimony which it finds to be creditworthy and act upon it. The finding of K. Anbazhagan vs. Superintendent of Police (supra) has been relied on by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Ramesh and others vs. State of Haryana, (2017) 1 SCC 529 .

16. P.W.5 Satya Deo scribe of the report has stated that on the dictation of P.W.1 Mukesh, he has scribed the report on 22.12.2000 at about 5:00 P.M. at Khaira while returning from Delhi to his village and he had also proved it as Ext.Ka-1. He has denied the suggestion by defence that report was not scribed on dictation. From the cross-examination by defence nothing has been extracted, so that any adverse inference can be drawn that on dictation of P.W.1 Mukesh Kumar report was not scribed by him at about 5:00 P.M. on 22.12.2000 at Khaira. Thus, previous statement of P.W.1 Mukesh scribing report Ext.Ka-1 from P.W.5 Staya Deo is consistent with the prosecution case.

17. P.W.10 Hakim Singh has stated that he was posted on 22.12.2000 at P.S. Sureer and he had registered chik F.I.R., Case Crime No.149/2000, under Section 302, 307/34 I.P.C. on the basis of the written report of the informant Mukesh Kumar and proved it as Ext.Ka-19. He has also stated that he entered the case in G.D. No.32 on 22.12.2000 at 19:00 P.M.

and proved it as Ext.Ka-20. He has further stated that he copied the same as was scribed in the written report and denied the suggestion that chik and G.D. have been scribed anti-time. He has also stated that two persons had come along with the informant. In G.D. Ext.Ka-20, it is mentioned that Sri Mukesh son of Bhudev Singh, resident of Jait, P.S. Vrindavan, District Mathura and other companion Rakesh son of Sukhveer Singh, Raju son of Kishori, resident of Mehmoodgadhi, P.S. Sureer, District Mathura came and handed over an application written and signed by Satya Deo. Defence has also cross-examined this witness, nothing has been elicited from his cross-examination, so that adverse inference can be drawn that P.W.1 Mukesh (informant of the case) had not gone to the police station on 22.12.2000 along with his companion Rakesh son of Sukhveer Singh and Raju son of Kishori, resident of Mehmoodgarhi, District Mathura and he did not hand over the written report to the witness. As such the testimony of P.W.1 Mukesh giving information of the incident to police station is also consistent with the prosecution case.

18. According to P.W.9 H.C.P. Narendra Singh, he recognizes the writing of Sri Shiv Kumar and has seen him writing and reading. He has died.

19. P.W.8 S.I. S.N. Singh has stated that he was posted at police station Sureer as S.I. on 23.12.2000 and on the instruction of Inspector Shiv Kumar he conducted the inquest of deceased Rohitash Kumar @ Pappu. He was posted with him and recognizes his hand writing. He has proved the spot map Ext.Ka-6 and other papers. In cross-examination he has stated that he cannot tell where the statement of the informant was taken. He can however tell seeing the case diary. He cannot tell whether the informant went from the police station by his own vehicle or how he went. Since, the Investigating Officer has died and this witness has not disclosed where statement of informant was recorded, in such a situation for this purpose case diary has to be seen and according to it informant and scribe of F.I.R. H.M. 65 Hakim Singh were present in the police station on 22.12.2000 and their statements were recorded at the police station from which also presence of the informant Mukesh at the police station is supported and prosecution evidence regarding presence of informant at the police station is consistent.

20. In view of the finding of Hon'ble Supreme Court in State of U.P. v/s Ramesh Prasad Misra and others, K. Anbazhagan vs. Superintendent of Police and Ramesh and others v/s State of Haryana (supra) and considering the statement of P.W.5 Satya Deo, P.W.10 Hakim Singh and close scrutiny of the statement of P.W.1 Mukesh, the statement of P.W.1 Mukesh given in the cross-examination before 12.06.2002 being consistent with the prosecution case is convincing and reliable that he got scribed the report Ext.Ka-1 from P.W.5 Satya Deo and reported the incident on 22.12.2000 at 19:00 P.M. to police station Sureer, District Mathura going along with aforesaid Rakesh and Raju and the statement given on 12.06.2002 that after one or two days short of month the daroga called him and obtained his signatures on papers and first time he went to the police station when his signatures were obtained on the papers and written report Ext.Ka-1 was scribed on dictation of villagers in presence of police are neither consistent nor convincing nor acceptable. Bestowing our consideration on the whole statement of P.W.1 Mukesh Kumar as well as P.W.5 Satya Deo, P.W.10 Hakim Singh and documents available on record, as discussed above, in our opinion, from prosecution evidences, it is established that the written report Ext.Ka-1 was scribed by P.W.5 Satya Deo on the dictation of P.W.1 Mukesh which was given by him at the police station going along with Rakesh and Raju and as such we find no force in the contention of learned counsel for the appellants that the time of incident and giving information at the police station is in any manner doubtful.

21. As per F.I.R. Ext.Ka-19 the distance of the police station from the place of incidence is 15 kilometers. In cross-examination P.W.8 S.I. S.N. Singh has stated that in the body of the inquest memo initially 18 kilometers was written but subsequently 16 kilometers is written correctly. He has also stated that while preparing inquest memo chik F.I.R. was with him and he had read it and he has denied the suggestion of defence that in inquest memo and other papers blank space were left for crime number and sections. On going through the inquest memo, we find that it has been prepared in the same hand writing and ink. Although, he has stated that he read the chik F.I.R. but from his statement it is not clear that while reading the chik F.I.R. he entertained the distance of police station from the place of incident mentioned in it. It appears that by mistake in the inquest memo Ext.Ka-5 regarding the distance of police station from the place of incident previously 18 kilometers and subsequently 16 kilometers has been recorded. Contention of the learned counsel for the appellants also does not appeal to us for the reason that if the F.I.R. was not with the witness P.W.8 S.I. S.N. Singh and blank spaces were left in the inquest memo and other papers for crime number and sections, in that condition distance 15 kilometers as recorded in the F.I.R. Ext.Ka-19 should have been recorded in the inquest memo Ext.Ka-5 in place of subsequent recording it as16.

22. Thus, upon considering the evidences led by the prosecution as discussed above, we also find no substance in the contention of the learned counsel for the appellants that as per F.I.R. distance of police station from the place of incident is 15 kilometers and there is overwriting in the column of distance of police station from the place of incident in the inquest memo, so the F.I.R. is anti-timed.

23. P.W.5 Satya Deo has stated that he is the present by elected Pradhan of village Amanallapur (Mahmoodgadhi) and accused Vijay Kumar was defeated in the last election. He has admitted that Rohitash was his supporter who was not his polling agent. He did not do any special work for him. Rohitash did not set blazed any flag of Vijay Kumar nor quarrelled with his supporters. He also did not stop his voters going to poll. In view of the statement of P.W.5 Satya Deo apparently it appears that the act and conduct of the deceased was not such as to impel the accused Vijay Kumar, defeated candidate of Pradhan election, to bear enmity towards him.

24. In the case of Praful Sudhakar Parab v/s State of Maharashtra, (2016) 12 SCC 783, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that motive for committing a crime is something which is hidden in the mind of the accused and it has been held by this Court that it is an impossible task for the prosecution to prove what precisely have impelled the murderer to kill a particular person.

25. In State of H.P. v/s Jeet Singh, (1999) 4 SCC 370, the Hon'ble Supreme Court in para 33 has held as under:

"No doubt it is a sound principle to remember that every criminal act was done with a motive but its corollary is not that no criminal offence would have been committed if the prosecution has failed to prove the precise motive of the accused to commit it. When the prosecution succeeded in showing the possibility of some ire for the accused towards the victim, the inability to further put on record the manner in which such ire would have swelled up in the mind of the offender to such a degree as to impel him to commit the offence cannot be construed as a fatal weakness of the prosecution. It is almost an impossibility for the prosecution to unravel the full dimension of the mental disposition of an offender towards the person whom he offended."

26. In Rajagopal vs. Muthupandi @ Thavakkalai and others, (2017) 11 SCC 120, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that motive need not be established where direct evidence is available and in the case of Rajesh Govind Jagesha vs. State of Maharashtra, (1999) 8 SCC 428, the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that "motive" in a criminal case based on ocular testimony of witnesses is not at all relevant.

27. In the instant case prosecution version is that on 22.12.2000 at 4:30 P.M. informant Mukesh, deceased Rohitash Kumar his sister Mamta, niece Kavita, Savita, Sanjay, Naresh, Rajkumar and others were talking among themselves sitting on the chabutra outside the house of Rohitash. At that time the accused persons came and stating that they would teach lesson of Pradhan election fired at him. From which it is clear that the incident is of the day hours and it happened in the presence of witnesses, as such it is a case of direct evidence. In view of the opinion of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Rajagopal v/s Muthupandi @ Thavakkalai and others and Rajesh Govind Jagesha v/s State of Maharashtra (supra) in the instant case motive need not be established and motive is not at all relevant.

28. Apart from it as per F.I.R. Ext.Ka-1 accused persons stating that they would teach the deceased a lesson with regard to Pradhan election fired at him which has been supported by P.W.2 Narendra Kumar also through his testimony. According to P.W.5 Satya Deo deceased Rohitash was his supporter and as per statement of accused Vijay Kumar under Section 313 Cr.P.C. P.W.5 Satya Deo barely won the election. All accused have stated that due to Pradhan election they have been implicated falsely. Deceased Rohitash is said to be supporter of elected Pradhan P.W.5 Satya Deo, accused Vijay Kumar is the defeated candidate of Pradhan and accused Jagdish and Rajendra are his supporters, thus, deceased Rohitash being supporter of P.W.5 Satya Deo winner of Pradhan election there appears an ire of Pradhan election for the accused towards the deceased. As such, in view of the opinion of Hon'ble the Supreme Court in State of H.P. v/s Jeet Singh (supra) we find that prosecution succeeded in proving an ire of Pradhan election for the accused towards the deceased to impel them to commit the offence. Accordingly, we do not find substance in the contention of learned counsel for the appellants also that there is no motive against the appellants to commit the offence.

29. P.W.5 Satya Deo in his cross-examination has stated that he came seeing the dead body of Rohitash on 22.12.2000 at 7:00 P.M., at that time the dead body was kept on the chabutra till then police had not come in the village while P.W.4 Ram Chander has stated in the cross-examination that he met the daroga at 8:00 P.M. on the day of incident and next day morning at 8:00 A.M. When the daroga came, he kept the dead body of Rohitash at the door of Sumer Singh. Thus, according to P.W.5 Satya Deo, dead body of the deceased Rohitash was lying at the chabutra before coming of the police while as per statement of P.W.4 Ram Chander police came and kept the dead body on the chabutra. Hence, there is contradiction in the statement of both witnesses regarding keeping the dead body of deceased Rohitash on the chabutra. So, we have to look for other evidences in this regard.

30. P.W.4 Ram Chander has stated that Rohitash was murdered and Investigating Officer on 23.12.2000 collected blood stained and plain earth from the place of incidence, in the room inside the house of Sumer Singh sealed and stamped in his and Pradhan Satya Deo's presence; prepared memo and obtained their signatures on the memo, and has proved it as Ext.Ka-2. P.W.5 Satya Deo has also stated that Investigating Officer taking into his possession the blood stained and plain earth from the place of incidence in his and Ram Chander's, presence, prepared the memo and after reading out to him obtained his signature and thumb impression of Ram Chander. He has also proved the recovery memo as Ext.Ka-2. From the cross-examination by defence of both witnesses i.e. P.W.4 Ram Chander and P.W.5 Satya Deo, nothing has been extracted by which any adverse inference can be drawn that on 23.12.2000 the blood stained and plain earth was not taken in the presence of the witnesses from the place of incidence, in the room inside the house of Sumer Singh and it's recovery memo Ext.Ka-2 was not prepared.

31. P.W.8 S.I. S.N. Singh has stated that he prepared the inquest memo of deceased Rohitash on the instruction of Inspector Shiv Kumar. In cross-examination he has stated that he had gone to the place of incidence, when police party reached the spot the dead body was kept outside of the house on the chabutra. He has specifically stated that murder of deceased was committed in the house of Sumer Singh; before inquest of the dead body he did not ask from the informant or any other person as to who brought the dead body on chabutra from the place of occurrence. He has also stated that he had taken the blood stained and plain earth from the place of occurrence. From the cross-examination of this witness too nothing has been extracted by defence, so that his statement regarding taking of blood stained and plain earth from the place of occurrence in the room inside the house of Sumer Singh as stated by P.W.4 Ram Chander and P.W.5 Satya Deo also can be doubted. In Ext.Ka-2 recovery memo of blood stained and plain earth, it is mentioned that in the presence of witnesses Satya Deo and Ram Chander in Case Crime No.149/2000, under Section 302/207 I.P.C. blood stained and plain earth were taken into police custody from the room inside the house of Sumer Singh (uncle of the deceased), kept in containers; were sealed and stamped, recovery memo was prepared, and signatures of witnesses were obtained. In the spot map Ext.Ka-6 proved by P.W.8 S.I. S.N. Singh, place-A has been shown where the murder of the deceased was committed, which is shown in the room inside the house of Sumer Singh. Prosecution evidence of P.W.4 Ram Chander, P.W.5 Satya Deo and P.W.8 S.I. S.N. Singh is consistent regarding taking of blood stained and plain earth from the room inside the house of Sumer Singh. P.W.1 Mukesh and P.W.2 Narendra Kumar have stated very categorically that after receiving fire arm injury, Rohitash entered the house of Sumer Singh and after following the accused they found Rohitash dead in the house of Sumer Singh. From their cross-examination nothing has been extracted.

32. In defence D.W.1 Sahab Singh has been produced to prove that Rohitash was murdered somewhere else and due to enmity of Pradhan election the accused have been implicated falsely in the case. Sahab Singh has stated that he and his brother were in their field, at about 7:00 P.M. in the evening when they heard sound of firing from the side of canal. They undertook it to be miscreants and came towards the village. When they reached close to the village they saw that people of the village are coming bringing Rohitash in a fire arm injured condition and they kept the dead body of Rohitash on the chabutra of pahalwan Sumer Singh. When the daroga came in the morning he told about it to him but in cross-examination by prosecution he has stated that he had not told the daroga but he had told about it to the police only. He has also stated that he is stating for the first time in court about telling the police. Thus, his statement being contradictory at the same stage and made first time in court is neither convincing nor believable. Contrary to it, the prosecution evidence regarding place of incidence in the house of Sumer Singh as discussed above is consistent, cogent, convincing and reliable. Although the statement of P.W.4 Ram Chander appears trustworthy that the daroga came and kept the dead body on the chabutra as the dead body was not in the house of deceased but it was in the house of some other person yet, if it is ignored, even then, the place of incident of deceased Rohitash is established in the room inside the house of Sumer Singh. Therefore, once the place of incidence is established in the room inside the house of Sumer Singh then who kept the dead body on chabutra outside the house of Sumer Singh will not carry much importance and it will not affect the prosecution case. Accordingly, we also find no substance in the contention of learned counsel for the appellants that place of incidence is not established.

33. In cross-examination P.W.1 Mukesh has stated that he knew that death occurred due to fire arm shooting injury. According to medical report Ext.Ka-4 proved by P.W.7 Dr. V.S. Agnihotri, a fire arm wound of entry .5 c.m. x .2 c.m. x .3 c.m. on left side back, 8 c.m. from L-1 spine and two on neck, one on upper part of shoulder, one on intestine mid, three on chest and one on left middle finger, incised wounds have been found. In internal examination 6th, 9th and 10th right side ribs were found fractured and right side lung was ruptured. Injuries were sufficient to cause death. P.W.7 Dr. V. S. Agnihotri has stated that injury no.9 can be possible by fire arm and in injury no.9 no pellet or bullet was found. Since, depth of the injury was less, so it was not thought proper to have x-ray for search of pellets. In view of nature of injury no.9 as opined by doctor, it may not be the cause of death of the deceased Rohitash.

34. As per written report Ext.Ka-1 deceased Rohitash after receiving fire shot injury entered into the house of Sumer Singh in order to save his life; the assailants also entered into the house of Sumer Singh and killed him there and fled away firing at the informant and others. After the accused persons left, the informant P.W.1 Mukesh and others on going inside the house found the dead body of Rohitash. P.W.1 Mukesh has deposed in support of Ext.Ka-1, the written report and has stated that when Rohitash stepping down from the chabutra started running, the accused persons started firing. Rohitash received fire arm injury and entered into the house of Sumer Singh. The accused also entered into the house of Sumer Singh behind Rohitash. The accused fled away after coming out from the house of Sumer Singh firing upon them. When the informant and his sister went inside the house of Sumer Singh after 10-15 minutes, they found the dead body of Rohitash. In cross-examination by defence nothing has been extracted so that the statement of P.W.1 Mukesh can be doubted.

35. P.W.2 Narendra Kumar @ Naresh has also stated that on 22.12.2000 at 4:30 P.M. he was sitting on the chabutra of Rohitash. Rohitash, his brother in law Mukesh, wife Mamta, niece Kavita, Savita, Sanjay and Raj Kumar were also sitting there. Rohitash was talking with Mukesh when at that time accused Jagdish, Rajendra and Vijay Kumar of the village came carrying country made pistols in their hand and addressed Rohitash to teach him lesson of Pradhan election. On exhortation of the accused Rohitash fled away towards the gully; the accused chased and fired at him, shot of Jagdish hit in the waist of Rohitash. In order to save his life Rohitash entered into the house of Sumer Singh. The three accused also entered into the house of Sumer Singh behind him, going there the accused persons inflicted knife injuries. The incident was witnessed by him, Kavita, Mukesh and Savitri wife of Sumer Singh. On their alarm the accused persons fled away and on going near Rohitash found him dead. Although, the witness has exaggerated in respect of witnessing the incident while causing knife injuries by the accused but from cross-examination by defence on material point like while sitting on chabutra coming of accused having country-made pistols in their hand; stating that they would teach lesson of Pradhan election; fleeing of deceased towards gully; while fleeing Rohitash being fired upon by accused persons and on receiving fire injury, entering into house of Sumer Singh; entering of accused also into the house of Sumer Singh behind Rohitash and after fleeing away the accused persons finding dead body of Rohitash in the house of Sumer Singh, his testimony is intact.

36. P.W.3 Km. Kavita has also supported the prosecution version through her testimony and from her cross-examination by defence too nothing has been extracted, so that her testimony regarding her presence on 22.12.2000 at 4:30 P.M. on the chabutra along with deceased Rohitash, Mukesh, Narendra, Mamta at that time coming of accused persons having country-made pistols in their hand; accused stating to teach lesson of Pradhan election to Rohitash; while fleeing Rohitash being fired upon by accused and on receiving fire injury his fleeing towards house of Sumer Singh can be doubted.

37. Thus the evidence of P.W.1 Mukesh, P.W.2 Narendra Kumar and P.W.3 Km. Kavita is consistent, corroborated by each other, convincing and reliable that on 22.12.2000 at 4:30 P.M. when deceased Rohitash was sitting on the chabutra along with Mukesh, wife Mamta, Kavita, Savita, Sanjay and Raj Kumar and talking among themselves, accused persons came having pistols in their hand and stated to teach him lesson of Pradhan election when Rohitash fled in the gully they fired at him and on receiving fire arm injury on his waist, he entered into the house of Sumer Singh, the accused persons also entered into the house of Sumer Singh and when they fled away dead body of Rohitash was found in the house of Sumer Singh.

38. P.W.4 Ram Chander, P.W.5 Satya Deo and P.W.8 S.I. S.N. Singh have supported the fact that dead body of Rohitash was lying in the room inside the house of Sumer Singh. Since, the incident has occurred in a room and the place in room will not be visible from outside as depicted in spot map Ext.Ka-7 but before entering into the house of Sumer Singh, it is the consistent case of the prosecution that the accused persons had fired at Rohitash and receiving fire arm injury is supported by medical report Ext.Ka-4 proved by P.W.7 Dr. V.S. Agnihotri also, in such circumstances, not mentioning knife injury in Ext.Ka-1 will not be fatal to the prosecution case which has been explained by P.W.1 Mukesh Kumar also through his statement, in his cross-examination as he has stated that he has not mentioned knife in his report no one told him about knives. He has also stated that he had seen the accused persons firing shot and he had also seen the shot hitting Rohitash @ Pappu that is why he had written in the report about shot fired by accused persons at Rohitash @ Pappu. Since the accused persons fired at the deceased Rohitash before his entering into the house of Sumer Singh and Rohitash received fire shot injury, accused persons also entered into the house of Sumer Singh behind him and soon after the accused persons fled away, deceased Rohitash was found dead by informant P.W.1 Mukesh and P.W.2 Narendra Kumar. In such a situation the inescapable inference will be that it is the accused persons who have caused death of deceased Rohitash. The place of incidence being not visible from outside the house and injury by knife being possible non mentioning of knife injury as explained by P.W.1 Mukesh Kumar also as discussed above, in the facts and circumstances of this case as well as aforesaid discussion and injury no.9 being fire arm injury in Ext.Ka-4, it cannot be said that the manner and mode of the incident has not proved.

39. P.W.2 Narendra Kumar @ Naresh has stated that the incident was witnessed by him, Mukesh (brother-in-law of Rohitash), Savitri (wife of Sumer Singh) and Kavita (daughter of Dinesh). Prosecution has not produced Savitri as a witness.

40. In Krishna Mochi vs. State of Bihar, (2002) 6 SCC 81, the Honble Supreme Court has held as under:

"It is matter of common experience that in recent times there has been sharp decline of ethical values in public life even in developed countries much less developing one, like ours, where the ratio of decline is higher. Even in ordinary cases, witnesses are not inclined to depose or their evidence is not found to be credible by courts for manifold reasons. One of the reasons may be that they do not have courage to depose against an accused because of threats to their life, more so when the offenders are habitual criminals or high-ups in the Government or close to powers, which may be political, economic or other powers including muscle power."

41. Prosecution has produced informant P.W.1 Mukesh Kumar, P.W.2 Narendra Kumar @ Naresh and P.W.3 Km. Kavita who were present at the time the incident occurred. In view of the opinion of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in Krishna Mochi v/s State of Bihar (supra) and witnesses of fact produced by prosecution as discussed above non production of witness Savitri Devi will not affect the prosecution case, as such non-production of Savitri Devi will not be fatal to the prosecution case. Accordingly, there is no force in the contention of learned counsel for the appellants.

42. In view of the above discussion, it is established that on account of Pradhan election, there was an ire of Pradhan election for the accused persons against the deceased to commit the murder. It is a day light case of direct evidence. P.W.1 Mukesh, P.W.2 Narendra @ Naresh and P.W.3 Km. Kavita are the eye witnesses of the incident who have supported the case which is also corroborated by the medical and formal evidence.

43. Therefore, on a conspectus of facts and analysis of the evidence on record, we do not find any illegality or infirmity in the judgement and order of the trial court dated 21.06.2005 passed by the Additional District Judge-IV, Mathura in Sessions Trila No.193 of 2001 (State v/s Jagdish and others) under Section 307/34, 302/34 I.P.C. and Sessions Trial No.194 of 2000 under Section 25 and 4/25 Arms Act, Police Station Sureer, District Mathura.

44. The appeal fails and is accordingly dismissed. The conviction and sentences awarded by the trial court are upheld.

45. The appellants no.2 and 3, Rajender Singh and Vijay Kumar respectively are on bail. The C.J.M., Mathura is directed to take the appellants no.2 and 3 in the above case into custody forthwith and send them to jail to serve out the sentence, as awarded by the trial court and affirmed by us.

46. So far as the appellant no.1 Jagdish is concerned, he is already in jail. He shall be kept there to serve out the sentence as awarded by the trial court and affirmed by us in the above case.

Office is directed to send a copy of this order to the court concerned within a weekfor compliance.

4. Thus, the challenge to the impugned judgement and order is now confined on behalf of Matadin @ Chapole (A1) alone.

5. The prosecution story in short is that deceased Lakhan was a highly arrogant, hard core, anti-social element who was involved in several criminal cases including cases of burglary, dacoity etc. and several anti-social elements of village- Atarsua bore grudge against him. It is alleged that on 08.03.1985 at about 1.30-2.00 p.m., few residents of village- Atarsua had gathered in front of the house of Rati Ram to celebrate Holi. Deceased Lakhan was singing Holi (phag) songs while his son P.W.3 Hari Om, his cousin P.W.2 Ram Narayana and others were standing nearby and enjoying the Holi songs. While they were singing Holi songs, Matadin @ Chapole (A1) and Mehngu armed with country-made pistols and Kripa Ram (A2) armed with 'pharsa' came to the spot suddenly and Matadin @ Chapole (A1) and Mehngu fired with their country-made pistols at Lakhan, causing firearm injuries on his head, when Lakhan tried to get up, the accused caught hold of him and Kripa Ram (A2) dealt 'pharsa' blows to him causing injuries on vital parts of his person. Lakhan died on the spot instantaneously and P.W.1 informant Motilal who described himself in the written report of the incident as deceased's "khaandani bhai" although before the trial court, he had not deposed that he was "khaandani bhai" of the deceased, also arrived on the spot upon hearing the noise and found his brother Lakhan dead with injuries on various parts of his body. P.W.3 Hari Om, deceased's son who was present near the dead body apprised him with the details of the incident and P.W.1 informant Motilal got the written report of the incident (Ext.Ka.1) scribed by one P.W.4 Manohar and proceeded straight to P.S.- Gursarain, which was at a distance of about 9 kms. from the place of the incident along with the written report.

6. On the basis of the written report (Ext.Ka.1) given by P.W.1 informant Motilal at P.S.- Gursarain, District- Jhansi, Case Crime No. 12 of 1985 u/s 302 I.P.C. was registered against the appellants and one Mehngu. Check F.I.R. (Ext.Ka.11) and the relevant G.D. Entry (Ext.Ka.12) were prepared by Head Constable Jagdish Awasthi.

7. P.W.7 S.O. Subedar Singh took over the investigation of the case and proceeded to the place of the occurrence immediately and reached there at 5 p.m. After holding the inquest on the dead body of Lakhan, he got prepared the inquest report (Ext.Ka.4) and other related documents whereafter he handed over the dead body of Lakhan to Constable Subedar Singh and Constable Shiv Gulam Pandey along with postmortem requisition memo (Paper no. 17-A). He seized samples of blood-stained and plain earth from the crime scene vide seizure memo (Exts.Ka.5 and Ka.6). He also seized two empty cartridges (material Ext.12) and missed cartridge (material Ext.14) vide recovery memo (Ext.Ka.5). After inspecting the place of occurrence, he prepared its site plan (Ext.Ka.7).

8. Postmortem on the dead body of Lakhan was conducted by P.W.5 Dr. B.D. Mangal, Medical Officer, Primary Health Centre, Mauranipur on 09.03.1985 at 2.45 p.m. He prepared and proved the postmortem report of the deceased as (Ext.Ka.2) and noted following ante-mortem injuries on the person of Lakhan :-

(e) Incised wound horizontal 3" x 1" x skin muscle with cutting of Ist cervical vertibra upto the middle on back of the neck.

(f) Incised wound 2½" x ½" x bone deep on the left upper scapula region.

(g) Incised wound superficial x ½" x 1/8" on back of right leg in calf region.

(h) Incised wound 2½" x ½" x muscle deep on back of right leg x calf region 2" below from injury no. (h).

9. According to P.W.5 Dr. B. D. Mangal, the cause of death of Lakhan was shock and haemorrhage as a result of firearm injuries received by him in the occurrence.

10. The prosecution further claims that the accused surrendered before the Judicial Magistrate on 12.03.1985 and the Investigating Officer thereafter obtained the police custody of the accused from the said court for three days from 19.03.1985 to 21.03.1985. It is also alleged that the accused expressed their willingness to get the crime weapons namely country-made pistols and 'pharsa' which they had concealed in the bed of Betwa River near KHIRIA GHAT and Kripa Ram (A2) got the 'pharsa' (material Ext.9) recovered from the bed of the river which was seized and sealed by the Investigating Officer vide recovery memo (Ext.Ka.8) while no country-made pistols could be recovered on the pointing out of the other two accused including the appellants.

11. After completing the investigation, charge-sheet was filed by the Investigating Officer in the Court of Judicial Magistrate- IInd, Jhansi on 06.04.1985 against all the three accused who vide his committal order dated 19.04.1985 committed the case for trial to the Court of Sessions Judge, Jhansi where Case Crime No. 12 of 1985 was registered as S.T. No. 68 of 1985, State Versus Matadin and another, and made over for trial from there to the Court of Vth Additional Sessions Judge, Jhansi who on the basis of the evidence on record, framed charge against all the three accused u/s 302/34 I.P.C. in furtherance of their common intention. The accused abjured the charges framed against them and claimed trial.

12. The prosecution in order to prove the charge framed against the accused examined as many as seven witnesses of whom P.W.1 informant Motilal, P.W.2 Ram Narayan, P.W.3 Hari Om and P.W.4 Manohar were produced as witnesses of fact while P.W.5 Dr. B.D. Mangal, P.W.6 Raj Bahadur Singh and P.W.7 Subedar Singh were examined as formal witnesses.

13. The accused-appellants in their statements recorded u/s 313 Cr.P.C. denied the prosecution case and alleged false implication. They did not lead any evidence in defence.

14. Learned Vth Additional Sessions Judge, Jhansi by the impugned judgement and order, convicted both the appellants and sentenced them to imprisonment for life u/s 302/34 I.P.C. while co-accused Mehngu was acquitted.

15. Hence, this appeal.

16. It is contended by the learned counsel for the appellants that the so-called eye witnesses of the occurrence, P.W.2 Ram Narayan and P.W.3 Hari Om, cousin brother and son of the deceased and hence, highly interested in securing the conviction of surviving appellant Matadin @ Chapole (A1) for the murder of Lakhan but there are irreconcilable contradictions and inconsistencies in their statements which totally belie their claim of being the eye witnesses of the occurrence. The number of injuries found on the dead body of Lakhan by P.W.5 Dr. B.D. Mangal who had conducted the postmortem on the body of deceased Lakhan, do not in any manner corroborate the manner of assault as spelt out in the F.I.R. and later deposed by the two so-called eye witnesses of the occurrence. The very fact that the F.I.R. of the incident was lodged by the village Chaukidar P.W.1 informant Motilal and not either by P.W.2 Ram Narayan or P.W.3 Hari Om falsifies the prosecution case that the occurrence had taken place in their presence at the place mentioned in the F.I.R. Had the deceased been attacked by the accused in their presence, then there is no reason why the F.I.R. of the incident would not have been lodged either by P.W.2 Ram Narayan or P.W.3 Hari Om, son and cousin brother of the deceased. Moreover, from the perusal of the F.I.R. recitals itself it is apparent that P.W.1 informant Motilal had reached at the crime scene after the incident. The aforesaid circumstance supports the defence version that after some unknown persons had shot dead Lakhan who was an acknowledged anti-social element of the village after being brutally attacked by them and his dead body was discovered by P.W.1 informant Motilal, Chaukidar of the village, a false F.I.R. falsely implicating the surviving appellant Matadin @ Chapole (A1) and the other accused, was got prepared and lodged by P.W.1 who admittedly was not an eye witness of the incident at the behest of P.W.2 Ram Narayan and P.W.3 Hari Om. No explanation is forthcoming from the side of the prosecution that if the incident had taken place in the presence of several villagers, why no independent witness of the occurrence was examined and only P.W.2 Ram Narayan and P.W.3 Hari Om, cousin brother and son of the deceased whose presence at the place of incident at the time of the occurrence is extremely doubtful, were produced as witnesses of fact. Such being the state of evidence, neither the recorded conviction of the appellants nor the sentences awarded to them can be sustained and is liable to be set-aside.

17. Per contra Sri J. K. Upadhyay, learned A.G.A. appearing for the State submitted that it is proved to the hilt from the evidence of P.W.2 Ram Narayan and P.W.3 Hari Om, cousin brother and son of the deceased, that the deceased Lakhan died as a result of injuries inflicted on him by accused-appellants with country-made pistols and 'pharsa'. The medical evidence on record fully corroborates the ocular version. The failure of the P.W.2 Ram Narayan and P.W.3 Hari Om to lodge the F.I.R. of the incident which was anyway lodged promptly within 2½ hours of the occurrence by the P.W.1 informant Motilal, village chaukidar, leave no room for any deliberation or consultation, does not in any manner indicate that they had not witnessed the occurrence as they had given a correct and cogent description of the occurrence, assigning specific roles to all the three accused including the surviving appellant Matadin @ Chapole (A1). This appeal lacks merit and is liable to be dismissed.

18. We have heard learned counsel for the parties present and perused the entire lower court record very carefully.

19. The only question which arises for our consideration is that whether the prosecution has been able to prove its case against the accused-appellants beyond all reasonable doubts or not ?

20. Before proceeding to evaluate the evidence of the four witnesses of fact produced by the prosecution during the trial, we first propose to have a look at the evidence of the formal witnesses.

21. Dr. B.D. Mangal, Medical Officer who had conducted the postmortem on the dead body of Lakhan on 09.03.1985 in Primary Health Centre, Mauranipur was examined as P.W.5. He deposed that he had found various ante-mortem internal and external injuries of which we have already taken note hereinabove and opined that Lakhan had died within 24 hours of the postmortem examination on account of shock and haemorrhage as a result of firearm and other injuries sustained by him. He proved the postmortem report of the deceased as (Ext.Ka.2). From the evidence of P.W.5 Dr. B.D. Mangal, it is proved that Lakhan died a homicidal death. However, he in his cross-examination on page 68 of the paper book deposed that if the "pharsa' used was crescentric, the injury may be crescentric in shape. He further deposed that none of the injuries found were crescentric in shape.

22. P.W.6 Raj Bahadur Singh, deposed before the trial court that about two years and nine months before at about 9 a.m. while he was going from Modi crossing with one Alam towards the market in Gursarain, he had met one Daroga who was sitting in a jeep which was parked before the police station with 2-3 accused sitting on it. He had stopped them and asked them to listen to what the accused were saying. Accused Kripa Ram (A2) who was present in the Court had told that he had thrown the 'pharsa' in the river. The remaining two accused who were also present in the Court had stated before them that they had also thrown their country-made pistols in the river. Then the Daroga Ji asked him and Alam to sit in the jeep and took them to the place on the bank of the river where the accused had concealed their weapons. He further deposed that Kripa Ram (A2) walked into the river bed and came out with a 'pharsa'. The other two accused tried to search their country-made pistols in the river bed but the same could not be recovered. He proved his signature on the recovery memo of the 'pharsa' (Ext.Ka.3).

23. S.O. Subedar Singh, the Investigating Officer of the case, was examined as P.W.7. He in his statement made before the trial court narrated the various steps taken by him during the course of investigation. He proved the inquest report (Ext.Ka.4) of the deceased, recovery memo of empty and live cartridges (Ext.Ka.5), recovery memo of blood-stained and simple earth (Ext.Ka.6), site plan of the place of occurrence (Ext.Ka.7), recovery memo of 'pharsa' on the pointing out of surviving appellant Matadin @ Chapole (A1) and the site plan of the place of recovery of 'pharsa' (Ext.Ka.9) and the charge-sheet (Ext.Ka.10). He proved the plain and blood-stained earth produced during the trial as material (Ext.10 and 11), check F.I.R. which was in the handwriting and signature of Head Constable Jagdish Awasthi (Ext.Ka.11), original copy of the relevant G.D. Entry which was prepared vide rapat no. 14 time 4 p.m. dated 08.03.1985 was prepared by Head Constable Jagdish Awasthi as (Ext.Ka.12), P.W.7 S.O. Subedar Singh also proved the criminal history of the appellant Lakhan and deposed that he was currently involved in Case Crime No. 89/87 u/s 396 I.P.C., P.S.- Gursarain, Case Crime No. 79/78 u/s 395, 397 I.P.C., P.S.- Uldan, Case Crime No. 3/79 u/s 395, 397 I.P.C., P.S.- Uldan, Case Crime No. 95/80 u/s 399, 402 I.P.C., P.S.- Uldan and Case Crime No. 42/81 u/s 325, 323 I.P.C., P.S.- Uldan while he had been acquitted in the rest of the cases. He also deposed that he did not find any blood on the platform in the north of the house of Rati Ram where the deceased was allegedly sitting and singing Holi songs.

24. From the evidence of P.W.7 S.O. Subedar Singh, the Investigating Officer of the case, it is proved that no blood was found on the platform in the northern part of the house where as per the prosecution case, he had been shot by Mehngu and Kripa Ram (A2) from their country-made pistols.

25. Having scrutinized the evidence of formal witnesses, we now proceed to evaluate the evidence of three witnesses of fact produced by the prosecution during the trial.

26. P.W.1 informant Motilal who was the village chaukidar had deposed that at the time of the incident, he was in his house. On hearing the noise, he went to the place of incident which had taken place at about 1.30 p.m. When he had reached there, the persons who were singing Holi songs, had fled. P.W.3 Hari Om had told him about the incident. The written report of the incident was scribed by P.W.4 Manohar on his dictation. He proved the written report of the incident as (Ext.Ka.1). He further deposed that when he had reached the place of occurrence, he had found P.W.2 Ram Narayan and P.W.3 Hari Om present there. He admitted in his cross-examination that the deceased was a history sheeter.

27. P.W.4 Manohar, scribe of the F.I.R., stated before the the trial court that he had scribed the written report of the incident (Ext.Ka.1) on the dictation of P.W.1 informant Motilal. He further has not deposed about the presence of P.W.2 Ram Narayan and P.W.3 Hari Om at the place of the incident when he was scribing the F.I.R. on the dictation of P.W.1 informant Motilal.

28. It is very strange that although P.W.2 Ram Narayan and P.W.3 Hari Om claim themselves to be the eye witnesses of the occurrence but no explanation is coming forth why the written report of the incident was written by P.W.4 Manohar on the dictation of P.W.1 informant Motilal. In the natural course, if the deceased had been killed in the presence of P.W.2 Ram Narayan and P.W.3 Hari Om, who were the cousin brother and son of the deceased, the written report of the incident would have been scribed either on the dictation of P.W.2 Ram Narayan and P.W.3 Hari Om who had seen the incident and not on the dictation of P.W.1 informant Motilal who deposed that whatever he had stated in the written report was narrated to him by P.W.2 Ram Narayan or P.W.3 Hari Om. The prosecution has failed to pin-point any reason for the written report of the incident having not been scribed on the dictation of either P.W.1 informant Motilal or P.W.3 Hari Om. The very fact that the written report of the incident was written by P.W.4 Manohar on the dictation of P.W.1 informant Motilal is in itself a very material circumstance which belies their claim of being the eye witness of the occurrence.

29. Moreover, after going through the statements of P.W.2 Ram Narayan and P.W.3 Hari Om, we have found that there is a material contradiction in their statements with regard to which of the two accused, Mehngu or deceased Kripa Ram (A2) had fired at the deceased first, who had stated on oath that on the date of the incident at the relevant time, some of the residents of village- Atarsua had gathered in front of the house of the Rati Ram of the same village to celebrate Holi festival and was singing Holi (phag) songs while P.W.2 Ram Narayan, P.W.3 Hari Om, Nand Ram, Damodar etc. were enjoying the songs. Both the above so-called eye witnesses had also deposed that Matadin @ Chapole (A1) and Mehngu armed with country-made pistols and Kripa Ram (A2) armed with 'pharsa' suddenly arrived at the scene of the incident. P.W.2 Ram Narayan stated in his examination-in-chief as well as in paragraph 18 of his cross-examination that Mehngu had fired the first shot at the deceased which had hit him and thereafter, Matadin @ Chapole (A1) had shot Lakhan which had also hit him. After being shot by the country-made pistols, Lakhan tried to run away but Mehngu caught hold of him while deceased Kripa Ram (A2) inflicted injuries on his person by 'pharsa' on his head, neck and other parts of the body while P.W.3 Hari Om stated before the Court that when on 08.03.1985 at about 1.30-2.00 p.m., he was standing in front of the door of Rati Ram's house and listening to the Holi songs, Matadin @ Chapole (A1), deceased Kripa Ram (A2) and accused Mehngu had committed the murder of his father Lakhan. The incident had taken place in front of the house of Rati Ram on the platform in front of the door of the house of Rati Ram. Matadin @ Chapole (A1) had fired the first shot at the deceased with his country-made pistol which had hit the deceased on his head. The second shot fired by accused Mehngu had missed the target. Deceased Kripa Ram (A2) and Mehngu had then caught hold of the deceased Lakhan by his waist when he had got up after being shot after the second shot which was fired by Matadin @ Chapole (A1) had hit his father Lakhan on his head. Then Kripa Ram (A2) inflicted injuries on his father by 'pharsa'. His father died on the spot.

30. P.W.2 Ram Narayan however in paragraph 19 of his cross-examination resiled from his statement given by him in his examination-in-chief as well as in paragraph 18 of his cross-examination by deposing in paragraph 19 of his cross-examination that the first shot fired by Mehngu had failed to hit Lakhan and thereupon Mehngu fired a second shot which hit the deceased on his head.

31. Similarly, although the initial version of the incident as narrated by P.W.3 Hari Om in his examination-in-chief was the first shot fired by Mehngu had not hit Lakhan's head (paragraph 1 of his examination-in-chief). However, he tried to bring his testimony in consonance with the version of the incident given by P.W.2 Ram Narayan by stating in paragraph 18 of his cross-examination that Mehngu's shot had also hit Lakhan's head, the fact which was conspicuous by its absence in his statement recorded u/s 161 Cr.P.C.

32. The aforesaid discrepancies in the statements of P.W.2 Ram Narayan and P.W.3 Hari Om, in our opinion, are sufficient to discard the evidence of P.W.2 Ram Narayan and P.W.3 Hari Om. There is only one firearm wound of entry with two corresponding exit wounds of firearm on deceased's body. The question which arises for our consideration is that how the above noted discrepancies could have crept into the statements of P.W.2 Ram Narayan and P.W.3 Hari Om when admittedly the incident had taken place in broad daylight and both the witnesses claim themselves to be the eye witnesses of the occurrence.

33. The presence of P.W.2 Ram Narayan and P.W.3 Hari Om at the place of the incident at the time of the occurrence further stands belied from the fact that none of them were made inquest witnesses.

34. Thus, considering the fact that the written report of the incident was neither scribed on the dictation of P.W.2 Ram Narayan nor by P.W.3 Hari Om or given at the police station by them for which no explanation is forthcoming from the side of the prosecution and the irreconcilable discrepancy in the statements of P.W.2 Ram Narayan and P.W.3 Hari Om, the two so-called eye witnesses of the occurrence with regard to the manner of assault to which we have already referred and dealt with in detail hereinabove, we cannot believe their claim of being present at the scene of the occurrence. Apart from the aforesaid, both P.W.2 Ram Narayan and P.W.3 Hari Om are cousin brother and son of the deceased and as such, highly interested witnesses. There is no doubt that it now stands well-settled that evidence of eye witnesses who are closely related to the deceased can neither be discarded nor disbelieved on account of close relationship of such witnesses with the deceased but it is equally true that the evidence of a witness who is related to the deceased, is to be scrutinized with utmost caution and if the Court, after a careful appraisal of his evidence, finds that he has given a correct and cogent description of the incident, in that case, his evidence cannot be discarded merely on the ground of his being a relative of the deceased. In this regard, it would be useful to refer to the following authorities laid down by the Apex Court :-

reported in 2012 (77) ACC 209, has observed in paragraph no. 19 referring to the case of Namdeo Vs. State of Maharashtra reported in 2007 (58) ACC 414 (52) = 2007 (54) AIC 162, that this Court drew a clear distinction between a chance witness and a natural witness. Both these witnesses have to be relied upon subject to their evidence being trustworthy and admissible in accordance with law.

36. In Chand Khan Vs. State of U.P., reported in 1995 ACC 685 (SC), it was observed that minor discrepancies in evidence of eye-witnesses who have given convincing and reliable evidence with regard to details and manner of assault will not affect their evidentiary value. Absence or insufficiency of motive is immaterial if the incident is proved by evidence of eye witnesses.

37. Hon'ble Supreme Court in Waman and others Vs. State of Maharashtra reported in 2011 Crl. L.J. 4827 has observed in paragraph no. 9 which reads as follows:

"In Balraje @ Trimbak Vs. State of Maharashtra, reported in 2010 (70) ACC 12 (SC) = 2010 (90) AIC 32, this Court held that mere fact that the witnesses were related to the deceased cannot be a ground to discard their evidence. It was further held that when the eye-witnesses are stated to be interested and inimically disposed towards the accused, it has to be noted that it would not be proper to conclude that they would shield the real culprit and rope in innocent persons. The truth or otherwise of the evidence has to be weighed pragmatically and the court would be required to analyse the evidence of related witnesses and those witnesses who are inimically disposed toward the accused. After saying so, this Court held that if after careful analysis and scrutiny of their evidence, the version given by the witnesses appears to be clear, cogent and credible, there is no reason to discard the same."

38. It has been further observed in Waman (supra) that relationship cannot be a factor to affect the credibility of a witness. The evidence of a witness cannot be discarded solely on the ground of his relationship with the victim of the offence. The plea relating to relatives' evidence remains without any substance in case the evidence has credence and it can be relied upon. In such a case the defence has to lay foundation if plea of false implication is made and the court has to analyse evidence of related witnesses carefully to find out whether it is cogent and credible. The same view has been reiterated in State of U.P. Vs. Naresh and others reported in 2011 (75) ACC 215 (SC) = 2011 (106) AIC 76 (SC).

39. In the present case, since after a threadbare scrutiny and a thorough evaluation of the evidence of P.W.2 Ram Narayan and P.W.3 Hari Om, we have found that there are contradictions and discrepancies in their statements with regard to the manner of assault which cannot be ignored as being trivial or attributed to errors in perception driving from the senses or lapse of memory and hence, we do not find it safe at all to maintain the recorded conviction of Matadin @ Chapole (A1) on the basis of their evidence. It has come on the record that apart from P.W.2 Ram Narayan and P.W.3 Hari Om, the incident was witnessed by a large number of independent witnesses but none of them including one Rati Ram, in front of whose house, the murder of Lakhan was committed, was examined during the trial.

40. The prosecution has miserably failed to adduce any evidence linking the 'pharsa' allegedly recovered on the pointing out of Kripa Ram (A2) from the river bed with the commission of the murder of the deceased. The 'pharsa' admittedly was not sent to the forensic lab for chemical examination. Similarly, blood allegedly recovered from the place where the deceased had fallen after being shot while he was sitting on the platform and the empty cartridges allegedly recovered from the place of incident were not sent for chemical examination.

41. The different dimensions of the incised wounds noted by P.W.5 Dr. B. D. Mangal on the deceased's body clearly suggest use of not one but several sharp-edged weapons in inflicting incised wounds on the deceased's body, thus totally nullifying the prosecution theory that the injuries sustained by the deceased were caused by the "pharsa' allegedly recovered on the pointing out of Kripa Ram (A2).

42. There is another very strange aspect of the matter. Along with appellants before us, one Mehngu was also charge-sheeted and tried for the charge u/s 302/34 I.P.C. The role assigned to him by P.W.2 Ram Narayan was that he had fired the first shot at the deceased which had hit him and thereafter he had caught hold of the deceased along with Matadin @ Chapole (A1) while Kripa Ram (A2) had inflicted injuries on him with 'pharsa'. According to P.W.3 Hari Om, the shot fired by him at the deceased had missed him. The trial court however strangely proceeded to acquit Mehngu and convicted Kripa Ram (A2) on the same set of evidence. The learned trial Judge has failed to assign any reason for disbelieving the evidence of two eye witnesses qua Matadin @ Chapole (A1) while relying upon the same for the purpose of convicting Kripa Ram (A2).

43. Thus, upon a wholesome consideration of the facts of the case, attending circumstances and the evidence on record, we do not find that the prosecution has been able to prove its case against the surviving appellant Matadin @ Chapole (A1) beyond all reasonable doubts and he is entitled to benefit of doubt.

44. The appeal succeeds and is accordingly allowed.

45. Matadin @ Chapole (A1) is on bail. He need not surrender. His bail bonds are cancelled and his sureties discharged. However, he shall comply with the provisions of Section 437-A of Cr.P.C.

46. There shall however, be no order as to costs.

A. Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Sections 302 read with section 34 IPC, 120B IPC -criminal appeal - Code of criminal procedure, 1973 - Section 313 - Examination of accused persons - offered no explanation to negative the chain of circumstances pointing towards the guilt of the accused persons- Statement under section 161 Cr.P.C -The first information report is not an encyclopaedia to give each and every details-Minor contradictions cannot be taken to be a ground to reject the testimony of the prosecutions witnesses of facts- consideration of circumstantial evidence - circumstances forms a complete chain that in all human probability the crimes were committed by the accused appellants and none else - Law does not require to the prosecution to prove the existence of motive and probability of the accused having committed the crime -appellants sentenced for life imprisonment under section 302 of IPC. (Para 36,46 & 55)

B. Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 27, 134 & 106 - When an offence like murder is committed in the secrecy inside a house, the initial burden to establish the case would undoubtedly be upon the prosecution - burden on the inmates of the house to give cogent explanation as to how the crime was committed -The testimony of the prosecution witnesses fully supports the prosecution case and they have no motive to make false statement against the accused-appellants - evidence must be weighed and not counted - Medical evidence (postmortem report) fully corroborates the prosecution version as well as the testimony of the prosecution witnesses. The blood-stained weapon of offence and recovery of articles at the time of arrest of the accused persons on their disclosure statement made by them is admissible under section 27 of the Evidence Act. Merely because the other accused who was named by the prosecution has been acquitted by giving benefit of doubt would not make the evidence of the witnesses totally untrustworthy. (Para 42 & 46)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Naheed Ara Moonis J.)

1. Since both the accused appellants have been convicted and sentenced vide order dated 8.7.2014 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge Court No.10 Muzaffar Nagar,hence these appeals have been heard together and are being decided by a common order.

2. These criminal appeals have been preferred on behalf of the accused-appellants against the impugned judgment and order dated 8/9-7-2014 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 10 Muzaffar Nagar whereby the accused-appellants have been convicted and sentenced to serve out life imprisonment with fine of Rs. 25,000/- in Sessions Trial No. 382 of 1982 (State vs. Sheela @ Sushila and others) under Sections 302 read with section 34 IPC, Police Station Hastinapur District Meerut .In default of payment of fine, they have to undergo imprisonment for a period of three months.

3. The emanation of facts giving rise to the prosecution in a short conspectus is that a first information report was lodged on 22.6.1982 at about 6.20 a.m. with respect to the incident occurred at night on 21/22-6-1982 with the allegation that the complainant heard shrill and shriek of his brother's wife in the morning on 22nd June 1982 at about 5.00 a.m. Being thunder-struck and panicky the complainant, his elder brother Mahesh and other family members rushed towards the room of Ramesh where they saw the dead body of his brother Ramesh lying on the cot. The blood was oozing from his mouth.There were marks of a number of injuries on the person of Ramesh. Ramesh was done to death at any time in the night. On the basis of tip off of the complainant (Ashok Kumar Singhal), an FIR was registered against unknown persons at police station Medical District Meerut vide Case Crime No. 170 of 1982 under section 302 IPC.

4. After lodging of the FIR, the investigating officer S.I. Sudarashan Chandra Katoch (P.W.12) swung into action and recorded the statement of the complainant and the witnesses. He got the copy of the FIR entered in the case diary. He reached at the place of incident i.e. residence of deceased Ramesh, Mohalla Madho Nagar, Meerut. He prepared the site plan which is marked as Ext. Ka.14. After conducting the requisite formalities, Panchayatnama of corpse was prepared on the same day in accordance with the procedure prescribed which was marked as Ext.Ka.15. Thereafter, the copy of chik, copy of report, photo lash, challan lash, report R.I., report C.M.O. and sample seal along with sealed dead body was sent to the mortuary for the autopsy. The aforesaid papers were marked as Ext.Ka.16 to 19. The investigating officer prepared the questions to be asked from the Medical Officer which was marked as Ext.Ka.20. At the instance of accused Haroon he prepared the recovery memo of blood stained Pant and towel from the shop which was marked as Ext.Ka.4. On 23.6.1982, arrested accused Sheela from her house and was interrogated. At her instance a screw driver was recovered in the presence of witnesses exhibited as Ext.12. Site plan with regard to recovery of Screw Driver was marked as Ext.Ka. 21. One piece of blood stained rod recovered at the instance of accused Rahimuddin exhibited as Ka.4 of which memo was prepared as Ext.Ka.5. The site plan of recovery of iron rod was prepared which was marked as Ext.Ka.22 . Constable CP 710 Rameshwar Singh associated with S.I.Suresh Chandra were present at the place of occurrence. After Panchayatnama ,the corpse of Ramesh Chand was handed over to them with relevant papers for autopsy. Autopsy of deceased Ramesh was conducted on 23.6.1982 by P.W.10 Dr.S.K.Tyagi, Medical Officer, P.S.Sharma Hospital Meerut. The investigating officer after completing all the necessary formalities and collecting the credible and clinching evidence against the accused appellants Sheela and Irfran, and co-accused Rahimuddin and Haroon submitted the charge sheet under sections 302/120B IPC.

5. The case was initially committed by the learned Chief Judicial Magistrate Meerut but was later on transferred to the VIth Additional Sessions Judge Meerut for trial.

6. The learned trial judge after hearing the prosecution as well as the defence and also after providing the necessary documents to the accused appellant and the co-accused persons framed charges against them under Section 302/34/120B IPC. The charges framed against the appellants and the co-accused persons were read over and explained to them. All the accused persons adjured the charges and claimed to be tried hence the prosecution was called upon to lead the evidence.

7. In order to prove guilt of the accused persons, the prosecution had examined the complainant Ashok Kumar (PW-1), Mahendra Giri (PW-2), Suresh Chandra Singhal (PW-3), Babu Lal Sharma (PW-4), Mahesh Chandra (PW-5), Pradeep Kumar (PW-6), Ram Karan (PW-7) Constable Kanhaiya Lal (P.W.8), Prakash Chand (P.W.9), Dr.S.K.Tyagi (P.W.10), Constable Subhash Chand (P.W.11), S.I. Sudarshan Chandra (P.W.12) and Constable Rameshwar Singh (PW-13) All the prosecution witnesses had supported the prosecution case.

8. After examining the prosecution evidence, the accused appellants namely Sheela and Irfan and the co-accused Rahimuddin and Haroon were examined under section 313 Cr.P.C. and in their statement, they denied all the charges levelled against them and pleaded for innocence. The accused persons pleaded that they have been falsely implicated in the present case on account of suspicion and personal vengeance. The accused appellant Sheela in her statement divulged that she was on duty in the nursing home on the fateful night of 21/22.6.1982. Kaushal Kumar an employee of Nandan Cinema Meerut was examined as D.W.1.

9. Since the accused Haroon was declared juvenile by the Principal Judge, Juvenile Justice Board , Muzaffar Nagar hence his trial was separated vide order dated 5.4.2014. The learned trial Judge, Muzaffar Nagar upon appreciation and appraisal of material evidence on record held that the prosecution has failed to prove evidence against Rahim Uddin under section 302 read with section 34 and section 120B IPC. The learned Addl. Additional Sessions Judge, (Court No.10) held the appellants Sheela and Irfan guilty for the murder of Ramesh whereby they were convicted and sentenced under Section 302/34 IPC to serve out life imprisonment along with fine of Rs. 25,000/-. In case of default, they were directed to serve out additional sentence of three months. Both the accused appellants were acquitted of the charge of section 120B IPC. Since the prosecution had not provided any evidence against accused Rahimuddin, he was acquitted from the charge under section 302/34/120B IPC. His bonds and sureties were discharged.

10. In support of prosecution case, the prosecution has examined Ashok

Kumar Sanghal son of Kailash Narain as PW 1. In his testimony, Ashok Kumar deposed that he is well aware about the miscreants present in Court namely Mohd. Irfan, Rahimuddin ,Haroon and Sheela. Accused Sheela is the wife of his brother Ramesh (deceased).Accused Haroon and Rahimuddin were doing the work of mechanic with accused Irfan. Irfan has developed illicit carnal relation with accused Sheela. Accused Irfan was running a shop in contiguous to his house. Accused Irfan had taken on rent on rent a shop in the house of the complainant (P.W.1). He had also taken a room on rent in the house of Ramesh. Ramesh is the elder brother of the complainant. The house of the complainant (P.W.1) and Mahesh are adjoining . The main gate of the house of Ramesh was opening towards road in the western side. A door of that house was opening in the back side towards lane. He had seen his Bhabhi Sheela reading and writing. He can easily identify her writings. It was crucial day of 22.6.1982 at about 5.00 a.m. in the morning, he was sleeping in the Verandah of his house . He heard panic-stricken voice of lamentation & bemonaning of Sheela (appellant).The complainant,his brother Mahesh and other family members reached there at the place of occurrence. The complainant (P.W.1) saw the corpse of his brother lying on the cot. The deceased Ramesh had sustained fatal injuries. The fan was moving. The deceased Ramesh had worn blue linear underwear which was soaked with blood. Rigor mortis was present on the corpse and there was blue mark around the neck. A number of persons of the locality namely Natthoo Lal, Mahinder Giri , Baboo Ram , Satya Prakash and other arrived there. The accused Sheela had strained and acrimonious relation with her husband (Ramesh deceased). The brother of the compainant namely Ramesh used to thrash his wife (Sheela) occasionally on account of illicit corporal relation with Irfan. There had been scuffling between Ramesh and his wife (Sheela) in the morning on 19.6.1982. Just after half or quarter to half hour Irfan appeared and uttered that he would not spare any person who would try to put spokes on their relations whosoever may be inclusive of her husband. The paper written by Sheela which was marked as Ext.Ka.1 and the paper which was written by accused Irfan were proved by the complainant (P.W.1). The report of the murder was given by the complainant (P.W.1) which was in his writing and signature. The paper written by the complainant marked as Ex.Ka.3 was duly proved. The accused Sheela used to sleep with his brother (Ramesh) in the room. The cot on which dead body was lying had a blank sheet, two pillows. Both the pillows were saturated with blood.

11. During cross examination condition of the deceased was neither disclosed in the FIR nor was communicated to the Station Officer. There was no mention in the first information report with regard to clothes and cot.He did neither disclose the factum of sleeping in room with Sheela (accused) in the FIR nor to the station officer concerned. The marriage of Irfan (co-accused) was solemnized prior to 8 to 10 days. The complainant (P.W.1) had relation with Irfan (co-accused) as tenant. The complainant (P.W.1) and his brother Mahesh had attended his marriage. The marriage of Irfan (co-accused) was performed at Unchauli. The complainant was doing the work of Munshi prior to 1 & 1'1/2 years but he denied that he was doing the work of Munshi with Gajendra Singh Dhama. Mahesh (P.W.5) was doing the work at Kutcheri (civil court).His father and uncle were also doing the work at Kutcheri (civil court). On 19.6.1982, Ramesh had thrashed Sheela (accused) for attending the marriage of Irfan. On the persuation of his mother, the complainant had gone at the residence of Irfan but looking the presence of Sheela ,he came back. The place where dead body was lying was in the tenancy of Irfan (co-accused). Since Ramesh was the owner of that room hence it was mentioned in the first information report. When the complainant came back after lodging the first information report, Babu Lal Sharma (P.W.4) met him outside the room. The name of father of Mahendra Giri (P.W.2) is Lakhpat. His house is adjoining to the shop of Irfan (accused appellant). The father of the complainant (P.W.1) had got published in the news paper prior to murder of Ramesh that the demeanour and conduct of Ramesh was not fair. This fact was disclosed by his mother. His father had written will deed in favour of his mother. It was incorporated in the will deed by his father that after his death, the property left by his will be inherited by the complainant and his brother Mahesh (P.W.5). It was not remembered to the complainant as to whether the portion in which Ramesh and Sheela used to live was constructed prior to executing will deed or thereafter. The father of the complainant had expired prior to six years of the incident. The portion in which Ramesh (deceased) and Sheela (accused) used to live was taken into possession by the complainant's mother. The accused appellant Sheela used to work in Manjula Nursing Home adjoining to the home during the course of that period. The complainant (P.W.1) showed his ignorance as to whether Sheela (accused) used to work in that nursing home at night. The complainant used to meet Ramesh (deceased) frequently. The complainant went to lodge the report with his brother Mahesh (P.W.5) and Raj Kumar. He reached at the police station ast 6.15 a.m. and the police personnel came at the spot at about 7.00 a.m.Satya Prakash Tyagi and Mahendra were tenant in the house of the complainant. The portion of the house where the complainant was sleeping,its door was opening towards west. The door of the house of complainant was not opening towards the house of Ramesh. There was a window in between the house of the complainant and Ramesh but that window was not being used for ventilation. The tenant had also reached there. The police personnel remained present near the dead body of Ramesh upto 11.15 a.m. It was asserted by the complainant that there was illicit carnal relation between Sheela and Irfan. The complainant deposed that Ext.Ka.1 was not written before him. He had not seen that letter earlier. Nobody had come to collect money from Sheela borrowed by Ramesh. There was cordial and congenial relation between Ramesh and the complainant. Irfan used to repair light of the motor and charge battery. Shop is in the name of Jalaluddin on rent of Rs.50/- who is tenant since childhood.There was no dispute between Irfan and Jalal Uddin for getting the shop vacated. Rahim Uddin was doing the repairing of the tractor. He also used to work as electrician at the shop of Irfan. When threat was extended by Irfan to eliminate Ramesh, his mother ,Mahendra ,Natthoo and other persons of the locality were present. At that moment about 10-15 persons were there. The complainant showed his ignorance with respect to

Ext.Ka.2. portraying second of wife of Irfan. He did not certify the photo taken at the marriage of Irfan. The complainant (P.W.1) had come back prior to reciting the Nikah at about 11/12 "O"clock. He did not have any information as to whether the girl with whom marriage of Irfan was performed was within the access of Sheela. He proved similarity between Ext.Kha2 and Ka.2. In Ext.Ka.3 Irfan and Sheela were shown side by side. Irfan was wearing the cloths of groom. In Ext.Kha.4, the picture of Irfan has been delineated. Probably, the lady was the same which was delineated in Ex.Ka.2. The invitation card which was printed for the marriage of his sister was proved as Ext.Ka.5. In that invitation card, the name of Ramesh (deceased) was elucidated. There is no member of his family in Ext.Ka.6. He disowned that he had falsely implicated them on account of litigation. It was also divulged that the room of the house was rented to Irfan in the intervening period of one & half to two years earlier. The possession of the room rented to Irfan was taken by the mother of the complainant after 8-9 months of the incident of murder. At the crucial period of murder of Ramesh, some glasses and clothes were lying inside the room of which photo was taken by the station officer concerned. The complainant asserted with respect to presence of Irfan in that room. The complainant was associated with his brother Mahesh (P.W.5) upto coming back from the police station concerned. The dead body was sent at about 10.15 a.m. on rickshaw. Mahesh (P.W.5) went on motor cycle. Irfan was tenant in the room of Ramesh. Sheela had illicit corporal relation with Ramesh. There is no intention of implicating Irfan with an oblique design of getting the room vacated.

12. Mahendra Giri was examined as P.W.2. In his statement on 24.9,86 averred that his house is in the adjoining of Ashok (P.W.1) and Mahesh (P.W.5). He was well aware about the identity of accused persons namely Haroon, Rahimuddin, Irfan and Sheela. Sheela is the widow of Ramesh (deceased). Haroon and Rahimuddin used to work with Irfan. His shop was situated in the vicinity of his house. Haroon and Rahimuddin did not stay at the shop in night. It was the incident prior to four to four and half years, he came to know in the morning about murder. The miscreants Irfan and Haroon were coming back from the house of Sheela at about 12.15 in the night. The accused persons were not present at the shop on the fateful day of occurrence. He had seen the dead body of Ramesh to whom a number of injuries were inflicted.

13. In his cross examination he deposed that he was sleeping outside the house. He had seen from the distance of 5 to 7 paces that the miscreants were going. The distance from the shop of Irfan was about 8 to 10 paces. His shop was adjacent to the shop of Irfan . Irfan had small shop. The door of the shop of Mahendra Giri (P.W.2) and Irfan was opening towards east. He (P.W.2) was taking rest after urination. He had shown the place of his sleeping and the place of departing of miscreants. He could not put forth any reason as to why it has not been demonstrated in the map. He was well aware about the miscreants. Their names were disclosed to the station officer concerned. He could not advance any reason why it was omitted. When he reached near the dead body of Ramesh at about 5.30 a.m., Ashok (P.W.1) Mahesh (P.W.5) and Banwari were present. He had gone at the house of Ramesh at about 4.30 p.m. at the call of Station Officer concerned. At that moment, police personnel were present there. The station officer concerned was present in front of room of Sheela (accused appellant). The dead body of Ramesh arrived after 2/3 days at about 2 to 2.30 p.m. He remained at his shop on the fateful day of murder from 7.30 to 8.00 a.m. and 7.30 to 8. p.m. It was disclosed by him that Dhama Advocate, had been looking after his cases for the last 5 to 7 years. Ashok (P.W.1) had been clerk of Mr. Dhama Advocate. It was also divulged by him that Rahimuddin is servant at the shop of Irfan (accused).

14. The prosecution had examined Suresh Chandra Singhal as P.W.3. He stated on oath that on 23.6.82 at about 1.30 p.m. he was sitting at the outer portion of house of his Tau. Yogesh, Ashok (P.W.1) ,Bhagat, Banwari Lal and Babu Ram were also sitting there. Haroon and Rahimuddin were brought there in the custody of police personnel. It was unfolded by the police that both the miscreants namely Haroon and Raimuddin would make recovery of the weapons inclusive of clothes used in the murder of Ramesh. Both the miscreants were interrogated by him (P.W.3), they answered in affirmative. The miscreant Haroon went ahead, P.W.3 Suresh Chandra and others proceeded behind the police personnel. The lock of the shop of Irfan (accused) was opened by Haroon. He took out a dirty Khaki pant from the plywood makeshift roof which was saturated with blood. A torn towel was taken out from the cannister filled with black oil. Both the articles were sealed by the station officer concerned in different bundle. He (Suresh Chandra Singhal-P.W.3) and Yogesh had put their signatures on the Fard which was marked as Ext.Ka.4. The accused Rahimuddin went ahead and entered in the shop. He took out an iron axle from the rack of table. The fard of the recovered article was prepared and was duly signed by him and Yogesh which was marked as Ext.Ka.4. The recovered rod was put under seal cover and was also signed by him. Haroon was the servant of Irfan. Both were present in the court. On 21.6.1982, the P.W.3 Suresh Chandra Singhal and the son of his Tau,Mahesh were coming back after looking picture. They saw Irfan and Haroon coming from their shop. When they were at the distance of 5 to 7 paces, Mahesh said to Irfan to have a cup of tea. Irfan did not show his willingness on the pretext of going to village. Iran and Haroon were highly disturbed. They proceeded towards the Hapur stand. After some time Haroon came back and proceeded towards the shop of Irfan. He (P.W.3) and Mahesh returned to their house. Next day at about 5.30 a.m. He (P.W.3) was sleeping inside his house. His father shouted that someone had done to death to Ramesh in the night . He (P.W.3) immediately rushed towards the house of Kailash Narain. Sheela (accused appellant) was lamenting and bemoaning outside of the house. The corpse of Ramesh was lying on the cot in the room. There were multiple injuries on his person. There was blue mark on the neck. On that crucial date, Irfan, Rahimuddin and Haroon did not come at the shop. The shop was closed. He (P.W.3) remained present there upto 6'1/2 'O' clock till then neither they (accused persons) came nor the shop was opened. He reached near to the deceased Ramesh at about 5.00 a.m. and remained there till 6.30 a.m. When he (Suresh Chandra Singhal-P.W.3) reached at the place of occurrence, Mahesh ,Ashok, Natthoo were present there. Mahesh s/o Lakhpat was also present there. The shop of Mahesh s/o Lakhpat was opened on the fateful day. The miscreants were arrested by the police personnel on 23.6.1982. The key of lock which was opened by Haroon was closed by police personnel and was given to Haroon. They remained present at the shop of Irfan about one hour. The panchayatnama of Ramesh was done before him. The house of Ramesh is at a distance of 400 yards from the tea shop of Bhure and 100 yards from his house. He proved the presence of Irfan and Haroon.

15. The prosecution has examined Baboo Lal Sharma as P.W.4. He stated on oath with regard to murder of Ramesh in June 1982. He had gone at the place of occurrence. The dead body of Ramesh was lying on the cot. The police personnel had come and had taken into custody the pillow etc. The articles taken by the police were marked as Ext.Ka.8 to 11. He had proved his signature on Ext.Ka.6. Next day, Sheela (accused) had supplied screw driver which was marked as Ext.Ka.12. The screw driver recovered by the police personnel was saturated with blood. It was affirmed that the said screw driver was used in the commission of murder. Sheela went ahead. She opened the lock and door. The screw driver was wrapped in the cloth and the fard of which was prepared and marked as Ext.Ka.7.He had proved his signature on Fard Ext.Ka.7. Next day, the children of Sheela had left the house.

16. In his cross examination he deposed that he had reached at the place of occurrence at about 5.30 a.m.The police personnel were not present there. Mahesh, Ashok, Banwari and Suresh were present there. He could not mind as to whether Mahendra was present there or not.Sheela (accused appellant) was present there.,He came back after 2 to 4 minutes. He again went at about 8.30 a.m.The dead body of Ramesh was lying on the cot. The dead body was not sealed. He had again gone at 10.30 a.m.The dead body of Ramesh was sent at that time. He came back at about 6 to 6.30 p.m.Next day, police was not present there. Recovery was made at about 11.30 a.m. There was gathering on 23.6.1982 then he was also present there. One police constable called him by indication. The Station officer concerned, P.W.4 Babu Lal Sharma and Sheela entered inside the room. The station officer concerned came back taking the screw driver. The screw driver used in the said crime was marked as Ext. Ka.11. The entire process was completed at the place of occurrence. The house of P.W.4 Babu Lal Sharma and Mahesh was in front of each other. The house of the deceased Ramesh is situated at Hapur road.

17. The prosecution has examined Mahesh Chandra as P.W.5. He stated on oath that he is well aware about the identity of the accused persons. Haroon and Rahimuddin used to come to Irfan. Sheela is the wife of his brother, Ramesh. In one portion Ramesh used to live, one portion of that house was given on rent to Irfan. Sheela and Irfan had illicit physical relation. He heard shriek and scream of wife of Ramesh (Sheela) on 22.6.82 at about 5.00 a.m. He in the company of his wife, Ashok Kumar (P.W.1) and mother went inside the room of Ramesh (deceased). Sheela was lamenting on the door step of the room of Irfan. The dead body of Ramesh who was wearing linear half pant was lying on the cot in the room.

Blood was clotted on the face. There were multiple injuries. One pillow was placed below the head and one beneath the leg. Both the pillows were saturated with blood. The children of Ramesh were not present there. They came out seeing the deceased Ramesh. The condition of his mother deteriorated. She was consoled. At about 5.30 a.m. he (P.W.5), Ashok and Rajkumar went at the police station concerned for lodging the first information report. Ashok (P.W.1) handed over the report of the incident to the Moharrir. On 21.6.82, he (P.W.5) and Suresh went to see picture, while returning they were taking tea and saw Haroon and Irfan were coming back from their shop. When they came near to them, they offered to have a cup of tea. Irfan was confounded and perplexed. He showed his hurriness. After sometime Haroon came there and moved towards his shop. There was illicit corporal relation between Irfan and Sheela. Irfan had thrashed to Ramesh many times on this pretext. Irfan had given overt challenge to eliminate to anyone who would dare to intervene in their relation. Ramesh had beaten to his wife Sheela. Sheela had attended the marriage of Irfan against the wish of Ramesh. Ext.Ka.1 was written by Sheela. On thrashing of Sheela by Ramesh, Irfan came and warned that whosoever would muster courage to interdict in his matter, would be eliminated for ever. Ext.Ka. 2 was recovered from the room of Ramesh in the newspaper. He (P.W.5) had seen to Sheela reading and writting the letter. Ext.Ka.1 is signed by her. He had seen her reading and writing .He was well aware about her hand writing. The same was signed by her.

18. The fateful date when Ramesh was liquidated, the shop of Irfan was closed. On 23.6.1982, the wife of Ramesh had come at about 3'1/2 'O' clock. When the wife of Irfan opted to open the door, in the meantime police arrived and took her into custody. He (P.W.5) and Babu Lal were called outside by the police personnel. It was disclosed by the Police personnel that the accused Sheela wanted to get the screw driver recovered. On being interrogated, Sheela evinced her willingness to get the recovery of screw driver used in the murder of Ramesh. It was about 11.30 a.m. Two sub-inspectors, P.W.5 Mahesh Chand and Babu Lal went forward behind Sheela. Sheela opened the door after unfastening the lock and entered inside the house. Both the sub-inspectors in association with P.W.5 Mahesh Chand and Babu Lal entered inside the house. The cannister was placed towards north window. The screw driver used in the commission of said crime was taken out from that cannister. The said screw driver was saturated with blood at a number of places. The said screw driver was put under seal and the fard was prepared exhibiting as Ka.7. The said Fard was signed by P.W.5 Mahesh Chand ,Babu Lal and Sheela and was marked as exhibit-12.

19. In cross examination Mahesh Chandra (P.W.5) divulged that he had been working on the post of clerk in the civil court since 3.7.75. He was posted in the court of Munsif Magistrate. The report was written at about 5.30 a.m. in the frontal portion of room of Ramesh. At that moment, Suresh, Banwari Lal, Babu Lal, Nattho etc. came. He did not mention with regard to envision of Haroon and Irfan in the night. There has been no disclosure with regard to illicit relation between Irfan and Sheela. He has also not discussed any inkling for thrashing to Sheela and any threats extended by Irfan. This fact was also not unravelled that the condition of mother was deteriorated. He (P.W.5) stayed at the police station concerned about 10 minutes. The police had come after 5 to 7 minutes after his departure. It was intimated by him to the Station Officer concerned that Rahimuddin was doing work at Irfan but this was not reduced in writing. It was not divulged by him that Sheela was weeping at the threshold of room of Irfan. It was also not unfolded that the children of Ramesh were not there. This matter was brought in the notice of Irfan which caused him infuriation and extended threats. This fact was intimated to the Station officer concerned. He could not expose any reason as to why it was not reduced in writing. Irfan had taken on rent the said room prior to one & half or two years. He could not inform the amount of rent. This fact was not mentioned while lodging the report. The relationship with Irfan was merely of a tenant. Irfan had thrashed to Ramesh about month back to the incident. He (Irfan) used to beat to Ramesh earlier also. On account of relationship with Bhabhi (Sheela) he had gone on 12.6.82. Ashok Kumar (P.W.1) was also associated to him. They remained at the house of Irfan about one and half hour. It was not remembered to him that photo was clicked or not. He could not identify to Ext.Ka.2 (photo) which was clicked in red Sari whether she was the wife of Irfan as he (P.W.5) had never seen the wife of Irfan. In Ext.Ka.2 green dhoti of Sheela has been depicted. Second lady is the same who has been portrayed in Ext.Ka.2. That lady was seen in the marital function. In Ext.Ka.4, Irfan has been evinced. He (P.W.5) was not aware as to that photo was pertaining to marriage and the said lady was not manifested. In Ext.Kha 3 groom Irfan was evinced. He showed his ignorance as to whether it was pertaining to the marriage. In Ext.Kha.1. the photo of Mahesh Chand (P.W.5) and Sheela was displayed. He could not ascertain as to whether this photo was clicked at the time of marriage of Irfan. The name of son of Sheela is Manoj. Ext.Ka.2 and negative were made available to him in December 1982 which were handed over to Government Counsel. The letter was also given to him. He could not disclose the name of government counsel. The government advocate was hailing to Meerut District. He was engaged when the case was transferred. No letter or application was presented to the Superintendent of Police. He did not disclose the distance of Uchauli from Meerut but divulged that this path can be covered within half hour. He (P.W.5) was annoyed hearing about the extra marital relation of Sheela with Irfan anterior to one year. He (P.W.5) had tried to convince Irfan but he did not agree. He admitted that Irfan was tenant of Ramesh. He also ratified with regard to illicit relation of Irfan with Sheela. He also authenticated with regard to beating of Sheela by Ramesh. On 19.6.1982, Ramesh had thrashed to Sheela . After half an hour Irfan appeared then he vented his ire & irate that Ramesh will be decimated. He (P.W.5) did not move any application with regard to that episode. Jalaluddin who is the brother of Irfan, is owner of the shop in question. He could not disclose the whereabouts of Jalaluddin. He (P.W.5) did not make any complain of illicit relation of Irfan with Sheela to any person of the locality or to Jalaluddin. His father had died in 1980. He (P.W.5) did not make complain to Banwari Lal. Nobody had disclosed to him with relation to her relation with Irfan. The shop was rented at Rs. 50/-. The rent of the shop was taken by mother. The mother was living with him. His mother is in possesion of the room rented to Irfan. Irfan did not live in Uchauli at the time of marriage as well as on the crucial day of murder of Ramesh. Irfan used to live in the room of Ramesh. He (P.W.5) was not aware as to whether bus was running to Uchauli or not. The bus was plying from Mawana station. The Mawana station was at a distance of three kilometres from the place of occurrence. He did not interrogate from Irfan as to why he was going at his room at 12'1/2"O' clock at night. He (P.W.5) was sipping tea prior to 3-4 minutes. Thereafter 4 to 5 minutes were passed away. Haroon had come back after one and one & half minutes. Bhoora and his servant were present there. He had been looking to Bhoora running the shop for the last 8 to10 years. He was not aware as to Bhoora was conversant to Irfan. He (P.W.5) did not have any conversation with Bhoora after liquidation of Ramesh. After murder of Irfan, the shop of Natthoo was rented at Rs. 250/- per month. Mahendra did not have any shop. The room adjoining to the road was not in the tenancy of Mahendra. He (P.W.5) did not recollect as to whether this fact was narrated to the Station Officer concerned that the shop of Irfan was closed. He (P.W.5) rebutted this fact that this story was fabricated so as to get the shop vacated. He confronted this fact that the photo was taken from the album of Irfan and was got prepared deceitfully. The roon was rented to Irfan. He could not recollect the exact period of departure of Sheela to attend the marriage of Irfan. On paying a glance on the wife of Ramesh, he declined to have meal. Ramesh did not interrogate from him as to why he had attended the marriage of Irfan. His father had executed a will in favour of his mother in which the place which was in possession of Ramesh and Sheela was not portrayed. He was not aware when this share was demarcated. There was no partition from Ramesh. Since Ramesh was divested from the property of his father thus the question of partition did not crop up. His mother had staked her right over that property. His mother had produced the copy of Prabhat in the suit. He could not confirm as to whether Ext.Ka.7 is the same document. This fact was divulged by Sheela to the station officer concerned and thereafter she opened the door removing the lock. The cannister was not taken into possession. After recovery of screw driver at the pointing of Sheela from the room, she put lock in the room. The Station officer concerned visited the room where the corpse of Ramesh was lying. He could not recollect as to whether the second room was opened or not. The lock which was put in the door by Sheela was not in his presence. The fard was prepared by the same Station Officer who had recorded his statement. The process of recovery was completed at about 11.45 a.m. Sheela used to read and write and was teaching to the children. He refuted that this story has been cooked up so as to take possession over the house in question.

20. The prosecution had examined Pradeep Kumar as P.W.6. He stated on oath that he has a shop of photography at Meerut. He proved to have taken some photos of dead body. He proved Ext.Ka.3,9/1,9/2,9/3 and 9/4. The photo was clicked at about 2.30 to 3.00 p.m. but he had neither put his signature nor had kept the negative.

21. Prosecution has examined Babu as P.W.7. He stated on oath that he was running tea shop in June 1982 in Madhavnagar near Hapur stand. The house of deceased Ramesh was situated in front of his tea shop. Sheela is the wife of Ramesh (deceased). The accused persons namely Irfan, Haroo and Rahimuddin are well to known to him. He divulged for closing his tea shop at about 7.30 to 8.00 p.m.He disowned closing of his shop at about 1.30 a.m. at night. He disowned his meeting with those miscreants on that night. He also stated that he had not seen those accused persons entering and departing from the house of Ramesh. The station officer concerned had not recorded his statement. He turned hostile. He was cross examined by the prosecution to have given any statement under section 161 Cr.P.C. to the investigating officer.He had proved Ext.Ka.8. He admitted that affidavit paper no.35 Kha was given by him.

22. Constable Kanhaiya Lal was examined as P.W.8. He stated on oath that he was posted as constable at the police station Medical College on 22.6.82. On the production of report Ext.Ka.3 at about 6.20 a.m. by Ashok Kumar (P.W.1) ,he prepared Chik Report Ext.Ka.9. He proved Ext.Ka.3,written FIR, Ext.Ka.9, Report No.6. He also proved the Report No.31 dated 22.6.82 written by H.C. Dharmpal and Report No.17 dated 23.6.82 written by H.C.Dharmpal. He also proved Ext.Ka.11 and Ext.Ka.12. He (P.W.8) was not cross examined by the defence.

23. The prosecution has examined Prakash Chand as P.W.9 who was posted as C.C.Malkhana Sadar Meerut. He stated on oath that he recognized the hand writing & signature of Malkhana incharge Sheesh Ram. 28. According to the opinion of the doctor, the deceased Ramesh died about a day and half back because of asphyxia, syncope and ante-mortem injuries. The doctor has proved the post mortem report exhibit Ka.13.opining that injuries were sufficient in ordinary course of nature to cause death. Death could have occurred in the night of 22/22.6.1982.

29. The prosecution had examined constable Subhash Chand as P.W.11. He stated on oath that he was posted as constable at Police Station Medical College District Meerut. He had taken the case property from Malakhana Sadar to Agra for chemical examination. The seal of the case property was intact. There was seal of Chief Judicial Magistrate Meerut on the said case property.

30. The prosecution had examined constable Subhash Chand as P.W.11. He stated on oath that he was posted as constable at Police Station Medical College District Meerut. He had taken the case property from Malakhana Sadar to Agra for chemical examination. The seal of the case property was intact. There was seal of Chief Judicial Magistrate Meerut on the said property.

31. The prosecution has examined S.I. Sudarshan Chandra Katoch as P.W. 12 . He stated on oath that he was posted as S.I. in June 1982. He was entrusted the investigation of this case. He started the investigation of this case on 22.6.1982 after visiting the place of occurrence at Mohalla Madhonagar Meerut. The corpse of Ramesh was lying at the place of occurrence. The corpse of Ramesh was taken into custody and made inspection of the place of occurrence. The photographer took the photo of the place of occurrence. The investigating officer also prepared the site plan of the place of occurrence. The site plan prepared by the investigating officer was marked as Ext.Ka.14 and the same was duly proved. He got the Panchnama prepared which was marked as Ext.Ka.15. The photo lash, letter to Chief Medical Officer and the Challan Lash were prepared and marked as Ext.Ka.16,17 and 18 respectively. The investigating officer further sent a letter to Chief Medical Officer raising some questions which was marked as Ext.Ka.20. The dead body of Ramesh was wrapped in a cloth and was sealed. After completing requisite formalities, the dead body was sent to the mortuary under the supervision of constable Harendra Singh and Rameshwar. He collected one pillow,one bed sheet and one bed cover saturated with blood which were collectively marked as Ex.Ka.6. The investigating officer recorded the statement of Ashok Kumar (complainant P.W.1) Mahesh Chandra (P.W.5), Banwari Lal, Suresh Chandra Sanghal (P.W.3), Karmvari, Babu s/o Ram Karan and Yakub s/o Pyare Mian and other witnesses. On the same night, the accused Irfan was arrested from his shop. On his pointing some incriminating articles were recovered which were deposited in the Malkhana under seal cover. On 23.6.1982, the investigating officer arrested the accused Sheela from her house. On the pointing of Sheela, a screw driver used in the said crime was recovered in the presence of witnesses namely Mahesh Chandra Sanghal and Babu Lal Sharma. The said screw driver was marked as Ext.Ka.12. The site plan of recovery of screw driver was prepared and marked as Ext.Ka.21. The statement of Mahesh Chandra Saghal and Babu Lal Sharma was recorded. Thereafter the accused Haroon and Rahimuddin were arrested. On the pointing of Haroon, blood saturated pant and towel were recovered which was marked as Ext.Ka.4. The recovered articles were duly sealed in the presence of Suresh Chandra Sanghal and Yogesh Bansal. On the pointing of accused Rahimuddin a blood saturated iron rod (Ext.Ka.4) was recovered which was marked as Ext.Ka.5. The recovered rod was put under seal in the presence of Yogesh Chandra Sanghal and Suresh Chandra Sanghal. He had proved the Ext.Ka.22 relating to site plan of recovery of piece of iron and recovery of pant and Ext.Ka 23 charge sheet dated 2.8.82 submitted by Mahavir Singh posted at Police Station Medical College as Station Officer. He confirmed the arrest of Sheela on 23.6.1982 at about 11.30 a.m. Accused Sheela was detained at the police station up 3.35 p.m.The articles which were recovered on personal search were entered in G.D. Mahendra had neither disclosed the place where he had slept in the night nor unfolded the place where he had seen the accused Irfan in the night. Mahendra had only disclosed the name of Irfan. It was also not disclosed by Mahesh Chandra that Rahim is the servant of Irfan. The children of Ramesh were not present at the place of occurrence. The accused Irfan was arrested at 7.30 p.m. at Sun Battery Charging Works. There is distance of about 14-15 yards from the place of occurrence and the said shop. The door of shop of Irfan and place of occurrence was towards Hapur road. The accused Irfan was interrogated at his shop. There was electric light at the shop and Irfan was all alone. The statement of accused Irfan was recorded in the electric light inside the shop. After putting lock in the shop, the accused Irfan proceeded with him. The accused Irfan was put in lock up after search. The key of the shop was not taken from the accused Irfan as it was not related with case property. On 23.6.1982 at about 11.30 a.m.He (P.W.12) had gone at the house of accused Sheela. After taking into custody to accused Sheela, the screw driver used in the crime was recovered at her pointing. It was entered in the case diary. The accused Haroon and Rahimuddin were arrested from the bridge of foul smelling culvert. After taking into custody to Haroon and Rahimuddin, the investigating officer came at the shop of accused Irfan from where Irfan was arrested. The shop was closed and the key of which was with Haroon. At the time of search whatever articles recovered from the accused persons were deposited at the police station and entered in the G.D. The accused Irfan was sent to Jail on 23.6.1982. The almirah from which iron rod was recovered was kept at the open place. Suresh and Yogesh were the witness of fard recovery.

32. Sudarshan Chandra (P.W.12) stood lengthy cross examination.

33. The prosecution had examined constable Rameshwar Singh as P.W. 13. He stated on oath that he was posted at police station medical college Meerut on 22.6.1982. He had gone at the place of occurrence with S.I. Katoch (P.W.12) and Harendra constable. After completing all the necessary formalties, the corpse of Ramesh was handed over to him and constable Harendra. The dead body of Ramesh was taken at the mortuary by them with requisite papers. After completing the formalities of post mortem, Rameshwar Singh (P.W.13) and Harendra reported at the police station concerned and submitted the post mortem report.

34. The prosecution had examined constable Subhash Chand as P.W.11. He stated on oath that he was posted as constable at Police Station Medical College District Meerut. He had taken the case property from Malakhana Sadar to Agra for chemical examination. The seal of the case property was intact. There was seal of Chief Judicial Magistrate Meerut on the said case property.

35. After conclusion of the prosecution evidence, the accused-appellants namely Sheela, Irfan, Rahim Uddin and Haroon were examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C. and in their statement they denied all the charges levelled against them and pleaded for innocence. They stated that they have falsely been implicated in the present case at the inkling and connivance of interested and partisan persons. The investigating officer has submitted false and frivolous charge sheet against them. In her statement under section 313 Cr.P.C. accused Smt. Sheela herself divulged that her father in law had executed a will deed prior to this incident. The room in which the accused Sheela and her husband (Ramesh) used to live was got constructed by her after execution of the will deed. The complainant (P.W.1) and her mother in law wanted to grab the room on account of which they were annoyed and exasperated from her. In connection to this a civil suit was also instituted. She used to work in the nursing home at the night. In the morning when she came, she began to bemoan and lament looking to the pitiable and pathetic condition of her husband. Subsequently in connivance with police, the complainant (P.W.1) and the witnesses got her challaned fraudulently . The witnesses and the complainant (P.W.1) had been working in civil court Meerut. They are hands in glove with the police personnel.

36. In the statement recorded under section 313 Cr.P.C of Haroon (who has been later on declared juvenile vide order dated 5.4.2014 and his trial was separated), it has come out that all the witnesses are hailing to the same genealogy and have come forward to implicate them on account of personal animosity taking the comauflage of getting the shop vacated.

37. Further in the statement under section 313 Cr.P.C. it has been unravelled by Irfan that he used to go to his village per day at evening after closing the shop and after coming back at morning he was opening his shop. He also proved Ex.Kha.1 the photo of his marriage in which the son of Sheela (accused) ,Mahesh (P.W.5) and other persons are dancing .He also proved Ext.Kha.2 the photo of his marriage in which his wife and Sheela are present. He proved Ext.Kha.3 photo with his wreath in which a number of persons are clicked. It was also unfolded by accused Irfan that after the sad demise of Kailash Narain, on the issue of enhancing the rent, some dispute had taken place with Mahesh, Ashok (P.W.1) and Mahendra but the persons present in the market got it pacified. They wanted to get the shop vacated from him. They had also filed suit in civil court Meerut for the purpose of getting the shop vacated. He has been falsely implicated on account of putting undue pressure upon him.

38. Accused Rahimuddin in his statement under section 313 Cr.P.C. deposed that he has been implicated as he had taken the side of Haroon ,when quarrel of Haroon with Mahesh took place. He has been implicated due to animosity.

39. The accused appellants in their defence examined Kaushal Kumar (D.W.1) who divulged that he was in service at Nandan Cinema in 1980. In 1982, Naresh Chand Jain was holding the post of Manager in the said Cinema Hall and Khalil Ahmad Khan used to prepare the B.Form. On 21.6.1982, he (D.W.1), Naresh Chandra Jain and Khalil Ahmad were in service at Nandan Cinema. Naresh Chandra Jain & Khalil Ahmad Khan had died. On 21.6.1982, there were three classes in Nandan Cinema i.e. Balcony, Special and First Class.The defence witness after looking the attested copy of B.Form submitted that on the said photo sets signatures were made by Naresh Chandra Jain. That B.Form was pertaining to night show of 21.6.1982 in respect to Nandan Cinema. B.Form is distinct for different show. B.Form is sent to Amusement Tax Department after filling cost of ticket, rent, tax etc. The cost of the ticket for Balcony was Rs. 6.00, Special Class Rs. 5.00, First Class Rs. 3.00 According to B.Form there was no ticket for Rs. 4.00 in Nandan Cinema. Naresh Chand Jain had joined in service at Nandan Cinema after 5-6 years. In the absence of Jain, other person of the staffs were doing the work. Kaushal Kumar Sharma (D.W.1) could not confirm as to whether he was on duty on 21.6.1982 or not. Who had filled the form was not confirmed by him. He had proved the signature of Naresh Chandra Jain. He confirmed that there was no ticket of Rs. 4/- in Nandan Cinema. He denied that the ticket was sold at Rs. 4/- in the case of mass gathering.

40. The learned trial judge upon appreciation and appraisal of evidence on record convicted and sentenced the accused appellants Irfan & Sheela to undergo life imprisonment under section 302/34 IPC with fine of Rs. 25,000/- and in default of payment of fine to undergo further three months imprisonment and acquitted accused Rahimuddin under section 302 read with section 34 IPC and 120B IPC .

41. We have heard Sri N.I.Jafri Senior Advocate assisted by Sri Khalid Mohmood learned counsel for the appellants and Sri Ashwani Prakash Tripathi, learned AGA appearing on behalf of State and perused the entire material on record.

42. Learned counsel for the accused-appellants contended that the judgment and order passed by the learned trial judge is per se illegal and erroneous whereby the appellants have been awarded life imprisonment merely on suspicion while there are serious irregularities and lapses on the part of the prosecution. The prosecution case is based entirely on circumstantial evidence. All the witnesses produced by the prosecution are highly interested and inimical who succeeded in accomplishing their evil design. All the witnesses had developed the story of illicit relationship between accused Sheela and accused Irfan being the strong motive behind the murder of Ramesh. The prosecution witnesses namely Ashok Kumar (P.W.1), Mahesh (P.W.5) have concoted a false story who in their examination unfolded that there was illicit corporal relation between Sheela and Irfan . Ramesh (deceased) was highly irritated and disturbed on account of easy virtue of his wife Sheela hence the relations between Ramesh and Sheela (accused) were highly ruptured and frayed. Ramesh used to thrash Sheela because of her illicit relations with Irfan. It has also come into light that in the morning of 19.6.1982, some verbal duel took place between Sheela and Ramesh (decease). After one and half hour accused Irfan came and unleashed reign of terror threatening to the husband of Sheela to be liquidated in case he caused hindrance or obstacle in their courtship. It has also come in the evidence that Ramesh had thrashed Sheela for attending the marriage of Irfan but this entire story does not stand on sound footing. There are material inconsistency in the prosecution version and the statement of the witnesses which itself creates suspicion about the incriminating circumstances framed against them. The first information report had been lodged without disclosing the name of any accused persons.'\No strong motive has been attributed for committing the said incident. The motive assigned to the appellants for committing the gruesome and barbarous murder of Ramesh does not inspire any confidence corroborating its truthfulness and probity. The accused-appellants are absolutely innocent and had been made scape goat on account of conspiracy of the complainant and other witnesses. There was property dispute among the brothers of deceased Ramesh. There is no evidence that Sheela was staying along with her husband on the fateful night. There is no evidence to show that applicant Sheela and Irfan were last seen together inside the room with deceased Ramesh. There is no evidence to show that Irfan was seen going inside the room asnd coming out of the house of Ramesh. The P.W.1 Ashok kumar, P.W.5 Mahesh Chanda are the brother of the deceased Ramesh. There was congenial and genteel family term between Irfan,Ashok Kumar (P.W.1) Mahesh (P.W.5) even the son of Ramesh (deceased) attended the marital celebration of Irfan which was solemnized on 12th June 1982. There is vivid demonstration of photograph (Ext.Kha.1) showing dance and revel by the son of Sheela (accused) and Mahesh Kumar (P.W.5). There is material (Ext.Ka.2) showing Sheela sitting with Irfan and his wife of which photo clicked by Ramesh himself negative of which has been produced from the room of Ramesh. In the first information report the complainant after hearing the shriek and shrill of Sheela, he in association with his brother Mahesh (P.W.5) and other family members reached at the room of Ramesh and saw the dead body of Ramesh lying on the cot. So far as the corporal relation between Irfan and Sheela is concerned, it was natural on the part of the family members of Ramesh (deceased) not to allow Sheela to attend the marriage of Irfan and make rejoincing there. Mahesh (P.W.5) and Ashok Kumar (P.W.1) were jubilant and exhilirated and were dancing in the marriage of Irfan has vital impact. The sitting of Sheela with accused Irfan and his newly wedded wife itself demonstrates their cordial and affable relations. There was nothing to show that the appellants were party to any conspiracy.There is no evidence to show that appellants Sheela and Irfan were last seen together inside the room with deceased Ramesh. There is no evidence to show that Irfan was seen going inside the room and for coming out of the house of Ramesh. The alleged confessional statement of Sheela regarding recovery of screw driver cannot be used against her which is inadmissible under section 27 of Evidence Act. Moreover, the screw driver cannot be a weapon of crime to commit murder . There are significant contradictions with regard to the recovery of articles recovered by investigating officer. It was not established from the prosecution evidence on record that accused-appellants had committed the murder of Ramesh thus the conviction and sentence awarded under 302/34 IPC is highly cryptic and cannot sustain. The prosecution has failed to establish any criminal conspiracy between Sheela and Irfan thus it could not prove its case beyond reasonable doubt against them therefore, the appeal against the impugned judgment and order stands on justifiable grounds and may be allowed.

43. The main thrust of the learned counsel appearing on behalf of the appellants is that all the witnesses produced by the prosecution were highly partisan and interested who wanted to satiate their lust of grudge . The investigation has also been done in a very perfunctory and casual manner. There are material inconsistency in the prosecution version and the statement of the witnesses which itself creates great suspicion about the manner of assault at the alleged time of occurrence. The first information report has been lodged against unknown persons while the accused appellant are well known to the complainant. The medical evidence also does not corroborate the prosecution version. The witnesses had come at the place of occurrence after hearing the shriek and shrill of accused Sheela as such it cannot be said that they had witnessed the killing and have roped the appellants on account of suspicion so as to wreak their personal vengeance. No strong motive has been attributed for committing the said incident. The motive assigned to the appellants for committing the gruesome and hellish murder of Ramesh does not inspire any confidence corroborating its verity and truthfulness. The name of the accused appellant came during investigation at the statement of complainant Ashok Kumar (PW.1) and Mahesh Chand (P.W.5) It is conspicuously explicit from the site plan prepared by the investigating officer that nobody had seen the manner of assault inflicted upon Ramesh . The statement of the investigating officer, who had prepared the site plan, recovery memo and sent the corpse to mortuary is a bundle of contradictions. The falsehood and contradictions are so evident that it would obliterate the verity and probity of the entire prosecution version. It is trite fact that Ramesh had met to unnatural death which is corroborated from the medical report but who were the real assailants cannot be deduced by implicating the innocent persons merely in the guise of suspicion. The learned trial judge has erroneously passed the impugned judgment and order attaching pivotal significance to the statement of Ashok Kumar (P.W.1) and prosecution witnesses without vetting and weighing the material inconsistency in the prosecution version, medical evidence and the statement of the witnesses. The prosecution has failed to corroborate that the accused appellants were the actual perpetrator of the crime. The conviction of the appellants placing reliance on the feeble eye witness account Ashok Kumar (P.W.1) and Mahesh Chand (P.W.5) is not proper for want of independent corroboration as the presence of the prosecution witnesses on the spot at the time occurrence has not been proved. The accused appellants have been subjected to scapegoat on account of evil design and revengeful sentiments of the Ashok Kumar (P.W.1) and Mahesh Chand (P.W.5). The investigating officer had submitted charge sheet against the accused appellants relying upon the statement of partisan and interested witneses . The fair and impartial investigation has not been done rather the investigation has been done in a tainted and prejudicial manner so as to circumvent the accused appellants in the present case. The accused appellants were not arrested at the place of occurrence. The prosecution has failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt as the evidence adduced in support thereof were not found to constitute a firm basis upon which life imprisonment has been awarded to the accused appellants. The learned trial court has framed the charges against them merely on suspicion putting at shelf all the material evidence which itself stumbles the prosecution version. The entire prosecution story is rested on uncorroborated facts and evidence and the guilt of the accused-appellants not having been proved to the hilt by the prosecution, the appellants are entitled to the benefit of doubt. The absence of apparent motive on the part of the accused-appellants who did not have any criminal history has a material bearing on the question of sentence hence the judgment and order passed by the trial court may be reversed by exercising extraordinary power of appellate jurisdiction.

44. To buttress his argument, learned counsel for the appellants have placed reliance on the verdict of the Hon'ble Supreme Court as well as Hon'ble High Court enunciated in the following judgments :

1. Reena Hazarika versus State of Assam AIR 2018 Sc.5361

2. Vikram Jit Singh versus State of Punjab 2006 (9) Supreme Court Page 338

4. Joydeb Patra & others versus State of West Bengal AIR 2013 S.C.2878

5. Shanker Lal & another Versus State of Chhattisgarh (Criminal Appeal No. 497 of 2008) decided on 6.10.2017

6. Sukhjeet versus State of Punjab , 2015 (3) S.C. 670

7. Ranvir Yadav versus State of Bihar 2009 (4) SC 205,

8. Shaikh Maqsood versus State of Maharastra 2009 (4) S.C. 429,

9. Navaneetha Krishan versus State through Inspector of Police (Criminal Appeal No. 1134 of 2013).

45. Per contra learned AGA appearing on behalf of the State contended that from the prosecution evidence, available on record, the case of prosecution is proved beyond reasonable doubt against the accused-appellants The impugned judgment and order passed by the trial court is based upon proper appreciation of evidence available on record. The finding recorded by the trial court does not suffer from any legal, procedural or factual infirmity or vulnerability. It has further been contended by learned AGA that the prosecution is not bound to prove motive of any offence in a criminal case, inasmuch as motive is known only to the perpetrator of the crime and may not be known to others if the motive is proved by the prosecution,the court has to consider it and see whether it is adequate.It is also corroborated from the record that prosecution had examined the complainant Ashok Kumar as PW-1 who in his statement on oath proved Ext.Ka.1,Photo Ext.Ka.2 and written information Ext.Ka3. The occurrence took place in the night of 21/22nd June 1982 at about 12.15 a.m. In the morning the wife of deceased Ramesh namely Sheela was bemoaning and lamenting. On hearing the shriek and shrill of Sheela ,the complainant (P.W.1) and his elder brother Mahesh (P.W.5) and other family members rushed towards the room of Ramesh where he saw dead body of Ramesh lying on the cot. The blood was coming out from the mouth of deceased Ramesh. There was numerous marks of injuries on the body of Ramesh which demonstrates that Ramesh was liquidated at falling hours of night. The prosecution has fully proved the presence of accused Sheela in the night of 21/22.6.1982 with deceased Ramesh. The argument of learned counsel for the appellants that Sheela was working as Nurse and was on her duty in the nursing home.When she came in the morning on 22.6.1982, she found her husband (Ramesh) laying on the cot. The accused Sheela cannot get away by simply keeping quiet and silent on the premise that the prosecution has to prove its case . There is nothing on record to substantiate that accused Sheela was not present in the night on 21/22.6.1982 with her husband deceased Ramesh in the house and she was at Nursing Home. The recovery of screw driver has been made at the pointing of Sheela. The recovery of iron rod was madfe on the pointing of Rahimudddin. The recovered screw driver was duly marked as Ext.Ka.12. The recovered screw driver was saturated with blood stains. The person who is supposed to give such information could be so physically impaired that he could hardly narrate the factum of incident, knowing the conditions of the informant's mother who was highly saddened person to rush to the police station immediately after the occurrence. At times being grief-stricken because of the calamity it may not immediately occur to the informant that he may give a report in detail. It is not in dispute that place of occurrence is inside the house of Ramesh . The prosecution witnesses are natural witnesses and they have no motive to make false statements against the accused-appellant. Even if, there is absence of motive, it would not benefit the accused when there is reliable and acceptable version of the eye witnesses, In a case where near and dear one is killed, his family members would not spare the real culprits and falsely implicate others. The relationship is not a factor to affect the credibility of the prosecution witnesses. The testimony of the aforesaid prosecution witnesses cannot be discarded merely on the ground of being closely related to the deceased. Each case must be judged on its own facts. The presence of the witnesses is proved to be natural and their statements are nothing but truthful disclosure of actual facts leading to the occurrence, it will not be permissible for the Court to discard the statement of such witnesses. There is no bar in law on examining family members or any other person as witnesses. In cases involving family members of both sides, it is the family members who come forward to disclose correct facts. If the statement of witnesses, who are known to the parties affected is credible, reliable and trustworthy there would not be any reason for the court to reject such evidence merely on the ground that the witness was a family member or an interested witness or a person known to the affected party . The P.W.1 Ashok Kumar and P.W.5 Mahesh Chandra were put to lengthy cross-examination, but nothing could be elicited by way of cross-examination so as to create doubt about their stand. Their testimonies have been well supported by the medical evidence. There is complete consistency and coherence in the examination-in-chief and cross-examination of the prosecution witnesses, There is nothing on record to show if the prosecution witnesses had any animus against the accused appellants so as to implicate falsely in the present case. The testimony of prosecution witnesses are cogent, credible and trustworthy and have a ring of truth. There is nothing on record to disbelieve the statements of the prosecution witnesses.On appreciation of entire evidence on record, the learned trial court has rightly found them guilty.

46. Considering the entire facts and circumstances of the case, we are of the considered opinion that the registration of the first information report is mandatory with respect to the incident occurred. It is not necessary that the first information report should contain minutest detail. The first information report is not an encyclopaedia to give each and every details. Minor contradictions cannot be taken to be a ground to reject the testimony of the prosecutions witnesses of facts. In the deposition of witnesses there are always normal discrepancies due to normal errors of observation, loss of memory, mental disposition If the evidence is incredible and cannot be accepted by the test of prudence, then it may create a dent in the prosecution version. It is only the serious contradictions and omissions which materially affect prosecution case but not every contradiction or omission. In order to appreciate the evidence, the Court is required to bear in mind the set-up and the environment in the which the crime is committed. The appellant Sheela wife of deceased Ramesh is duty bound to explain as to how her husband died. When an offence like murder is committed in the secrecy inside a house, the initial burden to establish the case would undoubtedly be upon the prosecution. In view of section 106 of Evidence Act, there will be a corresponding burden on the inmates of the house like in the present case wife to give cogent explanation as to how the crime was committed. Bearing in mind these broad principles the evidence is required to be appreciated to find out what part out of the evidence represents the true and correct states of affairs. It is for the Court to sequester the grain from the chaff. The appellants Sheela, the wife of Ramesh and Irfan being the tenant of the room where the dead body of Ramesh was found, have to give an explanation as to why he sustained injuries when they could not offer any explanation as to the homicidal death of Ramesh, it is a strong circumstance against both the accused that they are responsible for the commission of the offence. The Court cannot draw adverse inference only because of any contradiction in the statement of the witnesses. The Court can rely on the quantity and not quality of evidence which is material. The testimony of the prosecution witnesses fully supports the prosecution case and they have no motive to make false statement against the accused-appellants. The evidence must be weighed and not counted. It is quality and not quantity which determines the adequacy of evidence as has been provided under Section-134 of the Evidence Act. The learned counsel for the accused appellants had cited a catena of decisions to prop up his submissions which do not have any applicability with the present set of facts. Medical evidence (postmortem report) fully corroborates the prosecution version as well as the testimony of the prosecution witnesses. The blood stained weapon of offence and recovery of articles at the time of arrest of the accused persons on their disclosure statement made by them is admissible under section 27 of the Evidence Act. Merely because the other accused Rahimuddin who was named by the prosecution has been acquitted by giving benefit of doubt would not make the evidence of the witnesses totally untrustworthy .

47. "Falsus in uno falsus in omnibus " has never been accepted as an argument to discard the evidence of a witness .The trial court has appreciated the evidence carefully .The statement of prosecution witnesses of fact despite being lengthy and searching cross examination nothing of any consequence has been elicited to discredit them.

48. It has been argued on behalf of the appellants that the injuries caused to deceased are incised wound and the recovery is of screw driver and iron piece from which it is not possible to cause incised wound. It has also been argued that if screw driver will be used then punctured wound would be caused. He also argued that from iron piece also incised wound cannot be caused. So the weaspon shown as causing murder are not connected with the injuries on the body of deceased Ramesh Chand. It has been clearly stated in the post mortem report that the death of the deceased Ramesh was due to asphyxia and syncope because of ante-mortem injuries. Medical evidence is only an opinion.

49. The Hon'ble Apex Court has also dealt this issue in extenso in Dashrath Singh versus State of U.P.20-04 (7) SCC 408 quoting the renowned author of the Medical Jurisprudence & Toxicology.It has been clarified that incised wound on occipital region is possible with lathi or stick. Occasionally, on wounds produced by a blunt weapon or by a fall, the skin splits and may look like incised wounds when inflicted on tense structures covering the bones, such as the scalp,eyebrow, iliac crest, skin, perincum etc. A scalp wound by a blunt weapon may resemble an incised wound. The injury of incised wound of deceased Ramesh is on eye brow which can be caused by iron piece or screw driver. It all depends on how the screw driver is being used. Ext.Ka.24 and Ext.Ka.25 are the chemical report and seriologist report respectively from which it is clear that blood marks have been found on screw driver and iron piece as well. So ,the argument advanced by the learned counsel for the applicant will not have any effect that the incised wound cannot be caused by use of iron piece or screw driver. The prosecution has been successful to prove the recovery of screw driver and iron piece from the possession of accused persons and use of it in the murder of Ramesh (deceased).

50. The next submission that the death of Ramesh was caused in the morning on 22.6.1982 and his stomach was empty. It must have taken at least seven hours to digest the food and in no condition it could be said that the death of Ramesh took place before 12 p.m. Dr.S.K.Tyagi (P.W.10) who had conducted the post mortem had stated in his cross examination that time of death could be 3 to 4 a.m. in the night of 21/22.6.1982 because the stomach was empty and faecal matter was present and he must have eaten food seven hours before death.

51. This aspect has also been dealt with by Hon'ble Supreme Court in re Suresh Chandra Bahri versus State of Bihar, JT 1994 (4) SC 309, the Hon'ble Apex Court referred "Modis Medical Jurisprudence and Toxicology, 22nd Edition, Pages 246 ,247 which delineats as under :

52. "Digestive conditions vary in individuals up 2.5-6 hours depending upon healthy state of body, consistency of food motility of the stomach, osmotic presssure of stomach contents, quantity of food in the duodenum, surroundings in which food is taken emotional factos and residual variations and only very approximate time of death can be given. The deceased Ramesh was 32 years old hence the submission advanced by the learned counsel for the appellants will not have any force as it depends on the health and body of the person.

53. The evidence must be weighed and not counted. It is quality and not quantity which determines the adequacy of evidence as has been provided under Section-134 of the Evidence Act. The learned counsel for the accused appellants had cited a catena of decisions to prop up his submissions which do not have any applicability with the present set of facts.

54. After considering the entire facts and circumstances of the case, we are of the considered view that the testimony of all the prosecution witnesses and cumulative result of all circumstances supports the prosecution case. There is nothing on record to show that the prosecution witnesses had any animus against the accused appellants so as to implicate them falsely in the present case hence there appears no justification to disbelieve the testimony of the prosecution witnesses.

55. From the above facts and circumstances of the case, it is fully established that Ramesh succumbed to unnatural death with on account of multiple injuries inflicted upon him. The statement of the witnesses cannot be doubted or suspected merely they are related to the deceased or on account of minor variation or aberration in their statement. The utterances have consistently and umpteen times been repeated by the witnesses who had narrated and unfolded the incident in a very natural and articulatory manner that Sheela & accused Irfan have committed murder of Ramesh The overt act of the accused appellants at the relevant moment is fully established and is unimpeachable beyond a shadow of doubt consistent with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused appellants within all human probability. The manner in which Ramesh has been done to death portrays very inhuman and gruesome state of mind of the accused appellants. The occurrence is fully supported by the testimony of witnesses and the medical evidence which cannot be overclouded by any stretch of imagination or suspicion. In the course of cross examination, the defence side has tried to evolve a story of false implication in order to overshadow the testimony of the posecution witnesses.From the appraisal of the ocular testimony of the prosecution witnesses , the chain of circumstances explicitly proves to the hilt about the illicit relation between the accused appellants Sheela and Irfan which was going on between them. It may not be known to others about their illicit corporal relation. It is highly difficult for the prosecution to skim from the mind of the accused persons. The circumstances are of such a conclusive nature which prove that the said crime must have been committed by the accused appellants. Another circumstance which is consistent with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused appellants that accused Irfan and Haroon were seen coming out from the house of Ramesh (deceased) on the fateful and crucial night of 21/22.6.1982 in the presence of the accused appellant Sheela on whose pointing blood stained screw driver has been recovered. Another circumstance which has clinching effect that at the pointing of co-accused Rahimuddin (acquitted by the trial),recovery of piece of iron rod has been made. If these circumstances be clubbed together, it forms a complete chain that in all human probability the crimes were committed by the accused appellants and none else. While examining the accused persons under section 313 Cr.P.C. they had offered no explanation to negative the chain of circumstances pointing towards the guilt of the accused persons. There is no room to doubt that the incident had not taken place inside the house where the Ramesh (deceased) and the accused appellants were residing. If the wife of Ramesh (deceased) could not put forth any convincing and trustworthy explanation to show how her husband (Ramesh) had sustained fatal injuries that she was not having guilty mind, there is no hesitation to come to the conclusion that it was the accused appellants who were the perpetrator of the crime. Law does not require to the prosecution to prove the existence of motive and probability of the accused having committed the crime. The victim Ramesh had been done to death in a very ghastly and fiendish manner and no plausible explanation has been put forth by the accused appellants making the prosecution version unbelievable and incredible on any other hypothesis except that the accused appellants are guilty for the commission of said crime. The motive being a state of mind of the accused persons may not be known to others as to what was the motive for a particular offence.The mere fact that the prosecution failed to translate mental disposition of the accused appellants into evidence does not mean that no such mental condition existed in their mind. The accused appellants had perpetuated the crime in a very relentless and devilish manner as the prosecution has successfully proved the recovery of screw driver and iron piece from the possession of the accused persons which were used in the murder of Ramesh.

56. On the basis of verbose and prolix discussions made here in above and also considering the material evidence on record, we are of the considered opinion that findings of conviction for the offence punishable under Sections 302/34 of the Indian Penal Code recorded by the Trial Court are well substantiated by the evidence on record. The Trial Court has appreciated the evidence in the right perspective. We don't find any justification to interfere with the findings of conviction recorded for the offence punishable under Sections 302/34 of the Indian Penal Code, therefore, the conviction recorded against the accused-appellants under section 302/34 IPC is hereby maintained and affirmed. The appeal is accordingly dismissed.

57. The order dated 8/9-7-2014 passed by the Additional District & Sessions Judge Court No.10, Muzaffar Nagar in Sessions Trial No. 382 of 1982 (State vs. Sheela @ Sushila and others) under Sections 302/34 IPC is hereby affirmed. The accused appellant Sheela is in jail. The co-accused Irfan is on bail. His bail bond is hereby cancelled. He be taken into custody forthwith . They shall serve out the sentence as awarded by the learned trial court and affirmed by this Bench.

58. Let a copy of the judgment be certified and sent along with the lower court record to the court below immediately for compliance and necessary entries be made in the relevant register.

A. Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Sections 302 read with Section 34, Section 307

read with Section 34 IPC - statements of witnesses under Section 161 Cr.P.C - charge sheet under Section 302, 307, 504 IPC- Statements of accused-appellants under Section 313 Cr.P.C - confessions and statements - recorded under Section 164 - Section 238 of Cr.P.C. – compliance with section 207 Cr.P.C. - contradict the witnesses under Section 145 of Evidence Act -convicted and sentenced for life imprisonment - Section 437-A, Cr.P.C.- Bail to require accused to appear before next appellate court. (Para 4,8,28,31 & 33)

B. Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - mode of assessing reliability of a witness - material discrepancies - Court to scrutinise the testimony more particularly keeping in consideration the deficiencies, drawbacks and infirmities pointed out in the evidence.

The Law of Evidence does not require any particular number of witnesses to be examined in proof of a given fact. However, faced with the testimony of a single witness, the Court may classify the oral testimony into three categories, namely (1) wholly reliable (2) wholly unreliable and (3) neither wholly reliable, nor wholly unreliable. In the case of first two categories, there may be no difficulty in accepting or discarding the testimony of the single witness. The difficulty arises in the third category of the cases where the Court has to be circumspect and has to look for corroboration in material particulars by reliable testimony, direct or circumstantial, before acting upon the testimony of a single witness or as the case may be. (Para 19 &20)

C. Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Section 238 – compliance with section 207 Cr.P.C. - Non supply of copies of documents such as statement under section 161 Cr.P.C, Section 154 Cr.P.C , the confessions and statements, if any, recorded under Section 164, panchayatnama and other relevant record to the accused, in the case in hand has caused serious prejudice during trial to contradict the witnesses under Section 145 of Evidence Act. (Para 28 & 31)

Criminal Appeal allowed (E-7)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Umesh Kumar, J.)

1. These two criminal appeals have been filed challenging the judgment and order dated 30.04.2015 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.3, Fatehpur in S.T. No. 1185 of 2001 (State Vs. Ravi Karan and others) by which the appellants have been convicted and sentenced for life imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 20,000/- each under Sections 302 read with Section 34 IPC and in default to undergo 2 years R.I., and under Section 307 read with Section 34 IPC, to undergo 7 years R.I. and fine of Rs. 10,000/- each; and in default to further undergo one year R.I. All the sentences are directed to run concurrently. The accused-Bhola died during trial.

2. P.W.1 Shiv Prasad-informant has given a written report at Police Station Kishanpur district, Fatehpur alleging that in the evening on 16.2.1992 at about 6.00 P.M. some altercation took place between Moti Lal with Pitai Kumhar of his village; his son Hira Lal and Awadesh intervened and brought Moti Lal to the house. Soon thereafter, Ravi Karan son of Ram Naresh having Rifle, Prakash armed with DBBL gun and Bhola having lathi in his hand came abusing in front of the door of Moti Lal; Moti Lal asked them not to abuse, upon hearing the noise, the informant, his son Suresh Chandra, sister-in-law (wife of Babu Lal), wife of Moti Lal, and Chiya daughter of Moti Lal and Awadhesh arrived and forbade them not to abuse, on which, accused Bhola exhorted saying kill them as their bullying has increased and now they have started teasing their own persons; in the meantime, accused Prakash and Ravi Karan having Rifle and gun in their hands fired on Moti Lal which hit on his stomach; the wife of Moti Lal-Sarla, his daughter Chiya and informant's son Suresh Chandra and his sister-in-law received injuries. The accused appellants ran away from the spot abusing and they could not be caught hold due to fear. The injured were sent to hospital for treatment along with villagers and he has come to lodge first information report.

3. On the basis of the said information, chick FIR (Ex.Ka-2) was prepared and a case under Sections 307/504 IPC at Case Crime No. 30 of 1992 was registered against the accused namely Ravi Karan, Prakash and Bhola and relevant entry was made in the G.D., but the GD and the said FIR is not available on record. Subsequently, after death of injured-Moti Lal on 17.2.1992, the offence under Section 307/504 IPC was converted into Section 302 IPC and relevant entry in the GD regarding conversion of the case was entered at GD No. 21 at 5.30 P.M. Dated 17.2.1992.

4. Investigation of case was made by P.W.6 S.I. Ravi Chandra Mishra. He recorded the statements of witnesses under Section 161 Cr.P.C., inspected the spot, prepared site plan, sent dead body for post mortem to the District Hospital, Fatehpur and after completing investigation submitted charge sheet under Section 302, 307, 504 IPC.

5. Learned Trial Court framed charges against the accused-appellants. Accused-Bhola was charged under Section 302/34 and section 307/34 IPC. The accused Ravi Karan and Prakash were charged under Sections 302/307 IPC. The accused-appellants denied their guilt and claimed to be tried.

6. The prosecution in support of its case has examined 8 witnesses. P.W.1 Shiv Prasad is the informant, P.W.2 Sarla Devi-injured witness, P.W.3 Jhallu Prasad Misra-Head Constable, P.W.4 Dr. Bharat Namdeo who conducted post mortem, P.W.5 Dr. Devendra Kumar who examined and prepared injuries reports of Chiya, Suresh and Phulmati w/o Babu Lal, P.W.6 Ravindra Mishra, I.O., P.W.7 Subhash Chandra Singh-Pharmacist and P.W.8 Chiya.

7. Here, it is note worthy that entire prosecution documents were lost before committal of the case and was re-constructed under the orders of the then District Judge, Fatehpur. After re-construction of the documents such as nakal tahrir (Ex.Ka.2), G.D (Ex.Ka.3), post mortem report (Ex.Ka.4), injury reports of Phulmati (Ex.Ka.5), injury report of Chiya (Ex.Ka.6) and Suresh (Ex.Ka.7), the case was committed to the Court of Sessions on 20.12.2001 by Judicial Magistrate, Khaga, Fatehpur which was registered as S.T. No. 1185 of 2001(State Vs. Ravi Karan and others)

8. Statements of accused-appellants under Section 313 Cr.P.C. was recorded thrice; Firstly on 4.11.2009, after the examination of prosecution witnesses 1 to 6. They denied the prosecution allegation and stated that evidence against them have been led on the basis of forged document; they have been falsely implicated. The accused Ravi Karan has further stated that under the influence of enemies, entire prosecution story has been concocted and false evidence has been led in the case. He has also taken plea of alibi. The prosecution on 20.7.2013 again produced P.W.7 and P.W.8. The accused Prakash denied the evidence against him and claimed to be innocent; he asserted that unknown dacoits during course of commission of dacoity have caused death of Moti Lal and he has been falsely implicated in the case in collusion with local police. Simultaneously, accused Ravi Karan has also made similar statement. Thirdly, statement of accused-Prakash and Ravi Karan under Section 313 Cr.P.C. was recorded on 19.10.2013 after filing of FSL report (Ex.Ka.8). The accused said that they do not know about the report. The extract of medico legal report Register page No. 47 injury report of Sarla Devi dated 17.2.1992 has been filed by P.W.7 who stated that this report has not been prepared before him. Moreover, he stated that he cannot tell by whom this report was prepared.

9. In the autopsy report, following injuries were found on the body of deceased;

1. Fire arm wound of entry 8 cm x 5 cm x cavity deep over left iliac fossae of abdomen 5 cm. to A.S. aliac spinal. Blackening present. Direction from right to left and little upward. Blackening present. Liver and intestine loops coming out of wound and wadding piece recovered from muscle.

2. Fire arm wound of entry 8 cm. x 4 cm. bone deep over right leg middle part anterior surface. Tibia and fibula bones fractured into multiple pieces. No blackening and tattooing. Three small pellets recovered. Seven small pellets recovered from abdominal cavity.

3. Multiple fire arm wound of entry in an area of 15 cm. x 6 cm. x 0.1 cm. over left thigh postero-lateral surface upper part. No blacking and tattooing. Two small pellets recovered from wound cavity.

4. Multiple fire arm wounds of entry in an area of 7 cm. x 3 cm. over left leg lower part lateral surface. No blackening or tattooing. One small pellet recovered from wound.

10. Photo copies of the injury reports of injured Phulmati, Chiya and Suresh are not much visible and therefore, relevant extract from the statement of the doctor is quoted here in below;

11. We have heard Sri Brijesh Sahai, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Bhavya Sahai for appellant-Prakash and Sri Mangala Prasad Rai, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Sri Ashok Kumar for appellant- Ravi Karan, Sri Anil Kumar Kushwaha for informant and the learned AGA on behalf of State and have perused the record.

12. Learned Counsel for the appellants argued that entire proceeding of trial is based on illegal evidence adduced by the prosecution; allegations of prosecution even if assumed to be true, in committing the said offence, no role has been assigned to the appellant. Learned Counsel appearing for appellant- Ravi Karan has raised argument that no role has been assigned; the appellant has been said to be armed with Rifle, where as no rifle injury was found either on the body of deceased-Moti Lal or any of the injured, and this indicates that in the commission of offence, appellant was not involved; only on the statement in chief of the witnesses, conviction has been based and not on the totality of the evidence adduced by prosecution; it was the categorical averment of the witnesses that they are not in a position to say by whom exhibited documents were prepared but even then the exhibited papers were relied upon by the Trial Court; merely saying that when these papers were being reconstructed, no objection was made by the defence, whereas the fact remains that while documents/papers were being exhibited, serious objection was raised by defence counsel which is apparent by perusal of oral evidence of the witnesses. These facts have also been asserted in their statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C. It was further argued by learned Counsel for the appellant that prior to committal, copies of relevant documents viz statement under Section 161 and other relevant documents were never provided to the accused and therefore, they failed to controvert the witnesses during trial and this major defect of the prosecution, affects the principle of just and fair trial rendering the entire prosecution case under shadow of doubt, besides causing prejudice and thus, the appellants are entitled for acquittal giving benefit of doubt.

13. Per contra, learned AGA and Sri Anil Kumar Kushwaha, learned Counsel for informant opposed the submissions made by learned Counsel for the appellants; supported the impugned judgment and order by saying that the learned Trial Judge has passed a detail and reasoned order believing the testimony of prosecution witnesses, there is no illegality or infirmity and thus, the appeal is liable to be dismissed.

14. P.W.1 Shiv Prasad scribe of the first information report has stated that on 16.2.1992, an altercation took place between Moti Lal and Pitai Kumhar; his son Hira Lal and Awadhesh brought Moti Lal home. Then about 20 minutes later, Bhola having Lathi, Prakash armed with DBBL gun and Ravi Karan armed with Rifle were seen going towards the house of Moti Lal; they were exhorting "इसकी गुन्डई बढ गई है, यह अपने आदमियो को भी सताने लगा है इसे जान से मार देगे।" He followed them; the above accused reached at the door of Moti Lal, upon which Moti Lal told that why they were abusing and exhorting; hearing noise, the wife of Moti Lal Sarla, his daughter Chiya, wife of Babu Lal-Phulmati and his son Suresh and Awadhesh arrived there. Bhola exhorted to kill Moti Lal on which, accused Ravi Karan and Prakash started firing; his son Suresh received injuries on his chest, his sister-in-law Sarla received injuries in her thigh, Chiya and wife of Babu Lal namely Phulmati received pellet injuries and Moti Lal received injuries in the stomach and leg. The accused fled away from the spot after committing the offence. In examination-in-chief, this witness stated that Moti Lal fell down and when he was rescuing/lifting Moti Lal, the S.P. Guru Darshan Singh and police personal came and took Moti Lal to Dariyapur police outpost; his sister-in-law Sarla was also with them. From Dariyapur, they went to Vijaipur police outpost where he wrote the first information report. His brother Babu Lal took Moti Lal and Sarla both injured to the District Hospital, Fatehpur. Other injured were examined on the next day at Vijaipur hospital. He further stated that Moti Lal expired on 16.2.1992 while he was in the way to Dariyapur and he has given written report on the same day at 9.00 P.M. in the night at police outpost Vijaipur; from Vijaipur he never went to police station, Kishunpur. Re-constructed first information report (Ex. Ka-1) was read over to him which he accepted to have given at the police outpost. This exhibit was objected by the defence Counsel, but the objection was rejected by the Trial Judge. In the statement in Court, he explained that Moti Lal received injuries in his stomach and leg. In chief, this witness has stated that police never interrogated him at any point of time during investigation, though in his statement he stated that he reached on the spot just from behind the accused persons, but this fact has not been described in the first information report. In his cross examination, he stated that he was just behind 10 steps from the accused and when he was watching the incident, he was not stand still but was moving 2-3 steps here and there. This statement of the witness that he saw the entire incident from behind the accused is not corroborated by the site plan available on record where place "A' has been shown as the place from where Suresh, Shiv Prasad, Phulmati came out and saw the occurrence and they sustained injuries. It is admitted that in the incident, Shiv Prasad has ever received any injury. His presence on the spot becomes doubtful according to the site plan and the version of first information report, he has shown himself to be present on the spot behind the accused. He stated that he cannot tell how many shots were fired and which shot was fired by which of the accused as the firing was being made at some intervals; when firing was being made, he was behind 2-3 steps, his daughter was at distance of 4 steps south to him, wife was towards west at a distance of 2-3 steps. Phulmati was at a distance of about 10 steps towards western side of deceased-Moti Lal and Suresh was 5 steps towards south west from deceased. They received injuries. The mode and manner of assault, as has been stated by P.W.1, is not only contrary to the statement of P.W.2 an injured witness, but is also not supported by the site plan available on record. Even the presence of other person as stated by this witness is contrary to the statements of other witnesses, whereas this witness stated that on shouting of Bhola, wife of Moti Lal, his daughter Chiya, Phulmati(wife of Babu Lal) and Suresh reached on the spot.

15. P.W.2 stated that she and her husband were sitting on a bench outside the house, whereas P.W.8-Chiya injured stated that she was playing in front of house; her father was sitting with Suresh and was discussing something when the accused came and exhorted. How all injured and P.W.1 reached on the spot, in the statements of P.W. 1, P.W.2, P.W.8 are not corroborating each other so as to place reliance on their statements. Though, it has been asserted by P.W.1 and P.W.2 that pellets hits wall and window of Babu Lal, but during investigation, neither any pellet has been recovered by the Investigating Officer nor any such recovery memo was prepared during investigation. P.W.1 in his cross examination, has stated that accused Prakash and Ravi Karan were firing from one place. He did not remember that in which leg and where Moti Lal-deceased received injuries; he cannot say that whose fire hit the leg of Moti Lal, though he admitted that after this injury in the leg, Moti Lal fell down. He cannot say that whether it was first or the second fire, but it might be third or fourth fire, but which shot hit, he did not count. He stated that daughter Chiya and sister]-in-law started running towards the house of Moti Lal. He stated that although he is a license holder of 12 gun, but he is not in a position to explain the difference of shots between rifle and 12 bore gun. The injury of stomach sustained by the deceased, has not been explained by any of the witnesses in their statements.

16. P.W.2- Sarla in her chief stated same version in support of the first information report and stated that in the said occurrence of firing made by Ravi Karan and Prakash, her husband, she herself, daughter Chiya and Phulmati received injuries, whereas P.W.1 stated that first information report was written by him at Vijaipur police outpost, but this witness in her chief states that his brother-in-law Shiv Prasad wrote this paper at home and went to Police Station Kishunpur, which is totally contrary to the statement of P.W.1. She stated that her husband Moti Lal died before reaching Fatehpur, Hospital. She stated that at the time of occurrence, she along with her husband were sitting on a Bench facing south; when the accused were firing, she saw Shiv Prasad, Chiya and Phulmati were also there. She did not count number of shots, but 7-8 shots were fired. She had seen gun and rifle from before the incident. She stated that without watching, only on sound, she can identify whether shots were fired from gun or by rifle. She categorically stated that first fire was made by gun which missed the target and she and her husband did not run towards house but moved 10 steps towards field and she was 2-3 steps behind her husband. Second shot was fired by rifle which also did not hit any one; none tried to escape even after said firing; Chiya, Phulmati and Suresh also did not run away; the first and second shot did not hit any one and pellets entered in the wall and window of Babu Lal, but third fire of rifle hit the leg of her husband,she was 4 steps towards north from the place where her husband was standing. This fact is not corroborated by the evidence available on record and also by the site plan. The third fire was made by rifle which hit right leg of her husband and that time, she was one step away from her husband. Even after receiving injury, neither her husband fell down nor he sat, but was still in standing position. She stated that fourth fire by gun hit her but what injury was sustained by her, has not been explained in the entire testimony and not the husband and at that time, daughter Chiya was towards west, Phulmati was towards north and Suresh was towards southern side. She stated that the shot which hit her was made from four furlongs from south eastern side. On query made by the Court, she stated that one furlong is equal to one hand and if it is so, injuries shown in the injury report (Ex.Ka-7) is not corroborated. She stated that fifth shot was fired by Prakash from gun which hit Suresh and Phulmati and firing was made from same place from where 4th shot was made; she further stated that sixth shot was fired by Prakash from gun which hit Chiya. P.W.2 stated that P.W.1-informant accompanied her from village to Fatehpur all time, whereas P.W.1 has stated that he sent Moti Lal and her sister-in-law(Sarla) along with his brother Babu Lal to District Hospital, Fatehpur and he went to police out post to lodge report. The mode and manner stated by this witness and the injuries received during commission of offence, is not corroborated by medical evidence available on record. This witness also stated that she and other injured witnesses went to the police station, which creates doubt and her statement badly damages the prosecution version.

17. It is significant to note that there is no inquest report available on record. P.W.2 has stated that inquest was prepared at 7.00 P.M. on the day of occurrence where police Inspector was present and her jeth Shiv Prasad was also present there. It is also strengthen by the statement of P.W.1 Shiv Prasad that Moti Lal expired on 16.2.1992 while in the way to police outpost, Dariyapur.

18. P.W.8-Chiya in chief has stated that at the time of occurrence, she, her father, mother Sarla Devi, Suresh and Phulmati were present on the spot and Ravi Karan armed with rifle, Prakash armed with DBBL gun and Bhola armed with Lathi came and they assaulted her father, mother,Phulmati, Suresh and Chiya by firing from their weapons and her father after receiving injuries fell down They went to Vijaipur hospital, but doctor was not available there, so her father Shiv Prasad and Sarla went to Sadar Hospital. They were examined on the next day at Vijaipur Hospital. Her father expired on the next day in Sadar Hospital, Fatehpur due to injuries caused by the accused. The Investigating Officer of the case recorded her statement during investigation. The statement of this witness that her father expired next day in Sadar Hospital, Fatehpur is contrary to the statement of P.W.2 (Sarla Devi), where she stated that they reached Sadar Hospital, Fatehpur at about 12.00 in the night and when reached to the hospital, her husband expired, the fact remains that at one place she stated that her husband expired at 7.00 PM on the same day and inquest was prepared by the Investigating Officer. Exactly when Moti Lal-deceased expired is not clearly stated by any of the witnesses, hence the time of death of deceased is not ascertainable from the statement of so called eye witnesses, more so in the absence of inquest report on record. In her examination in chief, she stated that she, her mother,father, Suresh and Phulmati were present in front of house just prior to the occurrence, whereas in cross examination, she has stated that when assailants came in front of her house, her mother-Sarla was in the house and she was playing outside the door; her father and Suresh were there. She has stated that she cannot say that how many fires were made on her father; she cannot say how many shots were fired. However, this witness has admitted the fact that the Investigating Officer has recorded her statement and the statements of Phulmati and Suresh also, but she has not answered any question properly and deposed that she has forgotten every thing regarding incident. On careful scrutiny of the testimony of this witness, we are of the opinion that she is not wholly reliable and trustworthy. The statements of these witnesses comes within the purview of partly reliable and partly not reliable, hence in totality, it would not be safe to record conviction on the testimonies of these witnesses.

19. The mode of assessing reliability of a witness has been explained time and again by the Apex Court that certain factors are to be kept in mind while assessing the testimony of a witness. The Law of Evidence does not require any particular number of witnesses to be examined in proof of a given fact. However, faced with the testimony of a single witness, the Court may classify the oral testimony into three categories, namely (1) wholly reliable (2) wholly unreliable and (3) neither wholly reliable, nor wholly unreliable. In the case of first two categories, there may be no difficulty in accepting or discarding the testimony of the single witness. The difficulty arises in the third category of the cases where the Court has to be circumspect and has to look for corroboration in material particulars by reliable testimony, direct or circumstantial, before acting upon the testimony of a single witness or as the case may be.

20. The material discrepancies are those which are not normal, and not expected of a normal person. While appreciating the testimony of a witness, approach of the Court must be as to whether the evidence of witness after perusal appears to have line of credibility and once that impression is formed, it will be necessary for the Court to scrutinise the testimony more particularly keeping in consideration the deficiencies, drawbacks and infirmities pointed out in the evidence and to evaluate the same to arrive at a conclusion whether it is against general tenor or it is shaken so as to render it unworthy of belief. It is relevant to mention that other injured witnesses Suresh and Phulmati have not been examined by the prosecution.

21. P.W.3 Head Moharrir is formal witness who has executed chick FIR of the case., Though original chick has been lost, but he proved this document, which has been objected by the defence counsel. This witness has admitted the fact that original (Ex.Ka.3) is not before him nor available in the S.P. office, and he did not know who prepared (Ex.Ka.3); GD in respect to institution of case is not on record, hence he is not in a position to explain whether any chitthi majroobi was prepared or not. He stated that the case was investigated by SHO, R.C. Mishra. This witness has stated that he has taken blood stained clothes of injured in his possession at the time of preparation of chick FIR, fard was prepared and after getting it sealed was kept in Malkhana, but no such memo of recovery is available on record, nor has been exhibited. Hence, reliability of this assertion is meaning less, specially when P.W.2 in her statement has stated that she wore blood stained sari having wholes of pellets for about 7-8 days and none had taken the same from her. Therefore, this witness also is not reliable and trustworthy.

22. P.W.4 Dr. Bharat Namdeo conducted autopsy of the body of deceased Moti Lal on 18.2.1992 at 3.30 P.M. From perusal of post mortem report it transpires that injuries caused to the deceased was of gun fire and not by rifle as pellets and wadding were found and thus, it is clear that his injuries would not have been caused by rifle. In his statement, the doctor has given vague reply by saying that the all four injuries on the body of deceased might have been caused minimum by two shots or maximum by four shots.

23. P.W.5 Dr. Devendra Kumar examined injured Phulmati, Chiya and Suresh brought by constable Brijraj Chaubey on 17.2.1992 at 4.25 PM and he has opined the injuries to be simple caused by fire arm. He has stated that he cannot tell about the distance from which the injuries were caused. He also stated that he cannot ascertain as to from which of the fire arm, these injuries were caused.

24. P.W.6 Ravi Chandra Mishra, Investigated the case and submitted charge sheet. He stated that as there is no prosecution documents, he is unable to described about the steps taken during investigation. He disown his signature on the photo copy of site plan available on record and also stated that he did not remember who has put signature on it. In cross examination, he stated that what the witnesses had stated, he cannot tell in absence of case diary. This witness was recalled and this time, he stated to have investigated case crime no. 30 of 1992 under Section 302,307,504 IPC, P.S. Kishunpur and submitted charge sheet against accused Ravi Karan, Prakash and Bhola, but today, neither original nor photo copy of the charge sheet is available before him. Although, this witness has admitted to have recorded statements of witnesses during investigation, but no statement recorded under Section 161 Cr.P.C is available on record. In this reference, argument of learned Counsel for the appellants that prior to committal, copies of the relevant documents such as statements under Section 161 Cr.P.C. were not provided to the accused, hence, they failed to controvert the witnesses during trial under Section 145 of Indian Evidence Act, has substance.

25. P.W.7 Subhash Chandra Singh-Phamacist stated in his statement that medico legal register dated 1.1.92 to 31.3.1992 is with me in which injuries received by Sarla Devi is noted who was examined on 17.2.1992 at 1.10 A.M. This witness has stated that at the time of examination, he was not present and thus, he cannot tell who had prepared it.

26. In the present case, although the accused were charged under Sections 302/307, but both the accused are convicted with the aid of Section 34 IPC without assigning any reason and no stress has been laid down by learned AGA on the point.

27. On the aforesaid facts and circumstances of the case, we gave our thoughtful consideration to remand the case back for fresh trial but remanding back case to the Trial Judge at this stage, will never be proper and justified after lapse of 27 years for the reason that reconstruction of those documents/records is impossible now and thus, initiation of fresh trial today will never meet the ends of justice.

28. Non supply of copies of documents such as statement under section 161 Cr.P.C, panchayatnama and other relevant record to the accused, in the case in hand has caused serious prejudice during trial to contradict the witnesses under Section 145 of Evidence Act. It will not be out of reference to note that an omission to comply with section 207 Cr. P.C. read with section 238 Cr. P.C. is bound to cause a serious prejudice to the accused. It is obligatory for the Trial Magistrate to ensure supply of copies of the relevant documents upon which the prosecution intends to rely upon during trial. The Hon'ble Apex Court held that it was incumbent upon the trial court to supply the copies of these documents to the accused as that entitlement was a facet of just, fair and transparent investigation/trial and constituted an inalienable attribute of the process of a fair trial which Article 21 of the Constitution guarantees to every accused. We would like to reproduce the following portion of the said judgment discussing this aspect: "21.The issue that has emerged before us is, therefore, somewhat larger than what has been projected by the State and what has been dealt with by the High Court. The question arising would no longer be one of compliance or non-compliance with the provisions of Section 207 Cr.P.C. and would travel beyond the confines of the strict language of the provisions of Cr.P.C. and touch upon the larger doctrine of a free and fair trial that has been painstakingly built up by the courts on a purposive interpretation of Article 21 of the Constitution. It is not the stage of making of the request; the efflux of time that has occurred or the prior conduct of the accused that is material. What is of significance is if in a given situation the accused comes to the court contending that some papers forwarded to the court by the investigating agency have not been exhibited by the prosecution as the same favours the accused the court must concede a right to the accused to have an access to the said documents, if so claimed. This, according to us, is the core issue in the case which must be answered affirmatively. In this regard, we would like to be specific in saying that we find it difficult to agree with the view taken by the High Court that the accused must be made to await the conclusion of the trial to test the plea of prejudice that he may have raised. Such a plea must be answered at the earliest and certainly before the conclusion of the trial, even though it may be raised by the accused belatedly. This is how the scales of justice in our criminal jurisprudence have to be balanced. (This was observed in Manjeet Singh Khera Versus State of Maharashtra,SPECIAL LEAVE PETITION (CRIMINAL) NO.5897 OF 2013. Also see V.K. Sasikala v. State Represented by Superintendent of Police (2012) 9 SCC 771).

29. In para-33 of the impugned judgment, although injuries sustained by Sarla Devi is mentioned, but the facts remain that wrongly, injuries sustained by Phulmati has been mentioned in the name of Sarla Devi.

30. The accused is entitled to get copy of police report and other documents and in this respect, provisions of Section 207 are necessary to be quoted here in below;

Section 207 in The Code Of Criminal Procedure, 1973

207. Supply to the accused of copy of police report and other documents. In any case where the proceeding has been instituted on a police report, the Magistrate shall without delay furnish to the accused, free of cost, a copy of each of the following:-

(i)the police report;

(ii)the first information report recorded under section 154;

(iii)the statements record.ed under sub- section (3) of section 161 of all persons whom the prosecution proposes to examine as its witnesses, excluding therefrom any part in regard to which a request for such exclusion has been made by the police officer under sub- section (6) of section 173;

(iv)the confessions and statements, if any, recorded under section 164;

*(v)any other document or relevant extract thereof forwarded to the Magistrate with the police report under sub- section (5) of section 173: Provided that the Magistrate may, after perusing any such part of a statement as is referred to in clause (iii) and considering the reasons given by the police officer for the request, direct that a copy of that part of the statement or of such portion thereof as the Magistrate thinks proper, shall be furnished to the accused: Provided further that if the Magistrate is satisfied that any document referred to in clause (v) is voluminous, he shall, instead of furnishing the accused with a copy thereof, direct that he will only be all*owed to inspect it either personally or through pleader in Court.

Section 208 in The Code Of Criminal Procedure, 1973

208. Supply of copies of statements and documents to accused in other cases triable by Court of Session. Where, in a case instituted otherwise than on a police report, it appears to the Magistrate issuing process under section 204 that the offence is triable exclusively by the Court of Session, the Magistrate shall without delay furnish to the accused, free of cost, a copy of each of the following:-

(i) the statements recorded under section 200 or section 202, of all persons examined by the Magistrate;

(ii)the statements and confessions, if any, recorded under section 161 or section 164;

(iii)any documents produced before the Magistrate on which the prosecution proposes to rely: Provided that if the Magistrate is satisfied that any such document is voluminous, he shall, instead of furnishing the accused with a copy thereof, direct that he will only be allowed to inspect it either personally or through pleader in Court.

31. Section 238 of Cr.P.C. unequivocally provided that a solemn duty is cast on the Magistrate to satisfy himself that he has strictly complied with the provisions of Section 207 Cr.P.C. viz. furnishing the accused, free of cost, copies of documents as prayed for by him and referred to in that section itself without delay and such satisfaction has to be invariably judicial satisfaction. An omission to comply with the mandatory provision of law as enshrined in Section 207 Cr.P.C. read with Section 238 Cr.P.C is bound to cause serious prejudice to the accused and such a situation may even vitiate the criminal trial. The supply of documents and statements prepared at the investigating stage as mandated under Section 207 Cr.P.C. cannot be treated a mere superfluity or empty formality. It is highly improper and irregular on the part of the Court to shirk its responsibility in this regard and put the accused at the mercy of prosecution by merely observing inter alia that it is the duty of prosecution "to follow the rules of natural justice'. Thus, it can safely be held that accused could not be refused to supply copies of documents even at the stage of trial, if relied upon by the prosecution per statutory provisions of Section 207 Cr.P.C. and also as per the provisions of Section 238 Cr.P.C. If we go carefully through the ratio laid down in V.K. Sasikala Vs. State (2012) 9 SCC 771, we get clear idea about the solemn duty of the Court to supply copies of documents to the accused. It is the duty of the Court to supply to the accused, copies of the police report, the first information report recorded under Section 154 Cr.P.C., the statements recorded under Section 161(3), the confessions and statements, if any, recorded under Section 164 and any other documents or relevant extract thereof, which is forwarded to the Magistrate along with police report.

32. To sum up the matter, after careful scrutiny of the oral testimony of the witnesses and the records available, we find following discrepancies;

i) No motive of the occurrence has been placed by any of the witness to inspire confidence.

ii) No x-ray report or supplementary report, inquest report is available on record.

iii) P.W.1-informant in his statement deposed that deceased-Moti Lal died in the way while going to Dariyapur and he reported the matter at Police outpost Vijaipur, while the FIR was lodged at Police Station, Kishunpur district, Fatehpur.

iv) P.W.1 disown his statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. and stated that the police did not inquire anything from him.

v) P.W.2-injured Sarla Devi, although tried to describe the mode and manner of the incident together the injuries sustained during course of commission of offence, but her statement is not corroborated. Moreover, she stated that the FIR was written at home.

vi) In the site plan, house of Babu Lal is shown towards north. How this site plan was prepared and later constructed, itself is doubtful as no mode of reconstruction has been explained by any of the prosecution witnesses.

vii) P.W.1 stated to have seen the occurrence from behind the accused, whereas, in the map/site plan Suresh, Shiv Prasad and Phulmati all have been shown at place "A', which is towards north from the place of said firing and witnessing the occurrence from behind the accused is not corroborated from the perusal of available map as P.W.1 states.

xiii) According to FIR version, the informant stated that he sent the injured to hospital along with village people and then he came to the police station, and in chief, he stated that injured deceased-Moti Lal and injured-Sarla were with him while injured-Chiya was at home.....

ix) The injuries found on the body of injured as asserted by P.W.2 are not corroborated from medical evidence.

x) P.W.2 has not properly explained the mode and manner of assault/ occurrence which creates serious doubt about the prosecution version.

xi) P.W.1 is not reliable and trustworthy. P.W.8 is also totally unreliable, as at the time of occurrence, she was aged about 9 years.

xii) Non providing copies of documents to the accused, has caused serious prejudice to them and violates the principle of fair trial.

33. In view of discussion made above, taking cumulative effect of the evidence, as discussed above, we allow this appeal and set aside the impugned judgment and order dated 15.4.2015 passed by learned Trial Judge in S.T. No. 1185 of 2001 (State Vs. Ravi Karan and others). The appellants Prakash is in jail. He be set at liberty forthwith. The appellant Ravi Karan is on bail. He need not surrender. His bail bonds are cancelled and sureties are discharged. However, the appellants are directed to make compliance of the provisions of Section 437-A, Cr.P.C. in the concerned Court below.

34. Registry is directed to transmit the original record to the concerned Trial Court forthwith for compliance of this judgment. Trial Court is obliged to intimate compliance to this Court within a month.

35. Before parting with the case, we feel it necessary, in the ends of justice to obtain a report from the District Judge, Fatehpur informing this Court that whether or not a non judicial enquiry as has time and again been circulated by the High Court in relation to loss of judicial records, conducted and if so, its result. It is also directed that after receipt of report from the District Judge, Fatehpur, the Registrar General of this Court shall place the matter before Hon'ble the Administrative Judge concerned for appropriate orders, in case of non compliance of the various Circulars of this Court regarding loss of record.

The appellants have been acquitted for the offence under Section 148, 504, 506 I.P.C. and Section 7 Criminal Law Amendment Act.

4. Brief facts of Sessions Trial No. 110 of 2011 arising out of Case Crime No. 2B of 2009 are that the complainant Abdul Samad lodged a first information report on the basis of written report filed by him on 05.01.2009 stating that Abdul Wafa was returning from Dankuiya on 03.01.2009. At about 11 AM when he passed near the house of Abdul Khaliq, Razi Ahmad @ Raju exhorted to kill him and on his exhortation, Tufail Ahmad, Nurul Huda, with country made pistol in their hands, fired on the son of complainant, but he escaped. Then Abdul Khaliq exhorted and on his exhortation Jamil Ahmad hit his son on his head by lathi in order to kill him and Abdul Mutaliq and Ujer Ahmad also hit him on his head and back due to which, he fell down. People gathered there including Ahmad Ali, Mohd. Yaseen, Abdul Kuddus and Iqbal Ahmad. His son sustained serious injuries and was taken to Rudauli Hospital. He was medically examined and his condition was found serious as he was regularly vomiting and his injury was bleeding. He was sent to District Hospital and some treatment was provided to him but he became unconscious. He was referred to Lucknow Medical College where he is under treatment. The accused persons are of the same village and they have old enmity with the complainant. On the basis of report, offence was registered as Case Crime No. 2B of 2009, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 307, 323, 504, 506 I.P.C. and Section 7 Criminal Law Amendment Act on 05.01.2009 at about 06:50 P.M. The Investigating Officer investigated into the offence and finding sufficient evidence against the accused persons, filed charge sheet under the aforesaid sections.

5. Brief facts of Sessions Trial No. 168 of 2011 arising out of Case Crime No. 2 of 2009 are that at about 01:30 P.M., a written report in Police Station Rudhauli was given stating that on 03.01.2009, at about 11 AM in the north side of Raunahia Village in a pit of Gram Samaj, Abdul Khaliq was taking water for irrigating his field. When the water was likely to over in the pit, he stopped taking water from it. Thereafter the whole village went there for fishing in the pit. Abdul Khaliq said that he has cleared the pit and, therefore, he will alone have the right of fishing. Some people of the village, however, started fishing whereupon the accused persons Islahur Rahman @ Islam, Miswahur Rahman, Abdul Mutaliq, Abdul Khaliq, Jamil Ahmad, Tufel Ahmad, Wasiullah, Ujer Ahmad, Nurulhuda, Ainuullah, Iflahur Rahman, Gulam Husen, Israhul Haq, Taufiq Ahmad and Razi Ahmad, with lathi and danda in their hands, with intention to kill Abdul Wafa and Rafiuddin, attacked on them, who after sustaining injuries fell on the ground. The first information report was registered as Case Crime No. 2 of 2009, under Sections 147, 148, 323 I.P.C. and Section 7 Criminal Law Amendment Act and after investigation, the Investigating Officer submitted charge sheet against the accused persons.

6. Charges were framed against all the accused persons under aforesaid sections who denied the charges and claimed trial. By order dated 20.12.2014, passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 5, both the aforesaid mentioned cases were consolidated and Sessions Trial No. 110 of 2011 was made the leading file, in which the evidence was recorded.

7. The prosecution examined PW-1 Abdul Wafa, PW-2 Dr. A.K. Chaudhari, PW-3 Abdul Hamid, PW-4 Ram Kawal Yadav, PW-5 Arvind Nath Tiwari, PW-6 Ahmad Ali, PW-7 Yashwant Krinvendra Chaudhari and PW-8 Gaurav Bhushan, who proved the written report Ext. Ka-1, medical report of Abdul Wafa Ext. Ka-2, written report of Sessions Trial No. 168 of 2011 Ext. Ka-3, site map as Ext. Ka-4, charge sheets Ext. Ka-5 to Ka-13, chik F.I.R. in Case Crime No. 2B of 2009 Ext. Ka-14, G.D. Ext. Ka-15, chik F.I.R. of Case Crime No. 2 of 2009 Ext. Ka-16, GD Ext. Ka-17, reference slip Ext. Ka-18 and CT Scan report as Material Ext.-1.

8. Statements of accused-appellants were recorded under section 313 of the Criminal Procedure Code in which they have stated that they have been falsely implicated out of enmity. Accused Mutaliq has stated himself to be handicapped. Accused Tufail has pleaded innocence as he was irrigating and complainant side came carrying lathi danda and became aggressive on the issue of fishing and instituted false case crime no. 2A/09 to create evidence of innocence. Accused Jameel Ahamad has pleaded innocence and has stated that except Israhulhaq, none was present on spot. In defence, the accused persons have filed statement of Harimohan in ST No. 153/11, charge-sheet and statement, photo-state admit card of Razi and certificate about Ujer Ahamad.

9. The learned trial court after hearing both sides and perusing evidence on record, convicted and sentenced the accused-appellants by impugned judgment in both the session trials by a common judgment.

10. Aggrieved by the impugned judgment, these two appeals have been preferred challenging the impugned judgment on the ground that the same is illegal, arbitrary, perverse and contrary to evidence on record. The appellants have been assigned no specific role and prosecution case is based on general allegations. Two incidents have been alleged and in both Abdul Wafa has been alleged to have sustained injuries. The offence under section 307 I.P.C. was not proved in view of injuries. Defence evidence has been completely ignored. The sentence is too severe. The impugned judgment is not sustainable under law and is liable to be set aside. Therefore, the appellants are entitled for acquittal.

11. PW-1 Abdul Wafa, the injured has stated that on 03.01.02009 at about 11 AM, when he was coming to his house from Danokuiya and passing nearby the house of Abdul Khaliq, Abdul Khaliq and Razi Ahmad @ Raju exhorted to kill him at which Tufail Ahmad and Nurul Huda having country made pistol in their hands fired on him but he escaped by sitting down. Again Abdul Khaliq exhorted to kill him, whereupon, Jamil Ahmad and Abdul Mutaliq hit him on his head by lathi in order to kill him. Accused Ujer Ahmad also hit him by lathi below his neck on his back. He sustained injuries on his head and fell down. Witnesses and others reached there. He was vomiting and became unconscious. When be became conscious, he found himself in Mayo Medical Centre, Lucknow, where he was admitted and kept under treatment for 10 to 12 days. The accused persons have enmity with his family. The complainant in the case is his father who has died and who had given a written report by his signature. The witness has identified the signature on the written report Ext. Ka-1. The witness also filed original medical report, CT Scan report and discharge slip, the photostat thereof were already on record. He has further stated that because of the injuries, he is still under treatment and he is not comfortable in speaking.

12. PW-2 Dr. A.K. Chaudhary has stated that on 03.01.2009, he was posted as Medical Officer in PHC, Rudhauli and injured Abdul Wafa aged about 55 years was brought by police of PS Rudhauli. He found following injuries on his body :-

(1) lacerated would 9 x 5 cm. x scalp deep on the left perital region, above 8 cm. on the back side. Bleeding was present, X-ray was advised.

(2) lacerated wound 3 x 0.4 cm. x scalp deep close to injury no. 1. Bleeding was present.

(3) contusion 3 x 2 cm. (red colour) on the left side on chest 5 cm. below the scapular.

13. According to doctor, all the injuries were caused by blunt object and were simple in nature, except injury no. 1 for which X-ray and expert opinion was advised. During treatment, the injured vomited once and complained that he is feeling tendency of vomiting and he has vomited 7 times. The patient was advised to be kept under observation in District Hospital, Basti. Injuries were fresh. The doctor has proved the injury report as Ext. Ka-2 and said that the injuries must have been caused at about 11 AM on 03.01.2009.

14. PW-3 Abdul Hamid has stated that eight and half years ago, the said incident took place when he was present in his house. Abdul Khaliq was irrigating his field by water collected in a pit of Gram Samaj. When the water in the pit was getting over, many persons of the village became excited for fishing which was opposed by Abdul Khaliq saying that he has cleared water from the pit and he has alone right of fishing in the said pit. The pit was of Gram Samaj and, therefore, some persons stepped down in the pit for fishing. Abdul Khaliq became angry and started speaking otherwise. All the 16 accused persons namely Islahur Rahman @ Islam, Miswahur Rahman, Abdul Mutaliq, Abdul Khaliq, Jamil Ahmad, Tufel Ahmad, Wasiullah, Ujer Ahmad, Nurulhuda, Ainuullah, Iflahur Rahman, Gulam Husen, Israhul Haq, Taufiq Ahmad, Razi Ahmad and Karam Husen along with lathi, danda, country made pistol and spade. Accused Ujer Ahmad and Razi Ahmad were having country made pistol, Nurul Huda was having spade in his hand and the remaining accused persons were having lathi and danda in their hands and they started beating Abdul Wafa and Rafiuddin. He and others saw the whole incident. He got the report inscribed by a person about this incident and gave the same in police station on the basis of which, first information report was registered. The witness proved the written report as Ext. Ka-3.

15. PW-4 SI Ram Kewal is the Investigating Officer who proved the site map as Ext. Ka-4 and Ka-6 and has recorded the statements of the witnesses. After finding sufficient evidence, he submitted charge sheet Ext. Ka-5 and Ka-7.

16. PW-5 SI Arvind Nath Tiwari is subsequent IO who has proved charge-sheet Ext. Ka-8, Ka-9, Ka-10, Ka-11, Ka-12 and Ka-13.

17. PW-6 Ahmad Ali has stated that on the date of incident at about 11 AM Abdul Wafa was returning to his house and when he came near the house of Abdul Khaliq, on the exhortation of Abdul Khaliq and Razi Ahmad, accused Tufail Ahmad and Nurulhuda fired on him but he escaped, whereupon on the exhortation of Abdul Khaliq, Jamil Ahmad hit Abdul Wafa by lathi on his head but he missed and lathi hit on his back, below the neck. He fell on the ground. Abdul Wafa was also hit by Abdul Mutaliq and Ujer Ahmad and he sustained injuries on his head. He was taken to Rudhauli for treatment and in view of the seriousness of the injuries, he was referred to the District Hospital.

18. PW-7 Yashwant Krinvendra Chaudhary is Constable Moharir, who has proved the chik F.I.R. Ext. Ka-14, GD Report Ext. Ka-15, Chik F.I.R. Ext. Ka-16, GD report Ext. Ka-17.

19. PW-8 Dr. Gaurav, Radiologist has stated that on 16.01.2019, he was deputed on Raj Scanning Limited, Jiyamau, Lucknow. Abdul Wafa aged about 54 years was sent by Dr. Sumil Agarwal for CT Scan. In the CT Scan depressed fracture of frontal bone was found and clotting was present on frontal labes. He has proved the CT Scan report as Ext. Ka-18. CT Scan film has been proved as Material Ext.-1.

20. The learned counsel to the accused-appellants, Sri Kamal Krishna, Senior Advocate, has argued that in respect of same occurrence, two fires were lodged and two charge-sheets were submitted and in both the cases, the accused-appellants have been convicted, whereas, the place of occurrence for both the cases are different and the evidence of the prosecution has become self-contradictory and the whole prosecution case is doubtful. The learned A.G.A. and counsel for the complainant side have submitted that the prosecution by cogent evidence has established the case beyond shadow of doubt and the learned trial court has rightly convicted and sentenced the accused-appellants.

21. Certain pertinent facts need to be mentioned in order to understand the overall factual matrix in this case. Two F.I.R. has been lodged in respect of an incident taking place on 3.1.2009 at 11 AM, one got registered on the written report of Abdul Hameed on the same day at 13.30 PM naming 16 accused persons. The second F.I.R. was lodged by Abdul Samad, the father of the injured, on 5.1.2019 at 6.50 PM naming only 7 accused persons from the group of those 16 persons who were earlier named in the F.I.R. lodged on 3.1.2009. It is not understandable how another F.I.R. was registered by police in respect of same incident and why not the subsequent F.I.R. was included with the first F.I.R. which was earlier in time and date. Both were in respect of same incident bearing Crime No. 2/09 and Crime No. 2B/09 and were investigated altogether by the I.O. Two separate charge-sheets were filed and cognizance was taken on both and both were committed to sessions for trial. Naturally, it could be so done if they are connected and in respect of same criminal incident or if they are cross cases.

22. The committing court has mentioned in the committal order about the case pertaining to S.T. No. 168/11 to be cross case of other S.T. No. 110/11, though the same is not correct as it was not a cross case at all. The learned trial court by order dated 21.8.2014 refused to undertake joint trial and still retained S.T. No. 168/11 which was for the offence u/s 148,147,323,504,506 I.P.C. and 7 Criminal Law Amendment Act which was triable by Magistrate. Two trials of at least those 7 accused persons who were common in both the cases was not possible. The matter went to the High Court on this point in Criminal Misc. No. 42513/14 and vide order dated 27.10.2014, the order of the trial court dated 21.8.2014 was quashed directing the trial court to take a fresh decision on this point. Thereafter, by order dated 20.12.2014, both the trials were consolidated and a joint trial was directed making S.T. No. 110/11 to be leading file. Against this order, the prosecution did not seek any judicial remedy. It means that the prosecution accepted both the cases to be connected, arising out of one incident and adduced evidence accordingly.

23. In S.T. No. 110/11 charges were framed for the offence u/s 147, 148, 323/149, 504, 506, 307/149 I.P.C. and Section 7 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act and in ST No. 168/11 for the offence u/s 147, 148, 323/149, 504, 506 I.P.C. and Section 7 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act. Clearly, in both the trials, all the sections were common except section 307 I.P.C. which is additional in ST No. 110/11. Both the session trials have been decided by the impugned judgment and all the accused persons have been convicted in both the session trial. Therefore, I find that at both level, investigation and trial, procedural lapse and omission has occurred, may be because of inexperience or ignorance. I will come to the legal effect of such lapse and omission later on. Now the question is what should have been done in such situation and what was the legal course open during investigation and trial. Just for guidance, it is observed as follows:

1. The second F.I.R. should not have been registered, and if registered, as it has happened in this case, it should have been merged with the earlier F.I.R. and the offence should have been investigated taking into consideration the subsequent report. By doing so, the mistake could have been avoided which has occurred in respect of those 7 accused persons whose names are common in both the cases because a double trial is not legally possible for the same offence.

2. Now, if the investigating agency committed that error, the learned trial court should not let the error to continue and the same could have been corrected during trial. The learned trial court should and must have struck down the names of the seven accused persons whose names are common in both the cases from the case which related to smaller and less serious offence, to avoid double trial resulting in double jeopardy of those accused persons which is in violation of the constitutionally protected fundamental right of the accused persons as guaranteed by Article 20 of the Constitution of India.

24. Instead of doing so, the learned trial court convicted all those seven accused persons in both the cases. Therefore, the trial of 7 accused persons charge-sheeted in ST No. 168/11 who are also accused in ST No. 110/11 is absolutely vitiated being infringement of the protection provided against double jeopardy under Art. 20 of the Constitution of India as no body can be tried or convicted twice for the same criminal incident and offence. Hence, the trial, conviction and sentence of the accused-appellants Abdul Khaliq, Razi Ahmad @ Raju, Tufel Ahmad, Nurul Huda, Jamil Ahmad, Ujer Ahmad and Abdul Mutaliq in ST No. 168/11, arising out of Crime No. 2/09, under Sections 147, 148, 323/149, 504, 506 I.P.C. and Section 7 of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, Police Station Rudhauli, District Basti is liable to be set aside and quashed and consequently they are entitled to be acquitted.

25. Prosecution admits that both the criminal incident took place on same date and same time. But, it appears that there remained confusion in the prosecution during investigation and till the end of trial whether both the cases relate to one offence or both are distinct offences taking place at the same time and because of this, discrepancy has occurred, both in investigation and also in the statement of the fact witnesses. first F.I.R. was lodged on the same day by Abdul Hameed and he named 15 persons as accused. The second F.I.R. was lodged by Abdul Samad after two days and the reason put forward for delay was his son was injured and was under treatment in Medical College, Lucknow and when he came back from there, he lodged F.I.R. against 7 persons. In the first report the reason for the incident was alleged to be the dispute which arose because of fishing. No such reason has been alleged in the subsequent F.I.R. lodged by the father of injured. Three fact witnesses have been examined- PW-1 Abdul Wafa (injured), PW-3 Abdul Hameed (informant of first F.I.R.) and PW-6 Ahamad Ali as eyewitness. Abdul Samad, the informant of second F.I.R. died and could not be examined and the written report has been proved by PW-1 injured as secondary witness. Both PW-1 and PW-6 have confined their statement to the facts of second F.I.R.. As such, in respect of facts in ST No. 168/11, only informant appears to have supported his F.I.R. version as eyewitness. In the F.I.R., it has been stated that in addition to Abdul Wafa, Rafiuddin also sustained injury, but, Rafiuddin has not been examined in the court nor any medical report has been produced to show that he sustained injury in the incident.

26. PW-3 Abdul Hameed has stated that accused Ujer Ahamad was carrying country made pistol and accused Nurulhuda was carrying spade, while all other accused persons were carrying lathi danda at the time of incident and all committed marpeet and caused injuries to Abdul Wafa and Rafiuddin. Rafiuddin has not been examined who could be the best witness to say that he sustained injury in the incident. His statement has not been even recorded by IO nor he is a witness of charge-sheet. Abdul Wafa is not a witness in respect of case based on the F.I.R. lodged by Abdul Hameed and while giving statement in court, he has disowned the F.I.R. version and he has denied his presence on pond/pit at the time of incident. PW-6 Ahmad has also disowned that F.I.R. and has stated that he was not present there at pond/pit at the time of incident. Both these witnesses have expressed their ignorance about the incident taking place there as the same did not happen in their presence and any thing, though very little, came in their statement regarding that incident is totally hearsay which cannot be taken in support of prosecution case so far as ST No. 168/11 is concerned. The evidence of PW-3 Abdul Hameed also does not stand during cross-examination as he has stated in his chief that Abdul Wafa and Rafiuddin sustained injuries, but in cross-examination he states that in addition to both he and one Tamudin also sustained injuries. There is no such medical report nor Tamudin has been examined. He has never said in his F.I.R. that he also sustained injury. In corresponding GD also there is no mention about his injury or injury of Tamudin or Rafiuddin. The two fact witnesses of the charge-sheet, Abdul Quddus and Nurulhaq have also not been examined in support.

27. In view of the above discussion, I find that the finding of conviction in the impugned judgment in S.T. No. 168/11 is perverse, suffers from illegality and is not sustainable under law and the same is liable to be set aside. Consequently, the accused-appellants are entitled to be acquitted.

28. So far as the other session trial S.T. No. 110/11 is concerned, in the F.I.R., 7 accused persons are named and against them charge-sheet has been filed. It needs to be pertinently mentioned that it has been the prosecution case that only Abdul Wafa sustained injuries and in the medical examination 3 injuries have been found on his body- two lacerated wound on head and one contusion on back below the neck.

29. Ext Ka-4 is the site-map for this case in which the place of occurrence has been shown as 'X' which is situated on Hanumanganj-Padi road in front of house of Khaliq. The F.I.R. also contains that the incident took place on the road in front of the house of Khaliq while the injured was coming from Dankuia. This has been proved by PW-1 and PW-6 in their statements The submission of the learned counsel to the accused-appellants is that in the first F.I.R., the place of incident is different. Since both the witnesses, PW-1 and PW-6 have disowned that F.I.R., and that case has been disbelieved earlier in this judgment, therefore, that difference is not material and need not to be considered for the purpose of this case. Moreover, if the site-map of both the cases are compared, it is clear that there is not much distance between the two places of occurrence. In the north house of accused Khaliq has been shown and in the south the agricultural land of Nurulhaq has been shown and in between the two, there is pond/pit to which the agricultural land of Nurulhaq is very close. In the north of the pond/pit and in the south of the house of Khaliq, there is road on which by 'X' the place of occurrence has been shown in the site-map. Therefore, the difference in place of occurrence has no legal impact. Thus, the place of occurrence stands established.

30. The date and time of incident has been also proved by the witnesses PW-1 who is injured and by virtue of injury, his presence at the time of occurrence can hardly be disputed and his statement finds further support from the testimony of the eyewitness PW-6. PW-2 Doctor has stated while proving the injury report that the injuries could have been possibly caused by blunt object such as lathi and it was possible to have been caused on 3.1.2009 at 11 A.M. In C.T. Scan, a depressed fracture on head has been found on his head along with blood clotting. Therefore, it is also established that on the said date, time and place, Abdul Wafa sustained injuries with a depressed fracture on head.

31. Now, the only thing which is required to be determined whether the seven accused persons caused the injury and committed offence as alleged by prosecution. PW-1 Abdul Wafa has stated that on the exhortation of Khaliq and Razi Ahamad alias Raju to kill him, accused Tufail and Nurulhuda fired on him by country made pistol whereupon, he sat down and escaped. When it is alleged that the injured was shot fire and no such firearm was incurred by him, the use of firearm by two accused persons becomes suspicious. It just remains an oral saying in absence of any firearm injury and also in absence of any recovery of pistol from both the accused or any object from spot in terms of pellets etc. showing use of firearms in commission of offence. In the factual matrix of the case also, it appears that the attack was direct and from close distance, and therefore, the fact that the injured escaped because he dropped himself down, seems to be improbable and unbelievable. Therefore, the presence and involvement of accused Tufail and Nurulhuda has become extremely doubtful.

32. PW-1 Abdul wafa has further stated that again on exhortation of Khalik, Jameel Ahamad, Mutaliq and Ujer hit him by lathi by which he sustained injuries. This time the witness has not stated that accused Razi Ahamad alias Raju also exhorted both on which they acted upon. His role of exhortation has been confined to exhortation of accused Tufail and Nurulhuda who were allegedly shot fire and in respect of them when the case of prosecution has been found to be doubtful. Therefore, the exhortation by accused Razi Ahamad alias Raju, consequently becomes doubtful.

33. Thereafter, on exhortation of Khaliq, Jameel Ahamad, Mutaliq and Ujer hit Abdul Wafa by lathi by which he sustained injuries. He was taken to hospital and was medically examined at P.H.C. and from there he was sent to District Hospital and then referred to Medical College Lucknow. In his statement, PW-1 has also stated that Abdul Mutaliq also hit him by lathi. The learned counsel of appellant has submitted that inclusion of Abdul Mutaliq appears to be an improvement and the statement of PW-6 is also an exaggeration on the point as he mentions the name of Mutaliq subsequently, though says that he and Ujer Ahamand hit first by lathi on exhortation. But, I find no force in this submission as both injured witness and eye-witness have stated that he also hit the injured by lathi causing injury to him. In the F.I.R. also he has been alleged to have caused injury by lathi. It should be remembered that PW-1 is an injured witness and there is no reason to discredit the testimony of an injured witness and law gives a very higher value to a witness who has sustained injury in the incident.

34. As held in State of Haryana Vs. Krishan, AIR 2017 SC 3125, Mukesh Vs. State for NCT of Delhi & Others, AIR 2017 SC 2161 (Three-Judge Bench), Bhagwan Jagannath Markad Vs. State of Maharashtra, (2016) 10 SCC 537 and Jarnail Singh Vs. State of Punjab, 2009 (6) Supreme 526, deposition of an injured witness should be relied upon unless there are strong grounds for rejection of his evidence on the basis of major contradictions and discrepancies for the reason that his presence on the scene stands established in the case and it is proved that he suffered the injuries during the said incident.

35. Other witness PW-6 is of the same locality and is neighbor of the injured and he has also supported that on the exhortation of Khaliq, the other three accused persons hit the injured by lathi and caused injury to the injured. The injured has sustained three injuries which also supports the participation of accused persons. Moreover, both the witnesses are illiterate villager and keeping in view the law laid down in State of U.P. Vs. Chhoteylal, AIR 2011 SC 697, Dimple Gupta (minor) Vs. Rajiv Gupta, AIR 2008 SC 239 the court should keep in mind the rural background and the scenario in which the incident had happened and should not appreciate the evidence from rational angle and discredit the otherwise truthful version on technical grounds.

36. In view of above discussion, participation and involvement of four accused persons in commission of offence is established- Khaliq who exhorted and Jameel Ahamad, Abdul Mutaliq and Ujer who hit the injured on his exhortation.

37. Now, the nature of injuries needs to be examined. As per F.I.R., Abdul Wafa was seriously injured and he was taken to Rudhouli Hospital where he was examined. But he was regularly vomiting and his injury was bleeding, and therefore, he was taken to District Hospital where some treatment was provided to him. But he started vomiting, getting unconscious and fits also started and then, he was referred to Medical College, Lucknow where he is under treatment and condition is serious.

38. Medical report which is on record is of P.H.C., Rudhouli which has been referred above. PW-8 is Dr. Gourav (Radiologist) of Raj Scanning Ltd., Jiyamau, Lucknow has stated that in C.T. scan, a depressed fracture was found on left frontal bone on head of Abdul Wafa. In his cross-examination, he has admitted that he did not see the patient and he prepared the report on the basis of C.T. Scan film which is Mat. Ext.-1 and C.T. Scan was conducted on 16.1.2009 in his supervision by the technician on the reference of Dr. Sunil Agrwal. He has also admitted that Raj Scanning Ltd. is a private institution. In the Report, he has written 'co-relate clinically' which means that the doctor doing treatment should verify the report with the real condition of the patient. There is no such supplementary report after co-relating clinically as advised in the report. A discharge slip of Mayo Hospital, Lucknow is on record as paper no. 92 kha showing date of admission in the hospital on 8.1.2009 and discharged on 21.1.2009, but the same has not been proved by prosecution.

39. The submission of the learned counsel is that there is no supplementary report of any doctor under whom Abdul Wafa was under treatment. Moreover, there is no evidence that he was ever treated in Medical College, Lucknow as alleged in F.I.R. and injured Abdul Wafa in his statement has also not stated so and instead, he has stated that when he got conscious, he found himself in Mayo Hospital, Lucknow which is a private hospital. It has been further argued that the C.T. scan report and the discharge slip was not delivered to the I.O. and even the statement of Abdul Wafa was not recorded by I.O. nor he was named in the list of witnesses in charge-sheet.

40. So far as not showing Abdul Wafa as witness in charge-sheet, or not recording his statement by I.O., this lapse can be assigned to investigating agency and that cannot be given much importance as F.I.R. contains that he sustained injuries and he was a necessary witness. Injury to him also finds mention in the corresponding G.D. of F.I.R. lodged by Hameed and it shows that he was taken to Police Station and he was medically examined by police in P.H.C. on the same day.

41. PW-1 has stated in his examination-in-chief that after the incident he became unconscious and when he got conscious, he was in Mayo Hospital, Lucknow. There is no such report on record that he remained unconscious for 4-5 days as he was admitted there on 8.1.2009. On the contrary, PW-2 Dr. A.K. Choudhary who examined him on the date of incident at 2.10 P.M., has stated that the patient vomited once before him and complained that he has feeling of vomiting regularly and he has vomited 7 times prior to that. Though the doctor has mentioned nothing about his mental and physical condition, but from his statement, it is clear that the injured was conscious at the time of medical examination. It has been said by the witness that he was provided some treatment in District Hospital, Basti, but, there is no evidence on record regarding his treatment there. In my view this discrepancy could only be explained by Abdul Samad (informant) who died without being examined and PW-1 Abdul Wafa because of injuries might not be able to notice the treatment in District Hospital. The informant being illiterate villager might not have been able to distinguish between Medical College and Mayo Hospital.

42. The learned counsel to the accused-appellants has submitted that there is no reason shown by the prosecution that the F.I.R. lodged by Abdul Hameed was not correct nor it has been anywhere asserted that he was having any reason to lodge F.I.R. with wrong facts. If Abdul Wafa was not present there, was there any convincing reason available to PW-3 to allege that he sustained injuries in the same incident. This fact is also significant in view of the on oath statement of the I.O. in the court that during investigation he found that Abdul Wafa got injured in the same dispute which took place near pond/pit on the issue of fishing. The learned counsel has argued that a conviction cannot be recorded on the basis that some one has sustained injuries and has been under treatment here or there. For conviction, it is necessary for the prosecution to prove the events in the way they have been alleged without anything unnatural, contradictory and discrepant. The non-explanation and no account of 4-5 days from the date of incident and admission in Mayo Hospital, Lucknow about the injured also creates a lot of doubt because, if his condition was so serious, the treatment for those 4-5 days must have been placed on record or the reason for not doing so must have been put forward before the court.

43. So far as the discrepancy and contradiction is concerned, as laid down in State of U.P. v. Naresh; 2011 (75) ACC 215) (SC), in all criminal cases, normal discrepancies are bound to occur in the depositions of witnesses due to normal errors of observation, namely, errors of memory due to lapse of time or due to mental disposition such as shock and horror because of occurrence. Contradictions/inconsistencies/embellish ments or improvements of minor nature on trivial matters which do not affect the core of the prosecution case, should not be made a ground on which the evidence can be rejected in its entirety. The Court has to form its opinion about the credibility of the witness and record a finding as to whether his deposition inspires confidence.

44. In Gosu Jayarami Reddy and another Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh; (2011) 3 SCC (Cri) 630, it was observed that Courts need to be realistic in their expectation from the witnesses and go by what would be reasonable based on ordinary human conduct with ordinary human frailties of memory and power to register events and their details. A witness who is terrorized by the brutality of the attack cannot be disbelieved only because in his description of who hit the deceased on what part of the body there is some mix-up or confusion.

45. Further, in Parsu Ram Pandey v/s State of Bihar AIR 2004 SC 5068, Shivappa v. State of Karnataka; AIR 2682, Ramchandaran v/s State of Kerala AIR 2011 SC 3581, it was held that minor discrepancies or some improvements would not justify rejection of the testimonies of the eye-witnesses, if they are otherwise reliable. Some discrepancies are bound to occur because of the sociological background of the witnesses as also the time gap between the date of occurrence and the date on which they give their depositions in Court. In Mukesh Vs. State for NCT of Delhi & Others, AIR 2017 SC 2161 (Three-Judge Bench) and Bhagwan Jagannath Markad Vs. State of Maharashtra, (2016) 10 SCC 53, it was reiterated that minor contradictions in the testimonies of the Prosecution Witnesses are bound to be there and in fact they go to support the truthfulness of the witnesses.

46. There is no doubt that there is lapse in the prosecution version, but the same is because of investigating agency as the I.O. should have taken the statement of injured and he should have collected the evidence which took place in District Hospital, Basti and should have also verified his treatment in Mayo Hospital, Lucknow. In his statement also, the I.O. has not given any cogent reason for not doing so except that he has stated more than once that there was bonafide mistake committed by him. There is discrepancy in the prosecution case, but the same has occurred because of mistake committed by police machinery and investigating agency. Two F.I.R. was registered in respect of the incident, injured Abdul Wafa was got medically examined in PHC by the police as there is mention of his being brought to police station in injured condition in the corresponding G.D. of registration of F.I.R. by Abdul Hameed, but no further step was taken towards collection of evidence regarding nature and seriousness of injury and even he was not made a witness in the charge-sheet. Of course, there is exaggeration in the testimony of injured and PW-6 as they have tried to involve and implicate more persons in the incident. But, experience shows that this is a tendency which is found prevalent, particularly in rustics society as people try to implicate more persons even though they are innocent.

47. Now, accepting all the submissions with regards to discrepancies in prosecution version and lapse in investigation, the question is whether the role of criminal court is to lay emphasis on the same and acquit those who appears to have committed offence or to unveil the curtain and discover truth behind it. In India doctrine of falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus does not apply. The Supreme Court has been constantly of the view that the trial as well as appellate courts have to play a very important role in India in criminal justice administration and while appreciating the evidence efforts have to be made to arrive at the truth and to separate from the statements of the witnesses what is untrue and exaggerated. The Supreme Court, from Nasir Ali Vs. State of U.P., AIR 1957 SC 366 and Ugar Ahir Vs. State of Bihar, AIR 1965 SC 277, Sucha Singh Vs. State of Punjab, (2003) 7 SCC 643 to Babu Vs. State of Tamilnadu, (2013) 8 SCC 60 and State of Karnataka Vs. Suvarnamma, (2015) 1 SCC 323, has time and again observed:

"Maxim "falsus in uno, falsus in omnibus' is not applicable in India. It is merely a rule of caution. Thus even if a major portion of evidence is found to be deficient, in case residue is sufficient to prove the guilt of an accused, notwithstanding acquittal of number of other co-accused persons, his conviction can be maintained. The court has to separate grain from chaff and appraise in each case as to what extent the evidence is acceptable. If separation cannot be done, the evidence has to be rejected in toto. A witness may be speaking untruth in some respect and it has to be appraised in each case as to what extent the evidence is worthy of acceptance and merely because in some respects the court considers the same to be insufficient for placing reliance on the testimony of a witness, it does not necessarily follow as a matter of law that it must be disregarded in all respects as well. Falsity of particular material witness on a material particular would not ruin it from the beginning to end. The aforesaid dictum is not a sound rule for the reason that one hardly comes across a witness whose evidence does not contain a grain untruth or at any rate exaggeration, embroideries or embellishment."

48. In Ram Gulam Chowdhary Vs. State of Bihar, 2001(2) JIC 986 (SC), upholding the conviction of the accused, the Supreme Court held that since the I.O. is not an eye witness to the incident and the reliable eye witnesses had proved the place of occurrence by their testimony, so non proving the map by I.O. or his non-examination is not fatal to the prosecution case. Meaning thereby, where ocular testimonies are reliable, even non-examination of I.O. is not relevant, then the lapse committed by him during investigation, can also be not given so much of importance to render the prosecution version false or unbelievable.

49. In Khem Ram Vs. State of Himachal Pradesh, (2018) 1 SCC 202 State of Punjab Vs. Hakam Singh, (2005) 7 SCC 408 and Leela Ram Vs. State of Haryana, (1999) 9 SCC 52510, it has been held that incomplete or defective investigation or any irregularity or deficiency in investigation by I.O. need not necessarily lead to rejection of the case of prosecution when it is otherwise proved. The only requirement is use of extra caution in evaluation of evidence. A defective investigation cannot be fatal to prosecution where ocular testimony is found credible and cogent. In Rupinder Singh Sandhu vs State of Punjab, (2018) 16 SCC 475, it has been remarked by the supreme court that even if there is lapse in investigation, the same cannot be used to give advantage to accused person in cases where prosecution has led credible evidence, as it is difficult to determine that the investigative defect occurred due to general inefficiency of system or deliberated to shield the accused.

50. The prosecution case may be considered from a different angle also. What could have been the fate of the case, had it been a case based on complaint without police or investigating agency being involved? Could it make any difference if written report is considered to be a complaint and both witnesses would have been examined as injured complainant and eye-witness? Certainly, the defect and investigating lapse could not have occurred. In that situation, whether it was possible to completely disbelieve the prosecution version?

51. Viewing from that angle, I find that there is a written report given by the father of the injured on the basis of which F.I.R. was registered. If it is considered to be second F.I.R. about the same incident, it is fault of the police. Why the informant lodged this, could be explained by the informant but he could not be examined as he died before being examined. He was an illiterate villager and if he wrote that his son is under treatment in Medical College, Lucknow, the mistake is bonafide as according to injured he was admitted in Mayo Hospital, and the same eventually is situated in Lucknow. In the corresponding GD of the F.I.R. of Abdul Hameed, it is mentioned that the injured was brought to police station and he had head injury which was bleeding and he was sent by police for medical in PHC. The medical report proved by PW-2 Dr Choudhary shows that he had sustained two lacerated wound over his head and in CT Scan, depressed fracture was found on his head. The discharge slip of Mayo Hospital has not been proved nor the CT Scan Report has been clinically co-related by any doctor nor any supplementary report has been prepared to show the seriousness of injury, but, even without that, it is clear in view of medical report and CT Scan, that the head injury of Abdul Wafa was grievous in nature. But, there is no opinion of doctor that by the said injury, death of the injured was in any way possible. The injury was caused by blunt object like lathi and not by any deadly weapon, and therefore, intention to cause death cannot be imputed and instead of offence under section 307 I.P.C., only an offence under section 325 and 323 I.P.C. for voluntarily causing grievous hurt and simple hurt is proved. In the earlier discussion, it has been found to have been established that the accused persons were present together at the place of occurrence and on the exhortation of Khaliq, Jameel Ahamad, Abdul Mutaliq and Ujer Ahamad hit the injured by lathi by which he sustained injuries. It also shows their common intention in causing injuries and section 34 I.P.C. is very much applicable.

52. On the basis of above discussion, I find the impugned judgment in ST No. 168 of 2011, Crime No. 2 of 2009, passed by Addl. Sessions Judge/Fast Track Court-II, Basti on 31.8.2018 is perverse, illegal and not sustainable under law and the appeal is liable to be allowed. So far as the appeal against the judgment in ST No. 110 of 2011 is concerned, the appeal is liable to be partly allowed with modifications, as the conviction and sentence of accused-appellants, Razi Ahmad @ Raju, Tufel Ahmad and Nurul Huda for the offence under section 307/323 read with 149 and section 147, 148 I.P.C. and the conviction and sentence of accused-appellants Jamil Ahmad, Abdul Khailq, Ujer Ahmad and Abdul Mutaliq for the offence under section 147,148 I.P.C. is perverse, illegal and not sustainable under law and is liable to be set aside. The conviction of accused-appellants Jamil Ahmad, Abdul Khailq, Ujer Ahmad and Abdul Mutaliq for the offence under section 307 I.P.C. is liable to be converted for the offence under section 325/34 I.P.C. and the sentence is liable to be reduced and modified for both offences under section 325/323 read with section 34 I.P.C..

53. Accordingly, following order is passed in respect of both session trials-

1. The conviction and sentence in ST No. 110 of 2011 of the accused-appellants, Razi Ahmad @ Raju, Tufel Ahmad and Nurul Huda for the offence under section 307/323 read with 149 and section 147, 148 I.P.C. is set aside and consequently they are acquitted. They be released from jail forthwith.

2. The conviction and sentence in S.T. No. 110 of 2011 of accused-appellants Jamil Ahmad, Abdul Khailq, Ujer Ahmad and Abdul Mutaliq for the offence under section 147, 148 I.P.C. is set aside and consequently they are acquitted from the said charge.

3. The appeal in respect of ST No. 168/11 is allowed and the impugned judgment is set aside. Consequently, the accused-appellants Islahur Rahman @ Islam, Miswahur Rahman, Abdul Mutaliq, Abdul Khaliq, Jamil Ahmad, Tufel Ahmad, Wasiullah, Ujer Ahmad, Nurulhuda, Ainuullah, Iflahur Rahman, Gulam Husen, Israhul Haq, Taufiq Ahmad and Razi Ahmad are acquitted from the charge for the offence under Section 147, 323/149 I.P.C.. All the accused-appellants be released from jail forthwith.

4. The conviction of Jamil Ahmad, Abdul Khailq Ujer Ahmad and Abdul Mutaliq in ST No. 110 of 2011 for the offence under Section 307/149 I.P.C. is converted into the offence under section 325/34 I.P.C. and are sentenced for one year and six months simple imprisonment and fine of Rs. 2000/- each and in default 1 month additional imprisonment and under Section 323/34 I.P.C. for 3 months simple imprisonment and fine of Rs. 500/- each and in default 15 days additional imprisonment. The sentence for both the offences shall run concurrently and the period underwent by them in jail shall be adjusted against awarded sentence.

54. The office is directed to transmit back the lower court record to the learned trial court immediately along with a copy of this judgment for information and compliance.

A. Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Sec. 302, 302/34,307/34 and Arms Act, 1959 - Section 25 - Criminal Appeal - Section 313 Cr.P.C - Examination of accused persons- Relationship is not a factor to affect credibility of a witness - interestedness of the witnesses-direct evidence- charges proved against the appellant beyond doubt.

Held:- A relation would not conceal actual culprit and make allegations against an innocent person. Foundation has to be laid if plea of false implication is made. In such cases, the court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse evidence to find out whether it is cogent and credible - In case there is direct trustworthy evidence of witnesses as to commission of an offence, the motive part loses its significance. Therefore, if the genesis of the motive of the occurrence is not proved, the ocular testimony of the witnesses as to the occurrence cannot be discarded only on the ground of absence of motive, if otherwise the evidence is worthy of reliance - Proved from all the evidence and records available on the record that at the time of the alleged incident, the appellant shot dead from the gun and killed the deceased - charges against the appellant have been proved under Section 302, 307 indian Penal Code and Section 25 of Arms Act Act beyond doubt. 12 अपीलार्थी मलखान सिंह एवं सह–अभियुक्त अनन्तू केबयान धारा 313 दं0 प्रं0स0 के अन्तर्गत अ ंकित किये गये जिसमेंउन्होंने अभियोजन कथानक को गलत बताते हुए अपीलार्थी मलखान सिंह ने अपने बयान अन्तर्गत धारा 313 दं0 प्र0 सं0 में यह कहा किसुरेश व राम नरायन गीता को परेशान करते थे एक दिन गीता नेसुरेश की मा ँ को मारा तब सुरेश व राम नरायन ने गीता को मारनेका प्लान बनाया व जलाने की कोशिश किया गीता सुबह भाग गयीतीन माह बाद लौटी। यह भी कहा कि राम नरायन ने फायर सेपहले गीता को मारा फिर उसे मारने आये वह भागा तब राम नरायनने फायर मारा जो उसके पैर में लगा। सुरेश आगे से घेर रहा था।दूसरा फायर झल्लर ने किया जो सुरेश को लगा। उसने दं0 प्र0 सं0की धारा 156 (3) के अन्तर्गत दरखास्त दिया था उस पर मुकदमाकायम हुआ।

13 अभियुक्तगण की ओर से अपने बचाव में बचाव साक्षीसंख्या 1 गौरी शंकर तथा बचाव साक्षी संख्या 2 जैराम सिंह कोपरीक्षित कराया गया है।

14 अभियुक्तगण की ओर से अभिलेखीय साक्ष्य के रूप मेंधारा 156 (3) दं0 प्र0 सं0 के अन्तर्गत प्रस्तुत आवेदन पत्र कीप्रमाणित प्रतिलिपि प्रदर्श ख–2 तथा उक्त आवेदन पत्र पर मुख्यन्यायिक मजिस्टे ट, फतेहपुर द्वारा पारित आदेश दिनांकित21–11–1997 की प्रमाणित प्रतिलिपि प्रदर्श ख–3 एवं पुलिस अधीक्षकको प्रेषित आवेदन पत्र दिनांकित 8–10–1997 की छाया प्रति वरजिस्ट ी की रसीद तथा अपीलार्थी मलखान सिंह की इंजरी रिपोर्ट कीछाया प्रति प्रदर्श ख–1 दाखिल की गयी है।

15 विद्वान विचारण न्यायालय ने पत्रावली पर उपलब्धसमस्त साक्ष्य एवं अभिलेखों पर सम्यक विचार करने के उपरान्तसह–अभियुक्त अनन्तू के विरूद्व आरोप को संदेह से परे साबित नहींपाया तदनुसार उन्होंने सह–अभियुक्त अनन्तू को दोषमुक्त कर दियालेकिन अपीलार्थी मलखान सिंह को धारा 302, 307 भा0 दं0 सं0एवं धारा 25 आयुध अधिनियम के अन्तर्गत दोषसिद्व पाते हुएउपरोक्तानुसार दण्डित किया है जिससे क्षुब्ध होकर अपीलार्थी कीओर से यह अपील इस न्यायालय के समक्ष योजित की गयी है।

16 अपीलार्थी की ओर से विद्वान अधिवक्ता श्री रघुराजकिशोर, राज्य की ओर से श्री एल0 डी0 राजभर, विद्वान अपरशासकीय अधिवक्ता को विस्तार पूर्वक सुना तथा पत्रावली एवंप्रश्नगत निर्णय व आदेश का सम्यक परिशीलन किया।

17 अपीलार्थी के विद्वान अधिवक्ता द्वारा मुख्य रूप से यहतर्क प्रस्तुत किया गया कि अपीलार्थी निर्दोष है उसे इस प्रकरण मेंझूंठा फसाया गया है। अपीलार्थी को मृतका की हत्या कारित करनेका कोई हेतुक नही था। मृतका एक सहमत पक्ष थी तथा अपीलार्थीके साथ वह स्वयं भागकर गयी थी। ऐसी दशा में अपीलार्थी द्वारामृतका की हत्या करना स्वाभाविक एवं विश्वसनीय नहीं है बल्किइसके विपरीत मृतका के घर से भाग जाने के कारण, मृतका के पतिव उसके परिवारजन की बदनामी हुई थी इसी बदनामी के कारणमृतका के पति व उसके परिवारजन द्वारा मृतका की हत्या कारित कीगयी है। अपीलार्थी को महज झूंठा फसाया गया है। यह भी तर्क रखागया कि अभियोजन कथानक स्वाभाविक एवं विश्वसनीय नहीं है। इसघटना में अपीलार्थी मलखान सिंह को भी आग्नेयास्त्र की चोटें आयीहै लेकिन उसकी चोटों का कोई स्पष्टीकरण अभियोजन की ओर सेनहीं दिया गया है। प्रश्नगत प्रकरण में सह–अभियुक्त अनन्तू की भीसंलिप्तता बतायी गयी है तथा उसके विरूद्व भी थाना पर प्रथमसूचना रिपोर्ट नामजद दर्ज करायी गयी थी। विद्वान विचारणन्यायालय ने सह–अभियुक्त अनन्तू की प्रश्नगत अपराध में संलिप्ततासाबित नहीं पायी और उसे दोषमुक्त किया है और उन्हीं साक्षियों कीसाक्ष्य पर अपीलार्थी को दोषसिद्व एवं दण्डित किया है जो विधिसंगत नहीं है। विद्वान विचारण न्यायालय का प्रश्नगत निर्णय एवंआदेश निरस्त होने योग्य है एवं अपीलार्थी दोषमुक्त होने योग्य है।

18 इसके विपरीत विद्वान अपर शासकीय अधिवक्ता द्वारा यहतर्क प्रस्तुत किया गया कि कि घटना के करीब सवा तीन माह पूर्वअपीलार्थी, मृतका को भगाकर ले गया था। मृतका का पति सुरेश8बम्बई में काम करता था जब उसे सूचना प्राप्त हुई तब वह घरवापस आया एवं दिनांक 15–10–1997 को मृतका को अपने घरवापस ले आया। घटना के दिन अपीलार्थी अपने बहनोई अनन्तू केसाथ मृतका के घर पर गया तथा मृतका के पति को गालियां दतेहुए मृतका को अपने साथ ले जाने के लिए कहने लगा जिस परमृतका ने उसके साथ जाने से इंकार कर दिया इस पर अपीलार्थी नेमृतका को तमंचे से गोली मार दी जिससे मौके पर मृतका की मृत्युहो गयी जब वादी तथा उसके पिता राम नरायन व मृतका के पतिसुरेश ने अपीलार्थी का पीछा किया तो उसने बचुन सिंह के खेत मेंमृतका के पति सुरेश को भी गोली मार दी जिससे उसे भी चोटेंआयी। अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 1 कमलेश, अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 2राम नरायन तथा

अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 3 सुरेश (चुटैल) इस घटनाके प्रत्यक्षदर्शी साक्षी हैं जिन्होनें अपने बयानों में अभियोजन कथानकका भली भा ँति समर्थन किया है। विद्वान विचारण न्यायालय नेसह–अभियुक्त अनन्तू की संलिप्तता साबित नहीं पायी तदनुसार उसेदोषमुक्त कर दिया है लेकिन अपीलार्थी के विरूद्व लगाये गये आरोपसंदेह से परे साबित पाते हुए अपीलार्थी को प्रश्नगत अपराध मेंदोषसिद्व एवं दण्डित किया है जिसमें कोई विधिक त्रुटि अथवाअनियमितता नहीं है।

19 उल्लेखनीय है कि यह घटना दिनांक 18–10–1997समय 7–30 बजे शाम की बतायी गयी है तथा इस घटना की प्रथमसूचना रिपोर्ट वादी कमलेश ने दिनांक 19–10–1997 को 1–20 ए0एम0 पर थाने पर दर्ज करायी है। घटनास्थल से थाने की दूरी आठकिमी. दर्शायी गयी है। प्रथम सूचना रिपोर्ट में यह उल्लेख किया गयाहै कि वादी अपने चाचा को अस्पताल में भर्ती कराकर थाने आया है।उपरोक्त से यही स्पष्ट होता है कि चुटैल सुरेश को उपचार हेतुअस्पताल में दाखिल कर वादी कमलेश ने इस घटना की तहरीर बाबूलाल से लिखवाकर थाने में दाखिल कर अपीलार्थी एवं एक अन्य केविरूद्व मुकदमा पंजीकृत कराया है।

20 अपीलार्थी मलखान सिंह ने अपने बयान अन्तर्गत धारा313 दं0 प्र0 सं0 में यह उल्लेख किया है कि सुरेश व राम नरायनगीता को परेशान करते थे एक दिन गीता ने सुरेश की मा ँ को मारातब सुरेश व राम नरायन ने गीता को मारने का प्लान बनाया वजलाने की कोशिश किया गीता सुबह भाग गयी तीन माह बाद लौटीतब राम नरायन ने फायर मारा पहले गीता को मारा फिर उसे मारनेआये वह भागा तब राम नरायन ने फायर मारा जो उसके पैर मेंलगा। सुरेश आगे से घेर रहा था। दूसरा फायर झल्लर ने किया जोसुरेश को लगा। यह भी कहा है कि उसने दं0 प्र0 सं0 की धारा 156 (3) के अन्तर्गत दरखास्त दिया था उस पर मुकदमा कायम हुआ।

22 अभियोजन की ओर से अपने कथन के समर्थन मेंअभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 1 कमलेश (वादी मुकदमा), अभियोजन साक्षीसंख्या 2 राम नरायन तथा अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 3 सुरेश (चुटैल/मृतका के पति) को परीक्षित कराया गया है।

23 अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 1 कमलेश ने अपने बयानमें यह कहा है कि वह मुलजिमान अनन्तू व मलखान को जानता है।मलखान उसके गांव का रहने वाला है। अनन्तू, मलखान के बहनोईहै। अनन्तू उसके गा ँव आते जाते थे। वह उन्हें भी घटना के पहले सेजानता है। उसकी चाची गीता देवी थी। गीता की गोली मारकरहत्या हो गयी है। कत्ल के लगभग सवा तीन माह पहले मुलजिममलखान गीता को भगा ले गया था उसके चाचा कत्ल के चार दिनपहले कचहरी में मलखान से सुलहनामा लगवा कर घर ले आये।आज से लगभग एक साल पांच माह की घटना है। लगभग साढेसात बजे रात्रि का समय था वह व उसके पिता राम नरायन अपनेकटिया मशीन से चारा काट रहे थे। घर में उसके चाचा सुरेश, दादीबृजरानी, चाची गीता देवी थी और कोई नहीं था। आंगन में अंधेरा थालेकिन लालटेन जल रही थी। उसकी चाची गीता अपने बच्चे कोनाबदान पर टट्टी करा रही थी उसी समय मलखान व अनन्तूआया। ये लोग आकर उसके चाचा को गाली देने लगे मलखान कहरहे थे कि यह तुम्हारी औरत नहीं है मेरी है तथा मेरी बनकर रहेगी।उसकी चाची ने मलखान को गाली देने से मना किया तथा साथ मेंजाने से मना किया। वह व उसके पिता, चाचा के दरवाजे पर आगये। मलखान ने अपने हाथ में लिए तमंचा से उसकी चाची कोगोली मार दिया। गोली मारकर मुलजिमान भागे उसके चाचा सुरेश,वह तथा उसके पिता ने मुलजिमान का पीछा किया। पीछा करने परकुछ दूर जाने पर मलखान ने बचुन के खेत में उसके चाचा सुरेशको भी गोली मार दिया उसके चाचा वहीं गिर गये। इसके बाद हमलोगों ने चाचा को सदर अस्पताल में लाकर भर्ती किया। यह भीकहा कि उसकी चाची आंगन में ही जहां उन्हें गोली मारी गयी थीगिरकर मर गयी। चाचा को अस्पताल में भर्ती कराने के बाद उसनेबाबू लाल से तहरीर लिखाया। इस साक्षी ने तहरीर प्रदर्श क–1 परअपने

हस्ताक्षर की पुष्टि करते हुए साबित किया है तथा यह कहा हैकि वह तहरीर लेकर अकेले थाना हुसैनगंज गया तथा तहरीर दीवानसाहब को दिया। मुकदमा लिखा गया उसके बाद दरोगाजी घर आयेउसने दरोगाजी को घटनास्थल दिखा दिया था।

24 अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 2 राम नरायन ने अपने बयान मेंयह कहा है कि घटना के करीब सवा तीन माह पहले मलखान, गीतादेवी जो उसके छोटे भाई सुरेश की पत्नी थी को भगा ले गया था।घटना हुए लगभग एक साल पांच माह हुआ जब गीता का कत्लसाढे सात बजे शाम को हुआ था उस समय वह व कमलेश कटियामशीन पर चारा काट रहे थे। सुरेश व उसकी मां तथा गीता घर केअन्दर थी। वहां लालटेन जल रही थी। मलखान व अनन्तू साढे सातबजे शाम को आये तथा उसके भाई सुरेश को गाली देने लगे कहनेलगे कि साले यह तुम्हारी नही रहेगी हमारी बनकर रहेगी। हम लोगमशीन बंद कर दरवाजे के पास आ गये। गीता ने जवाब दिया किमलखान गाली से मतलब नहीं है अब हम तुम्हारे साथ नहीं जायेगेंतब मलखान ने अपने हाथ में लिए तमंचे से गोली मार दिया। गोलीगीता के सिर में लगी और वह खत्म हो गयी जब मलखान गोलीमारकर भगे तब वह, उसका लडका कमलेश व सुरेश ने पीछा किया
भाग कर 2–3 घर बाद घुमते हुए बचुन सिंह के खेत में मलखान वहम लोग पहुंचे उसका भाई आगे था। मलखान ने घूमकर उसके भाईसुरेश को गोली मारा। गोली सुरेश को लगी वह गिर गया तबमुलजिमान भाग गये। वह उसका लडका तथा गांव के और लोगसुरेश को सदर अस्पताल ले आयें। वह अस्पताल रह गया तथालडके को थाने भेजा। कमलेश ने बाबू लाल से तहरीर लिखवाया।फतेहपुर में डाक्टर ने जवाब दे दिया तब भाई को लखनई३ ले गया।जिरह में यह बताया है कि घटना के समय वह व सुरेश एक हीमकान में अलग अलग रहते थे। उसे दिशा की जानकारी है। मकानमें वह उत्तर रहता है व सुरेश दक्षिण रहते हैं उनका मुहार पूरब है।उसके मकान के पूरब व उत्तर रास्ता है। उसके मकान के उत्तररास्ते के बाद उसका छप्पर है जिसमें उसकी कटिया मशीन है। उसीमशीन के पास वह व कमलेश मौजूद थे।

25 अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 3 सुरेश (चुटैल) हैं उसने अपनेबयान में यह कहा है कि वह मुलजिमान हाजिर अदालत को जानताहै इनके नाम मलखान व अनन्तू हैं। मृतका गीता उसकी पत्नी थी।गीता का सम्बंध मलखान से हो गया था। कत्ल के सवा तीन माहपहले मलखान उसकी पत्नी गीता को लेकर भाग गया था। घटना केतीन दिन पहले वह गीता को फतेहपुर से अपने घर ले गया। घटनाहुए डेढ साल हुआ। शाम के साढे सात बजे का समय था वह घर मेंबैठा था। गीता बच्चे को नाबदान में टट्टी करा रही थी। उसकाभाई व भतीजा मशीन में चारा काट रहे थे। मलखान व अनन्तू तमंचालिए हुए उसके दरवाजे पर आये तथा उसे गाली देने लगे। मलखानने कहा कि मादरचोद गीता मेरी है वह उसे ले जायेगा इस पर गीताने मना किया और कहा कि गाली मत दो अब मैं तेरे साथ नहींजांई३गी तब मलखान ने गीता को तमंचे से गोली मार दिया। गीताको गोली लगी गीता तब गिर कर मर गयी। वह, उसका भाई रामनरायन, भतीजा कमलेश तीनों ने मलखान व अनन्तू का पीछा कियाजब घर के पीछे बचुन सिंह के खेत में पहुंचा तब मलखान व अनन्तूने गोली मारा। मलखान की गोली उसे नाक व आंख पर लगी तथा

26 इस प्रकार उपरोक्त तीनों साक्षियों ने अपने बयानों मेंअभियोजन कथानक का समर्थन करते हुए यह बताया है किअपीलार्थी मलखान ने गीता को गोली मारी जिसके फलस्वरूप उसकीमृत्यु हो गयी और जब गवाहान व चुटैल ने अपीलार्थी का पीछाकिया तो बचुन सिंह के खेत में अपीलार्थी ने चुटैल सुरेश को भीगोली मार दी जिससे उसे चोटें आयी। यद्यपि अपीलार्थी का यहकथन है कि बदनामी के कारण वादी पक्ष के लोगों ने मृतका कोगोली मारी थी। फिर उसे मारने आये जब वह भागा तो राम नरायनने फायर मारा जो उसके पैर में लगा। यह भी कहा कि सुरेश कोझल्लर का फायर लगा था।

तमंचा लिए थे। इस तरह यह स्पष्ट है कि इस साक्षी ने सुरेश केबताने पर मृतका की हत्या ुरेश द्वारा करने की बात कही हैतथा यह भी बताया है कि विजयपाल का फायर अपीलार्थी मलखानको लगा था और मेवा के फायर से चुटैल सुरेश को चोटें आयी थीतो उल्लेखनीय है कि अपीलार्थी मलखान ने अपने बयान अन्तर्गतधारा 313 दं0 प्र0 सं0 में राम नरायन द्वारा मृतका पर फायर करनेकी बात कही है और राम नरायन के फायर से ही उसके पैर में चोटलगने का उल्लेख किया है। ऐसी दशा में अपीलार्थी के बयान
अन्तर्गत धारा 313 दं0 प्र0 सं0 में उल्लिखित कथन व बचाव साक्षीसंख्या 2 जैराम सिंह के बयानों में विरोधाभास है। अपीलार्थी मलखानने राम नरायन द्वारा मृतका की हत्या कारित करना व उसे भी फायरकर चोट पहुंचाने की बात कही है जब कि बचाव साक्षी संख्या 2जैराम सिंह का इससे भिन्न कथन है कि विजयपाल सिंह का फायर14अपीलार्थी मलखान को लगा तथा मेवा का फायर सुरेश को लगा।इस स्थिति में बचाव साक्षी संख्या 2 जैराम सिंह का कथन किसी भीप्रकार से स्वाभाविक एवं विश्वसनीय प्रतीत नहीं होता है। फिर कोईव्यक्ति अपने विरूद्व साक्ष्य एकत्रित करने हेतु किसी से यह नहींकहेगा कि उसने अपनी पत्नी का कत्ल कर दिया है। ऐसी दशा मेंभी इस साक्षी का उक्त कथन किसी भी प्रकार से स्वाभाविक एवंविश्वसनीय प्रतीत नही होता है बल्कि अपीलार्थी को बचाने के आशयसे गलत कथन करने के तथ्य से इंकार नहीं किया जा सकता है।

के फायर से चोट आने की बात कही है। ऐसी दशा में अपीलार्थी काकथन बनावटी प्रतीत होता है। फिर बचाव पक्ष की ओर सेअभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 1 कमलेश को यह सुझाव दिया गया है किझल्लर के फायर से मलखान को चोटे आयी तथा अभियोजन साक्षीसंख्या 2 राम नरायन को यह सुझाव दिया गया कि सुरेश ने मलखानको गोली मारी व अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 3 सुरेश को यह सुझावदिया गया कि मलखान के भागने पर झल्लर ने उसे गोली मारी हो।इस तरह गवाहों को बचाव पक्ष की ओर से भिन्न भिन्न सुझाव दिएगये हैं। अपीलार्थी के बयान अन्तर्गत धारा 313 दं0 प्र0 सं0 एवंगवाहों को दिये गये सुझाव तथा बचाव साक्षी संख्या 2 जैराम सिंहके कथन में भिन्नता है। ऐसी दशा में बचाव पक्ष की कहानीस्वाभाविक एवं विश्वसनीय नहीं पायी जाती है।

29 यह बात अवश्य है कि अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 1कमलेश तथा अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 2 राम नरायन की साक्ष्य मेंअपीलार्थी की चोटों के सम्बंध में कोई स्पष्टीकरण नहीं आया है।

1– आग्नेयास्त्र का प्रवेश घाव दाहिनी जांघ पर सामने बीच में 2.5सेमी0 ग 2 सेमी0। ताजा खून भरा था।

2– आग्नेयास्त्र का निकास घाव 2.5 सेमी0 ग 1ण्5 सेमी0 दाहिनीजांघ पर। चोटों में खून भरा था।

30 अपीलार्थी की इंजरी रिपोर्ट को प्रदर्श ख–1 के रूप मेंअभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 4 डाक्टर हरिश चन्द्र श्रीवास्तव द्वाराप्रमाणित किया गया है।

31 उल्लेखनीय है कि डाक्टर कपिल देव उपाध्याय कोसाक्ष्य में परीक्षित नहीं कराया गया है। ये

चोटें चुटैल के किसीमर्मस्थल पर नहीं हैं। चोटें अपीलार्थी मलखान की जांघ पर पायेजाने का उल्लेख किया गया है। अन्तरिक क्षति एवं हड्डी टूटनेआदि के सम्बंध में कोई साक्ष्य अभिलेख पर उपलब्ध नहीं है। यद्यपिअभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 3 सुरेश ने अपने बयान में अपीलार्थीमलखान को अनन्तू के फायर से चोटें आने का उल्लेख किया है।यदि हम इस स्पष्टीकरण को पर्याप्त भी न माने तब भी उक्त आधार
पर अभियोजन कथानक किसी प्रकार से प्रभावित नहीं होता है।अभियोजन की ओर से घटना के संदर्भ में तीन गवाहों का परीक्षितकराया गया है जिसमें अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 3 सुरेश स्वयं चुटैलहै तथा उसका डाक्टरी परीक्षण डाक्टर कपिल देव उपाध्याय द्वारादिनांक 18–10–1997 को समय 10–30 बजे रात्रि किया गया थाउसके शरीर पर निम्नलिखित चोटें पायी गयी हैं:–

1– आग्नेयास्त्र का प्रवेश घाव दाहिने कान के पीछे 2 सेमी0 व्यासका, ताजे खून से भरा हुआ मांस तक गहरा।

2– आग्नेयास्त्र के निकलने का घाव दाहिने गाल पर नाक केबगल में 5 सेमी0 ग 4 सेमी0। हड्डियां टटू ी हुई ताजा खूननिकलता हुआ मांस तक गहरा।

32 चुटैल की इंजरी रिपोर्ट की छाया प्रति प्रदर्श क–3 कोअभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 4 डाक्टर हरिश चन्द्र श्रीवास्तव द्वारा साबितकिया गया है।

33 इंजरी रिपोर्ट के अवलोकन से यह विदित होता है किचुटैल सुरेश को उसके कान के पास आग्नेयास्त्र का प्रवेश घाव पायागया था जिसका निकास घाव गाल पर नाक के बगल में था तथाहड्डियां भी टूटी हुई पायी गयी है। इससे यह स्पष्ट है कि चुटैलसुरेश को उसके चेहरे व कान के पास मर्मस्थल पर आग्नेयास्त्र कीचोटें पायी गयी थी तथा हड्डियां भी टूटी हुई थी।

34 मृतका का पोस्टमार्टम अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 4 डाक्टरहरिश चन्द्र श्रीवास्तव द्वारा किया गया था। मृतका के सिर मेंआग्नेयास्त्र का प्रवेश घाव व उसका निकास घाव पाया गया था।मृतका के पैराईटल, आक्सीपीटल व फ्रन्टल बोन सभी टूटे हुए थे।डाक्टर ने अपने बयान में यह उल्लेख किया है कि मृतका की मृत्युदिनांक 18–10–1997 को समय साढे सात बजे शाम को हो सकतीहै तथा मृतका की चोटें तत्काल मृत्यु के लिए पर्याप्त थी। मृतका केशव का पंचायतनामा अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 5 उपनिरीक्षक उदलसिंह ने अपने हमराही उपनिरीक्षक, आर0 एस0 शुक्ला से तैयारकराया था। मृतका का शव आंगन में पडा पाया गया था। अभियोजनसाक्षी संख्या 1 कमलेश, अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 2 राम नरायन तथाअभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 3 सुरेश (चुटैल) की साक्ष्य से यह साबित हैकि मृतका को अपीलार्थी मलखान द्वारा तमंचे से फायर कर चोटेंपहुंचायी गयी थी जिसके परिणाम स्वरूप उसकी मृत्यु हुई है।अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 1 कमलेश, अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 2 रामनरायन तथा अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 3 सुरेश की जिरह में ऐसा कोईतथ्य नहीं आया है जिससे घटना के सम्बंध में कोई सन्देह व्यक्तकिया जा सके बल्कि उपरोक्त तीनों साक्षियों ने जिस तरह से घटनाका वर्णन किया है वह स्वाभाविक एवं विश्वसनीय पाया जाता है। यहबात अवश्य है कि घटना के संदर्भ में किसी स्वतन्त्र एवं निष्पक्ष साक्षीको परीक्षित नहीं कराया गया है तो उल्लेखनीय है कि मृतका कीहत्या उसके घर के अन्दर आंगन में हुई थी। घटना के समय मृतकाका पति मौजूद था। अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 1 कमलेश तथाअभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 2 राम नरायन वहीं घर के पास मौजूद थेजो कटिया मशीन पर चारा काट रहे थे शोरगुल सुनकर वे भीदरवाजे पर आ गये थे। अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 2 राम नरायन कीसाक्ष्य में यह आया है कि मृतका के पति व अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या2 राम नरायन का एक ही मकान था जिसके अलग अलग हिस्से मेंअभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 1 कमलेश तथा अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 2राम नरायन व अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 3 सुरेश निवास करते थे। इनपरिस्थितियों में गालियों के शोर पर अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 1कमलेश तथा अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 2 राम नरायन का दरवाजे परपहुंचकर घटना देखना स्वाभाविक एवं विश्वसनीय है। चूंकियह घटना शाम साढे सात बजे की है और मृतका के घर के अन्दरआंगन की है वहां मोहल्ला पडोस व गांव का कोई व्यक्ति मौजूद नहींथा। ऐसी दशा में घटना के सम्बंध में यदि किसी स्वतन्त्र एवं निष्पक्षसाक्षी को परीक्षित नहीं कराया गया है तो उससे अभियोजन कथानककिसी भी प्रकार से प्रभावित नहीं होता है। फिर अभियोजन साक्षीसंख्या 1 कमलेश, अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 2 राम नरायन तथाअभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 3 सुरेश की घटना के समय मौके परउपस्थिति साबित है और उनकी साक्ष्य चिकित्सीय साक्ष्य से भीसम्पुष्ट है। ऐसी दशा में उपरोक्त तीनों साक्षियों की साक्ष्य परअविश्वास करने का कोई आधार प्रतीत नहीं होता है।

7. We shall first deal with the contention regardinginterestedness of the witnesses for furthering prosecution version.Relatinship is not a factor to affect credibility of a witness. It is more oftenthan not that a relation would not conceal actual culprit and makeallegations against an innocent person. Foundation has to be laid if pleaof false implication is made. In such cases, the court has to adopt acareful approach and analyse evidence to find out whether it is cogent and credible.

22. It is settled leagal position that even if the absence of motive, asalleged, is accepted, that is of no consequence and pales intoinsignificance when direct evidence establishes the crime. Therefore, incase there is direct trustworthy evidence of witnesses as to commissionof an offence, the motive part loses its significance. Therefore, if thegenesis of the motive of the occurrence is not proved, the oculartestimony of the witnesses as to the occurrence can not be discardedonly on the ground of absence of motive, if otherwise the evidence is worthy of reliance. 40 उल्लेखनीय है कि अभियोजन के अनुसार यह घटना इसप्रकार बतायी गयी है कि घटना के

उल्लेख किया गया है उसको पीछा करते समय खेत में आनाबताया गया है। चूंकि यह घटना शाम साढे सात बजे की बतायी गयीहै और मृतका की हत्या कारित करने के पश्चात जब अपीलार्थी वसह–अभियुक्त भागे तो गवाहों द्वारा उनका पीछा करने की बात कहीगयी है। यद्यपि अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 1 कमलेश तथा अभियोजनसाक्षी संख्या 2 राम नरायन ने अपने बयानो में अपीलार्थी मलखान कोचोट कैसे और किन परिस्थितियों में आयी है इसका उल्लेख नहींकिया गया है तो यह हो सकता है कि अंधेरा होने के कारण वहउसकी चोटों को न देख पाये हों। फिर चोट जांघ पर पैर में थी।ऐसी दशा में अपीलार्थी को चोट कैसे और किन परिस्थितियों में लगीवे न देख पायें हो। अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 3 सुरेश ने अपने बयानमें अपीलार्थी मलखान को अनन्तू के फायर से चोट आने की बातकही है। थोडी देरे के लिए यह मान लिया जाए कि अभियोजन साक्षीसंख्या 3 सुरेश को चोट लग गयी थी इसलिए वह यह न देख सकाहो कि अपीलार्थी मलखान को चोट कैसे आयी। गवाहों की साक्ष्यसे यह साबित है कि मृतका की हत्या अपीलार्थी द्वारा तमंचे से गोलीमारकर मृतका के घर के अन्दर आंगन में की गयी थी जिसेगवाहों द्वारा देखा गया है और जब गवाहान ने उसका पीछा कियातो खेत में उसने चुटैल सुरेश को भी गोली मार दी।

41 यहा ँ यह भी उल्लेखनीय है कि जिस स्थान पर चुटैलसुरेश को गोली मारी गयी थी उस स्थान पर विवेचनाधिकारी को एकखोखा कारतूस मिला था तथा घटना में प्रयुक्त तमंचे को भीअपीलार्थी मलखान के निशानदेही पर बरामद किया गया है उक्ततमंचा व खोखा कारतूस को विधि विज्ञान प्रयोगशाला परीक्षण हेतुभेजा गया। विधि विज्ञान प्रयोगशाला की रिपोर्ट प्रदर्श क–25पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध है। विधि विज्ञान प्रयोगशाला की रिपोर्ट केअनुसार बरामद खोखा कारतूस को अपीलार्थी की निशानदेही पर

बरामद तमंचे से चलना पाया गया है। इससे यही स्पष्ट होता है किखेत में जो खोखा कारतूस बरामद हुआ था उसे अपीलार्थी कीनिशानदेही पर बरामद तमंचे से चलना पाया गया है। ऐसी स्थिति मेंभी यही स्पष्ट होता है कि पीछा करते समय खेत में फायर करअपीलार्थी मलखान ने चुटैल सुरेश को चोटें पहुंचायी थी। ऐसी दशामें चुटैल सुरेश की चोटों के सम्बंध में संदेह का कोई आधार नहींपाया जाता है। उपरोक्त परिस्थितियों में यदि अपीलार्थी की चोटों काकोई स्पष्टीकरण अभियोजन की ओर से नहीं भी दिया गया है तबभी घटना के सम्बंध में संदेह का कोई आधार प्रतीत नहीं होता है।अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 1 कमलेश, अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 2 रामनरायन तथा अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 3 सुरेश की जिरह में ऐसा कोईतथ्य नहीं आया है जिससे की मृतका की हत्या, मृतका के पतिअथवा उसके परिवारजन द्वारा बदनामी के कारण करने की बातस्वीकार की जा सके। पत्रावली

पर यह उपधारणा कायम नहीं की जा सकती है कि यह घटनाअपीलार्थी द्वारा कारित नहीं की गयी है। अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 1कमलेश, अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 2 राम नरायन तथा अभियोजनसाक्षी संख्या 3 सुरेश इस घटना के प्रत्यक्षदर्शी साक्षी हैं तथाअभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 3 सुरेश (चुटैल) को भी इस घटना मेंआग्नेयास्त्र की चोटें आयी है उपरोक्त साक्षियों ने अपने बयान मेंकथित घटना अपीलार्थी द्वारा कारित करने की पुष्टि की है तथा यहस्पष्ट रूप से कहा है कि अपीलार्थी मलखान ने मृतका को घर के अन्दर आंगन में गोली मार दी थी जिससे उसकी मौके पर मृत्यु होगयी जब उन्होने अपीलार्थी व सह–अभियुक्त का पीछा किया तो खेतमें अपीलार्थी ने सुरेश को भी तमंचे से गोली मार दी जिससे उसे
चोटें आयीं। ऐसी दशा में पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध समस्त साक्ष्य से यहभली भांति सिद्व है कि अपीलार्थी ने कथित घटना के समय मृतकाको तमंचे से गोली मारकर उसकी हत्या कारित की एवं पीछा करने
पर चुटैल सुरेश को भी आग्नेयास्त्र से फायर कर चोटें पहुंचायी।अपीलार्थी की निशानदेही पर मृतका की हत्या में प्रयुक्त तमंचादिनांक 22–10–1997 को ननकू के खेत से बरामद हुआ था।अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 5 उपनिरीक्षक, उदल सिंह बरामदगी केसाक्षी है उक्त साक्षी ने अपने बयान में यह कहा है कि उसने दिनांक22–10–1997 को अभियुक्त मलखान सिंह को गिरफतार किया तथाउसकी निशानदेही पर आलाकत्ल एक अदद तमंचा गांव के ननकू केखेत से बरामद किया था जिसकी फर्द उसने तैयार की थी जो प्रदर्शक–17 है। यह भी कहा कि माल व मुलजिम को लाकर थानादाखिल किया तथा धारा 25 आयुध अधिनियम के अन्तर्गत मुकदमापंजीकृत कराया। धारा 25 आयुध अधिनियम से सम्बन्धित चिक प्रथमसूचना रिपोर्ट प्रदर्श क–18 तथा मुकदमा कायमी से सम्बन्धित जी0डी0 की प्रति प्रदर्श क–19 कांस्टेबिल मोहर्रिर चिन्तामणि के लेख एवंहस्ताक्षर में होना बताते हुए साबित किया है। यह भी कहा कि उसनेबरामदगी स्थल का मानचित्र प्रदर्श क–20 तैयार किया था। इससाक्षी ने अपीलार्थी की निशानदेही पर बरामद तमंचे को वस्तुप्रदर्श–1 के रूप में साबित किया है। अभियोजन साक्षी संख्या 6अशोक कुमार धारा 25 आयुध अधिनियम के मुकदमें के विवेचक हैजिन्होनें अपने द्वारा की गयी विवेचना तथा उसके द्वारा विवेचना केदौरान तैयार किये गये कागजात, घटनास्थल का मानचित्र प्रदर्शक–22 व आरोप पत्र प्रदर्श क–24 को साबित किया है। विद्वानविचारण न्यायालय ने अपीलार्थी के विरूद्व धारा 25 आयुध अधिनियमके अन्तर्गत लगाये गये आरोप को भी साबित पाया है जिसमें हमकोई विधिक त्रुटि अथवा अनियमितता नहीं पाते हैं।

43 पत्रावली पर उपलब्ध समस्त साक्ष्य एवं अभिलेखों से यहसाबित है कि कथित घटना के समय अपीलार्थी ने तमंचे से गोलीमारकर मृतका गीता देवी की हत्या कर दी तथा चुटैल सुरेश को भी

44 विद्वान विचारण न्यायालय का प्रश्नगत निर्णय एवं आदेशसमुचित विवेचना पर आधारित है जिसमें हस्तक्षेप का कोई आधारनहीं पाया जाता है तदनुसार यह दाण्डिक अपील बलहीन है एवंनिरस्त होने योग्य है।

45 तदनुसार यह दाण्डिक अपील निरस्त की जाती है तथाविद्वान विचारण न्यायालय द्वारा पारित दोषसिद्वि एवं दण्डादेश कीपुष्टि की जाती है।

46 अपीलार्थी मलखान सिंह जमानत पर है उसे आदेशितकिया जाता है कि वह सजा भुगतने हेतु सम्बन्धित न्यायालय केसमक्ष अविलम्ब आत्मसर्मपण करे।

47 निर्णय की प्रति एवं अधीनस्थ न्यायालय की पत्रावलीअविलम्ब सम्बन्धित न्यायालय को अनुपालनार्थ भेजी जाए।

A. Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Section 302 read with Section 34 I.P.C- Section 25 of Arms Act,1959 -Criminal Appeal filed by accused-appellants under Section 374 Cr.P.C - enmity between Informant and his cousin and others in respect of a land - statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. - section 207 Cr.P.C - testimonies of witnesses closely related to deceased cannot be discarded - where direct evidence is worthy, it can be believed, then motive does not carry much weight - sentenced to life imprisonment. (Para 4,15,33 & 37)

B. Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 134 –number of witness - Law is well-settled that as a general rule, Court can and may act on the testimony of a single witness provided he/she is wholly reliable - if there are doubts about the testimony, Court will insist on corroboration. It is not the numbers, the quantity, but the quality that is material. Time-honoured principle is that evidence has to be weighed and not counted. (Para 39 & 40)

C. Indian Penal Code, 1860 - whether Section 34 read with Section 302 IPC is attracted in the case in hand in respect of appellants - A Constitution Bench has dealt with Section 34 IPC and held that Section 34 deals with cases of constructive criminal liability provides that if a criminal act is done by several persons in furtherance of the common intention of all, each of such person is liable for the act in the same manner as if it were done by him alone. 1. This Criminal Appeal under Section 374 Cr.P.C. has been filed by accused-appellants Mazhar Husain, Zafar Husain and Azhar Husain against the judgment and order dated 12.05.2000 passed by Sri Syed Nazim Husain Zaidi, First Additional District and Sessions Judge, Kanpur Dehat in Session Trial No. 296 of 1998, convicting appellant-1 Mazhar Husain under Section 302 I.P.C. and sentencing him to undergo life imprisonment with a fine of Rs. 10,000/-. In case of default in payment of fine, he has to undergo one year's further imprisonment. Accused-appellants Zafar Husain and Azhar Husain were convicted under Section 302 read with Section 34 I.P.C. and sentenced to life imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 5,000/- each. In case of default in payment of fine, they have to undergo further six months' imprisonment.

2. This appeal survives only in respect of appellants-1 and 2 inasmuch appellant-3, Azhar Husain, having died, appeal in respect of him stood abated as evident from order dated 19.12.2017.

3. Factual matrix of the case as appearing from First Information Report (hereinafter referred to as "FIR") as well as material available on record may be stated as followed.

4. A written report (EX.Ka-1) dated 26.05.1998 was presented at Police Station Rajpur, Sub-Division Sikandara, District Kanpur Dehat at 9.39 PM the same day by PW-1 Sajjad Husain, alleging that there existed enmity between Informant and his cousin Mazhar Husain and others in respect of a land. On the fateful day, i.e., 26.05.1998 accused-appellant Mazhar Husain went to the disputed field along with Tractor of Thakur of Silhaira with intention to plough the field. He was accompanied with his brothers Zafar and Azhar. Shabbir Husain, father of Informant, PW-1, was going by cycle to the field for bringing straw. Apprehending that Informant's father might not indulge in altercation with accused on the issue of ploughing of the field, Informant and his brother, Mohd. Farhan, proceeded towards the field. When reached near Puliya (small bridge), they noticed that accused-appellants were hurling abuses on Informant's father. At some distance Ranu, Informants' Bhanja (sister's sons) was also standing and some people were engaged in work in nearby fields. At about 6.00 PM Azhar and Zafar exhorted Mazhar and provoked him to kill Informant's father saying that let the case/dispute be finished that day. In the meantime Mazhar took out countrymade pistol from his right Phent (upper portion of lower or Dhoti which is tied in waist) and opened two fire at Informant's father. Informant and others ran towards his father who fell down there. Tractor Driver left the Tractor and fled away. Seeing the Informant and others approaching, accused-persons fled sitting in Tractor. On reaching nearer the accused Mazhar tried to load cartridges in the country-made pistol held in his hand but since the pistol was jammed with empty cartridge, he struck the pistol on the body of tractor and got butt and barrel of pistol separated and threw it there. Thereafter they fled away towards village. Informant and his brother found that gunshot hit right side neck and shoulder of their father who was about 65 years old. FIR further states that no confrontation or altercation ever had taken place between accused and Informant. Only a civil litigation was going on. It is further stated that dead body of Informant's father Shabbir is lying on spot.

5. On the basis of written report (EX.Ka-1), PW-3, Constable Moharrir Ram Asrey Verma registered FIR (Kx.Ka-2) on 26.05.1998 at 9.30 PM against the three accused-appellants at Case Crime No. 31 of 1998 under Section 302 I.P.C., PS Rajpur, District Kanpur Dehat. He also prepared Chik FIR No. 30 and made relevant entry in G.D. at report No. 35.

6. Immediately after registration of the case, investigation was undertaken by PW-4, Mohd. Yaqoob Khan. He recorded statement of Informant Sajjad Husain and Constable Clerk Ram Asrey Verma. He proceeded for the place of occurrence in the morning of 27.05.1998 at 5.45 AM and prepared inquest in respect of deceased Shabbir Husain. He also prepared Panchayatnama (Ex.Ka-4) and other relevant documents namely Photo Nash, Challan Nash, specimen seal, letter to C.M.O. and R.I. (Ex.Ka-5 to Ka-9 respectively). He also took sample of blood stained and simple earth from the place of occurrence and sealed them in separate bundles and prepared recovery memo (Ex.Ka-10). He also found and took in possession an empty cartridge of 12 bore besides pellets and cap from the place of occurrence; a cycle and a gunny bag said to belong deceased and prepared recovery memo. The I.O. found a broken countrymade pistol at the place of occurrence, butt and barrel whereof were separate. A separate case under Section 25 Arms Act was also registered.

7. Autopsy over the dead body of deceased Shabbir was conducted by PW-5, Dr. Narendra Kumar Singh Yadav. On external examination he found the deceased to be of average body built. Rigor mortis passed off from upper half of the body and present in lower half; eyes and mouth closed; abdomen distended, P.M. staining present whole of the back buttock and thigh. He found following ante-mortem injuries on his person:

(2) Firearm wound of entry 4 cm x 3cm x bone deep on the left side of top of the shoulder. Margins inverted, charring present around the wound. 20 small pallets and one wadding piece were recovered from the wound.

8. On internal examination, nothing abnormal was detected with respect to thorax, pleura, pericardium, abdominal walls, pancreas; both chambers of heart were empty; left carotid artery was ruptured. Teeth 14x15; stomach contained watery fluid 4 ounce; small intestine half full with gases; large intestine contain faecal matter and gases; gall bladder half full and pale; both kidney pale, urinary bladder empty. In the opinion of Doctor, death was caused due to shock and hemorrhage on account of gunshot wounds. He (PW-5) prepared post-mortem report (Ex.Ka-12).

9. PW-6, S.I. Dhirendra Singh Yadav, was Station Officer P.S. Rajpur on 27.05.1998, on which date he had taken investigation from PW-4 Mohd. Yakoob Khan, and recorded statements of Farhan and Raju. He also inspected the spot and prepared site-plan (Ex.Ka-13). He continued investigation upto 12.06.1998 when he was transferred from Rajpur. Thereafter investigation was undertaken by S.O. Vijendra Singh, who submitted charge-sheet (Ex.Ka-14) dated 01.07.1998 against accused-appellants.

10. Cognizance of the offence was taken by Chief Judicial Magistrate, Kanpur Dehat on 05.08.1998. Case being exclusively triable by Court of Sessions was committed by Chief Judicial Magistrate after necessary compliance under Section 207 Cr.P.C to Court of Sessions for trial wherefrom the case was transferred to First Addl. Sessions Judge, Kanpur Dehat.

11. Trial Court framed charges against the accused-appellants Zafar and Azhar under Section 302 I.P.C. read with Section 34 I.P.C., vide order dated 14.12.1998. The charge reads as under:

12. Accused-appellant Mazhar Hussain has been charged separately under Section 302 I.P.C. as under :

आरोप पत्र

मैं बी0डी0 चतुर्वेदी, प्रथम अपर जनपद एवं सत्र न्यायाधीश, कानपुर देहात, आप मजहर हुसेन पर, निम्नलिखित आरोप लगाता हूँ:–

Charge

I, V.D. Chaturvedi, First Additional District and Sessions Judge, Kanpur Dehat, hereby charge you Mazhar Hussain as under :-

That on 26.5.1998 at about 6:30 p.m. by opening fire with countrymade pistol along with two other accomplice committed murder, by causing death of Sabbir Hussain in the field situated in village Ramau, PS. Rajpur, District Kanpur Dehat which is an offence punishable under Section 302 I.P.C. and within the cognizance of this Court.

And I hereby directed that you be tried by this Court for the aforesaid charges.

13. Accused-appellant pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

14. In order to establish its case, prosecution examined as many as six witnesses, out of whom PW-1 Sajjad Husain, PW-2 Farhan Husain and PW-3 Ram Asrey Verma are witnesses of fact. Rest are formal witnesses. PW-4 S.I.

Yaqoot Khan is first Investigation Officer and has proved inquest, photo nash, challan nash, specimen seal, letter to C.M.O. and letter to R.I. (Ex.Ka-5 to Ka-9) as also the supurdginma (Ex.Ka-11) with respect to cycle and bag of deceased. PW-5, Dr. Narendra Kuamar Singh Yadav, who has conducted post-mortem on the dead body of deceased has proved post-mortem report (Ex.Ka-12). PW-6 is second Investigation Officer, S.I. Dhirendra Singh Yadav, who has proved site-plan (Ex.Ka-13) and charge-sheet submitted by S.I. Vijendra Singh, marked as Ex.ka-14.

15. In the statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. accused persons denied the incident and stated the prosecution story to be false. They admitted that Informant is their cousin. A litigation with respect to land was going between Ahmad Husain and Shabbir and others. Pairavi was being done by Sajjad but they did not bear any enmity with him. It is further stated that in order to usurp the rights of accused and to exert pressure, they have been falsely implicated.

16. Accused-appellants have also produced Shiv Pal Singh, DW-1, in defense. He has stated that his Tractor was lying at his own house.

17. Trial Court vide its impugned judgment after evaluating the entire evidence led by prosecution as well as defense found the accused-appellants guilty of the charges leveled against them and convicted and sentenced them under Sections 302 and 302/34 I.P.C. as detailed above. Being dissatisfied from the judgment of Trial Court, accused-appellants preferred this Criminal Appeal.

18. As stated above, the appeal survives only with respect to accused-appellants-1 and 2.

19. We have heard Sri V.M. Zaidi, learned Senior Advocate, assisted by Sri Ramesh Singh Advocate for appellant and Sri Syed Ali Murtaza, Learned AGA for the State at length and have gone through the record available on file carefully.

20. Learned counsel for the appellants challenging impugned judgement and order of conviction advanced his argument in the following manner :-

(i) There is no independent witness. PW-1 and PW-2 are related and interested witnesses.

(ii) There is no motive to accused persons to commit the present crime like murder of his cousin brother Shabbir.

(iii) There is no reliable evidence so as to justify conviction of appellants.

(iv) There are major contradictions in the evidence of PWs which may render the prosecution story doubtful.

(v) As per prosecution case, accused Mazhar Husain is alleged to have opened fire on the victim through his country made pistol which is in broken position but rest other accused persons have been involved on account of previous enmity which is not sufficient to commit murder.

(vi) As per prosecution, witness Ranu is said to be present on spot but prosecution did not adduce him as witness, therefore, presumption of Section 114 (g) goes against him.

(vii) According to prosecution, fire is said to be opened by accused Mazhar Husain, therefore, conviction of accused Zafar Husain is not proper and unsustainable under Section 302/34 I.P.C.

21. Learned AGA opposed the submissions made from the side of appellant and submitted that evidently there existed previous enmity between the parties before incident and civil litigation was also pending. The incident had taken place in the light of day. Both parties, although were inimical, but known to each other. On the exhortation of other co-accused, accused Mazhar Hussain opened fire on the victim with intention to kill him in furtherance of common intention of all. All the three accused persons were present on the spot and their presence is fully proved and established from the evidence of PWs-1 and 2. Appellant could not dispute the factum of murder, time and place.

22. Although time, date and place, injuries found on the body of deceased as indicated in post mortem report could not be disputed by the accused-appellant but according to counsel for appellants, they are not responsible for the crime. PWs.1 and 2 supported the prosecution case.

23. PW-5 Dr. Narendra Kumar Singh Yadav conducted post mortem report and expressed his opinion that death of victim might have occurred due to ante-mortem fire arm injuries. From the evidence of PWs-1, 2 and 5, time date and place of death of Shabbir, and manner of injuries are fully established. PWs-1 and 2 categorically deposed that Mazhar Husain opened two fires on Shabbir. PW-5 Dr. Narendra Kumar Singh Yadav found two ante mortem gun shot injuries on the person of deceased. In this way ocular testimony is totally compatible with medical evidence.

24. Only question up for consideration is, "whether accused appellant Mazhar Husain and Zafar Husain are responsible for committing murder of informant's father Shabbir and Trial Court has rightly convicted them or not?"

25. We now proceed to consider briefly the evidence led by prosecution available on record.

26. PW-1 deposed that on the fateful day i.e. 26.5.1998, accused-appellant Mazhar Hussain went along with Azhar Husain and Zafar Husain to plough the field taking tractor of one Thakur. At about 6:00 p.m. at the same time his father Shabbir Husain was going to field by bicycle to take straw along with Ranu (Bhanja of Informant). When he (PW-1) and his brother Farhan heard that accused persons were ploughing the field and they were making altercation with his father, they rushed to the field and reached near Puliya, and, saw that on the exhortation and provocation of accused-appellant Zafar and Azahar, accused-appellant Mazahar Husain took out country made pistol and opened two fires on his father, who received fire arm injuries and fell down in the field. On seeing the firing, driver of tractor fled away from the spot leaving tractor there. Accused-appellant Mazhar Hussain again tried to load cartridges in the pistol but pistol could not be opened because of empty cartridge. Accused-appellant struck his pistol on tractor and got butt and barrel of pistol separated and threw it there. All the three accused-appellants fled away from the spot towards village by tractor. Informant's father having been injured, succumbed to injuries on spot.

27. PW-2 Farhan deposed that on 26.5.1998 at about 6:00 p.m., accused appellant Mazhar Hussain, Zafar Hussain and Azahar Hussain were going to plough the field taking tractor of Thakur, at that time his father Shabbir was going to field for taking straw. On seeing that Mazhar Husain was ploughing field, he and his brother Sajjad (PW-1) rushed to the field, thinking that his father might not indulge in altercation with accused appellants in the field. They proceeded to field and when reached near Puliya, saw an altercation between accused persons and his father. Accused appellant Azahar Husain and Zafar Husain provoked Mazhar Husain to kill Informant's father saying that let the dispute be finished that day. Mazhar Husain took out country made pistol and opened two fires on his father Shabbir, who received serious injuries and fell down and succumbed to death.

28. Both the witnesses PW-1 and 2 withstood lengthy cross-examination but nothing material could be brought on record so as to dent the prosecution story doubtful.

29. PW-1 and PW-2 successfully established the presence of both accused appellants on spot and firing by accused-appellant Mazhar Husain at Shabbir Husain on the provocation of Zafar Husain and Azhar Husain. PW-5 Dr. Narendra Kumar Singh Yadav proved the post mortem report in which he found two fire arm injuries on the person of deceased, expressing his opinion that death might have occurred due to hemorrhage and coma on account of fire arm injuries and death was possible at 6.30 p.m. on 26.5.1998. From the statement of PWs- 1, 2 and 5, it is established that accused Zafar and Azhar and Mazhar were present on spot and on the provocation and exhortation made by Zafar and Azhar, accused-appellant Mazhar Hussain opened two fire on Shabbir Hussain, who received serious gun shot injuries and succumbed to death on spot.

30. Admittedly, PW-1 and 2 are real brother and sons of deceased. They are related to him but they appeared to be quite natural witness.

31. So far as argument of relation of witnesses is concerned, we are not impressed with submission made by learned Amicus Curiae for accused-appellant for reasons that if relation witnesses are found to be reliable, natural and trustworthy, their evidence cannot be discarded on the ground of their relationship with deceased or accused.

32. In Ganga Bhawani v. Rayapati Venkat Reddy and Others, 2013(15) SCC 298, Court has held as under :-

"11. It is a settled legal proposition that the evidence of closely related witnesses is required to be carefully scrutinised and appreciated before any conclusion is made to rest upon it, regarding the convict/accused in a given case. Thus, the evidence cannot be disbelieved merely on the ground that the witnesses are related to each other or to the deceased. In case the evidence has a ring of truth to it, is cogent, credible and trustworthy, it can, and certainly should, be relied upon.

33. It is settled law that merely because witnesses are closely related to deceased, their testimonies cannot be discarded. Relationship with one of the parties is not a factor that affects credibility of witness, more so, a relative would not conceal actual culprit and make allegation against an innocent person. However, in such a case, Court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse evidence to find out that whether it is cogent and credible evidence.

34. In so far as discrepancies, variations and contradictions in prosecution case are concerned, we have analysed entire evidence in consonance with submissions raised by learned counsel's and find that the same do not go to the root of case and accused-appellant are not entitled to get benefit of the same.

35. In Sampath Kumar v. Inspector of Police, Krishnagiri, (2012) 4 SCC 124, Court has held that minor contradictions are bound to appear in the statements of truthful witnesses as memory sometimes plays false and sense of observation differs from person to person.

36. We lest not forget that no prosecution case is foolproof and the same is bound to suffer from some lacuna or the other. It is only when such lacunae are on material aspects going to the root of the matter, it may have bearing on the outcome of the case, else such shortcomings are to be ignored. Reference may be made to a recent decision of the Apex Court (3 Judges) in Criminal Appeal No. 56 of 2018, Smt. Shamim v. State of (NCT of Delhi), decided on 19.09.2018.

37. So far as motive is concerned, it is well settled that where direct evidence is worthy, it can be believed, then motive does not carry much weight. It is also notable that mind set of accused persons differs from each other. Thus merely because that there was no strong motive to commit the present offence, prosecution case cannot be disbelieved. We do not find any substance in the argument advanced by learned counsel for appellants.

38. In Lokesh Shivakumar v. State of Karnataka, (2012) 3 SCC 196, Court has held as under :-

"As regards motive, it is well established that if the prosecution case is fully established by reliable ocular evidence coupled with medical evidence, the issue of motive looses practically all relevance. In this case, we find the ocular evidence led in support of the prosecution case wholly reliable and see no reason to discard it."

39. So far as non-examination of eye witness Ranu shown in F.I.R. is concerned, in view of Section 134 of Indian Evidence Act,1872 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act,1872'), we do not find any substance in the submission of learned counsel for the appellant.

40. Law is well-settled that as a general rule, Court can and may act on the testimony of a single witness provided he/she is wholly reliable. There is no legal impediment in convicting a person on the sole testimony of a single witness. That is the logic of Section 134 of Act, 1872, but if there are doubts about the testimony, Court will insist on corroboration. In fact, it is not the numbers, the quantity, but the quality that is material. Time-honoured principle is that evidence has to be weighed and not counted. Test is whether evidence has a ring of truth, cogent, credible and trustworthy or otherwise.

41. In Namdeo v. State of Maharashtra (2007) 14 SCC 150, Court re-iterated the view observing that it is the quality and not the quantity of evidence which is necessary for proving or disproving a fact. The legal system has laid emphasis on value, weight and quality of evidence rather than on quantity, multiplicity or plurality of witnesses. It is, therefore, open to a competent court to fully and completely rely on a solitary witness and record conviction. Conversely, it may acquit the accused inspite of testimony of several witnesses if it is not satisfied about the quality of evidence.

42. In Kunju @ Balachandran vs. State of Tamil Nadu, AIR 2008 SC 1381 a similar view has been taken placing reliance on earlier judgments including Jagdish Prasad vs. State of M.P., AIR 1994 SC 1251; and Vadivelu Thevar vs. State of Madras, AIR 1957 SC 614.

43. In Yakub Ismailbhai Patel Vs. State of Gunjrat reported in (2004) 12 SCC 229, Court held that :-

"The legal position in respect of the testimony of a solitay eyewitness is well settled in a catena of judgments inasmuch as this Court has always reminded that in order to pass conviction upon it, such a testimony must be of a nature which inspires the confidence of the Court. While looking into such evidence this Court has always advocated the Rule of Caution and such corroboration from other evidence and even in the absence of corroboration if testimony of such single eye-witness inspires confidence then conviction can be based solely upon it."

44. In State of Haryana v. Inder Singh and Ors. reported in (2002) 9 SCC 537, Court held that it is not the quantity but the quality of the witnesses which matters for determining the guilt or innocence of the accused. The testimony of a sole witness must be confidence-inspiring and beyond suspicion, thus, leaving no doubt in the mind of the Court.

45. The further issue which has to be examined by this Court is, "whether conviction of appellants under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC is justified and can it be said that they are guilty of offence u/s 302/34 and murder of Shabbir Husain can be said to be a part of common intention on the part of appellants in the above facts and circumstances of case". In other words, "whether Section 34 read with Section 302 IPC is attracted in the case in hand in respect of appellants is the crucial issue which has to be examined by us".

46. We, therefore, first proceed to examine Section 34 IPC, which reads as under :-

"Section 34. Acts done by several persons in furtherance of common intention.--When a criminal act is done by several persons in furtherance of the common intention of all, each of such persons is liable for that act in the same manner as if it were done by him alone."

47. As initially enacted, the words "in furtherance of the common intention of all" were not part of Section 34 but came to be introduced by Section 1 of Act XXVII of 1870. The reason for inserting such amendment was the observations made by Sir Barnes Peacock, CJ, in Queen Vs. Gora Chand, (1866) 5 Suth WR 45 (FB), holding that mere presence of a person at the scene of crime would not be sufficient to hold him liable to be implicated under section 34 IPC as it stood then, unless such presence was an act in furtherance of a common design.

48. Ordinary rule of criminal liability is that a person who actually commits an offence has the primary responsibility to suffer punishment for the same. Section 34 IPC, however, brings within the ambit of penal liability even those person(s) who have not actually committed crime but there existed a common intention animating the accused leading to the doing of a criminal act in furtherance of such intention. Thus to attract Section 34, which infact enumerates one of the principle of constructive liability, two conditions must be satisfied : (i) There must be common intention to commit a criminal act; and (ii) There must be participation by all the persons in doing such act in furtherance of that intention.

49. In Krishna Govind Patil Vs. State of Maharashtra, AIR 1963 SC 1413, Court construed Section 34 IPC and held that common intention within the meaning of section implied a prearranged plan and the criminal act was done pursuant to the pre-arranged plan. The said plan may also develop on the spot during the course of commission of the offence; but crucial circumstance is that the said plan must precede the act constituting the offence. If that be so, before a court can convict a person under Section 34 read with specific provision under which the person is charged, it should come to a definite conclusion that the said person had a prior concert with one or more other persons, named or unnamed, for committing the said offence.

50. In Gurdatta Mal Vs. State of Punjab, AIR 1965 SC 257 =(1965) 1 Cri LJ 242 (SC), it was held that criminal sharing, overt or covert, by active presence or by distant direction, making out a certain measure of jointness in the commission of the act is the essence of section 34 IPC.

51. Joel Prentiss Bishop in "Commentaries on the Criminal Law", an American Jurist said that every person is responsible criminally for what wrong flows directly from his corrupt intentions; but no man, intending wrong, is responsible for an independent act of wrong committed by another. If one person sets in motion the physical power of another person the former is criminally guilty for its results. If he contemplated the result, he is answerable, though it is produced in a manner he does not contemplate. If he does not contemplate the result in kind, yet if it was the ordinary effect of the cause, he is responsible. If he awoke into action an indiscriminate power he is responsible. If he gave directions vaguely and incautiously, and the person receiving them acted according to what might be presumed to have been his understanding of them, he is responsible. But, if the wrong done was a fresh and independent wrong, springing wholly from the mind of the doer, the other is not criminal therein, merely because, when it was done, he was intending to be a partaker with the doer in a different wrong.

52. A similar observation was also made in Shankarlal Kachrabhai & Ors. Vs. State of Gujarat, AIR 1965 SC 1260 by referring to a decision of Judicial Committee in Mahbub Shah Vs. King-Emperor, L.R. 72 I.A. 148. Court said that the criminal act mentioned, in Section 34 IPC is the result of the concerted action of more than one person; if the said result was reached in furtherance of the common intention, each person is liable for the result as if he had done it himself. Court also explained the meaning of word "in furtherance of the common intention" and said as under :

"The Dictionary meaning of the word "furtherance" is "advancement or promotion". If four persons have a common intention to kill A, they will have to many acts in promotion or prosecution of that design in order to fulfill it. Some illustrations will clarify the point. Four persons intend to kill A, who is expected to be found in a house. All of them participate in different ways. One of them attempts to enter the house, but is stopped by the sentry and he shoots the sentry. Though the common intention was to kill A, the shooting of the sentry is in furtherance of the said common intention. So Section 34 applies. Take another illustration. If one of the said accused enters the room where the intended victim usually sleeps, but somebody other than the intended victim is sleeping in the room, and on a mistaken impression he shoots him. The shooting of the wrong man is in furtherance of the common intention and so, Section 34 applies. Take a third variation of the illustration. The intended victim has a twin brother who exactly resembles him and the accused who is entrusted with the part of shooting the intended victim, on a mistaken impression, shoots the twin brother. The shooting of the twin brother is also in furtherance of the common intention. Here also Section 34 applies. If that much is conceded we do not see any justification why the killing of another under a mistaken impression of identity is not in furtherance of the common intention to kill the intended victim. When the accused were shooting at Rama believing him to be Madha, they were certainly doing a criminal act in furtherance of the common intention which was to kill Madha. They killed Rama because they believed that they were shooting at Madha. Mr. Chari argues, how can a mistake committed by one of the accused be in furtherance of a common intention ? For it is said that to commit a mistake was not a part of the common intention of the accused. But the question is not, as we have pointed out, whether the committing of a mistake was a part of the common intention, but whether it was done in furtherance of the common intention. If the common intention was to kill A and if one of the accused kills B to wreak out his private vengeance, it cannot possibly be in furtherance of the common intention for which others can be constructively made liable. But, on the other hand, if he kills B bona fide believing that he is A, we do not see any incongruity in holding that the killing of B is in furtherance of the common intention."

53. In this decision, Court also referred to the Judicial Committee decision in Barendra Kumar Ghosh Vs.

Emperor (1924) I.L.R. 52 Cal. 197 explaining the expression "criminal act" as under "A criminal act means that united criminal behavior which results in something for which an individual would be punishable if it were all done by himself alone that is, in a criminal offence."

54. In Hethubha alias Jithuba Madhuba and Ors. Vs. State of Gujarat, AIR 1970 SC 1266, Court observed that dominant feature of Section 34 is the element of participation in actions. This participation need not in all cases be by physical presence. Common intention implies acting in concert. Prior concert and pre-arranged plan is the foundation of common intention to establish liability and guilt.

55. In Jai Bhagwan and others Vs. State of Haryana, AIR 1999 SC 1083, Court said that to apply Section 34 IPC, apart from the fact that there should be two or more accused, two factors must be established : (i) common intention and (ii) participation of the accused in the commission of an offence. If common intention is proved but no overt act is attributed to the individual accused, Section 34 will be attracted as essentially it involves vicarious liability but if participation of the accused in the crime is proved and common intention is absent, Section 34 cannot be invoked.

56. In Harjit Singh & Anr. Vs. State of Punjab, (2002) 6 SCC 739, the Court said that "common intention" is a state of mind of an accused which can be inferred objectively from his conduct displayed in the course of commission of crime as also prior and subsequent attendant circumstances. Mere participation in the crime with others is not sufficient to attribute "common intention" to one or others involved in the crime. The subjective element in "common intention" therefore should be proved by objective test.

57. In order to attract Section 34 IPC, the Court should be able to draw an inference that result reached was concerted action of the person said to have been liable.

58. The "common object" is different from "common intention". However, we do not propose to deal into this distinction for the reason that here Section 149 is not in issue and therefore this Court is confined only to examine whether Section 34 IPC has rightly been applied or not and there was evidence of common intention or not. However, suffice it to mention that dealing with distinction in "common object" and "common intention", in Dani Singh & Ors. Vs. State of Bihar, 2004 (13) SCC 203, Court explained the term "common intention" and said that "common intention" to bring about a particular result may well develop on the spot as between a number of persons, with reference to the facts of the case and circumstances of the situation. Though common intention may develop on the spot, it must, however, be anterior in point of time to the commission of offence showing a pre-arranged plan and prior concert.

59. In Surendra Chauhan vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 2000 SC 1436 Court held that common intention could be developed on the spur of moment. To attract Section 34 IPC the essence of simultaneous consensus of the minds of persons participating in criminal act and such consensus can be developed on the spot. It is not mandatory for prosecution to bring direct evidence of common intention on record and this depends on the facts and circumstances of the case. The intention could develop even during the course of occurrence.

60. In Nand Kishore vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, 2011(12) SCC 120 Court observed that before a person can be convicted by following the provisions of Section 34, that person must have done something along with other persons. Some individual participation in the commission of criminal act would be the requirement. Every individual member of entire group charged with aid of Section 34 must, therefore, be a participant in the joint act which is the result of their combined activity. Under Section 34, every individual offender is associated with the criminal act which constitutes the offence both physically as well as mentally, i.e., he is a participant not only in what has been described as a common act but also what is termed as the common intention and, therefore, in both these respects his individual role is put into serious jeopardy although this individual role might be a part of a common scheme in which others have also joined him and played a role that is similar or different.

61. In Shyamal Ghosh vs. State of West Bengal, 2012(7) SCC 646 Court referred to following observations from Privy Council decision in Barendra Kumar Ghosh vs. King Emperor, (1924-25) 52 IC 40:

"The words of Section 34 are not to be eviscerated by reading them in this exceedingly limited sense. By Section 33 a criminal act in Section 34 includes a series of acts and, further, 'act' includes omission to act, for example, an omission to interfere in order to prevent a murder being done before one's very eyes. By Section 37, when any offence is committed by means of several acts whoever intentionally cooperates in the commission of that offence by doing any one of those acts, either singly or jointly with any other person, commits that offence. Even if the Appellant did nothing as he stood outside the door, it is to be remembered that in crimes as in other things "they also serve who only stand and wait".

62. In Dharnidhar and others vs. State of U.P. and others, 2010(7) SCC 759 Court said that Section 34 IPC applies where two or more accused are present and two factors must be established i.e. common intention and participation of accused in crime. Section 34 IPC involves vicarious liability. If the intention is proved but no overt act was committed, the Section can still be invoked. Section 34 IPC carves out an exception from general law that a person is responsible for his own act, as it provides that a person can also be held vicariously responsible for the act of others, if he had common intention to commit the act. The phrase "common intention" means a pre-oriented plan and acting in pursuance of plan, thus, common intention must exist prior to commission of act in a point of time. The common intention to give effect to a particular act may even develop at the spur of moment between a number of persons with reference to facts of a given case.

63. In Ramesh Singh alias Photti v. State of Andra Pradesh, 2004(11) SCC

305 Court said that common intention essentially being a state of mind, it is very difficult to procure direct evidence to prove such intention. In most cases it has to be inferred from the act like, conduct of accused or other relevant circumstances of the case. The inference can be gathered from the manner in which accused arrived at the scene and mounted the attack, determination and concert with which attack was made and from the nature of injury caused by one or some of them. The contributory acts of persons who are not responsible for injury can further be inferred from the subsequent conduct after attack. In this regard even an illegal omission on the part of such accused can indicate the sharing of common intention. Court held that totality of circumstances must be taken into consideration in arriving at conclusion whether accused had common intention to commit an offence of which they could be convicted.

64. The above observations have been followed in Balu and others vs. State (U.T. of Pondicherry), 2016(15) SCC 471.

65. A Constitution Bench has dealt with Section 34 IPC in Mohan Singh and another vs. State of Punjab, AIR 1963 SC 174 and held that Section 34 deals with cases of constructive criminal liability provides that if a criminal act is done by several persons in furtherance of the common intention of all, each of such person is liable for the act in the same manner as if it were done by him alone. It has been further observed that the essential constituent of the vicarious criminal liability prescribed by Section 34 is the existence of common intention. The common intention in question animates the accused persons and if the said common intention leads to commission of the criminal offence charged, each of the person sharing the common intention is constructively liable for the criminal act done by one of them. The Larger Bench dealing with the concept of constructive criminal liability under Sections 149 and 34 IPC, expressed that just as the combination of persons sharing the same common object is one of the features of an unlawful assembly, so the existence of a combination of persons sharing the same common intention is one of the features of Section 34. In some ways the two Sections are similar and in some cases they may overlap. The common intention which is the basis of Section 34 is different from the common object which is the basis of the composition of an unlawful assembly. Common intention denotes action-in-concert and necessarily postulates the existence of a prearranged plan and that must mean a prior meeting of minds. It would be noticed that cases to which Section 34 can be applied disclose an element of participation in action on the part of all the accused persons. The acts may be different; may vary in their character, but they are all actuated by the same common intention. Court further held:

"It is now well-settled that the common intention required by Section 34 is different from the same intention or similar intention. As has been observed by the Privy Council in Mahbub Shah v. King-Emperor (supra) common intention within the meaning of Section 34 implies a pre-arranged plan, and to convict the accused of an offence applying the Section it should be proved that the criminal act was done in concert pursuant to the pre-arranged plan and that the inference of common intention should never be reached unless it is a necessary inference deducible from the circumstances of the case. "

66. Referring to Constitution Bench judgment and some others recently in Vijendra Singh and others vs. State of U.P., 2017(11) SCC 129 Court has said:

".... each case has to rest on its own facts. Whether the crime is committed in furtherance of common intention or not, will depend upon the material brought on record and the appreciation thereof in proper perspective. Facts of two cases cannot be regarded as similar. Common intention can be gathered from the circumstances that are brought on record by the prosecution. Common intention can be conceived immediately or at the time of offence. Thus, the applicability of Section 34 Indian Penal Code is a question of fact and is to be ascertained from the evidence brought on record. The common intention to bring about a particular result may well develop on the spot as between a number of persons, with reference to the fact of the case and circumstances of the situation. Whether in a proved situation all the individuals concerned therein have developed only simultaneous and independent intentions or whether a simultaneous consensus of their minds to bring about a particular result can be said to have been developed and thereby intended by all of them, is a question that has to be determined on the facts."

67. Our attention was drawn to an illustration given by Court in Shankarlal Kachrabhai and others Vs. State of Gujarat (supra) which reads as under:

"If the common intention was to kill A and if one of the accused kills B to wreak out his private vengeance, it cannot possibly be in furtherance of the common intention for which others can be constructively made liable."

68. Aforesaid exception has no application in the present case since it was never pleaded by Appellant that Mazhar Husain fired on Shabbir Husain to wreak out his private vengeance. Appellant Zafar Husain also did not take any such defence in the statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. that he (Mazhar Husain) fired upon Shabbir Husain to wreak out his private vengeance. Neither any such suggestion has come from any witness in the Court below nor any such case has ever been made out. Therefore, in the entirety of facts and circumstances and looking into the exposition of law as discussed above with respect of Section 34 IPC, we have no manner of doubt that conviction of Appellants Zafar Husain under Section 302 read with Section 34 IPC cannot be said to be erroneous or illegal.

69. In view of facts and legal position discussed hereinabove, we find that Trial Court has rightly analyzed evidence led by prosecution and found them guilty and convicted accused Mazhar Husain for having committed murder of Shabbir Husain under Section 302 I.P.C. and accused Zafar for an offence punishable under Section 302/34 IPC. Conviction and sentenced awarded by Trial Court is liable to be maintained and confirmed. No interference is warranted by this Court.

70. So far as sentencing of accused-appellants is concerned, it is always a difficult task requiring balance of various considerations. The question of awarding sentence is a matter of discretion to be exercised on consideration of circumstances aggravating and mitigating in individual cases.

71. It is settled legal position that appropriate sentence should be awarded after giving due consideration to the facts and circumstances of each case, nature of offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed. It is obligation upon court to constantly remind itself that right of victim, and be it said, on certain occasions person aggrieved as well as society at large can be victims, never be marginalised. The measure of punishment should be proportionate to gravity of offence. Object of sentencing should be to protect society and to deter the criminal in achieving avowed object of law. Further, it is expected that courts would operate the sentencing system so as to impose such sentence which reflects conscience of society and sentencing process has to be stern where it should be. The Court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against individual victim but also against society to which criminal and victim belong. Punishment to be awarded for a crime must not be irrelevant but it should conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality which the crime has been perpetrated, enormity of crime warranting public abhorrence and it should 'respond to the society's cry for justice against the criminal'. [Vide: Sumer Singh vs. Surajbhan Singh and others, (2014) 7 SCC 323, Sham Sunder vs. Puran, (1990) 4 SCC 731, M.P. v. Saleem, (2005) 5 SCC 554, Ravji v. State of Rajasthan, (1996) 2 SCC 175].

72. Hence, applying the principles laid down in the aforesaid judgments and having regard to the totality of facts and circumstances of case, nature of offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed, we find that punishment awarded to accused-appellants by Trial Court in impugned judgment and order is not excessive and it appears fit and proper and no question arises to interfere in the matter on the point of punishment imposed upon him.

73. We, therefore, find no merit in appeal. It is accordingly, dismissed and judgement and order dated 12.05.2000 passed by First Additional District and Sessions Judge, Kanpur Dehat, is maintained and confirmed.

74. Lower Court record along with a copy of this judgment be sent back immediately to District Court and Jail concerned for compliance and apprising the accused-appellant.

75. Accused-appellants 1 and 2 are in jail, they shall serve out sentence as per judgement dated 12.5.2000 passed by the Trial Court as confirmed by this Court.

THE HON'BLE ALI ZAMIN, J.

Criminal Appeal No.750 of 2004

Asgar Khan & Ors. ...Appellants (In Jail)
Versus
State of U.P. ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sri Braham Singh, Sri Arun Kr. Singh, Sri Arvind Kumar Srivastava (A.C.), Sri K.D.

Tewari, Sri M.D. Mishra, Sri N.I. Jafri, Sri P.K. Tripathi, Sri Sushil Kumar Tewari, Sri Pradeep Kumar Bishnoi, Dr. Arun Srivastava.

Counsel for the Opposite Party:
A.G.A., Mrs. Poonam Dubey.

A. Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Section 452 (house trespass), 307, 302/34 IPC and Arms Act, 1959 - Section 27 – accused-appellants examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C- No illegality or infirmity in Conviction under Sections 452 and 302/34 IPC - Life imprisonment – Direct evidence. (Para 14 & 35)

B. Basic principle of appreciation of evidence of a rustic witness -The rustic witness as compared to an educated witness is not expected to remember every small detail of the incident and the manner in which the incident had happened more particularly when his evidence is recorded after a lapse of time-witness is bound to face shock of the untimely death of his near relative(s). (Para 19)

C. Relevancy of motive - motive becomes irrelevant in the presence of direct evidences - the accused appellants were bearing enmity on account of progress of the informant's family and they were bent upon for altercation. Informant used to avoid the altercation but they never relented before the accused appellants - fact corroborated by the testimony of the informant - Injury report and postmortem reports corroborate prosecution version regarding manner of assault and time of incident- ocular version also corroborated by the medical report. (Para 29, 30 & 33)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ali Zamin, J.)

1. Heard Sri Braham Singh, learned counsel for the appellants, Sri Ratan Singh, learned A.G.A. for the State of U.P. and perused the material available on record.

2. This appeal has been preferred against the judgment and order dated 28.01.2004, passed in Session Trial No.709 of 1994, State of U.P. vs. Asghar and others, by which learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.13, Moradabad, has convicted and sentenced each of the appellants to undergo three years rigorous imprisonment and Rs.1000/- fine u/s 452 IPC, in default of fine to undergo three months additional simple imprisonment and to undergo life imprisonment and fine of Rs.5,000/-, u/s 302/34 IPC, in default of fine six months additional sentence.

3. In brief, prosecution case is that the house of informant Mohd. Ali is situated in the east at outer side of the village. In the intervening night of 26/27-6-1994 informant and his brother Arif were sleeping on the roof of his neighbour Komil Dhobi and his elder brother Farzand was sleeping on the roof above the door and his younger brothers Raees and Dhumi, mother, father, ladies and children were sleeping below in the courtyard.

4. All of sudden, near about at 02:30 A.M., on the scream of brother-Farzand all the aforesaid family members woke up. Informant, at once, flashed a torch towards the cot of Farzand and saw and identified very well near the cot of Farzand, his neighbour Guddu Bara and Asghar khan, sons of Afsar Khan, resident of village Syaundara and their relative Khurshid son of Munna, village and police station Shahbad, District Rampur. On his interruption Asgar Khan inflicted knife injury on the stomach of his brother-Farzand and Guddu Bara fired a shot by country made pistol although he tried much to save himself by wrapping a quilt. All brothers, ladies and children exhorted them but it was in vain. When the informant tried to go ahead then Khurshid by pointing a country-made pistol towards them fired with intention to kill them. On account of fear, informant and Arif hid themselves in the khandhar (ruins of building) of Munne Khan. Dhoomi also hid himself by crossing the wall towards west in the street. Raees also tried to run away but all the three assailants jumping from the roof surrounded him at the cot and wounded him by beating him with the barrel and handle of the country-made pistol and firing. All the three brothers being alarmed called for help but due to fear no one from the village came to their rescue. When the informant's wife Bano interrupted then Khurshid stating that she is talking too much kicked on her face even then she did not keep mum then Khurshid fired a shot at her. When all the assailants went away towards north side of his house only then the informant saw and found that his brother-Farzand and his wife-Bano had expired and the condition of Raees also has become critical.

5. The assailants were bearing enmity with the informant's family because his family was doing well in life by doing hard work. Accused were bent upon for altercation but informant's family used to avoid it.

6. Informant-Mohammad Ali got scribed report (Ex. Ka-1) by Abdul Aziz (DW-1) and handed it over to the police station Vilari, district Moradabad. On the basis of written report (Ex.Ka-1), Case Crime No.228 of 1994 under Sections 452, 307 and 302 I.P.C. was registered under chik FIR (Ex.Ka-6) and investigation was handed over to the S.H.O., Dharam Singh Malik (PW-8). Investigating Officer recorded the statements of the informant-Mohammad Ali and injured-Raees Ahmad at the police station and thereafter proceeded to the place of incident along with S.S.I. Muneshwar Singh and other police personnel. He inspected the spot and prepared the spot map (Ex.Ka-17). He also took into his possession the torch from the informant and prepared its memo (Ex.Ka-2). On the instruction of the Investigating Officer inquest memo of the deceased-Farzand Ali (Ex.Ka-20) and relevant documents i.e. photo lash (Ex.ka-21), specimen seal (Ex.ka-22), proforma 33 (Ex.ka-23), inquest memo of the deceased-Smt. Bano Begum (Ex.ka-24), photo lash (Ex.ka-25), specimen seal (Ex.ka-26) and letter to C.M.O. (Ex.ka-27) were prepared and the dead-bodies of the deceased Farzand and Smt. Bano Begum were dispatched for autopsy. The injured-Raees Ahmad was sent to P.H.C. Moradabad for medical examination along with Homeguard-Bhure Singh Yadav.

7. Dr. V.N. Saxena (PW-7) conducted medical examination of injured Raees Ahmad on 27.06.1994 at 7:30 A.M. and prepared the report (Ex.Ka-15), according to which following injuries were found :-

(v) lacerated wound 1 cm x 0.5 cm x depth not probed over the front rims of Rt. thigh 30 cm above the right knee. No blackening and tattooing. Fresh bleeding present kept under observation advised X-ray Rt. thigh.

(vi) traumatic swelling 5 cm x 3 cm on the right side chest kept under observation advised X-ray chest.

All the i1-17njuries were kept under observation for cause of nature except injury no. (4) by firearm. Injury no.(6) was caused by blunt object duration fresh.

8. Dr. Madan Mohan (PW-5) conducted autopsy on the dead-body of the deceased-Farzand Ali and prepared report (Ex.ka-6), according to which following injuries were found on the body of the deceased :-

(ii) (4) Linear abrasion in an area 16 cm x 6 cm over the front of chest in middle & Rt. side of chest middle part.

(iii) incised wound 8 cm x 3 cm x abdominal cavity deep on Rt. side abdomen about 9 cm between Rt. nipple at 5 O'clock position margin clean cut. A loop of small intestine is coming out of the wound.

(iv) incised wound 4 cm x 2 cm x abdominal cavity deep on Rt. side abdomen about 1 cm lateral to injury no. (3) margin clean cut.

According to his opinion cause of death is due to shock and haemorrhage as a result of anti-mortem injuries.

9. Dr. Madan Mohan (PW-5) also conducted autopsy on the dead-body of the deceased-Smt. Bano Begum and prepared the report (Ex.ka-7), according to which following injuries were found :-

lung upper lobe of the heart and Rt. vertical and diaphragm & left lobe of liver is lacerated. One metallic bullet recovered on the abdominal cavity.

According to his opinion cause of death is due to shock and haemorrhage as a result of anti mortem injuries.

10. On receiving the death information of injured Raees Ahmad S.I. T.R. Kothari conducted inquest of the deceased Raees Ahmad and prepared inquest memo (Ex.ka-6). He also prepared relevant documents i.e. chalan lash, letter to R.I., letter to C.M.O, specimen seal and photo lash (Ex.ka-7 to 11) respectively and after sealing and stamping the dead body he handed over the same for postmortem to constables Hakam Singh and Kailash.

11. P.W.-10 Dr. Kishore Kumar conducted autopsy on the body of the deceased-Raees Ahmad and prepared postmortem report (Ex.ka-28), according to which following injuries were found :-

(i) stitched wound 3 cm x 3 cm stitched on the middle of head.

(ii) stitched wound 7 cm x 7 cm stitched on the flexer aspect (Lt.) arm.

(iii) stitched wound 5 cm x 5 cm stitched on the flexer aspect of left forearm.

(iv) wound of entry 1 cm x 0.5 cm on the front of thigh through & through to injury no.(5).

(v) stitched wound 3 cm x 3 cm stitched at the lateral aspect of Rt. thigh as outer side of right thigh. Injury nos.2 and 4 were communicated to each other on opening of the brain and blood was found.

According to his opinion cause of death is due to head injury.

12. Investigating Officer, after completing the investigation, submitted charge-sheet (Ex.Ka-18), under Sections 452, 307, 302/34 I.P.C and 27 Arms Act against the accused persons before the Court of Chief Judicial Magistrate, Moradabad, who committed the accused for trial to the Court of Session, where Case Crime No.228 of 1994 was registered as Session Trial No.709/94 State of U.P. vs. Asghar and others, wherefrom, it was transferred to the Court of Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.13, Moradabad, who framed the charge against the accused persons, under Sections 452, 307, 302/34 I.P.C and 27 Arms Act. The accused-appellants denied the charge and claimed for trial.

13. Prosecution, to prove its case, has produced ten witnesses.

PW-1 Mohammad Ali-informant and eye witness. PW-2 S.I. T.R. Kothari prepared the inquest memo. PW-3 Constable Virendra Kumar is a formal witness. PW-4 Dhoomi is a witness of fact. PW-5 Dr. Madan Mohan conducted autopsy on the body of the deceased-Farzand Ali and Smt. Bano Begum. PW-6 Arif is a witness of fact. PW-7 Dr. V.N. Saxena conducted medical examination of the injured-Raees Ahmad. PW-8 Dharam Singh is Investigating Officer. PW-9 Veer Pal Singh, scribe of chik & G.D. and PW-10 Dr. Kishor Kumar, conducted postmortem of deceased Raees.

14. The accused-appellants were examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C in which they stated that they have been implicated falsely in the case. In defence accused persons have produced Abdul Aziz (DW-1) scribe of the written report (Ex.Ka-1).

15. Learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.13, Moradabad, after hearing the learned Additional District Government Counsel (Criminal), learned counsel for the accused-appellants and perusing the material available on record, passed the impugned judgment and order. Hence, the instant appeal.

16. Learned counsel for the appellants submits that there is no motive for the appellants to commit the offence. He also submits that PW-4 Dhoomi, who is brother of the deceased Farzand and Raees, has stated that he does labour work residing in village Ravana and take care of livelihood of his wife and children, so he cannot be an eye-witness of the incident. He further submits that according to PW-1 Mohammad Ali, 4-5 fires were made while PW-4 Dhoomi has stated that near about 20-25 fires were made. Thus, there is a contradiction in the statement of the prosecution witnesses regarding the fires made at the time of incident, which creates doubt in the prosecution case. He also submits that the scribe of the written report Abdul Aziz has stated that he had written the report Ext.Ka-1 at 9:00 A.M. in police station Vilari on dictation of daroga and not on dictation of informant P.W.1 Mohammad Ali and before him thumb impression of no one was obtained on the written report by the S.I. Hence, written report is not proved and creates doubt on the prosecution case. Lastly, he submits that PW-4 Dhoomi has stated that miscreants were threatening them not to come near otherwise they will be killed and he has also stated that it is not that miscreants took away ornaments snatching the same from the ladies. If accused appellants were known to the witness then in place of stating miscreants he should have taken the name of the accused appellants. Actually, the incident was not caused by the appellants. It was an incident of loot and due to enmity, the accused appellants have been implicated falsely in the case. From the evidence produced by the prosecution, charges are not proved so the judgment and order is liable to set aside and the accused appellants are entitled to be acquitted.

17. On the other hand, learned A.G.A. for the State submits that from the place of incidence, concerned police station is at a distance of 10 kilometers and regarding the incident of 26/27-6-1994, at about 02:30 a.m., prompt FIR naming the accused appellants has been lodged on 27.06.1994, at 5:05 a.m. By fire, stabbing by knife and beating by handle and barrel of country-made pistol incident has been caused by the appellants which has been witnessed by the informant PW-1 Mohammad Ali, PW-4 Dhoomi and PW-6 Arif in the light of torch. During investigation, the torch was taken into possession by the Investigating Officer, a memo was prepared and returned the same to the informant which was produced before the court by the informant-Mohammad Ali. In the injury report and postmortem report firearm and knife injuries have been found to the deceased persons which corroborate the ocular version. It is the prosecution case that accused appellants were bearing enmity on account of progress of the family of informant, accused appellants have admitted enmity in their statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C. The evidence of PW-1 Mohammad Ali, PW-4 Dhoomi and PW-6 Arif are consistent as well as corroborated by the medical evidence. Charges against the accused appellants were proved fully from the evidences adduced by the prosecution and the trial court has rightly convicted and sentenced the accused appellants in which no interference is required by the Court and appeal is liable to be dismissed.

18. At the out set, it would be pertinent to consider whether written report Ext.Ka-1 was written on dictation of informant P.W.1 Mohammad Ali or on dictation of daroga, as stated by D.W.1 Abdul Aziz. Informant P.W.1 Mohammad Ali in his examination-in-chief has stated that he got scribed the report by Abdul Aziz and Abdul Aziz wrote what he had dictated to him. Thereafter, he read over the report to him and on hearing he put his thumb impression on it. He proved the written report as Ext.Ka-1. Defence has not put any question in this regard from P.W.1 Mohammad Ali. Thus, statement of P.W.1 Mohammad Ali regarding scribing the written report by Abdul Aziz is uncontroverted and there is no reason not to believe on it. On the other hand D.W.1 Abdul Aziz has stated that Ext.Ka-1 on the record is in his hand writing. He scribed this document at 9:00 A.M. at P.S. Vilari on the dictation of darogaji. P.W.9 H.C. Veer Pal Singh has stated that on 27.06.1994, he was posted at police station Vilari as Head Moharrir and he had prepared chik F.I.R. Ext.Ka-16 and G.D. Ext.Ka-19 in his hand writing and signature. He has denied in cross-examination that the report which he states to scribe was not scribed at the time and it was scribed anti time. As per chik F.I.R. Ext.Ka-16, it was scribed on 27.06.1994 at 5:05 A.M. From cross-examination of P.W.9 Veer Pal Singh by defence, nothing has been elicited, so that any adverse inference about scribing of F.I.R. and G.D. at 5.05 A.M. on 27.06.1994 can be drawn. In cross-examination P.W.1 Mohammad Ali has stated that he reached to the police station in the night at 3:30 to 4:00 A.M., when he reached the police station at that time there was some darkness. He has also stated that he proceeded to the police station from the house at about 3:00 A.M. Mohammad Ali is a rustic witness.

19. In State of U.P. vs. Krishna Master and others (2010) 12 SCC (324), the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that "the basic principle of appreciation of evidence of a rustic witness who is not educated and comes from a poor strata of society is that the evidence of such a witness should be appreciated as a whole. The rustic witness as compared to an educated witness is not expected to remember every small detail of the incident and the manner in which the incident had happened more particularly when his evidence is recorded after a lapse of time. Further, a witness is bound to face shock of the untimely death of his near relative(s). Therefore, the court must keep in mind all these relevant factors while appreciating evidence of a rustic witness."

20. The incident has occurred on 26/27.06.1994, his statement has been recorded on 27.07.1999 near about after lapse of five years. Considering him to be a rustic witness, his statement has been recorded on 27.7.1999 i.e. after a lapse of five years of the incident. His statement regarding reaching police station at 3:30 to 4:00 A.M. for lodging first information report, in view of the observation of Hon'ble Supreme Court in State of U.P. vs. Krishna Master and others (2010) 12 SCC (324) (supra), corroborates the timing of F.I.R. and G.D. prepared at 5:05 A.M. on 27.06.1994. Thus, with regard to registration of F.I.R. at 5:05 A.M. on 27.06.1994, prosecution evidence of P.W.1 Mohammad Ali and P.W.9 Head Moharrir Veer Pal Singh is consistent, corroborative and reliable.

In view of the above, the statement of D.W.1 Abdul Aziz does not appear convincing that he had scribed the written report Ext.Ka.1 at 9:00 A.M. in police station Vilari on dictation of daroga. Accordingly, we find no substance in the contention of learned counsel for the appellant in this regard.

21. In Ex.ka-1 proved by informant PW-1 Mohammad Ali, it is mentioned that in the intervening night of 26/27-6-1994, informant's younger brothers Raees and Dhoomi, mother, father, ladies and children were sleeping in the courtyard. As per FIR (Ex.Ka-16), proved by PW-9 HC Veer Pal Singh, distance of the police station concerned from the place of incident is 10 kilometers. The incident has taken place at 02:30 a.m. in the intervening night of 26/27-6-1994 and in the incident Farzand Ali and Smt. Bano Begam have died at the spot while Raees Ahmad became injured. Information of the incident was given to the police station on 27.06.1994 at 05:05 a.m. which in the facts and circumstances appears prompt one, without consultation and deliberation. The lodging of first information report has been supported by the informant PW-1 Mohammad Ali, PW-6 Arif and PW-9 HC Veer Pal Singh through their testimony and nothing has been elicited from their cross-examination by the defence so that regarding giving it by informant PW-1 Mohammad Ali at the police station and its date and time any adverse inference can be drawn.

22. Considering the fact that FIR (Ex.Ka-16) has been lodged promptly and in the FIR it is mentioned that PW-4 Dhoomi was sleeping in the courtyard along with other family members, informant PW-1 Mohammad Ali and PW-6 Arif have supported the FIR version through their testimony, therefore, presence of PW-4 Dhoomi, at the time of incident, cannot be doubted on the basis of his statement that he does labour work in village Ravana and takes care of livelihood of his wife and children. Accordingly, we do not find substance in the contention of learned counsel for the appellants in this regard.

23. As per FIR and testimony of informant PW-1 Mohammad Ali, it appears that four shots were fired by the accused appellants. PW-4 Dhoomi in his cross-examination has stated that the miscreants were present in his house for about half an hour he did not count that how many shots were fired. He further stated that near about 20-25 shots were fired. The incident has taken place on 26/27-6-1994 and his statement was recorded near about after six years on 28.11.2000. The witness is also a rustic witness.

24. In the incident, witness-Dhoomi's brother Farzand and sister-in-law Smt. Bano Begam (bhabi) have died and his other brother Raees Ahmad became injured. Witness-Dhoomi, who is a rustic witness, his statement was recorded after a lapse of six years of the incident in which prior to the statement "near about 20-25 fires were made" he has stated that he did not count how many shots were fired. Considering his whole statement as held by Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of State of U.P. Vs. Krishna Master and others (supra), in our opinion, on the basis of statement of PW-1 Mohammad Ali that 4-5 shots were fired and according to statement of PW-4 Dhoomi that near about 20-25 shots were fired that too qualified by statement that he did not count how many shots were fired, prosecution case cannot be doubted. Accordingly, we do not find substance in the contention of learned counsel for the appellants that there is contradiction in the prosecution witness regarding number of shots fired, which creates doubt in the prosecution case.

25. PW-4 Dhoomi in his cross-examination has stated that miscreants were threatening not to come here otherwise he will be killed. He has further stated that it is not that the miscreants took away the ornaments by snatching from the ladies. In the examination-in-chief, the witness has specifically stated that he heard scream of his brother Farzand near about 02:00 a.m. to 02:30 a.m. and on the scream of his brother, informant-Mohammad Ali flashed the torch towards the cot of his brother Farzand and he identified very well in the light of torch Asgar, Guddu Bara and Khursheed near the cot of Farzand and in cross-examination too he has described the circumstances regarding the incident. His statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. has not been confronted with regard to being made first time in the court. Apart from it, it is the tact of counsel putting question to a witness and reply given by the witness is recorded accordingly. Thus, mere use of the word miscreants in the cross-examination, in place of name of assailants by PW-4 Dhoomi, the prosecution case cannot be doubted. Accordingly, we also find no force in the contention of learned counsel for the appellants that it was an incident of loot and due to enmity they have been implicated falsely in the case.

26. According to the FIR, on interruption of informant, accused Guddu Bara fired upon Farzand by country-made pistol and when informant and others exhorted the accused appellants then accused Khursheed pointing country-made pistol fired at them with intention to kill and they also by jumping from the roof surrounded Raees on the cot and caused injuries to him by firing and beating by handle and barrel of the country-made pistol. On interruption of wife of the informant, accused Khursheed also fired at his wife Bano Begam.

27. We have gone through the whole evidence of PW-1 Mohammad Ali and find that on the point of sleeping of informant Mohammad Ali in the night of 26/27-06-1994 along with brother Arif on the roof of Komil Dhobi, brother Farzand on the roof of his house at the door, brothers Raees and Dhoomi, mother, father, ladies and children in the courtyard, waking up on hearing scream of brother Farzand at about 02:30 a.m. in the night, flashing torch light by him towards the cot of Farzand and identifying his neighbour Guddu Bara, Asgar Khan and their relative Khursheed near the cot of Farzand, on his interruption inflicting knife injury by Asgar Khan in his stomach and firing shot by Guddu Bara hitting on his head, on exhortation by them firing shot at them by Khursheed and due to fear hiding himself and Arif in the ruined building of Bhure Khan and Dhoomi in the street crossing the wall, surrounding Raees on the cot jumping from the roof, and causing him injuries by firing, handle and barrel of the country-made pistol, on interruption of Smt. Bano kicking on her face by Khursheed even then on making noise firing shot at her by Khursheed and after going accused finding brother Farzand and Smt. Bano Begum dead and condition of Raees being critical is intact, credible, consistent and reliable.

28. We have also gone through the statements of PW-4 Dhoomi and PW-6 Arif and find that on material point like sleeping of Mohammad Ali and Arif on the roof of Komil Dhobi, Farzand on the roof of house at the door, Arif, Raees, mother, father, ladies and children in the courtyard, hearing scream of Farzand at 2:00 to 02:30 a.m., flashing light of torch by Mohammad Ali towards the cot of Farzand and identifying Asgar, Guddu Bara and Khursheed standing nearby the cot of Farzand, on interruption of Mohammad Ali inflicting knife injury in the stomach of Farzand by Asgar and firearm injury by Guddu Bara, causing injury to Raees by firing, handle and barrel of country-made pistol, firearm injury to Smt. Bano by Guddu, thus, evidences of PW-1 Mohammad Ali, PW-4 Dhoomi and PW-6 Arif are consistent, corroborated to each other, convincing and reliable.

29. In Rajesh Govind Jagesha vs. State of Maharashtra (1999) 8 SCC 428, Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that motive in criminal case based upon ocular testimony of witnesses is not at all relevant, in Rajagopal vs. Muthupandi alias Thavakkalai and others (2017) 11 SCC 120, Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that motive is not crucial if there is direct evidence and in Banna Reddy and others vs. State of Karnataka (2018) 5 SCC 790, Hon'ble Supreme Court has held that motive becomes irrelevant in the presence of direct evidences.

30. The instant case is based on direct evidence as discussed above, we have found the evidences of PW-1 Mohammad Ali, PW-4 Dhoomi and PW-6 Arif consistent, corroborated to each other, convincing and reliable, so, in view of the opinion of Hon'ble Supreme Court, in view of the above mentioned cases, motive is not relevant in the instant case. Apart from it, in the written report (Ex.ka-1), it is mentioned that the accused appellants were bearing enmity on account of progress of the informant's family and they were bent upon for altercation. Informant used to avoid the altercation but they never relented before the accused appellants. This fact has been corroborated by the testimony of the informant PW-1 Mohammad Ali, PW-4 Dhoomi and PW-6 Arif, so, also we do not find substance in the contention of learned counsel for the accused appellants that there was no motive for them to commit the offence.

31. As per Ex.Ka-1 and witnesses PW-1 Mohammad Ali, PW-4 Dhoomi and PW-6 Arif incident was witnessed in the flash light of torch. The torch was also taken into possession. Recovery memo of the torch (Ex.ka-2) was prepared and proved by Investigating Officer-Dharam Pal Singh (P.W-8) as well as PW-1 Mohammad Ali. All the witnesses of fact i.e. PW-1 Mohammad Ali, PW-4 Dhoomi and PW-6 Arif have deposed that in the flash light of torch they have very well identified the accused, namely, Asgar Khan, Guddu Bara Khan and Khursheed.

32. PW-8 Dharam Singh has proved spot map (Ex.Ka-17), in which place-A has been shown which is on the roof at the door where the dead body of the deceased Farzand Ali was found lying, at place-B in the courtyard, dead body of Smt. Bano Begum was found and at place-C in the courtyard sleeping of deceased Raees has been shown. P.W-8 Dharam Singh has stated that he had instructed S.I. Muneshwar Singh to conduct inquest memo of deceased Farzand Ali and Smt. Bano Begum. He has also stated that blood stained and plain earth related to deceased Farzand and Smt. Bano Begum and injured Raees were taken into possession by S.I. Muneshwar Singh and three separate memos were prepared by him. According to the Ex.Ka-3 blood stained and plain earth relating to deceased Farzand Ali in presence of witnesses were taken into possession from the roof of the house at the door and as per Ex-Ka-4 & 5, blood stained and plain earth related to injured Raees and deceased Smt. Bano Begum were taken from the courtyard which corroborate the prosecution version that at the time of incident deceased Farzand Ali was sleeping on the roof of the house at the door and deceased Raees and Smt. Bano begum were in the courtyard of the house.

33. According to PW-7 Dr. V.N. Saxena, who has proved the injury report of Raees as Ex.Ka-15, one incised wound, three lacerated wounds, one firearm wound and one traumatic swelling were found on the person of Raees, at the time of examination, on 27.06.1994 at 07:30 a.m. According to him, the injuries were possible at 02:30 a.m. in the night of 26/27-06-1994 by firearm, handle and barrel of the country-made pistol. PW-5 Dr. Madan Mohan has conducted postmortem of deceased Farzand Ali and Smt. Bano Begum, prepared postmortem report Ex.Ka-6 & 7, respectively, and proved it, according to which, one firearm injury, two incised wounds and an abrasion injury were found on the person of Farzand. A firearm injury and a lacerated wound on the person of Smt. Bano Begum were found, in his opinion, firearm injury to Smt. Bano begum and firearm and knife injury to Farzand are possible. He has also opined that the injuries are possible at 02:30 a.m. in the night of 26/27-06-1994. Injury report of Raees and postmortem reports of Farzand and Smt. Bano Begum corroborate prosecution version regarding manner of assault and time of incident. Thus, ocular version is also corroborated by the medical report.

34. Considering the evidence led by the prosecution and above discussion, we do not find substance in the contention of learned counsel for the appellants that it was an incident of loot and due to enmity accused appellants have been implicated falsely in the case.

35. Thus, upon a whole consideration of the facts of the case, attending circumstances and the evidence on record, we do not find that the learned trial Judge committed any illegality or infirmity in convicting and sentencing the appellants for the offence punishable under Sections 452 and 302/34 IPC and awarding sentence of imprisonment for life to them.

36. This appeal lacks merit and is, accordingly, dismissed.

37. The appellants are on bail. Chief Judicial Magistrate, Moradabad, is directed to take them into custody and send them to jail for serving out their remaining sentence.

Criminal Appeal No. 826 of 1991

Rajveer Singh & Ors.
...Appellants (In Jail)
Versus
State of U.P. ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sri Ravindra Singh, Sri Dinesh Kumar Bhaskar, Sri Pawan Singh.

Counsel for the Opposite Party:

A. Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Section 147, 148 , Section 307 read with Section 149 - criminal appeal under Section 374 of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 - Delay in lodging F.I.R - Section 313 Cr.P.C - appellants convicted under Section 307 read with Section 149 and 148 I.P.C. - entitles the surviving appellant the benefit of doubt - entitled to be acquitted of all the charges levelled against him.

The inordinate delay in lodging the F.I.R. as well as delay in medical examination; material contradiction between the statement of injured eye witnesses made during investigation and statement made during trial; reasonable doubt regarding sharing of common object by appellant as a member of unlawful assembly or having knowledge of any such common object, have created serious doubts in the prosecution case as against the sole surviving appellant which entitles the surviving appellant the benefit of doubt - entitled to be acquitted of all the charges levelled against him. (Para 28,31 & 40)

(B) Indian Penal Code, 1860 - applicability of Section 149 IPC - Mere presence of any person at the place of occurrence like a mute spectator or as witness would not create any liability upon him with aid of section 149 IPC unless it is proved or could be logically inferred from the facts of the case that he was part of that unlawful assembly and had knowledge that such an act would be committed or is likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object of the unlawful assembly. (Delivered by Hon'ble Virendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. The instant appeal has been filed under Section 374 of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (hereinafter referred to as "Code") against the judgment and order dated 23.4.1991 passed by Special Judge, Moradabad in Session Trial No. 586 of 1988 (State vs. Rajveer Singh and others), P.S. Naugawa Sadat, District Moradabad, U.P., whereby, appellants Rajveer Singh and Jagat Veer Singh have been convicted and sentenced to imprisonment for life, whereas, appellants Suresh, Viresh and Teeka Ram have been convicted and sentenced to undergo 7 years rigorous imprisonment for offence under Section 307 read with Section 149 and all the appellants have further been convicted for offence under Section 148 IPC and sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for a term of 2 years. All the sentences have been directed to run concurrently.

2. The brief facts of the prosecution case are that appellants Rajveer Singh, Jagat Veer Singh, Suresh, Viresh and Teeka Ram; PW-1, Hari Raj Singh; PW-4, Dinesh Kumar and PW-5, Dushyant are residents of Village Jamuna Khas, P.S. Naugawa Sadat, District Moradabad. Appellants, namely, Rajveer Singh and Jagat Veer Singh, are real brothers. Appellants Suresh and Viresh are also real brothers. PW-2, Shoorveer Singh is brother-in-law of PW-1, Hari Raj Singh.

3. It is the prosecution case that while, on 29.1.1984, PW-1, Hari Raj Singh was irrigating his field by a diesel pump set of PW-4, Dinesh Kumar, at about 10:00 p.m., PW-2, Shoorveer Singh came there and told that appellants Rajveer, Jagat Veer, Suresh and Viresh armed with guns, whereas, appellant Teeka Ram armed with sword, were coming from the Haveli of appellant Suresh towards him (Hari Raj Singh). PW-1, Hari Raj Singh told him not to worry as appellants Viresh and Suresh were also with them. As a result, both of them sat under the bullock cart with lantern, emmitting light, hanging at its back. At about 11:00 p.m., all the appellants reached the place of occurrence, where PW-1, Hari Raj Singh, PW-2, Shoorveer Singh and PW-4, Dinesh were sitting. Seeing them, PW-1, Hari Raj Singh came out from under the bullock cart. Whereafter, appellant Jagat Veer fired at PW-2, Shoorveer Singh which hit his hands; PW-1, Hari Raj Singh caught appellant Jagat Veer Singh by his arms and bit his shoulder. Upon which, appellant Rajveer Singh exhorted appellant Teeka Ram to attack him with sword. As appellant Teeka Ram was about to attack Hari Raj Singh (PW-1), he released appellant Jagat Veer Singh and as soon as PW-1, Hari Raj released him, appellant Rajveer fired at PW-1, Hari Raj Singh which hit his left hand, whereby, he fell down. After the firing, appellants came near PW-2, Shoorveer, to verify whether PW-2, Shoorveer was alive or not. Upon information from Suresh that he was about to die, upon sensing that on alarm raised by PW-1, Hari Raj Singh and PW-2, Shoorveer Singh, persons present at a crusher nearby were coming, the appellants ran away. In the night, PW-1, Hari Raj Singh sent PW-5, Dushyant along with one Subhash and Ravindra to P.S. Naugawa Sadat to lodge First Information Report (hereinafter referred to as "F.I.R."), but the same was not lodged as Station Officer of P.S. Naugawa Shadat advised them to arrange for treatment of injured first instead of bothering to lodge an F.I.R. Next day, in the morning, PW-1, Hari Raj and PW-2, Shoorveer Singh were taken to Combined Health Centre (CHC), Amroha by tractor of PW-5, Dushyant.

4. PW-3, Dr. A.K. Mehrotra, Medical Officer, Combined Health Centre, Amroha, examined the injuries of PW-1, Hari Raj Singh and PW-2, Shoorveer Singh on 30.1.1984. The injuries noticed were as follows:

(a) Injuries on PW-1, Hari Raj Singh.

(i) fire arm wound of entry, size 3.2 cm x 3.2 cm through and through on inner side of left upper arm, 4 cm above from the left elbow joint, margins everted, bleeding present after cleaning of wound.

(ii) fire arm exit wound, size 15.0 cm x 13.0 cm through and through on the injury no. 1; interior portion of left upper arm, left elbow joint and upper portion of left forearm, margins everted, bleeding present after cleaning the wound.

(iii) lacerated wound size 3 cm x 3 cm x muscle deep on the inner portion of left upper arm 2 cm below the injury no. 1, bleeding present, after cleaning of wound.

(b) Injuries on PW-2, Shoorveer Singh.

(i) fire arm wound of entry, size 3 cm x 3 cm through and through on the back of right elbow joint, inner side and margin everted, bleeding was present after cleaning. Blackening is present.

(ii) fire arm wound exit size 4.5 cm x 4.0 cm through and through to the injury no. 1 right in the arm, inner side. Margin everted 8 cm below the right elbow joint. Bleeding after cleaning the wound was present. Injuries was surrounded by swelling size 20.0 cm x 15.0 cm on the right upper arm and right forearm.

5. After medical examination, on the dictation of PW-1,Hari Raj Singh,written report Ex ka1 was prepared by Satyaveer Singh. After putting his thumb impression on it, PW-1, Hari Raj Singh , sent Satyaveer Singh to P.S. Naugawa Sadat to lodge the same. Whereafter, FIR (Ex.ka.4) was lodged at 12:30 on 30.1.1984.

6. Investigation was taken over by Hukum Singh Yadav, Inspector, P.S. Naugawa, (hereinafter referred to as "I.O.') who inspected the place of occurrence and took sample of blood stained and plain earth, blood stained bed sheet, empty cartridges from the place of occurrence and prepared recovery memo (Ex.Ka.14 and Ex.Ka.16); he also inspected the lantern, took it into his custody and prepared its recovery memo (Ex.Ka.17). During investigation, two persons, namely, Ram Singh and Om Pal Singh, were arrested and, it appears, from their possession, country made pistols were recovered which were sent for forensic science laboratory, Lucknow, along with empty cartridges found at the place of occurrence. On the application of Hari Raj Singh (PW-1), as he was not satisfied with investigation, investigation was transferred to CBCID, Lucknow and entrusted to PW-8, Sri Krishna Srivastava, Inspector in CBCID, Lucknow who inspected the place of occurrence, prepared site plan (Ex.Ka.9) and recorded the statement of witnesses. Meanwhile, PW-8, Sri Krishna Srivastava was transferred and investigation was handed over to another investigating officer. Thereafter, charge-sheet Ex.Ka.10 and Ex.Ka.11 u/s 147,148, 149 and 307 IPC, was filed against the appellants upon which cognizance was taken by the concerned Magistrate and since the offences were exclusively triable by a Court of Session, after providing copies of necessary documents, as required u/s 207 of the Code, to the appellants, committed the case for trial to Court of Session, Moradabad.

7. Charges u/s 307 and 148 IPC were framed against appellants Jagatveer Singh and Rajveer Singh whereas u/s 148 and 307 read with 149 IPC were framed against appellants Suresh, Viresh and Teeka Ram, which were read over to the appellants. The appellants denied the charges and claimed for trial.

8. The prosecution examined eight witnesses, out of whom PW-1, Hari Raj Singh, PW-2, Shoorveer Singh and PW-4, Dinesh Kumar are witnesses of fact and rest are formal witnesses. PW-3, Dr. A.K. Mehrotra had examined the injuries of PW-1 Hari Raj Singh and PW-2, Shoorveer Singh; PW-5, Dushyant is a formal witness, who was sent after the occurrence to inform the police and on whose tractor the injured were sent next day to the hospital.

9. PW-6, Const. Ibrahim Khan is a witness who has registered the chick F.I.R. and made entry of the occurrence in General Diary. PW-7, Hareram Singh is recordkeeper Safadarjang Hospital, New Delhi and PW-8, Sri Krishna Srivastava is investigating officer of the case.

10. After closure of prosecution evidence, appellants were examined under Section 313 of the Code. They denied the prosecution version and stated that they are innocent and have falsely been implicated. They had further stated that during investigation, Ram Singh and Om Pal Singh were arrested by the Investigating Officer who had confessed their guilt.

11. Appellants were afforded opportunity to lead evidence in their defence. DW-1 Basdev Prasad Sharma, Head Const. Sadar Malkhana, Moradabad was produced by the appellants in their defence.

12. After hearing counsel for the parties, Trial Court found accused-appellants guilty of the charge under Sections 307 read with Section 149 and Section 148 I.P.C. and, accordingly, convicted and sentenced them as above. Aggrieved by the impugned judgment and order, appellants have preferred this appeal.

13. At the very outset, it is pertinent to note that during the pendency of this appeal, appellants nos. 1, 2, 3 and 5 namely Rajveer Singh, Jagat Veer Singh, Suresh and Teeka Ram had died and appeal in regard to them had been abated vide order dated 1.7.2019. Therfore, the appeal of only Viresh survives.

14. We have heard Sri Pawan Singh Pundir, learned counsel for the appellant (Viresh) and learned A.G.A. for the State.

15. Learned counsel for the appellant Viresh has submitted that he is innocent and has been falsely implicated. He was not a member of any unlawful assembly; from the evidence on record, it has not been proved as to whether he had a common object or had knowledge regarding any such object; no evidence has been produced by the prosecution in this regard. Learned counsel has further submitted that F.I.R. was lodged after a delay of more than 13 hours of the occurrence without any satisfactory and plausible explanation. Medical evidence is also not corroborated with ocular evidence. All the prosecution witnesses are interested witness. Conduct of injured witnesses is neither natural nor trustworthy. Appellant has no motive either to commit any offence or to be a member of any unlawful assembly. The impugned judgment and order passed by the Trial Court is against the settled principle of law and liable to be set aside. Appellant is entitled for acquittal. He has placed reliance on Nagesar Vs. State of Chhatisgarh (2014) CrLJ 2948.

16. Per-contra, learned A.G.A. , vehemently opposing the submission advanced by the learned counsel for the appellant, has submitted that alleged offence has been caused in the prosecution of a common object of member of unlawful assembly. Presence of appellant Viresh at the place of occurrence with deadly weapon has been proved by the prosecution beyond reasonable doubt. Learned A.G.A. further submitted that though the remaining appellants, who played active role in causing grievous injuries as also attempt to take the life of injured witnesses, have died, but appellant (Viresh) cannot be given any benefit on that score as he was part of the unlawful assembly. He has further submitted that the statement of injured witnesses supported with medical evidence cannot be disbelieved only on the ground of delay in F.I.R. because delay has been explained and is not fatal to the prosecution case.

17. We have considered rival submission of the learned counsel for the parties and have gone through the entire record.

18. PW-1, Hari Raj Singh has stated that accused-appellants, Rajveer Singh, Jagat Veer Singh, Suresh, Viresh and Teeka Ram are residents of his village and he knew them very well; appellants Raj Veer Singh and Jagat Veer Singh are real brothers; Suresh and Viresh are also real brothers who were his real nephews. He stated that at the time of occurrence, he had hired an engine of Dinesh (PW-4) to irrigate his field and when he was irrigating his field, Dinesh (PW-4) and his servant Khem Singh was present at his field. He stated that on the fateful day, irrigation started at 2:00 p.m. At about 8:00 p.m., his brother-in-law Shoorveer Singh (PW-2) and Balbeer Singh, (father of PW-4) brought their dinner at the tube well. After dinner, Balbeer Singh and Shoorveer Singh (PW-2) returned back. He stated that at about 10:00 p.m., Shoorveer Singh (PW-2) came and told him that appellants Rajveer Singh, Jagatveer Singh, Suresh, Viresh armed with gun and Teekaram armed with sword had emerged from the house of appellant Suresh and were coming towards him. On hearing that he told Shoorveer Singh (PW-2) that as his nephews were there with appellant Rajveer Singh, he does not apprehend any danger and therefore he sat under the bullock cart with Shoorveer Singh (PW-2) and Dinesh (PW-4). At that point in time a lantern was hanging from the rear side of bullock cart and was emmitting light. At about 11:00 p.m., all the five appellants appeared there. Seeing them, he (PW-1) came out from under the bullock cart. Whereafter, appellant Jagat Veer Singh fired from his gun at PW-2, Shoorveer Singh thereby causing injury to him (PW-2). PW-1 stated that he caught hold appellant Jagatveer Singh and bit his shoulder. Consequently, appellant Jagat Veer Singh cried. Seeing that appellant Rajveer Singh asked appellant Teeka Ram to attack PW-1 with sword. As appellant

Teeka Ram raised his sword towards him, he (PW-1) released appellant Jagat Veer Singh and let him move away. Thereafter, appellant Rajveer Singh fired at him (PW-1) from his gun which hit PW-1 on his left arm. As a result, he fell down. Thereafter, appellants went to PW-2, Shoorveer Singh. Appellant Jagat Veer Singh asked appellant Suresh to verify whether Shoorveer Singh was alive. Whereupon , he replied that although PW-2 was still breathing but was almost dead. Whereafter, appellants ran away from the place of occurrence towards west.

He further stated that, hearing the sound of fire, persons present at the crusher in village Dakhawada raised alarm but nobody came there. As a result, he called Dinesh (PW-4) to take him out of the water. Some how, he got up and sent Dinesh to the crusher with instruction to call persons present there to carry him from there. He narrated in detail as to how he and PW-2, Shoorveer Singh reached their house and from there he sent Ravindra @ Munne, Subhash and PW-5, Dushyant to lodge F.I.R. but at the police station, Station Officer Hari Raj Singh Tyagi told them that they should take injured for treatment and refused to lodge F.I.R. He further stated that they (PW-5, Dushyant and others) returned and told him about refusal to register the F.I.R. Thereafter, he and Shoorveer (PW-2) went to Amroha Hospital by tractor of Dushyant (PW-5) where they were medically examined. He dictated the F.I.R. (Ex.Ka.1) to Satyaveer Singh, who read it over to him and after putting his thumb impression on it; he sent Satyaveer, with medical report, to police station to lodge the F.I.R.. According to him, they were referred to District Hospital, Moradabad for treatment and thereafter to Safadarjung Hospital, New Delhi. During treatment, his left hand and right hand of PW-2, Shoorveer Singh were amputated. It was further stated by PW-1 that there is a pond in the village for Sigharha of which there was dispute between appellant Rajveer Singh and one Vikram Singh. In respect of which, PW-1 stood as surety for Vikram Singh and that once appellant Rajveer Singh had prevented him from irrigating from the canal. Stating that Hari Raj Singh Tyagi (I.O.) was favouring the appellants as he was married in the family where sister of appellant Rajveer Singh was married, he had given an application for transfer of investigation, whereupon, investigation was transferred to CID, he has stated that at the time of incident, lantern (Material Ex.Ka.1) emitting light at the place of occurrence was taken by the I.O. and returned to him.

19. In cross-examination, he stated that he had moved from his house for Amroha at 8:00 a.m. and had reached there at 11:00 a.m., whereafter he was medically examined there. He specifically stated in cross-examination that after medical examination, he got the report written and sent to Police Station . He also stated that in the night of occurrence, he had sent Ravindra @ Munne, Subhash and Dushyant (PW-5) to police station with direction to inform the police that he and Shoorveer had received fire arm injuries. He stated that he could not assign any reason as to why he did not send any written report to police station then.

20. PW-2, Shoorveer Singh, stating that he knows all the appellants Rajveer Singh, Jagat Veer Singh, Suresh, Viresh and Teeka Ram; and that PW-1, Hari Raj Singh is his brother-in-law and appellants Suresh and Viresh are cousin of PW-1, Hari Raj Singh, narrated the same story, as stated by PW-1, Hari Raj Singh. In cross-examination, he has stated that after the occurrence, Ravindra, Dushyant (PW-5) and Subhash were sent by motorcycle to P.S. Naugawa Sadat. He stated that report which was prepared at Amroha was prepared in his presence and he was aware that no report had been lodged at P.S. Naugawa Sadat in the night. He has specifically stated that he had said to his brother-in-law (PW-1), Hari Raj Singh to mention the fact in report that three persons were sent to Naugawa Sadat for lodging the report, but it was not lodged.

21. PW-3, Dr. A.K. Mehrotra is a medical officer who has inspected the injuries of PW-1, Hari Raj Singh and PW-2, Shoorveer Singh and prepared injury report (Ex.Ka.2 and Ex.Ka.3) (details of injuries of these witnesses have already been mentioned in preceding paras of this judgment). He has stated that the injuries of both the witnesses may be caused on 29.1.1984 at about 11:00 p.m. According to him, injury no. 1 and 2 of P.W.1, Hari Raj Singh and all the injuries of PW-2, Shoorveer Singh were caused by fire arm, whereas, injury no. 3 of PW-1 could have been caused by a blunt object.

22. PW-4, Dinesh Kumar has stated that he was present with PW-1, Hari Raj Singh and PW-2, Shoorveer Singh at the time of occurrence. Stating that at the time of occurrence he was sitting under the bullock cart and saw the whole occurrence from that place he narrated the whole incident as narrated by PW-1, Hari Raj Singh. He further stated that during investigation, police of P.S. Naugawa Sadat had forcibly taken his signature on plain paper and thereafter appellants kidnapped him and took his photographs forcibly and got his affidavit in their favour. According to him, a report had been lodged by his brother in this regard. In cross-examination he stated that he could not tell as to after how many days his affidavit was prepared and photographs taken. During cross-examination, he admitted his photo and signature on affidavit (Ex.Kha.1) and (Ex.Kha.2) but stated that the paper pertaining to affidavit was a plain paper on which he had put his signatures.

23. PW-5, Dushyant has stated that, in 1982, Mohd. Ali, Baburam Jatav and 2-3 other persons of his village had contested election of Village Pradhan. He supported Baburam, whereas, appellants supported Mohd. Ali. Mohd. Ali won the election. In 1983, Village Pradhan Mohd. Ali had auctioned a village pond in favour of the appellants against which he had filed a suit before court. According to him, due to above mentioned incident, appellants were inimical towards him and a proceeding under Section 107/117 of the Code was initiated against him, wherein, Hari Raj Singh had submitted a surety bond for him; due to which, appellants Rajveer and others were also inimical to PW-1, Hari Raj Singh and had obstructed him from irrigating his field from that canal. On how he got information of occurrance, he stated that the said occurrence was narrated to him by PW-1, Hari Raj Singh and on his request, he, Ravindra and Subhash had gone to P.S. Naugawa Sadat at 3:30 a.m. where Station Officer Hari Raj Singh Tyagi and Head Constable (Diwan) had advised him to carry the injured to Hospital for treatment and report could be lodged at any time. According to him, he returned thereafter to his village and told PW-1, Hari Raj

Singh that report could not be lodged. He has stated that Satyaveer had written the report at Hospital on the dictation of PW-1, Hari Raj Singh who put his thumb impression on it. In cross-examination, he admitted that he had not requested police to lodge F.I.R. According to him, at Naugawa Sadat, there was a post office and also facility of telephone but he had made no attempt to inform any police officer telephonically or through radiogram.

24. PW-6, Const. 587 Ibrahim Khan has stated that on 30.1.1984, he was posted at P.S. Naugawa Sadat as Head Moharrir and had lodged the Chick F.I.R. (Ex.Ka.4) on the basis of written report and entered the same in General Diary (Ex.Ka.5).

25. PW-7, Hareram Singh, Medical Record Technician at Safdarganj Hospital, New Delhi, has proved the bed head ticket and other medical treatment documents (Ex.Ka.6 and Ex.Ka.7) of PW-2, Shoorveer Singh and PW-1, Hari Ram Singh.

26. PW-8, Sri Krishna Srivastava, Inspector in C.I.D., Lucknow has stated that on 4.6.1985, he was posted as Inspector CID, Lucknow and has investigated this case; that he recorded the statement of witnesses; and inspected the place of occurrence and prepared (Ex.Ka.9) site plan. According to him, investigation was transferred to another Inspector of CBCID and thereafter to D.S.P, B.C. Saxena who had filed charge-sheet (Ex.Ka.10 and Ex.Ka.11) against the appellants.

27. DW-1, Basdev Prasad Sharma, Head Const. 55 (Sadar Malkhana Muarir), Moradabad has been produced by appellants to prove that during investigation, a country-made pistol of 12 bore and 2 cartridges in Case Crime No. 49/1984 under Section 25 Arms Act, (State vs. Ram Singh), recovered by Investigating Officer, was filed in Sadar Malkhana. According to him, said country-made pistol was sent for examination to Forensic Science Laboratory, Lucknow along with empty cartridges; and blood stained bed sheet pertaining to Case Crime No. 12/1984 under Section 147/148/307/394 I.P.C. (State vs. Jagveer Singh and others) was filed.

28. F.I.R. when lodged promptly or with justified delay, may lend credence to the prosecution case. Neither the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 nor the Code prescribes any time limit for lodging the F.I.R. But if it has been lodged after considerable delay without any justifiable cause, it may damage the prosecution case. In Thulia Kali vs. State of Tamil Nadu AIR 1973 SC 501, where delay in lodging F.I.R., was of 20 hours without any proper justification, Court, setting aside conviction of appellant, held:-

"12. .....First information report in a criminal case is an extremely vital and valuable piece of evidence for the purpose of corroborating the oral evidence adduced at the trial. The importance of the report can hardly be overestimated from the standpoint of the accused. The object of insisting upon prompt lodging of the report to the police in respect of commission of an offence is to obtain early information regarding the circumstances in which the crime was committed, the names of the actual culprits and the part played by them as well as the names of eye witnesses present at the scene of occurrence. Delay in lodging the first information report quite often results in embellishment which is a creature of afterthought. On account of delay, the report not only gets bereft of the advantage of spontaneity, danger creeps in of the introduction of coloured version, exaggerated account or concocted story as a result of deliberation and consultation. It is therefore, essential that the delay in the lodging of the first information report should be satisfactorily explained....."

29. Coming to the facts of this case, F.I.R. (Ex.Ka.1) has been lodged by one Satyaveer Singh, sent by PW-1, Hari Raj Singh. Satyaveer Singh has not been examined by prosecution. Prosecution has also not placed any justification as to why injured witnesses PW-1, Hari Raj Singh or PW-2, Shoorveer Singh has not gone to police station even on next day when they had visited the hospital situated at Amroha. According to PW-1, Hari Raj Singh, the incident occurred on 29.1.1984 at 11:00 p.m. and, after occurrence, he had sent Subhash, Munnesh and Dushyant (PW-5) to lodge F.I.R. but the police did not lodge the F.I.R. and suggested to Dushyant for treatment of the injured. Thereafter, Dushyant returned and told him (PW-1) about non registration of the F.I.R. According to him, he along with PW-2, Shoorveer Singh went on 30.1.1984 by tractor of Dushyant (PW-5) to Amroha Hospital where they were medically examined and, thereafter, F.I.R. was prepared on his dictation at hospital and was sent through one Satyaveer Singh to police station. In examination-in-chief, neither PW-1, Hari Raj Singh nor PW-2, Shoorveer Singh have stated as to when they proceeded from their village for Hospital and when they reached the Hospital as also when their medical was conducted and when they sent Satyaveer Singh to police station to lodge the F.I.R. The Medico Legal Certificates (MLC) Ex.Ka.2 and Ex.Ka.3 of Hari Raj Singh (PW-1) and Shoorveer Singh (PW-2) reveals that they were medically examined on 30.1.1984 at 11:15 a.m. and 11:30 a.m. From perusal of Chick F.I.R. (Ex.Ka.4) and G.D. Report (Ex.Ka.5), it transpires that F.I.R. was lodged on 30.1.1984 at 12:30 O' clock. Thus, F.I.R. was lodged with a delay of 13:30 hours, whereas, the distance between the place of occurrence and police station has been shown as only nine kilometres in Ex.Ka-4, Chick FIR. According to prosecution case, grievous fire arm injuries were caused on the left arm of PW-1, Hari Raj Singh and right arm of PW-2, Shoorveer Singh. Neither PW-1, Hari Raj Singh nor PW-2, Shoorveer Singh have stated in their statement as to why they did not go to the hospital for medical treatment of their injuries till about noon next day. In same way, PW-1, Hari Raj Singh has also not stated as to why he had not approached the police station next day morning of 30.1.1984. In cross-examination, he has stated that he had proceeded from his house by tractor to Amroha at 8:00 a.m. on 30.1.1984 and reached at Amroha at 11:00 a.m. He further stated that after medical examination, he got the written report sent to police station. It means that he had not visited the P.S. Naugawa Sadat for lodging the F.I.R. It is normal human behaviour to either approach the police station to lodge the F.I.R. or to go to the hospital for medical treatment, particularly, when injury is grievous. In addition to above, PW-1, Hari Raj Singh has also stated in cross examination that he had not sent any written information in the night with PW-5, Dusyant, Subhas and Munne rather had told them only to inform the police that fire arm injuries had been caused to them (PW-1, Hari Raj Singh and PW-2, Shoorbir Singh). Thus, non sending of written information and sending person with oral direction to inform the police regarding receipt of fire arm injuries without disclosing further details of the incident and lodging FIR next day after a delay of more than 13 hours, and approaching for medical treatment after 13 hours, creates a serious doubt about the prosecution case.

30. F.I.R. (Ex.Ka.1) states that at the time of occurrence, PW-1, Hari Raj Singh was irrigating his field where PW-2, Shoorveer Singh was also present along with Dinesh (PW-4) and all of them were sitting nearby a diesel engine pump set. At about 11:00 p.m., appellants Jagat Veer Singh and Rajveer Singh S/o Ghanshyam Singh, Suresh and Viresh S/o Om Prakash armed with their gun and appellant Teeka Ram S/o Babu Ram armed with sword appeared there, Jagat Veer Singh fired at PW-2, Shoorveer. Hari Raj Singh caught Jagat Veer Singh by his arms. Thereafter, appellant Rajveer Singh fired at Hari Raj Singh (PW-1). In the F.I.R., no active role of appellants Teeka Ram, Suresh and Viresh is mentioned. It has also not been mentioned that after the occurrence, on the direction of appellant, Jagat Veer Singh, appellant Suresh verified whether Shoorveer Singh (PW-2) is alive but in their statements they have added that Suresh verified whether Shoorveer Singh was alive. It appears that in order to justify the injury caused to Hari Raj Singh (PW-1) on his left arm, story of raising sword by appellant Teeka Ram, releasing of appellant Jagat Veer Singh by PW-1, Hari Raj Singh, moving of Jagatveer Singh away from Hari Raj Singh and then firing of shot by appellant Rajveer Singh on the hand of Hari Raj Singh (PW-1) was developed. Because as per F.I.R., appellant Rajveer Singh fired at Hari Raj Singh (PW-1) when he had caught hold appellant Jagat Veer Singh, which appeared improbable as appellant Jagat Veer Singh could also have sustained gun shot injury. Hence, the improvement in prosecution story appears to have been made to make the story appear more probable but this deliberate effort on the part of the prosecution casts a serious doubt on the prosecution story.

31. All the appellants have been convicted under Section 307 read with Section 149 and 148 I.P.C. Section 148 I.P.C. deals with the offence of rioting by any person armed with deadly weapons, whereas, Section 149 I.P.C. declares every member of unlawful assembly guilty of an offence committed by any member of an unlawful assembly in prosecution of common object. Section 141 and Section 146 of I.P.C. defines the unlawful assembly and offence of rioting respectively. Sections 141, 146, 148 and 149 are as under:-

Section 141. Unlawful assembly.--An assembly of five or more persons is designated an "unlawful assembly", if the common object of the persons composing that assembly is--

(First) -- To overawe by criminal force, or show of criminal force, the Central or any State Government or Parliament or the Legislature of any State, or any public servant in the exercise of the lawful power of such public servant; or

(Second) -- To resist the execution of any law, or of any legal process; or (Third) -- To commit any mischief or criminal trespass, or other offence; or

(Fourth) -- By means of criminal force, or show of criminal force, to any person, to take or obtain possession of any property, or to deprive any person of the enjoyment of a right of way, or of the use of water or other incorporeal right of which he is in possession or enjoyment, or to enforce any right or supposed right; or (Fifth) -- By means of criminal force, or show of criminal force, to compel any person to do what he is not legally bound to do, or to omit to do what he is legally entitled to do. Explanation.--An assembly which was not unlawful when it assembled, may subsequently become an unlawful assembly.

Section 146. Rioting.--Whenever force or violence is used by an unlawful assembly, or by any member thereof, in prosecution of the common object of such assembly, every member of such assembly is guilty of the offence of rioting.

Section 148. Rioting, armed with deadly weapons. - Whoever is guilty of rioting, being armed with a deadly weapon or with anything which, used as a weapon of offence, is likely to cause death, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to three years, or with fine, or with both.

Section149. Every member of unlawful assembly guilty of offence committed in prosecution of common object.--If an offence is committed by any member of an unlawful assembly in prosecution of the common object of that assembly, or such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object, every person who, at the time of the committing of that offence, is a member of the same assembly, is guilty of that offence.

32. To attract the applicability of Section 149 IPC there must be an unlawful assembly, accused must be a member of that assembly having knowledge of the common object of that assembly and that the offence has been committed by any member of that unlawful assembly in prosecution of the common object. Mere presence of any person at the place of occurrence like a mute spectator or as witness would not create any liability upon him with aid of section 149 IPC unless it is proved or could be logically inferred from the facts of the case that he was part of that unlawful assembly and had knowledge that such an act would be committed or is likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object of the unlawful assembly.

33. At this very juncture, the law propounded by Hon'ble Supreme Court in land mark judgment of Baladin and others vs. State of Uttar Pradesh AIR 1956 SC 181 may be noticed wherein Hon'ble Apex Court, while dismissing the appeal of the appellant who had played active role in the occurrence and allowing the appeal of appellant who had not played any active role, held as under:-

appellants had not been assigned any particular part in the occurrence nor any overt act has been attributed to them. Of these, Thakur Das is a resident of another village in another police station, though he has cultivation in village Goran. They might possibly have been spectators who got mixed up in the crowd. They will, therefore, be given the benefit of the doubt and acquitted....."

34. In Rajendra Shantaram Todankar v. State of Maharashtra and Others 2003 SCC (Cri) 506 Hon'ble Supreme Court while discussing the true scope and meaning of Section 149 observed that mere possibility of the commission of the offence would not necessarily enable the Court to draw an inference that the likelihood of commission of such offence was within the knowledge of every member of the unlawful assembly. The relevant protion of the judgment is extracted below:-

"14. Section 149 of the Indian Penal Code provides that if an offence is committed by any member of an unlawful assembly in prosecution of the common object of that assembly, or such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object, every person who at the time of the committing of that offence, is a member of the same assembly is guilty of that offence. The two clauses of Section 149 vary in degree of certainty. The first clause contemplates the commission of an offence by any member of an unlawful assembly which can be held to have been committed in prosecution of the common object of the assembly. The second clause embraces within its fold the commission of an act which may not necessarily be the common object of the assembly, nevertheless, the members of the assembly had knowledge of likelihood of the commission of that offence in prosecution of the common object. The common object may be commission of one offence while there may be likelihood of the commission of yet another offence, the knowledge whereof is capable of being safely attributable to the members of the unlawful assembly. In either case, every member of the assembly would be vicariously liable for the offence actually committed by any other member of the assembly. A mere possibility of the commission of the offence would not necessarily enable the court to draw an inference that the likelihood of commission of such offence was within the knowledge of every member of the unlawful assembly. It is difficult indeed, though not impossible, to collect direct evidence of such knowledge. An inference may be drawn from circumstances such as the background of the incident, the motive, the nature of the assembly, the nature of the arms carried by the members of the assembly, their common object and the behaviour of the members soon before, at or after the actual commission of the crime. Unless the applicability of Section 149 either clause is attracted and the court is convinced, on facts and in law, both, of liability capable of being fastened vicariously by reference to either clause of Section 149 IPC, merely because a criminal act was committed by a member of the assembly every other member thereof would not necessarily become liable for such criminal act. The inference as to likelihood of the commission of the given criminal act must be capable of being held to be within the knowledge of another member of the assembly who is sought to be held vicariously liable for the said criminal act...." (Emphasis supplied)

35. Hon'ble Supreme Court in Dani Singh vs. State of Bihar (2004) 13 SCC 203 while discussing the meaning of word common object in paras 11, 12 and 13 has held as under:-

"11......The word 'object' means the purpose or design and, in order to make it 'common', it must be shared by all. In other words, the object should be common to the persons, who compose the assembly, that is to say, they should all be aware of it and concur in it. A common object may be formed by express agreement after mutual consultation, but that is by no means necessary. It may be formed at any stage by all or a few members of the assembly and the other members may just join and adopt it. Once formed, it need not continue to be the same. It may be modified or altered or abandoned at any stage. The expression 'in prosecution of common object' as appearing in Section 149 have to be strictly construed as equivalent to 'in order to attain the common object'. It must be immediately connected with the common object by virtue of the nature of the object. There must be community of object and the object may exist only up to a particular stage, and not thereafter. Members of an unlawful assembly may have community of object up to certain point beyond which they may differ in their objects and the knowledge, possessed by each member of what is likely to be committed in prosecution of their common object may vary not only according to the information at his command, but also according to the extent to which he shares the community of object, and as a consequence of this the effect of Section 149, IPC may be different on different members of the same assembly.

12. 'Common object' is different from a 'common intention' as it does not require a prior concert and a common meeting of minds before the attack. It is enough if each has the same object in view and their number is five or more and that they act as an assembly to achieve that object. The 'common object' of an assembly is to be ascertained from the acts and language of the members composing it, and from a consideration of all the surrounding circumstances. It may be gathered from the course of conduct adopted by the members of the assembly. What the common object of the unlawful assembly is at a particular stage of the incident is essentially a question of fact to be determined, keeping in view the nature of the assembly, the arms carried by the members, and the behaviour of the members at or near the scene of the incident. It is not necessary under law that in all cases of unlawful assembly, with an unlawful common object, the same must be translated into action or be successful. Under the Explanation to Section 141, an assembly which was not unlawful when it was assembled, may subsequently become unlawful. It is not necessary that the intention or the purpose, which is necessary to render an assembly an unlawful one comes into existence at the outset. The time of forming an unlawful intent is not material. An assembly which, at its commencement or even for some time thereafter, is lawful, may subsequently become unlawful. In other words it can develop during the course of incident at the spot eo instanti.*

that the offence to be committed in prosecution of the common object must be one which is committed with a view to accomplish the common object. In order that the offence may fall within the first part, the offence must be connected immediately with the common object of the unlawful assembly of which the accused was member. Even if the offence committed is not in direct prosecution of the common object of the assembly, it may yet fall under Section 141, if it can be held that the offence was such as the members knew was likely to be committed and this is what is required in the second part of the section. The purpose for which the members of the assembly set out or desired to achieve is the object. If the object desired by all the members is the same, the knowledge that is the object which is being pursued is shared by all the members and they are in general agreement as to how it is to be achieved and that is now the common object of the assembly. An object is entertained in the human mind, and it being merely a mental attitude, no direct evidence can be available and, like intention, has generally to be gathered from the act which the person commits and the result therefrom. Though no hard and fast rule can be laid down under the circumstances from which the common object can be culled out, it may reasonably be collected from the nature of the assembly, arms it carries and behaviour at or before or after the scene of incident....."

36. Hon'ble Supreme Court in Kuldip Yadav vs. State of Bihar (2011) 5 SCC 324, while discussing the principle of constructive liability as laid down by Section 149 I.P.C. has held as under:-

".....It is not the intention of the legislature in enacting Section 149 to render every member of unlawful assembly liable to punishment for every offence committed by one or more of its members. In order to attract Section 149, it must be shown that the incriminating act was done to accomplish the common object of unlawful assembly and it must be within the knowledge of other members as one likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object. If the members of the assembly knew or were aware of the likelihood of a particular offence being committed in prosecution of the common object, they would be liable for the same under Section 149 IPC....."

37. In Nagesar vs. State of Chhatisgarh (2014) Cr.LJ. 2948 Hon'ble Supreme Court while discussing the scope of Section 149 IPC has held as under:-

" It is settled law that mere presence or association with other members alone does not per se be sufficient to hold everyone of them criminally liable for the offences committed by the others unless there was sufficient evidence on record to show that one such also intended to or knew the likelihood of commission of such an offending act. (K.M Ravi and others Vs. State of Karnataka (2009) 16 SCC 337). As already seen in this case there is no legally acceptable material to prove that the appellants acted as members of unlawful assembly to connect them with the murder of the deceased Korma Rao. At any rate in the absence of reliable evidence to prove that the appellants were either present on the spot or that they had committed any overt act that could show that they share the common object of the unlawful assembly it is not possible to support their conviction and benefit of doubt has to be given to them."

38. Coming to the facts of this case, no active role of surviving appellant (Viresh) in the occurrence has been alleged by any of the witnesses produced by the prosecution. From perusal of statement of PW-1, Hari Raj Singh, PW-2, Shoorveer Singh and PW-4, Dinesh Kumar, only allegation made against him (Viresh) is that he came with other accused persons at the place of occurrence. Appellant Viresh is nephew of injured Hari Raj Singh. On information given by PW-2, Shoorveer Singh, to PW-1, Hari Raj Singh, that appellants Rajveer Singh, Jagat Veer Singh, Suresh, Viresh and Teeka Ram were coming towards him (PW-1), PW-1 responded by saying that there is nothing to worry as his own nephews (appellants- Suresh and Viresh) are with them. This shows that appellant Viresh was neither inimical to PW-1, Hari Raj Singh nor had any object / motive or intention to cause any injury to his own uncle (PW-1, Hari Raj Singh). It appears that due to that reason, he did not act as a culprit at the place of occurrence, inasmuch as he neither came near the injured person nor exhibited any conduct on the basis of which it could be inferred that he had shared the common object of the other appellants. In such a situation, it could be possible that he might have come at the place of occurrence only as spectator without being aware of common object of any of the accused-appellants.

39. From perusal of injury reports Ex.Ka.2 and Ex.Ka.3 of both the injured persons PW-1, Hari Raj Singh and PW-2, Shoorveer Singh it transpires that injury has not been caused on vital part of these witnesses. Though caused by fire arms the injuries are on inner portion of arms of both injured persons. PW-3, Dr. A.K. Mehrotra, in cross-examination has stated that injury no. 1 of PW-1, Hari Raj Singh was present on inner side of his upper arm and was not possible if, at the time of fire, he had caught hold any other person in his arms. PW-1, Hari Raj Singh, has, in examination-in-chief, stated that when appellant Jagatveer Singh fired at PW-2, Shoorveer Singh, from his gun, he had caught hold appellant Jagatveer Singh and had bit him on his shoulder; whereupon he raised alarm. As a result, appellant Jagatveer Singh asked appellant Teeka Ram to attack him (PW-1) with sword and as appellant Teeka Ram raised his sword towards him (PW-1), he released appellant Jagatveer Singh and when he (Jagatveer Singh) moved away, appellant Rajveer Singh fired at PW-1. PW-2, Shoorveer Singh has also narrated in same way. Both these witnesses in cross-examination have stated that they had told the said fact in their statement to the Investigating Officer and if the said fact has not been noted in their statement by any Investigating Officer, they could assign no reason for that. PW-8, Sri Krishna Srivastava (Investigating Officer) has stated that neither PW-1, Hariraj Singh nor PW-2, Shoorveer or PW-4, Dinesh in their statement have disclosed to any of the Investigating Officer about the above mentioned fact. Thus, there is a serious contradiction between the evidence of Investigating Officer and both the injured witnesses (PW-1, Hari Raj Singh and PW-2, Shoorveer Singh) on the point that when injury to PW-1, Hari Raj Singh was caused, he had caught hold Jagatveer Singh.

40. Thus in view of the above discussion, we are of the considered opinion that the inordinate delay in lodging the F.I.R. as well as delay in medical examination; material contradiction between the statement of injured eye witnesses made during investigation and statement made during trial; reasonable doubt regarding sharing of common object by appellant Viresh as a member of unlawful assembly or having knowledge of any such common object, have created serious doubts in the prosecution case as against the sole surviving appellant which entitles the surviving appellant (Viresh) the benefit of doubt. He is therefore entitled to be acquitted of all the charges levelled against him. The judgment and order passed by the Special Judge, Moradabad in Session Trial No. 586 of 1988 is hereby set aside. Consequently, the appeal is allowed. The appellant, if on bail need not surrender.

41. Let a copy of this judgment be sent to Trial court for information and immediate compliance. Compliance report whereof be submitted within one month.

42. Lower court's record be also sent back along with a copy of this judgment.

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE J.J. MUNIR, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 616 of 1982

Jauhari & Ors. ...Appellants (In Jail)
Versus
State of U.P. ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sri G.S. Hajela, Sri Ajay Kumar Srivastava, Sri S.A.N. Shah.

Counsel for the Opposite Party:
A.G.A.

A. Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Sections 399 - making preparations to commit dacoity - Section 402 -assembling to commit dacoity- Section 307 IPC - Attempt to murder- Sections 25 and 27 of the Arms Act, 1959 - criminal appeal - The recovery of fire arms from the appellant and his companions is not established, or the credit of the independent public witnesses - in the circumstances of an area, that is afflicted by dacoity, the probability of a false implication by the police in a case of preparation to commit dacoity is far stronger, where there is no convincing and tangible evidence aliunde to establish facts that are necessary to prove a case of preparation - facts, in the clear opinion of this Court, have far from been proved. (Para 46)

B. Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 114 – court may presume existence of certain facts - place and manner of arrest -mere consistency of witnesses would not turn falsehood to truth. The evidence even of eye witnesses, depending on the nature of the offence, ought to be corroborated by objective circumstances -The entries in the General Diary regarding manner and place of arrest, also cannot be held to prove what is recorded there on a presumption under Section 114 of the Evidence Act, which the Trial Court has raised against the accused, and then held it to be unrebutted. (Para 27 & 30)

C. Code of criminal procedure 1973 - Sections 51 and 100 - Search and Seizure -Failure to obtain signatures of the accused on the arrest-cum-recovery memo, and furnishing its copy to the appellant- no mandatory requirement of providing a copy of the seizure memo to the accused. (Para 35)

Held:- The prosecution had nothing in hand in the sense of tangible evidence, that may lend some credit to the ocular testimony to prove their case, except that they might have found the appellants for the worst, assembled at the place of occurrence - The prosecution account has been held to be unbelievable about the nature and place of occurrence - The recovery of fire arms from the appellant and his companions is not established, or the credit of the independent public witnesses - The entire story appears to be one where the appellant has been framed - The Trial Court appears to have believed the story because it was a dacoity affected area - In the circumstances of an area, that is afflicted by dacoity, the probability of a false implication by the police in a case of preparation to commit dacoity is far stronger, where there is no convincing and tangible evidence aliunde to establish facts that are necessary to prove a case of preparation. Those facts, in the clear opinion of this Court, have far from been proved - The prosecution has not been able to establish the appellant's guilt beyond reasonable doubt. (Para 46 & 47)

(Delivered by Hon'ble J.J. Munir, J.)

1. This appeal is directed against a judgment and order of Sri Vikramaditya Kulshreshth, the then Special Judge (Dacoity Affected Areas), Farrukhabad, dated 27.02.1982, passed in Special Sessions Trial no.3 of 1982, State vs. Jauhari and three others (arising out of Case Crime no.430/81 and Case Crime no.433/81), Police Station Kayamganj, District Farrukhabad, convicting the appellants of offences punishable under Sections 399, 402 IPC, Sections 25 and 27 of the Arms Act, and, sentencing them on each count, in the following manner:

Sl. No.	Name of accused	Under Section	Imprison ment
		399 IPC	3 years R.I.
		402 IPC	3 years R.I.
2	Jauhari, Phool Singh & Ram Prakash	399 IPC	4 years R.I.
		402 IPC	4 years R.I.
		27 Arms Act	4 years R.I.
		25 Arms Act	2 years R.I.
All the sentences were ordered to run concurrently.

2. Be it noted here that this appeal that was filed jointly by Jauhari, Phool Singh, Ram Prakash and Bhagwan Sahai, survives to be heard at the instance of appellant no.2, Phool Singh alone. Appellants Jauhari, Ram Prakash and Bhagwan Sahai, died pending appeal and at their instance this appeal was ordered to stand abated vide order dated 16.02.2016.

3. The prosecution commenced on a recovery-cum-arrest memo dated 19.12.1981, on the basis of which a single chik First Information Report giving rise to four Case Crimes, bearing nos.:430 of 1981, under Sections 399, 402, 307 IPC, 431 of 1981, 432 of 1981, and, 433 of 1981, the last three all under Sections 25/27 of the Arms Act, were registered at Police Station Kayamganj, District Farrukhabad. Case Crime no.430 of 1981 was registered against all the appellants, Jauhari, Phool Singh, Ram Prakash and Bhagwan Sahai, together, whereas Case Crime nos.431 of 1981, 432 of 1981 and 433 of 1981, were registered separately against Jauhari, Ram Prakash and Phool Singh, in that order.

4. According to the prosecution case, that originates in a description of the occurrence carried in a memorandum dated 19.12.1981 about encounter with dacoits-cum-recovery of unlicensed fire arms & ammunitions goes somewhat like this. One Babu Lal Ojha, a Senior Sub-Inspector of Police posted at Police Station Kayamganj, District Farrukhabad at the relevant time, received information on 19.12.1981 at the Station through a professional police informer described in vernacular as Mukhbir Khaas, about an impending plan to commit dacoity. This information was received at the Station at 9 p.m. The informer is said to have conveyed to the Sub-Inspector last mentioned, that some miscreants were planning to congregate in the mango grove of one Phool Khan, located within the Village Niyamatpur with further detail that these miscreants would arrive at the venue last mentioned, approaching it from the west. They would then assemble in the south-east corner of the grove. The information further went that the miscreants had a plan to loot vehicles moving on the road. The Sub-Inspector reposing faith in the veracity of the information took as companions, Sub-Inspectors Amar Singh, Chhotey Singh and Jamuna Prasad, besides, Constables Shobha Ram, Reghunath Singh, Vinod Kumar, Rajendra Singh Damodar Singh, Daya Shankar, Netrapal Singh, Indrapal Singh, Vishwanath Singh. The police team proceeded to the place of apprehended occurrence, riding a Government Jeep driven by Driver Shiv Veer Singh, whereas some of the party proceeded on bicycles. Constable Vishwanath Singh had on him his private SBBL Gun with ammunition. The Sub-Inspectors and men were variously armed with service rifles and revolvers, a detailed account of which is to be found in the memorandum under reference. The party reached Village Dhamdhera and parked their Jeep and bicycles away from the road. They secured the presence of certain public witnesses, to wit, Chhotey Lal Verma son of Ram Dayal, Mohan Singh son of Heera Lal, Babu Ram son of Jwala Prasad and Rajaram son of Raghuvar Dayal, all residents of Dhamdhera, Police Station Kayamganj, District Farrukhabad. These witnesses were acquainted with the secret information received by the police. The police party along with the public witnesses were divided into two groups. The first party was led by Babu Lal, whereas the second party was led by Sub-Inspector Amar Singh. The detailed composition of the parties also finds place in the memo under reference. The Senior Sub-Inspector appears to have instructed that his party would locate themselves at the eastern end of the grove, concealing themselves from sight, whereas the second party would station themselves at the southern end of the grove, also concealed from sight. All were instructed to observe silence and take positions, concealing themselves. They were further instructed that except in self-defence and on instructions from the Senior Sub-Inspector, none would open fire. It was also conveyed that on the Senior Sub-Inspector challenging the miscreants, both parties would move into overpower them. A password was coined at spot, that was 'Ganga', and conveyed to one and all in the party. Thereupon, all in the party proceeded to the grove. The Senior Sub-Inspector inspected the sight, and directed both parties to proceed to their pre-determined stations at about 8.00 in the evening. A little later, one by one, 7 - 8 miscreants trickled in, and assembled on the south-eastern corner of the grove, all standing under a mango tree. They opened conversation. One of them said that other companions have not arrived at, to which another responded by saying that they were in sufficient number and adequately armed. He suggested that as soon as a truck appears on the road, they would proceed to stop it, and one amongst them would overpower the driver, whereas the others would loot the vehicle. Upon hearing the aforesaid conversation, the police party were assured that the congregated men were dacoits, who were preparing to commit dacoity by waylaying vehicles moving on the road. The Senior Sub-Inspector challenged the miscreants flashing his torch with words that all of them have been surrounded by the police; that they should lay down arms, and surrender; else they would be killed. Upon the aforesaid action by the police, the miscreants opened fire with an intention to kill members of the police party. It is recorded that driven by compulsion and in self-defence, the policemen opened fire, whereupon the miscreants ran pellmell. They were surrounded by both the police parties, who succeeded in capturing four of the miscreants. The rest of them escaped without being identified. The apprehended miscreants were asked to identify themselves. They disclosed their identities as follows:

(1) Jauhari son of Banwari Bahelia, resident of Bhrahmpuri;

(2) Phool Singh son of Murli Bahelia, resident of Bhrahmpuri;

(3) Ram Prakash son of Nathu, resident of Bhrahmpuri; and,

(4) Bhagwan Sahai son of Mathuri Bahelia, resident of Bhrahmpuri, all falling under the Police Station Kayamganj, District Farrukhabad.

The apprehended miscreants were searched before the witnesses at spot. The search led to recovery of a country-made 0.12 bore breach loading gun, the description of which is also given out in the memorandum under reference, and reported to be in working order. The gun had an empty in its barrel, whereas the apprehended man Jauhari, had on him a belt carrying five live 0.12 bore cartridges. The other apprehended, Ram Prakash also had on him a 0.12 bore country-made breach loading gun, the description of which is fully given out in the memorandum under reference, that was found to be firing fit. The said man on further search, was found in possession of four live cartridges, kept in his right coat pocket. The third miscreant apprehended, that is to say, Phool Singh had a country-made pistol of 0.12 bore caliber, held in his right hand, the description of which has been given in the memorandum. It was in working order. Upon further search of his person from the right hand pocket of his pyjama, two live cartridges of 0.12 bore were recovered. The last of the four apprehended, Bhagwan Sahai was armed with a lathi, the description of which too finds place in the memorandum. The apprehended men were asked to show licenses to bear those fire arms, which they were unable to produce. As such, the empty found in the barrel of Jauhari's gun, was extracted, whereas all the other weapons recovered, as well as cartridges, were separately sealed into three bundles. Also, recovered from the place of arrest were seven empties of 0.12 bore calibre, besides, the empty, that was still in the chamber of Jauhari's gun. A total of eight empties, thus, recovered, were seized and sealed separately. The police party had fired differently from their weapons, about which there is a detailed description in the memorandum, which indicates that empties of the rounds fired, were also duly deposited at the station. These empties included mostly rounds fired from service rifles of the named Constables, that made for a total of eight empties of the fourteen rounds fired from those rifles. It is also recorded that Sub-Inspector Amarjeet Singh fired his stengun twice, leading to recovery of two empties. These 8 + 2 empties were also sealed with a specimen of the seal being retained separately. The entire memorandum of encounter-cum-recovery, dated 19.12.1981 is signed by various members of the police party and the four witnesses from the public. It must be remarked here that the aforesaid memorandum is not signed by the four apprehended accused, including the appellant, Phool Singh, at whose instance, this appeal is now proceeding.

5. On the basis of recovery-cum-arrest memo (Ex. Ka-1) scribed by Sub-Inspector Chhotey Singh at the dictation of Babu Lal Ojha, Senior Sub-Inspector, P.S. Kayamganj, a chik FIR (Ex. Ka-3) relating to the said occurrence was registered on 20.12.1981 in four case crimes, to wit, Case Crime no.430, under Sections 399, 402, 307 IPC against all the appellants; and, Case Crime nos.431, 432 & 433, under Section 25 of the Arms Act against the appellants, Jauhari, Ram Prakash, Phool Singh. The date and time of occurrence was shown in the chik as 20.12.1981 at 1.30 a.m. The place of occurrence was shown as the Grove of one Phool Khan near Village Nyamatpur. The distance from the police station was shown as 3 miles to the south. Investigation into the offence was handed over to S.I. Ram Lakhan Singh on 21.12.1981. He recorded the statements of the witnesses, inspected the place of incident and prepared a site plan, Ex. Ka-5 on the same day i.e. 21.12.1981. On 24.12.1981, he recorded the statements of PW-2, S.S.I. Babu Lal Ojha, PW-5, S.I. Chhotey Singh Bhadoria, PW-4, S.I. Amar Singh etc. On 01.01.1982, he obtained sanction with regard to cases under Section 25 of the Arms Act from the District Magistrate.

6. On 08.01.1982, after completion of investigating, PW-6, S.I. Ram Lakhan Singh submitted a charge sheet, Ex. Ka-9, against all the four appellants for the offences punishable under Sections 399, 402, 307 IPC. On the same day, separate charge sheets, Ex. Ka-10 to Ka-12 for the offence punishable under Section 25 of the Arms Act were submitted against the appellants, Jahuari, Ram Prakash and Phool Singh.

7. The Special Judge, Farrukhabad vide order dated 18.01.1982 framed charges for the offences punishable under Sections 399 and 402 IPC against all the four appellants and the appellants, Jauhari, Ram Prakash and Phool Singh were separately charged for the offence punishable under Section 25/27 of the Arms Act vide orders dated 18.01.1982. Each of the appellants, denied the charges, pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

8. The prosecution examined the following witnesses:

(1) PW-1, Chhotey Lal Verma, a native of Village Dhamdhera;

(2) PW-2, S.S.I. Babu Lal Ojha, P.S. Kayamganj, who headed the police team;

(3) PW-3, HC Babu Lal, posted as Head Moharrir at the Police Station Kayamganj;

(4) PW-4, S.I. Amar Singh, a member of the Police Team;

(5) PW-5, S.I. Chhotey Singh Bhadauriya, also a member of the Police Team; and,

(6) PW-6, S.I. Ram Lakhan Singh, Investigating Officer of the case.

9. The following documents were exhibited on behalf of the prosecution:

10. At the conclusion of the prosecution evidence, the statement of the appellant, Phool Singh (along with the deceased appellants) was recorded u/s 313 Cr.P.C., putting to him the circumstances appearing against him in the prosecution case, which he generally denied, and in answer to question no.7, which is a open question asking, whether the appellant had anything else to say, the appellant answered thus (in Hindi vernacular):

"मुझे व अन्य मुलजिमान को दरोगा अमर सिंह 19 ता० को सुबह घर से पकड़ कर लाये और इसमें झूठा चालान कर दिये।"

11. It is also relevant to mention here, that the deceased appellant, Jauhari in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., while generally denying the prosecution case, had answered question no.7, identically worded, as under:

"दरोगा अमर सिंह मुझे व अन्य मुलजिमान को घर से पकड़ कर लाये थे।"

12. Likewise, the deceased appellant, Ram Prakash in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., while generally denying the prosecution case, had answered question no.7, identically worded, as under:

"मुझे व अन्य मुलजिमान को दरोगा अमर सिंह घर से पकड़ कर ले आये थे व झूठा फंसा दिया है।"

13. Likewise again, the deceased appellant, Bhagwan Sahai in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., while generally denying the prosecution case, had also answered question no.7, identically worded, as under:

"मुझे 19 ता० के सुबह दरोगा अमर सिंह घर से पकड़ कर ले आये थे और इस मामले में झूठा चालान कर दिये।"

14. The appellant (including the deceased appellants), entered defence, and, examined DW-1, Shivpal Singh Yadav, Assistant Jailer, DW-2, Thakuri, DW-3, Jagdish Singh, and DW-4, Anil Kumar Tiwari, Assistant Jailer, in support.

15. Thereafter, on an application moved by Sri Subedar Singh, learned defence counsel appearing before the Court below, the learned Judge inspected the spot and drew up a site plan of the place of occurrence, on 21.02.1981.

16. The learned Special Judge after hearing both the parties, discussing the evidence and material on record found the appellants guilty for the offences punishable under Sections 399, 402 IPC and Sections 25 and 27 of the Arms Act, sentencing them as above-detailed by the impugned judgment and order. Aggrieved by the impugned judgment and order, each of the four accused-appellant preferred this appeal, which now, as already said, proceeds at the instance of the appellant, Phool Singh alone.

17. Heard Sri S.A.N. Shah, learned counsel for the appellant and Ms. Meena, learned A.G.A. appearing on behalf of the State.

18. In order to determine the veracity of the prosecution case, evidence may be marshaled and considered on the basis of various facts in issue and relevant facts, detailed hereinafter.

(1) Place and manner of arrest;

(2) Failure to obtain signatures of the accused on the arrest-cum-recovery memo, and furnishing its copy to the appellant;

(3) Whether public witnesses including PW-1, Chhotey Lal Verma, are unreliable and pocket witnesses of the police;

(4) Effect of failure to secure examination of the recovered weapons by a Ballistic Expert, and effect of non-production of Ballistic Report in evidence; and,

(5) Standard of proof by the prosecution in a case involving charges of preparation to commit dacoity and being one of the five persons assembled for the purpose

(1) Place and manner of arrest

19. The genesis of the occurrence is said to be based on an information received by Babu Lal Ojha, Senior Sub-Inspector of Police, then posted at Police Station Kayamganj on 19.12.1981 from a police informer. The information according to this witness reached him at 7.12 in the evening hours to the effect that a gang of 7 - 8 armed dacoits were scheduled to assemble in the grove of a certain Phool Khan at Village Niyamatpur, located on the Kayamganj - Aliganj Road at 9 p.m. According to the dock evidence of this witness, the informer had further confided in him that this gang of dacoits would loot vehicles proceeding on the Kayamganj - Aliganj Road. The testimony of this witness proceeds that at 7.12 p.m., he received this information, and within three minutes, he left the Station after making an entry in the General Diary with a police force of thirteen strong, besides himself. The police party included Babu Lal Ojha, PW-2, besides, three other Sub-Inspectors and ten men. This party, according to the evidence of PW-2, proceeded to the place of occurrence, as a divided group; some riding a Jeep and others on bicycles. They passed through Village Dhamdhera, where with the resource of a Constable in the party, Shobha Ram, four witnesses of the public with torches and licensed guns promptly became available. The Jeep and the bicycles, according to the version in the examination-in-chief, were left at Dhamdhera, where the witnesses joined.

20. Babu Lal Ojha, PW-2 divided the entire party into two; one under his charge and the other under the charge of Sub-Inspector, Amar Singh. Each of the two parties had its share of two public witnesses. The divided police team proceeded to the grove of Phool Khan on foot, necessary instructions being passed on to members of the party, as they proceeded to the grove. Once inside the grove, PW-2 has said that he inspected it and took position with his party on the south-eastern corner, whereas the other party were detailed to conceal themselves in a ditch on the southern end. This witness, who is the formal informant also, said in his testimony during the examination-in-chief that at about 8.30, 7 - 8 miscreants entered the grove from the western end, one by one, till they were in full strength. They sat down under a mango tree and struck conversation saying that as soon as a bus or truck would alight, they would loot it. He has further said that the miscreants were talking amongst themselves that one of them would overpower the driver, whereas the others would loot the vehicle. Hearing the aforesaid conversation, the police team were assured that they were miscreants who had assembled to pull a dacoity. The witness says that thereupon opening his torchlight, he challenged the miscreants conveying that they were surrounded by the police, and better surrender. The time has been stated in the testimony with much precision to be 'twenty minutes past nine'. Upon being challenged, the miscreants opened fire. The witness has gone on to say in his examination-in-chief that the police party returned the fire. This led the miscreants to flee. The police upon seeing the miscreants take to their heels, both parties chased them and managed to overpower four, whereas another 2 - 4 escaped unidentified. The four appellants, including Phool Singh, were identified in Court and the recovery of different weapons and ammunition from each of the appellants was proved by PW-2. After the arrest, the witness says further in his testimony that the appellants were brought to the Station along with recovered weapons, ammunition and empties. The men were confined to the Lockup, and the recovered case property deposited with the Station Strong Room.

21. In his cross-examination at the instance of deceased appellant, Bhagwan Sahai and Ram Prakash, the schedule about receipt of information and leaving the police station is again mentioned with precision. The information was received at twelve minutes past seven, and it is said by PW-2 that within 2 - 3 minutes, the entire force assembled, armed and left Station within an exceptionally short time. The police party reached Village Dhamdhera on two modes of transport with quite a difference in the speed of the vehicles. The Constable detailed to secure witnesses, got four ready with licensed weapons. This is described by PW-2 in his cross-examination thus (in Hindi vernacular):

"सिपाही 5 - 7 मिनट में गवाहों के साथ लौट आया था। जिस सिपाही को गवाह लेने भेजा था वह जीप में हमारे साथ आया था। जब तक वह गवाह लेकर आया, तब तक साईकिलो वाला force भी आ गया। बाग, इस स्कूल से 3 - 4 फरलाँग होगा।"

22. This witness on being cross-examined on behalf of the deceased appellant, Jauhari, acknowledged the fact that he does not remember if a copy of the memorandum of recovery was given to the arrested appellants, and further that he is not aware whether it is necessary to do so. He has further said in his cross-examination that fire was opened on both sides, but he did not see any pellet embedded in the trees or elsewhere in the drain or on the road. He has also said that two rounds were fired by S.I. Amar Singh from his stengun, acknowledging further, that a round fired from the stengun could bring down a tree branch.

23. PW-4, Amar Singh, a companion Sub-Inspector, who was with the team in his examination-in-chief, has generally corroborated the testimony of PW-2, Babu Lal Ojha. He has, however, said that on the miscreants opening fire, the police returned the fire and while doing so, shot some 16 - 17 - 15 rounds. This led to a commotion amongst the miscreants, who took to their heels. In his cross-examination, he has again categorically said that a copy of the recovery memo was not given to any of the appellants. This witness has further said in his cross-examination that the place where the police were stationed, was at a distance 10 - 12 paces from where the dacoits were located. He has also said that when the miscreants opened fire, they had shot at the police party too. The police party returned fire in self-defence, but not to kill.

24. PW-5, Chhotey Singh, another Sub-Inspector on the team, has also generally corroborated the prosecution case, and in his cross-examination, has not said anything of much significance to either party, different from the other witnesses.

25. The sole public witness, who is a native of Village Dhamdhera, one Chhotey Lal Verma son of Ram Dayal, has given a graphic account of the occurrence in his examination-in-chief, generally corroborating the other witnesses. He has narrated the precise words in the dock what the assembled miscreants uttered, the words in which they were challenged by the police, and has, most particularly, given a numerical account of the rounds fired on both sides: 8 - 7 by the miscreants, and 8 - 10 by the police. The witness identified the appellant in Court, as also the other deceased appellants. This witness has also said that both, guns and rifles, opened fire on the side of the police. The witness has also acknowledged that the place of occurrence, that is to say, the grove of Phool Khan is located at a distance of one furlong from Village Niyamatpur. He has acknowledged the fact that when the aforesaid shootout took place between the police and the miscreants, nobody from the adjoining villages reached the place of occurrence.

26. The Investigating Officer of the case, one Ram Lakhan Singh, Sub-Inspector posted at Police Station Kayamganj, has, in his examination-in-chief, formally proved the various documents that have been exhibited, including the sanction orders under the Arms Act and the charge sheets. He has said in his cross-examination about the telltales signs of a shootout, thus (in Hindi vernacular):

"मुझे पूरे बाग में कोई निशानात ऐसे नहीं मिले थे जिससे जाहिर होता कि फायरिंग हुई थी।"

27. It must be remarked here that mere consistency of witnesses would not turn falsehood to truth. The evidence even of eye witnesses, depending on the nature of the offence, ought to be corroborated by objective circumstances. This case appears to be one where the manner and place of occurrence are telltale of utter falsehood of the prosecution story. The falsehood of it, is somewhere to be found in the inception of the prosecution, where it is said by PW-2 that on receipt of information about the assemblage of some miscreants planning to pull a dacoity at twelve minutes past seven, he could collect a force of fourteen strong, arm them, make an entry in the General Diary, and leave the Station, all within the fantastically short time of three minutes. The said fact has been acknowledged in his evidence by PW-2 that all this was done in that unbelievably short duration of just three minutes; but that is only one unbelievable feature. The main event which is the shootout between police and the miscreants is said to have taken place in a mango grove at a distance of 10 - 12 paces, as appears in the evidence of PW-4, S.I. Amar Singh. Even if the said estimation of distance is considered to be an overenthusiastic statement, or an arithmetical miscalculation, the evidence of all witnesses is consistent that the distance between the encountering parties was not, indeed, beyond the safe distance of gun fire. It has also figured in the statement that 16 - 17 rounds from rifles, shot guns and two from a stengun, were fired by the police party, whereas the miscreants are said to have fired 7 - 8 rounds. Indeed, it is very unlikely that a divided party of 16 men on one side and 7 - 8 on the other, firing so many rounds, at close quarters, would leave everyone uninjured - even without the graze of a pellet. If that possibility is also accepted, it certainly defies all logic that in the consistent statement of PW-4 and the Investigating Officer, no pellet or bullet was found anywhere embedded in anything, such as a tree or elsewhere. The Investigating Officer who inspected the spot, has conceded in his cross-examination that in the entire grove, he did not find any telltale marks that would show that any shootout took place there.

28. There is another feature about the prosecution case and their evidence, which makes it sound, rather incredible. Assuming that the miscreants had assembled in the mango grove to pull a dacoity, there is no good reason why they would talk aloud amongst themselves, about their plan to pull a dacoity, and the precise manner of executing it. If one were to assume that they were blissfully assured that there was no one about the place where they had assembled, it is against behaviour native to man that in a place that was certainly not a home to any of the miscreants gathered, they would go about loudly discussing, as if announcing their plans to commit dacoity. It seems to be a baseless allegation introduced by the police in order to bring home the charge under Section 399 IPC. In similar circumstances, this Court in Shokat Abdul Aziz vs. State, 2018 (5) ALJ 261, held:

"26. A perusal of the recovery memo shows that there is no signature or thumb mark of the appellants on it. The copy of the recovery memo was not given to any of the appellants which is a mandatory provision. The information has been given by a police informer. Several Police Officials have raided at the spot and it appears unnatural that the appellants without showing any apprehension or indication, all of a sudden, started speaking so loudly about their plan for committing dacoity in the house of Dhanumal Sarraf, that it was easily overheard by the police party. Two miscreants are said to have escaped from the spot, but the police has not made any effort to arrest them despite the fact that their faces were seen by the police party in the torch light."

(Emphasis by Court)

29. The submission of Ms. Meena, learned A.G.A. on behalf of the State that since the entire episode has been consistently recounted by all the eye witnesses, one of whom is a public witness, the same is a dependable guarantee of its truthfulness. This Court is afraid that this submission does not accord with law about evaluation of a consistent eye-witness account. In this connection, the decision of the Supreme Court in Badam Singh vs. State of U.P., (2003) 12 SCC 792, may be gainfully referred to. Their Lordships in Badam Singh (supra), criticizing the approach of the High Court in accepting the ocular testimony of three eye-witnesses in a murder case, merely because it was consistent, held:

"16. The learned Sessions Judge after considering the evidence on record and accepting the evidence of the eyewitnesses found the appellant guilty of the offence under Section 302 IPC and sentenced him to imprisonment for life. The High Court by its impugned judgment dismissed the appeal preferred by the appellant. We have perused the impugned judgment of the High Court. The High Court which was the first court of appeal did not even carefully appreciate the facts of the case. It mentions that the FIR was lodged by PWs 5 and 6 whereas the fact is that the FIR was lodged by PW 4, the Forest Officer. Without subjecting the evidence on record to a critical scrutiny, the High Court was content with saying that the three eyewitnesses having deposed against the appellant, the prosecution had proved its case beyond reasonable doubt. In our view, the High Court has not approached the evidence in the manner it should have done being the first court of appeal. The mere fact that the witnesses are consistent in what they say is not a sure guarantee of their truthfulness. The witnesses are subjected to cross-examination to bring out facts which may persuade a court to hold, that though consistent, their evidence is not acceptable for any other reason. If the court comes to the conclusion that the conduct of the witnesses is such that it renders the case of the prosecution doubtful or incredible or that their presence at the place of occurrence as eyewitnesses is suspect, the court may reject their evidence. That is why it is necessary for the High Court to critically scrutinise the evidence in some detail, it being the final court of fact. We have, therefore, gone through the entire evidence on record with the assistance of the counsel for the parties."

30. A perusal of the finding of the Trial Court, who has rather unconventionally written his judgment by framing issues held on this aspect of the matter that evidence of prosecution witnesses who are policemen, cannot be discarded on the basis alone that they are policemen. The learned Trial Judge has then forayed into considering the effect of police record about arrest, such as, entries in the General Diary, to raise a presumption against the accused about the manner and place of arrest, contrary to that alleged by the accused, who said that they were arrested from home. While it may be true that policemen cannot be disbelieved for the reason alone that they are members of the police force, their word can equally not be accepted on a presumption of regularity, otherwise available to official actions done in the ordinary course of discharge of duties by a Government servant. The entries in the General Diary regarding manner and place of arrest, also cannot be held to prove what is recorded there on a presumption under Section 114 of the Evidence Act, which the Trial Court has raised against the accused, and then held it to be unrebutted. Proceeding further about this particular fact of the manner and place of occurrence, the Trial Court has ventured into considering arguments based on the history of Senior Sub-Inspector, Babu Lal Ojha, who was found in the past to have falsely implicated a blind man in some crime involving a gang. It is pointed out that he was suspended in connection with the said implication in a false case. The Trial Court has remarked that since he was reinstated in service and exonerated, the said charge is of no consequence. Similarly, the history of Sub-Inspector, Amar Singh regarding the issue of false implication urged on behalf of the accused, has occupied a good length of the judgment by the learned Trial Judge to draw an inference about the place and manner of occurrence. This Court thinks that those facts on the basis of which the Trial Court has drawn an inference against the accused, are not of much relevance. The approach of the Trial Court in evaluating evidence about this very relevant fact, does not commend itself to this Court. It is for the reason that evaluation of evidence on the issue is not based on a clear approach, that may test the veracity of the prosecution account about the occurrence. The Trial Judge has proceeded more on irrelevant considerations, and touching hardly any good and relevant evidence, that would prove or dispel the prosecution case about the manner and place of occurrence.

31. In the totality of circumstances, this Court is of clear opinion that the manner and place of occurrence, as put forward by the prosecution, is not established by cogent and convincing evidence.

(2) Failure to obtain signatures of the accused on the arrest-cum-recovery memo, and furnishing its copy to the appellant

32. It is submitted by Sri S.A.N. Shah, learned counsel for the appellant that the most vital and earliest record about the occurrence is the memorandum of encounter and recovery of illegal weapons drawn up at site by the police. He submits that the said recovery memo does not bear the signatures of any of the appellants, including the appellant, Phool Singh. It is signed by the police officials and the four public witnesses, who were claimed to be with the police party. He urges that it was imperative for the police to have furnished a copy of the said recovery memo to each of the then arrested accused, including the appellant, Phool Singh. It is pointed out that a copy of this recovery memo was not handed over to the appellant, including the three deceased appellants. Learned counsel further submits that there is no mention of the fact that the appellant, Phool Singh or any of the other three deceased appellants refused to sign the recovery memo. It also does not carry any remark or explanation to show why a copy of the said recovery memo was not furnished to the appellant, Phool Singh and the deceased appellants. In the submission of the learned counsel for the appellant, the failure to secure the signatures of the appellant, Phool Singh, or the other deceased appellants on the memo of recovery, falsifies the entire prosecution story, and lends credence to the version of the appellants that they were arrested from home and framed in the case.

33. Ms. Meena, learned A.G.A. on the other hand has refuted the aforesaid submission, not in point of fact, but for a legal proposition. She does not deny the fact that signatures of the appellant, Phool Singh and the deceased co-appellants, were not secured on the recovery memo, a fact which she can possibly not deny. She also does not deny the fact that a copy of the recovery memo was not handed over to the appellant, Phool Singh, or the three others arrested along with him. She submits that it is not necessary under the law that a copy of recovery memo must be got signed by the arrested accused, from whom recovery is made, or that its copy be supplied to such accused.

34. She has placed reliance on a decision of this Court in Mahadeo vs. The State, 1990 CriLJ 858, where with reference to the provisions of Sections 51 and 100 Cr.P.C., it has been held that there is no requirement under the law about accused being asked to sign a recovery memo. However, the failure of the police to give a receipt of the articles recovered was held to be requirement of the law, but non-adherence, a mere procedural irregularity that would not vitiate the trial. Moreover, Mahadeo (supra) was a case where no public witness was available, whereas in the present case, there are four public witnesses of the recovery who have signed the recovery memo.

35. Learned counsel for the appellant on the other hand has depended again on the decision of this Court in Shokat Abdul Aziz (supra), where in paragraph 26 of the report it has been held that failure of the prosecution to give a copy of the recovery memo to the appellant amounts to violation of mandatory provisions. A perusal of the provisions relating to search and seizure, in particular, the provisions of Sections 51 and 100 Cr.P.C. would indicate that there is no mandatory requirement of providing a copy of the seizure memo to the accused. So far as giving of a receipt of articles seized under Section 51 of the Cr.P.C. is concerned, it would appear that the provision is attracted to cases where arrest is made under a non-bailable warrant or under a bailable warrant, where the person arrested is unable to furnish bail. Section 100 Cr.P.C. pertains to the class of provisions relating to execution of search warrants. The provision in sub-Section (7) of Section 100 Cr.P.C. requiring a list of all things taken possession of to be prepared and a copy of the same to be delivered to the person in occupation of the place searched, does not appear to bear much relevance in the facts of the present case. It may not be strict requirement of the law to provide a copy of the recovery memo to the accused much less requiring him to sign it, but the failure of even a slight mention of the fact that the accused were asked to sign and refused, or a copy of the memo was delivered to them, which they declined to accept, in the togetherness of other circumstances makes the entire prosecution story suspect. It is a circumstance that lends credence to the appellant's defence that after all nothing of the kind ever happened. They were simply implicated in the present crime, after being picked up by the police from home.

(3) Whether public witnesses including PW-1, Chhotey Lal Verma, are unreliable and pocket witnesses of the police are pocket witnesses of the police, is a fact, the proof of which would depend much on circumstances, including evidence of these witnesses. PW-2, Babu Lal Ojha, who headed the police party, that claims to have busted a dacoity in preparation, has said in his examination-in-chief, that on way from the Police Station to the place of occurrence, the police party passed through Village Dhamdhera. There, on his instructions, Constable Shobha Ram went to fetch the witnesses. The witnesses arrived armed with torches (electric), and each had his licensed gun on him. This evidence of PW-1 is expressed in the words of the witness as follows (in Hindi vernacular):

"हम लोग जीप व साईकिलो से रवाना हुये। रास्ते में ग्राम ढमढेरा पड़ा जहाँ रुक कर सिपाही शोभाराम को गवाहों को लेने के लिये भेजा। गवाहान आ गये जो टार्च व अपनी लाईसैन्सी बन्दूखे लेकर आये थे।"

During his cross-examination, this witness said that the Constable took 5 - 7 minutes to come back with the witnesses (public witnesses). It is also mentioned that the said Constable, who was detailed to secure the attendance of witnesses, had accompanied the police team in the Jeep, whereas a backup force had cycled its way. This part of the cross-examination has already been detailed hereinabove verbatim.

37. Now, a reading of this evidence indicates that these public witnesses came forth as if they were standing ready for the job, which was certainly not a pleasant one. In fact, witnessing apprehension of a suspected gang of dacoits for a common man, like these witnesses including Chhotey Lal Verma, could only be ascribed to two different motives. The first could be that these witnesses were truly spirited citizens and gallant man, ever ready to stand by the law, risking even their life for it, if the need arose. The other motivation could be that they were, indeed, pocket witnesses of the police, who neither saw or did anything, except that they owed some loyalty to the police for whatever consideration it be. It is not said anywhere in the evidence of these witnesses that they had some kind of a background of military, police, or other martial training, or antecedents of a kind that would make their rather unusual behaviour in joining the police on a escapade with dacoits in preparation at the short notice of 5 - 7 minutes, ready with their torches and guns, something of a conduct expected of these men. It is true that no particular question was put to them during cross-examination about their background, but it is equally true that the prosecution could have removed a hovering cloud about the behaviour of these witnesses consistent with their conduct as upright citizens, in going about the task they did. If even slight evidence had come forthwith about the background of these witnesses, it would have sufficed. But, with not a word in evidence about the background of these public witnesses, that would legitimately account for their very public spirited conduct, the inference from the conduct of these witnesses tends to sway heavily in support of what learned counsel for the appellant says, that all of them are pocket witnesses of the police. To this conclusion, if one were to look to the cross-examination of Chhotey Lal Verma, one of these four public witnesses, who testified in the witness-box as PW-1, he has responded about his past association with being a police witness in the following words (in Hindi vernacular):

"मेरे गाँव में मेरी वल्दियत का और कोई नहीं है नाम के कई हैं। आज से पहिले मैने एक case में गवाही दी है। यह याद नहीं है कि वह शराब का मुकदमा था या बन्दूख का। यह गलत है कि मैं 4 - 5 मुकदमों में गवाही दे चुका हूँ।"

This witness has acknowledged the fact that he has been a witness for the police in a case under the Excise Act or the Arms Act in the past, though he has denied the suggestion that he has stood for the police in 4 - 5 other criminal cases. Though standing witness in one case by itself may not lead to any inference, but in the totality of circumstances where the conduct of PW-1, together with the other public witnesses has been rather unusual, the fact that he has in the past stood for the police in a case, that was also one entirely at the instance of the police (as distinguished from a case initiated at the instance of a member of a public), the inference that PW-1 and his associated public witnesses are, indeed, pocket witnesses of the police, is clearly established.

(4) Effect of failure to secure examination of the recovered weapons by a Ballistic Expert, and effect of non-production of Ballistic Report in evidence

38. PW-6, Ram Lakhan Singh, a Sub-Inspector of Police, who was the Investigating officer, said, thus, in his cross-examination when asked if he had sent the weapons and cartridges to the Ballistic Experts (in Hindi vernacular):

"मैने चले हुए कारतूस व weapons को बैलेस्टिक Expert के पास नहीं भेजा। काम की ज्यादती के कारण मैं बैलेस्टिक Expert के पास नहीं भेज सका।"

39. The law relating to the prosecution's burden to be discharged, that fire arms recovered from the appellant and his associates were in working order, or that live cartridges recovered from their possession were indeed live can only be discharged by sending those weapons, the ammunition recovered and the empties to the Forensic Science Laboratory, and by proving the report received from the Lab to show that the recovered weapons were in working order. The law in this regard has been laid down by the Supreme Court in State of Punjab vs. Jagga Singh, (1998) 7 SCC 214, where it is held:

"..... Though the evidence of PW.1 H.C. Baldev Singh and PW.3 Basant Singh establishes that the respondent was found in possession of one. 12 bore DBBL Gun and four live cartridges, there is no satisfactory evidence to show that the said Gun and the cartridges were sent for examination by the Central Forensic scientific Laboratory. There is no report from the forensic Scientific Laboratory nor any other evidence to prove that the said gun was in a working condition or that the said cartridges were live cartridges. An entry made in the Malkhana register was relied upon by the prosecution. It does not mention that Gun bearing No. 14119-88 was sent to the Central Forensic Laboratory nor does it contain any description of the cartridges."

40. Still earlier, in Jaspal Singh vs. State of Punjab, 1998 (7) SCC 289, it was held by their Lordships of the Supreme Court thus:

"2. Admittedly, no evidence was led by the prosecution to prove that the gun was in working condition and that the cartridges which were found from the person of the appellant were live cartridges. Neither ASI - Balbir Singh had stated so nor any report from an expert was obtained to establish that the gun was in working condition and that five cartridge were live. What was found in the gun were two empties and not live cartridges and, therefore, it was not proper to presume that it was in working condition. In absence of any evidence to that effect, the conviction of the appellant under both these aforesaid Section cannot be upheld. ....."

41. In Dev Dutta and another vs. State, 2017 (1) ACR 604, this Court following the aforesaid decisions of their Lordships in a case relating to preparation to commit dacoity, held:

"34. In view of what has been indicated herein above, I am of the opinion that the prosecution has miserably failed to prove the case against the appellants beyond reasonable doubt. Recovery of pistols and cartridges from the appellants are also doubtful in the absence of any C.F.S.L. report and benefit of doubt is to be given to the appellants."

42. T his Court finds, from the evidence of the Investigating Officer, that he never sent any of the weapons for analysis to the Ballistic Expert. He has said that he did not do so because he was overburdened with work. Whatever be the reason, in the absence of a report from a Ballistic Expert, that the weapons were in working order, the ammunition was live, or the empties were fired from the guns said to have been recovered from the appellant's possession and that of his associates, makes the entire recovery of fire arms very doubtful. That apart, it has not figured in the evidence of any of the witnesses before the Court that the fire arms were in working order, or that the cartridges were live.

43. In the circumstances, it is held that the prosecution have failed to prove that the weapons shown to be recovered from the appellants were, indeed, recovered from their possession or that the said weapons were employed in exchange of fire with the police party.

(5) Standard of proof by the prosecution in a case involving charges of preparation to commit dacoity and being one of the five persons assembled for the purpose

44. It must again be remarked that the offence under Section 399 IPC is one of the few offence that is punishable at the stage of preparation. Once the offence is punishable at the stage of preparation and there is evidence about it, it cannot go unpunished. But, it would be prudent to remember that an offence punishable at the stage of preparation is founded on an act or omission that is so inchoate, that it is still not an attempt. Therefore, evidence about the offence must be scrutinized with circumspection to find out whether, in fact, the fact in issue is clearly established by good evidence.

45. In Chaturi Yadav and others vs. State of Bihar, AIR 1976 SC 1412, conviction for offences under Sections 399, 402 IPC, was overturned by their Lordships of the Supreme Court on facts that the appellants in that case were found to have assembled in the odd hours by night at 1 a.m. in the premises of a school. On seeing a police party, they tried to run, but some of them were apprehended. One of the appellants, was found to be in possession of a gun and live cartridges, whereas the others had merely one live cartridge each, in their pockets. In those circumstances, their Lordships held thus:

"4. The Courts below have drawn the inference that the appellants were guilty under both the offences merely from the fact that they had assembled at a lonely place at 1 A.M. and could give no explanation for their presence at that odd hour of the night. Mr. Misra appearing for the appellant submitted that taking the prosecution case at its face value, there is no evidence to show that the appellants had assembled for the purpose of committing a dacoity or they had made any preparation for committing the same. We are of the opinion that the contention raised by the learned counsel for the appellants is well founded and must prevail. The evidence led by the prosecution merely shows that eight persons were found in the school premises. Some of them were armed with guns, some had cartridges and others ran away. The mere fact that these persons were found at 1 A.M. does not, by itself, prove that the appellants had assembled for the purpose of committing dacoity or for making preparations to accomplish that object. The High Court itself has, in its judgment, observed that the school was quite close to the market, hence it is difficult to believe that the appellants would assemble at such a conspicuous place with the intention of committing a dacoity and would take such a grave risk. It is true that some of the appellants who were caught hold of, by the Head Constable are alleged to have made the statement before him that they were going to commit a dacoity but this statement being clearly inadmissible has to be excluded from consideration. In this view of the matter, there is no legal evidence to support the charge under Sections 399 and 402 against the appellants. The possibility that the appellants may have collected for the purpose of murdering somebody or committing some other offence cannot be safely eliminated. In these circumstances, therefore, we are unable to sustain the judgment of the High Court."

46. A wholesome look at the evidence in this case would show that the prosecution had nothing in hand in the sense of tangible evidence, that may lend some credit to the ocular testimony to prove their case, except that they might have found the appellants for the worst, assembled at the place of occurrence. The prosecution account has been held to be unbelievable about the nature and place of occurrence, earlier in this judgment. The recovery of fire arms from the appellant and his companions is not established, or the credit of the independent public witnesses. The entire story appears to be one where the appellant has been framed. The Trial Court appears to have believed the story because it was a dacoity affected area. This Court thinks that in the circumstances of an area, that is afflicted by dacoity, the probability of a false implication by the police in a case of preparation to commit dacoity is far stronger, where there is no convincing and tangible evidence aliunde to establish facts that are necessary to prove a case of preparation. Those facts, in the clear opinion of this Court, have far from been proved.

47. This Court finds and holds that the prosecution has not been able to establish the appellant's guilt beyond reasonable doubt.

48. In the result, the appeal succeeds and is allowed. The impugned judgment and order dated 27.02.1982 passed by the Special Judge (Dacoity Affected Areas), Farrukhabad in Special Sessions Trial no.3 of 1982, State vs. Jauhari and three others, under Sections 399 & 402 IPC (arising out of Case Crime no.430/81) and under Sections 25/27 of the Arms Act (arising out of Case Crime no.433/81), Police Station Kayamganj, District Farrukhabad, is hereby set aside and the appellant, Phool Singh is acquitted.

49. The appellant, Phool Singh is on bail. He need not surrender. The bail bonds are cancelled and sureties stand discharged. However, the appellant, Phool Singh, is ordered to comply with the provisions of Section 437-A Cr.P.C. before the Trial Court.

50. A copy of this judgment along with Trial Court record be sent to the learned Sessions Judge, Farrukhabad for information and necessary compliance. Judgment be certified and placed on record.

4. Sadha Singh & anr. Vs St. of Punj. (1985) 3 SCC 225

(Delivered by Mrs. Manju Rani Chauhan, J.)

1. Heard Mr. Sarvesh, learned counsel for the appellant and Mr. Prashant Kumar, learned Additional Government Advocate for the State.

2. This criminal appeal has been filed by accused appellant Subhash S/o Shrinath, R/o village Basawanpur, police station Ghosi, District Mau against the judgment and order dated 30/31.03.2009, whereby appellant Subhash has been convicted under section 323/34 and 304 (II) Indian Penal Code and has been sentenced for one year rigorous imprisonment for offence under section 323/34 Indian Penal Code and for seven years rigorous imprisonment and a fine of Rs. 500 and in default of payment of fine two months further imprisonment for offence under section 304(II) Indian Penal Code. All the sentences are directed to run concurrently.

3. According to prosecution version as narrated by informant Ram Lakhan, on 25.04.2006 at about 12:00 in the day, accused Subhash, Gulab and Dayanand came to his house and started abusing him and thereafter assaulted him with lathi, danda. Upon hue and cry, the co-villagers gathered there and saved him. The record further reveals that P.W.1 Smt. Dhanmati took her husband-informant to Community Health Centre, Ghosi, where his injuries were examined by Dr. D.N. Rai and thereafter he was referred to District Hospital, Mau where he was given treatment and after being relieved from the hospital, Smt. Dhanmati and Ram Lakhan came to their house in the village and remained in the house. On fourth day of incident, deceased Ram Lakhan went to the police station and on the oral dictation of first informant Ram Lakhan (deceased), one Non-Cognizable Report no. 86/2006 was registered on 28.04.2006 at about 12:30 P.M. in Police Station Ghosi, District Mau for offences under section 323/504,506 IPC against accused Subhash, Gulab and Dayanand. After eighteen days from the incident, Ram Lakhan died on account of injuries and the P.W.1 Smt. Dhanmati gave information to police station about death of her husband Ram Lakhan, whereupon section 304 IPC was added and being cognizable offence, the case was converted into case crime no. 429 of 2006 U/s 304 IPC. After investigation, the Investigating Officer submitted charge sheet against the named accused persons for offence under section 304 IPC and subsequent to the cognizance of offence, the learned Magistrate committed the case to the Court of Sessions and trial proceeded.

4. The learned Trial Court framed charge against the accused persons for offence under section 504, 506(II), 323/34 and 304/34 IPC vide order dated 02.03.2007. In order to prove its case, the prosecution also relied upon documentary evidence, which were duly proved and consequently marked as Exhibits. The same are cataloged herein below:-

i). Application made by the informant Dhanmati qua the death of the deceased during treatment to the Police Station Ghoshi was marked as Exhibit-Ka-1 and the same was proved by the informant (P.W.1); ii). Medical examination report of the deceased before his death was marked as Exhibit-2 and the same was proved by Dr. D.N. Rai, Primary Health Centre, Ghosi, Mau (P.W.-4); iii). Post-mortem report of the deceased was marked as Exhibit-3 and the same was proved by Dr. A.K. Srivastava (P.W.-5); iv). Entry made in G.D. regarding registration of Case Crime No. 429 of 2006 under Section 304 I.P.C. after the death of the deceased was marked as Exhibit-Ka-4 and the same was proved by the Constable Dhanoday Pandey (P.W.-6);

v). Entry made in G.D. regarding death of the deceased given by the informant was marked as Exhibit-Ka-5 and the same was also proved by the Constable Dhanoday Pandey (P.W.-6); vi). Site plan was marked as Exhibit-Ka-6 and the same was proved by Sub-Inspector Sheetala Prasad Upadhaya (P.W.-7); vii). The charge-sheet was marked as Exhibit Ka-7 and the same was proved by Sub-Inspector Sheetala Prasad Upadhaya (P.W.-7); viii). Non-Cognizable Report (N.C.R.), which was registered on oral information given by the Informant regarding the incident, was marked as Exhibit Ka-8 and the same was proved by Constable Radhey Shyam Yadav (P.W. 8); ix). Entry made in G.D. regarding the N.C.R. was marked as Exhibit-Ka-9 and the same was also proved by Constable Radhey Shyam Yadav (P.W. 8); x). Inquest report of the deceased was marked as Exhibit-Ka-10 and the same was proved by Sub-Inspector Mithlesh Kumar Mishra (P.W.-9); xi). Chalan lash was marked as Exhibit-Ka-11 and the same was proved by Sub-Inspector Mithlesh Kumar Mishra (P.W.-9); xii). Photo lash was marked as Exhibit-Ka-12 and the same was proved by Sub-Inspector Mithlesh Kumar Mishra (P.W.-9); xiii). Letter written to the Reserved Inspector, Police Line, Mau was marked as Exhibit-Ka-13 and the same was proved by Sub-Inspector Mithlesh Kumar Mishra (P.W.-9); and xiv). Letter written to the Chief Medical Officer, Mau regarding post-mortem of the deceased was marked as Exhibit-Ka-14 and the same was proved by Sub-Inspector Mithlesh Kumar Mishra (P.W.-9).

5. The prosecution also examined total nine witnesses in the following manner:-

P.W.1 Smt. Dhanmati wife of deceased Ram Lakhan is an eye witness of the incident. P.W.2 Manraj is neighbor of the deceased and is another eye witness of the incident. P.W.3 Smt. Gyanti @ Gyanmati wife of Rama Shanker is daughter-in-law of the deceased and she was also present in the house at the time of the incident and is an eye witness. P.W.4 Dr. D.N. Rai was posted at CHC, Ghosi, who examined the injuries of Ram Lakhan on 25.04.2006 at about 06:00 P.M. and has proved the same. P.W.5 Dr. A.K. Srivastava had conducted post mortem examination of the cadaver of Ram Lakhan and has proved the post mortem examination report. P.W.6 Constable Dhanoday Pandey was posted as Constable Clerk in the police station Ghosi, who proved the registration of non-cognizable report and its subsequent conversion into cognizable report. P.W.7 Sub-Inspector Sheetla Prasad Upadhaya had conducted investigation and had submitted charge sheet and has proved the same. The P.W.8 Constable Radhe Shyam Yadav has proved the non-cognizable report lodged by Ram Lakhan (deceased). The P.W.9 Sub-Inspector Mithilesh Kumar Singh had conducted inquest and has proved the same along with other police papers.

6. The defense has challenged the prosecution case by submitting that:-

(a) There is delay in registration of the non-cognizable report in as much as the incident alleged to have taken place on 25.04.2006 at about 12:00 in the afternoon, while the non-cognizable report is said to have been lodged on 28.04.2006 at about 12:30 P.M. with delay of about three days, which fact gives an obvious inference that the prosecution case is concocted.

(b) Looking into the injuries of the deceased, it is highly improbable that the deceased had himself dictated the non-cognizable report at police station after three days of receiving the injuries and hence, this circumstance creates serious doubt about prosecution version. The prosecution case has been materially improved from stage to stage with the passage of time in as much as the first information report does not disclose any specific role and contains allegations about assault by lathi, danda only but in the statement of witnesses before the court, the allegation with regard to the exhortation and assault by fist has also been introduced and role of lathi injury has been specified against the appellant Subhash. All these improvements make the prosecution case wholly unreliable.

(c) The alleged eye witnesses are not reliable and their presence at the scene of occurrence is highly improbable as they did not receive any injury and they did not try to save the deceased, which is quite unnatural.

(d) The alleged non-cognizable report cannot be treated as dying declaration of the deceased.

(e) The appellant had no intention or knowledge to commit the offence, even according to the prosecution's own case and the accused persons were not armed with any weapon at initial stage and admittedly the accused appellant merely used lathi against the deceased.

(f) In any view of the matter, the sentence of seven years rigorous imprisonment is too severe and is liable to be reduced.

7. On the other hand learned Additional Government Advocate has contended that the prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt. The deceased had himself given the information to police station and the non-cognizable report was registered on his dictation and has been duly proved by the prosecution witnesses and thus the prosecution evidence is wholly reliable and intact and as such, the accused appellant has been rightly convicted and the quantum of sentence is proportionate to the guilt of accused appellant.

8. In order to appreciate rival submissions mentioned above, the court proceeds to examine the evidence on record.

9. P.W.1 Smt. Dhanmati wife of deceased Ram Lakhan has stated in her examination in chief that on the day of the alleged incident at about 12:00 O'clock in the afternoon, her husband was sitting on a cot under the shed in front of his house and she was also present sitting on earth. Suddenly the accused persons namely Subhash, Gulab and Dayanand arrived there crossing the boundary of her house and started abusing her husband with filthy language and asked her husband as to how he was talking to Raj Kumar. At this juncture, her husband as well as she protested and asked the accused persons not to abuse like this. Thereafter the accused Dayanand exhorted to kill her husband and all of them dragged her husband from the shed. The appellant Subhash picked up the lathi, which was kept near the cot of her husband and assaulted upon him with lathi and accused Gulab assaulted with kick and fist causing injuries. She took her husband to Amila Police Outpost and informed the police but the police personals had stated that first of all medical treatment may be given to the victim and thereafter she may to register the case. She took her husband to Govt. Hospital Ghosi where her husband was medically examined and he was referred to District Hospital, Mau. In District Hospital Mau, her husband was treated and thereafter on fourth day of the incident her husband himself went to the police outpost and lodged the report. However on 18th day of the incident, her husband died on account of injuries. She sent written information regarding death of her husband to police station, which has been proved by her as exhibit Ka-1. Thereafter the police arrived and prepared inquest and site plan etc. and also recorded her statement. Two days prior to the incident, a quarrel had taken place with Raj Kumar and the aforesaid Raj Kumar belongs to the gang of the accused persons.

10. She has also stated in her cross examination that two months prior to this incident, a quarrel had taken with Raj Kumar and in that quarrel Raj Kumar had beaten her daughter-in-law by fist and kick and it was reported by her husband to the police and the medical examination of her daughter-in-law was also conducted. She has also stated in her cross examination that after treatment of her husband in District Hospital, she took him to the village on the same day and since then, her husband remained at home till his death.

11. The P.W.2 Manraj son of Jallu, whose house is situated at about 25 steps ahead from the house of the deceased, has stated in his testimony that he was present in front of his house at the time of the incident and after hearing hue and cry, he reached at the place of incident and saw the accused Subhash, Gulab and Dayanand abusing and assaulting Ram Lakhan. When Ram Lakhan protested, appellant with the danda and accused Gulab and Dayanand with fists and kicks, assaulted Ram Lakhan. Thereafter he and many persons intervened and saved Ram Lakhan. He has also stated in his testimony that Ram Lakhan was taken to the hospital by his wife and other persons and he died after 17-18 days of the incident. He has further stated that deceased Ram Lakhan had received injuries in his head and chest region. He also identified accused Gulab and Subhash in the court and has stated that accused Dayanand is not present in the court. He corroborated the statement of P.W.1 in all material aspects. He was cross examined at great length but nothing substantial could be elicited in his cross examination.

12. P.W. 3 Smt. Gyanti @ Gyanmati is daughter-in-law of deceased Ram Lakhan. She was there in the house when the incident occurred. She corroborated the statement of P.W.1 and P.W.2 in all material aspects with regard to the abuse and the manner of assault by accused persons and also other relevant facts. She has been cross examined and in her cross examination she states that during quarrel with Raj Kumar, she was not assaulted and beaten. She has denied the suggestion made to her in cross examination that on the alleged date of incident, she was in her Maika.

13. P.W.4 Dr. D.N. Rai who firstly examined the victim on 25.04.2006 at 06:00 P.M. at C.H.C., Ghosi has stated that at about 06:00 P.M., Ram Lakhan was brought before him by his wife Smt. Dhanmati and was examined by him, whereupon the injuries mentioned in the medical examination report were found on the person of Ram Lakhan and thereafter, the victim was referred to District Hospital, Mau. This prosecution witness has proved the medical examination report and has stated that all the injuries had possibly occurred on 25.04.2006 at about 12:00 O'clock in the afternoon and were caused by hard, blunt object and were fresh and the injuries no. 1 & 5 were on vital part of the body. He did not give any opinion regarding nature of injuries and had referred the victim to District Hospital, Mau for further management.

14. P.W.5 Dr. A.K. Srivastava had conducted the post mortem and has proved the post mortem examination report, in which he found five ante mortem injuries on the person of deceased and has stated that the cause of death was subdural hematoma on account of head injuries. He found the fracture of left parietal bone and also found fracture of 10th, 11th & 12th ribs of left side back. Membranes, brain, pleura were found congested and peritonea and spleen was found contused. He has stated that injuries of head and chest were sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death and it could have been caused by lathi. He has also stated that if the proper medical treatment would have been given to the deceased, his life would have been saved.

15. P.W.6 Constable Dhanoday Pandey has stated in his examination-in-chief that on 17.05.2006, he was posted as Constable Clerk in police station Ghosi. The then In-charge Inspector Sri Bachha Paswan submitted post-mortem examination report no.106/2006 at police station and directed him to alter the offences and in pursuance thereof, he altered the non-cognizable report no.86/2006 U/s 323, 504, 506 IPC to Case Crime No.429/2006 U/s 304 IPC. He was also present at police station on 13.05.2006, when Smt. Dhanmati informed in writing about the death of Ram Lakhan. This prosecution witness has proved the relevant G.D. entry in this regard.

16. P.W.7 Sub-inspector Sheetla Prasad Upadhyay has stated that on 18.05.2006, he was posted in police station Ghosi as Sub-inspector (Civil Police) and the investigation of Case Crime NO.429 of 2006 was entrusted to him. He investigated the same and had submitted a charge-sheet.

17. P.W.8 Constable Radhe Shyam Yadav has stated in his examination-in-chief that on 28.04.2006, he was posted as Constable Clerk at police station Ghosi. On 28.04.2006, at about 12.30 P.M. Ram Lakhan came to police station and gave oral information about the incident and in pursuance thereof, a non-cognizable report no.86/2006 u/s 323, 504, 506 IPC was registered. This prosecution witness has proved the non-cognizable report to the incident of Ram Lakhan.

18. P.W.9 Constable Mithilesh Kumar has stated that on 13.5.2006, he was posted as In-charge police outpost Amila of police station Ghosi and he had conducted inquest of deceased Ram Lakhan. This prosecution witness has proved the inquest report and other police papers prepared by him.

19. In their examination U/s 313 Cr.P.C., the accused persons have denied their involvement in the offence and have stated that they have been falsely implicated on account of enmity and the evidence adduced against them is false. An application 63Kha was moved by accused Dayanand showing his date of birth as 07.05.1991 and claiming to be juvenile on the date of incident. He produced the entries of Kutumb register mentioning his date of birth, voter list and his medical examination showing his age on the date of medical examination in between 20-21 years. The learned Trial Court conducted enquiry and came to the conclusion vide order dated 15.01.2009 that the accused Dayanand was juvenile at the time of incident and his case was separated and the trial continued for accused appellant Subhash and co-accused Gulab.

20. From a careful scrutiny of the evidence available on record, it is undoubtedly apparent that the witnesses of fact i.e. P.W.1 Smt. Dhanmati and P.W.3 Smt. Gyanti @ Gyanmati are most natural witnesses as P.W.1 Smt. Dhanmati is wife of deceased and her presence with her husband Ram Lakhan in daytime at her house cannot be doubted. Similarly, Smt. Gyanti @ Gyanmati is daughter-in-law of the deceased and according to the normal course of daily life, she is also supposed to be there in the house, as she is also a housewife. The presence of both these witnesses has not been seriously challenged by the defense. Even a suggestion has not been given to P.W.1 Smt. Dhanmati that on the alleged date and time of occurrence, she was not there in the house with Ram Lakhan. A half hearted suggestion has been given to P.W.3 Smt. Gyanti @ Gyanmati that she was at her Maika on the date of the incident but she has denied the same. Similarly no suggestion has been given to P.W.2 that he was not there in his house when the incident took place. A lengthy cross examination has been made from all the three witnesses, but nothing could be achieved to raise slightest doubt regarding the veracity of their deposition, which is otherwise natural and truthful and is corroborated by medical evidence. The statement of P.W. 1 Smt. Dhanmati corroborates other independent circumstances and evidence available on record. In the medical examination report of deceased Ram Lakhan prepared in Community Health Center, Ghosi, the injured was shown to be brought by Smt. Dhanmati and this fact has also been proved by P.W.4 Dr. D.N. Rai in his deposition.

21. Learned defense counsel has tried to argue that the investigation of the case is not proper and there appears cutting and over-writing in police papers and in addition to this circumstance, the registration of non-cognizable report by Ram Lakhan after third day of the incident is also doubtful in as much as after receiving such injuries, he would have been in a state of coma on account of subdural hematoma as suggested by the doctor and it is highly improbable for him to reach to the police station and lodge the non-cognizable report at his own instance.

22. This submission made by the learned Counsel for the accused appellant prima facie appears to be attractive but a conspicuous view over evidence available on record reveals its weakness. The P.W. 1 has categorically stated in her statement that after medical examination in District Hospital, the deceased Ram Lakhan was taken back to his home and he remained at his home continuously till his death. Not a single question has been put by the prosecution, while cross-examining P.W.1 about the condition of the victim Ram Lakhan when he was at home since 25.04.2006 to 13.05.2006. There is not even a suggestion to this effect that after coming from the hospital, the victim regained his health and was capable of speaking something or not or whether he was bed-ridden or was in a state of coma. On the other hand, there is specific averment made by P.W.1 that the deceased went to police station and lodged the non-cognizable report. This fact has been corroborated by Constable Clerk P.W. 6 Dhanoday Pandey and P.W. 8 Constable Radhey Shyam Yadav, who have proved the registration of non-cognizable report by deceased Ram Lakhan and have also proved thumb impression of the deceased on that report. The defense has tried to challenge aforesaid facts by pointing out some cuttings and over writing in the police papers and General Diary entries but such shortcomings has been duly explained by the witness P.W. 8 Constable Radhey Shyam Yadav. Hence, there is no such circumstance available on record, which may raise doubt about the registration of the non-cognizable report by the deceased himself. Rather it makes out an additional factor in support of eye-witness account of the incident.

23. Thus, from the evidence available on record, this Court comes to the definite conclusion that the prosecution evidence and the alleged eye-witnesses are natural and truthful and the prosecution has succeeded beyond reasonable doubt in proving the participation of the accused in commission of the offence.

24. With respect to the submission on behalf of appellant regarding absence of intention or knowledge about inflicting deadly injuries to the deceased, it born out from the statement of P.W.4 Dr. D.N. Rai and from the medical examination report of deceased dated 25.04.2006 proved by him and from the post mortem examination report proved by P.W.5 Dr. A.K. Srivastava and from his other part of statement, it is established that multiple blows were inflicted to the deceased by blunt weapon on the vital parts of the body and this role has been specifically assigned to accused appellant Subhash. The injury no. 5 shows multiple abraded contusions in an area of 28 cm and 10 cm over left side of abdomen and chest and underlying the seat of injuries, three ribs were found fractured and many internal organs were found contused. In the head region, the parietal bone was found fractured. The P.W.5 Dr. A.K. Srivastava has specifically stated that the injuries received by the deceased in his head and chest were sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death.

25. To ascertain element of knowledge regarding any criminal act, whenever any person with conscious state of mind about his act causes injury to another without any reasonable excuse, it is required to be inferred that he was knowing about the outcome of injuries so caused by him and like-wise, repeated blow of Lathi as a weapon to an old age person on his vital parts like head, chest, abdomen, etc. would certainly give inference that he was having complete knowledge about its result. The term "intention" and "knowledge" have been discussed and explained in catena of judgments of Hon'ble Supreme Court and this court. While intention requires guilty state of mind or what we say ill will, the law provides punishment for those acts too, which doesn't have element of "intention" but the awareness of the consequences of the act. Without burdening the judgment with bunch case-laws, one celebrated judgment of Hon'ble Supreme Court may be referred in this regard. In the case of Jai Prakash reported in (1991) 2 SCC 32, the Hon'ble Supreme Court while referring to Virsa Singh's case, AIR 1958 SC 465 and Jagrup Singh's case, AIR 1981 SC 1552 made observations about element of "knowledge", which are worth quoting and are recapitulated as follows: -

"In both these cases it is clearly laid down that the prosecution must prove (1) - that the body injury is present, (2) - that the injury is sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death, (3) - that the accused intended to inflict that particular injury that is to say it was not accidental or unintentional or that some other kind of injury was intended. In other words Clause Thirdly consists of two parts. The first part is that there was an intention to inflict the injury that is found to be present and the second part that the said injury is sufficient to cause death in the ordinary course of nature. Under the first part the prosecution has to prove from the given facts and circumstances that the intention of the accused was to cause that particular injury. Whereas the second part whether it was sufficient to cause death is an objective enquiry and it is a matter of inference or deduction from the particulars of the injury. The language of Clause Thirdly of S. 300 speaks of intention at two places and in each the sequence is to be established by the prosecution before the case can fall in that clause. The 'intention' and 'knowledge' of the accused are subjective and invisible states of mind and their existence, has to be gathered from the circumstances, such as the weapon used, the ferocity of attack, multiplicity of injuries and all other surrounding circumstances. The framers of the Code designedly used the words 'intention' and 'knowledge' and it is accepted that the knowledge of the consequences which may result in doing an act is not the same thing as the intention that such consequences should ensue. Firstly, when an act is done by person, it is presumed that he must have been aware that certain specified harmful consequences would or could follow. But that knowledge is bare awareness and not the same thing as intention that such consequences should ensue. As compared to 'knowledge', 'intention' requires something more than the mere foresight of the consequences, namely the purposeful doing of a thing to achieve a particular end."

26. The Hon'ble Supreme Court further elaborated the discussion by referring to Russell on Crime (12th edn. at page 41) and observed as follows:

"In the present analysis of the mental element in crime the word 'intention' is used to denote the mental attitude of a man who has resolved to bring about a certain result if he can possibly do so. He shapes his line of conduct so as to achieve a particular end at which he aims."

It can thus be seen that the 'knowledge' as contrasted with 'intention' signify a state of mental realization with the bare state of conscious awareness of certain facts in which human mind remains supine or inactive. On the other hand, 'intention' is a conscious state in which mental faculties are aroused into activity and summoned into action for the purpose of achieving a conceived end. It means shaping of one's conduct so as to bring about a certain event. Therefore in the case of 'intention' mental faculties are projected in a set direction. Intention need not necessarily involve premeditation. Whether there is such an intention or not is a question of fact. In Clause Thirdly the words "intended to be inflicted" are significant. As noted already, when a person commits an act, he is presumed to expect the natural consequences. But from the mere fact that the injury caused is sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death it does not necessarily follow that the offender intended to cause the injury of that nature. However, the presumption arises that he intended to cause that particular injury. In such a situation the court has to ascertain whether the facts and circumstances in the case are such as to rebut the presumption and such facts and circumstances cannot be laid down in an abstract rule and they will vary from case to case. However, as pointed out in Virsa Singh case the weapon used, the degree of force released in wielding it, the antecedent relations of the parties, the manner in which the attack was made that is to say sudden or premeditated, whether the injury was inflicted during a struggle or grappling, the number of injuries inflicted and their nature and the part of the body where the injury was inflicted are some of the relevant factors. These and other factors which may arise in a case have to be considered and if on a totality of these circumstances a doubt arises as to the nature of the offence, the benefit has to go to the accused. In some cases, an explanation may be there by the accused like exercise of right of private defence or the circumstances also may indicate the same. Likewise there may be circumstances in some cases which attract the first exception. In such cases different considerations arise and the court has to decide whether the accused is entitled to the benefit of the exception, though the prosecution established that one or the other clauses of S. 300 Indian Penal Code is attracted. In the present enquiry we need not advert to that aspect since we are concerned only with scope of Clause Thirdly of S. 300 IPC."

27. In view of above discussed position of law, it is established beyond doubt that accused appellant Subhash had inflicted repeated blows on the vital parts of the body of deceased Ram Lakhan and the only inference, which can safely be drawn is that he was knowing fully well the consequences of his act that it may cause death of deceased Ram Lakhan and thus, he is guilty of the offence U/s 304(II) Indian Penal Code.

28. Lastly, the learned counsel for the defense has submitted that in view of the facts and circumstances of the case, the sentence is too severe and it may be reduced as may deem fit.

29. In this regard, the position of law as held by Hon'ble Supreme Court in Sadha Singh And Anr. vs State of Punjab, (1985) 3 SCC 225 is as follows: -

"5. The next question is what should be the adequate sentence. We must confess that what ought to be the proper sentence in a given case is left to the discretion of the trial court, which discretion has to be exercised on sound judicial principles. Various relevant circumstances which have a bearing on the question of sentence have to be kept in view. Before deciding the quantum of sentence the learned Sessions Judge has to hear both the sides as required by the relevant provision of the Cr.P.C.

6. In an appeal against the conviction, it is open to the High Court to alter or modify or reduce the sentence after confirming conviction. If the High Court is of the opinion that the sentence is heavy or unduly harsh or requires to be modified, the same must be done on well recognised judicial dicta. Therefore, we may first notice the reasons which appealed to the learned Judge to reduce the substantive sentence awarded to the appellants to sentences undergone."

30. This Court has considered submission in this regard in the light of the evidence, facts and circumstances of the case and finds in the present case that the deceased who is an old man, aged about 60 years, has been assaulted without any provocation. He was beaten mercilessly by repeated blows of lathi. The accused appellant Subhash is a healthy men aged about 40 years. The accused chose vital parts of the body to inflict injuries. In these circumstances the sentence of seven years rigorous imprisonment appears to be appropriate and does not call for any interference.

31. The appeal fails and is, accordingly, dismissed.

32. Since the appellant is already on bail, the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Mau is directed to ensure that the appellant is taken into custody and sent in jail for serving out of his sentence awarded by the trial court. The bail bond of the appellant is cancelled and his sureties are also discharged.

33. A copy of this order be sent to the Chief Judicial Magistrate, Mau immediately for necessary compliance of this judgment and order.

A. Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - It is the quality of the evidence which is required to be seen and not the quantity -trial court justified in convicting the appellants- imprisonment for life. (Para 7 & 25)

B. Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 118 - competency of person to testify- evidence of a child witness - Child not an incompetent witness by reason of its age. There is no precise age which determines the question of competency- - child of tender age is a competent witness, if it appears that it can understand the questions put to him and give rational answers thereto. This section vests in the Court's discretion to decide whether an infant is or is not disqualified to be a witness by reason of understanding or lack of understanding-The merit of evidence has to be judged on the touchstone of its own inherent intrinsic worth. - before recording conviction on the solitary testimony of a child witness, the court has to ensure that he is a reliable witness - If testimony found to be trustworthy and reliable then conviction can be recorded on his sole testimony. (Delivered by Hon'ble Pritinker Diwaker, J.)

1. This appeal arises out of the impugned judgement and order dated 03.05.1988 passed by II Additional District & Sessions Judge, Kanpur Dehat in Sessions Trial Nos. 50 of 1985 (State Vs. Dinesh) and 104A of 1985 (State Vs. Surendra Singh), convicting the accused-appellants under Section 302/34 of IPC and sentencing them to undergo imprisonment for life.

2. In the present case, name of the deceased is Ram Swaroop Tiwari. Deceased stood as a surety for appellant Dinesh but as Dinesh continued to commit crimes, deceased informed him that if he will not make himself correct, in such a condition, deceased would be compelled to get his bail cancelled. Looking to this attitude of the deceased, accused Dinesh got annoyed with him and with the help of co-accused Surendra Singh, Umesh (died during investigation) and Ramesh (absconded during trial), on 03.08.1984 committed the murder of the deceased by causing gun shot and axe injury to him. Incident has been witnesses by Shiv Kant Tiwari (PW-2), a child witness aged eight years (son of deceased), who at the time of commission of offence was with the deceased. Hearing the cries of the deceased, his another son Kamal Kant Tiwari (PW-1) rushed to the spot and saw the accused persons fleeing from the spot. On the written report Ex.Ka.-1 lodged by Kamal Kant Tiwari (PW-1) on 03.08.1984 at 07.45 pm, FIR was registered against four accused persons under Section 302 of I.P.C.

3. Inquest on the dead body of the deceased was conducted, on the same day i.e. 03.08.1984, vide Ex.Ka.4, which started at 09.30 pm and completed at about 11.00 pm and body was sent for postmortem, which was conducted by Dr. Anil Bihari Lal Saxena (PW-7) vide Ex.Ka.15 on 04.08.1984.

As per Autopsy Surgeon, as many as seventeen following injuries were found on the body of the deceased:

"1. An incised wound 12cm x 3cm x brain cavity deep, right side of scalp, 3cm above Rt. ear.

2. An incised wound 9cm x 3cm x bone deep cut on posterior side of scalp, 1½ cm behind right ear temporal bone fractured.

3. An incised wound 8cm x 3cm x bone cut deep on right side face upto right ear, temporal bone fractured.

4. An incised wound 11cm x 4cm x bone cut on rt. side neck extended above upto the scalp behind the ear-temporal bone fractured.

5. An incised wound 6cm x 2½ cm on the rt. side neck just below the injury no. 4.

6. An incised wound 27cm x 5½ cm x bone cut posterior and left side of neck, occipetal bone and vertebra upper fractured.

7. An incised wound 10cm x 2½ cm x muscle deep on the upper part of back just below the root of neck.

8. An incised wound 8cm x 1½ x muscle deep on the back of right shoulder.

9. An abrasion-contusion 5½ cm x 3½ cm on the back of right shoulder just below on injury no. 8.

10. An incised wound 4 cm x 1½ cm x muscle deep on the epigastric fossa.

11. An incised wound 10 cm x 3½ cm x muscle deep on ventral aspect of rt. hand forearm in its middle part.

12. A gun shot wound of entry 4 cm x 3½ cm x through and through on the dorsal aspect of right forearm, 8 cm below the right elbow, margins inverted and ulna bone fractured.

13. A gun shot wound of exit 10 cm x 3 cm x through and through communicating to the injury no. 12 on the ventral aspect of rt. forearm 2½ cm above the wrist joint-margins everted and one wadding piece is recovered.

14. A gun shot wound of exit 8 cm x 3 cm x through and through communicating to the injury no. 12 on the medial side of rt. forearm, 1½ cm away from injury no. 13, margins everted and one wadding piece is recovered from the wound.

15. Multiple gun shot wound of entry in an area of about 20 cm x 6 cm x muscle deep on rt. side of lower part of chest and upper part of abdomen, 18 pellets (16 small + 1 big and one broken) recovered from the wound.

16. One gun shot wound of entry 1 cm x 1 cm x through and through 4 cm above the left writ joint on ventral aspect medial side, margins inverted.

17. One gun shot wound of exit 1½ cm x 1½ cm x through and through communicating to the injury no. 16 on the ventral aspect and above the writ joint margins everted."

Cause of death of the deceased was due to shock and haemorrhage as a result of antemortem injuries.

4. During investigation, accused Umesh died and, therefore, charge sheet was filed against the appellants and one absconded accused Ramesh.

5. While framing charge, the trial Judge has framed charge against the accused-appellants under Section 302/34 of I.P.C.

6. During trial accused Ramesh had absconded and, therefore, the trial court proceeded with the trial of Dinesh and Surendra Singh.

7. So as to hold the accused appellants guilty, prosecution has examined eight witnesses, whereas one defence witness has also been examined. Statements of the accused-appellants were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. in which, they pleaded their innocence and false implication.

8. By the impugned judgment, the trial Judge has convicted and sentenced the accused-appellants as mentioned in paragraph no. 1 of this judgment. Hence this appeal.

9. Learned counsel for the appellants submits:

(i) that the FIR is ante-dated, inquest was prepared on 03.08.1984 and in the same, reference of seizure memo has been given whereas seizure was affected on 04.08.1984. Learned counsel submits that in the inquest, crime number and other details have not been mentioned, whereas as per requirement of law, the same ought to have been mentioned.

(ii) that Kamal Kant Tiwari (PW-1) had not even seen the accused persons fleeing from the spot, but with the help of police, he has put forth an absolute false case.

(iii) that Shiv Kant Tiwari (PW-2), a child witness, had not seen any occurrence nor he was present at the spot and it was only after tutoring him, he has been made as an eye-witness to the incident. Had this witness would have seen the occurrence, in the spot map, details of the place from where he saw the incident would have been shown.

(iv) that there is delay in recording 161 Cr.P.C. statement of Shiv Kant Tiwari (PW-2) and the said delay has not been explained by the prosecution. Even otherwise, PW-2 does not appear to be a competent witness.

(v) that motive assigned by the prosecution appears to be very weak and for such a small thing, nobody would commit a murder.

(vi) that as per prosecution case, Gauri Nath, Shyama Devi and Sudha had also seen the occurrence, but these witnesses have not been examined by the prosecution.

(vii) that there is inordinate delay in sending the copy of special report to the Magistrate.

10. On the other hand, supporting the impugned judgment, it has been argued by the State counsel:

(i) that there is no evidence on record to show that FIR is ante-timed. He submits that inquest started on 03.08.1984 at 09.30 pm and the same continued till 11.00 in the night and that could be the reason that in the recovery memo, next date i.e. 04.08.1984 has been mentioned. He points out that in the inquest, FIR number has been mentioned and the other details have also been shown therein and thus, it cannot be said that the FIR is ante-dated. It has been argued that even assuming that there is some clerical mistake in mentioning the time or date, it would not be fatal for the prosecution when there is other conclusive evidence available on record. He submits that police had gone to record 161 Cr.P.C. statement of the witnesses, but as the entire family was in a shock and was crying, the statement could not be recorded.

(ii) that Shiv Kant Tiwari (PW-2) appears to be a fully competent witness and from his statement, it is apparent that he is a mature boy and had not been tutored.

(iii) that Kamal Kant Tiwari (PW-1) appears to be another witness. He states that he saw the accused persons fleeing from the spot and had he been a planted witness, he would have become an eye witness to the incident.

(iv) that non-examination of Gauri Nath, Shyama Devi and Sudha would not be fatal for the prosecution, as it is the choice of the prosecution to examine its witnesses.

(v) that motive part has been duly proved by the prosecution wherein in the FIR itself, it has been stated that despite request of the deceased when appellant no. 1 Dines continued his illegal activities, he was warned, which was not liked by him, as a result of which Dinesh was having animosity with the deceased.

(vi) that Shiv Kant Tiwari (PW-2) has categorically stated that when his father was being killed, he hide himself near the bundle of wood and cow dung.

(vii) that FIR was registered at 07.45 pm and the inquest was prepared till late in the night and on the next morning, special report was sent to the Magistrate.

11. We have heard counsel for the parties and perused the record.

12. Kamal Kant Tiwari (PW-1), is a son of the deceased and the informant. He has stated that his father stood as surety for accused Dinesh in the earlier criminal case but even thereafter, appellant Dinesh continued to commit theft and dacoity. His father had asked appellant Dinesh that in such eventuality, he would get his bail cancelled and hearing this, appellant Dinesh was annoyed with his father. On the date of incident at about 4:00 pm, when his father was sitting at the door steps of one Gauri Nath along with Shiv Kant Tiwari (PW-2), he heard the cries when he was sitting in his house which is about 200-250 yards from the house of Gauri Nath. He along with Vimal Kant, Krishna Swaroop and several other persons immediately rushed to the house of Gauri Nath and then heard the sound of gunshot. Thereafter, he saw accused appellant Dinesh, Surendra Singh and Ramesh coming out from the house. He states that accused-appellants Dinesh and Surendra Singh @ Babua were having gun with them whereas Umesh and Ramesh were having country made pistols. In the house, he saw the dead body of his father having number of gunshot and axe injuries. He states that Shiv Kant Tiwari (PW-2) was found in the same room where dead body of the deceased was lying. He further states that thereafter, he lodged the FIR. He has clarified that as Radha, one of the witness has been married in the family of accused Dinesh, she is not willing to adduce her evidence. In the cross-examination, he has clarified that he had not seen any accused carrying axe. It is relevant to note that recovery of axe was made from the spot itself and this he has clarified in paragraph no. 10 of his cross-examination. In the cross-examination, this witness remained firm and has reiterated as to the manner in which the incident occurred. He has further stated that in a room where dead body was found there were bundles of wood and cow dung.

13. Shiv Kant Tiwari (PW-2) is a child witness and at the time of recording his evidence, he was 10 years of age. The trial court before recording his evidence, first recorded its satisfaction regarding competence of witness and then proceeded further. He has stated that four accused persons came in the house of Gauri Nath, where his father was sitting. They had some talk with his father regarding bail and then they threatened/scolded his father. His father took him inside the room and bolted the room from inside. The accused persons made an attempt to break open the door and after doing so, they entered the room and caused gunshot and axe injuries to his father. He has clarified that he hide himself near the wood and cow dung bundle and from there, he saw the entire incident. In the cross-examination, several questions were put to him but he answered all those questions in a best possible manner and has reiterated as to the manner in which his father was killed by the accused-appellants.

14. Chotey Lal Tiwari (PW-3), is a Head Moharrir, who recorded the FIR. Mirza Ishtiaq Beg (PW-4) is first Investigating Officer. He has categorically denied that till preparation of inquest, no FIR was registered. Madho Singh (PW-5) is a third Investigating Officer, who filed the charge-sheet against accused Dinesh and Ramesh (absconded accused). Ram Jiyawan (PW-6) took the dead body of the deceased for postmortem. Dr. Anil Bihari Lal Saxena (PW-7) is the doctor, who conducted post-mortem on the body of the deceased. Yogendra Singh (PW-8) is a second Investigating Officer, has duly supported the prosecution case.

15. Ram Gopal (DW-1) has not stated anything specific, which may be of any help to the defence.

16. Close scrutiny of evidence makes it clear that deceased stood as a surety for accused Dinesh and when he continued to indulge himself in the case of theft and dacoity, deceased asked him for withdrawing himself as his surety as a result of which, accused Dinesh was annoyed with him and on 03.08.1984, with the help of other co-accused persons, in the house of Gauri Nath, he committed his murder. Seeing the accused person, deceased entered the room of Gauri Nath along with his minor son Shiv Kant Tiwari (PW-2), but the accused persons broke open the door, gained entry in the room and committed murder of the deceased. Incident has been witnessed by Shiv Kant Tiwari (PW-2), a child witness, who remained very firm in the court, has reiterated as to the manner in which, he saw the incident. Hearing cries of the deceased, his another son Kamal Kant Tiwari (PW-1) rushed to the house of Gauri Nath and there he heard the sound of gunshot and soon thereafter, he saw accused persons carrying firearm with them and fleeing from the spot.

17. The case of the prosecution mainly rests on the testimony of Shiv Kant Tiwari (PW-2), who is a child witness, aged about 10 years, when his evidence was recorded. Before discussing the evidence of a child witness, it would be advantageous to refer to the law relating to child witness. Section 118 of the Evidence Act deals with the question of competency of person to testify. Under this Section, all persons are competent to testify, unless they are, in the opinion of the Court, (a) unable to understand the questions put to them, or (b) to give rational answers to those questions, owing to (i) tender years, (ii) extreme old age, (iii) disease of mind or body, or (iv) any other such cause. Even a lunatic, if he is capable of understanding the questions put to him and giving rational answers, is a competent witness. With respect to children, no precise age is fixed by law within which they are absolutely excluded from giving evidence on the presumption that they have not sufficient understanding. A child is not an incompetent witness by reason of its age. A child of tender age is not, by reason of its youth, as matter of law, disqualified as a witness. There is no precise age which determines the question of competency. According to Section 118 of the Evidence Act, a child of tender age is a competent witness, if it appears that it can understand the questions put to him and give rational answers thereto. This section vests in the Court's discretion to decide whether an infant is or is not disqualified to be a witness by reason of understanding or lack of understanding. When a young child is a witness, the first step for the Judge or Magistrate to take, is to satisfy himself that the child is a competent witness, within the meaning of Section 118 of the Evidence Act and for this purpose, preliminary inquiry should be held. It is the duty of the Court to ascertain in the best way, which it can, whether from the extent of his intellectual capacity and understanding the child witness is able to give a rational account of what he has seen, heard or done at a particular occasion or in other words, the witness understands the duty of speaking truth or not. Competency of young children can be ascertained by putting a few questions to them in order to find out whether they are intelligent enough to understand what they had seen and afterwards inform the court thereof. The holding of a preliminary inquiry is merely a rule of prudence and is not a legal obligation upon the Judge. It is desirable that after holding a preliminary inquiry, Judges and Magistrates maintain record incorporating opinion that the child understands the duty of speaking truth. Though no precise criteria for appraising the evidence of a child witness can be laid down, yet one broad test is whether there was possibility of any tutoring. If this test is found in positive, the Court will not, as a rule of prudence, convict the accused of a major offence on the basis of child evidence unless it is corroborated to material extent in material particulars, directly connecting the accused with the crime. At the same time, if otherwise the testimony of a child witness is not shown to be tainted with any such infirmities, it calls for due credence. A child in the innocent purity of its mind and unsophistication is more likely to come forth with version which is unbiased, unsoiled, natural and forthright. It is less prone to manipulation, motivation and spirit of vendetta. It can as well be spontaneous and inspiring, once the child is enabled to overcome the initial shock and awe, and ensured protection, security, compassion and given confidence to come out with what was seen. Further, some of the children are fairly intelligent, truthful and straight forward, and there is no reason to start with a presumption of untrustworthiness in the assessment of their evidence. The merit of evidence has to be judged on the touchstone of its own inherent intrinsic worth.

18. In the matter of Panchi V. State of UP, (1998) 7 SCC 177 the Hon'ble Supreme Court has held as under:-

".....It cannot be said that the evidence of a child witness would always stand irretrievably stigmatized. It is not the law that if a witness is a child, his evidence shall be rejected, even if it is found reliable. The law is that evidence of a child witness must be evaluated more carefully with greater circumspection because a child is susceptible to be swayed by what others tell him and thus a child witness is an easy prey to tutoring."

19. With regard to the testimony of child witness the Hon'ble Supreme Court in State of Karnataka v. Shantappa Madivalappa Galapuji & others reported in (2009) 12 SCC 731 had noticed the case law and held as under:

"The Indian Evidence Act, 1872 does not prescribe any particular age as a determinative factor to treat a witness to be a competent one. On the contrary, Section 118 of the Evidence Act envisages that all persons shall be competent to testify, unless the court considers that they are prevented from understanding the questions put to them or from giving rational answers to these questions, because of tender years, extreme old age, disease whether of mind, or any other cause of the same kind. A child of tender age can be allowed to testify if he has intellectual capacity to understand questions and give rational answers thereto. The evidence of a child witness is not required to be rejected per se, but the court as a rule of prudence considers such evidence with close scrutiny and only on being convinced about the quality thereof and reliability can record conviction, based thereon. {See Suryanarayana v. State of Karnataka (2001) 9 SCC

129)]. In Dattu Ramrao Sakhare v. State of Maharashtra [(1997) 5 SCC 341] it was held as follows: (SCC p. 343, para

"A child witness if found competent to depose to the facts and reliable one such evidence could be the basis of conviction. In other words even in the absence of oath the evidence of a child witness can be considered under Section 118 of the Evidence Act provided that such witness is able to understand the questions and able to give rational answers thereof. The evidence of a child witness and credibility thereof would depend upon the circumstances of each case. The only precaution which the court should bear in mind while assessing the evidence of a child witness is that the witness must be reliable one and his/her demeanour must be like any other competent witness and there is no likelihood of being tutored."

20. The position of law relating to the evidence of a child witness has been dealt with also by the Apex Court in Nivrutti Pandurang Kokate and others V. State of Maharashtra, 2008 (12) SCC 565 and Golla Yelugu Govindu v. State of Andhra Pradesh, (2008 (4) SCALE 569). In the case of State of U.P. vs. Krishna Master & Others, (2010) 47 OCR (SC) 263, the Hon'ble Apex Court also has gone a step ahead in observing that a child of tender age who has witnessed the gruesome murder of his parents is not likely to forget the incident for his whole life and would certainly recapitulate facts in his memory when asked about the same at any point of time notwithstanding the gap of about ten years between the incident and recording his evidence.

21. The legal position which can be culled out from the aforesaid decisions is that before recording conviction on the solitary testimony of a child witness, the court has to ensure that he is a reliable witness. If his testimony is found to be trustworthy and reliable then conviction can be recorded on his sole testimony.

22. Considering the above position of law, if we apply the above principles in the present case, it is apparent that at the time of recording the evidence of Shiv Kant Tiwari (PW-2), his age was about 10 years. Before recording his satisfaction in respect of competency of this witness, the trial judge has asked certain questions to him and after satisfying himself of the fact that the witness understands the duty to speak truth and is able to rationally answer the questions put to him, the court has examined him. In the court, he has literally given the vivid description of the entire incident and has stated as to the manner in which his father was done to death by the appellants. Number of questions, including tricky questions were put to him by the defence, but all those questions have been answered very sensibly and with responsibility by the witness.

Lengthy cross-examination of this witness by the defence has further strengthened the case of the prosecution, where it can be said that Shiv Kant Tiwari (PW-2) was a competent witness and in no manner, he can be called a tutored witness.

23. We find no substance in the argument of the defence that the FIR is ante-dated. There is no legally admissible evidence on record to substantiate this argument. The mere fact that the inquest was conducted on 03.08.1984 and the recovery has been affected on 04.08.1984 will not establish the point that the FIR is ante-dated. In the inquest, details of FIR, including crime number have been mentioned and the most important aspect of the case is that the inquest started at 9:30 pm on 03.08.1984 and continued till 11:00 pm in the night. If the recovery has been shown on 04.08.1984, no fault can be attributed to the prosecution. Assuming that there is some mistake in mentioning the date in these two documents, this itself would not be sufficient to prove that the FIR is ante-dated.

24. We further find no substance in the argument of the defence that Kamal Kant Tiwari (PW-1) and Shiv Kant Tiwari (PW-2) are not reliable witnesses. As stated above, both these witnesses have duly supported the prosecution case and PW-2, though a child witness, appears to be fully trustworthy and reliable. The statements of PW-1 and PW-2 further find support from the post-mortem report of the deceased.

25. There is some substance in the argument of the prosecution that had the prosecution wanted to put forth any fabricated evidence, they would have projected PW-1 as an eye witness to the incident, but PW-1 has merely stated that when he reached the place of occurrence, he saw the accused persons fleeing from the spot. Similarly, non examination of some of the witnesses, whose reference has been given in the FIR, is also not fatal for the prosecution because it is the quality of the evidence which is required to be seen and not the quantity. Law in this respect is very clear.

26. In the case of Namdeo vs State Of Maharashtra; (2007) 14 SCC 150, the Supreme Court has held as under:

"It is not seldom that a crime had been committed in the presence of only one witness, leaving aside those cases which are not of uncommon occurrence, where determination of guilt depends entirely on circumstantial evidence. If the Legislature were to insist upon plurality of witnesses, cases where the testimony of a single witness only could be available in proof of the crime, would go unpunished. It is here that the discretion of the presiding judge comes into play. The matter thus must depend upon the circumstances of each case and the quality of the evidence of the single witness whose testimony has to be either accepted or rejected. If such a testimony is found by the court to be entirely reliable, there is no legal impediment to the conviction of the accused person on such proof. Even as the guilt of an accused person may be proved by the testimony of a single witness, the innocence of an accused person may be established on the testimony of a single witness, even though a considerable number of witnesses may be forthcoming to testify to the truth of the case for the prosecution.

The Court also stated;

There is another danger in insisting on plurality of witnesses. Irrespective of the quality of the oral evidence of a single witness, if courts were to insist on plurality of witnesses in proof of any fact, they will be indirectly encouraging subornation of witnesses. Situations may arise and do arise where only a single person is available to give evidence in support of a disputed fact. The court naturally has to weigh carefully such a testimony and if it is satisfied that the evidence is reliable and free from all taints which tend to render oral testimony open to suspicion, it becomes its duty to act upon such testimony. The law reports contain many precedents where the court had to depend and act upon the testimony of a single witness in support of the prosecution. There are exceptions to this rule, for example, in cases of sexual offences or of the testimony of an approver; both these are cases in which the oral testimony is, by its very nature, suspect, being that of a participator in crime. But, where there are no such exceptional reasons operating, it becomes the duty of the court to convict, if it is satisfied that the testimony of a single witness is entirely reliable.

In the leading case of Shivaji Sahebrao Bobade v. State of Maharashtra, (1973) 2 SCC 793, this Court held that even where a case hangs on the evidence of a single eye witness it may be enough to sustain the conviction given sterling testimony of a competent, honest man although as a rule of prudence courts call for corroboration. "It is a platitude to say that witnesses have to be weighed and not counted since quality matters more than quantity in human affairs." In Anil Phukan v. State of Assam, (1993) 3 SCC 282 : JT 1993 (2) SC 290, the Court observed; "Indeed, conviction can be based on the testimony of a single eye witness and there is no rule of law or evidence which says to the contrary provided the sole witness passes the test of reliability. So long as the single eye-witness is a wholly reliable witness the courts have no difficulty in basing conviction on his testimony alone. However, where the single eye witness is not found to be a wholly reliable witness, in the sense that there are some circumstances which may show that he could have an interest in the prosecution, then the courts generally insist upon some independent corroboration of his testimony, in material particulars, before recording conviction. It is only when the courts find that the single eye witness is a wholly unreliable witness that his testimony is discarded in toto and no amount of corroboration can cure that defect." In Kartik Malhar v. State of Bihar*, (1996) 1 SCC 614 : JT 1995 (8) SC 425, referring to several cases, this Court stated; "On a conspectus of these decisions, it clearly comes out that there has been no departure from the principles laid down in Vadivelu Thevar case and, therefore, conviction can be recorded on the basis of the statement of a single eye witness provided his credibility is not shaken by any adverse circumstance appearing on the record against him and the court, at the same time, is convinced that he is a truthful witness. The court will not then insist on corroboration by any other eye witness particularly as the incident might have occurred at a time or place when there was no possibility of any other eye witness being present. Indeed, the courts insist on the quality, and, not on the quantity of evidence." In Chittar Lal v. State of Rajasthan, (2003) 6 SCC 397 : JT 2003 (7) SC 270, this Court had an occasion to consider a similar question. In that case, the sole testimony of a young boy of 15 years was relied upon for recording an order of conviction. Following Mohamed Sugal and reiterating the law laid down therein, this Court stated:"*

27. We further find no substance in the argument of the defence that motive has not been proved by the prosecution. From the evidence, it is clear that deceased had asked the appellant Dinesh to correct himself and when he did not, he made it clear to him that he would withdraw himself as surety. Hearing this, appellant Dinesh was annoyed with the deceased and he, with the help of other accused persons, committed his murder.

28. We further find no substance in the argument of the defence that there is any discrepancy in the spot map. These minor technicalities, if any, do not affect the prosecution case, as they do not go to the root of the matter.

29. After appreciation of the entire evidence, we are of the considered view that the trial court was fully justified in convicting the appellants. Judgement of the trial court deserves to be affirmed and the same is accordingly affirmed.

30. The appeal has no substance and the same is accordingly dismissed. Appellants are reported to be on bail, they be taken into custody forthwith to serve the remaining sentence.

31. This Court appreciates the assistance rendered by Sri Vishesh Kumar, learned Amicus. The State Government is directed to pay Rs. 10,000/- towards his remuneration.

1. This Appeal, under Section 374 (2) of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (In short hereinafter referred to as "Cr.P.C.'), has been filed by the convict-appellants, Arvind Parmar @ Bunty Raja, Rajan @ Rajendra, and Raheem Khan, against the judgment of conviction, dated 04.08.2018 and sentences awarded therein, by the Court of Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge (U.P. Dacoity Affected Area), Lalitpur, in Sessions Trial No. 25 of 2013 (State vs. Arvind Parmar @ Bunty Raja and others), arising out of Case Crime No. 1150 of 2012, under Sections 457, 380, 411, 413 of Indian Penal Code (Hereinafter in short referred to as "IPC'), Police Station-Kotwali Lalitpur, District Lalitpur, whereby convict-appellants, Arvind Parmar @ Bunty Raja, Rajan @ Rajendra and Raheem Khan, have been sentenced with seven years' rigorous imprisonment and fine of Rs.10,000/-, each, under Section 380 IPC, and twelve years' rigorous imprisonment, with fine of Rs.20,000/-, each, under Section 457 IPC and rigorous imprisonment of three years, with fine of Rs.5,000/-, each, under Section 411 of IPC. In case of default of deposit of fine of Rs.20,000/-, they will have to serve one year's additional simple imprisonment, in case of default of deposit of fine of Rs.10,000/-, they will have to serve six months' additional simple imprisonment and in case of default of deposit of fine of Rs.5,000/-, they will have to undergo three months additional simple imprisonment, with a further direction for concurrent running of sentences and adjustment of previous incarceration, if any, in this very case crime number, with this contention that the Trial court failed to appreciate facts and law placed before it and the judgment of conviction and sentence, awarded, therein, is illegal, perverse and against the weight of evidence on record. It was passed on the basis of surmises and conjectures.

2. The occurrence of theft had been said to have taken place in the night of 10.06.2012 and a first information report was lodged on 11.6.2012 as Case Crime No.1150 of 2012, under Sections 457, and 380 IPC, Police Station- Kotwali, Lalitpur, District Lalitpur. Subsequently, arrest of Arvind Parmar @ Bunty Raja, appellant no.1, Jeetu Parihar, Rajan, appellant no.2, and Naval Ahirwar, was shown to have been made by the Police on 14.8.2012, whereas Shivam Tiwari, Arvind Pal and Raheem Khan, appellant no.3, said to have fled from the spot. Recovery of golden ornaments and cash, was said to have been made from joint possession of arrested accused persons. Though the occurrence was said to have occurred on 10.06.2012, and first information report was lodged on 11.6.2012. PW-2, Sunit Kumar, had stated that the arrest of appellant nos. 1 and 2 was made on 14.8.2012 and alleged recovery was said to have been made from them, while appellant no.3 was said to be absconded, whereas it was a false recovery and false implication. Hence, this Criminal Appeal with above prayer.

3. Heard Sri Nanhe Lal Tripathi, learned counsel for the appellant and learned AGA, appearing for the State and gone through the impugned judgement as well as record of the Trial court.

4. From very perusal of the record, it is apparent that the First Information Report, Exhibit Ka-9, dated 11.06.2012, was got lodged by the informant, Akhilesh Kumar Sharma, at Police Station-Kotwali Lalitpur, District Lalitpur, with this contention that in the night of 10.06.2012, while, in connection with delivery of his wife, he was at District Hospital, Lalitpur, where, in the night at 12:20 PM, delivery of wife took place, whereafter the informant came to his home in the morning at 6:45 AM and found that the lock of main door and locker of the Almirah was broken and articles, such as, six bangles, weight about 4-5 Tola, one garland (Haar), weight about 37 gm, one Mangasutra weight 15 gm, two chains, weight about 70 gm, two pair ear rings (Jhumka), weight about 20 gm, six rings of male and five rings of ladies, weight about 30 gm, and one Bedi of 02 gm, all of gold, and 20 silver coins, ten pairs anklet, one Kardhan of silver, weight about 1.5 kg, one chain of Ventmen jewellery and Rs.2,70,000/-, cash, kept in the Almirah, were stolen by thieves. His house, at second and third storey, was under construction, which was being constructed by Masons Gangaram and Kalyan, who left the construction work in midway. Informant expressed his suspicion of theft, over them. He submitted written complaint, in his own handwriting, at Police Station Kotwali, Lalitpur, which has been registered. Case Crime No.1150 of 2012, under Sections 457 & 380 IPC was got registered, against Gangaram and Kalyan, on 11.06.2012.

5. On 14.8.2012, while SOG Incharge, Sumit Kumar Singh, alongwith his Police Team was on surveillance duty, informer gave information about presence of thieves, who have committed various thefts in the city, with stolen articles, near Cremation Ghat, Chandi Mata Temple. This was immediately communicated to Inspector, Incharge, Kotwali Lalitpur, District Lalitpur, Sri Uday Bhan Singh and was called to Varni Four-way Junction. A Police Team led by him, with the Inspector, proceeded for Chandi Mata Temple. On being pointed by the informer towards few persons, sitting thereat, Police Team apprehended four persons at 15.15 PM. On being asked to disclose identity, first one told his name Arvind Parmar @ Bunty Raja, Resident of Nai Basti, Police Station Kotwali, Behind Little Flower School, Lalitpur, from whose personal search, one Mangalsutra of yellow metal, appearing to be gold, with cash of Rs.10,000/-, was recovered, other one disclosed his identity as Rajan, Son of Govind Singh Bundela, Resident of Cremation Ghat, Nai Basti, Police Station Lalitpur, from whom golden chain of yellow metal, with cash of Rs.12,000/- was recovered, third one disclosed his name as Jitu Parihar, Son of Parmanand, Resident of Railway Crossing, Gandhinagar, Police Station Kotwali, Lalitpur, from whom, ear ring of gold of yellow metal was recovered, and fourth one disclosed his identity as Naval Ahirvar, Son of Har Naryan, Resident of Nehru Nagar, Infront of Masjid, Police Station Kotwali, District Lalitpur, from whom three rings of gold, Rs.32,000/-, in cash, and one Pendent of yellow metal was recovered whereas Shivam Tiwari, Arvind Pal, Banti Dhobi and Raheem managed to escape from the spot. Smt. Prem Lata Jain, Pramod Kumar, Akhilesh Kumar Sharma, Smt. Gita, Satendra Singh Parmar, Balram Pachauri, Niraj Nayak, Sanjay Tiwari and many others reached on the spot, who identified those apprehended persons to be residents of above locality. Upon being investigated, those apprehended persons confessed offence of theft committed by them and also confessed that Mangalsutra and one golden ring was stolen from the house of Smt. Prem Lata Jain, whereas one golden chain and Rs.2,000/-, in cash, were stolen from the house of Balram Pachauri, two golden rings, with cash of Rs.20,000/-, was stolen from the house of Akhilesh Sharma, two ear rings were stolen from the house of Sanjay Tiwari, Pendent of Mangalsutra was stolen from the house of Niraj Nayak, Rs.5,000/-, in cash, was stolen from the house of Bharat Patel, Rs.2,000/- was stolen from the house of Gita and Rs.5,000/-, in cash, was stolen from house of Pramod. Remaining stolen articles were taken away by Shubham Tiwari, Arvind Pal, Bunti Dhobi and Raheem. Alleged recovered stolen articles were identified by those public men, who were informants in various cases of theft, lodged by them, being Case Crime Nos.*1*150/2012, 1210/2012, 2420/2012, 1492/2012, 701/2012, 778/2012, 1613/2012, 1617/2012 and 1612/2012, under Sections 457, 380, 411 and 413 IPC. Apprehended persons were made known about commissions of offence by them under above Sections of IPC. It was presumed that those accused persons were habitual offenders of theft, hence they were taken into custody and recovery memo was got prepared on the basis of which this implication, under Sections 457, 380, 411 and 413 was made.

6. On the basis of investigation, chargesheet was filed and after hearing learned Public Prosecutor as well as learned counsel for defence. Charges for offence, punishable under Section 380, 457, 411 and 413 IPC were framed. Charges were readover and explained to the accused persons, who pleaded not guilty and requested for trial.

7. Prosecution examined PW-1, Akhilesh Kumar Sharma, informant, PW-2, Sunit Kumar, Sub Inspector, PW-3, Shamshad Ahmad, retired Sub Inspector, Investigating Officer and PW-4, H.C., Amar Singh, scribe of Chik.

8. Statement of accused persons were got recorded, under Section 313 Cr.P.C. in which prosecution version was denied and false investigation, with no confession, was said. No evidence in defence was led and after hearing arguments of learned Public Prosecutor and the counsel for defence, impugned judgment of conviction for offence, punishable under Sections 380, 457 and 411 IPC and judgment of acquittal, under Section 413 IPC was passed.

9. After hearing over quantum of sentence, impugned sentence was passed.

10. No appeal, by the State, against judgement of acquittal for offence, under Section 413 IPC, is there.

11. Written First Information Report, Exhibit Ka-1 (Paper No. 5Ka), was formally proved by PW-1, informant-Akhilesh Kumar Sharma, and it has been lodged against labours, working at his home, on the basis of suspicion, because this witness was not present at the place of occurrence, i.e., at the time of alleged occurrence of theft.

In examination-in-chief, this witness has said that in the night of 10.06.2012, while, in connection with delivery of his wife, he was at District Hospital, Lalitpur, where in the night at 12:20 PM, delivery of wife took place. On coming back to home next day, in the morning at 6:45 AM, he found that the lock of main door and locker of the Almirah was broken and articles, such as, six bangles, weight about 4-5 Tola, one garland (Haar), weight about 37 gm, one Mangasutra of 15 gm., two chains, weight about 70 gm, two pair ear rings (Jhumka), weight about 20 gm, six rings of male and five rings of female, weight about 30 gm, and one Bedi of 02 gm, all of gold, and 20 silver coins, ten pairs anklet, Kardhan (an ornament of waist) of silver, weight about 1.5 kg, one chain of Ventmen jewellery and Rs.2,70,000/-, in cash, kept in the Almirah, was taken away by the the thieves. Construction work at upper storeys of his house was being carried out. He expressed suspicion for occurrence of theft on labour, who were doing construction work in his house. Further on 14.8.2012, on coming to know that Police called him at Cremation Ghat where Police personnel and members of S.O.G. (Special Operation Group) were present, he went there. On reaching there, he found that, apart from Police Personnel, Premlata Jain, Balram Pachauri, Niraj Nayak, Satendra Parma and other persons, not known to him, were present. Four accused persons, namely, Naval Ahirwar, Jitu, Arvind and Rajan, who were apprehended by the Police, were sitting thereat. Accused, Naval, confessed to have stolen two rings and Rs.20,000/- in cash, from his house. Recovery memo was written and prepared, on the spot, at about 3.30 PM. Thenafter, he came back and not gone there again nor signed recovery memo. Lateron, what Police personnel written in recovery memo, he was not aware.

On the date when occurrence of theft was reported, at about 11 AM, a lady Police personnel came there and took specimen of finger prints of door and locker of the Almirah. Bundle of sealed articles were produced before the court and upon opening of said Bundle, four small Bundles were found. Upon one Bundle, Crime Number 1150/12 was written. On being opened, out of this bundle, three rings, one Pendle of yellow metal, 28 currency notes of Rs.500/- and 18 currency notes of Rs.1,000/-, total amount of Rs.32,000/- were recovered. Witness identified two small rings, being stolen from his house. He said that total Rs.2,70,000/-, in cash, were stolen from his home, which were in denomination of Rs.500/- currency notes and Rs.1,000/- currency notes, which were recovered from possession of accused-Naval, and have been identified by him. Rings have been exhibited as Exhibit 1 & 2, currency note of Rs.5,00/- has been exhibited as Exhibit 3 and currency note of Rs.1000/-, has been exhibited as Exhibit-4.

On being cross-examined, this witness has stated that he did not see anyone committing theft. In the first information, he did not mention that how many currency notes were of Rs.1000/- denomination and how many were of Rs.5,00/-, however, it was told to the Sub Inspector that currency notes were of which denomination. If it was not written in the report, he could not disclose reason. Receipt of stolen articles were with him, but this fact was not written by him in the report. He could not tell the boundary of the place where recovery was made and did not sign the recovery memo. Currency notes appear to be same, which are available with everyone. It was wrong to say that it was a false recovery and by showing false recovery, accused persons were arrested. In the testimony, this witness has stated that he never identified recovered articles in the court nor identified accused persons. His statement was recorded by the Sub Inspector on the day of theft of occurrence. His statement could not be recorded in the court. He read recovery memo and his statement in the court itself.

Meaning thereby, informant neither has seen anyone, while committing theft in hishouse nor was there at the time when locks of his house were broken nor any accused was produced before him for identification. Neither any recovery was made before this witness nor any specific mark of identification/denomination of alleged recovered article/currency notes was there nor any recovery memo was signed by him nor the same were produced before the court during trial nor this witness was previously acquainted with accused persons. Thus, this witness does not support prosecution case at all and prosecution failed to prove case set up by it, so far as testimony of this witness is concerned.

12. PW-2, Sub Inspector, Sunit Kumar, in his testimony, has stated that on 14.8.2012, he, alongwith other Police personnel apprehended four persons at Cremation Ghat, Gandhi Nagar, Nai Basti, Lalitpur, on the information received from informer. They disclosed their names as Arvind @ Bunty, Rajan, Jitu Parihar and Naval. From their possession ornaments of gold and silver as well as cash was recovered. They confessed to have been involved in various occurrence of theft in the district of Lalitpur. Many persons, including Akhilesh Sharma, informant, reached on the spot. Akhilesh Kumar Sharma said about theft of Mangalsutra, Gold Bangles, ring, Bedi, 20 coins of silver, ten pairs anklet of silver, one chain of Vintex and Rs.2,70,000/- in cash. Out of stolen articles, two rings of gold and Rs.20,000/- were recovered. He got the recovery memo prepared on the spot, which bore his signature. The original memo was enclosed in S.T. No. 53/13 and from that file a photo copy of the same was got prepared, which had been placed on the record of this file. It was exhibited as Exhibit Ka-2.

On being cross-examined, this witness has stated that accused-persons have not been named in any F.I.R. There was no eye-witness account of the incident. No identification proceedings of recovered articles had been conducted. He did not remember whether copy of the recovery memo had been provided to the accused persons or not. It was also not known to him as to who made call to the complainants to come to the spot. The recovered articles were not produced before him. It is wrong to state that the accused persons had been falsely implicated after arresting them from their homes and showing false recovery.

Accused persons were not named in the first information report nor any identification parade was conducted in accordance with law nor identification proceeding of recovered articles was got conducted nor copy of the recovery was given to the accused persons nor there was any eye witness account of the occurrence of theft. Meaning thereby, it was a cooked-up and concocted story set up by the Police and as such testimony of this witness neither supports version of the prosecution in any way nor is of any relevance to the case set up by the prosecution.

13. PW-3, Shamshad Ahmad, retired Sub-inspector, in his testimony has stated that on 2.11.2006, while having been posted as Sub-inspector at P.S. Kotwali, Lalitpur, he has been entrusted with investigation of the Case Crime no. 1150/12, U/s 457, 380, 411 I.P.C. against unknown accused persons. After receiving copy of the report, Chik F.I.R., he got recorded statement of the scribe and that of the complainant, namely, Akhilesh Kumar, thenafter, inspected the place of incident, the house of the complainant, wherein occurrence of theft said to have taken place and prepared the site-plan on the spot, which was paper no. 12ka/5, in his handwriting and signature. It was marked as Exhibit Ka-3.

On 14.8.2012, while, he, along with S.H.O. Uday Bhan Singh, was engaged in search of the wanted criminals in the area, they were called by the S.O.G. In-charge Sumit Kumar at Varni Chauraha, and after being told the purpose, reached at the temple of Chandi Mata and parked the official Jeep and reached Cremation Ghat, where, upon pointing of the informer, found accused persons sitting thereat. Thereupon, the Police Team apprehended persons threat, along with articles. Site-plan, paper no. 12ka/4, of the place, where the accused persons had been apprehended, was got prepared, whiche was in his handwriting and under his signature. It was Exhibit Ex.Ka-4. He had entered the copy of recovery of the articles in the C.D. and recorded the statements of accused persons namely Nawal Kishore, Bunty, Jeetu Parihar. On 18.8.2012, having received the copy of the report of the arrested accused persons- Arvind Pal and Raju Soni, they were taken into custody in connection with case and thereafter after making entry in respect thereof statements of accused Raju Soni and Arvind Pal, were recorded. On 20.8.2012, statement of Const. Sumit Kumar, Const. Ranveer, Const. Arun Kumar, Const. Omveer, SHO Uday Bhan Singh, SI Subhash Yadav, Const. Raghvendra Singh, Const. Sumit Kumar, Const. Imran were recorded and site plan paper no-12Ka/4, Exhibitt Ka-4, of the place, where the accused have been stated to be arrested, was also got prepared. On 03.9.12, report with regard to arrest of accused Raheem was received and an entry to that effect has been made in the Case Diary, and he has been taken into police custody. On 18.9.12, the statement of the accused Banti @ Vinod has been recorded after being arrested. Thereafter papers with regard to statement of witnesses and the arrest memo were prepared. Statement of Uday Bhan Singh and other police personnel accompanying him, SI Subhash Chandra Yadav, Const. Bahadur Singh, SI Varun Pratap Singh, Const. Aditya Kumar and Saroj Kumar were recorded. He also inspected place of occurrence and prepared site plan, bearing his signature, Exhibit Ka-5. On being pointed by the SHO Uday Bhan Singh, inspected the gate no-2 of the District Hospital. On 17.9.12, inspected the place of occurrence on being pointed out by Uday Bhan Singh and prepared the site plan of the spot, which was in his handwriting and under his signature. Same was paper no-7Ka and was exhibited as Exhibit Ka7. Thenafter, recorded statement of Neeraj Nai and Rajesh Sharma. On 20.9.12, on the basis of all the evidences, filed the charge sheet, marked as Exhibit Ka-8, which was in his handwriting and under his signature.

In his cross-examination, this witness has stated that he did not arrest the accused Raju @ Rajendra Soni, nor did recover any booty from him. He found the accused in custody in the police station. He made entries in the Case Diary. After having recorded his statement in the police station, filed the charge sheet against him in this crime number. No case property was produced before him. However, he denied of having filed a false chargesheet against accused Raju @ Rajendra Soni.

On being cross-examined, further, this witness, has stated that no FIR was lodged against the above accused persons, nor has anyone stated in first information report having seen any one, committing occurrence of theft, nor was there any mark of identification of any accused person nor there was any eye witness account of occurrence. Any specific mark of identification of stolen article was also not mentioned in the report. Neither identification parade of the accused-persons nor of articles was conducted. While mentioning fact of calling the complainant on the spot, name of the police personnel, who called him, was not mentioned. Recovered articles, which were shown to have been recovered, are usually available in every family and are also available in the market. Entries made in the G.D. by him on 02.11.2006 were not before him nor he remember what was the number of that G.D. Whose statements were recorded by him at what time in the C.D. is not under his remembrance.

In the testimony of this witness, who has Investigated this case crime number, there appears to be material contradiction. In his testimony, this witness has stated that neither the accused persons were arrested by him nor there was any identification of the accused persons nor of recovered articles. In the first information report, there was suspicion on the labours, who were working in the house of the complainant, whereas appellants, herein, were made accused persons. Neither accused persons were named in the first information report nor there was any eye witness account of occurrence of theft, which took place in the house of the complainant. Meaning thereby, testimony of this witness could not have been relied upon by the trial court, because of having contradiction. Thus, testimony of this witness appears to be shaky and is not worth credit, thereby, does not support prosecution case in any way.

14. P.W.-4, HC. 26, Amar Singh, in his testimony, has stated that while he was posted as Head Moharrir at Lalitpur Kotwali on 11.6.2012, complainant Akhlesh Kumar Sharma had given an application, about this incident, on which he had lodged case crime no. 1150/2012 u/s 459, 380 IPC vs Ganga Ram and others. Chik FIR was in his handwriting, under his signature, which was marked as Exhibit Ka-9.

In his cross-examination, he stated that he did not register any case against Shivam that day nor did he remember the name of the Kotwal who was there. Other than the complainant, no one else had accompanied him to the police station. In written complaint, which was given for registration of first information report, name of any accused person was not mentioned nor there was any eye witness account of occurrence nor there was any mark of identification of accused. Who wrote complaint was not known to him. In the testimony, this witness has formally proved registration of first information report wherein name of accused persons was not mentioned nor any specific mark of identification of accused persons or of stolen articles was there nor there was any eye witness account of the occurrence. Meaning thereby, testimony of this witness is of formal nature and is of not much relevance to the prosecution.

15. After careful scrutiny of testimonies of the witnesses produced by the prosecution, it is clear that testimonies of witnesses produced by the prosecution, is with full of variance with material contradictions. Moreso, even single iota regarding offence, punishable under Section 380 IPC or 457 IPC is there, on record, against present convict appellants, except their alleged confessions, that too, when they were apprehended by the Police, which was not admissible in evidence. If entire prosecution case is admitted for the sake of argument, it may be said that those accused persons were apprehended with possession of those recovered articles, but there is neither any specific mark of identification nor there is any corresponding evidence for connecting with above offence of theft was there on record nor any independent public witness account was there and as such in absence of any such evidence, prosecution miserably failed to prove its case.

16. Meaning thereby, neither identity of recovered article was established nor produced before the court nor alleged recovered article was connected with above occurrence of theft nor it was put under identification proceeding. Hence, the very essential requirement of theft, taking of articles in above theft, with dishonest intention, and possession of the same could not be proved by the prosecution beyond doubt. But, learned Trial Judge has passed the judgment of conviction and sentence, as above, literally, when no cogent evidence was there.

17. Section 457 of Indian Penal Code (IPC) provides that "whoever commits lurking house-trespass by night, or house breaking by night, in order to committing of any offence punishable with imprisonment, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to five years, and shall also be liable to fine, and, if the offence intended to be committed is theft, the term of the imprisonment may be extended to fourteen years'.

18. In present case, learned Trial Judge has convicted appellants for this offence with sentence, whereas no evidence of lurking house-trespass by night or house breaking by night is there. Theft stands defined in Section 378 IPC. To complete offence, under Section 457 IPC, the ingredient is that burglar, or house breaker by night, should have an intention to commit theft. Theft or an intention to commit theft does actually carry out his intention to commit theft. Theft or an intention to commit theft is in no way a necessary essential ingredient in either of the offences. It frequently happens that lurking house-trespass or house-breaking by night is followed by theft, but the offence can be committed without theft or any intention to commit it. For conviction, under Section 457 IPC, the accused must be proved to have committed lurking house-trespass or house breaking. A charge, under Section 457 IPC must be substantiated by evidence and cannot be assumed from nothing. If a person is charged of house breaking and theft and the commission of theft is established, it would not follow that commission of other offence of house-breaking has also been established. When evidence does not justify a finding that the accused, who entered inside the house, had same intention to commit an offence, it is not trespass. So, then Section 457 IPC goes out of the way.

19. Allahabad High Court in 41 Cr.L.J, 623 (Allahabad), Chhadami v. Emperor, has propounded that in order to constitute lurking house-trespass, the offender must take some active means to conceal his presence. Regarding presumption under illustration (a) to Section 114, Evidence Act, may also attract a graver offence, like one, under 457 IPC, where the accused is found in possession of articles stolen and obtained by house-breaking, it cannot be inferred that he has committed an offence of house-breaking and theft. Presumption, under Section 114, Evidence Act, can be drawn only when the accused, when asked, is unable to explain his possession.

20. In present case, no evidence of house breaking by night or lurking house-trespass by appellants was there, except alleged recovery of cash and one gold ornament, but the same was not established by specific mark of identification or by denomination of currency notes recovered, which were alleged to have been stolen from the house of the informant to co-relate with the property alleged to have been stolen from above breaking locks of house and locker of the Almirah or recovery of cash from convict-appellants.

21. Section 411 IPC provides that whoever dishonestly receives or retains any stolen property, knowing or having reason to believe the same to be stolen property, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to three years, or with fine, or with both.

22. Apex Court in AIR 1954 SC 39, Trimbak vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, has propounded ingredients of offence, under Section 411 IPC, i.e., ingredients, which prosecution has to establish: (1) that the stolen property was in possession of the accused, (2) that some person other than accused had possession of the property before the accused got possession of it and (3) that the accused had knowledge that the property was stolen property.

23. In present case, neither property was duly identified by any specific mark of identification nor it was established before Trial court by way of producing the same nor its identity was established in identification parade nor the same was recovered in presence of informant, who had disputed alleged preparation of recovery memo nor any independent public witness was there.

24. Under Section 380 IPC, essential ingredient for offence, punishable under Section 380 IPC, is that accused committed theft, i.e., theft was committed in any building, tent or vessel and that such building, tent or vessel was used as human dwelling or was used for custody of the property. Hence, prosecution has to prove points required for proving of an offence, under Section 379 IPC plus that the moveable property was taken away or moved out of a building, tent or vessel and that such building, tent or vessel was being used for human dwelling or custody of moveable property. Intention to take this dishonestly must be proved.

25. In present case, offence of theft was got registered by informant against unknown thieves. Subsequently, alleged recovery of alleged stolen cash money was said to have been made from convict-appellants. Offence of theft or taking of articles from building, by convict appellants, was not proved by any witness and on the basis of possession and presumption, under Section 114, Evidence Act, offence under Section 380 IPC was deemed to be proved whereas identification of alleged recovered cash, with no specific mark of identification, was neither established, by way of identification parade, or by way of proving it before Trial court.

26. Hence, learned Trial court failed to appreciate facts and law placed before it and thereby passed judgment of conviction and sentences therein, against evidence on record.

27. In view of what has been discussed above, this Criminal Appeal deserves to be allowed.

28. Accordingly, this Criminal Appeal succeeds and is allowed. The impugned judgment and order of conviction dated 04.08.2018, passed by the Trial Court, is hereby set aside and the appellants are acquitted of all the charges. The appellants are in jail. They shall be released forthwith, if not wanted in any other case.

29. Keeping in view the provisions of section 437-A Cr.P.C. appellants are directed to forthwith furnish a personal bond and two reliable sureties, each, in the like amount, to the satisfaction of Trial court before it, which shall be effective for a period of six months, along with an undertaking that in the event of filing of Special Leave Petition against the instant judgment or for grant of leave, the appellants, on receipt of notice thereof, shall appear before the Hon'ble Supreme Court.

30. Let a copy of this judgment along with lower court's record be sent back to the court concerned for immediate compliance.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ram Krishna Gautam, J.)

1. This Appeal, under Section 374 (2) of Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (In short hereinafter referred to as "Cr.P.C."), has been filed by the convict-appellants, Arvind Parmar @ Bunty Raja, Rajan @ Rajendra, and Raheem Khan, against the judgment of conviction, dated 30.07.2018 and sentences awarded therein, by the Court of Additional Sessions Judge/Special Judge (U.P. Dacoity Affected Area), Lalitpur, in Sessions Trial No. 53 of 2013 (State vs. Arvind Parmar @ Bunty Raja and others), arising out of Case Crime No. 1612 of 2012, under Sections 457, 380, 411, 413 of Indian Penal Code (Hereinafter in short referred to as "IPC'), Police Station-Kotwali Lalitpur, District Lalitpur, whereby convict-appellants, Arvind Parmar @ Bunty Raja, Rajan @ Rajendra and Raheem Khan, have been sentenced with seven years' rigorous imprisonment and fine of Rs.10,000/-, each, under Section 380 IPC, twelve years' rigorous imprisonment, with fine of Rs.20,000/-, each, under Section 457 IPC, and rigorous imprisonment of three years, with fine of Rs.5,000/-, each, under Section 411 of IPC. In case of default of deposit of fine of Rs.20,000/-, they will have to serve one year's additional simple imprisonment, in case of default of deposit of fine of Rs.10,000/-, they will have to serve six months' additional simple imprisonment and in case of default of deposit of fine of Rs.5,000/-, they will have to undergo three months additional simple imprisonment, with a further direction for concurrent running of sentences and adjustment of previous incarceration, if any, in this very case crime number, with this contention that the Trial court failed to appreciate facts and law placed before it and the judgment of conviction and sentence, awarded, therein, is illegal, perverse and against the weight of evidence on record. It was passed on the basis of surmises and conjectures.

2. The occurrence of theft had been said to have taken place in the night of 10.08.2012 and a first information report was lodged on 12.8.2012, as Case Crime No.1612 of 2012, under Sections 457 and 380 IPC, Police Station- Kotwali, Lalitpur, District Lalitpur. Subsequently, arrest of Arvind Parmar @ Bunty Raja, appellant no.1, Jeetu Parihar, Rajan, appellant no.2, and Naval Ahirwar, was shown to have been made by the Police on 14.8.2012, whereas Shivam Tiwari, Arvind Pal and Raheem Khan, appellant no.3, said to have fled from the spot. Recovery of golden ornaments and cash, was said to have been made from joint possession of arrested accused persons. Though the occurrence was said to have occurred on 10.08.2012, but first information report was lodged on 12.8.2012. PW-2, S.I. Man Singh, had stated that the arrest of appellant nos. 1 and 2 was made on 14.8.2012 and alleged recovery was said to have been made from them, while appellant no.3 was said to be absconded, whereas, it was a false recovery and false implication. Hence, this Criminal Appeal with above prayer.

3. Heard Sri Nanhe Lal Tripathi, learned counsel for the appellant and learned AGA, appearing for the State and gone through the impugned judgement as well as record of the Trial court.

4. From very perusal of the record, it is apparent that the First Information Report, Exhibit Ka-1, dated 12.08.2012, was got lodged by the informant, Kalyan, at Police Station-Kotwali Lalitpur, District Lalitpur, with this contention that while, on 10.8.2012, he was away from his home, in connection with some urgent work, keeping his house lock, in the night, occurrence of theft, by unknown thieves, took place, by breaking lock and anklet of silver, weight 500 gm, Kardhna of silver (an ornament of waist for woman), weight 500 gm, and Rs.5,000/-, in cash, were stolen, and other household goods were scattered here and there.

5. On 14.8.2012, while SOG Incharge, Sumit Kumar Singh, alongwith his Police Team, was on surveillance duty, informer gave information about presence of thieves, who have committed various thefts in the city, with stolen articles, near Cremation Ghat, Chandi Mata Temple. This was immediately communicated to Inspector, Incharge, Kotwali Lalitpur, District Lalitpur, Sri Uday Bhan Singh and was called to Varni Four-way Junction. A Police Team led by him, with the Inspector, proceeded for Chandi Mata Temple. On being pointed by the informer towards few persons, sitting thereat, Police Team apprehended four persons at 15.15 PM. On being asked to disclose identity, first one told his name Arvind Parmar @ Bunty Raja, Resident of Nai Basti, Police Station Kotwali, Behind Little Flower School, Lalitpur, from whose personal search, one Mangalsutra of yellow metal, appearing to be gold, with cash of Rs.10,000/-, was recovered, other one disclosed his identity as Rajan, Son of Govind Singh Bundela, Resident of Cremation Ghat, Nai Basti, Police Station Lalitpur, from whom golden chain of yellow metal, with cash of Rs.12,000/- was recovered, third one disclosed his name as Jitu Parihar, Son of Parmanand, Resident of Railway Crossing, Gandhinagar, Police Station Kotwali, Lalitpur, from whom, ear ring of gold of yellow metal was recovered, and fourth one disclosed his identity as Naval Ahirvar, Son of Har Naryan, Resident of Nehru Nagar, Infront of Masjid, Police Station Kotwali, District Lalitpur, from whom, three rings of gold, Rs.32,000/-, in cash, and one Pendent of yellow metal was recovered whereas Shivam Tiwari, Arvind Pal, Banti Dhobi and Raheem managed to escape from the spot. Smt. Prem Lata Jain, Pramod Kumar, Akhilesh Kumar Sharma, Smt. Gita, Satendra Singh Parmar, Balram Pachauri, Niraj Nayak, Sanjay Tiwari and many others reached on the spot, who identified those apprehended persons to be residents of above locality. Upon being investigated, those apprehended persons confessed offence of theft committed by them and also confessed that Mangalsutra and one golden ring was stolen from the house of Smt. Prem Lata Jain, whereas one golden chain and Rs.2,000/-, in cash, were stolen from the house of Balram Pachauri, two golden rings, with cash of Rs.20,000/-, was stolen from the house of Akhilesh Sharma, two ear rings were stolen from the house of Sanjay Tiwari, Pendent of Mangalsutra was stolen from the house of Niraj Nayak, Rs.5,000/-, in cash, was stolen from the house of Bharat Patel, Rs.2,000/- was stolen from the house of Gita and Rs.5,000/-, in cash, was stolen from house of Pramod. Remaining stolen articles were taken away by Shubham Tiwari, Arvind Pal, Bunti Dhobi and Raheem. Alleged recovered stolen articles were identified by those public men, who were informants in various cases of theft, lodged by them, being Case Crime Nos.1150/2012, 1210/2012, 2420/2012, 1492/2012, 701/2012, 778/2012, 1613/2012, 1617/2012 and 1612/2012, under Sections 457, 380, 411 and 413 IPC. Apprehended persons were made known about commissions of offence by them under above Sections of IPC. It was presumed that those accused persons were habitual offenders of theft, hence they were taken into custody and recovery memo was got prepared on the basis of which this implication, under Sections 457, 380, 411 and 413 was made.

6. On the basis of investigation, chargesheet was filed and after hearing learned Public Prosecutor as well as learned counsel for defence. Charges for offence, punishable under Section 380, 457, 411 and 413 IPC were framed. Charges were readover and explained to the accused persons, who pleaded not guilty and requested for trial.

7. Prosecution examined PW-1, Constable 99 Sushil Kumar, PW-2, S.I. Man Singh Pal, PW-3, S.I. Sunit Kumar Singh, PW-4, Kalyan and PW-5, S.H.O., Retired, Uday Bhan Singh.

8. Statement of accused persons were got recorded, under Section 313 Cr.P.C. in which prosecution version was denied and false investigation, with no confession, was said. No evidence in defence was led and after hearing arguments of learned Public Prosecutor and the counsel for defence, impugned judgment of conviction for offence, punishable under Sections 380, 457 and 411 IPC and judgment of acquittal, under Section 413 IPC was passed.

9. After hearing over quantum of sentence, impugned sentence was passed.

10. No appeal, by the State, against judgement of acquittal for offence, under Section 413 IPC, is there.

11. PW-1 is Constable 99 Susheel Kumar, who, in his testimony, has formally proved registration of first information report, received by Post, which was in respect of lodging of report for occurrence of theft, on the basis of which, he got a first information report, being Chik No. 284/12, Case Crime No.1612/2, under Sections 457 and 380 of IPC, against unknown thieves, registered, which was Exhibit No. Ka-1, in his handwriting and under his signature.

Since first information report was against unknown accused persons, cross-examination was not done.

12. PW-2 is S.I. Man Singh Pal, who, in his testimony, has stated that some unknown persons on 10.08.2012, having broken the lock of the house of Kalyan s/o Gorelal, r/o 464 Civil Lines, Laltipur, committed theft of cash, jewellery, ornaments etc. An FIR in this connection was lodged at the police station on 12.08.2012, the investigation of which was done by him. On 14.08.2012, SOG In-charge Suneet Kumar and his police team arrested the accused persons Arvinda Parmar @ Bunty Raja, Rajan S/o Govind Singh, Jeetu Parihar s/o Parmanand, Nawal s/o Har Narain, R/o Lalitpur from whom the articles related to crime in the case crime nos. 1150/2012, 1210/2012, 1420/2012, 1492/2012, 701/2012, 778/2012, 1613/2012, 1617/2012, 1612/2012 u/s 457, 380 IPC were recovered, and upon interrogation name of other accused persons came into the light. On 27.08.2012, SO Udaibhan Singh, accompanied by the present witness, Subhash Chandra Yadav, SI Varun Pratap Singh and constable Bahadur Singh, on reaching, Nehru Nagar, while on surveillance duty for locating the whereabouts of wanted, got an information that the accused person Shivam Tiwari, wanted in the aforesaid case, is standing at the Bal Sudhar Grih Road. On the aforesaid information, the police personnel reached there where the accused person after seeing the police personnel tried to flee from the spot, but Police managed to apprehend the accused person Shivam Tiwari at 9:30 hours. While he was being searched, Rs. 5000/-, related to occurrence of theft, committed in the house of informant, a gold ring weighing around 1.5 gm, related to the case crime no. 1492/2012, and a silver silver box (Dibiya), in connection with case crime no. 1420/2012, were recovered. The accused person, on being investigated, confessed that he and his accomplices, Arvinda Parmar @ Bunty s/o Devendra Singh, Rajan s/o Govind Singh Bundel, Jeetu Parihar s/o Parmanand, Nawal Ahirwar s/o Harnarain, Arvinda Pal s/o Ram Sewak, Bunty Dhobi, Rahim s/o Sagir, had committed theft in the house of Kalyan, s/o Gorelal, in the night of 10.08.2012. From the aforesaid theft, he had got Rs. 5000/- as his share, which was recovered from him.

On getting the information of arrest and recovery of related articles, present complainant of the case Kalyan s/o Gorelal, Niraj Nayak s/o Shaligram Nayak and Sanjay Tiwari s/o Sukhdev Tiwari reached on the spot, who stated about the thefts committed in their houses, and identified jewellery and said that that the recovered items had been stolen from their houses. Recovery memo was got scribed on the spot by S.I. Varun Pratap Singh on the dictation of the S.O. Recovered items were separately sealed casewise. Sample seal was prepared on which this witness as well as complainant put their signatures. Accused also signed the memo. A copy of memo was given to the accused. Recovery memo, so prepared, was Exhibit Ka-3 (Paper nos. 8ka/1 to 8ka/2).

On 13.8.2012, investigation of the offences related to crime no 1612/12 was started by this witness, under sections 457, 380 IPC. On 2.9.2012, S.O Udaibhan Singh, alongwith present witness, Man Singh Pal, S.I. Subhash Chandra Yadav and Constable Bahadur Singh left police station in search of some lead and while taking round via Nai Basti, Railway Station, came to Sadan Sah four-way Junction, on the information of the informer, arrested, accused Raheem Khan (appellant no.3) from Gate No. 2 of District Hospital at 15.00 hours, on whose personal search, one ring of yellow metal of gold, weight about one gram and one pair anklet of silver, weight about 150 gram, was recovered from his possession. On being investigated, accused person confessed to have committed theft in the house of Balram Pachauri in the night of 14.6.2012 and this ring was given to him as his share, likewise, in the night of 31.7.2012, he confessed to have committed theft in the house of Niraj Nayak and got anklet as his share, which has been recovered from him. Arvind, Naval, Jeetu, Batti and Arvind Pal were also with him in commission of theft, recovery of which has been made from him. They committed various other thefts in the city. Upon hearing information regarding recovery, complainants had come to the spot, who after seeing the recovered items, identified them to be theirs, which had been stolen. Recovered items were sealed in separate clothes. Sample seal was prepared. The recovery memo was got scribed by him on dictation of the S.O. Police personnel and other witnesses put their signature on the recovery memo after reading the contents. A copy of memo was given to accused on the spot and his signature was obtained.

In cross-examination, this witness has said none of the complainants have mentioned any mark of identification of stolen articles nor receipt in respect thereof was given. He also did not get it verified from any jeweller whether this article is pure metal or duplicate. Though arrest of Raheem Khan was made from the gate of District Hospital, which was a crowded placed, but no independent public witness was made because none was ready to become a witness of arrest or recovery, so made. He also did not note name and address of the witnesses and, therefore, was not able to even tell the name of witness. On the spot, though he stayed for about one and an half hour and prepared recovery memo, but was not able to tell the boundary of the spot. Though a copy of the recovery memo was given to the accused persons, after getting it signed by the accused, but at the time of police custody, recovery memo was not with the accused, though it was not thrown before him. Neither there was any specific mark of identification of the stolen articles was mentioned in the report nor any mark of identification of accused person was there. Though at the time of recovery of articles, informant did identify recovered articles, but there was no mention of this fact in the statement recorded in the case diary. No receipt of recovered articles was with the informant nor was there any paper pertaining to his claim over recovered articles. Such articles are usually used in each house.

Meaning thereby, testimony of this witness is full of variance and is having material contradiction, which is not trustworthy at all and prosecution miserably failed to prove its case.

13. PW-3, Sub Inspector, Sunit Kumar Singh, is witness of arrest of accused and recovery of stolen articles. He, in his testimony has stated that while he, alongwith his Police Team, was on surveillance duty, informer gave information about presence of thieves, who have committed various thefts in the city, with stolen articles, near Cremation Ghat, Chandi Mata Temple. This was immediately communicated to Inspector, Incharge, Kotwali Lalitpur, District Lalitpur, Sri Uday Bhan Singh and was called to Varni Four-way Junction. A Police Team led by him, with the Inspector, proceeded for Chandi Mata Temple. On being pointed by the informer towards few persons, sitting thereat, Police Team apprehended four persons at 15.15 PM. On being asked to disclose identity, first one told his name Arvind Parmar @ Bunty Raja, Resident of Nai Basti, Police Station Kotwali, Behind Little Flower School, Lalitpur, from whose personal search, one Mangalsutra of yellow metal, appearing to be gold, with cash of Rs.10,000/-, was recovered, other one disclosed his identity as Rajan, Son of Govind Singh Bundela, Resident of Cremation Ghat, Nai Basti, Police Station Lalitpur, from whom golden chain of yellow metal, with cash of Rs.12,000/- was recovered, third one disclosed his name as Jitu Parihar, Son of Parmanand, Resident of Railway Crossing, Gandhinagar, Police Station Kotwali, Lalitpur, from whom, ear ring of gold of yellow metal was recovered, and fourth one disclosed his identity as Naval Ahirvar, Son of Har Naryan, Resident of Nehru Nagar, Infront of Masjid, Police Station Kotwali, District Lalitpur, from whom three rings of gold, Rs.32,000/-, in cash, and one Pendent of yellow metal was recovered whereas Shivam Tiwari, Arvind Pal, Banti Dhobi and Raheem managed to escape from the spot. Smt. Prem Lata Jain, Pramod Kumar, Akhilesh Kumar Sharma, Smt. Gita, Satendra Singh Parmar, Balram Pachauri, Niraj Nayak, Sanjay Tiwari and many others reached on the spot, who identified those apprehended persons to be residents of above locality. Upon being investigated, those apprehended persons confessed offence of theft committed by them and also confessed that Mangalsutra and one golden ring was stolen from the house of Smt. Prem Lata Jain, whereas one golden chain and Rs.2,000/-, in cash, were stolen from the house of Balram Pachauri, two golden rings, with cash of Rs.20,000/-, was stolen from the house of Akhilesh Sharma, two ear rings were stolen from the house of Sanjay Tiwari, Pendent of Mangalsutra was stolen from the house of Niraj Nayak, Rs.5,000/-, in cash, was stolen from the house of Bharat Patel, Rs.2,000/- was stolen from the house of Gita and Rs.5,000/-, in cash, was stolen from house of Pramod. Remaining stolen articles were taken away by Shubham Tiwari, Arvind Pal, Bunti Dhobi and Raheem. Alleged recovered stolen articles were identified by those public men, who were informants in various cases of theft, lodged by them, being Case Crime Nos.1150/2012, 1210/2012, 2420/2012, 1492/2012, 701/2012, 778/2012, 1613/2012, 1617/2012 and 1612/2012, under Sections 457, 380, 411 and 413 IPC. Apprehended persons were made known about commission of offence by them under above Sections of IPC. It was presumed that those accused persons were habitual offenders of theft, hence they were taken into custody and recovery memo was got prepared, which was signed by him, other police personnel as well as by independent witness. It has also been stated by this witness, in his testimony, that on 18.8.2012, being Incharge SOG, while, he was in the search of suspicious persons and criminals, on the information received from informer, called Incharge, Kotwali, Lalitpur, and with the informant of Case Crime No.1612 of 2012, Kalyan, reached Malu Petrol Pump where at four-lane by-pass, informer pointed towards two persons standing thereat, who have been arrested at 11-30 AM. On making personal search, one disclosed his name as Arvind Pal, from whose possession Kardhan of Silver (an ornament of waist of woman), of white metal of 300 gm, was recovered and the second one disclosed his name as Rajendra Soni, from whose possession, anklet of silver of white colour, and Rs.10,000/- in cash was recovered. On being investigated, Arvind, admitted his mistake and said that he was having friendship with Shivam Tiwari and Bunty. They were having a gang and were committing occurrence of theft and stolen articles were being sold to Raju Soni. On that day, they were selling the articles, stolen from the house of the informant to Raju and the articles which were recovered from Raju, were stolen from the house of Balram Pachauri, out of which he got Rs.10,000/- as his share, which he gave to Raju Soni as loan. Informant identified Kardhan of silver and anklet thereat. Recovery memo (Exhibit Ka5) was prepared on the spot, which was signed by this witness as well as by the informant.

One bundle was opened before the court from which Rs.12,000/-, in cash, one chain of yellow metal (of gold), was taken out, from second bundle one pair ear ring (Jhala) and from another bundle, one Mangal Sutra was taken out, which, after being seen by the witness, has been said to have been recovered on 14.8.2012 from the joint possession of Arvind Parmar, Govind Singh, Jitu Parihar and Naval Ahirwar, and were verified by the witness. From one other bundle three rings of gold, Rs.32,000/-, in cash, and one golden pendent was recovered. However, in cross-examination, this witness, has stated that the recovered articles were not before him. He was not investigating case Crime No. 1612/12. About informant, he was informed by Incharge, Kotwali, Uday Bhan Singh. Informer gave information before him, but did not tell that stolen articles, pertaining to Case Crime No.1612/12, were with the accused persons. On being asked by Incharge, Kotwali, informant of Case Crime No.1612/12, Kalyan, was called. Though the place, from where accused were arrested, was crowded one, but none from the public was called as witness. Nothing was recovered from accused, Arvind Pal. There was no specific mark of identification on the recovered anklet nor it was enquired from the informant as to on what basis recovered articles were being claimed by him of his article. He did not get signature of informants of various reports, except Prem Lata Jain and Gita. Accused persons were not named in any first information report nor any mark of identification nor age of accused persons were mentioned in the first information report. In between informed place and Cremation Ghat, there were several houses and traffic was also there, but none from public had been asked to accompany the Police. Meaning thereby, testimony of this witness is full of material contradiction and shaky and appears to be concocted and cooked-up story, without any concrete evidence or cogent material to corroborate testimony given by this witness. There was no independent public witness of the arrest and the recovery made from the accused persons, though the place was crowded one, as stated by the witness in his testimony. Therefore, renders testimony doubtful and as such cannot be relied.

14. PW-4, Kalyan, is the informant of the present case crime number, who, in his testimony, has stated that on 10.8.2012, he, alongwith his other family members, was living in the house of Vimlesh Kumar Jain, on rent. On that day, after locking his house, when he went out of station, in connection with some urgent work, and came back on third day, found the locks of his house were broken and upon entering into the house, he has seen that all household articles were scattered here and there and silver anklet of 500 gm and Rs.5,000/-, in cash, kept in a bag, were stolen by unknown thieves. He has lodged a first information report of this occurrence at the Police Station against unknown thieves, Paper no. 5K, having his signature and exhibited as Exhibit K-6. After 10-15 days, he came to know that Police has arrested some thief at Juvenile Jail Road, Nehru Nagar and he reached thereat. One thief caught by the police was sitting there, who disclosed his name Shivam Tiwari from whose possession Rs.5,000/-, in cash, alleged to have been recovered, which was confessed by the accused Shivam Tiwari to have been stolen from his house. Anklet, Kardhani (an ornament of waist of woman) and cash money, stolen from his home, has been handed over to him. While, being cross-examined, this witness has stated that though he produced receipt in respect of stolen articles, but the same were not on record. He was not having bill of stolen articles. Stolen articles were purchased by him from shop. After ten days, Inspector called him. Inspector recorded his statement on the date of lodging of report itself. At the place, where he met with Inspector, 2-4 persons were standing. Inspector told name of arrested person Shivam Tiwari. He did not recognise Shivam Tiwari. Shivam Tiwari is not appellant in the present case. Meaning thereby, it was all the story cooked-up by the Police. Neither there was any independent public witness of the arrest nor of recovery of stolen cash nore any specific mark of identification of stolen case was there. The testimony of this witness is of no relevance to the prosecution because in the present case Shivam is not under Appeal and present appellants were not apprehended alongwith accused-Shivam Tiwari.

Meaning thereby, informant neither has seen anyone, while committing theft in his house nor was there at the time when locks of her house were broken nor any accused was produced before him for identification. Neither any recovery was made before this witness nor any specific mark of identification/denomination of alleged recovered article/currency notes was there nor any recovery memo was signed by him nor the same were produced before the court during trial nor this witness was previously acquainted with accused persons. Thus, testimony of this witness does not support prosecution case at all and the case set up by the prosecution falls flat, so far as testimony of this witness is concerned.

15. PW-5 is, SHO, Retd. Uday Bhan Singh. This witness, in his examination-in-chief, has stated that on 27.8.2012, while, being posted as SHO Kotwali, he with his accompanying Police team, Man Singh Pal, S.I Subhash Chand, S.I Varun Pratap Singh, and other constables went to Nehru Nagar, Bachha Jail Road, and arrested accused Shivam Tewari in the matter of a case of theft. On making personal search, Rs. 1000/- cash, a gold ring and a white silver small box (Dibiya) were recovered from him as stolen goods. He, on being enquired, disclosed names of all the accused involved in the theft. Non one from the public, present there, was ready to become a witness. Complainant of the case was called on the spot to identify stolen articles. He verified them. He had mentioned details of the goods in the memo,Ext. Ka3. He further stated that on 17.9.2012, he, along with S.I Man Singh Pal, S.I Shamshad Ahmad and other accompanying constables, during patrolling, when reached Govind Sagar Dam, an informer gave information that an accused of theft was going towards Puliya. On being caught, he disclosed his name Banti @ Vinod Rajak. Articles stolen by him and anklets of silver, weighing 250 gram, were recovered from him. On being investigated, he confessed to have committed theft alongwith co-accused on 21/07/12 in the house of Neeraj Nayak, r/o-Azadpur. Recovery memo was prepared on the spot and it was marked as Ext ka-6. Site plan of place of recovery, prepared by S.I. Man Singh from where recovery from accused Shivam Tiwari was made on 19/09/12. (Ext ka-7)

On being cross-examined, this witness has stated that Banti Dhobi was not named in first information report. It was against unknown thieves. There was no eye-witness of this incident. There was no specific mark of identification of the goods stolen nor of thief in first information report. No proceedings for identification of recovered articles nor of accused were conducted. He did not remember whether copy of memo was recovered from accused or not. He also did not remember as to whether entry of recovered goods were made or not. Articles recovered from Shivam were not produced in the court. Rupees 5000/- cash, gold ring and one small box of silver had been recovered from Shivam, but did not remember the denomination of currency notes. Articles, pertaining to three occurrence of theft, have been recovered from Shivam. Rupees 5000/-, in cash, from Kalyan's house, ring from Neeraj Nayak's house and small box of silver from Sanjay Tiwari had been stolen. He had given the statement on the basis of recovery memo. Meaning thereby, though accused Shivam and Bunty @ Vinod Rajak were arrested and recovery was made, but there was no public witness of arrest and the recovery, so made, which makes testimony of this witness unreliable, having full of variance, with material contradiction and is shaky as such does not support case set up by the prosecution. Moreover, Shivam and Banty @ Vinod Rajak, are not appellants in this Appeal and as such their statement, given to the Police, will have no bearing on the case of the appellants.

16. After careful scrutiny of testimonies of the witnesses produced by the prosecution, it is clear that testimonies of witnesses, produced by the prosecution, is with full of variance with material contradictions. Moreso, even single iota regarding offence, punishable under Section 380 IPC or 457 IPC is there, on record, against present convict appellants, except their alleged confessions, in the absence of any independent public witness or any corroborative evidence, that too, when they were apprehended by the Police, which was not admissible in evidence. If entire prosecution case is admitted for the sake of argument, it may be said that those accused persons were apprehended with possession of those recovered articles, but there is neither any specific mark of identification nor there is any corresponding evidence for connecting with above offence of theft was there on record, which was not there and as such in absence of any such evidence, prosecution miserably failed to prove its case.

Meaning thereby, neither identity of recovered article was established nor produced before the court nor alleged recovered article was connected with above occurrence of theft nor it was put under identification proceeding nor there was any independent public witness or any corroborative evidence. Hence, the very essential requirement of theft, taking of articles in above theft, with dishonest intention, and possession of the same could not be proved by the prosecution beyond doubt. But, learned Trial Judge has passed the judgment of conviction and sentence, as above, literally, when no cogent evidence was there.

17. Section 457 of Indian Penal Code (IPC) provides that "whoever commits lurking house-trespass by night, or house breaking by night, in order to committing of any offence punishable with imprisonment, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to five years, and shall also be liable to fine, and, if the offence intended to be committed is theft, the term of the imprisonment may be extended to fourteen years'.

18. In present case, learned Trial Judge has convicted appellants for this offence with sentence, whereas no evidence of lurking house-trespass by night or house breaking by night is there. Theft stands defined in Section 378 IPC. To complete offence, under Section 457 IPC, the ingredient is that burglar, or house breaker by night, should have an intention to commit theft. Theft or an intention to commit theft does actually carry out his intention to commit theft. Theft or an intention to commit theft is in no way a necessary essential ingredient in either of the offences. It frequently happens that lurking house-trespass or house-breaking by night is followed by theft, but the offence can be committed without theft or any intention to commit it. For conviction, under Section 457 IPC, the accused must be proved to have committed lurking house-trespass or house breaking. A charge, under Section 457 IPC must be substantiated by evidence and cannot be assumed from nothing. If a person is charged of house breaking and theft and the commission of theft is established, it would not follow that commission of other offence of house-breaking has also been established. When evidence does not justify a finding that the accused, who entered inside the house, had same intention to commit an offence, it is not trespass. So, then Section 457 IPC goes out of the way.

19. Allahabad High Court in 41 Cr.L.J, 623 (Allahabad), Chhadami v. Emperor, has propounded that in order to constitute lurking house-trespass, the offender must take some active means to conceal his presence. Regarding presumption under illustration (a) to Section 114, Evidence Act, may also attract a graver offence, like one, under 457 IPC, where the accused is found in possession of articles stolen and obtained by house-breaking, it cannot be inferred that he has committed an offence of house-breaking and theft. Presumption, under Section 114, Evidence Act, can be drawn only when the accused, when asked, is unable to explain his possession.

20. In present case, no evidence of house breaking by night or lurking house-trespass by appellants was there, except alleged recovery of cash and ornament, but the same was not established by specific mark of identification or by denomination of currency notes recovered, which were alleged to have been stolen from the house of the informant to co-relate with the property alleged to have been stolen from above breaking locks of house or recovery of cash from convict-appellants.

21. Section 411 IPC provides that whoever dishonestly receives or retains any stolen property, knowing or having reason to believe the same to be stolen property, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to three years, or with fine, or with both.

22. Apex Court in AIR 1954 SC 39, Trimbak vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, has propounded ingredients of offence, under Section 411 IPC, i.e., ingredients, which prosecution has to establish: (1) that the stolen property was in possession of the accused, (2) that some person other than accused had possession of the property before the accused got possession of it and (3) that the accused had knowledge that the property was stolen property.

23. In present case, neither property was duly identified by any specific mark of identification nor it was established before Trial court by way of producing the same nor its identity was established in identification parade nor the same was recovered in presence of informant, who had disputed alleged preparation of recovery memo.

24. Under Section 380 IPC, essential ingredient for offence, punishable under Section 380 IPC, is that accused committed theft, i.e., theft was committed in any building, tent or vessel and that such building, tent or vessel was used as human dwelling or was used for custody of the property. Hence, prosecution has to prove points required for proving of an offence, under Section 379 IPC plus that the moveable property was taken away or moved out of a building, tent or vessel and that such building, tent or vessel was being used for human dwelling or custody of moveable property. Intention to take this dishonestly must be proved.

25. In present case, offence of theft was got registered by informant against unknown thieves. Subsequently, alleged recovery of alleged stolen cash money and ornaments was said to have been made from convict-appellants. Offence of theft or taking of articles from building, by convict appellants, was not proved by any witness and on the basis of possession and presumption, under Section 114, Evidence Act, offence under Section 380 IPC was deemed to be proved whereas identification of alleged recovered cash, with no specific mark of identification, was neither established, by way of identification parade, or by way of proving it before Trial court.

26. Hence, learned Trial court failed to appreciate facts and law placed before it and thereby passed judgment of conviction and sentences therein, against evidence on record.

27. In view of what has been discussed above, this Criminal Appeal deserves to be allowed.

28. Accordingly, this Criminal Appeal succeeds and is allowed. The impugned judgment and order of conviction dated 30.07.2018, passed by the Trial Court, is hereby set aside and the appellants are acquitted of all the charges. The appellants are in jail. They shall be released forthwith, if not wanted in any other case.

29. Keeping in view the provisions of section 437-A Cr.P.C. appellants are directed to forthwith furnish a personal bond and two reliable sureties, each, in the like amount, to the satisfaction of Trial court before it, which shall be effective for a period of six months, along with an undertaking that in the event of filing of Special Leave Petition against the instant judgment or for grant of leave, the appellants, on receipt of notice thereof, shall appear before the Hon'ble Supreme Court.

30. Let a copy of this judgment along with lower court's record be sent back to the court concerned for immediate compliance.

A. Indian Penal Code,1860 - Section 302/34 of IPC - Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Evidence of an interested witness - the evidence of an interested witness should not be equated with that of a tainted evidence or that of an approver so as to require corroboration as a matter of necessity - The evidence cannot be disbelieved merely on the ground that the witnesses are related to each other or to the deceased. In case the evidence has a ring of truth to it, is cogent, credible and trustworthy, it can, and certainly should be relied upon. (Para 18)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pritinker Diwaker, J.)

1. This appeal arises out of impugned judgment and order dated 29.1.1988 passed by 1st Additional Sessions Judge, Mathura in Sessions Trial No.94 of 1987, convicting the appellants under Section 302/34 of IPC and sentencing them to undergo imprisonment for life. However, they have been acquitted of the charge under Sections 147 and 148 of IPC.

2. As per prosecution case, on 6.9.1986 a written report Ex.Ka.1 was lodged by (PW-1) Dal Chand, alleging in it that there was an old enmity between the accused persons and the deceased on account of a boundary (medh) of the agricultural field and due to the said dispute, on 6.9.1986 at about 6:15 am, when his cousin brother Chokhey Lal was ploughing his field, the accused persons caused several injuries to him by Farsa, Ballam and Club. While they were talking to each other, accused Ram Kishan was shouting for ensuring the death of the deceased. After hearing the voice of accused Ram Kishan, he along with his brother Ram Singh (PW-2) and one Lakkhi reached to the place of occurrence and seeing them, the accused persons entered into the sugarcane field. He states that when he reached near the deceased, he found him dead. Based on this report, FIR Ex.Ka.14 was registered on 6.9.1986 at 9:30 am under Sections 147/148/149 and 302 of IPC against the present accused persons and two acquitted accused, namely, Tej Ram and Kalyan.

3. Inquest on the dead body of the deceased was conducted vide Ex. Ka.7 on 6.9.1986 and the body was sent for postmortem which was conducted on 7.9.1986 vide Ex. Ka.2 by (PW-3) Dr. M K Srivastava.

As per Autopsy Surgeon, following injuries were noticed on the body of the deceased:

1. Lacerated wound 3 cm x 1 cm x bone deep on the back of left side head 1 cm from left ear.

2. Incised wound 6 cm x 2 cm x bone deep on back left side forearm upper part front in direction.

3. Incised wound 5 cm x 1.5 cm x bone deep on back of left forearm upper part transverse in direction both bone cut.

4. Incised wound 8 cm x 5 cm x bone deep on back of left knee joint transverse in direction lateral anckle of femur cut top lateral blood vessels cut.

5. Abrasion 5 cm x 2 cm on outer side of left thigh middle part.

6. Abrasion 10 cm x 1 cm on outer side of left buttock.

7. Abrasion 11 cm x 0.5 cm outer side of left side abdomen.

8. Abrasion 8 cm x 0.3 cm outer side of right leg middle part.

9. Incised wound 3 cm x 1 cm x muscle deep back of left corm middle part vertical.

10. Incised wound 1 cm x 0.3 cm x muscle deep on back of right arm lower part.

11. Incised wound 4 cm x 2.5 cm x bone deep on back right shoulder transverse in direction upper and lateral part of scapula cut. Body smeared with mud front side at places.

Cause of death of the deceased was due to coma.

4. While framing charge, the trial judge has framed charge against accused Girraj under Sections 147, 302/149 of IPC, whereas against remaining four accused persons charge was framed under Sections 148, 302/149 of IPC.

5. So as to hold accused persons guilty, prosecution has examined seven witnesses, whereas one defence witness has also been examined. Statements of accused persons were recorded under Section 313 of Cr PC in which, they pleaded their innocence and false implication.

6. By the impugned judgment and order, the trial Judge has acquitted accused Tej Ram and Kalyan of all the offences, but has convicted accused-appellants Ram Kishan, Sri Ram and Girraj under Section 302/34 and sentenced them as mentioned in para 1 of this judgment. The trial Judge has, however, acquitted the accused-appellants of the charge under Sections 147 and 148 of IPC. Hence this appeal.

7. Counsel for the accused appellants submits:-

(i) that (PW-1) Dal Chand and (PW-2) Ram Singh are not the actual eye-witnesses to the incident and when, on 6.9.1986 early in the morning they saw the dead body of the deceased lying in the field, they have lodged a false report implicating the appellants. This has been done by the complainant as there was an old enmity between the two families.

(ii) that only interested witnesses, i.e. (PW-1) Dal Chand and (PW- 2) Ram Singh have been examined and the important witness Lakkhi has not been examined.

(iii) that there are material contradictions in the statements of two eye-witnesses.

(iv) that on the same set of evidence Tej Ram and Kalyan have been acquitted and, therefore, there was no occasion for the trial Court to convict the appellants.

(v) that the witnesses have reached to the place of occurrence after the incident and, therefore, question of seeing them the incident does not arise at all.

(vi) that motive part has not been proved by the prosecution as required under the law.

(vii) that the postmortem report of the deceased does not tally with the statements of eye-witnesses because it is not the case of the prosecution that before committing the murder of the deceased he was dragged, however, the injuries sustained by the deceased suggest that he was dragged.

8. On the other hand, supporting the impugned judgment and order, it has been argued by learned State Counsel:

(i) that a very prompt report was lodged by (PW-1) Dal Chand. The incident occurred at 6:15 am, on 6.9.1986 and at 9:30 am, FIR was registered against all the accused persons. The distance between the place of occurrence and the police station is of 9 kms. and thus, for all practical purposes, it can be said that a very prompt report was lodged. Learned counsel submits that there was no occasion for PW-1 to lodge a false report and he had hardly any time to think over the same and then to lodge a false report.

(ii) that minor contradictions in the statements of PW-1 and PW-2 are required to be ignored considering the fact that they are rustic villagers. While referring to the postmortem report of the deceased Ex. Ka.2, it has been argued by the State counsel that the same duly confirms the version of two eye-witnesses.

(iii) that acquittal of Tej Ram and Kalyan is though not challenged before this Court but the same appears to be contrary to the law. He, however, submits that if some of the co-accused persons have wrongly been acquitted, it will not give any benefit to the present appellants.

9. We have heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

10. (PW-1) Dal Chand, is the informant and an eye-witness to the incident. He is also a real brother of (PW-2) Ram Singh and deceased Chokhey Lal was his cousin. He states that there is a common bund between his field and that of accused Ram Kishan, Sri Ram and Girraj. At the time of occurrence, he was cutting fodder along with PW-2 in the field, whereas deceased Chokhey Lal was ploughing his field. All the five accused persons reached there, carrying weapons with them; accused Ram Kishan and Sri Ram were having farsa, accused Tej Ram and Kalyan were having ballam, whereas accused Girraj was having club with him. After hearing the voice of accused Ram Kishan to kill the deceased, he and his brother immediately rushed to Chokhey Lal and tried to save him. Accused persons were beating the deceased and after seeing them, they entered in the nearby sugarcane field. By the time, he and (PW-2) Ram Singh could reach to Chokhey Lal, he was already expired and, thereafter he lodged the report.

In the cross-examination, he states that prior to four years of this incident, on the report lodged by accused Tej Ram, a case was registered under Section 325 of IPC against accused Ram Kishan, Lakkhi and one Pooran and Raja Ram. He however, has denied the fact that he took any surety for accused Pooran or Lakkhi. He has clarified that at the time of occurrence, no one else was there in their field and deceased alone was ploughing his field. He states that at the time of occurrence, he and his brother were cutting fodder. In the lengthy cross-examination, though this witness was subjected to various questions, including tricky questions, but he remained firm and has reiterated as to the manner in which the deceased was done to death by the accused persons. He has clarified that before he could reach to the place of occurrence, incident of marpeet was already going on and then, he also clarified as to which of the accused was having which weapon and how the same was used. No doubt, there are minor contradictions in the statement of this witness, but they are all of insignificant nature and are required to be ignored considering the fact that he is a rustic villager.

11. (PW-2) Ram Singh, is another eye-witness to the incident. While supporting the prosecution case, he too has stated that after hearing the voice of accused Ram Kishan to kill someone when he reached to Chokhey Lal, he saw the accused persons beating him. He has also clarified that which of the weapon was being carried out by which of the accused. When he and his brother reached to the place of occurrence and tried to help the deceased, then the accused persons entered in a nearby sugarcane field.

In the cross-examination, but for minor contradictions this witness also remained firm and reiterated as to the manner in which Chokhey Lal was done to death.

12. (PW-3) Dr M.K. Srivastava, conducted postmortem on the body of the deceased. He has clarified that injury nos. 2, 3, 4, 9, 10 and 11 could have been caused by a weapon like ballam/farsa, whereas rest of the injuries found on the body of the deceased could have been caused by a club.

13. (PW-4) Birpal, is a Head Moharrir who recorded the FIR. (PW-5) Jaganpal Singh did initial part of investigation. (PW-6) N P Singh, is the Investigating Officer, has duly supported the prosecution case. (PW-7) Charan Singh, is a Police Constable, who assisted during initial investigation.

14. (DW-1) Kamal Singh, has made an attempt to prove that (PW-1) Dal Chand and (PW-2) Ram Singh were not having any joint account of the field and likewise, there was sufficient distance between their field and the field of Ram Chand. Reading of his statement makes it clear that the same is of no help to the defence.

15. Close scrutiny of the evidence makes it clear that on 9.6.1986 at about 6:15 am, when deceased Chokhey Lal was ploughing his filed, accused persons reached there and caused number of injuries on his body by farsa, ballam and lathi, resulting his instantaneous death. After hearing the voice of accused Ram Kishan to kill someone, eye-witnesses (PW-1) Dal Chand and (PW-2) Ram Singh reached to the place of occurrence and saw the accused persons beating the deceased. PW-1 and PW-2 have made an attempt to save Chokhey Lal and seeing them, accused persons fled away from the spot and entered in the nearby sugarcane field. By the time PW-1 and PW-2 reached to the deceased, he was already dead. It can be said that there are minor contradictions in the statements of PW-1 and PW-2, but they are not of significant nature. These contradictions do not go to the root of the matter and do not affect their version otherwise. Yet another aspect of the matter is that these witnesses are the rustic villagers and they have been examined in the Court after one year of the incident and, therefore, minor contradictions in their statements are bound to be there. Law in this respect is very clear.

In Bharwada Bhoginbhai Hirjibhai vs. State of Gujarat, the Supreme Court, while considering the minor contradictions in the statement of the witnesses, held as under:

"5 ... ... We do not consider it appropriate or permissible to enter upon a reappraisal or re-appreciation of the evidence in the context of the minor discrepancies painstakingly highlighted by the learned counsel for the appellant. Overmuch importance cannot be attached to minor discrepancies. The reasons are obvious:

(1) By and large a witness cannot be expected to possess a photographic memory and to recall the details of an incident. It is not as if a video tape is replayed in the mental screen.

(2) Ordinarily, it so happens that a witness is overtaken by events. The witness could not have anticipated the occurrence which so often has an element of surprise. The mental faculties therefore cannot be expected to be attuned to absorb the details.

(3) The powers of observation defer from person to person. What one may notice, another may not. An object or movement might emboss its image on one person's mind, whereas it might go unnoticed on the part of another.

(4) By and large people cannot accurately recall a conversation and reproduce the very words used by them or heard by them. They can only recall the main purport of the conversation. It is unrealistic to expect a witness to be a human tape-recorder.

(5) In regard to exact time of an incident, or the time duration of an occurrence, usually, people make their estimates by guess work on the spur of the moment at the time of interrogation. And one cannot expect people to make very precise or reliable estimates in such matters. Again, it depends on the time-sense of individuals which varies from person to person.

(6) Ordinarily, a witness cannot be expected to recall accurately the sequence of events which takes place in rapid succession or in short time span. A witness is liable to get confused or mixed up when interrogated later on.

(7) A witness, though wholly truthful, is liable to be overawed by the court atmosphere and the piercing cross-examination made by the counsel and out nervousness mix up facts, get confused regarding sequence of events, or fill up details from imagination on the spur of the moment. The subconscious mind of the witness sometimes so operates on account of the fear of looking foolish or being disbelieved though the witness is giving a truthful and honest account of the occurrence witnessed by him - perhaps it is a sort of a psychological defence mechanism activated on the spur of the moment."

16. If the entire statement of these eye-witnesses, i.e. (PW-1) Dal Chand and (PW-2) Ram Singh is seen, it is apparent that they are very firm and have reiterated as to the manner in which, the deceased was done to death by the accused persons. The statements of these two eye-witnesses also find support from the postmortem report of the deceased Ex. Ka.2 and number of injuries of the weapons used by the accused persons have been found on the body of the deceased.

17. We find no substance in the argument of the accused appellants that when Tej Ram and Kalyan have been acquitted, the same treatment ought to have been given to them also. Even assuming that Tej Ram and Kalyan have wrongly been acquitted, their acquittal would be of no help to the accused-appellants because the evidence clearly shows their involvement in the commission of offence.

18. We further find no substance in the argument of the defence that only interested/related witnesses have been examined, and the important witness Lakkhi has not been examined.

It is settled position of law that the evidence of an interested witness should not be equated with that of a tainted evidence or that of an approver so as to require corroboration as a matter of necessity. All that the Courts require as a rule of prudence, not as a rule of law, is that the evidence of such witness should be scrutinized with a little care. It has to be realized that related and interested witness would be the last persons to screen the real culprits and falsely substitute innocent ones in their places. Indeed there may be circumstances where only interested evidence may be available and no other, e.g. when an occurrence takes place at midnight in the house then the only witnesses who could see the occurrence may be the family members. In such cases, it would not be proper to insist that the evidence of the family members should be disbelieved merely because of their interestedness. But once such witness is scrutinized with a little care and the Court is satisfied that the evidence of the interested witness have a ring of truth such evidence could be relied upon even without corroboration. Thus, the evidence cannot be disbelieved merely on the ground that the witnesses are related to each other or to the deceased. In case the evidence has a ring of truth to it, is cogent, credible and trustworthy, it can, and certainly should, be relied upon. (See Anil Rai vs. State of Bihar (2001) 7 SCC 318; State of U.P. vs. Jagdeo Singh (2003) 1 SCC 456; Bhagalool Lodh & Anr. vs. State of U.P. (2011) 13 SCC 206; Dahari & Ors. vs. State of U.P. (2012) 10 SCC 256; Raju @ Balachandran & Ors. vs. State of Tamil Nadu (2012) 12 SCC 701; Gangabhavani vs. Rayapati Venkat Reddy & Ors. (2013) 15 SCC 298; Jodhan vs. State of M.P. (2015) 11 SCC 52)

The Supreme Court in Bur Singh and Anr. vs. State of Punjab has held that merely because the eyewitnesses are family members their evidence cannot per se be discarded. When there is allegation of interestedness, the same has to be established. Mere statement that being relatives of the deceased they are likely to falsely implicate the accused cannot be a ground to discard the evidence which is otherwise cogent and credible. Further, the Supreme Court in Sudhakar v. State and Ganapathi v. State of Tamil Nadu relying in its earlier judgments held as under:

"18. Then, next comes the question 'what is the difference between a related witness and an interested witness?. The plea of "interested witness", "related witness" has been succinctly explained by this Court that "related" is not equivalent to "interested". The witness may be called "interested" only when he or she derives some benefit from the result of a litigation in the decree in a civil case, or in seeing an accused person punished. In this case at hand PW 1 and 5 were not only related witness, but also 'interested witness' as they had pecuniary interest in getting the accused petitioner punished. [refer State of U.P. v. Kishanpal and Ors., (2008) 16 SCC 73] : (2008 AIR SCW 6322). As the prosecution has relied upon the evidence of interested witnesses, it would be prudent in the facts and circumstances of this case to be cautious while analyzing such evidence. It may be noted that other than these witnesses, there are no independent witnesses available to support the case of the prosecution."

Relationship is not a factor to affect credibility of a witness. There is no proposition in law that relatives are to be treated as untruthful witnesses. To the contrary, reason has to be shown when a plea of partiality is raised to show that the witnesses had reason to shield the actual culprit and falsely implicate the accused. A witness who is a relative of deceased or victim of the crime cannot be characterized as 'interested'. The term 'interested' postulates that the witness has some direct or indirect 'interest' in having the accused somehow or other convicted due to animus or for some other oblique motive. A close relative cannot be characterized as an 'interested' witness. He is a 'natural' witness. His evidence, however, must be scrutinized carefully. If on such scrutiny his evidence is found to be intrinsically reliable, inherently probable and wholly trustworthy, conviction can be based on the 'sole testimony of such witness. (See- Harbans Kaur and another vs. State of Haryana, 2005 AIR SCW 2074; Namdeo vs. State of Maharashtra, 2007 AIR SCW 1835; Sonelal vs. State of M.P., 2008 AIR SCW 7988; and Dharnidhar vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and Others & other connected appeals, (2010) 7 SCC 759).

19. Taking the cumulative effect of the evidence, we are of the considered opinion that the trial Court was fully justified in convicting the accused-appellants. The impugned judgment and order deserves to be affirmed and accordingly, the same is affirmed.

20. Appeal has no substance, the same is, accordingly, dismissed. The appellants are reported to be on bail, they be taken into custody forthwith to serve the remaining sentence.

21. We appreciate the assistance rendered by Sri Ram Milan Dwivedi, learned Amicus, who has argued on behalf of appellant no.1. The State Government is directed to pay Rs.5000/- to the Amicus towards his remuneration.

22. Let a copy of this judgment be sent to the concerned trial Court for compliance.

1. Heard learned counsel for the appellant/Shri Sachin Pratap Singh as well as learned Addl. G.A. for the State and perused the material on record.

2. This Criminal Appeal has been preferred against the judgment and order dated 11.07.2003 passed by learned Additional Sessions Judge (F.T.C.) IIIrd, Pratapgarh in Sessions Trial No. 185 of 2002, arising out of Case Crime No. 127 of 2001, under Section 302, 148, 323/149 and under Section 506 I.P.C., Police Station Baghrai, District Pratapgarh.

3. Shri Sachin Pratap Singh, learned counsel for the appellant on the basis of the instructions received by him from his client/appellant namely Ram Ashrey, who has been released from Jail on the basis of remission of sentence granted by the State Government, submits that he do not want to press the appeal. Learned counsel for the appellant also endorsed on the Memo of Appeal that he do not want to press the appeal on merits and the same be dismissed as not pressed.

4. In this regard, provisions of Section 384, 385 and 386 Cr.P.C. are relevant, which are being reproduced as under:

384. Summary dismissal of appeal.-(1) If upon examining the petition of appeal and copy of the judgment received under section 382 or section 383, the Appellate Court considers that there is no sufficient ground for interfering, it may dismiss the appeal summarily:

Provided that-

(a) no appeal presented under section 382 shall be dismissed unless the appellant or his pleader has had a reasonable opportunity of being heard in support of the same;

(b) no appeal presented under section 383 shall be dismissed except after giving the appellant a reasonable opportunity of being heard in support of the same, unless the Appellate Court considers that the appeal is frivolous or that the production of the accused in custody before the Court would involve such inconvenience as would be disproportionate in the circumstances of the case;

(c) no appeal presented under section 383 shall be dismissed summarily until the period allowed for preferring such appeal has expired.

(2) Before dismissing an appeal under this section, the Court may call for the record of the case.

(3) Where the Appellate Court dismissing an appeal under this section is a Court of Session or of the Chief Judicial Magistrate, it shall record its reasons for doing so.

(4) Where an appeal presented under section 383 has been dismissed summarily under this section and the Appellate Court finds that another petition of appeal duly presented under section 382 on behalf of the same appellant has not been considered by it, that Court may, notwithstanding anything contained in section 393, if satisfied that it is necessary in the interests of justice so to do, hear and dispose of such appeal

385. Procedure for hearing appeals not dismissed summarily.-(1) If the Appellate Court does not dismiss the appeal summarily, it shall cause notice of the time and place at which such appeal will be heard to be given-

(i) to the appellant or his pleader;

(ii) to such officer as the State Government may appoint in this behalf;

(iii) if the appeal is from a judgment of conviction in a case instituted upon complaint, to the complainant;

(iv) if the appeal is under section 377 or section 378, to the accused, and shall also furnish such officer, complainant and accused with a copy of the grounds of appeal.

(2) The Appellate Court shall then send for the record of the case, if such record is not already available in that Court, and hear the parties:

Provided that if the appeal is only as to the extent or the legality of the sentence, the Court may dispose of the appeal without sending for the record.

(3) Where the only ground for appeal from a conviction is the alleged severity of the sentence, the appellant shall not, except with the leave of the Court, urge or be heard in support of any other ground.

386. Powers of the Appellate Court.-After perusing such record and hearing the appellant or his pleader, if he appears, and the Public Prosecutor if he appears, and in case of an appeal under section 377 or section 378, the accused, if he appears, the Appellate Court may, if it considers that there is no sufficient ground for interfering, dismiss the appeal, or may-

(a) in an appeal from an order or acquittal, reverse such order and direct that further inquiry be made, or that the accused be re-tried or committed for trial, as the case may be, or find him guilty and pass sentence on him according to law;

(b) in an appeal from a conviction-

(i) reverse the finding and sentence and acquit or discharge the accused, or order him to be re-tried by a Court of competent jurisdiction subordinate to such Appellate Court or committed for trial, or

(ii) alter the finding, maintaining the sentence, or

(iii) with or without altering the finding, alter the nature or the extent, or the nature and extent, of the sentence, but not so as to enhance the same;

(c) in an appeal for enhancement of sentence-

(i) reverse the finding and sentence and acquit or discharge the accused or order him to be re-tried by a Court competent to try the offence, or

(ii) alter the finding maintaining the sentence, or

(iii) with or without altering the finding, alter the nature or the extent, or the nature and extent, of the sentence, so as to enhance or reduce the same;

(d) in an appeal from any other order, alter or reverse such order;

(e) make any amendment or any consequential or incidental order that may be just or proper;

Provided that the sentence shall not be enhanced unless the accused has had an opportunity of showing cause against such enhancement:

Provided further that the Appellate Court shall not inflict greater punishment for the offence which in its opinion the accused has committed, than might have been inflicted for that offence by the Court passing the order or sentence under appeal.

5. In Jeetu and Others Vs State of Chattisgarh reported in MANU/SC/1056/2012 it is held by Hon'ble Supreme Court in para 15, 20 and 21 as under :-

"15.The hub of the matter, as we perceive, really pertains to the justifiability and legal propriety of the manner in which the High Court has dealt with the appeal. It is clear as day that it has recorded the proponement of the learned Counsel for the Appellants relating to non-assail of the conviction, extenuating factors for reduction of sentence and proceeded to address itself with regard to the quantum of sentence. It has not recorded its opinion as regards the correctness of the conviction.

20.At this stage, we may refer with profit to a two-Judge Bench decision in Dilip S. Dahanukar v. Kotak Mahindra Co. Ltd. and Anr. MANU/SC/1803/2007 : (2007) 6 SCC 528 wherein this Court, after referring to the pronouncements in Babu Rajirao Shinde v. State of Maharashtra MANU/SC/0072/1971 : (1971) 3 SCC 337 and Siddanna Apparao Patil v. State of Maharashtra*MANU/SC/0190/1970 : (1970) 1 SCC 547, opined thus:*

An appeal is indisputably a statutory right and an offender who has been convicted is entitled to avail the right of appeal which is provided for Under Section 374 of the Code. Right of appeal from a judgment of conviction affecting the liberty of a person keeping in view the expansive definition of Article 21 is also a fundamental right. Right of appeal, thus, can neither be interfered with or impaired, nor can it be subjected to any condition.

The right to appeal from a judgment of conviction vis-à-vis the provisions of Section 357 of the Code of Criminal Procedure and other provisions thereof, as mentioned hereinbefore, must be considered having regard to the fundamental right of an accused enshrined under Article 21 of the Constitution of India as also the international covenants operating in the field.

21. Tested on the touchstone of the aforesaid legal principles, it is luminescent that the High Court has not made any effort to satisfy its conscience and accepted the concession given by the counsel in a routine manner. At this juncture, we are obliged to state that when a convicted person prefers an appeal, he has the legitimate expectation to be dealt with by the Courts in accordance with law. He has intrinsic faith in the criminal justice dispensation system and it is the sacred duty of the adjudicatory system to remain alive to the said faith. That apart, he has embedded trust in his counsel that he shall put forth his case to the best of his ability assailing the conviction and to do full justice to the case. That apart, a counsel is expected to assist the Courts in reaching a correct conclusion. Therefore, it is the obligation of the Court to decide the appeal on merits and not accept the concession and proceed to deal with the sentence, for the said mode and method defeats the fundamental purpose of the justice delivery system. We are compelled to note here that we have come across many cases where the High Courts, after recording the non-challenge to the conviction, have proceeded to dwell upon the proportionality of the quantum of sentence. We may clearly state that the same being impermissible in law should not be taken resort to. It should be borne in mind that a convict who has been imposed substantive sentence is deprived of his liberty, the stem of life that should not ordinarily be stenosed, and hence, it is the duty of the Court to see that the cause of justice is subserved with serenity in accordance with the established principles of law."

6. The Hon'ble Supreme Court in Padam Singh Vs. State of U.P., (2000) 1 SCC 621 in para-2 of its judgment has held as under:

".....It is the duty of an appellate court to look into the evidence adduced in the case and arrive at an independent conclusion as to whether the said evidence can be relied upon or not and even if it can be relied upon, then whether the prosecution can be said to have been proved beyond reasonable doubt on the said evidence. The credibility of a witness has to be adjudged by the appellate court in drawing inference from proved and admitted facts. It must be remembered that the appellate court, like the trial court, has to be satisfied affirmatively that the prosecution case is substantially true and the guilt of the accused has been proved beyond all reasonable doubt as the presumption of innocence with which the accused starts, continues right through until he is held guilty by the final court of appeal and that presumption is neither strengthened by an acquittal nor weakened by a conviction in the trial court. The judicial approach in dealing with the case where an accused is charged of murder under Section 302 has to be cautious, circumspect and careful and the High Court, therefore, has to consider the matter carefully and examine all relevant and material circumstances, before upholding the conviction."

7. Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Bani Singh and others Vs. State of U.P., (1996) 4 SCC 720 held that "the plain language of Sections 385-386 does not contemplate dismissal of the appeal for non-prosecution simpliciter. On the contrary, the Code envisages disposal of the appeal on merits after perusal and scrutiny of the record. The law clearly expects the appellate court to dispose of the appeal on merits, not merely by perusing the reasoning of the trial court in the judgment, but by cross- checking the reasoning with the evidence on record with a view to satisfying itself that the reasoning and findings recorded by the trial court are consistent with the material on record. The law, therefore, does not envisage the dismissal of the appeal for default or non-prosecution but only contemplates disposal on merits after perusal of the record. Therefore, with respect, we find it difficult to agree with the suggestion in Ram Naresh Yadav case [AIR 1987 SC 1500 : 1987 Cri LJ 1856] that if the appellant or his pleader is not present, the proper course would be to dismiss an appeal for non-prosecution."

8. Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Rishi Nandan Pandit and others Vs. State of Bihar, (1999) 8 SCC 644 has held that " 9. As a matter of legal position the court is not precluded from perusing the records and come to its own conclusion unaided by any legal practitioner to project the points favourable to the accused, when the counsel engaged by them does not turn up to argue. But the three-Judge Bench of this Court indicated in Bani Singh v. State of U.P. [(1996) 4 SCC 720 : 1996 SCC (Cri) 848] that it is a matter of prudence that the court may, in an appropriate case, appoint a counsel at the State's expense to argue for the cause of the accused. Of course it is for the court to determine, on a consideration of the conspectus of the case, whether it does or does not require such legal assistance. There can be appeals which could be disposed of unassisted by counsel to put forth the favourable features for the accused. But if the sentence imposed by the judgment impugned in the appeal is of a substantial range it is advisable to seek the assistance of a legal talent."

9. A reading of Sections 384, 385 and 386 of the Code as well as the above legal position clearly demonstrate that a criminal appeal cannot be dismissed for default or as not pressed , if the same has been admitted for consideration. The Court has to decide the appeal on merits and pass final orders. The consideration of the appeal on merits at the stage of final hearing and to arrive at a decision on merits so as to pass final orders will not be possible unless the reasoning and findings recorded in the judgment under appeal are tested in the light of the record of the case. After the records are before the Court and the appeal is set down for hearing, it is essential that the appellate court should peruse such record, hear the appellant or his pleader, if he appears, and hear the public prosecutor, if he appears and after complying with these requirements, the appellate court has full power to pass any of the orders mentioned in the section, but the disposal must be after the appellate court has considered the appeal on merits. It is clear that the criminal appeal, if not dismissed summarily and has been admitted for hearing, must be considered and disposed of on merits irrespective of the fact whether the appellant or his counsel or the public prosecutor is present or not or even if the appeal has been "not pressed".

10. Keeping this in view, we are obliged to peruse the record of case and to scrutinize whether the reasoning of the trial court are based on proper appreciation of evidence available on record for the purpose of satisfying ourself that the reasonings and findings recorded by the trial court are consistent with the material on record. After this exercise we have to arrive at an independent conclusion as to whether the said evidence can be relied upon and whether the cumulative effect of such evidence results in proving the charges framed against the accused person(s) as beyond reasonable doubt. Therefore we proceed to dispose of this appeal on merits, irrespective of the fact that the same has been not pressed by Ld. Counsel for the appellant, in view of the grounds taken in memorandum of appeal.

11. The facts necessary for the disposal of this appeal unfolds from the record that, a written report was presented by informant namely Mohd. Asgar Ansari, the son of Mohd. Suleman to S.H.O. Police Station Baghrai, Pratapgarh on 07.12.2001 at about 11:30 am alleging that he along with his father Suleman, aged about 70 years, were irrigating their agricultural field, wherein the crop of "wheat' was standing. It is further stated that at about 11:00 am., Ram Asrey, Meghai and Khairati all sons of Bachoolal Pasi and Pappu and Subhane son of Khairati Pasi came to his house armed with "lathi, danda' and "country-made pistol'. His brother Mohd. Azam and mother Khalikulnisa did not open the gate, on which the accused persons started abusing them. They saw him and his father in the field and rushed towards them and assaulted them with the intention to murder. He and his father Suleman attempted to run away, but after running for a short distance, the accused persons overpowered his father and assaulted him with "lathi, danda'. Accused-appellant, Ram Asrey fired at the head of his father with a country-made pistol. He succeeded in running away and also sustained injuries by the assault of the accused persons and some-how managed to escape. His father could not run due to his old age and his dead body is lying in the field of Bhagan Pasi. The incident was witnessed by his brother Mohd. Azam and his mother Smt. Khalikulnisa and many other persons of the village.

12. On the basis of this written information (Exhibit-ka-1), an FIR (Exhibit-ka-2) was registered at Police Station Kunda, District Pratapgarh at 11:30 am against Ram Asrey, Meghai, Khairati, Pappu and Subhane, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302, 307, 323, 504, 506 I.P.C. at Case Crime No. 127 of 2001. The Investigation of the case was entrusted to S.I., Balram Mishra. An entry of this FIR was made in the G.D. No.-14 dated 07.12.2001 at 11:30 am, which is available on record as Exhibit-ka-3.

13. The Investigating Officer, P.W.-4/S.I. Balram Mishra arrived at the spot and prepared the Inquest Report of deceased Suleman (Exhibit-ka-4) and necessary papers for the purpose of the postmortem i.e. Letter to C.M.O, Seal sample, Report R.I., Challan Lash and Photo Lash (Exhibit-ka-5 to ka-9).

14. The postmortem on the dead body of deceased Suleman was conducted on 08.12.2001 at about 1:30 pm by Doctor Ravi Srivastava, the then Medical Officer, District Hospital, Pratapgarh and he also prepared the postmortem-report (Exhibit-ka-13). He found the body of the deceased as thin-build, eyes and mouth were closed, rigor mortis was present in both upper and lower limbs.

15. He also found following antemortem injuries on the body of deceased:-

Injury No.1/A fire arm wound of entry of Size 1.5 cm x 1.5 cm over the forehead direct downwards literally. Margins inverted over the forehead just above the middle of left eyebrow, tattooing and blackening present. pellets recovered from the wound.

Injury No.2/A fire arm wound of exit of size 2.5 cm x 2.5 cm over left side of face just adjacent to tragus of left tear, margins inverted.

Injury No.4/An abraided contusion of size 3.0 cm x 1.0 cm over the left arm, 8.0 cm. above the left elbow joint. Humerous bone (left fractured).

Injury No.5/An abraided contusion of size 4 cm x 1.0 cm. over the back of left forearm just below the left elbow joint.

Injury No.7/Abrasion of size 6 cm x 1.0 cm. over the posterior aspect of right shoulder 6 cm. below the tip of right shoulder.

The stomach contains two ounses of digested unidentified food particles, while small intestine was containing faecal matter and gases, the time of death was determined about one day before and the cause of death was stated as death due to "Coma', as a result of fire arm injury.

The medical examination of the injuries of injured Mohd. Asgar Ansari was done by Doctor C.P. Sharma on 07.12.2001 at about 3:40 pm at PHC (Primary Health Center), Baghrai, Pratapgarh and he found following injuries on the person of the injured:-

Injury No.1/Abrasion 0.5 cm x 0.5 cm. on right forearm 14 cm. above from right chest.

Injury No.3/Contusion 4.0 cm. x 2.0 cm. on right knee.

16. All injuries were stated to be simple, while Injury No.1 was caused by friction and rest of the injuries were stated to have been caused by blunt object. Duration of all injuries were noted as fresh.

17. The Investigating Officer also recorded the statement of the informant as well as of Mohd. Asgar Ansari and prepared the Site Plan (Exhibit-ka-10) on the pointing of him. He also collected the simple as well as blood stained soil from the spot and sealed them in a container separately and prepared an "Fard' (Exhibit-ka-11). He also recorded the statement of eye witness Mohd. Azam and the statement of another eye witnesses Smt. Khalikulnisa on 06.01.2002 and submitted the Charge-sheet (Exhibit-ka-12) against the accused persons, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 307, 302, 323, 504, 506 I.P.C.

18. The case being triable by the Court of Sessions was committed to the Sessions Court and charges against the appellant under Sections 148, 302, 307, 323 read with Section 149, 504 and 506 of I.P.C. were framed against the appellant. The appellant denied the charges and claimed trial.

19. During trial, the prosecution placed reliance on following documentary evidence:-

1. Tehrir FIR, (Exhibit-ka-1).

2. Chick FIR, (Exhibit-ka-2).

3. G.D. Quaymi, (Exhibit-ka-3).

4. Inquest Report, (Exhibit-ka-4).

5. Letter to C.M.O., (Exhibit-ka-5).

6. Sample soil, (Exhibit-ka-6).

7. Letter to R.I., (Exhibit-ka-7).

8. Challan R.I., (Exhibit-ka-8).

9. Photo lash, (Exhibit-ka-9).

10. Site Plan, (Exhibit-ka-10).

11. Fard blood stained and sample soil, (Exhibit-ka-11).

12. Charge-sheet, (Exhibit-ka-12).

13. Postmortem report, (Exhibit-ka-13).

14. Injury Report of informant, Asgar Ali, (Exhibit-ka-14).

20. In addition to the above documentary evidence, the prosecution also testified following witnesses in order to prove its case before the Court below:-

P.W.-1/Mohd. Azam (Eye witness)

P.W.-2/Mohd. Asgar Ansari (Informant/injured eye witness)

P.W.-3/Head Constable, (Durgvijay Singh, who recorded the First Information Report.)

P.W.-4/S.I. Balram Mishra (Investigating Officer)

P.W.-5/Doctor Ravi Srivastava, (Doctor, who did the postmortem.)

P.W.-6/Doctor C.P. Sharma, (Doctor, who examined the injured Mohd. Asgar Ansari.)

21. After the completion of the evidence of the prosecution, the statement of the accused persons including the appellant was recorded. The appellant, Ram Ashrey in his statement, recorded under Section 313 of the Cr.P.C., denied the prosecution evidence and stated that deceased Suleman and his sons had murdered Bachoolal. These peoples are "Gunda elements' and also informer of the police. The deceased Suleman had been killed by some unknown persons at unknown place, but to pressurize the appellant for compromise, this false case has been instituted against him.

22. Learned Trial Court after appreciating and analyzing the evidence of the prosecution came to the conclusion that the prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt and sentenced the appellant, Ram Ashrey under Sections 302, 323/149, 506 and 148 I.P.C. and acquitted the appellant of the charges under Section 307 and 504 of I.P.C.

23. Aggrieved by the judgment and order of conviction and sentence the appellant Ram Ashrey had filed this appeal challenging the judgment and order of the Trial Court on various grounds mentioned in the Memo of Appeal. A perusal of the memo of appeal would reveal that appellant, Ram Ashrey challenged the impugned judgment and order on the grounds that the same has been passed against weight of evidence available on record and the Court has admitted the evidence, which was otherwise not admissible. There was no evidence against the appellant on record and the judgment and order of the Trial Court was based on assumption, presumption, conjectures and surmises as well as the version of the prosecution has not been corroborated by the medical evidence and the whole case of the prosecution is highly improbable and also that the Trial Court has ignored material contradictions in the testimony of the prosecution witnesses.

24. Since learned counsel for the appellant has not pressed the appeal and learned Addl. G.A. has supported the judgment and order of the Trial Court on the ground that there is no illegality in the finding and reasoning recorded by the Court, keeping in view the law mentioned herein-before, we have carefully perused the record of Sessions Trial No. 185/2000 "State Vs. Meghai and others", arising out of Case Crime No. 127/2001, Police Station Baghrai, District Pratapgarh in the background of the grounds of appeal taken by the appellant. This Court is conscious of the fact that being the Ist Appellate Court, it is the duty of this Court to go through the evidence on record and assess and analyze the evidence of prosecution to gauge as to whether the cumulative affect of such evidence results in proof beyond reasonable doubt and as to whether the Trial Court has erred in either marshalling of facts or in appreciation of evidence or in application of law.

25. Section 134 of Evidence Act do not require any particular number of witnesses to prove any fact. Plurality of witnesses in a criminal trial is not the legislative intent, it is not the quantity but quality which matters. Therefore, if the testimony of a witness is found reliable on the touch stone of credibility, accused can be convicted on the basis of testimony of even single witness. This principle was highlighted in Vadivelu Thevar V/s state of Madras; AIR 1957 SC 614, wherein it is held by Hon,ble Apex Court that "The contention that in a murder case, the Court should insist upon plurality of witnesses, is much broadly stated."

"The Indian Legislature has not insisted on laying down any such exceptions to the general Rule recognized in Section 134 quoted above. The Section has enshrines the well recognized maxim that "Evidence has to be weighed and not counted." Our Legislature has given statutory recognition to the fact that administration of justice may be hampered if a particular number of witnesses were to be insisted upon.

"It is not seldom that a crime has been committed in the presence of only one witness, leaving aside those cases which are not of uncommon occurrence, where determination of guilt depends entirely on circumstantial evidence. If the Legislature were to insist upon plurality of witnesses, cases where the testimony of single witness only could be available in proof of the crime, would go unpunished. It is here that the discretion of the presiding judge comes into play. The matter thus must depend upon the circumstance of each case and the quality of the evidence of the single witness whose testimony has to be either accepted or rejected. If such a testimony is found by the court entirely reliable, there is no legal impediment to the conviction of the accused person on such proof. Even as the guilt of an accused person may be proved by the testimony of a single witness, the innocence of an accused person may be established on the testimony of a single witness, even though a considerable number of witnesses may be forthcoming to testify to the truth of the case for the prosecution."

"Generally speaking oral testimony in this context may be classified into three categories, namely (1) wholly reliable (2) wholly unreliable (3) neither wholly reliable nor wholly unreliable. In the first category of proof, the Court should have no difficulty in coming to its conclusion either way- it may convict or may acquit on the testimony of a single witness, if it is found to be above reproach or suspicion of interestedness, incompetence or subornation. In the second category, the Court equally has no difficulty in coming to its conclusion. It is in the third category of cases, that the Court has to be circumspect and has to look for corroboration in material particulars by reliable testimony, direct or circumstantial. There is another danger in insisting on plurality of witnesses. Irrespective of the quality of the oral evidence of a single witness, if courts were to insist on plurality of witnesses in proof of any fact, they will be indirectly encouraging subornation of witnesses. Situations may arise and do arise where only a single person is available to give evidence in support of a disputed fact. The Court naturally has to weigh carefully such a testimony and if it is satisfied that the evidence is reliable and free from all taints which tend to render oral testimony open to suspicion, it becomes its duty to act upon such testimony."

26. Vadivelu Thevar case (supra) was referred to with approval in Jagdish Prasad v. State of M.P. (AIR 1994 SC 1251). It was held that as a general rule the court can and may act on the testimony of a single witness provided he is wholly reliable. There is no legal impediment in convicting a person on the sole testimony of a single witness. That is the logic of Section 134 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (in short 'the Evidence Act'). But, if there are doubts and suspicion about the testimony of such a witness the courts will insist on corroboration. It is for the court to act upon the testimony of witnesses.Therefore, it is not the number, the quantity, but the quality which is material. The time-honoured principle is that evidence has to be weighed and not counted. On this principle stands the edifice of Section 134 of the Evidence Act. The test is whether the evidence has a ring of truth around it, is cogent, credible and trustworthy, or otherwise.

27. In Lallu Manjhi vs. State of Jharkhand, AIR 2003 SC 854 Hon,ble Supreme Court held in Para 10, that "The Law of Evidence does not require any particular number of witnesses to be examined in proof of a given fact. However, faced with the testimony of a single witness, the Court may classify the oral testimony into three categories, namely (i) wholly reliable, (ii) wholly unreliable and (iii) neither wholly reliable, nor wholly unreliable. *In the first two categories there may be no difficulty in accepting or discarding the testimony of the single witness. The difficulty arises in the third category of cases. The Court has to be circumspect and has to look for corroboration in material particulars by reliable testimo*ny, direct or circumstantial, before acting upon testimony of a single witness."

28. In AIR 2003 SUPREME COURT 3617, Sucha singh v/s State of Punjab Honble Apex Court after considering Masalti and others vs. State of U.P. MANU/SC/0074/1964, State of Punjab v. Jagir Singh (AIR 1973 SC 2407) and Lehna v. State of Haryana (2002 (3) SCC 76), opined as under:- "Stress was laid by the accused-

appellants on the non-acceptance of evidence tendered by some witnesses to contend about desirability to throw out entire prosecution case. In essence prayer is to apply the principle of "falsus in uno falsus in omnibus" (false in one thing, false in everything). This plea is clearly untenable. Even if major portion of evidence is found to be deficient, in case residue is sufficient to prove guilt of an accused, notwithstanding acquittal of number of other co-accused persons, his conviction can be maintained. It is the duty of Court to separate grain from chaff. Where chaff can be separated from grain, it would be open to the Court to convict an accused notwithstanding the fact that evidence has been found to be deficient to prove guilt of other accused persons. Falsity of particular material witness or material particular would not ruin it from the beginning to end. The maxim "falsus in uno falsus in omnibus" has no application in India and the witnesses cannot be branded as liar. The maxim "falsus in uno falsus in omnibus" has not received general acceptance nor has this maxim come to occupy the status of rule of law. It is merely a rule of caution. All that it amounts to, is that in such cases testimony may be disregarded, and not that it must be disregarded. The doctrine merely involves the question of weight of evidence which a Court may apply in a given set of circumstances, but it is not what may be called 'a mandatory rule of evidence.' (See Nisar Ali v. State of Uttar Pradesh (AIR 1957 SC 366). Merely because some of the accused persons have been acquitted, though evidence against all of them, so far as direct testimony went, was the same does not lead as a necessary corollary that those who have been convicted must also be acquitted. It is always open to a Court to differentiate accused who had been acquitted from those who were convicted. (See Gurcharan Singh and another v. (AIR 1956 SC 460). The doctrine is a dangerous one specially in India for if a whole body of the testimony were to be rejected, because18witness was evidently speaking an untruth in some aspect, it is to be feared that administration of criminal justicewould come to a dead stop. Witnesses just cannot help in giving embroidery to a story, however, true in the main. Therefore, it has to be appraised in each case as to what extent the evidence is worthy of acceptance, and merely because in some respects the Court considers the same to be insufficient for placing reliance on the testimony of a witness, it does not necessarily follow as a matter of law that it must be disregarded in all respects as well. The evidence has to be shifted with care. The aforesaid dictum is not a sound rule for the reason that one hardly comes across a witness whose evidence does not contain a grain of untruth or at any rate exaggeration, embroideries or embellishment. (See Sohrab s/o Beli Nayata and another v. State of Madhya Pradesh, 1972 3 SCC 751) and Ugar Ahir and others v. State of Bihar (AIR 1965 SC 277). An attempt has to be made to, as noted above, in terms of felicitous metaphor, separate grain from the chaff, truth from falsehood. Where it is not feasible to separate truth from falsehood, because grain and chaff are inextricably mixed up, and in the process of separation an absolutely new case has to be reconstructed by divorcing essential details presented by the prosecution completely from the context and the background against which they are made, the only available course to be made is to discard the evidence in toto. (See Zwinglee Ariel v. State of Madhya Pradesh (AIR 1954 SC 15) and Balaka Singh and others v.state of punjab (AIR 1975 SC 1962). As observed by this Court in State of Rajasthan v. Smt. Kalki and another (AIR 1981 SC 1390), normal discrepancies in evidence are those which are due to normal errors of observation, normal errors of memory due to lapse of time, due to mental disposition such as shock and horror at the time of occurrence and those are always there however honest and truthful a witness may be. Material discrepancies are those which are not normal, and not expected of a normal person. Courts have to label the category to which a discrepancy may be categorized. While normal discrepancies do not corrode the credibility of a party's case, material discrepancies do so. These aspects were highlighted recently in K*rishna Mochi and others v. State of Bihar etc. (2002 (4) JT (SC) 186)."

29. In State of Gujarat vs J.P Varu reported in 2016 Cr.L.J 4185 (Supreme Court) it has been propounded by the Supreme Court that, " Para 13 the burden of proof in criminal law is beyond all reasonable doubt. The prosecution has to prove the guilt of the accused beyond all reasonable doubt and it is also the rule of justice in criminal law that if two views are possible on the evidence adduced in the case, one pointing to the guilt of the accused and the other towards his innocence, the view which is favorable to the accused should be adopted."

30. In AIR 2013 SUPREME COURT 3150, Raj Kumar Singh alias Raju alias Batya v. State of Rajasthan Hon,ble Supreme Court held that Para 17 "Suspicion, however grave it may be, cannot take place of proof and there is a large difference between something that 'may be' proved and 'will be proved'. In a criminal trial, suspicion no matter how strong, cannot and must not be permitted to take place of proof. This is for the reason, that the mental distance between 'may be' and 'must be' is quite large and divides vague conjectures from sure conclusions. In a criminal case, the Court has a duty to ensure that mere conjectures or suspicion do not take the place of legal proof. The large distance between 'may be' true and 'must be' true, must be covered by way of clear, cogent and unimpeachable evidence produced by the prosecution, before an accused is condemned as a convict, and the basic and golden rule must be applied. In such cases, while keeping in mind the distance between 'may be' true and 'must be' true, the Court must maintain the vital distance between conjectures and sure conclusions to be arrived at, on the touchstone of dispassionate judicial scrutiny based upon a complete and comprehensive appreciation of all features of the case, as well as the quality and credibility of the evidence brought on record. The Court must ensure, that miscarriage of justice is avoided and if the facts and circumstances of a case so demand, then the benefit of doubt must be given to the accused, keeping in mind that a reasonable doubt is not an imaginary, trivial or a merely probable doubt, but a fair doubt that is based upon reason and common sense."

31. In view of above legal position it is established that the golden rule which runs through the web of criminal jurisprudence is that every accused person is presumed to be innocent till the prosecution through reliable and acceptable evidence proves its case beyond all reasonable doubt. In other words, in criminal trial, it is the duty of the prosecution to prove its case beyond all reasonable doubt. However, it is not each and every doubt which can be termed as reasonable and benefit of only that doubt can be claimed by the accused persons ,which is reasonable in the facts and circumstances of the case and which grow out of the evidence, itself. It is also settled that if the evidence of any witness is having a ring of truth around it, is cogent, credible and trustworthy, the Court will not hesitate in reposing confidence in such a witness.

32. Now we proceed to appreciate the evidence available on record in the background of above mentioned setlled principles of appreciation of evidence.

33. P.W.-1/Mohd. Azam, who is the son of the deceased in his statement recorded before the Court below has supported the version of the prosecution as contained in the First Information Report and stated that accused -appellant, Ram Ashrey, Meghai and Khairati are real brothers and accused Pappu and Subhane are the sons of Khairati. All of them are the residents of his village. He stated that before the instant incident, there was a quarrel between the accused persons and his family members, pertaining to some loss to crops by a cowed of accused persons. In that incident, accused person Meghai and his father Bachoolal and some other persons assaulted them and in their self defence, the lady members of the house pelted stones on them, as a result of which, the father of Meghai namely Bachoolal died. Accused persons are inimical to them since then. He further stated that on the fateful day at about 11:00 am, he and his mother was at their home and his father Mohd. Suleman and his younger brother Mohd. Asgar Ansari were irrigating their field. Accused-appellant, Ram Ashrey along with other co-accused persons came to his house and started abusing. He and his mother closed the door, where on the appellant started abusing and ran towards the direction, whether his father and brother were irrigating their field. They raised an alarm, but accused persons captured his father, who was attempted to ran away and accused persons Meghai, Khairati, Pappu and Subhane started assaulting his brother and his father with "lathi, danda'. His brother ran away and he also sustained some injuries, while his father, who was old could not run away and fell down. Appellant, Ram Ashrey fired at his father from country-made pistol on his head, whereby his father died at the spot instantly. He further stated to be a witness of the inquest of his father's dead body. A lengthy cross-examination has been done with this witness, but he remained consistent on the material points throughout cross-examination.

34. P.W.-2/Mohd. Asgar Ansari is also an eye witness of the incident and an injured in the incident as well as the informant of the case. He narrated the incident in the manner, written in the FIR and corroborated the testimony of P.W.-1/Mohd. Azam. He attributed the role of assault by "lathi, danda' to all the accused persons and also that appellant, Ram Ashrey was having a country-made pistol with him, whereby he fired at his father in his head, whereby his father died at the spot. This witness also stated to have sustained injuries by the assault made by the appellant and other accused persons by "lathi, danda' and also fixed the spot as the field of Bhagan Pasi. He proved the FIR of incident as Exhibit-ka-1 and also that he was medically examined by the Doctor in police custody and was also a witness to the inquest of his father's dead body. He also stated that on his pointing the Investigating Officer prepared the Site Plan. This witness was also subjected to lengthy cross-examination, but he also remained consistent in material particulars.

35. P.W.-3/Head Constable, Durgvijay Singh is a formal witness, who has proved to have lodged the First Information Report as Exhibit-ka-1 at 11:30 am and also the Chick FIR as Exhibit-ka-2 as well as the entry of the G.D. made by him in his hand writing as Exhibit-ka-3.

36. P.W.-4/Investigating Officer of the case namely S.I. Balram Mishra, who has stated to have recorded the statement of the witnesses, prepared the necessary papers for the postmortem of the body of the deceased Suleman as Exhibit-ka-5 to ka-9. He further stated to have prepared the Inquest Report as Exhibit-ka-4 and also prepared the Site Plan, Exhibit-ka-10 and Fard of seizing blood stained as well as sample soil as Exhibit-ka-1 and also to have submitted the Charge-sheet, Exhibit-ka-12.

37. P.W.-5/Dr. Ravi Srivastava is the person, who has done the postmortem on dead body of deceased Suleman and prepared the Postmortem report in his hand writing and signature and proved the same as Ex-ka-13. The postmortem report as narrated by him has been discussed here in before. He further opined that the death of the deceased Suleman had occurred on 07.12.2001 at about 11:00 am due to fire arm injury.

38. The proved facts, which have also not been disputed by the accused persons are that the father of appellant Ram Ashrey namely Bachoolal was allegedly murdered by the deceased and his sons and at the time of the incident, a criminal case pertaining to that incident was pending against the deceased and his sons. The fact that deceased and his sons were charged for the murder of Bachoolal is also admitted to the prosecution witnesses, however, with a different version of the incident and it is claimed by them that Bachoolal along with others came to their house for the purpose of assaulting them and the ladies of the house pelted stones on them in their Self defence and in that incident Bachoolal got injured and died. However, the crux of the matter is that prior to the instant incident, the deceased and his sons were charged for the murder of Bachoolal and a criminal case was pending pertaining to that incident in the Court. It has also been admitted by the appellant in his statement recorded under Section 313 of the Cr.P.C. that his father Bachoolal was done to death by deceased and his sons and they were pressurizing him to make a compromise in the matter and on the basis of it, the appellant has been falsely implicated in this case. Therefore, it is established on record that both parties were highly inimical towards each other and this bitterness may provide sufficient motive to the appellant to commit the crime in order to take revenge of the death of his father Bachoolal and this may also be the basis of false implication. Therefore the duty of this Court is to analyze the evidence on record keeping in mind the above possibilities.

39. So far as the ground, which has been taken in the memo of appeal, pertaining to the fact that all the witnesses of fact were related to the deceased, as P.W.-1/Mohd. Azam and P.W.-2/Mohd. Asgar Ansari were the sons of deceased Suleman, the law is well-settled on this point that the evidence of a related witness, who is also a natural witness could not be discarded only on the basis of his relation with the deceased on the point of admissibility of the evidence of related witness, following case laws are relevant:-

40. In Gangabhavani vs. Rayapati Venkat Reddy and Ors., MANU/SC/0897/2013 Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under :-

"11. It is a settled legal proposition that the evidence of closely related witnesses is required to be carefully scrutinised and appreciated before any conclusion is made to rest upon it, regarding the convict/accused in a given case. Thus, the evidence cannot be disbelieved merely on the ground that the witnesses are related to each other or to the deceased. In case the evidence has a ring of truth to it, is cogent, credible and trustworthy, it can, and certainly should, be relied upon.(Vide: Bhagaloo Lodh and Anr. v. State of U.P. MANU/SC/0700/2011 : AIR 2011 SC 2292; and Dhari and Ors. v. State of U.P. MANU/SC/0848/2012 : AIR 2013 SC 308).

12. In State of Rajasthan v. Smt. Kalki and Anr. MANU/SC/0254/1981 : AIR 1981 SC 1390, t*his Court held:*

"5A. As mentioned above the High Court has declined to rely on the evidence of P.W. 1 on two grounds: (1) she was a "highly interested" witness because she "is the wife of the deceased".....For, in the circumstances of the case, she was the only and most natural witness; she was the only person present in the hut with the deceased at the time of the occurrence, and the only person who saw the occurrence. True it is she is the wife of the deceased; but she cannot be called an 'interested' witness. She is related to the deceased. 'Related' is not equivalent to 'interested. A witness may be called 'interested' only when he or she derives some benefit from the result of a litigation; in the decree in a civil case, or in seeing an accused person punished. A witness who is a natural one and is the only possible eye witness in the circumstances of a case cannot be said to be 'interested'. In the instant case P.W. 1 had no interest in protecting the real culprit, and falsely implicating the Respondents."(Emphasis added)(See also: Chakali Maddilety and Ors. v. State of A.P. MANU/SC/0609/2010 : AIR 2010 SC 3473).

13. In Sachchey Lal Tiwari v. State of U.P. MANU/SC/0865/2004 : AIR 2004 SC 5039, while dealing with the case this Court held:

"7....Murders are not committed with previous notice to witnesses; soliciting their presence. If murder is committed in a dwelling house, the inmates of the house are natural witnesses. If murder is committed in a street, only passers-by will be witnesses. Their evidence cannot be brushed aside or viewed with suspicion on the ground that they are mere 'chance witnesses'. The expression 'chance witness' is borrowed from countries where every man's home is considered his castle and everyone must have an explanation for his presence elsewhere or in another man's castle. It is quite unsuitable an expression in a country where people are less formal and more casual, at any rate in the matter explaining their presence."

14. In view of the above, it can safely be held that natural witnesses may not be labelled as interested witnesses. Interested witnesses are those who want to derive some benefit out of the litigation/case. In case the circumstances reveal that a witness was present on the scene of the occurrence and had witnessed the crime, his deposition cannot be discarded merely on the ground of being closely related to the victim/deceased."

41. In Bhagaloo Lodh and Ors. vs. State of U.P. reported in MANU/SC/0700/2011 it was held as under :-

"14. Evidence of a close relation can be relied upon provided it is trustworthy. Such evidence is required to be carefully scrutinised and appreciated before resting of conclusion to convict the accused in a given case. But where the Sessions Court properly appreciated evidence and meticulously analysed the same and the High Court re-appreciated the said evidence properly to reach the same conclusion, it is difficult for the superior court to take a view contrary to the same, unless there are reasons to disbelieve such witnesses. Thus, the evidence cannot be disbelieved merely on the ground that the witnesses are inter-related to each other or to the deceased. (Vide: M.C. Ali and Anr. v. State of Kerala MANU/SC/0247/2010 : AIR 2010 SC 1639; Myladimmal Surendran and Ors. v. State of Kerala MANU/SC/0670/2010 : AIR 2010 SC 3281; Shyam v. State of Madhya Pradesh MANU/SC/7112/2007 : (2009) 16 SCC 531; Prithi v. State of Haryana MANU/SC/0532/2010 : (2010) 8 SCC 536; Surendra Pal and Ors. v. State of U.P. and Anr. MANU/SC/0713/2010 : (2010) 9 SCC 399; and Himanshu @ Chintu v. State (NCT of Delhi) MANU/SC/0006/2011 : (2011) 2 SCC 36).

In view of the law laid hereinabove, no fault can be found with the evidence recorded by the courts below accepting the evidence of closely related witnesses."

42. It is therefore settled that merely because witnesses are close relatives of victim, their testimonies cannot be discarded. Relationship with one of the parties is not a factor that affects credibility of witness, more so, a relative would not conceal the actual culprit and make allegation against an innocent person. However, in such a case Court has to adopt a careful approach and analyze the evidence to find out, whether it is cogent and credible .

43. The above reports would show that the ratio, which has been propounded by the Hon'ble Supreme Court is that the evidence of a witness, who is related to the deceased, his testimony could not be discarded only on the basis of his relationship with the deceased, rather his evidence is to be scrutinized with care and caution, keeping in view in mind that he is relative of the deceased. It is also to be seen whether the witnesses, who are being termed as related witnesses were also natural witnesses or not.

44. In Sucha Singh and Ors. vs. State of Punjab, MANU/SC/0527/2003 Hon'ble Supreme Court has observed as follows :-

"15. In Dalip Singh and Ors. v. The State of Punjab MANU/SC/0031/1953 : [1954]1SCR145 it has been laid down as under:-

"A witness is normally to be considered independent unless he or she springs from sources which are likely to be tainted and that usually means unless the witness has cause, such as enmity against the accused, to wish to implicate him falsely, Ordinarily a close relation would be the last to screen the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person. It is true, when feelings run high and there is personal cause for enmity, that there is a tendency to drag in an innocent person against whom a witness has a grudge along with the guilty, but foundation must be laid for such a criticism and the mere fact of relationship far from being a foundation is often a sure guarantee of truth. However, we are not attempting any sweeping generalization. Each case must be judged on its own facts. Our observations are only made to combat what is so often put forward in cases before us a general rule of prudence. There is no such general rule. Each case must be limited to and be governed by its own facts."

16. The above decision has since been followed in Guli Chand and Ors. v. State of Rajasthan MANU/SC/0107/1973 : 1974CriLJ331 in which Vadivelu Thevar v. State of Madras MANU/SC/0039/1957 : 1957CriLJ1000 was also relied upon.

17. We may also observe that the ground that the witness being a close relative and consequently being a partisan witness. should not be relied upon, has no substance. This theory was repelled by this Court as early as in Dalip Singh's case (supra) in which surprise was expressed over the impression which prevailed in the minds of the Members of the Bar that relatives were not independent witnesses. Speaking through Vivian Bose, J. it was observed:

"We are unable to agree with the learned Judges of the High Court that the testimony of the two eyewitnesses requires corroboration. It the foundation for such an observation is based on the fact that the witnesses are women and that the fate of seven men hangs on their testimony, we know of no such rule. If it is grounded on the reason that they are closely related to the deceased we are unable to concur. This is a fallacy common to many criminal cases and one one which another Bench of this Court endeavoured to dispel in - 'Rameshwar v. State of Rajasthan MANU/SC/0036/1951 : 1952CriLJ547 . we find, however, that it unfortunately still persists, it not in the judgements of the Courts, at any rate in the arguments of counsel."

18. Again in Masalti and Ors. v. State of U.P. MANU/SC/0074/1964 : [1964]8SCR133 this Court observed: (p, 209-210 para 14):

"but it would, we think, be unreasonable to contend that evidence given by witnesses should be discarded only on the ground that it is evidence of partisan or interested witnesses .....

The mechanical rejection of such evidence on the sole ground that it is partisan would invariably lead to failure of justice. No hard and fast rule can be laid down as to how much evidence should be appreciated. Judicial approach has to be cautious in dealing with such evidence; but the plea that such evidence should be rejected because it is partisan cannot be accepted as correct."

19. To the same effect is the is the decision in State of Punjab v. Jagir Singh MANU/SC/0193/1973 : 1973CriLJ1589 and Lehna v. State of Haryana MANU/SC/0193/1973 : 1973CriLJ1589 . Stress was laid by the accused- appellants on the non-acceptance of evidence tendered by some witnesses to contend about desirability to throw out entire prosecution case. In essence prayer is to apply the principle of "falsus in uno falsus in omnibus" (false in one thing, false in everything). This plea is clearly untenable. Even if major portion of evidence is found to be deficient, in case residue is sufficient to prove guilt of an accused, notwithstanding acquittal of number of other co-accused persons, his conviction can be maintained. It is the duty of Court to separate grain from chaff. Where chaff can be separated from grain, it would be open to the Court to convict an accused notwithstanding the fact that evidence has been found to be deficient to prove guilt of other accused persons. Falsity of particular material witness or material particular would not ruin it from the beginning to end.

The maxim "falsus in uno falsus in omnibus" has no application in India and the witnesses cannot be branded as liar. The maxim "falsus in uno falsus in omnibus" has not received general acceptance nor has this maxim come to occupy the status of rule of law. It is merely a rule of caution. All that, it amounts to, is that in such cases testimony may be disregarded, and not that it must be disregarded. The doctrine merely involves the question of weight of evidence which a Court may apply in a given set of circumstances, but it is not what may be called 'a mandatory rule of evidence'. (See Nisar Alli v. The State of Uttar Pradesh MANU/SC/0032/1957 : 1957CriLJ550). Merely because some of the accused persons have been acquitted, though evidence against all of them, so far as direct testimony went, was the same does not lead as a necessary corollary that those who have been convicted must also be acquitted. It is always open to a Court to differentiate accused who had been acquitted from those who were convicted. (See Gurucharan Singh and Anr. v. State of Punjab MANU/SC/0122/1955 : 1956CriLJ827). The doctrine is a dangerous one specially in India for if a whole body of the testimony were to be rejected, because witness was evidently speaking an untruth in some aspect, it is to be feared that administration of criminal justice would come to a dead-stop. Witnesses just cannot help in giving embroidery to a story, however, true in the main. Therefore, it has to be appraised in each case as to what extent the evidence is worthy of acceptance, and merely because in some respects the Court considers the same to be insufficient for placing reliance on the testimony of a witness, it does not necessarily follow as a matter of law that it must be disregarded in all respects as well. The evidence has to be shifted with care. The aforesaid dictum is not a sound rule for the reason that one hardly comes across a witness whose evidence does not contain a grain of untruth or at any rate exaggeration, embroideries or embellishment.(See Sohrab s/o Beli Nayata and Anr. v. The State of Madhya Pradesh MANU/SC/0254/1972 : 1972CriLJ1302) and Ugar Ahir and Ors. v. The State of Bihar MANU/SC/0333/1964 : AIR1965SC277). An attempt has to be made to, as noted above, in terms of felicitous metaphor, separate grain from the chaff, truth from falsehood. Where it is not feasible to separate truth from falsehood, because grain and chaff are inextricably mixed up, and in the process of separation an absolutely new case has to be reconstructed by divorcing essential details presented by the prosecution completely from the context and the background against which they are made, the only available course to be made is to discard the evidence in toto. (See Zwinglee Ariel v. State of Madhya Pradesh MANU/SC/0093/1952 : AIR1954SC15 and Balake Singh and Ors. v. The State of Punjab. MANU/SC/0087/1975 : 1975CriLJ1734). As observed by this Court in State of Rajasthan v. Smt. Kalki and Anr. MANU/SC/0254/1981 : 1981CriLJ1012, normal discrepancies in evidence are those which are due to normal errors of observation, normal errors of memory due to lapse of time, due to mental disposition such as shock and horror at the time of occurrence and those are always there however honest and truthful a witness may be. Material discrepancies are those which are not normal, and not expected of a normal person. Courts have to label the category to which a discrepancy may be categorized. While normal discrepancies do not corrode the credibility of a party's case, material discrepancies do so. These aspects were highlighted recently in Krishna Mochi and Ors. v. State of Bihar etc. MANU/SC/0327/2002 : 2002CriLJ2645 . Accusations have been clearly established against accused-appellants in the case at hand. The Courts below have categorically indicated the distinguishing features in evidence so far as acquitted and convicted accused are concerned.

20. As observed by this Court in State of Rajasthan v. Teja Ram and Ors. MANU/SC/0189/1999 : 1999CriLJ2588 the over-insistence on witnesses having no relating with the victims often results in criminal justice going away. When any incident happens in a dwelling house or nearby the most natural witnesses would be the inmates of that house. It would be unpragmatic to ignore such natural witnesses and insist on outsiders who would not have even seen any thing. If the Court has discerned from the evidence or even from the investigation records that some other independent person has witnessed any event connecting the incident in question then there is justification for making adverse comments against non-examination of such person as prosecution witness. Otherwise, merely on surmises the Court should not castigate a prosecution for not examining other persons of the locality as prosecution witnesses. Prosecution can be expected to examine only those who have witnessed the events and not those who have not seen it though the neighbourhood may be replete with other residents also."

45. Coming to the facts of this case, the story as unfolds from the FIR and the statement of the two witnesses namely P.W.-1/Mohd. Azam and P.W.-2/Mohd. Asgar Ansari is that the appellant along with other accused persons went to the house of deceased Suleman, where P.W.-

1/Mohd. Azam and his mother Khalikulnisa were present. Accused persons threatened them to open the door and when they did not open the door, they hurled filthy abuses and then noticed the deceased Suleman and P.W.-2/Asgar Ali, who were working in a nearby field and all of them rushed towards them and in the process caught Suleman, while the P.W.-2/Mohd. Asgar Ansari, after receiving some injuries from the appellant and his companions, managed to escape. Thereafter, deceased Suleman was assaulted by the appellants and instant appellant namely Ram Ashrey took out a country-made pistol and fired at the head of Suleman, whereby he died on the spot.

46. It is clear from the aforesaid factual matrix that P.W.-1/Mohd. Azam, who was with his mother Khalikulnisa at the house of the deceased as well as P.W.-2/Asgar Ansari, who was with the deceased in the field and was irrigating the wheat crop are natural witnesses, it is otherwise that they are also related to the deceased. Their presence at the spot is natural, as the incident is of the house and agriculture field of the deceased.

47. Though, it has come in the FIR as well as in the testimony of both eye witnesses that other villagers were also present in the nearby fields, who have witnessed the incident and on the basis of this, a ground has also been taken by the appellant that the independent witnesses have not been produced by the prosecution and, therefore, the testimony of the interested witnesses is doubtful. Perusal of record in the backdrop of this argument would show that the parties were having bitter enmity in between them. Informants' side was charged for the murder of the father of appellant namely Bachoolal, therefore, it was not easy for any person to earn enmity of the accused persons and to stand as a witness against them. Secondly, the informant/P.W.-2/Asgar Ansari in his statement at Page No. 9 has stated that the villagers, who were working in the nearby fields did not came to the spot due to the fear of the country-made pistol, possessed by the appellant and when the accused persons fled from the spot, then villagers , working in nearby fields, came to the spot. P.W.-1/Mohd. Azam in his statement at Page No. 3 has also stated that the appellant fired at head of the deceased Suleman, as a result of which, he died instantly on the spot and the incident was witnessed by him, his brother and his mother along with other villagers, who were working in the nearby fields. It has been categorically mentioned by him in his statement that the accused persons are of bad characters and nobody in the village is ready to give evidence against them. The statement of this witness appears acceptable and truthful in the light of the fact that in village or even in urban areas where the presence of police is conspicuous, nobody wants to get himself involved in the enmity of two parties, which are having very bitter relations, going to the extent that father of the appellant was allegedly eliminated by the deceased and his sons and as a revenge, the deceased was allegedly eliminated by the appellant and his companions. In this background, if other independent witnesses have not come forward to depose against appellant, it is not a circumstance, which may adversely affect the case of the prosecution.

48. In Appabhai and Ors. vs. State of Gujarat, MANU/SC/0028/1988 The Supreme Court held as under :-

"Experience reminds us that civilized people are generally insensitive when a crime is committed even in their presence. They withdraw both from the victim and the vigilante. They keep themselves away from the Court unless it is inevitable. They think that crime like civil dispute is between two individuals or parties and they should not involve themselves. This kind of apathy of the general public is indeed unfortunate, but it is there everywhere whether in village life, towns or cities. One cannot ignore this handicap with which the investigating agency has to discharge its duties.

The court, therefore, instead of doubting the prosecution case for want of independent witness must consider the broad spectrum of the prosecution version and then search for the nugget of truth with due regard to probability if any, suggested by the accused."

49. We have carefully perused the evidence of P.W.-1/Mohd. Azam and P.W.-2/Mohd. Asgar Ansari. P.W.-1/Mohd. Azam is a natural eye witness. He in his statement has narrated the incident by mentioning minute details. This witness has been cross-examined at length by the appellant and barring some minor contradictions, pertaining to the manner of assault and as to who hit first by "lathi, danda', there is no material contradictions in his testimony, which may adversely affect the prosecution. P.W.-2/Asgar Ali is the witness, who was with deceased Suleman at the time of incident and was irrigating the agriculture field and he has also sustained injuries in the incident. The law is well-settled, so far as the evidentiary value of an injured witness is concerned, that the testimony of an injured witness, if his presence on the spot is established, is on a higher pedestal than others because he is the person who has actually received injuries in the incident. In the instant case, the First Information Report has also been lodged by this witness namely P.W.-2/Asgar Ali, within half an hour of the incident. Therefore, in the facts and circumstances of the case, the FIR is prompt and rules out the possibility of any fabrication and concoction. This witness has also received injuries in the incident and keeping in view his whole testimony, the same inspires confidence of this Court. His presence on the spot along with other witness was natural and nothing has been culled out from his cross examination, which may cause any doubt on the sanctity of the evidence of this witness. Despite being the son of deceased, his testimony is well-balanced and is consistant on material particulars and despite lengthy cross-examination, the appellant has failed to impeach his testimony. Therefore, this Court is having no doubt in categorizing the testimony of this witness as truthful, reliable and acceptable.

50. The circumstance of P.W.-2/Asgar Ali not attempting to save the life of his father Suleman is also of no consequence, it is established on record that, he first tried to defend himself, as appellant was having a country-made pistol in his hand, so the conduct of this witness to run away from the spot is not a circumstance, which may affect the testimony of this witness. The witnesses of heinous crimes behave in a different ways and there is no straight-jacket formula, which may apply to all the witnesses to behave in a particular manner.

51. In Appabhai and Ors. vs. State of Gujarat, MANU/SC/0028/1988 The Supreme Court held as under :-

"The Court, however, must bear in mind that witnesses to a serious crime may not react in a normal manner. Nor do they react uniformly. The horror stricken witnesses at a dastardly crime or an act of egregious nature may react differently. Their, course of conduct may not be of ordinary type in the normal circumstances. The Court, therefore, cannot reject their evidence merely because they have behaved or reacted in an unusual manner."

52. In Rana Pratap and Ors. v. State of Haryana 1988 (3) S.C.C. 327. Chinnappa Reddy J. speaking for this Court succinctly set out what might be the behaviour of different persons witnessing the same incident. The learned Judge observed; (at p. 330).

"Every person who witnesses a murder reacts in his own way. Some are stunned, become speechless and stand rooted to the spot. Some become hysteric and start wailing. Some start shouting for help. Others run away to keep themselves as far removed from the spot as possible. Yet others rush to the rescue of the victim, even going to the extent of counter-attacking the assailants. Every one reacts in his own special way. There is no set rule of natural reaction. To discard the evidence of a witness on the ground that he did not react in any particular manner is to appreciate evidence in a wholly unrealistic and unimaginative way.

11. These may be some of the reactions. There may be still more. Even a man of prowess may become pusillanimous by witnessing a serious crime. In this case, the courts below, in our opinion, have taken into consideration of all those respects and rightly did not insist upon the evidence from other independent witnesses. The prosecution case cannot be doubted or discarded for not examining strangers at the bus stand who might have also witnessed the crime. We, therefore, reject the first contention urged for the appellants."

53. In State of Uttar Pradesh vs. Devendra Singh, MANU/SC/0343/2004 while discussing the issue of behavior of witness commented as under :-

"Human behavior varies from person to person. Different people behave and react differently in different situations. Human behavior depends upon the facts and circumstances of each given case. How a person would react and behave in a particular situation can never be predicted. Every person who witnesses a serious crime reacts in his own way. Some are stunned, become speechless and stand rooted to the spot. Some become hysteric and start wailing. Some start shouting for help. Others run away to keep themselves as far removed from the spot as possible. Yet others rush to the rescue of the victim, even going to the extent of counter-attacking the assailants. Some may remain tight-lipped overawed either on account of the antecedents of the assailant or threats given by him. Each one reacts in his special way even in similar circumstances, leave alone, the varying nature depending upon variety of circumstances. There is no set rule of natural reaction. To discard the evidence of a witness on the ground that he did not react in any particular manner is to appreciate evidence in a wholly unrealistic and unimaginative way. (See Rana Partap and Ors. v. State of Haryana MANU/SC/0137/1983 : 1983CriLJ1272)."

54. In Sucha Singh v. State of Punjab reported in MANU/SC/0527/2003 the Supreme Court held So far as inaction of witnesses in not coming to rescue of deceased is concerned, it has to be noted that both of the witnesses were unarmed and bare handed and the accused persons were armed with deadly weapons. How a person would react in a situation like this cannot be encompassed by any rigid formula. It would depend on many factors, like whether witnesses are unarmed and the assailants are armed with deadly weapons. In a given case instinct of self-preservation can be the dominant instinct. That being the position, their inaction in not coming forward to rescue the deceased cannot be a ground for discarding their evidence.

55. Therefore, keeping in view the above factual matrix as well as the law propounded by the Hon'ble Supreme Court, if P.W.-2/Asgar Ali ran away from the spot to save his life is not a circumstance, which may adversely affect or impeach his testimony.

56. The spot has been fixed in the instant case by the testimony of P.W.-1/Mohd. Azam and P.W.-2/Asgar Ansari. The Investigating Officer namely S.I. Balram Mishra (P.W.-4) arrived at the spot and also prepared the inquest and necessary papers and have found the dead body of the deceased in the agricultural field of Chedi son of Bhagan Pasi and the testimonies of the both witnesses of fact is also to the tune that the deceased fell down in the agricultural field of Bhagan Pasi. The Investigating Officer has also prepared Site Plan, which is Exhibit-ka-10 and has also collected the blood stained as well as simple soil from the spot, and as per the report of the Forensic Lab, human blood has been found in the blood stained soil. No significant or material illegality in the investigation has been highlighted which may render the investigation as tainted. After carefully perusing the statement of the Investigating Officer, P.W.-4 S.I. Balram Mishra, we are satisfied that there is no illegality in the investigation process.

57. The medical evidence has been produced in the form of P.W.-5/Dr. Ravi Srivastava, who has conducted the postmortem on the dead body of Suleman as well as P.W.-6/Dr. C.P. Sharma, who has prepared the injury report of P.W.-2/Asgar Ansari. . The evidence of both medical witnesses is in the line of eye witnesses and in fact corroborating the testimony of P.W.-1/Mohd. Azam and P.W.-2/Asgar Ansari. P.W.-5/ Dr. Ravi Srivastava in his statement has categorically opined and corroborated the time of death of deceased Suleman as 11:00 am on 07.12.2001 and also that the Injury No.1 to the deceased might have been caused by fire arm and other injuries found on the person of the deceased as may be caused by blunt object. In cross-examination, nothing has been culled out, which may adversely affect, the otherwise reliable testimony of this witness. This witness has also opined that the death of the deceased has been caused due to the "Coma' occurred as a result of ante-mortem fire arm injury.

58. P.W.-6/Dr. C.P. Sharma has also proved the injuries found by him on the person of P.W.-2/Asgar Ansari and he also proved the injury report as Exhibit-ka-14 and opined that barring one injury, which may be caused by friction, the other injuries to the injured may be caused by "lathi' and the duration of the injuries were fresh.

59. The cumulative effect of the above discussed evidence is that the eye witness account of the incident has been corroborated by the medical witnesses. Keeping in view the above evidence of the prosecution available on record, we are satisfied and is of the considered view that the FIR in this case has been lodged promptly. Nothing has been placed on record, which may reflect that the FIR is either ante-timed or delayed. In our opinion, the FIR is prompt and inspires the confidence of this Court. The testimony of both factual witnesses namely P.W.-1/Mohd. Azam and P.W.-2/Asgar Ansari, despite being related to the deceased , in the facts and circumstances of the case, is truthful, reliable and can be safely acted upon as they are also natural witnesses of the crime and their testimony could not be disbelieved only on the allegation that they are related to the deceased. The time, place and day of incident has been fixed by the factual witnesses as well as by the medical witness and Investigating Officer. There is no material contradictions or embellishments in the testimony of eye witnesses. Though, the motive is not relevant in this case, as it is a case based on the direct evidence of witnesses and the crime has been proved by cogent and acceptable, truthful eye witnesses, but keeping in view the evidence available on record the motive was certainly available to the appellant i.e. to take the revenge of murder of his father allegedly caused by the deceased Suleman and his sons.There is no irregularity or illegality in the investigation. Therefore, in the considered opinion of us, the cumulative affect of the evidence produced by the prosecution on record is that the prosecution has been successful in proving the charges against the appellant beyond all reasonable doubts.

60. Learned Addl. G.A. for the State has placed before this Court a letter dated 18.07.2019 of the Senior Superintendent, Central Jail, Naini, Prayagraj along with Government Order dated 11.02.2019, whereby the appellant, Ram Ashrey has been released from Jail on 14.02.2019 after the remission of his sentence has been made by the State Government. A copy of the letter of Jail Superintendent, Central Jail, Naini Prayagraj as well as a copy of Government Order dated 11.02.2019 has been taken on record.

61. The aforesaid Government Order dated 11.02.2019 further reveals that the appellant has completed period of imprisonment, without remission, 17 years and 09 days and imprisonment of 22 years 02 months and 14 days with remission till 26.01.2019 and his remaining period of imprisonment/sentence has been remitted and the appellant has been released on furnishing a personal bond of Rs. 50,000/- .

62. In view of above discussion and the evidence available on record, the impugned judgment and order dated 11.07.2003 can not be termed as either perverse or against the evidence available on record, therefore, the conviction and sentence of the appellant is liable to be upheld and, therefore, it is affirmed. The appeal lacks merit and is, accordingly, dismissed.

63. Appellant, Ram Ashrey has been released on remission of the sentence, he need not surrender.

64. A copy of this judgment be sent to the learned Trial Court for information.

65. The Trial Court record be also sent back along with a copy of this judgment, if not required in any other connected appeal.

APPELLATE JURISDICTION
CRIMINAL SIDE
DATED: LUCKNOW 22.10.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE MOHD. FAIZ ALAM KHAN, J.

Criminal Appeal No. 584 of 1982

Ram Kishan & Ors. ...Appellants
Versus
State ...Respondent

Counsel for the Appellants:
Sri L.R. Acharya, Sri R.R. Acharya, Sri Wasim Ahmad.

Counsel for the Respondent:
A.G.A.

A. Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 118 and 134 - Neither any number of witness required to prove a fact nor evidence of a witness can be rejected only on the ground of his relationship with the victim - The whole prosecution case can be proved by a single witness if evidence is natural and trustworthy.

Held:- It is therefore settled that merely because witnesses are close relatives of the victim, their testimonies cannot be discarded - Relationship with the deceased is not a factor that affects credibility of a witness - a relative would not conceal the actual culprit and make allegation against an innocent person - Court to adopt a careful approach and analyse the evidence to find out, whether it is cogent and credible evidence - appellants deserve to be convicted with regard to the common object of the unlawful assembly of causing grievous hurt to which they concurred i.e. under Section 326 read with Section 149 of the I.P.C. instead of Section 302 read with Section 149 of the IPC. (Para 16,33 & 64)

B. Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 45 - Opinions of experts - the evidence of any medical witness is only an evidence of an expert admissible under Section 45 of the Indian Evidence Act, therefore, it is not conclusive.

Held:-when a case of prosecution is based on direct evidence of eye witnesses the medical witness should follow such trustworthy and acceptable oral account of the wittiness's unless the trust worthy oral account of the incident is completely eclipsed by the medical evidence. Otherwise no dent can be made in the story of prosecution on the basis of hypothetical answers of any medical witness. In the instant case there is no material contradictions in the ocular and medical evidence available on record and the case of prosecution could not be doubted on the basis of hypothetical answers of Doctor who conducted the post mortem specially when he has supported the case of prosecution on the time of death of deceased. (Para 35 & 39)

C. Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Section 149 - accused-appellant certainly exceeded the common object of the unlawful assembly which was only to cause hurt or likely to cause grievous hurt, in order to restrain any one from digging the drain - other accused persons could not be held liable vicariously for the independent and isolated act of appellant , which was neither committed in furtherance of original common object of the unlawful assembly nor it was a possible or likely object which may come in the contemplation of any of the members of unlawful assembly, either at the time of initial formation of the unlawful assembly or even during the course of the incident.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mohd. Faiz Alam Khan. J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the appellants, Wasim Ahmad as well as learned AGA for the State and perused the record.

2. This criminal appeal has been preferred by appellants- Ram Kishan, Jagannath, Janki, Sri Ram, Babu, Ramadhar and Hardev, under Section 374(2) of the Cr.P.C. against the judgment and order dated 20.7.1982, passed by III- Additional District and Sessions Judge, Sitapur, in Sessions Trial No. 103 of 1980, "State Vs. Ram Kishan and others', arising out of Case Crime No. 154 of 1979, under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302 IPC, relating to Police Station Tal Gaon, District Sitapur, convicting the appellant Hardev under Sections 148, 302 and 149 read with Section 323 IPC and appellants- Ram Kishan, Jagannath, Janki, Sri Ram, Babu and Ramadhar for the charges under Sections 147, 149 read with Section 302 and 149 read with Section 323 IPC whereby Hardev was sentenced for imprisonment for life with fine stipulation for one year imprisonment, for the offence under Section 148 IPC, for imprisonment of one and half year and under Section 149 IPC rigorous imprisonment for six months and for the offence under Section 323 IPC six months rigorous imprisonment. The trial court further sentenced appellants- Ram Kishan, Jagannath, Janki, Shri Ram, Ramadhar and Babu for life imprisonment and fine stipulation for the offence under Section 149 IPC read with Section 302 IPC and six months rigorous imprisonment for offence under Section 149 read with Section 323 IPC and one year rigorous imprisonment for the offence under Section 147 IPC.

3. The prosecution story as unfolded from the record of the subordinate court is that on 14.8.1979 at 9.10 A.M a written report was submitted to the S.H.O., Police Station Talgaon, Sitapur by informant Ram Raj son of Suraj Deen R/o Mauza Jaraili, Police Station Talgaon, District Sitapur alleging that in the rainy season a heavy water logging occurred in village Jaraili, Jaraili Purwa and Makhpur. In order to drain this water a drain was being dug from a pond situated in the west side of the village under the orders of the Block Development Authorities of Block Persendi. The drain was dug from village Jaraili till north of village Kailashpur. A part of this drain was passing in front of the field of accused Hardev. Today (14.8.1979) the labourers, namely, Shatrohan Lal Bahelia and Mahavir Chamar etc. were working in the drain. The informant was digging out weed from his paddy field. At that time Ram Kishan, Jagannath, Janki, Shri Ram, Babu and Ramadhar, armed with "Lathis' and Hardev armed with a "Kudal' arrived at the drain. Hardev scolded the labourers that as they have cut the roots of his trees and have also dug the "mend', he will see them. Accused persons started cutting the roots of their trees and also started pouring mud in the drain in order to fill it. The labourers stopped the works of drain and went to the village Jaraili. After some time at about 8 A.M. Ambika Prasad along with Shatrohan and Mahaveer came at the drain and started explaining and pacifying the accused persons. There happened an exchange of hot words and this got the attention of Ram Raj, Chhotakau, Sant Ram and Satguru Prasad who reached the spot. Ram Kishan and others who were armed with Lathis chased Ambika Prasad up to the paddy filed of Kallu by giving blows of Lathis to him. Ambika Prasad fell down in the field of kallu and thereafter all accused persons declared that they will finish him so that he may taste the consequences of getting the drain dug . On this Hardev gave four blows on the neck of Ambika Prasad with his Kudal and all accused persons fled away. Informant along with Shatrohan, Chhotkau, Sant Ram and Satguru went to see Ambika Prasad and found him lying dead in the Nali drenched with blood.

4. On the basis of the aforesaid written information, a case was registered against all above mentioned accused persons at Case Crime No. 154 of 1979 under Sections 147, 148, 149, 302 IPC and the investigation of the case was entrusted to S.H.O. Shri Shiv Shankar Singh.

5. The Investigating officer proceeded to the scene of the crime and prepared inquest report Ex. Ka-9 and necessary papers for the purpose of postmortem of the dead body of Ambika Prasad and handed over the dead body in a sealed condition to constable Satish Kumar Pandey and village Chaukidar Ram Pal. He also, after recording the statement of informant and injured witnesses as well as the eye witnesses Chhotaku and Shatrohan forwarded injured Chhotkau and Shatrohan to hospital for the purpose of medical examination of the injuries sustained by them. He also collected simple and blood stained soil from the paddy field of Kallu and prepared a memo Ex. Ka-15.

6. The postmortem on the dead body of the deceased Ambika Prasad was performed by Dr. Azeez Ahmad Khan, Medical Officer, District Hospital Lakhimpur Kheri on 15.8.1979 at about 4.30 P.M. The doctor found the age of the deceased about 35 years and probable time of death is about 1½ day before the time of postmortem. The deceased was a young man of good health. Rigor mortis passed from upper limbs and was passing from the lower limbs. He found blisters at some places. He also found following ante-mortem injuries on the body of the deceased:-

(I) Incised wound with sharp edge cutting 9cm x 4 cm bone deep on right side of upper part of neck, 5 cm. Below the right ear, more towards back and extending up to occipital region.

(II) Multiple incised wounds, 4 in number in an area of 21 cm x 5 cm vertebra deep on right side of the neck extending up to the mid line in front and in the back, 5 cm. Below the angle of mandible, every wound was bone deep, all the articles and veins, trachea and thyroid cartilage were cut off, the margins were sharp cut, the injury was 1 ½ cm. below injury no.1.

(III) Incised wound 6 cm. X 1 ½ cm. X muscle deep, 2 cm. Below injury no.2, in the middle, just above the collar bone.

(IV) Incised wound 9 cm. X 3 cm. X bone deep, over collar bone, 2 1/2cm. Below injury no.3.

(V) Incised wound with sharp cutting edges 3.5 cm. X bone deep on right parietal region, 8 cm. Above the right of ear. Fracture of occipital, parietal and frontal bones were present.

(VI) Multiple contused area 21 cm. X 11 cm. On outer aspect of right arm, 11 cm. Below the acrominal prominence.

(VII) Seven contusions in area of 41 cm. X 15 cm. on the right side of chest and abdomen extending, 3 cm. Below the axilla up to the iliac cryst.

(X) Contused area 23 cm. X 4 cm. On outer aspect of left forearm just below the elbow.

(XII) Multiple contused area 30 cm. X 30 cm. On the whole of the back, right and left both sides, extending from the root of the neck.

7. On internal examination half lb semi digested food was found in Stomach, the small intestine was partially full and large intestine was full in its upper side while the rectum was empty. Gallbladder was half full and cause of death was due to shock and hemorrhage as a result of ante-mortem injuries.

8. Injured witness Shatrohan Lal was medically examined on 14.8.1979 at 6 P.M. at P.H.C. Persendi, District Sitapur who was brought by the Constable Jasbeer Singh and following injuries were found on his person :-

(I) Contusion 4 cm. X 1.5 cm. In the back left thigh, middle.

(II) Contusion 7 cm. X 1.5 cm. In the calf of left leg (back).

(III) Contusion 5 cm. X 1.5 cm. In the back and inner side of right leg (middle).

9. All injuries were simple and caused by blunt weapon. The duration was about half day old.

10. Chhotakan was also medically examined on 14.8.1979 at 6.30 at P.H.C. Persendi who was brought by constable Jasbeer Singh of Police Station Talgaon, District Sitapur and following injuries were noticed on his person:-

(I) Contusion 7 cm. X 1.5 cm. In the back of left thigh.

(II) Complaint of pain in right hand middle finger but no external of injury is present.

(III) Injuries are simple and caused by blunt weapon duration about half day.

11. The Investigating Officer after completing the necessary formalities including sending blood stained soil collected from the place of occurrence along with Baniyan and underwear of the deceased to chemical examiner and the report so collected which Confirmed human blood on these articles and after completing investigation submitted charge sheet against all accused persons on 26.9.1979.

12. The case being exclusively triable by the court of sessions was committed to the sessions court.

13. The charges under Sections 148 and 302, and 323 read with Section 149 IPC were framed against the accused Hardev while the charges under Sections 147, 302 read with Section 149 IPC and under Section 323 read with Section 149 IPC were framed against the accused-appellant- Ram Kishan, Jagannath, Janki, Shri Ram, Ramadhar and Babu.

14. The prosecution in order to prove its case before the trial court produced following documentary evidence:-

(I) Postmortem report
Ex. Ka-1

(II) Chemical examiner reports
Ex. Ka-2 and Ka-3

(III) Injury report of Shatrohan Lal
Ex.Ka-4.

(IV) Injury report of Chhotakau
Ex. Ka-5

(V) Chick F.I.R.
Ex. Ka-6

(VI) G.D. Entry of the FIR
Ex. Ka-7

(VII) Special reprot sent to higher authorities Ex. Ka-8

(VIII) Inquest report
Ex. Ka-9

(IX) Challan Lash
Ex. Ka-10

(X) Seal sample
Ex. Ka-11

(XI) Scratch of dead body

(XIII) Copy of FIR
Ex. Ka-14

(XIV) Memo of seizure of blood stained earth Ex. Ka-15

(XV) Site plan Ex. Ka-16

(XVI) Charge sheet Ex. Ka-17

15. The prosecution also produced following witnesses in support of its case:-

(I) P.W.1- Ram Raj (Informant)

(II) P.W.2- Shatrohan Lal (Injured)/ eye witness)

(III) P.W.3- Constable Satish Kumar Pandey, (who took the body to the postmortem house.)

(IV) P.W.4- Sant Ram (eye witness)

(V) P.W.5- Dr. Azeez Ahmad Khan, (who conducted the postmortem).

(VI) P.W.6- Constable Mohan Lal Rastogi, (who sent the blood stained earth to the chemical examiner)

(VII) P.W. 7-Dr. S. R. Verma (who inspected two injured persons)

(VIII) P.W.8- S.I. Ram Autar Singh (who kept the material in Sadar Malkhana)

(IX) P.W.9- S.O. Shiv Shankar Singh (Investigating Officer)

(X) P.W.10- Shri V.K. Tandon (who sent the material to chemical examination from the office of C.M.O.)

16. After completion of the evidence of the prosecution the statement of the accused persons was recorded under Section 313 of the Cr.P.C., wherein they denied the occurrence and stated that the evidence has been given on the basis of enmity. Accused Ram Kishan in his statement has further stated that the incident of cleaning of the drain had happened 10-12 days before the instant incident. Some quarrel happened with Mahaveer and Shatrohan who cut the roots of his trees. He moved an application against them and only on the basis of that enmity they have been falsely roped in . They did not allow Shatrohan to catch birds from their trees, so he was also having enmity on this score.

17. The accused persons in their defence produced D.W.1- Rajendra Prasad, who is the Lekhpal of the village concerned.

18. The trial court after analyzing and appreciating the evidence on record found the case of the prosecution proved beyond reasonable doubt and convicted and sentenced all the accused persons in the manner described in the second paragraph of this judgment.

19. Aggrieved by the impugned judgment and order of conviction and sentence the appellants have preferred instant appeal, however during the course of pendency of this appeal, appellant no.1 Ram Kishan, appellant no.2 Jagannath, appellant no.4- Shri Ram and appellant no.7- Hardev died and the appeal with regard to them was abated vide order dated 9.8.2019. Hence we are now left to decide the appeal pertaining to appellant no.3- Janki, appellant no.5- Babu and appellant no. 6- Ramadhar.

20. Learned counsel for the appellants while pressing the appeal submits that the court below without appreciating the evidence available on record in right perspective has convicted the appellants for the offence which they have not done. There are material contradictions in the testimony of all the eye witnesses and prosecution story is highly improbable.

21. He further submits that the prosecution witnesses no.1- Raja Ram, PW-2 Shatrohan Lal and PW-4 Sant Ram are related witnesses as they are related to the deceased Ambika Prasad and their testimony could not have been believed by the court below.

22. He further submits that the First Information Report was after thought and prepared in consultation with Police Authorities of Police Station Talgaon.

23. He further submits that injuries allegedly sustained by witnesses Chhotakan and Shatrohan were self inflicted to carve out a false case against the appellants.

24. He further submits that from the evidence on record it is evident that Ambika Prasad has been done to death in the dead hours of night and therefore the prosecution case is not believable.

25. Learned counsel for the appellants overwhelmingly submits that the trial court has committed a manifest error in convicting the surviving appellants for the offence under Under Section 302 IPC read with Section 149 of the I.P.C. as there was no evidence that any unlawful assembly was formed by the appellants, object of which was to murder the deceased. Even if the story of prosecution is believed the ingredients of formation of unlawful assembly and sharing of its unlawful object are missing and it is evident from the facts and circumstances as well as the evidence on record that there was no unlawful assembly the object of which was to murder the deceased, therefore the finding of the trial court with regard to it is perverse. Learned counsel for the appellants in order to substantiate his argument has relied on following case laws:-

(I) Shashi Kant Vs. State of U.P., (2008)1 ALJ (Noc) 167 Allahabad.

(II) Sikandar Singh and others Vs. State of Bihar (2010)7 SCC page 477.

(III) Mariadasan and others Vs. State of Tamilnadu (1980)3 SCC page 68.

26. Per contra learned AGA appearing for the State submits that the prosecution has proved its case beyond all reasonable doubts and there is nothing illegal or wrong in the judgment of the trial court. Learned AGA further submits that it was established from the evidence produced by the prosecution that the drain was being dug in pursuance of the decision taken by the Block Development Authority and some time prior to the incident the labourers allegedly cut the roots of the trees standing on the land of the accused Hardev. All accused persons are related to Hardev and on the fateful day after hearing that the drain is being cleaned they reached the spot and scolded the labourers working there. He further submits that all accused persons were carrying lathis with them and accused Hardev was carrying a Kudal and keeping in view the arms carried by the accused persons it is established and evident that the object of this unlawful assembly was to commit murder of anyone, who so ever will come in their way.

27. He further submits that at the fateful time deceased Ambika only came to persuade the accused persons for not to make any hindrance in a beneficial work being carried out by the labourers under the Authority of Block Development Parsenda. However, all the accused persons, in pursuance of common object of unlawful assembly, assaulted Ambika Prasad as well as Shatrohan and Chhotakau with lathis and when Ambika Prasad fell in the paddy field of Kallu, accused Hardev in furtherance of common object of the unlawful assembly assaulted him with Kudal, therefore all the accused persons have participated in the occurrence and hence have rightly been convicted for the murder of Ambika with the help of Section 149 IPC .

28. Before proceeding further we would like to have a brief survey of the evidence of the witnesses, so that submissions of the learned counsel for the rival parties could be appreciated in a better way.

P.W.1- Ram Raj is the informant of the FIR who in his statement has stated that under orders of Persendi block a drain was being dug, a part of which was situated adjacent to the land of accused Hardev. On the day of occurrence labourers were cleaning and digging this drain. He further stated that at the time of incident he was in his agriculture field. At about 8 A.M. in the morning accused persons arrived at the site of the drain. All accused persons except Hardev were carrying lathis, while accused Hardev was carrying a "Kudal'. After arriving at the drain accused persons asked the labourers to see them as they have cut the roots of their trees. The labourers departed from the site, however after a short time Ambika accompanied by Shatrohan and Mahaveer came at the site of the drain and started pacifying the accused persons. There were some verbal altercations and thereafter accused persons started assaulting Ambika with lathis, whereby Ambika Prasad fell in the paddy field of Kallu and thereafter accused persons Ram Kishan and Jagannath dragged Ambika Prasad from his legs and put him in a Nali situated on the other side of the drain towards the land of Hardev. Thereafter all accused persons asked to murder him and accused Hardev inflicted 3-4 Kudal blows on the neck of Ambika Prassad. He further stated that when Ambika Prasad was being dragged, Shatrohan Lal and Chhutkan attempted to save him but they were assaulted by Shri Ram, Janki, Babu and Ramadhar by lathis and they also sustained injuries. He stated to have informed the police by giving a written application. In his cross examination this witness stated that when the work started at the drain, Ambika Prasad was not there and only labourers were working. He (Ram Raj) came to his field at 6 A.M. and when Hardev and others were talking to the labourers he did not go there. However, he heard the conversation while staying in his field. He again stated in his cross examination that when at 8 A.M. Ambika Prasad came at the site along with Shatrohan Lal and Mahaveer they were not carrying any arm with them. He could not hear the conversation clearly but was able to hear that Ambika Prasad was saying that why they are making hindrance in the cleaning of the drain. At that point of time some accused persons were filling the drain with mud. This witness admitted that deceased Ambika Prasad was related to him as he was the son of his maternal aunt. He further stated that at the time of assault on Ambika Prasad he was near the mend of the field of Kallu. He was standing about 10-15 paces from the place where Ambika Prasad fell . He was dragged by Ram Kishan and Jagannath across the drain. He could not say as to who assaulted which part of Ambika's body. He witnessed the murder of Ambika Prasad from the field of Kallu and at that point of time Shatrohan Lal and Mahaveer were in the drain and Sant Ram , Satguru and Chhutkan were standing towards the north of the drain. There were no verbal exchanges in between Ambika Prasad and accused persons in his presence. He further stated that before the incident there was no enmity in between Ambika Prasad and accused persons, rather they were having cordial relations.

P.W.2- Shatrohan Lal is the person who was a labourer engaged in digging of the disputed drain and was there since morning. He corroborated the statement of P.W.1- Ram Raj pertaining to the incident which happened in the morning when all accused persons armed with Lathis and Hardev armed with Kudal, arrived at the site of drain and scolded them that they have cut the roots of their trees and they will see them. He stated to have returned to the village and contacted Ambika Prasad, who was a social worker and he along with Ambika Prasad and Mahaveer returned to the drain at about 8 A.M.. He further stated that Ambika and accused persons had some hot verbal exchanges where after the accused persons assaulted Ambika Prasad with lathis, who fell down in the field of Kallu and was dragged by Ram Kishan and Jagannath. When Chhutkan and he tried to intervene, they were also assaulted by Ramadhar, Shri Ram Babu and Janki. He further stated that when Ambika Prasad was lying in the Nali Hardev gave 3-4 blows of Kudal on his neck whereby he died in the Nali. In cross examination he stated that Janki, Babu, Shri Ram and Ramadhar assaulted him and Chhutkan with lathis. According to him when he went to Ambika Prasad, he told him that he will talk to the accused persons and thereafter they returned to the site of drain within 10-15 minutes. He stated that when Ambika Prasad was being assaulted by accused persons, they did not assault either him or Mahaveer. Ambika Prasad fell in the field of Kallu about 20-25 paces away from the drain and when Ambika Prasad fell down, they dragged him (Ambika) and when he (satrohan) objected to it he was assaulted with lathis and Chhutkan was also present near him. Ram Raj at that point of time was in the field of Paragi, about 5-7 paces away from him. He witnessed the murder from about 4-5 paces away from the site. He categorically stated that Hardev was giving blows on the neck of the deceased while other accused persons were standing towards the west and he was crying and making an alarm. According to him the whole incident ended within 10 to 12 minutes and he sustained three injuries.

P.W.4- Sant Ram has stated to be present in his agriculture field along with his brother Satguru, at the time of the incident. He claimed to have seen the accused persons holding lathis and Kudal on the northern mend of Hardev's land and Ambika Prasad, Mahaveer and Shatrohan were standing towards the north of drain. He heard hot exchanges in between Ambika Prasad and Hardev and other accused persons and thereafter he saw that Ambika Prasad is being assaulted by accused persons with lathis and thereafter Ambika Prasad fell in the paddy field of Kallu and was dragged from his legs by Ram Kishan and Jagannath, at this moment Shatrohan and Chhutkan objected to it on which Ramadhar, Shri Ram, Janki and Babu assaulted him and Chutkan by giving lathi blows and when Ambika Prasad was placed in a Nali situated towards the west of Hardev's land, Hardev gave 3-4 blows of Kudal on the neck of Ambika Prasad. In cross examination this witness admitted to be a relative of deceased Ambika Prasad and also that agricultural land where he was doing work, is in the name of his sons Prem Kumar and Kuldeep Kumar. He stated that he could not hear the conversation of accused persons and Ambika Prasad clearly as he was standing about 2 ½ - 3 meters away from the place where Ambika Prasad and accused persons were talking. He specifically stated that he did not hear the call of accused persons to murder Ambika Prasad before start of assault and also that "Marpeet' (assault) occurred in the filed of Kallu where Ambika Prasad fell down. He claimed that when Ambika Prasad was being assaulted, Hardev was also there but he was not assaulting with the "Kudal'. When Ambika Prasad fell in the field of Kallu he was standing 10-15 paces away from him and Chhutkan and Shatrohan were standing at about 10 paces away from Ambika Prasad towards the west. Ambika Prasad was dragged for about 28-30 paces from the place where he fell down.

P.W.3- Constable Satish Kumar Pandey is the witness who took the dead body of deceased Ambika for post mortem.

P.W.5- Dr. A.A. Khan has stated to have conducted postmortem on the dead body of the deceased and to have prepared the postmortem report in his hand writing and signature and proved the same as Ex. Ka-1. He also stated about injuries sustained by deceased and other particulars noted by him at the time of postmortem. He, in cross examination has stated that the death of the deceased might have happened at about 1.00 A.M. in the intervening night of 13/14.8.1979. However, in the next breath he stated that probable time of death of the deceased was about 8 A.M. on 14.8.1979. If the deceased had taken breakfast at about 5 or 5.30 A.M. semi-digested food will be found in the stomach. According to him the injuries no. 6, 7, 10 and 12 on the person of deceased were caused by some blunt object like lathis, and injury nos. 8 and 11 could have been caused by friction. Injuries no.1, to 5 sustained by deceased were caused by some sharp edged weapon like "Kudal' and the injuries no. 1, 2 and 5 were sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death. Fracture in the head occurred due to injury no.5 and 3rd , 4th and 5th survical vertebra was cut against the injury no.2. All injuries according to him were 1 ½ day old.

P.W.6- Constable Mohan Lal Rastogi is a formal witness who testified to have seen material recovered from the spot and sent the same for forensic investigation.

P.W.7- Dr. S.R. Verma is the doctor, who examined injured persons, Shatrohan Lal and Chhutkan on 14.8.1979 about 6 and 6.30 pm. at Primary Health Centre Persendi. He proved the medical reports of the injuries of the two injured persons as Ex. Ka-4 and Ka-5. He claimed that the injuries found on the person of shatrohan and Chutkan were about one and half day old and were caused by some hard and blunt object.

P.W.8- Sub Inspector, Ram Autar Singh is also a formal witness who was Incharge of Sadar Mal Khana wherein the material pertaining to the case was kept and wherefrom sent to the Chemical Analyst.

P.W.9- S.O. Shiv Shankar Singh, is the Investigating Officer of the crime and he proved preparation of inquest and all necessary papers for the postmortem in his hand writing and also to have recorded the statement of the witnesses and after completion of investigation to have submitted the charge sheet against all accused persons under relevant sections of the Indian Penal Code. He has been cross examined by the accused persons at length but nothing significant has been derived. He also proved to have seen, Head Muharrir, Mohd. Hashim working and has proved Chick FIR and G.D. in his hand writing and signature as Ex. Ka-1 and Ex. Ka-7 respectively.

P.W.10- Shri V.K. Tandon, who is a clerk in the office of the C.M.O. and testified to have sent material for forensic examination.

D.W.1- Rajendra Prasad is the lekhpal of Village Jareli Majra and has stated that Gata No. 1204 and 1203 (grove land) belongs to accused Hardev while Gata No. 1122 is the field of Kallu. No Nali is shown in the revenue map towards the west of the grove of Hardev. Adjacent to the grove land of Hardev, towards west Gata No. 2000 is situated which belongs to Jagannath, Hardev and Janki. There is no khata belongs to Ram Raj. However, in his cross examination he admitted that towards the west of the field of Kallu the field of Gokul bearing Gata No. 562 is situated and after the death of Gokul this land has come in the name of Suraj Deen who is the father of Ram Raj. He further stated that the name of Suraj Deen has now been mutated on Gata No. 562 on 23.12.1980 and this land i.e. Gata No. 562 is about 2-2 ½ furlong away from the grove (Orchard) of Hardev.

29. Now we deal the submissions of Ld. Counsel for the appellants. The first submission of Ld. Counsel for the appellants is that P.W.1- Ram Raj and P.W.4- Sant Ram are related to the deceased and P.W.-2 Shatrohan is an interested witness, therefore their testimony could not be believed because of their relation with the deceased and these witnesses are highly interested witnesses.

30. In Appabhai and Ors. vs. State of Gujarat, MANU/SC/0028/1988 Hon'ble Supreme Court held as under :-

"Experience reminds us that civilized people are generally insensitive when a crime is committed even in their presence. They withdraw both from the victim and the vigilante. They keep themselves away from the Court unless it is inevitable. They think that crime like civil dispute is between two individuals or parties and they should not involve themselves. This kind of apathy of the general public is indeed unfortunate, but it is there everywhere whether in village life, towns or cities. One cannot ignore this handicap with which the investigating agency has to discharge its duties.

The court, therefore, instead of doubting the prosecution case for want of independent witness must consider the broad spectrum of the prosecution version and then search for the nugget of truth with due regard to probability if any, suggested by the accused."

31. In Sucha Singh and Ors. vs. State of Punjab, MANU/SC/0527/2003 Hon'ble Supreme Court has observed as follows :-

"15. In Dalip Singh and Ors. v. The State of Punjab MANU/SC/0031/1953 : [1954]1SCR145 it has been laid down as under:-

"A witness is normally to be considered independent unless he or she springs from sources which are likely to be tainted and that usually means unless the witness has cause, such as enmity against the accused, to wish to implicate him falsely, Ordinarily a close relation would be the last to screen the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person. It is true, when feelings run high and there is personal cause for enmity, that there is a tendency to drag in an innocent person against whom a witness has a grudge along with the guilty, but foundation must be laid for such a criticism and the mere fact of relationship far from being a foundation is often a sure guarantee of truth. However, we are not attempting any sweeping generalization. Each case must be judged on its own facts. Our observations are only made to combat what is so often put forward in cases before us a general rule of prudence. There is no such general rule. Each case must be limited to and be governed by its own facts."

16. The above decision has since been followed in Guli Chand and Ors. v. State of Rajasthan MANU/SC/0107/1973 : 1974CriLJ331 in which Vadivelu Thevar v. State of Madras MANU/SC/0039/1957 : 1957CriLJ1000 was also relied upon.

17. We may also observe that the ground that the witness being a close relative and consequently being a partisan witness. should not be relied upon, has no substance. This theory was repelled by this Court as early as in Dalip Singh's case (supra) in which surprise was expressed over the impression which prevailed in the minds of the Members of the Bar that relatives were not independent witnesses. Speaking through Vivian Bose, J. it was observed:

"We are unable to agree with the learned Judges of the High Court that the testimony of the two eyewitnesses requires corroboration. It the foundation for such an observation is based on the fact that the witnesses are women and that the fate of seven men hangs on their testimony, we know of no such rule. If it is grounded on the reason that they are closely related to the deceased we are unable to concur. This is a fallacy common to many criminal cases and one one which another Bench of this Court endeavoured to dispel in - 'Rameshwar v. State of Rajasthan MANU/SC/0036/1951 : 1952CriLJ547 . we find, however, that it unfortunately still persists, it not in the judgements of the Courts, at any rate in the arguments of counsel."

18. Again in Masalti and Ors. v. State of U.P. MANU/SC/0074/1964 : [1964]8SCR133 this Court observed: (p, 209-210 para 14):

"but it would, we think, be unreasonable to contend that evidence given by witnesses should be discarded only on the ground that it is evidence of partisan or interested witnesses .....

The mechanical rejection of such evidence on the sole ground that it is partisan would invariably lead to failure of justice. No hard and fast rule can be laid down as to how much evidence should be appreciated. Judicial approach has to be cautious in dealing with such evidence; but the plea that such evidence should be rejected because it is partisan cannot be accepted as correct.

20. As observed by this Court in State of Rajasthan v. Teja Ram and Ors. MANU/SC/0189/1999 : 1999CriLJ2588 the over-insistence on witnesses having no relating with the victims often results in criminal justice going away. When any incident happens in a dwelling house or nearby the most natural witnesses would be the inmates of that house. It would be unpragmatic to ignore such natural witnesses and insist on outsiders who would not have even seen any thing. If the Court has discerned from the evidence or even from the investigation records that some other independent person has witnessed any event connecting the incident in question then there is justification for making adverse comments against non-examination of such person as prosecution witness. Otherwise, merely on surmises the Court should not castigate a prosecution for not examining other persons of the locality as prosecution witnesses. Prosecution can be expected to examine only those who have witnessed the events and not those who have not seen it though the neighbourhood may be replete with other residents also."

32. In Bhagaloo Lodh and Ors. vs. State of U.P. reported in MANU/SC/0700/2011 it was held as under :-

"14. Evidence of a close relation can be relied upon provided it is trustworthy. Such evidence is required to be carefully scrutinised and appreciated before resting of conclusion to convict the accused in a given case. But where the Sessions Court properly appreciated evidence and meticulously analysed the same and the High Court re-appreciated the said evidence properly to reach the same conclusion, it is difficult for the superior court to take a view contrary to the same, unless there are reasons to disbelieve such witnesses. Thus, the evidence cannot be disbelieved merely on the ground that the witnesses are inter-related to each other or to the deceased. (Vide: M.C. Ali and Anr. v. State of Kerala MANU/SC/0247/2010 : AIR 2010 SC 1639; Myladimmal Surendran and Ors. v. State of Kerala MANU/SC/0670/2010 : AIR 2010 SC 3281; Shyam v. State of Madhya Pradesh MANU/SC/7112/2007 : (2009) 16 SCC 531; Prithi v. State of Haryana MANU/SC/0532/2010 : (2010) 8 SCC 536; Surendra Pal and Ors. v. State of U.P. and Anr. MANU/SC/0713/2010 : (2010) 9 SCC 399; and Himanshu @ Chintu v. State (NCT of Delhi) MANU/SC/0006/2011 : (2011) 2 SCC 36).

In view of the law laid hereinabove, no fault can be found with the evidence recorded by the courts below accepting the evidence of closely related witnesses."

33. It is therefore settled that merely because witnesses are closed relatives of victim, their testimonies cannot be discarded. Relationship with the deceased is not a factor that affects credibility of a witness, more so, a relative would not conceal the actual culprit and make allegation against an innocent person. However, in such a case Court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse the evidence to find out, whether it is cogent and credible evidence.

Coming to the facts of the instant case it is evident that P.W.1- Ram Raj in his cross examination has admitted that Ambika Prasad is the son of his maternal aunt and P.W.4- Sant Ram has also admitted in his cross examination that he is related to deceased Ambika Prasad and at the time of incident he was in his filed situated near drain. Keeping in view the whole testimony of these prosecution witnesses it is proved that the field of Ram Raj is also situated near the drain. An attempt has been made by the defence to create a doubt by producing D.W.1- Rajendra Prsad Lekhpal to the effect that Ram Raj is not having any agricultural land near the drain but in cross examination D.W.1- Rajendra Prasad had admitted that towards the west of Kallu's field, land of Gokul bearing Gata No. 562 is situated and after the death of Gokul this has come in the name of Suraj Deen who is the father of Ram Raj (informant) therefore P.W.1- Ram Raj and P.W.4- Sant Ram appears to be natural witnesses of the crime as they were working in their fields. P.W.2- Shatrohan was a labourer, who was digging the drain, who after being threatened by accused persons departed towards the village and after a short interval returned with Ambika and Mahaveer. Therefore, he is a natural witness as he was engaged as a labourer to dig the drain. So even if P.W.1- Ram Raj and P.W.4- Sant Ram are related to deceased, their testimony could not be discarded only on the basis of their relation with the deceased and in view of the above settled legal position the testimony of these witnesses has to be appreciated with care and caution. However, one glaring highlight of testimony of these witnesses, namely, P.W.1- Ram Raj and P.W.4- Sant Ram is that during the course of their evidence, they did not conceal their relation with the deceased Ambika and in absence of any motive and prior enmity of accused persons with Ambika Prasad it is not clear as to why they will falsely implicate any innocent person and will shield those who are actual wrong doers. Therefore in the facts and circumantances of the case these witnesses i.e. PW-1 Raja Ram, P.W.2- Shatrohan and P.W.4- Sant Ram are natural witnesses and their presence at the place of occurrence is also natural.

34. Highlighting an hypothetical answer given by PW-5 Dr. A.A. Khan in his cross examination that the deceased might have died at 1 A.M. in the intervening night of 13/14.8.1979, it has been submitted that the deceased had died at 1.00 am in the intervening night of 13/14.8.1979 in some other incident at some other place by some unknown person(s) and appellants have been falsely implicated in this case.

35. The submission of learned cousnel for the appellants does not carry much weight. It is to be understood that the evidence of any medical witness is only an evidence of an expert admissible under Section 45 of the Indian Evidence Act, therefore, it is not conclusive.

36. In Ramkant Rai v. Madan Rai and Ors. as reported inMANU/SC/0780/2003 : 2004CriLJ36 , the Apex Court has observed in ParaNo. 22 as under:

"22. It is trite that where the eyewitnesses' account is found credible and trustworthy, medical opinion pointing to alternative possibilities is not accepted as conclusive. Witnesses, as Bantham said, are the eyes and ears of justice. Hence the importance and primacy of the quality of the trial process. Eyewitnesses' account would require a careful independent assessment and evaluation for their credibility which should not be adversely prejudged making any other evidence Including medical evidence, as the sole touchstone for the test of such credibility. The evidence must be tested for its inherent consistency and the inherent probability of the story; consistency with the account of other witnesses held to be credit-worthy; consistency with the undisputed facts the 'credit' of the witnesses; their performance In the witness-box; their power of observation etc. Then the probative value of such evidence becomes eligible to be put into the scales for a cumulative evaluation."

37. Hon'ble Supreme Court in Ram Praksh and others vs. The State of Uttar Pradesh reported in Manu/SC/0062/1968, while dealing with a similar argument held in pargraph 5 of the report as under:-

"5. On the second point, it is urged, that according to the medical evidence the death might have been caused on the night intervening 18th and 19th July, 1966, Dr. S. P. Gulati P.W. 4, who had performed the postmortem examination stated that faecal matter and gas were present in the small and large intestines of Ganeshi Lal; owing to this reason he thought it probable that the deceased had not eased himself till the time of receiving the injuries. Mr. Anthony says that it is well-known that a person with normal habits particularly in villages empties his bowels early in the morning. The presence of the faecal matter in the small and large intestines showed that Ganeshi Lal must have died within some hours of his taking food on the previous night namely by the midnight of 18th and 19th July, 1966. This, according to Mr. Anthony, established that the prosecution case about the time of death cannot be accepted. Reliance has been placed on the statement in Modi's Medical Jurisprudence and Toxicology, 10th Ed., p. 151, that one can give an opinion that the death occurred some time after the deceased go up in the morning if the large intestines was found empty of faecal matter. It is submitted that conversely it can well be said that if the large intestine is found full of faecal matter it should be inferred that death did not take place in the morning. The learned trial judge discussed this matter in his judgment and disposed it of by saying that there was no proof that before the occurrence Ganeshi Lal had eased himself and that even if he had gone for that purpose there was no presumption that his bowels had moved. According to him, the question of time had to be decided on the basis of direct and other evidence on the record. We concur in that view and find it difficult to accept that the question of time should be decided only by taking into consideration the fact that faecal matter was found in the intestines of the deceased. This may be a factor which might have to be considered along with the other evidence but this fact alone cannot be decisive."

38. Perusal of statement of Dr. A.A. Khan would reveal that he has stated that the death of the deceased is possible on 14.8.1979 at about 8 A.M. He further stated to have found semi-digested food in the stomach of deceased, the upper part of large intestine was full of faecal matter but the rectum was found empty. The postmortem report also contains that small intestine of the deceased was partially full. Considering the above factual matrix, the submission of learned counsel for appellants that the deceased would have died in the night in between 13/14.8.1979 does not appear to be of any substance and probable as the rectum of the deceased has been found empty and the small intestine was found partially full. It is a matter of common knowledge that in the villages people generally awake early in the morning and at first go to ease them out. Therefore the postmortem report suggests that early in the morning the deceased might have eased himself and thereafter had taken some food, as stated by P.W.5- Dr. A.A. Khan probably at 5.00 - 5.30 A.M. and it is only on account of this, the rectum has been found empty and small intestine was found partially full. This medical situation do not suggest that deceased may die at 1.00 A.M. in the dead of night, as it is not probable for him to go to ease in the night.

39. Moreover when a case of prosecution is based on direct evidence of eye witnesses the medical witness should follow such trustworthy and acceptable oral account of the wittinesses unless the trust worthy oral account of the incident is completely eclipsed by the medical evidence. Otherwise no dent can be made in the story of prosecution on the basis of hypothetical answers of any medical witness. In the instant case there is no material contradictions in the ocular and medical evidence available on record and the case of prosecution could not be doubted on the basis of hypothetical answers of Doctor who conducted the post mortem specially when he has supported the case of prosecution on the time of death of deceased.

40. The investigating officer has collected the blood stained soil from the place of occurrence and all witnesses have identified the place of occurrence with precision and clarity. Therefore there is no confusion pertaining to the place of occurrence.

41. The FIR in the matter has also been lodged at 9.10 a.m. in the morning, while the occurrence is stated to have happened at about 08.00 a.m. therefore the FIR is also prompt in the facts and circumstances of the case.

42. The next submission of Learned counsel for the appellants is that the court below without appreciating the evidence available on record in right perspective has convicted the appellants for the offence and there are material contradictions in the testimony of all the eye witnesses and prosecution story is highly improbable and could not be believed.

43. There can not be any doubt that while appreciating the evidence on record the court is required to exercise due diligence though the standard of such exercise would be of a prudent person. The Court must bear in mind the facts and circumstances where in the crime has been committed, the quality of evidence, nature of the witnesses, their level of understanding and power of perception and reproduction. The quest must be to find out the truth from the evidence on record. At the same time, it must remain in the mind that there cannot be a prosecution case with a cast iron perfection. Nevertheless, obligation lies on the court to analyze, sift and assess the evidence on record, with reference to trustworthiness and truthfulness of the prosecution winesses, by a process of sincere judicial scrutiny adopting the yard stick of settled principles of appreciation of the evidence. What is to be insisted upon is proof beyond reasonable doubt. The contradictions, infirmities which might have been pointed out in prosecution case, must be assessed at the yardstick of probability. Unless, infirmities and contradictions are of such a nature so as to undermine the root of the evidence and which goes to the core of the prosecution case, over-emphasis may not be applied to such minor contradictions and infirmities. To judge the credibility of the evidence of a witness, one has to look into his evidence, and if any discrepancies is found in the ocular account of the witnesses not affecting the root of the case, the witness may not be labeled as not credit worthy. Even honest and truthful witnesses may differ in some details, which may not be related to the core of the prosecution case and their evidence therefore must be appreciated keeping in mind the power of observation, retention and reproduction as well as the human conduct and occurring incidents in ordinary course of nature.

44. In Krishna Mochi and Ors. vs. State of Bihar, MANU/SC/0327/2002 held as under :-

"As observed by this Court in State of Rajasthan v. Smt. Kalki and Anr. MANU/SC/0254/1981 : 1981CriLJ1012 , normal discrepancies in evidence are those which are due to normal errors of observation, normal errors of memory due to lapse of time, due to mental disposition such as shock and horror at the time of occurrence and those are always there however honest and truthful a witness may be. Material discrepancies are those which are not normal, and not expected of a normal person. Courts have to label the category to which a discrepancy may be categorized. While normal discrepancies do not corrode the credibility of a party's case, material discrepancies do so. Accusations have been established against accused-appellants in the case at hand."

45. In Gangabhavani vs. Rayapati Venkat Reddy and Ors. Reported in MANU/SC/0897/2013 held as under:-

"In State of U.P. v. Naresh MANU/SC/0228/2011 : (2011) 4 SCC 324, this Court after considering a large number of its earlier judgments held: In all criminal cases, normal discrepancies are bound to occur in the depositions of witnesses due to normal errors of observation, namely, errors of memory due to lapse of time or due to mental disposition such as shock and horror at the time of occurrence. Where the omissions amount to a contradiction, creating a serious doubt about the truthfulness of the witness and other witnesses also make material improvement while deposing in the court, such evidence cannot be safe to rely upon. However, minor contradictions, inconsistencies, embellishments or improvements on trivial matters which do not affect the core of the prosecution case, should not be made a ground on which the evidence can be rejected in its entirety. The court has to form its opinion about the credibility of the witness and record a finding as to whether his deposition inspires confidence.

Exaggerations per se do not render the evidence brittle. But it can be one of the factors to test credibility of the prosecution version, when the entire evidence is put in a crucible for being tested on the touchstone of credibility.

Therefore, mere marginal variations in the statements of a witness cannot be dubbed as improvements as the same may be elaborations of the statement made by the witness earlier. The omissions which amount to contradictions in material particulars i.e. go to the root of the case/materially affect the trial or core of the prosecution's case, render the testimony of the witness liable to be discredited.

A similar view has been reiterated by this Court in Tehsildar Singh and Anr. v. State of U.P. MANU/SC/0053/1959 : AIR 1959 SC 1012; Pudhu Raja and Anr. v. State, Rep. by Inspector of Police MANU/SC/0761/2012 : JT 2012 (9) SC 252; and Lal Bahadur v. State (NCT of Delhi) MANU/SC/0333/2013 : (2013) 4 SCC 557).

10. Thus, it is evident that in case there are minor contradictions in the depositions of the witnesses the same are bound to be ignored as the same cannot be dubbed as improvements and it is likely to be so as the statement in the court is recorded after an inordinate delay. In case the contradictions are so material that the same go to the root of the case, materially affect the trial or core of the prosecution case, the court has to form its opinion about the credibility of the witnesses and find out as to whether their depositions inspire confidence."

46. Honble Apex Court long back in the matter of Bharwada Bhoginbhai Hirjibhai v State of Gujarat as reported in AIR 1983, 753, MANU/SC/0090/1983 has held that "The principles for appreciation of evidence in the said case came to be settled by the Apex Court in trial against the accused in a rape case but the principles apply as well to all trials. In para-5, the Apex Court observed and settled following principles for appreciation of evidence without entering into re-appraisal or re-appreciation of the evidence in the context of minor discrepancies. The principles laid down are as under:

(1) By and large a witness cannot be expected to possess a photographic memory and to recall the details of an incident. It is not as if a video tape is replayed an the mental screen.

(2) Ordinarily it so happens that a witness is overtaken by events. The witness could not have anticipated the occurrence which so often has an element of surprise. The mental faculties therefore cannot be expected to be attuned to absorb the details.

(3) The powers of observation differ from person to person. What one may notice, another may not. An object or movement might emboss its image on one person's mind, whereas it might go unnoticed on the part of another.

(4) By and large people cannot accurately recall a conversation and reproduce the very words used by them or heard by them. They can only recall the main purport of the conversation. It is unrealistic to expect a witness to be a human tape recorder.

(5) In regard to exact time of an incident, or the time duration of an occurrence, usually, people make their estimates by guesswork on the spur of the moment at the time of interrogation. And one cannot expect people to make very precise or reliable estimates in such matters. Again, it depends on the time-sense of individuals which varies from person to person.

(6) Ordinarily a witness cannot be expected to recall accurately the sequence of events which take place in rapid succession or in a short time span. A witness is liable to get confused, or mixed up when interrogated later on.

(7) A witness, though wholly truthful, is liable to be overawed by the Court atmosphere and the piercing cross-examination made by counsel and out of nervousness mix up facts, get confused regarding sequence of events, or fill up details from imagination on the spur of the moment. The sub-conscious mind of the witness sometimes so operates on account of the fear of looking foolish or being disbelieved though the witness is giving a truthful and honest account of the occurrence witnessed by him - perhaps it is a sort of a psychological defence mechanism activated on the spur of the moment."

47. we have very carefully gone through the evidence of all three eye witnesses and have found that there is no material contradictions in their testimony pertaining to the occurrence of the incident. All the prosection eye witnesses are consistent on the point of begining of occurrence, assault given by all accused persons with lathis to Ambika, falling of Ambika Prasad in the field of Kallu and dragging of him by Ram Kishan and Jagannath by legs and also on the point of assault given to Shatrohan and Chhutkan by Ramadhar, Shri Ram, Janki and Babu when they tried to intervene and their testimony is also consistent on the point that when the deceased was placed in a Nali situated across the drain and all accused persons were standing towards the west of the field of Hardev, accused Hardev gave 3-4 Kudal blows on the neck of deceased Ambika causing his instant death.

48. P.W.1- Ram Raj in his statement has given minute details about the occurrence. He has witnessed the incident from the field of Paragi when Ambika Prasad was being first assaulted in the field of Kallu and P.W.4- Sant Ram was in his field, which is situated on the east of Hardev's grove. While Shatrohan was accompanying Ambika Prasad along with Mahaveer and at the time of assault he was also standing in the field of Kallu. It has also come in the evidence of these prosecution witnesses that there occurred some hot exchanges in between Ambika Prasad and accused persons, which in the facts and circumstances of the case were sufficient to attract P.W.1- Ram Raj and P.W.4- Sant Ram, particularly when an incident has happened in the morning, pertaining to digging of drain. P.W.1- Ram Raj has also admitted that he arrived at the spot after hearing some noise. He further stated that when Ambika Prasad was being dragged towards the Nali, he advanced himself to the field of Kallu from the field of Paragi and at that time Shatrohan and Mahaveer were standing at the drain and Sant ram, Sat Guru and Chhutkan were standing towards the north side of the drain. They were standing about 10-15 paces away from Ambika Prasad. It has been categorically stated by him that the accused persons were not having any enmity with Ambika Prasad and that their relations were cordial. P.W.2- Shatrohan is a natural witness as he was accompanying the deceased Ambika Prasad at the time of incident. The evidence of this witness is consistent on material particulars and fully corroborates the evidence of P.W.1- Ram Raj. He corroborated the manner and method of assault and also as to how he intervened and was assaulted with lathis by accused persons. He admitted that at that point of time Chhutkan was also with him and was also asaulted. He categorically stated that Hardev was cutting the neck of deceased while other accused persons were standing towards the west in the field of Hardev. P.W.4- Sant Ram is also a natural witness who was working in his fields and stated to have seen the accused persons at northern mend of their grove. He has given his evidence describing minute details of the occurrence and keeping in view his testimony as a whole there appears no loopholes or material contradictions in his testimony. He has described the topography of the spot in detail with precision. He admitted that he did not hear any call of accused persons to kill Ambika Prasad before the start of assault. He claimed to have witnessed the whole incident from a distance of 2 ½-3 meters. He provided the full description of the field of Kallu where Ambika Prasad fell and when Ambika Prasad was being assaulted he claimed to be standing on the eastern side of the field of Kallu and was about 10-15 paces away from Ambika Prasad. He also stated that Chhutkan and Shatrohan Lal objected to the dragging of Ambika Prasad by Ram Kishan and Jagannath and they were also assaulted by Ramadhar, Shri Ram, Janki and Babu .

49. Therefore, apart from some minute and insignificant discrepancies and improvement, which are natural to occur, there is no material contradictions in the testimony of these witnesses, which may go to the root of the matter and in the facts and circumstances of the case, the testimony of P.W.1- Ram Raj, P.W.2- Shatrohan and P.W.4- Sant Ram is reliable, trustful, acceptable and is having a ring of truth around it and there is no harm in accepting such trustworthy testimony. Even After the meticulous analysis of the evidence of three eye witnesses, namely, P.W.1- Ram Raj, P.W.2- Shatrohan and P.W.4- Sant Ram, we are satisfied that the testimony of these witnesses is consistent through out, reliable and inspire the confidence of this Court. It is therefore proved from the evidence of these eye witnesses that on the day of occurrence at early morning some labourers including PW-2 Satrohan and Mahaveer were cleaning and digging this drain situated adjacent to the land of Hardev. At about 8 A.M. in the morning all accused persons arrived at the site of the drain, all of them except Hardev were carrying lathis, while Hardev was carrying a Kudal. After arriving at the drain accused persons asked the labourers to see them as they have cut the roots of their trees. The labourers immediately departed from the site of drain , however after a short time Ambika accompanied by Shatrohan and Mahaveer came at the site of the drain and started pacifying the accused persons, resulting in hot verbal exchanges. All accused persons thereafter started assaulting Ambika with lathis, whereby Ambika Prasad fell in the paddy field of Kallu and thereafter Ram Kishan and Jagannath dragged Ambika Prasad from his legs and when they were challenged by PW-2 Shatrohan and Chutakan, both were assaulted with Lathi by Ramadhar, Shri Ram, Janki and Babu. However Ambika after being dragged for some distance was placed by accused persons Ram Kishan and Jagannath in a Nali situated on the other side of the drain towards the land of Hardev and while other accused persons were standing towards the west of hardev's field, He (Hardev) gave 4-5 blows of Kudal on the neck of Ambika Prasad causing his instant death and thereafter all accused persons fled away .

50. Learned counsel for the appellants overwhelmingly submits that the trial court has committed a manifest error in convicting the appellants for the offence under Under Section 302 IPC read with Section 149 of the I.P.C. as there was no evidence that any unlawful assembly was formed by the appellants, object of which was to murder the deceased. According to him even if the story of prosecution is believed the ingredients of formation of unlawful assembly and sharing of its unlawful object are missing and it is evident from the facts and circumstances as well as the evidence on record that there was no unlawful assembly formed with an unlawful object to murder the deceased, therefore the finding of the trial court with regard to it is perverse.

51. Ld. Counsel for the appellant in support of his argument at first relied on Shashi Kant Vs. State of U.P., (2008)1 ALJ (Noc) 167 Allahabad wherein it is held that members of the unlawful assembly can only be convicted for the act of any member if they know that the offence actually committed by such member was either common object of such assembly or likely to be committed in prosecution of common object.

52. Ld. Counsel for the appellant also relied on Sikandar Singh and others Vs. State of Bihar, MANU/SC/0462/2010 wherein Hon'ble Supreme Court opined that where a large number of persons are alleged to have participated in the crime and they are sought to be brought to book with the aid of Section 149 IPC, only those accused persons, whose presence was clearly established and an overt act by any one of them was proved, should be convicted by taking into consideration particular fact situation.

53. Ld. Counsel for the appellant also relied on Mariadasan and others Vs. State of Tamilnadu (1980)3 SCC page 68 wherein it is held , in the facts and circumstances of the case, that no unlawful assembly was formed and the appellants are responsible for their individual acts.

54. Hon'ble Supreme Court Of India in Chanakya Dhibar (Dead) Vs. State of West Bengal and Ors., MANU/SC/1096/2003 while dwelling on

"11. The emphasis in Section 149 IPC is on the common object and not on common intention. Mere presence in an unlawful assembly cannot render a person liable unless there was a common object and he was actuated by that common object and that object is one of those set out in Section 141. Where common object of an unlawful assembly is not proved, the accused persons cannot be convicted with the help of Section 149. The crucial question to determine is whether the assembly consisted of five or more persons and whether the said persons entertained one or more of the common objects, as specified in Section 141. It cannot be laid down as a general proposition of law that unless an overt act is proved against a person, who is alleged to be a member of unlawful assembly, it cannot be said that he is a member of an assembly. The only thing required is that he should have understood that the assembly was unlawful and was likely to commit any of the acts which fall within the purview of Section 141. The word 'object' means the purpose or design and, in order to make it 'common', it must be shared by all. In other words, the object should be common to the persons, who compose the assembly, that is to say, they should all be aware of it and concur in it, a common object may be formed by express agreement after mutual constitution, but that is by no means necessary. It may be formed at any stage by all or a few members or the assembly and the other members may just join and adopt it. Once formed, it need not continue to be the same. It may be modified or altered or abandoned at any stage. The expression 'in prosecution of common object' as appearing in Section 149 have to be strictly construed as equivalent to 'in order to attain the common object'. It must be immediately connected with the common object by virtue of the nature of the object. There must be community of object and the object may exist only up to a particular stage, and not thereafter. Members of an unlawful assembly may have community of object up to certain point beyond which they may differ in their objects and the knowledge, possessed by each member of what is likely to be committed in prosecution of their common object may vary not only according to the information at his command, but also according to the extent to which he shares the community of object, and as a consequence of this the effect of Section 149, IPC may be different on different members of the same assembly.

13. Section 149, IPC consists of two parts. The first part of the section means that the offence to be committed in prosecution of the common object must be one which is committed with a view to accomplish the common object. In order that he offence may fall within the first part, the offence must be connected immediately with the common object of the unlawful assembly of which the accused was member. Even if the offence committed is not in direct prosecution of the common object of the assembly, it may yet fall under Section 141, if it can be held that the offence was such as the members knew was likely to be committed and this is what is required in the second part of the section. The purpose for which the members of the assembly set out or desired to achieve is the object. If the object desired by all the members is the same, the knowledge that is the object which is being pursued is shared by all the members and they are in general agreement as to how it is to be achieved and that is now the common object of the assembly. An object is entertained in the human mind, and it being merely a mental attitude, no direct evidence can be available and, like intention, has generally to be gathered from the act which the person commits and the result therefrom. Though no hard and fast rule can be laid down under the circumstances from which the common object can be culled out, it may reasonably be collected from the nature of the assembly, arms it carries and behavior at or before or after the scene of incident. The word 'knew' used in the second branch of the section implies something more than a possibility and it cannot be made to bear the sense of 'might have been known'. Positive knowledge is necessary. When an offence is committed in prosecution of the common object, it would generally be an offence which the members of the unlawful assembly knew was likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object. That, however, does not make the converse proposition true; there may be cases which would come within the second part but not within the first part. The distinction between the two parts of Section 149 cannot be ignored or obliterated. In every case it would be an issue to be determined, whether the offence committed falls within the first part or it was an offence such as the members of the assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object and falls within the second part. However, there may be cases which would be within first offences committed in prosecution of the common object, but would be generally, if not always, with the second, namely, offences which the parties knew to be likely committed in the prosecution of the common object. 55. Hon'ble Supreme Court in Roy Fernandes vs State of Goa and Ors. Reported in MANU/SC/0072/2012 while eloborating the scope of section 149 of the penal code held as under :-

"19. In Gajanand and Ors. v. State of Uttar Pradesh MANU/SC/0173/1954 : AIR 1954 SC 695, this Court approved the following passage from the decision of the Patna High Court in Ram Charan Rai v. Emperor MANU/BH/0073/1945 : AIR 1946 Pat 242:

"Under Section 149 the liability of the other members for the offence committed during the continuance of the occurrence rests upon the fact whether the other members knew before hand that the offence actually committed was likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object. Such knowledge may reasonably be collected from the nature of the assembly, arms or behavior, at or before the scene of action. If such knowledge may not reasonably be attributed to the other members of the assembly then their liability for the offence committed during the occurrence does not arise.

20. This Court then reiterated the legal position as under:

The question is whether such knowledge can be attributed to the Appellants who were themselves not armed with sharp edged weapons. The evidence on this point is completely lacking. The Appellants had only lathis which may possibly account for Injuries 2 and 3 on Sukkhu's left arm and left hand but they cannot be held liable for murder by invoking the aid of Section 149 Indian Penal Code. According to the evidence only two persons were armed with deadly weapons. Both of them were acquitted and Sosa, who is alleged to have had a spear, is absconding. We are not prepared therefore to ascribe any knowledge of the existence of deadly weapons to the Appellants, much less that they would be used in order to cause death.

22. In Shambhu Nath Singh and Ors. v. State of Bihar MANU/SC/0214/1959 : AIR 1960 SC 725, this Court held that members of an unlawful assembly may have a community of object upto a certain point beyond which they may differ in their objects and the knowledge possessed by each member of what is likely to be committed in prosecution of their common object may vary not only according to the information at his command but also according to the extent to which he shares the community of object. As a consequence, the effect of Section 149 of the Indian Penal Code may be different on different members of the same unlawful assembly. Decisions of this Court Gangadhar Behera and Ors. v. State of Orissa MANU/SC/0875/2002 : 2002 (8) SCC 381 and Bishna Alias Bhiswadeb Mahato and Ors. v. State of West Bengal MANU/SC/1913/2005 : 2005 (12) SCC 657 similarly explain and reiterate the legal position on the subject." (Emphasis Ours)

56. Supreme Court Of India in Kuldip Yadav and Ors. Vs. State of Bihar,MANU/SC/0390/2011 while commenting on the scope of conviction with the aid of section 149 of penal Code held as under :-

"26. The above provision makes it clear that before convicting accused with the aid of Section 149 IPC, the Court must give clear finding regarding nature of common object and that the object was unlawful. In the absence of such finding as also any overt act on the part of the accused persons, mere fact that they were armed would not be sufficient to prove common object. Section 149 creates a specific offence and deals with punishment of that offence. Whenever the court convicts any person or persons of an offence with the aid of Section 149, a clear finding regarding the common object of the assembly must be given and the evidence discussed must show not only the nature of the common object but also that the object was unlawful. Before recording a conviction under Section 149 IPC, essential ingredients of Section 141 IPC must be established.

The above principles have been reiterated in Bhudeo Mandal and Ors. v. State of Bihar MANU/SC/0125/1981 : (1981) 2 SCC 755.

27. In Ranbir Yadav v. State of Bihar MANU/SC/0245/1995 : (1995) 4 SCC 392, this Court highlighted that where there are party factions, there is a tendency to include the innocent with the guilty and it is extremely difficult for the court to guard against such a danger. It was pointed out that the only real safeguard against the risk of condemning the innocent with the guilty lies in insisting on acceptable evidence which in some measure implicates such accused and satisfies the conscience of the court.

28. In Allauddin Mian and Ors. Sharif Mian and Anr. v. State of Bihar MANU/SC/0648/1988 : (1989) 3 SCC 5, this Court held: ...Therefore, in order to fasten vicarious responsibility on any member of an unlawful assembly the prosecution must prove that the act constituting an offence was done in prosecution of the common object of that assembly or the act done is such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object of that assembly. Under this section, therefore, every member of an unlawful assembly renders himself liable for the criminal act or acts of any other member or members of that assembly provided the same is/are done in prosecution of the common object or is/are such as every member of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed. This section creates a specific offence and makes every member of the unlawful assembly liable for the offence or offences committed in the course of the occurrence provided the same was/were committed in prosecution of the common object or was/were such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed. Since this section imposes a constructive penal liability, it must be strictly construed as it seeks to punish members of an unlawful assembly for the offence or offences committed by their associate or associates in carrying out the common object of the assembly. What is important in each case is to find out if the offence was committed to accomplish the common object of the assembly or was one which the members knew to be likely to be committed. There must be a nexus between the common object and the offence committed and if it is found that the same was committed to accomplish the common object every member of the assembly will become liable for the same. Therefore, any offence committed by a member of an unlawful assembly in prosecution of any one or more of the five objects mentioned in Section 141 will render his companions constituting the unlawful assembly liable for that offence with the aid of Section 149, IPC....

29. It is not the intention of the legislature in enacting Section 149 to render every member of unlawful assembly liable to punishment for every offence committed by one or more of its members. In order to attract Section 149, it must be shown that the incriminating act was done to accomplish the common object of unlawful assembly and it must be within the knowledge of other members as one likely to be committed in prosecution of the common object. If the members of the assembly knew or were aware of the likelihood of a particular offence being committed in prosecution of the common object, they would be liable for the same under Section 149 IPC.

30. In Rajendra Shantaram Todankar v. State of Maharashtra and Ors. MANU/SC/0002/2003 : (2003) 2 SCC 257 : 2003 SCC (Crl.) 506, this Court has once again explained Section 149 and held as under:

14. Section 149 of the Indian Penal Code provides that if an offence is committed by any member of an unlawful assembly in prosecution of the common object of that assembly, or such as the members of that assembly knew to be likely to be committed in prosecution of that object, every person who at the time of the committing of that offence, is a member of the same assembly is guilty of that offence. The two clauses of Section

149 vary in degree of certainty. The first clause contemplates the commission of an offence by any member of an unlawful assembly which can be held to have been committed in prosecution of the common object of the assembly. The second clause embraces within its fold the commission of an act which may not necessarily be the common object of the assembly, nevertheless, the members of the assembly had knowledge of likelihood of the commission of that offence in prosecution of the common object. The common object may be commission of one offence while there may be likelihood of the commission of yet another offence, the knowledge whereof is capable of being safely attributable to the members of the unlawful assembly. In either case, every member of the assembly would be vicariously liable for the offence actually committed by any other member of the assembly. A mere possibility of the commission of the offence would not necessarily enable the court to draw an inference that the likelihood of commission of such offence was within the knowledge of every member of the unlawful assembly. It is difficult indeed, though not impossible, to collect direct evidence of such knowledge. An inference may be drawn from circumstances such as the background of the incident, the motive, the nature of the assembly, the nature of the arms carried by the members of the assembly, their common object and the behavior of the members soon before, at or after the actual commission of the crime. Unless the applicability of Section 149 - either clause - is attracted and the court is convinced, on facts and in law, both, of liability capable of being fastened vicariously by reference to either clause of Section 149 IPC, merely because a criminal act was committed by a member of the assembly every other member thereof would not necessarily become liable for such criminal act. The inference as to likelihood of the commission of the given criminal act must be capable of being held to be within the knowledge of another member of the assembly who is sought to be held vicariously liable for the said criminal act...." (Emphasis Ours)

57. Hon'ble Supreme Court Of India in Manjit Singh Vs. The State of Punjab, MANU/SC/1195/2019 held as under :-

"14.4. In the case of Subal Ghoral v state of West Bengal, MANU/SC/0296/2013 (supra), this Court, after a survey of leading cases, summed up the principles as follows:

"53. .....What the common object of the unlawful assembly is at a particular stage has to be determined keeping in view the course of conduct of the members of the unlawful assembly before and at the time of attack, their behaviour at or near the scene of offence, the motive for the crime, the arms carried by them and such other relevant considerations. The criminal court has to conduct this difficult and meticulous exercise of assessing evidence to avoid roping innocent people in the crime. These principles laid down by this Court do not dilute the concept of constructive liability. They embody a Rule of caution."

58. We have perused the evidence of the prosecution specially the evidence of three eye witnesses, namely, P.W.1- Ram Raj, P.W. 2- Shatrohan Lal and P.W.4- Sant Ram in the back ground of the above argument advanced by learned counsel for the appellants and have found that this is an admitted case of the prosecution that there was no previous enmity of deceased Ambika Prasad or injured Shatrohan and Chhotakau with accused persons. Ambika appears to be a person who was interested in the digging of the drain only for the purpose of well being of whole village where he was living as there was a complaint of water logging in and around his village and the digging and cleaning of the drain was beneficial for his village, though he was not directly associated in any manner with work of digging of drain . It is also established by the reliable testimony of three eye witnesses produced by the prosecution namely, P.W.1- Ram Raj, P.W.2- Shatrohan and P.W.4- Sant Ram that the incident on the fateful day has happened in three parts:-

(I) The first part of the incident is related to the fact that the drain was being dug from last 2-3 days before the incident and perhaps the roots of some of the trees of Hardev grove were cut in the digging and cleaning of drain. On the fateful day when labourers including Shatrohan, Mahaveer and others started digging the drain accused persons came to the site of drain. All accused persons except Hardev were carrying Lathis with them, while Hardev was carrying a Kudal in his hand and after arriving at the site of drain they scolded labourers that they have cut roots of their trees and they will see them today. Admittedly there was no altercation between the accused persons and the above named labourers as the labourers immediately left the place and went to the village of Ambika. At this juncture the first part of the incident was over.

(II) So far as second part of the incident is concerned, it is evident from the evidence on record that after departure of labourers, namely, Mahaveer and Shatrohan, accused Hardev started cutting roots of his own trees and all other accused persons started putting mud in the drain. It is also established from the evidence on reocrd that at this time deceased Ambika came there alongwith Shatrohan and Mahaveer and there they had some hot words, accused persons chased them and assaulted Ambika Prasad with lathis. In the process Ambika Prasad fell in the paddy field of Kallu. Thereafter accused-appellant Ram Kishan and Jagannath started dragging Ambika Prasad from his legs. At this moment when Ambika Prasad was being dragged by Ram Kishan and Jagannath, injured witnesses Chhotakau and Shatrohan attempted to save Ambika Prasad, on which Shri Ram, Janki, Babu and Ramadhar assaulted them with lathis. Ram Kishan and Jagannath after dragging Ambika Prasad for some distance left him in a Nali. PW4 Sant Ram has also stated in his cross examination that when Ambika fell in the field of kallu he was dragged and was not assaulted thereafter. Though Hardev was there but he did not use Kudal. At this juncture the 2nd part of the incident was also over.

(III) The third stage of the crime, as it is established from the evidence of the prosecution made available on record, starts when Ram Kishan and Jagannath after dragging Ambika Prasad for some distance put him in a Nali and according to P.W.1- Ram Raj after Ambika was put in Nali only Hardev assaulted him while all accused persons were standing there. PW-2 Shatrohan has also stated in his cross examination that when all accused persons were standing towards west of the field of Hardev, Hardev alone assaulted Ambika from Kudal. In his Chief examination this witness has stated that after commanding other accused persons to kill Ambika, Hardev assaulted deceased by giving 3-4 blows of Kudal, however, at that stage, none of the accused person join him in assaulting Ambika Prasad.

59. The above established factual position as emerges out from the evidence of three eye witnesses clearly proves that when accused persons at first came at the site of the drain, certainly there assembly was to prevent any one from digging the drain and as they were carrying lathis with them, the object of this assembly was to cause bodily harm to any one, whosoever was to come in their way. Though the accused-appellant- Hardev was carrying a Kudal with him but the simplicitor act of carrying a Kudal in his hand will not suggest that the common object of this unlawful assembly was to kill some one, specially deceased Ambika Prasad, as he was not even in the picture till that stage. We arrive at this conclusion due to following reasons:-

(i) The unlawful assembly, when it was first formed, was not having any object of causing murder of someone, much less Ambika Prasad, as is evident from the fact that after reaching at the site of drain, none amongst the accused persons including Hardev made any attempt to hurt any labourer and only scolded them that as they have cut roots of their trees, they will see them today.

(ii) Secondly, as the drain was being dug and accused persons wanted to prevent it from further digging and wanted to fill the drain with mud, Hardev might have carried Kudal as the the drain could only be filled by digging some soil/mud and an implement like Kudal is the most appropriate implement for this purpose. Therefore the purpose of carrying kudal by Hardev was only for digging mud for the purpose of filling the drain and not for the purpose of killing some one. It is also evident by the evidence of PW-4 Sant Ram when he claimed that initially when Ambika Prasad was being assaulted by all the accused persons, Hardev was also there but he did not assault anyone with "Kudal'and all prosecution witnesses are consistent on this point that none of the labourer working in the drain was assaulted nor even threatened by Hardev by showing Kudal and that Hardev after arriving at the drain started cutting roots of his trees and other accused persons started filling the drain by mud. Therefore the initial purpose of carrying the kudal was for digging the soil and not to assault anyone, it is other thing that subsequently it was used by Hardev to kill Ambika and therefore, at the time of initial formation of unlawful assembly none of the members of this unlawful assembly could infer that the "Kudal' may be used for committing murder of someone. Hence, committing murder of someone was not the common object or likely object of this unlawful assembly at the time of its formation.

(iii) Thirdly, when after arrival of accused persons at drain, labourers left the site of drain, this unlawful assembly without attaining its object defuses. However, all the accused persons remained there and Hardev, in the heat of passion started cutting roots of his own trees, while all other accused persons started putting mud in the drain in an attempt to fill it. It is to be recalled at this stage that till now the deceased Ambika Prasad had even not emerged in the picture. So there could not be a common object of the unlawful assembly to kill him and this could not either be common object, which may be termed as the object likely to be achieved. It can not be in the contemplation of any of the member of this unlawful assembly that murder of someone or to say of Ambika may be committed or is likely to be committed.

60. It is also evident and established from the evidence on record and also an admitted case of the prosecution that the deceased and accused persons were not having any previous enmity of any kind. Therefore what transpires from the evidence on record is that at the stage of arriving of accused persons at the site of drain and till the departure of labourers, the object of this unlawful assembly was only to prevent the labourers from further digging the drain and also to cause them hurt or at the most the offence of causing grievous hurt may likely be committed. In the facts and circumstances of the case, the object of this assembly was never to murder some one, specially Ambika Prasad, who had not even emerged at the scene, till then.

61. Perusal of the evidence on record would further reveal that when Ambika Prasad arrived at the site of drain along with Mahaveer and Shatrohan and there were some hot exchanges, the initial unlawful object of the assembly, which was temporarily suspended for some time, revived and in order to achieve this object of causing hurt of any kind, all accused persons who were members of this unlawful assembly, assaulted Ambika Prasad with Lathis and also chased him. Ambika Prasad in the process of being assaulted, fell down in the paddy field of Kallu. It is further established and proved on record that the accused Ram Kishan and Jagannath dragged Ambika Prasad from his legs and at this time injured Shatrohan and Chhotakau tried to stop them but they were also assaulted by Ramadhar, Shri Ram, Janki and Babu with Lathis. Thereafter Ambika Prasad was placed in a Nali, across the drain. It was at this time when all accused persons were standing silently towards the west side of the field of Hardev and incident was over, accused Hardev, after commanding others to murder Ambika, gave 3-4 blows of Kudal on his head, neck and chest, whereby Ambika Prasad instantly died. It is other thing that none of the accused persons, in response to the command given by Hardev, joined him in assaulting Ambika. This clearly shows that other accused persons conspicuously disassociated themselves from the individual and isolated intention of Hardev to kill Ambika. This instant and isolated act of accused-appellant Hardev of assaulting Ambika Prasad with Kudal, when the occurrence was over, was certainly not the common or likely object of the unlawful assembly, as it is also apparent that accused-appellant, Hardev intentionally chose those parts of the body of the deceased Ambika Prasad for assault, which suggests only one inference that he assaulted the deceased with the intention of causing his death.

62. The initial common or likely object of the unlawful assembly was evidently not to cause the death of any person is also evident from the proved facts as narrated by the three eye witnesses, P.W.1- Ram Raj, P.W.2- Shatrohan and P.W.4- Sant Ram that all other accused persons except Hardev who participated in the assault and were carrying lathis with them, did not target any vital part of the body of the deceased or of the body of the injured witnesses, namely, Shatrohan and Chhotakan. Injuries sustained by Chhotakau and Shatrohan are simple 2-3 injuries on the non vital parts of the body. So far as the injuries found on the person of the deceased is concerned, injuries no. 6,7,10 and 12, which are contusions, are stated to have been caused by Lathi(stick). These injuries have been found on Right Arm, right side of chest and abdomen, on left fore arm and on back, respectively. None of these injuries has been found to be fatal and only injuries sustained from Kudal were found to be the reason of his death. So far as the accused Ram Kishan and Jagannath are concerned they only dragged the deceased - Ambika Prasad from his legs and thereafter put him in a Nali. The role of surviving appellants no. 3,5 and 6 namely Janaki, Babu and Ram Adhar is of initially assaulting the deceased with lathi and also to two injured persons i.e. shatrohan and Chuttakan. It is also established, and all three eye witnesses are consistent on this point, that when deceased was put in a Nali, thereafter accused Hardev said that he will not leave Ambika Prasad and commanded others to kill him but thereafter no other accused, though present there, assaulted Ambika and it was only and only Hardev, who assaulted Ambika Prasad with a Kudal which he was carrying in his hands. Therefore, it is clear from the established facts and circumstances of the case that accused-appellant Hardev certainly exceeded the common object of the unlawful assembly which was only to cause hurt or likely to cause grievous hurt, in order to restrain any one from digging the drain. Hence keeping in view the proved facts and circumstances of the case, other accused persons could not infer or contemplate that any offence of the like of murder may be committed by the accused- appellant-Hardev. Therefore other accused persons could not be held liable vicariously for the independent and isolated act of appellant Hardev, which was neither committed in furtherance of original common object of the unlawful assembly nor it was a possible or likely object which may come in the contemplation of any of the members of unlawful assembly, either at the time of initial formation of the unlawful assembly or even during the course of the incident.

63. Hon'ble Supreme Court in Bhimrao and Ors. vs. State of Maharashtra, MANU/SC/0081/2003 while dealing with a similar matter of exceeding common object of the assembly by some members held as under :-

"The High Court after considering the material on record came to specific conclusion that the common object of unlawful assembly when it proceeded towards the house of Prabhakar was only to assault the said Prabhakar. It also gave a finding that those accused who entered the house of Prabhakar had developed a different common object after entering the house of Prabhakar and with that intention the members of the said group had assaulted Prabhakar, while the members of the original unlawful assembly who did not enter the house and who are now appellants before us did not share the subsequent common object of the group which attacked Prabhakar. It is in this context of the finding of the High Court, the learned counsel for the appellants had contended that if the original common object of the unlawful assembly was only to assault Prabhakar there was no material before the High Court to have attributed the common object of causing grievous hurt to Prabhakar to these appellants. We find substantial force in the contention of the learned counsel appearing for the appellants. Having perused the material on record, we are inclined to hold that the High Court having rightly given a specific finding that the original common object of the assembly was only to assault deceased Prabhakar and also having given a finding that the said common object got changed only in regard to those members of the unlawful assembly who entered the house, we are unable to accept the later finding of the High Court that the appellants herein though they did not share the later common object of those accused who entered the house, will still be liable for conviction under Section 326 read with 149 IPC. In the absence of any material to the contrary, it should be presumed that those members of the original unlawful assembly who only shared the common object of assaulting deceased Prabhakar cannot be attributed with the subsequent change in the common object of some of the members of the assembly who entered the house of Prabhakar and caused grievous injuries to him. So far as the present appellants are concerned, who stood outside the house of the deceased and who could not have known what actually transpired inside the house, the act of those members of the original unlawful assembly who entered the house, cannot be attributed, hence, as contended by the learned counsel for the appellants at the most these appellants will be liable to be punished for sharing the original common object which is only to assault the deceased, therefore, they can be held guilty of an offence punishable under Section 352 read with Section 149 only."

(Emphasis Ours)

64. Therefore in the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case, we are of the considered opinion that the appellants before us deserve to be convicted with regard to the common object of the unlawful assembly of causing grievous hurt to which they concurred i.e. under Section 326 read with Section 149 of the I.P.C. instead of Section 302 read with Section 149 of the IPC, as such the appeal of the appellants is partly allowed.

65 We accordingly convict appellant no.3- Janki, appellant no.5- Babu and appellant no. 6- Ramadhar for committing the offence under section 326 read with 149 of the IPC instead of offence under section 302 read with 149 of the IPC. In the facts and circumstances of the case rigorous imprisonment for five years would meet the ends of justice. Therefore we sentence appellant no.3- Janki, appellant no.5- Babu and appellant no. 6- Ramadhar for committing the offence under section 326 read with 149 of the IPC for rigorous imprisonment of five years and with fine of Rs. 20000/- each, in default of which they will have to further undergo rigorous imprisonment for three months. Eighty percent of the fine so deposited shall be paid to the legal heirs of the deceased Ambika. The judgment of the trial Court is affirmed so far as conviction and sentencing of above appellants in other penal sections is concerned. The impugned judgment and order of the trial Court is modified accordingly.

66. The appellants No. 3- Janki, No.5- Babu and No.6- Ramadhar are reported to be in jail, they will serve out the sentence as modified by this Court.

67. So far as appeal pertaining to appellant no.1 Ram Kishan, appellant no.2 Jagannath, appellant no.4- Shri Ram and appellant no.7- Hardev is concerned the same has already been abated, vide order dated 9.8.2019 of this Court, on account of their death during pendency of this appeal.

68. The record of the subordinate Court be transmitted to the Trial Court along with a copy of this judgment for compliance, at the earliest.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Mohd. Faiz Alam Khan. J.)

1. Short counter affidavit filed on behalf of the Opposite party No.2 and 3, the same is taken on record.

2. Heard learned counsel for the appellants as well as Shri Vishnu Deo Shukla, learned AGA for the State, learned counsel for the respondent No.2 & 3, and perused the record.

3. This Criminal Appeal under Section 14-A (1) of SC/ST (Prevention of Atrocities) Act, 1989 has been filed by the appellants -Ramzan, Khaliq and Gulam Haider against the order dated 08.03.2019 passed by the IInd Additional Session Judge/Special Judge SC/ST Act, Gonda in Special Session Trial No. 46/2019, 'State vs. Ramzan & others", arising out of Case Crime No. 879/2018, under Sections 323, 504, 506, 452, 379 I.P.C. & 3(1) (Da)(Dha) of SC/ST Act, Police Station Kotwali City, District Gonda, whereby the appellants have been summoned to ace trial.

4. Brief facts necessary for disposal of this appeal are that, an application under Section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. was moved by the complainant/respondent No.2-Smt. Gudiya wife of Raju in the Court of Special Judge, SC/ST Act, Gonda against Appellant No.1-Ramzan and two unknown persons stating that, she belongs to a Scheduled Caste (Kori) and her husband Raju is "Block Pramukh", Development Division Jhanjhari, District Gonda and she is living at Gonda in connection with education of her children. It is further stated that, her husband complained to C.D.O., Gonda about some mischief and embezzlement of Government money committed by appellant No.1/Ramzan. It is further alleged that he has committed financial illegalities and have misappropriated Government money by using name of one Ramzan Ali son of Peer Mohammad. An FIR, in the matter i.e. Case Crime No. 741/2017, under Sections 420, 468 I.P.C. was lodged at P.S. Kotwali Nagar, District Gonda, which was lodged by the C.D.O. Gonda and the appellant Ramzan had to remain in Jail in lieu of that and after a long time, he was released on bail.

5. It is further submitted that, due to the aforesaid enmity, on 08.09.2018 at about 11:00 am, accused/appellant Ramzan along with his two companions came to her house and hurled filthy abuses and also addressed her with Castiest remarks. Accused Ramzan and his companions also physically assaulted her after entering her house. In the meantime, her husband came and accused persons also assaulted him. They uprooted the whole household material and also looted some money and ornaments, which was kept in a box. She went to the police station, however, her report was not lodged.

6. On the basis of the aforesaid application, on an order made by the Magistrate concerned, an FIR was lodged as Case Crime No. 879 of 2018, under Sections 323, 504, 506, 452, 379 I.P.C. &

3(1) (Da)(Dha) of SC/ST Act against appellant-Ramzan and two unknown persons.

7. On the basis of the aforesaid FIR, an investigation initiated and the Investigating Officer after investigation submitted a charge-sheet against the appellants, under Sections 323, 504, 506, 452, 379 I.P.C. & 3(1) (Da)(Dha) of SC/ST Act. The Special Judge on the basis of the police report/charge-sheet took cognizance of the offence and issued process against the appellants on 08.03.2019, under Sections 323, 504, 506, 452, 379 I.P.C. & 3(1) (Da)(Dha) of SC/ST Act. Aggrieved by the order of the Special Judge dated 08.03.2019, whereby the appellants have been summoned to face trial in the penal sections mentioned herein-before, they preferred this appeal.

8. Learned counsel for the appellants while referring to the summoning order passed by the Court below submits that, the Court below without considering the material transmitted with the charge-sheet has acted as a mouthpiece of the prosecution and without sufficient material, summoned the appellants to face trial.

9. It is further submitted that, it was not mentioned in the FIR or in the statement of the witnesses that the victim belongs to a Scheduled Caste, so there was no question of the applicability of SC/ST Act. It is further stated that, the informant's husband is a "Block Pramukh" and he made a complaint before prescribed authority/Labour Commissioner, Devipatan, Gonda, pertaining to non-payment of his wages and in Para No. 9 and 10 of that complaint, he had written that on 30.08.2018, he had left the job of appellants, as the appellant No.1 had not paid his wages.

10. Highlighting the above factual matrix, learned counsel for the appellants submits that, in the First Information Report, the incident has been alleged to have happened on 08.09.2018. It is overwhelmingly submitted that, only on the basis of old enmity, this false case has been cooked-up. The injury report, pertaining to the informant as well as her husband are false, as the medical examination of the alleged injuries has not been done in police custody, therefore, the continuation of the proceedings pending before the Court below are nothing, but an abuse of the process of law and, therefore, the same be set-aside.

11. Learned counsel for the respondent No.2 and 3 submits that, on the basis of previous enmity with the husband of the informant, who made a complaint against appellant No.1 namely Ramzan, pertaining to misdeeds and financial illegalities and misappropriation of money committed by him, when he was granted bail, he came to the house of the informant with his brother Khaliq and one Gulam Haider on a motorcycle and physically assaulted the informant and her husband and also addressed them with castiest remarks, apart from threatening and intimidating them.

12. It is further submitted that, the informant as well as her husband has sustained injuries, who have been examined at Government Hospital, Gonda on 08.09.2018 at 4:20 pm. & 4:30 pm., respectively. The police after investigation of the First Information Report has submitted a charge-sheet and the court below after applying its judicial mind has taken the cognizance of the offences and have summoned the accused persons to face trial, therefore, there is no illegality, so far as the summoning of the accused persons are concerned.

13. Learned A.G.A., also opposes the contention of learned counsel for the appellants on the ground that, the court below keeping in view the charge-sheet and material submitted therewith, after applying its judicial mind and finding sufficient material on record, have summoned the appellants to face trial and, therefore, there is nothing illegal, so far as the order of summoning is concerned.

14. Having heard learned counsel for the parties and having perused the record, it is apparent that, specific allegations, pertaining to the castiest remarks addressed in public view by the appellants as well as threatening and intimidating them as also of physical assault by Appellant No.1 Ramzan and his two companions have been made in the FIR. In the statement of the informant as well as her husband recorded under Section 161 of the Cr.P.C., it has categorically been stated that, on the basis of old enmity, appellant Ramzan with his companions after being bailed out in a criminal case took the revenge on the fateful day by entering into her house and has also made physical assault on her and her husband.

15. The Investigating Officer after investigation has submitted the charge-sheet, the injury reports of the informant as well as of her husband have also been placed on record. The injury report, pertaining to the husband of the informant namely Raju reveals that, he has sustained 05 injuries on different parts of his body. While the informant namely Gudiya has sustained about 04 injuries on different parts of her body. The injuries of both the injured persons have been found fresh by the Doctor and also caused by hard and blunt object. Perusal of these injuries, prima facie shows that, these injuries may not be the result of self-infliction. Therefore, in the considered opinion of this Court, there was sufficient material available before the Court below to take cognizance of the offence and to issue process against the appellants. In a criminal matter, the cognizance of an offence, as provided under Section 190(1)(b) of the Cr.P.C. hereinafter called the "Code" is taken for the purpose of issuing process to the person, who has committed the wrong. No doubt in the process of taking judicial notice of certain acts which constitute an offence, there has to be application of mind by the Magistrate or Special Judge, with regard to the material collected by the Investigating Officer, pertaining to the fact, as the whether same is sufficient to proceed further and to call a person to appear before a Criminal Court to face trial. There cannot be two views that this discretion puts higher amount of responsibility on Magistrate to act judicially, keeping in view the facts and circumstances of the particular case and also keeping in view the law on the subject. There cannot be any doubt that this is not a stage, where the Magistrate must explicitly state the reasons for issuance of process, if the order clearly states that, in the opinion of a Magistrate or a Judge taking cognizance, there is sufficient ground to proceed further, the summons may be issued. Undoubtedly, the Magistrate will have to form an opinion, as to whether there exist sufficient grounds or not. There are many cases propounded by the Hon'ble Supreme Court, which provide guidelines to the Magistrate or Special Judge, as the case may be, with regard to taking of cognizance and issuance of process pertaining to the complaint cases.

16. In "G.H.C.L.Employees Stock Option Trust VS. India Infalin Ltd. 2013(4) SCC 505", It was reminded by the Hon'ble Supreme Court that the criminal law could not be set into motion as a matter of course and the order of summoning must reflect application of mind as well as the satisfaction of the Magistrate. In " M/s. Pepsi Foods Ltd. and another v. Special Judicial Magistrate and others, AIR 1998 S. C . 128 " it was emphasized that, summoning of an accused in a criminal case is a serious matter and it should not be, that complainant has to bring only 02 witnesses to support the allegations and to get the process issued. The Magistrate will have to carefully scrutinize the evidence brought on record. In "AIR 2012 SUPREME COURT 1747, Bhushan Kumar and Anr v. State (NCT of Delhi) and Anr", a necessity was shown to record reasons for issuance of summons. In "AIR 1976 SUPREME COURT 1947, Smt. Nagawwa v/s Veeranna Shivalingappa Konjalgi & others", detail guidelines were issued, pertaining to the issuance of summonses in complaint cases, after taking into consideration, the inherent probabilities/improbabilities appearing on the face of the complaint or in the evidence led by the complainant in support of his allegations. In "AIR 2015 SUPREME COURT 923,Sunil Bharti Mittal v. Central Bureau of Investigation (Three Judges Bench)", it was emphasized that, a wide discretion has been given to the Magistrate for grant or refusal of issuance of process and it was reminded that, it must be a judicial exercise and also that a person should not be dragged into the Court, merely because a complaint has been filed against him and also that, an opinion has to be formed by the Magistrate in the facts and circumstances of the case as to whether there is sufficient grounds to proceed further..

17. Honble Supreme Court in a recent decision "State of Gujrat Vs Afroz Mohammed Hasanfatta reported in 2019 SCC online SC 13", while considering the obligation of Magistrate at the time of issuance of summons to the accused persons, while taking cognizance of offences on a police report, under Section 190 (1)(b) of the Cr.P.C. formulated a point, as to whether the Court has to record reasons for its satisfaction of sufficient grounds for issuance of summon, while taking cognizance of an offence under Section 190 (1)(b) of the Cr.P.C. Answering this question, Hon'ble Supreme Court held that, it is well-settled at the stage of issuing process, the Magistrate is mainly concerned with the allegations made in the complaint or with the evidence let in support of the same.

18. It is further stipulated that, the summons is a process issued by the Court calling upon a person to appear before the Magistrate notifying him to appear before the Magistrate, as a response to violation of law.

19. It is further highlighted by the Hon'ble Supreme Court that, Section 204 of the Cr.P.C. does not mandate the Magistrate to explicitly state the reasons for issuance of summons. It clearly states that, if in the opinion of a Magistrate taking cognizance of an offence, there is sufficient ground for proceeding, then the summons may be issued.

20. While referring to the many cases, pertaining to the taking of cognizance under Section 190 (1)(a) of the Cr.P.C. (on a complaint), it is stated that, at this juncture, the Magistrate is having only a complaint before him, with regard to Section 190(1)(b), the Hon'ble Court cites a Single Judge decision of this Court in "Rajendra Kumar Agrawal Vs. State of U.P. reported in 1999 CRLJ 4101", wherein it is held that the reasons are required to be recorded, while the complaint is being dismissed under Section 203 of the Cr.P.C., while the same are not required under Section 204 of the Cr.P.C. and also referring to the decision of "Mehmood ul Rehman Vs. Khazir Mohammad Tunda (2015) 12 SCC 420" the Court held as under:-

"20. In para (21) of Mehmood Ali Rehman, this Court has made a fine distinction between taking cognizance based upon charge sheet filed by the police under Section 190(1)(b) Cr.P.C. and a private complaint under Section 190(1)(a) Cr.P.C. and held as under:-

"21. Under Section 190(1)(b) CrPC, the Magistrate has the advantage of a police report and under Section 190(1)(c) CrPC, he has the information or knowledge of commission of an offence. But under Section 190(1)(a) CrPC, he has only a complaint before him. The Code hence specifies that "a complaint of facts which constitute such offence". Therefore, if the complaint, on the face of it, does not disclose the commission of any offence, the Magistrate shall not take cognizance under Section 190(1)(a) CrPC. The complaint is simply to be rejected."

21 . In summoning the accused, it is not necessary for the Magistrate to examine the merits and demerits of the case and whether the materials collected is adequate for supporting the conviction. The court is not required to evaluate the evidence and its merits. The standard to be adopted for summoning the accused under Section 204 Cr.P.C. is not the same at the time of framing the charge. For issuance of summons under Section 204 Cr.P.C., the expression used is "there is sufficient ground for proceeding?.."; whereas for framing the charges, the expression used in Sections 240 and 246 IPC is "there is ground for presuming 16 that the accused has committed an offence?..". At the stage of taking cognizance of the offence based upon a police report and for issuance of summons under Section 204 Cr.P.C., detailed enquiry regarding the merits and demerits of the case is not required. The fact that after investigation of the case, the police has filed charge sheet along with the materials thereon may be considered as sufficient ground for proceeding for issuance of summons under Section 204 Cr.P.C.

22. In so far as taking cognizance based on the police report, the Magistrate has the advantage of the charge sheet, statement of witnesses and other evidence collected by the police during the investigation. Investigating Officer/SHO collects the necessary evidence during the investigation conducted in compliance with the provisions of the Criminal Procedure

Code and in accordance with the rules of investigation. Evidence and materials so collected are sifted at the level of the Investigating Officer and thereafter, charge sheet was filed. In appropriate cases, opinion of the Public Prosecutor is also obtained before filing the charge sheet. The court thus has the advantage of the police report along with the materials placed before it by the police. Under Section 190 (1)(b) Cr.P.C., where the Magistrate has taken cognizance of an offence upon a police report and the Magistrate is satisfied that there is sufficient ground for proceeding, the Magistrate directs issuance of process. In case of taking cognizance of an offence based upon the police report, the Magistrate is not required to record reasons for issuing the process. In cases instituted on a police report, the Magistrate is only required to pass an order issuing summons to the accused. Such an order of issuing summons to the accused is based upon subject to satisfaction of the Magistrate considering the police report and other documents and satisfying himself that there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused. In a case based upon the police report, at the stage of issuing the summons to the accused, the Magistrate is not required to record any reason. In case, if the charge sheet is barred by law or where there is lack of jurisdiction or when the charge sheet is rejected or not taken on file, then the Magistrate is required to record his reasons for rejection of the charge sheet and for not taking on file."(Emphasis Mine).

21. It is apparent from the above mentioned Case Laws specifically the decision of the Supreme Court passed in Afroz Mohammad's case (supra) that after investigation of the case, if the police has filed a charge-sheet along with the materials there on may be considered as sufficient ground for proceeding, for issuance of summon under Section 204 of the Cr.P.C., keeping in view the facts and circumstances of particular case. In case instituted on a police report, the Magistrate is required to pass an order of issuing summons on the basis of his subjective satisfaction arrived after consideration of the police report and other documents sent with it, after satisfying itself that there are sufficient grounds for proceeding further. In the facts and circumstances of instant case, the allegations of the FIR has been corroborated by the informant as well as her husband in their statement recorded under Section 161 of the Cr.P.C. The allegations of the FIR are further corroborated with the injury reports of both i.e. informant and her husband Raju. Therefore, it could not be said that, there was no sufficient material before the Special Judge for taking cognizance and issue summons against the appellants, so far as the arguments, pertaining to the fact that, it has not been anywhere stated by the informant that, she belongs to a scheduled caste, the same is negatived when we peruse the FIR, wherein it has been specifically mentioned that, informant is a lady and belongs to a Scheduled Caste (Kori).

22. Keeping in view the above mentioned settled legal position as well as the factual matrix, I do not find any substance in the appeal preferred by the appellants. There appears no illegality in the impugned summoning order dated 08.03.2019 of the Court below, where by the appellants have been summoned to face trial.

23. In this view of the matter, the appeal appears to be devoid of merits and is dismissed and order dated 08.03.2019, whereby the appellants have been summoned to face trial is passed by the IInd Additional Session Judge/Special Judge SC/ST Act, Gonda is hereby affirmed.

24. At this stage it is submitted by Ld. Counsel for the Appellants that it is apprehended that the moment appellants will surrender before the trial Court they will be sent to prison and disposal of their bail Application may take time. Therefore a suitable direction be issued to decide their bail application in a time bound manner. Needless to say that disposal of bail Applications in any case is the prerogative and discretion of the Court concerned and the same can not be circumcised by passing any order in this regard. Suffice is to say that since appellant is willing to participate in the trial, it is directed that in case the appellants appear and surrender before the court below within 30 days from today and apply for bail, their prayer for bail may be considered and decided expeditiously in view of law laid by this Court in the case of Amrawati and another Vs. State of U.P. reported in 2004 (57) ALR 290 as approved by Hon'ble Apex Court in "Lal Kamlendra Pratap Singh Vs. State of U.P., 2009 (3) ADJ 332 (SC) as well as the guidelines issued in Hussain and Ors. Vs. Union of India (UOI) and Ors. reported in MANU/SC/0274/2017 and Brahm Singh and others Vs. State of U.P & others in (Criminal Misc. Writ Petition No. 15609 of 2016 decided on 08.07.2016)".

25. For a period of 30 days form today or till the surrender of appellants before trial court, whichever is earlier, no coercive steps shall be taken against the appellants in the above mentioned case. It is stated that this period of 30 days shall not be further extended in any case.

A. Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Section 302 - Appeal against conviction.

Exception 4 of 300 IPC can be invoked if death is caused (a) without premeditation, (b) in a sudden fight, (c) without offenders having taken undue advantage, (d) accused had not acted in a cruel or unusual manner. (Para 21)

Doctrine of grave and sudden provocation depends on the facts of each case; it cannot be universally applied. (Para 23)

It cannot be laid down as a rule of universal application that whenever death occurs on account of single blow, section 302 IPC is ruled out. It is the totality of established facts and circumstances, events preceding the incident which will determine whether an act is culpable homicide or murder. (Para 24)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Printinker Diwaker, J.)

1. This appeal arises out of the impugned judgement and order dated 09.01.1989 passed by IInd Additional Sessions Judge, Bulandshahr in Sessions Trial No. 781 of 1987 (State Vs. Jagdish and Others), convicting the accused-appellant no. 1 Jagdish under Section 302 of IPC and sentencing him to undergo imprisonment for life.

2. In the present case, name of the deceased is Jaipal Singh. The appellant Jagdish and deceased Jaipal Singh were having adjacent agricultural fields and there was some dispute between them regarding the bund/boundary of the same. It is further not disputed that in the village in question, there were number of blue bulls and quite often they used to damage the standing crops of the agriculturists. On 20.08.1987 at about 07.00 am, when the complainant party including Jaipal Singh were working in their agricultural field, accused-appellant Jagdish and other accused persons namely Dharampal Giri, Murti Giri, Mantoori Giri, Vinod Giri and Govind Giri reached there. There was some hot talks between them and accused-appellant Jagdish levelled allegations against the complainant-party that they have removed the fencing of the field as a result of which blue bulls have damaged his field. Both the parties abused each other and it was objected by the deceased Jaipal Singh and it is said that during this, accused-appellant Jagdish gave a blow of spear near the neck of the deceased. The other accused persons also assaulted the complainant party by a club. Number of villagers reached there and then it was noticed that after sustaining injury, Jaipal Singh had expired. On 20.08.1987 itself, at 10.35 am, on the basis of written report Ex.Ka.3, lodged by Kanchhid Singh (nephew of the deceased, not examined), FIR, Ex.Ka.4 was registered against the accused-persons under Sections 147, 148, 302, 307 of I.P.C. Injured Gopichand (PW-3) was medically examined vide Ex.Ka.2 on 20.08.1987 by Dr. Jagpal Singh (PW-5) and the following two injuries were found on his body:

"(i) stab wound elliptical 2 x .3 cm x 1.5 cm deep on face right side with the parallel of jaw of mandible 4 cm right of centre of chin. Margins of the wound sharp.

(ii) stab wound with sharp margins over right side of neck 4 cm above from nose. Size .5 x .3 cm x 1.5 cm deep elliptical. Traumatic swelling over neck right side 10 x 8 cm."

3. Inquest on the dead body of the deceased was conducted vide Ex.Ka.6 on 20.08.1987 and the body was sent for postmortem, which was conducted by Dr. R.K. Lal vide Ex.Ka.1 on 21.08.1987.

4. Autopsy Surgeon has found following single injury on the body of the deceased:

"1. Punctured wound (incised) on neck Rt. side 1 cm x ½ cm direction towards left and back 1 cm above right clavicle medial end, depth 3 cm transverse"

5. The cause of death of the deceased was due to shock and haemorrhage as a result of antemortem injury.

6. While framing charge, the trial Judge has framed charge against the accused-appellant Jagdish under Sections 148, 302, 307/149, 323/149 of I.P.C., against accused Dharampal, charge was framed under Section 148, 302/149, 307/149, whereas against rest of the accused persons, charges were framed under Sections 147, 302/149, 307/149, 323/149 of I.P.C.

7. So as to hold the accused-persons guilty, prosecution has examined seven witnesses. Statements of the accused-persons were also recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C. in which, they pleaded their innocence and false implication.

8. By the impugned judgment, the trial Judge has convicted accused-appellant Jagdish as mentioned in paragraph no. 1 of this judgment, whereas accused Dharampal was convicted under Section 307 of I.P.C. The other accused-persons have been acquitted by the trial judge. During the pendency of present appeal, accused Dharampal has expired and, therefore, appeal in his respect is dismissed as having become abated. The present appeal confines only in respect of accused-appellant Jagdish.

9. Learned counsel for the appellant submits:

(i) that FIR is ante timed.

(ii) that FIR has not been proved by the prosecution and the Investigating Officer has not been examined.

(iii) that there are material contradictions in the statements of Sohan Singh (PW-1), Dayachand (PW-2) and Gopichand (PW-3).

(iv) that first informant Kanchhid Singh has not been examined by the prosecution to prove the FIR.

(v) that even if the entire prosecution case is taken as it is, under no circumstances, the appellant can be convicted for committing the murder of the deceased as his act would not fall within the definition of murder. It has been argued that at best, the appellant is liable to be convicted under Section 304 Part I or 304 Part II of IPC.

10. Supporting the impugned judgment, it has been argued by the State counsel:

(i) that even if Investigating Officer has not been examined by the prosecution, no prejudice has been caused to the defence. He submits that the FIR has been proved by adducing secondary evidence. He further submits that scribe of the FIR Momraj (PW-6) has duly proved the FIR.

(ii) that non-examination of first informant Kanchhid Singh has also not caused any prejudice to the defence as the FIR has been proved by Momraj (PW-6).

(iii) that there are as many as three eye witnesses including injured Gopichand and all the three eye witnesses have duly supported the prosecution case.

(iv) that the trial court was justified in convicting the appellant under Section 302 of IPC.

11. We have heard counsel for the parties and perused the record.

12. Sohan Singh (PW-1) is a father of first informant Kanchhid Singh. He is also the uncle of Gopichand (PW-3), injured eye witness. He states that first informant Kanchhid Singh is missing since February-March and his whereabouts is not known. The field of accused-appellant Jagdish and other accused persons were adjacent and on the date of incident at about 6:00 am when he was working in his field along with deceased Jaipal Singh, Gopichand (PW-3) and other persons, the accused persons reached there and started abusing them. He states that they were making allegation against them that on account of removing/damaging the fencing of the field, blue bulls have damaged the field of accused appellant Jagdish. Both the parties started abusing each other and then accused Jagdish, who was carrying spear with him caused injury to Jaipal Singh, whereas the other accused persons, who were having clubs, have also caused injury to Gopichand and others. He states that after sustaining injury, Jaipal Singh died at the place of incident itself. In the lengthy cross-examination, this witness remained firm and has reiterated as to the manner in which the incident occurred.

13. Dayachand (PW-2) is another eye witness to the incident. His statement is almost identical to that of Sohan Singh (PW-1). He too has categorically stated as to the manner in which the incident occurred and appellant Jagdish caused spear injury to the deceased. He has also admitted the fact that blue bulls used to damage the field of agriculturists and the accused appellant made allegation against the complainant party that his field has been damaged by the blue bulls on account of removing of fencing by the complainant party.

14. Gopichand (PW-3) is an injured eye witness to the incident. His statement is somehow similar to Sohan Singh (PW-1) and Dayachand (PW-2) and he has also supported the prosecution case. In the cross-examination, this witness also remained firm and nothing could be elicited from him.

15. Dr. R.K. Lal (PW-4) conducted post-mortem on the body of the deceased and found injury near the neck of the deceased as mentioned in paragraph no. 4 of this judgement.

16. Dr. Jagpal Singh (PW-5) medically examined injured Gopichand.

17. Momraj (PW-6), scribe of the FIR, has stated that the report was prepared as was dictated to him by Kanchhid Singh. He states that written report Ex.Ka.3 was prepared by him. Bhan Singh (PW-7), is a police constable, investigated the matter and also proved the signature of Investigating Officer. He has also proved the GD entry and the FIR.

18. Close scrutiny of evidence makes it clear that the Investigating Officer has not been examined and likewise the informant Kanchhid Singh has also not been produced in the court as a witness. The evidence reflects that Kanchhid Singh was missing during the time of evidence and, therefore, he could not come in the court. Non-examination of these two persons would not damage the case of prosecution in any manner. It is a settled proposition of law that the basic purpose of lodging FIR is to set the criminal law into motion and the FIR is not substantive piece of evidence. It is not disputed that the incident occurred at 07:00 am on 20.08.1987 and at 10:30 am, FIR was lodged. The distance between police station and place of occurrence is about 9 kms., thus, for all practical purposes, it can be said that a very prompt FIR was lodged. The FIR has been duly proved by its scribe Momraj (PW-6), who has stated that whatever was dictated to him by the informant Kanchhid Singh, was mentioned in the written report, which was given to the police. The same has been further proved by Bhan Singh (PW-7), who has authenticated the G.D. entry about the registration of the FIR and the chik report and other documents prepared by the Investigating Officer. He has also proved hand writing of the Investigating Officer. Thus, non-examination of Investigating Officer or informant will not give any benefit to the defence as no prejudice has been caused to the defence. Three eye witnesses to the incident i.e. Sohan Singh (PW-1), Dayachand (PW-2) and the injured eye witness Gopichand (PW-3) have duly supported the prosecution case and have categorically stated as to the manner in which the deceased was killed by the accused persons. Their statements found due support from the post-mortem report of the deceased and considering all these aspects of the case, complicity of the appellant in commission of offence has been duly proved by the prosecution.

19. The next question, which arises for consideration of this Court, is as to whether the act of the appellant would fall within the definition of 'murder' or it would be 'culpable homicide not amounting to murder'.

20. Before proceeding further, it is relevant to refer to the provisions of Section 300 of IPC, which read as under:

"300. Murder. - Except in the cases hereinafter excepted, culpable homicide is murder, if the act by which the death is caused is done with the intention of causing death, or-

Secondly. - If it is done with the intention of causing such bodily injury as the offender knows to be likely to cause the death of the person to whom the harm is caused, or -

Thirdly. - If it is done with the intention of causing bodily injury to any person and the bodily injury intended to be inflicted is sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death, or -

Fourthly. - If the person committing the act knows that it is so imminently dangerous that it must, in all probability, cause death or such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, and commits such act without any excuse for incurring the risk of causing death or such injury as aforesaid.

Exception 1. - When culpable homicide is not murder. - Culpable homicide is not murder if the offender, whilst deprived of the power of self-control by grave and sudden provocation, causes the death of the person who gave the provocation or causes the death of any other person by mistake or accident.

The above Exception is subject to the following provisos:-

First. - That the provocation is not sought or voluntarily provoked by the offender as an excuse for killing or doing harm to any person.

Secondly. - That the provocation is not given by anything done in obedience to the law, or by a public servant in the lawful exercise of the powers of such public servant.

Thirdly. - That the provocation is not given by anything done in the lawful exercise of the right of private defence.

Explanation. - Whether the provocation was grave and sudden enough to prevent the offence from amounting to murder is a question of fact.

Exception 2. - Culpable homicide is not murder if the offender, in the exercise in good faith of the right of private defence of person or property, exceeds the power given to him by law and causes the death of the person against whom he is exercising such right of defence without premeditation, and without any intention of doing more harm than is necessary for the purpose of such defence.

Exception 3. - Culpable homicide is not murder if the offender, being a public servant or aiding a public servant acting for the advancement of public justice, exceeds the powers given to him by law, and causes death by doing an act which he, in good faith, believes to be lawful and necessary for the due discharge of his duty as such public servant and without ill-will towards the person whose death is caused.

Exception 4. - Culpable homicide is not murder if it is committed without premeditation in a sudden fight in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel and without the offender having taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner.

Explanation. - It is immaterial in such cases which party offers the provocation or commits the first assault.

Exception 5. - Culpable homicide is not murder when the person whose death is caused, being above the age of eighteen years, suffers death or takes the risk of death with his own consent."

21. Exception 4 to Section 300 of the IPC applies in the absence of any premeditation. This is very clear from the wordings of the Exception itself. The exception contemplates that the sudden fight shall start upon the heat of passion on a sudden quarrel. The fourth exception to Section 300 IPC covers acts done in a sudden fight. The said Exception deals with a case of provocation not covered by the first exception, after which its place would have been more appropriate. The Exception is founded upon the same principle, for in both there is absence of premeditation. But, while in the case of Exception 1 there is total deprivation of self-control, in case of Exception 4, there is only that heat of passion which clouds men's sober reason and urges them to deeds which they would not otherwise do. There is provocation in Exception 4 as in Exception 1, but the injury done is not the direct consequence of that provocation. In fact, Exception 4 deals with cases in which notwithstanding that a blow may have been struck, or some provocation given in the origin of the dispute or in whatever way the quarrel may have originated, yet the subsequent conduct of both parties puts them in respect of guilt upon an equal footing. A "sudden fight" implies mutual provocation and blows on each side. The homicide committed is then clearly not traceable to unilateral provocation, nor could in such cases the whole blame be placed on one side. For if it were so, the Exception more appropriately applicable would be Exception 1. There is no previous deliberation or determination to fight. A fight suddenly takes place, for which both parties are more or less to be blamed. It may be that one of them starts it, but if the other had not aggravated it by his own conduct it would not have taken the serious turn it did. There is then mutual provocation and aggravation, and it is difficult to apportion the share of blame which attaches to each fighter. The help of Exception 4 can be invoked if death is caused (a) without premeditation, (b) in a sudden fight, (c) without the offenders having taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner, and (d) the fight must have been with the person killed. To bring a case within Exception 4 all the ingredients mentioned in it must be found. It is to be noted that the "fight" occurring in Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC is not defined in IPC. It takes two to make a fight. Heat of passion requires that there must be no time for the passions to cool down and in this case, the parties had worked themselves into a fury on account of the verbal altercation in the beginning. A fight is a combat between two and more persons whether with or without weapons. It is not possible to enunciate any general rule as to what shall be deemed to be a sudden quarrel. It is a question of fact and whether a quarrel is sudden or not must necessarily depend upon the proved facts of each case. For the application of Exception 4, it is not sufficient to show that there was a sudden quarrel and there was no premeditation. It must further be shown that the offender has not taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner. The expression "undue advantage" as used in the provision means "unfair advantage".

22. The Apex Court in State of A.P. vs. Rayavarapu Punnayya and Another; (1976) 4 SCC 382 while drawing a distinction between Section 302 and Section 304 of IPC held as under:

"12. In the scheme of the Penal Code, "culpable homicide" is genus and "murder" its specie. All "murder" is "culpable homicide" but not vice-versa. Speaking generally, "culpable homicide" sans "special characteristics of murder", is "culpable homicide not amounting to murder". For the purpose of fixing punishment, proportionate to the gravity of this generic offence, the Code practically recognises three degrees of culpable homicide. The first is, what may be called, "culpable homicide of the first degree". This is the greatest form of culpable homicide, which is defined in Section 300 as "murder". The second may be termed as "culpable homicide of the second degree". This is punishable under the first part of Section 304. Then, there is "culpable homicide of the third degree". This is the lowest type of culpable homicide and the punishment provided for it is, also, the lowest among the punishments provided for the three grades. Culpable homicide of this degree is punishable under the second part of Section 304.

21. From the above conspectus, it emerges that whenever a court is confronted with the question whether the offence is "murder" or "culpable homicide not amounting to murder", on the facts of a case, it will be convenient for it to approach the problem in three stages. The question to be considered at the first stage would be, whether the accused has done an act by doing which he has caused the death of another. Proof of such causal connection between the act of the accused and the death, leads to the second stage for considering whether that act of the accused amounts to "culpable homicide" as defined in Section 299. If the answer to this question is prima facie found in the affirmative, the stage for considering the operation of Section 300 of the Penal Code, is reached. This is the stage at which the court should determine whether the facts proved by the prosecution bring the case within the ambit of any of the four clauses of the definition of "murder" contained in Section 300. If the answer to this question is in the negative the offence would be "culpable homicide not amounting to murder", punishable under the first or the second part of Section 304, depending, respectively, on whether the second or the third clause of Section 299 is applicable. If this question is found in the positive, but the case comes within any of the exceptions enumerated in Section 300, the offence would still be "culpable homicide not amounting to murder", punishable under the first part of Section 304, of the Penal Code."

23. In Budhi Singh vs. State of Himachal Pradesh; (2012) 13 SCC 663, the Supreme Court held as under:

18. The doctrine of sudden and grave provocation is incapable of rigid construction leading to or stating any principle of universal application. This will always have to depend on the facts of a given case. While applying this principle, the primary obligation of the court is to examine from the point of view of a person of reasonable prudence if there was such grave and sudden provocation so as to reasonably conclude that it was possible to commit the offence of culpable homicide, and as per the facts, was not a culpable homicide amounting to murder. An offence resulting from grave and sudden provocation would normally mean that a person placed in such circumstances could lose self-control but only temporarily and that too, in proximity to the time of provocation. The provocation could be an act or series of acts done by the deceased to the accused resulting in inflicting of injury.

19. Another test that is applied more often than not is that the behaviour of the assailant was that of a reasonable person. A fine distinction has to be kept in mind between sudden and grave provocation resulting in sudden and temporary loss of self-control and the one which inspires an actual intention to kill. Such act should have been done during the continuation of the state of mind and the time for such person to kill and reasons to regain the dominion over the mind. Once there is premeditated act with the intention to kill, it will obviously fall beyond the scope of culpable homicide not amounting to murder....."

24. In Kikar Singh vs. State of Rajasthan; (1993) 4 SCC 238, the Apex Court held as under:

"8. The counsel attempted to bring the case within Exception 4. For its application all the conditions enumerated therein must be satisfied. The act must be committed without premeditation in a sudden fight in the heat of passion; (2) upon a sudden quarrel; (3) without the offender's having taken undue advantage; (4) and the accused had not acted in a cruel or unusual manner. Therefore, there must be a mutual combat or exchanging blows on each other. And however slight the first blow, or provocation, every fresh blow becomes a fresh provocation. The blood is already heated or warms up at every subsequent stroke. The voice of reason is heard on neither side in the heat of passion. Therefore, it is difficult to apportion between them respective degrees of blame with reference to the state of things at the commencement of the fray but it must occur as a consequence of a sudden fight i.e. mutual combat and not one side track. It matters not what the cause of the quarrel is, whether real or imaginary, or who draws or strikes first. The strike of the blow must be without any intention to kill or seriously injure the other. If two men start fighting and one of them is unarmed while the other uses a deadly weapon, the one who uses such weapon must be held to have taken an undue advantage denying him the entitlement to Exception 4. True the number of wounds is not the criterion, but the position of the accused and the deceased with regard to their arms used, the manner of combat must be kept in mind when applying Exception 4. When the deceased was not armed but the accused was and caused injuries to the deceased with fatal results, the Exception 4 engrafted to Section 300 is excepted and the offences committed would be one of murder.

9. The occasion for sudden quarrel must not only be sudden but the party assaulted must be on an equal footing in point of defence, at least at the onset. This is specially so where the attack is made with dangerous weapons. Where the deceased was unarmed and did not cause any injury to the accused even following a sudden quarrel if the accused has inflicted fatal blows on the deceased, Exception 4 is not attracted and commission must be one of murder punishable under Section 302. Equally for attracting Exception 4 it is necessary that blows should be exchanged even if they do not all find their target. Even if the fight is unpremeditated and sudden, yet if the instrument or manner of retaliation be greatly disproportionate to the offence given, and cruel and dangerous in its nature, the accused cannot be protected under Exception 4...."

25. All the above three cases were considered by the Apex Court in Surain Singh v The State of Punjab; Criminal Appeal No.2284 of 2009, decided on April 10, 2017 and ultimately, it has been held by the Apex Court in that particular case, that the accused was liable to be convicted under Section 304 Part II of IPC and not under Section 302 of IPC.

26. If we apply the above principle of law in the present case, what emerges from the evidence, is that there was no premeditation on the part of the accused persons to commit the offence and it started when the standing crop of the accused appellant was damaged by the blue bulls and he made allegation against the deceased and the complainant party that on account of removing fencing by them, his crop is being damaged. The evidence also reflects that both the parties had altercation with each other. They abused each other and thus, it can safely be held that it was a sudden fight and in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel single injury was caused to the deceased resulting his death. Appellant has not taken any undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner while committing the offence. Case of the appellant would, thus, fall under Exception 4 of Section 300 of IPC and it can be safely held that the appellant is liable to be convicted for committing 'culpable homicide not amounting to murder'.

27. Taking the cumulative effect of the evidence and the nature of injury, we are of the view that the appellant is liable to be convicted under Section 304 Part II of IPC.

28. Now the another important question is as to what would be the appropriate sentence to be imposed upon the appellant.

29. Learned counsel for the appellant submits that appellant is willing to pay suitable compensation to the deceased family and, therefore, minimum jail sentence be imposed upon him.

30. Considering the cumulative effect of the evidence and the fact that the incident occurred about 32 years back and at present the appellant is aged about 65 years, we are of the view that jail sentence of 5 years would meet the ends of justice. Order accordingly.

31. Further considering the provisions of Section 357 of Cr.PC and the judgment of the Supreme Court in Ankush Shivaji Gaikwad v State of Maharashtra; (2013) 6 SCC 770, it is directed that the appellant shall also be liable to pay compensation of Rs. 2,00,000/- (two lakhs) to the wife of the deceased. He is directed to deposit the said amount within two years before the trial court. In the eventuality of depositing the said amount by the appellant before the trial Court, it would be the duty of the trial Court to disburse the said amount in favour of wife of the deceased. In case, the appellant fails to deposit the said amount, he shall further undergo Jail sentence of one year and the court below shall proceed against him in the light of judgment of the Apex Court in Kumaran Vs. State of Kerala and another; (2017) 7 SCC 471.

32. The appellant is reported to be on bail. He be taken into custody forthwith to serve the remaining sentence.

33. The appeal is partly allowed.

34. A copy of this order be transmitted to the court concerned for necessary compliance.

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Harendra Prakash Dwivedi, Sri Vikas Singh.

Counsel for the Opposite Party:
A.G.A., Sri R.A. Misra, Sri Siddarth Misra.

A. The detention period alone cannot serve as a legitimate basis to release accused on bail in a matter where the allegation pertains to killing wife by setting her ablaze particularly when evidence is sufficient, and unimpeachable dying declaration is on record. Onus to prove circumstances of death lies entirely on accused. (Para 5)

(Order in criminal Misc short term bail (Parole) application no- 34208 of 2015). (Para 6)

Bail application rejected (E-2)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Karuna Nand Bajpayee, J. & Hon'ble Ajit Singh, J.)

(Order in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No.276258 of 2014)

1. List has been revised. Learned counsel for appellant is present. None has appeared on behalf of complainant despite repeated calls. Learned A.G.A. is present.

2. This bail application has been moved in aforesaid appeal on behalf of appellant Mansha Ram @ Mansha Lal @ Sonoo seeking his release on bail, who has been convicted and sentenced for offences u/s 302 I.P.C. in Session Trial No.550 of 2011 (State vs. Mansha Ram @ Mansha Lal @ Sonoo) arising out of Case Crime No.32 of 2011, Police Station-Tharwai, District-Allahabad.

3. Heard learned counsel for appellant-applicant and learned A.G.A. and also perused the record.

4. Submission of counsel for appellant is that though there is a dying declaration recorded by the Magistrate but the doctor who has given the certificate of fitness before recording of dying declaration has gone to state during the course of his deposition that he cannot vouchsafe about the conscious condition of the deceased at the time when she was brought in the hospital. Further submission is that with this kind of statement made in the court it cannot be said for certain that when the dying declaration was recorded the patient had actually gained consciousness. That would go to render the dying declaration suspect, and therefore, the accused should be released on bail. The period of detention was also pointed out. It has been also submitted that the deceased incurred injuries during the course of cooking accidentally and nobody can be blamed for that.

5. Learned A.G.A. has opposed the prayer for bail and it has been pointed out that this is a case in which the death of the deceased took place as a result of bodily burns within three years of marriage and there are clear allegations made against the appellant for having not only demanded the dowry but also for having committed cruelty upon her consistently. She was beaten up time and again and attempts to cause her death were made ever earlier. In fact record also shows the allegation that before the incident the appellant had gone to the house of the parents of deceased where she was at that time and came back with the deceased only when Rs.50,000/- were given to him. Emphasis was laid by learned A.G.A. on the dying declaration of the deceased which has been recorded by the Magistrate who has been produced as P.W.-3 in the court and who has duly proved the dying declaration as was given by the deceased. The doctor who had given the fitness certificate has also been examined in the court as P.W.-6. Both these witnesses are of independent source and no reason has been shown as to why they would go to depose falsely in the court. The dying declaration made by the deceased is also unambiguously categorical, according to which on the fateful day it was appellant who had set the deceased ablaze after having physically assaulted her on a trifling issue. It has also been argued that the state of consciousness at the time of admission and the state of consciousness at the time when the dying declaration was recorded should not necessarily be the same and when the doctor, who gave the fitness certificate at the time of recording of the dying declaration, was asked the question about the mental condition of the deceased regarding the time when she was brought in the hospital, the only answer which a honest witness could give was in negative as he was not a witness of that fact and was not in a position to depose about the same, and therefore, the argument of the defence in this regard is specious and untenable both. It was also submitted that in fact the line of defence as has been adopted on behalf of the accused is also mutually inconsistent and contradictory. At one point of time it appears that the accused had tried to plead that the deceased died after incurring accidental burns during the course of cooking but the defence witnesses, as have been produced on behalf of accused in the court, have tried to show that when they reached the spot the room where the incident took place was found bolted from inside and had to be broken open before anybody could enter into it. This shows that the line of defence adopted appears to be that of commission of suicide by the deceased. Submission is that the accused-appellant being the husband of the deceased had the first responsibility to ensure welfare of his wife but instead of proving to be the protector he has proved himself to be the eliminator of his wife, as is amply borne out and shown by the dying declaration, to disbelieve which there is no good reason available on record at this stage. The submissions that have been raised on behalf of accused relate to detailed intricacies of appreciation of evidence and can be heard or appreciated only at the time of final hearing. At this stage there is conclusive, categorical and incriminating evidence available on record and the impugned judgment cannot be castigated on any valid ground and the accused has simply failed to establish even a prima facie case in his favour. Submission is that in a matter like this where the husband has killed his wife by setting her ablaze, the detention period alone cannot serve as a legitimate basis to release him on bail on that ground alone, especially in the wake of sufficiency of evidence which include the unimpeachable dying declaration available on record. It has also been submitted that in matters like this the onus to prove the circumstances of the death was entirely upon the accused who alone could have shed light in this regard as the incident took place within the precincts of his own house within three years of marriage. But instead of coming out with clean hands, mutually incompatible lines of defence have been pleaded at different stages which only go to explode the falsity of the defence and can be read even as an additional circumstance against the accused. Learned A.G.A. contends that the Court therefore for these reasons should not take liberal view in the matter.

6. Looking to the nature of offence, its gravity and the evidence in support of it and the overall circumstances of this case, this Court is of the view that the appellant has not made out a case for bail. Therefore, the prayer for bail of the appellant is rejected.

7. It is clarified that the observations, if any, made in this order are strictly confined to the disposal of the bail application and must not be construed to have any reflection on the ultimate merits of the case.

8. The court is open and is feeling inclined to hear the appeal finally. If the appellant or his counsel has any inclination to argue the case finally, he can always take steps to expedite the hearing of the appeal.

(Order in Criminal Misc. Short Term Bail (Parole) Application No.34208 of 2015)

9. We have already heard the regular bail application of the appellant and did not find it a fit case where the accused could be released on bail, and therefore, we rejected the same. We also do not find any good ground to release of the appellant on parole, and therefore, same also stands rejected.

Criminal Appeal No. 1431 of 1987

Bhagwan Deen ...Appellant (In Jail)
Versus
State ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Appellant:
Sri Vinay Saran, Sri P.K. Mishra.

Counsel for the Opposite Party:
Sri Amit Sinha, A.G.A.

A. The FIR is vital and valuable price of evidence. If there is delay in lodging FIR, advantage of spontaity is lost and danger of coloured version/concocted story as a result of consultations/deliberations creeps in. A promptly lodged FIR reflects the firsthand account of the actual incident and the accused. An inference as to whether a FIR is ante timed can be drawn only on basis the proper cross examination of complainant and the police officer who recorded the FIR. (Para 16)

List of cases cited: -

1. Jai Prakash Singh Vs St. of Bihar (2012) 4 SCC 379

2. Madru Singh Vs St. of M. P. & Ram Sanjiwan Singh Vs St. of Bihar

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pritinker Diwaker, J.)

1. This appeal arises out of impugned judgment and order dated 29.4.1987 passed by VII Additional District & Sessions Judge, Kanpur Dehat in Sessions Trial No.384 of 1983, convicting the appellant under Section 302 of IPC and sentencing him to undergo imprisonment for life.

2. In the present case, name of the deceased is Ram Dayal and as per prosecution case, on 29.9.1983 at about 2:00 am (in the mid-night) he was killed by appellant Bhagwan Deen by causing him number of incised wounds by a Tabbal. Further case of the prosecution is that about 8-10 days prior to the incident, Nirmala Devi, wife of Bechey Lal (brother of the appellant) was teased by the deceased and at that time, the appellant made efforts to get the deceased, but he could not succeed. Getting the opportunity, on 29.9.1983, the appellant entered the house of the deceased and caused him several injuries by a Tabbal, when he was sleeping in his Varandah. After hearing the cries of the deceased, (PW-1) Ram Gopal (nephew of the deceased), (PW-2) Kishuna Devi (wife of the deceased) and (PW-3) Chhotey Lal reached to the place of occurrence and, in the natural moon light and in the light of torch, saw the appellant causing injuries to the deceased. When these eye-witnesses have challenged the appellant, he fled away from the spot. On the next morning, at 8:30 am, on the basis of written report Ex.Ka.1 lodged by (PW-1) Ram Gopal, FIR Ex.Ka.3 was registered against the appellant under Section 302 of IPC.

3. Inquest on the dead body of the deceased was conducted vide Ex. Ka.5 on 29.9.1983 and the body was sent for postmortem which was conducted on 30.9.1983 vide Ex. Ka.17 by (PW-7) Dr S N Srivastava.

As per Autopsy Surgeon, following four injuries were noticed on the body of the deceased:

"(1) Incised wound on face Rt side extending from 3 cm away and lateral from Rt Ear extending obliquely downward Right angle of mouth Rt side with clear margin and tapering end. Injury measures 5 cm x 1 1/2 cm x bone cut.

(2) Incised wound in the center of nose bridge extending upwards obliquely Rt side of forehead with clear margin measuring 2 1/2 cm x 3/4 cm x bone deep.

(3) Incised wound on face Lt side extending from tragus of Lt ear obliquely upwards to Rt side across the Rt eye and puncturing Lt eye ball center with margin and tapering end on Lt side, wound measuring 11 cm x 2 1/2 cm x bone cut.

(4) Incised wound on neck Rt side after root of neck placed horizontally and measuring 11 cm x 3 cm x bone and cavity deep 3 cm away tabere Rt collar bone with clear margins and tapering end and wound cut cervical vertebrae of Rt side. Wound is at root of neck and extending out surface and neck in front."

Cause of death of the deceased was due to shock and hemorrhage as a result of injuries (Ante Mortem).

4. While framing charge, the trial Judge has framed charge against the appellant under Section 302 of IPC.

5. So as to hold accused appellant guilty, prosecution has examined seven witnesses. Statement of accused appellant was recorded under Section 313 of Cr PC in which, he pleaded his innocence and false implication.

6. By the impugned judgment and order, the trial Judge has convicted the accused appellant under Section 302 of IPC and sentenced him as mentioned in paragraph-1 of this judgment. Hence, this appeal.

7. Counsel for the appellant submits:-

(i) that the FIR is ante-timed and there is delay in lodging the same.

(ii) that three eye-witnesses, i.e. (PW-1) Ram Gopal, (PW-2) Kishuna Devi and (PW-3) Chotey Lal, are not reliable and trustworthy. It has been argued that there are material contradictions in their statements.

(iii) that the incident occurred in the mid-night and the witnesses were sleeping and, thus, question of seeing the incident by them does not arise at all.

(iv) that there was no sufficient source of light at the place of occurrence.

8. On the other hand, supporting the impugned judgment and order, it has been argued by learned State Counsel:

(i) that the conviction of the appellant is in accordance with law and there is no infirmity in the same.

(ii) that a very prompt report was lodged by (PW-1) Ram Gopal. He, however, submits that the incident occurred at 2:00 am (in the mid-night) whereas at 8:30 am, the report was lodged and the distance between the place of occurrence and that of Police Station is about 8 kms.

(iii) that the statements of eye-witnesses have been duly supported by the postmortem report of the deceased and the Autopsy Surgeon has also duly proved the same.

(iv) that on the date of incident, there was sufficient light at the place of occurrence. It has been argued that as per moon chart available on internet, it was 54% visibility on the date of incident. It has further been argued that even otherwise, (PW-1) and (PW-3) were carrying torch with them and in the torch light as well as in the moon light, they saw the appellant causing injuries to the deceased.

9. We have heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

10. (PW-1) Ram Gopal, is the first informant and an eye-witness to the incident. While supporting the prosecution case, he has stated that about 8-10 days prior to the incident, wife of Bechey Lal, namely, Nirmala Devi was teased by the deceased and despite efforts being made by the appellant, he could not get deceased Ram Dayal. He has further stated that in the night intervening 28/29.9.1983, the appellant entered the house of the deceased who was sleeping in his Varandah and caused several injuries to him by a Tabbal. Upon hearing the cries of the deceased, (PW-2) Kishuna Devi and (PW-3) Chotey Lal reached to the spot carrying torch with them and then they saw the appellant causing several injuries by a Tabbal, resulting his death at the spot. He further states that the appellant was challenged by them, but he fled away from the spot.

In the cross-examination, this witness remained very firm and has reiterated as to the manner in which the deceased was done to death by the appellant.

11. (PW-2) Kishuna Devi, is also an eye-witness to the incident. She is the wife of the deceased. She states that on the date of incident, she was sleeping in an adjacent room to her Varandah, whereas her husband was sleeping in the Varandah and upon hearing his cries, when she came out from the room, she saw the appellant causing injuries to her husbanfd by a Tabbal. She has categorically stated that on the date of incident, it was half moon light and in the said light, she could see the appellant properly.

12. (PW-3) Chotey Lal, is another eye-witness to the incident and he too has categorically stated that, on the date of incident, it was half moon light and he saw the appellant, causing injuries to the deceased by a Tabbal. He has further stated that he was carrying a torch and there was sufficient moon light as well.

13. (PW-4) Sri Krishna, recorded chik FIR. (PW-5) Surendra Pratap Singh, took the body of the deceased for postmortem. (PW-6) Surendra Pal Singh, is the Investigating Officer, has duly supported the prosecution case. (PW-7) Dr S N Srivastava, conducted the postmortem of the deceased.

14. Close scrutiny of the evidence makes it clear that on account of previous enmity, on 29.9.1983 at about 2:00 am, the appellant entered the house of the deceased and caused him several injuries by a Tabbal. Upon hearing the cries of the deceased, (PW-1) Ram Gopal and (PW-3) Chotey Lal, reached to the place of occurrence carrying torch with them and saw the appellant assaulting the deceased. That apart, when (PW-2) Kishuna Devi, who was sleeping in a room adjacent to her Varandah, after hearing the cries of the deceased came out from the room, saw the appellant causing injuries to the deceased. When the appellant was challenged by these eye-witnesses, he fled away from the spot. In view of this, we have no reason to disbelieve the statements of these three eye-witnesses, who are very firm and have candidly stated as to the manner in which the deceased was done to death by the appellant.

15. We find no substance in the argument of the defence that there was no source of sufficient light at the place of occurrence. As per moon chart available on internet, on the date of incident, the visibility was 54%. Even otherwise, (PW-1) and (PW-3) were carrying torch with them and in the torch light as well as in the moon light, they saw the appellant causing injuries to the deceased.

16. We further find no substance in the argument of the defence that the FIR is ante-timed. The incident occurred at 2:00 am, whereas at 8:30 am, the report was lodged and the distance between the place of occurrence and that of Police Station is about 8 kms. Considering the fact that the deceased died at the spot; it was mid-night and (PW-1) Ram Gopal might have taken sometime to adjust himself and then rushed to the police station for lodging the FIR, we are of the view that there was no time for (PW-1) to concoct the story or fabricate the evidence in any manner. Therefore, it cannot be said that the report is ante-timed. Even otherwise, there is no evidence to show as to in what manner this entire story has been cooked up by (PW-1). In absence of any such evidence, it cannot be presumed that the FIR is ante-timed. Law in this respect is very clear.

In Jai Prakash Singh v State of Bihar the Supreme Court observed as under:

12. The FIR in criminal case is a vital and valuable piece of evidence though may not be substantive piece of evidence. The object of insisting upon prompt lodging of the FIR in respect of the commission of an offence is to obtain early information regarding the circumstances in which the crime was committed, the names of actual culprits and the part played by them as well as the names of eye-witnesses present at the scene of occurrence. If there is a delay in lodging the FIR, it looses the advantage of spontaneity, danger creeps in of the introduction of coloured version, exaggerated account or concocted story as a result of large number of consultations/deliberations. Undoubtedly, the promptness in lodging the FIR is an assurance regarding truth of the informant's version. A promptly lodged FIR reflects the first hand account of what has actually happened, and who was responsible for the offence in question. (Vide: Thulia Kali v. State of T.N. (1972) 3 SCC 393, State of Punjab v. Surja Ram, 1995 Supp. (3) SCC 419, Girish Yadav v. State of MP, (1996) 8 SCC 186 and Takdir Samsuddin Sheikh v. State of Gujarat (2011) 10 SCC 158."

The Supreme Court in Madru Singh vs. State of Madhya Pradesh and Ram Sanjiwan Singh Vs. State of Bihar, answered the similar question in 'negative'. In the said decisions, it has been held by the Supreme Court that from the cross-examination of prosecution witnesses, circumstances have to be elicited which would show that the FIR was ante-timed and then alone, an inference can be drawn that the FIR was ante-timed.

It is further settled position of law that FIR can be proved ante-timed or ante-dated by adducing proper evidence. The lodger of FIR should be subjected to proper cross-examination as to on what basis defence pleads the FIR to be ante-timed or ante-dated. Likewise, the police officer, who has recorded the FIR, is also required to be properly cross-examined as to on what basis defence pleads the FIR to be ante-dated or ante-timed. If no such requirement of law is completed and no such proper cross-examination of the witnesses is being done, it cannot be presumed that the FIR is ante-dated or ante-timed.

17. We further find no substance in the argument of the defence that three eye-witnesses, i.e. (PW-1) Ram Gopal, (PW-2) Kishuna Devi and (PW-3) Chotey Lal are not reliable and trustworthy. No such contrary evidence is available on record to presume this fact as well. All these three eye-witnesses appear to be the natural witnesses who had seen the occurrence.

18. Considering all these aspects of the case, we are of the considered view that the trial Court was fully justified in convicting the appellant. The appeal has no substance and the same is, accordingly, dismissed.

19. Since the appellant is on bail, he be taken into custody forthwith for serving remaining sentence.

20. Let a copy of this judgment be sent to the concerned trial Court for compliance.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pritinker Diwatker, J.)

1. This appeal arises out of impugned judgment and order dated 17.2.1987 passed by Vth Additional Sessions Judge, Basti in Sessions Trial No.222 of 1984, convicting accused no.5-Tirath, accused no.6-Laxmi, accused no.7-Ashok, accused no.8-Ram Bhabhuti, accused no.9-Bhadeshwar and accused no.10-Parmatma under Sections 147, 323 read with Section 149 and Section 302 read with Section 149 of IPC and sentencing them to undergo one month's RI; three months' RI and imprisonment for life respectively. Further, accused no.1-Ram Shankar, accused no.2-Onkar, accused no.3-Mahadeo and accused no.4-Rajeshwar have been convicted under Sections 148, 323 read with Section 149 and Section 302 read with Section 149 of IPC and sentenced to undergo one year's RI, three months' RI and imprisonment for life respectively.

2. As per prosecution case, there were two groups in the village, one was of 'Pandit' community, whereas the other group was of 'Harijan' community. As the later group had stopped working for the first group, there was a dispute between the two and the proceedings under Section 107 of Cr PC were initiated against both the groups. Another outfall of the said dispute was that the second group was not allowed to move freely in the village by the first group nor they were permitted to fetch water from the Well. It is said that on 29.9.1982, deceased Shiv Raj, who belonged to second group, was making some arrangement to have separate Hand Pump and while doing so, he had gone to the well of accused Ram Shankar and there some verbal exchange had taken place. Soon thereafter, accused persons reached to opposite group carrying different weapons with them and upon exhortation being made by first accused Ram Shankar, they caused injuries to Shiv Raj. When Piyare (PW-2) and Hanuman (PW-3) tried to intervene in the matter, they were also subjected to injuries. In the said incident, accused Laxmi and Ashok also suffered minor injuries. After sustaining injuries, Shiv Raj expired at the place of occurrence itself.

3. On the basis of written report Ex.Ka.1 lodged by (PW-1) Ram Dawan, brother of the deceased, on 29.9.1982 FIR Ex.Ka.2 was registered at 9:15 am against ten accused persons, namely, Ram Shankar, Onkar, Mahadeo, Rajeshwar, Tirath, Laxmi, Ashok, Parmatma, Bhadeshwar and Ram Bhabhuti under Sections 147, 148, 149, 323, 324, 504 and 302 of IPC.

4. Injured Hanuman (PW-3) was medically examined vide Ex.Ka.8 and the following injuries were noticed by the Doctor:

"(i) Lacerated wound - 5.52 x 1 cm x bone deep on the left side of Head, vertically placed 9 cm above left ear. Bleeding present.

(ii) LW - 4 cm x 0.4 cm x muscle deep on the Rt. side of Head, 5 cm above Rt eyebrow. Bleeding present.

(iii) Contusion swelling - 6 cm x 4 cm on the Rt. side of face, just below the lower eyelid, Below canthus."

Other injured Piyare (PW-2) was also medically examined, vide Ex.Ka.9 and the following injuries were noticed by the Doctor:

"(i) LW - 5.52 x 0.52 cm x muscle deep, on the left side of Head, 9 cm above eyelid. Bleeding present.

(ii) Traumatic Swelling - 12 cm x all round Rt. forearm, 4 cm below the elbow.

(iii) Traumatic Swelling - 10 cm x all around Rt. forearm, 11 cm below injury no.(ii)."

5. Inquest on the dead body of the deceased was conducted vide Ex.Ka.6 on 29.9.1982 and the body was sent for postmortem which was conducted on 30.9.1982, vide Ex.Ka.7 by (PW-5) Dr A K Mehrotra.

As per Autopsy Surgeon, following injuries were noticed on the body of the deceased:

1. Lacerated wound 5 cm x 1.5 cm x bone deep on back of skull 2 cm front of site of choti (pksVh). Obliquely present.

2. Lacerated wound 5.5 cm x 1.5 cm x bone deep on Rt parieto temporal region of skull 6 cm above right ear. Obliquely present.

3. Incised wound with clear cut margins (as seen with lens) on right side front of skull extending to forehead - size 5 cm x 1 cm x bone deep. Flesh of skull bone is seen cut through the wound.

4. Lacerated wound - 3.5 cm x 0.6 cm x bone deep on dorsum of the middle finger of left hand.

5. Contusion 9 cm x 2.5 cm outer front of right shoulder.

6. Multiple contusion on area of 15 cm x 12 cm on back of lower half of the side of chest area. Biggest size of contusion is 9 cm x 2.4 cm and smallest of size 6 cm x 1.6 cm.

7. Contusion - 12 cm x 2.5 cm on back of upper inner part of right thigh.

8. Contusion - 7.8 cm x 2 cm on back of left shoulder.

9. Contusion 9 cm x 2.2 cm on the back of middle 1/3 of left leg."

Cause of death of the deceased was shock, haemorrhage and coma as a result of ante-mortem injuries.

6. While framing charge, the trial Judge has framed charge against accused Tirath, Laxmi, Ashok, Parmatma, Bhadeshwar and Ram Bhabhuti under Sections 147, 302/149 and 323/149 of IPC, whereas against accused Ram Shankar, Onkar, Mahadeo and Rajeshwar charge was framed under Sections 148, 302/149 and 323/149 of IPC.

7. So as to hold accused persons guilty, the prosecution has examined eight witnesses, whereas one defence witness has also been examined. Statements of accused persons were also recorded under Section 313 of Cr PC in which, they pleaded their innocence and false implication.

8. By the impugned judgment, the trial Judge has convicted and sentenced the accused persons as mentioned in para 1 of this judgment. During pendency of the present appeal, accused no.7-Ashok has been declared juvenile, whereas accused no.3-Mahadeo, accused no.5-Tirath, accused no.8-Ram Bhabhuti and accused no.10-Parmatma have expired and the appeal in their respect has already been abated. At present, this appeal is confined in respect of accused no.1-Ram Shankar, accused no.2-Onkar, accused no.4-Rajeshwar, accused no.6-Laxmi, accused no.7-Ashok and accused no.9-Bhadeshwar.

9. Counsel for the appellants submits:

(i) that the FIR is ante-dated.

(ii) that motive part has not been proved by the prosecution.

(iii) that (PW-1) Ram Dawan, (PW-2) Piyare and (PW-3) Hanuman are not the reliable witnesses.

(iv) that it is the victim party who was aggressor and, therefore, the accused persons had every right to save themselves from the marpeet started by the victim party. Learned counsel submits that the accused persons have caused injury in their self-defence and thus, they cannot be convicted.

(v) that under no stretch of imagination, offence under Section 302 of IPC is made out against the accused persons and, at best, they are liable to be convicted under Section 304 Part II of IPC. It has been argued that the incident occurred in the year 1982, i.e. 37 years back, some of the accused have already expired, remaining accused persons are willing to compensate the victim's family and, therefore, a lenient view be taken while awarding sentence to them.

10. On the other hand, supporting the impugned judgment and order, it has been argued by the State Counsel that the conviction of the accused persons is in accordance with law and there is no infirmity in the same. He submits that (PW-2) Piyare and (PW-3) Hanuman are the injured eye-witnesses and they have duly supported the prosecution case. The prosecution case has been further proved by the medical report of (PW-2) Piyare and (PW-3) Hanuman and likewise, postmortem report of the deceased. State counsel further submits that complainant party was not aggressor and in the evidence, it has come that it is the accused persons who were aggressor. He submits that right of private defence of a person or property is not available to the accused persons once the eye-witnesses have stated that it is they who caused injury first. He submits that even otherwise, the accused persons have exceeded their right and, therefore, it cannot be said that they are not liable to be convicted for any offence.

11. We have heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

12. (PW-1) Ram Dawan, is a brother of the deceased and lodger of FIR, Ex. Ka.2. While supporting the prosecution case, he has stated that on the date of incident at about 8:00 am, deceased had gone to fetch water from the well of accused no.1 Ram Shankar. However, he was not allowed to do so and was abused by Ram Shankar. He states that deceased Shiv Raj returned to his place after abusing the other group. He further states that soon thereafter, all the accused persons reached there carrying different weapons with them and upon being exhorted by accused no.1 Ram Shankar and accused no.8-Ram Bhabhuti, other accused persons chased the deceased Shiv Raj and after surrounding him, caused number of injuries to him. To save Shiv Raj, (PW-2) Piyare and (PW-3) Hanuman and other persons rushed to him, however, they too had suffered injuries. After sustaining injury, Shiv Raj expired at the place of occurrence itself. In paragraph no.3, he has stated that there were two groups in the village, one belongs to the appellants party, whereas the other was of Harijan group and that there was tension in the village over payment of wages to the second group after which, proceedings under Section 107 Cr PC were also initiated. In the lengthy cross-examination, this witness has remained firm and has reiterated as to the manner in which the incident occurred.

13. (PW-2) Piyare, is an injured witness to the incident, has duly supported the prosecution case and his statement is almost similar to that of (PW-1) Ram Dawan. He states that in the local body election, one Jagdev, from the side of accused persons, defeated one Ram Sahai Chaudhary. He has further stated that on the date of incident when the accused persons were cutting their crops, it is his group who made assault and from the side of accused, Laxami and Ashok suffered injuries and when the accused persons were trying to save themselves, from the side of complainant some persons suffered injuries. He further states that in a cross case, he has also been joined as an accused.

14. (PW-3) Hanuman, is the other injured eye-witness to the incident, has also duly supported the prosecution case.

15. (PW-4) Wakar Husain, is the Investigating Officer, has duly supported the prosecution case.

16. (PW-5) Dr. A.K. Mehrotra, did the postmortem of the deceased vide Ex. Ka. 7.

17. (PW-6) Lal Bahadur Singh and (PW-7) Gomti Prasad assisted during investigation.

18. (PW-8) Dr. G.P. Agarwal, did MLC of (PW-2) Piyare and (PW-3) Hanuman, vide Ex. Ka. 8 and 9 respectively. He further states that accused Laxmi and Ashok had also suffered minor injuries.

19. According to (DW-1) Dr. S.K. Srivastava, accused Laxmi has suffered fracture of metacarpel.

20. Close scrutiny of the evidence makes it clear that there were two groups in the village, Chapiya Majhariya, one headed by the accused persons and the other was of Harijans, of which deceased Shiv Raj was a member. There was a dispute in the village over payment of wages to the second group and the legal proceedings were also initiated against both the parties. On the date of incident, deceased Shiv Raj had gone to fetch water from the well of accused no.1-Ram Shankar and they abused each other. Soon thereafter, accused persons apprehended Shiv Raj and there was an incident of marpeet between two groups. In the incident, from the second group, Shiv Raj (deceased), Piyare (PW-2) and Hanuman (PW-3) suffered injuries, whereas from the side of accused persons, accused Laxmi and Ashok also suffered injuries. The incident has been witnessed by (PW-1) Ram Dawan, (PW-2) Piyare and (PW-3) Hanuman and all three witnesses have duly supported the prosecution case and we have no reason to disbelieve their statements. Likewise, injured Laxmi and Ashok had also suffered injuries and their injuries have also been admitted by the doctor who treated them.

Considering the statements of witnesses, complicity of the accused persons in commission of offence has been duly proved and thus, they are liable to be convicted for the murder of Shiv Raj and injuries to Hanuman and Piyare.

21. The next question which arises for consideration of this Court is as to whether the act of accused persons would fall within the definition of 'murder' or it would be 'culpable homicide not amounting to murder'. Before proceeding further, it is relevant to refer to the provisions of Section 300 of IPC, which read as under:

"300. Murder. - Except in the cases hereinafter excepted, culpable homicide is murder, if the act by which the death is caused is done with the intention of causing death, or-

Secondly. - If it is done with the intention of causing such bodily injury as the offender knows to be likely to cause the death of the person to whom the harm is caused, or -

Thirdly. - If it is done with the intention of causing bodily injury to any person and the bodily injury intended to be inflicted is sufficient in the ordinary course of nature to cause death, or -

Fourthly. - If the person committing the act knows that it is so imminently dangerous that it must, in all probability, cause death or such bodily injury as is likely to cause death, and commits such act without any excuse for incurring the risk of causing death or such injury as aforesaid.

Exception 1. - When culpable homicide is not murder. -

Culpable homicide is not murder if the offender, whilst deprived of the power of self-control by grave and sudden provocation, causes the death of the person who gave the provocation or causes the death of any other person by mistake or accident.

The above Exception is subject to the following provisos:-

First. - That the provocation is not sought or voluntarily provoked by the offender as an excuse for killing or doing harm to any person.

Secondly. - That the provocation is not given by anything done in obedience to the law, or by a public servant in the lawful exercise of the powers of such public servant.

Thirdly. - That the provocation is not given by anything done in the lawful exercise of the right of private defence.

Explanation. - Whether the provocation was grave and sudden enough to prevent the offence from amounting to murder is a question of fact.

Exception 2. - Culpable homicide is not murder if the offender, in the exercise in good faith of the right of private defence of person or property, exceeds the power given to him by law and causes the death of the person against whom he is exercising such right of defence without premeditation, and without any intention of doing more harm than is necessary for the purpose of such defence.

Exception 3. - Culpable homicide is not murder if the offender, being a public servant or aiding a public servant acting for the advancement of public justice, exceeds the powers given to him by law, and causes death by doing an act which he, in good faith, believes to be lawful and necessary for the due discharge of his duty as such public servant and without ill-will towards the person whose death is caused.

Exception 4. - Culpable homicide is not murder if it is committed without premeditation in a sudden fight in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel and without the offender having taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner.

Explanation. - It is immaterial in such cases which party offers the provocation or commits the first assault.

Exception 5. - Culpable homicide is not murder when the person whose death is caused, being above the age of eighteen years, suffers death or takes the risk of death with his own consent."

Exception 4 to Section 300 of the IPC applies in the absence of any premeditation. This is very clear from the wordings of the Exception itself. The exception contemplates that the sudden fight shall start upon the heat of passion on a sudden quarrel. The fourth exception to Section 300 IPC covers acts done in a sudden fight. The said Exception deals with a case of provocation not covered by the first exception, after which its place would have been more appropriate. The Exception is founded upon the same principle, for in both there is absence of premeditation. But, while in the case of Exception 1 there is total deprivation of self-control, in case of Exception 4, there is only that heat of passion which clouds mens' sober reason and urges them to deeds which they would not otherwise do. There is provocation in Exception 4 as in Exception 1, but the injury done is not the direct consequence of that provocation. In fact, Exception 4 deals with cases in which notwithstanding that a blow may have been struck, or some provocation given in the origin of the dispute or in whatever way the quarrel may have originated, yet the subsequent conduct of both parties puts them in respect of guilt upon an equal footing. A "sudden fight" implies mutual provocation and blows on each side. The homicide committed is then clearly not traceable to unilateral provocation, nor could in such cases the whole blame be placed on one side. For if it were so, the Exception more appropriately applicable would be Exception 1. There is no previous deliberation or determination to fight. A fight suddenly takes place, for which both parties are more or less to be blamed. It may be that one of them starts it, but if the other had not aggravated it by his own conduct it would not have taken the serious turn it did. There is then mutual provocation and aggravation, and it is difficult to apportion the share of blame which attaches to each fighter. The help of Exception 4 can be invoked if death is caused (a) without premeditation, (b) in a sudden fight, (c) without the offenders having taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner, and (d) the fight must have been with the person killed. To bring a case within Exception 4 all the ingredients mentioned in it must be found. It is to be noted that the "fight" occurring in Exception 4 to Section 300 IPC is not defined in IPC. It takes two to make a fight. Heat of passion requires that there must be no time for the passions to cool down and in this case, the parties had worked themselves into a fury on account of the verbal altercation in the beginning. A fight is a combat between two and more persons whether with or without weapons. It is not possible to enunciate any general rule as to what shall be deemed to be a sudden quarrel. It is a question of fact and whether a quarrel is sudden or not must necessarily depend upon the proved facts of each case. For the application of Exception 4, it is not sufficient to show that there was a sudden quarrel and there was no premeditation. It must further be shown that the offender has not taken undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner. The expression "undue advantage" as used in the provision means "unfair advantage".

22. The Apex Court in State of A.P. vs. Rayavarapu Punnayya and Another while drawing a distinction between Section 302 and Section 304 of IPC held as under:

"12. In the scheme of the Penal Code, "culpable homicide" is genus and "murder" its specie. All "murder" is "culpable homicide" but not vice-versa. Speaking generally, "culpable homicide" sans "special characteristics of murder", is "culpable homicide not amounting to murder". For the purpose of fixing punishment, proportionate to the gravity of this generic offence, the Code practically recognises three degrees of culpable homicide. The first is, what may be called, "culpable homicide of the first degree". This is the greatest form of culpable homicide, which is defined in Section 300 as "murder". The second may be termed as "culpable homicide of the second degree". This is punishable under the first part of Section 304. Then, there is "culpable homicide of the third degree". This is the lowest type of culpable homicide and the punishment provided for it is, also, the lowest among the punishments provided for the three grades. Culpable homicide of this degree is punishable under the second part of Section 304.

21. From the above conspectus, it emerges that whenever a court is confronted with the question whether the offence is "murder" or "culpable homicide not amounting to murder", on the facts of a case, it will be convenient for it to approach the problem in three stages. The question to be considered at the first stage would be, whether the accused has done an act by doing which he has caused the death of another. Proof of such causal connection between the act of the accused and the death, leads to the second stage for considering whether that act of the accused amounts to "culpable homicide" as defined in Section 299. If the answer to this question is prima facie found in the affirmative, the stage for considering the operation of Section 300 of the Penal Code, is reached. This is the stage at which the court should determine whether the facts proved by the prosecution bring the case within the ambit of any of the four clauses of the definition of "murder" contained in Section 300. If the answer to this question is in the negative the offence would be "culpable homicide not amounting to murder", punishable under the first or the second part of Section 304, depending, respectively, on whether the second or the third clause of Section 299 is applicable. If this question is found in the positive, but the case comes within any of the exceptions enumerated in Section 300, the offence would still be "culpable homicide not amounting to murder", punishable under the first part of Section 304, of the Penal Code."

In Budhi Singh vs. State of Himachal Pradesh, the Supreme Court held as under:

18. The doctrine of sudden and grave provocation is incapable of rigid construction leading to or stating any principle of universal application. This will always have to depend on the facts of a given case. While applying this principle, the primary obligation of the court is to examine from the point of view of a person of reasonable prudence if there was such grave and sudden provocation so as to reasonably conclude that it was possible to commit the offence of culpable homicide, and as per the facts, was not a culpable homicide amounting to murder. An offence resulting from grave and sudden provocation would normally mean that a person placed in such circumstances could lose self-control but only temporarily and that too, in proximity to the time of provocation. The provocation could be an act or series of acts done by the deceased to the accused resulting in inflicting of injury.

19. Another test that is applied more often than not is that the behaviour of the assailant was that of a reasonable person. A fine distinction has to be kept in mind between sudden and grave provocation resulting in sudden and temporary loss of self-control and the one which inspires an actual intention to kill. Such act should have been done during the continuation of the state of mind and the time for such person to kill and reasons to regain the dominion over the mind. Once there is premeditated act with the intention to kill, it will obviously fall beyond the scope of culpable homicide not amounting to murder....."

In Kikar Singh vs. State of Rajasthan the Apex Court held as under:

"8. The counsel attempted to bring the case within Exception 4. For its application all the conditions enumerated therein must be satisfied. The act must be committed without premeditation in a sudden fight in the heat of passion; (2) upon a sudden quarrel; (3) without the offender's having taken undue advantage; (4) and the accused had not acted in a cruel or unusual manner. Therefore, there must be a mutual combat or exchanging blows on each other. And however slight the first blow, or provocation, every fresh blow becomes a fresh provocation. The blood is already heated or warms up at every subsequent stroke. The voice of reason is heard on neither side in the heat of passion. Therefore, it is difficult to apportion between them respective degrees of blame with reference to the state of things at the commencement of the fray but it must occur as a consequence of a sudden fight i.e. mutual combat and not one side track. It matters not what the cause of the quarrel is, whether real or imaginary, or who draws or strikes first. The strike of the blow must be without any intention to kill or seriously injure the other. If two men start fighting and one of them is unarmed while the other uses a deadly weapon, the one who uses such weapon must be held to have taken an undue advantage denying him the entitlement to Exception 4. True the number of wounds is not the criterion, but the position of the accused and the deceased with regard to their arms used, the manner of combat must be kept in mind when applying Exception 4. When the deceased was not armed but the accused was and caused injuries to the deceased with fatal results, the Exception 4 engrafted to Section 300 is excepted and the offences committed would be one of murder.

9. The occasion for sudden quarrel must not only be sudden but the party assaulted must be on an equal footing in point of defence, at least at the onset. This is specially so where the attack is made with dangerous weapons. Where the deceased was unarmed and did not cause any injury to the accused even following a sudden quarrel if the accused has inflicted fatal blows on the deceased, Exception 4 is not attracted and commission must be one of murder punishable under Section 302. Equally for attracting Exception 4 it is necessary that blows should be exchanged even if they do not all find their target. Even if the fight is unpremeditated and sudden, yet if the instrument or manner of retaliation be greatly disproportionate to the offence given, and cruel and dangerous in its nature, the accused cannot be protected under Exception 4...."

23. All the above three cases were considered by the Apex Court in Surain Singh v The State of Punjab and ultimately, it has been held by the Apex Court in that particular case, that the accused was liable to be convicted under Section 304 Part II of IPC and not under Section 302 of IPC.

24. In Ranjitham v Basavaraj., the Supreme Court, while dealing with the similar issue, observed in paragraphs 28, 29, 30 and 31 as under:

"28. In Hari Ram vs. State of Haryana, (1983) 1 SCC 193, there was an altercation between the appellant and the deceased. The appellant had remarked that the deceased must be beaten to make him behave. He thereafter ran inside the house, brought out a jelly and thrust it into the chest of the deceased. This Court observed that in the heat of altercation between the deceased on the one hand, and the appellant and his comrades on the other, the appellant seized a jelly and thrust it into the chest of the deceased. This was preceded by his remark that the deceased must be beaten to make him behave. Therefore, it does not appear that there was any intention to kill the deceased. This Court, therefore, set aside the conviction of the appellant under Section 302 IPC and instead convicted him under Section 304 Part II IPC and sentenced him to suffer rigorous imprisonment for five years.

29. In Jagtar Singh vs. State of Punjab, (1983) 2 SCC 342, in a trivial quarrel the appellant wielded a weapon like a knife and landed a blow on the chest of the deceased. This Court observed that the quarrel had taken place on the spur of the moment. There was exchange of abuses. At that time, the appellant gave a blow with a knife which landed on the chest of the deceased and therefore, it was permissible to draw an inference that the appellant could be imputed with a knowledge that he was likely to cause an injury which was likely to cause death but since there was no premeditation, no intention could be imputed to him to cause death. This Court, therefore, convicted the appellant under Section 304 Part II IPC instead of Section 302 IPC and sentenced him to suffer rigorous imprisonment for five years.

30. In Hem Raj v. The State (Delhi Administration), 1990 Supp. SCC 291, the appellant and the deceased had suddenly grappled with each other and the entire occurrence was over within a minute. During the course of the sudden quarrel, the appellant dealt a single stab which unfortunately landed on the chest of the deceased resulting in his death. This Court observed that (SCC p. 295, para 14) as the totality of the established facts and circumstances show that the occurrence had happened most unexpectedly, in a sudden quarrel and without premeditation during the course of which the appellant caused a solitary injury to the deceased, he could not be imputed with the intention to cause death of the deceased, though knowledge that he was likely to cause an injury which is likely to cause death could be imputed to him. This Court, therefore, set aside the conviction under Section 302 IPC and convicted the appellant under Section 304 Part II IPC and sentenced him to undergo rigorous imprisonment for seven years.

31. In *V. Subramani, (2*005) 10 SCC 358, there was some dispute over grazing of buffaloes. Thereafter, there was altercation between the accused and the deceased. The accused dealt a single blow with a wooden yoke on the deceased. Altering the conviction from Section 302 IPC to Section 304 Part II IPC, this Court clarified that it cannot be laid down as a rule of universal application that whenever death occurs on account of a single blow, Section 302 IPC is ruled out. The fact situation has to be considered in each case. Thus, the part of the body on which the blow was dealt, the nature of the injury and the type of the weapon used will not always be determinative as to whether an accused is guilty of murder or culpable homicide not amounting to murder. The events which precede the incident will also have a bearing on the issue whether the act by which death was caused was done with an intention of causing death or knowledge that it is likely to cause death but without intention to cause death. It is the totality of circumstances which will decide the nature of the offence."

25. Applying the above principle of law in the present case, it is apparent that the offence has been committed without there being any premeditation in a sudden fight in the heat of passion upon a sudden quarrel. Facts also disclose that the accused persons have not taken any undue advantage or acted in a cruel or unusual manner. Thus, the case of the accused persons would fall under Exception 4 of Section 300 of IPC, i.e.'culpable homicide not amounting to murder'.

26. The next question, which arises for consideration of this Court, is as to whether the accused persons are liable to be convicted under Section 304 Part-I or Part-II of IPC.

Considering the fact that at the spur of moment, the incident occurred and as a result thereof, injuries have been caused to the deceased as well as the injured and further considering the statements of three eye-witnesses, it can safely be held that the accused persons are liable to be convicted under Section 304 Part-II of IPC.

27. Another question, which arises for consideration of this Court, is as to what would be the appropriate sentence to be imposed upon the accused appellants.

Having considered the facts that the incident occurred 37 years back; out of 10 accused persons, four have already expired and one has been declared juvenile and the accused appellants are willing to compensate the family of the deceased, we are of the considered view that, in the peculiar facts and circumstances of the case, ends of justice would be served, if the accused appellants, except accused no.7-Ashok, are sentenced to five years rigorous imprisonment. Order accordingly.

However, looking to the provisions of Section 357 of Cr PC and the judgment of the Apex Court in Ankush Shivaji Gaikwad v State of Maharashtra, we are of the view that the accused-appellants are liable to compensate the victim's family by paying a total compensation of Rs.1,50,000/- (One Lakh Fifty Thousand Only) under Section 357 of Cr PC. Accordingly, accused-appellants, Ram Shankar, Onkar, Rajeshwar, Laxmi and Bhadeshwar are directed to pay monetary compensation of Rs. 30,000/- each to the victim's family.

Let this amount be deposited before the concerned Court below within two years from today. After depositing the aforesaid amount before the concerned Court below, it shall be paid to the wife of deceased Shiv Raj, if surviving, or to his legal heirs. In case, the accused appellants fail to deposit the said amount of compensation within the aforesaid time, they shall undergo additional jail sentence of one year and the Court below shall proceed to recover the amount of compensation in the light of judgment of the Apex Court reported in Kumaran Vs State of Kerala and another.

28. So far as the question of sentence to be imposed upon accused no.7-Ashok is concerned, his case is referred to the concerned Juvenile Justice Board to pass appropriate orders, as he has already been declared a juvenile by the Board.

29. Since the accused-appellants are reported to be on bail, they be taken into custody forthwith for serving remaining sentence in terms of this judgment.

30. Let a copy of this judgment be sent to the concerned trial Court forthwith for compliance.

31. The appeal is partly allowed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pritinker Diwaker, J.)

1. This appeal arises out of impugned judgement and order dated 24.3.1987 passed by Sessions Judge, Etawah in Sessions Trial No. 4 of 1985 convicting the accused persons, namely, Lal Bahadur, Sher Singh and Shashtri under Section 302 read with Section 34 of IPC and accused Jai Dutt under Section 302 of IPC and sentencing them to undergo life imprisonment.

2. As per prosecution case, complainant Bhojraj hired a tractor of one Sharma for ploughing his agricultural field. There was some dispute regarding payment to the owner of said tractor and a complaint was made by the owner of the tractor to Pulandar Singh who allegedly abused the deceased. After about 4-5 days of the above incident when the deceased was working in his agricultural field, all the four accused reached there and started abusing him. It is further alleged that Ram Autar (decease) was beaten by the accused persons. Accused Jai Dutt was having 'Moosal' (pestle) with him, accused Lal Bahadur was having spear, whereas the remaining two accused Sher Singh and Shashtri were having clubs with them. The incident of 'marpeet' was witnessed by PW-1, Bhoj Raj and PW-2 Sone Lal. The incident occurred on 20.12.1983 at 7:00 A.M. and the matter was reported to the police at 10:15 A.M. by PW-1, Bhoj Raj against all the accused persons. Based on this report, offence under Sections 323, 504, 506 of IPC was registered against all the accused persons. Injured Ram Autar was immediately shifted to a hospital at Lucknow where, he succumbed to his injuries on 26.12.1983 at about 9:45 p.m.

3. Inquest on the dead body of the deceased was conducted on 27.12.1983 vide Ex. Ka.1 and body was sent for postmortem which was conducted on the same day vide Ex. Ka. 12 by PW-8, Dr. P.R Mishra.

4. As per postmortem report, following injuries were found on the body of the deceased:

(I) Scabbed abraded contusion 8 cm x 6 cm on the left side of head 5 cm above in left eye brow.

(II) Scabbed abraded contusion 9 cm x 5 cm on the left scapula region.

(III) Scabbed abraded contusion 6 cm x 5 cm on the left side of buttock.

(IV) Abraded contusion 4 cm x 9 cm on the 5th lumber spine.

(V) Infected wound 1.5 cm x 0.5 cm muscle deep on the frond & mid of left leg.

(VI) Multiple scabbed abraded contusion in an area 18 cm x 2 cm on the upper half of left leg.

(VII) Scabbed abrasion on an area of 22 cm x 2 cm on the front of right leg.

The cause of death of the deceased was due to comma as a result of head injury.

5. Initially charge was framed against all the accused persons under Section 302/34 of IPC but later amended charge was framed against accused Jai Dutt, under Section 302 of IPC and against the remaining accused persons, it was framed under Section 302/34 of IPC.

6. So as to hold accused persons guilty, prosecution has examined nine witnesses. Statements of the accused-appellants were also recorded under Section 313 of Cr.P.C. in which, they pleaded their innocence and false implication.

7. By the impugned judgment, the trial Judge has convicted all the four accused persons under Section 302/34 and 302 of IPC and sentenced them as mentioned in paragraph no. 1 of this judgment. Hence this appeal.

8. During pendency of present appeal, accused-appellant Lal Bahadur has expired and, therefore, appeal in his respect is abated. Appeal in respect of accused-appellant Sher Singh has already been abated on account of his death. The present appeal now confines only in respect of accused Jai Dutt and Shashtri.

9. Learned counsel for the appellants submits:

(I) that PW-1, Bhoj Raj and PW-2, Sone Lal have not seen the actual occurrence, they are not eye-witnesses to the incident and are planted witnesses.

(II) that both PW-1 and PW-2 are interested witnesses and, therefore, they have falsely implicated the appellants.

(III) that prosecution is not sure about the place of occurrence and three different places have been shown as place of occurrence.

(IV) that the deceased died because of injury no.1 sustained by him on his head but no fracture on the head was noticed by the autopsy surgeon.

(V) that only fracture of fibula bone has been found by the radiologist PW-7, Dr. R.K. Chaudhary vide Ex. Ka-11.

(VI) that deceased died after six days of the incident and, therefore, considering the injuries sustained by him, even if the entire prosecution case is taken as it is, at best, offence under Section 326 of IPC is made out against the accused persons.

10. On the other hand, supporting the impugned judgment, it has been argued by the State Counsel that the conviction of the appellants is in accordance with law and there is no infirmity in the same. It has been further argued that when the incident occurred in the presence of family members alone, question of examining any independent witness does not arise and no fault can be attributed to the prosecution.

11. We have heard learned counsel for the parties and perused the record.

12. PW-1, Bhoj Raj is the informant and father of the deceased. While supporting the prosecution case, he has stated that he had taken the services of one Sharma for ploughing his agricultural field with his tractor and there was some dispute in payment. He states that brother of accused-appellant Sher Singh, namely, Pulandar intervened in the matter and had threatened his son Ram Autar and on the date of incident, all the accused persons carrying weapons in their hands reached to the place of occurrence and caused injuries to Ram Autar. He has clarified that accused Lal Bahadur was having spear, Jai Dutt was having Moosal (pestle), whereas Sher Singh and Shashtri were carrying clubs in their hands. In the cross-examination, this witness remained firm and nothing could be elicited from him to doubt his credibility.

13. PW-2, Sone Lal is the other eye-witness to the incident and his statement is almost identical to that of PW-1, Bhoj Raj. He too has categorically stated that all the accused persons caused injuries to Ram Autar and Ram Autar was taken to a hospital at Lucknow where after about six days, he succumbed to his injuries.

14. PW-3, Kshetra Pal Singh (Head Constable), recorded the FIR.

15. PW-4, Dr. P.C. Dubey, has proved the admission of injured ram Autar in a hospital at Lucknow.

16. PW-5, S.I., Kashi Ram Gupta, conducted inquest.

17. PW-6, Dr. B.L. Katiyar, did MLC of injured Ram Autar vide Ex. Ka.10 at PHC Bidhuna and has noticed following nine injuries:

(I) Lacerated wound 1.5 cm x 0.2 cm x 0.2 cm on the left side of head 7 cm above the left ear, margins irregular, direction oblique & downwards.

(II) Red contusion 8 cm x 6 cm on the back of upper arm, 10 cm above the elbow joint.

(III) Red contusion 4 cm x 2 cm on the back of left forearm, 8 cm below the elbow joint.

(IV) Red contusion 6 cm x 6 cm on the dorsal aspect of left hand 4 cm below the wrist joint.

(V) Abrasion 3 cm x 1.5 cm on the back of right elbow joint.

(VI) An incised wound 1 cm x 0.2 cm x 0.3 cm on the front of left leg, 23 cm below the knee joint, margins clean cut, direction oblique & downwards, blood clotted.

(VIII) A traumatic swelling 16 cm x 10 cm on the left ankle joint, deformity & tenderness present, movement restricted, advised X-ray A P & L view.

(IX) An incised wound 1 cm x 0.2 cm x 0.2 cm on the front of right leg 4 cm below the knee joint, margins clean cut, direction oblique & downwards, blood clotted.

18. PW-7, Dr. R.K. Chaudhary, is a radiologist who proved the report Ex. Ka.

11 and a fracture of fibula bone was found by him.

19. PW-8, Dr. P.R. Mishra, conducted postmortem on the body of the deceased. According to him except injury no.1, none of the injury was found on the vital part of the body of deceased. He further states that he has not found any fracture on the head of the deceased.

20. PW-9, S.I. Govind Singh, is an Investigating Officer, has duly supported the prosecution case.

21. Close scrutiny of the evidence makes it clear that on 20.12.1983 in the evening, four accused persons have entered the field of the complainant and started abusing deceased Ram Autar. All the accused persons were having different weapons with them, as mentioned above in their evidence. All of them started beating the deceased resulting number of injuries on his body. Ram Autar was immediately taken to a hospital and later considering his serious condition, he was taken to hospital at Lucknow where, after about six days, he succumbed to his injuries on 26.12.1983. In the postmortem, only one head injury has been found by the autopsy surgeon but there was no fracture on his head. The incident has been witnessed by PW-1, Bhoj Raj and PW-2, Sone Lal and both these witnesses have duly supported the prosecution case.

22. We find no force in the argument of the defence that only interested witnesses have been examined. Law in this respect is very clear.

It is well settled principle of law that the evidence of an interested witness should not be equated with that of a tainted evidence or that of an approver so as to require corroboration as a matter of necessity. All that the Courts required as a rule of prudence, not as a rule of law, was that the evidence of such witness should be scrutinized with a little care. It has to be realized that related and interested witness would be the last persons to screen the real culprits and falsely substitute innocent ones in their places. Indeed there may be circumstances where only interested evidence may be available and no other, e.g. when an occurrence takes place at midnight in the house when the only witnesses who could see the occurrence may be the family members. In such cases, it would not be proper to insist that the evidence of the family members should be disbelieved merely because of their interestedness. But once such witness was scrutinized with a little care and the Court was satisfied that the evidence of the interested witness have a ring of truth such evidence could be relied upon even without corroboration. Thus, the evidence cannot be disbelieved merely on the ground that the witnesses are related to each other or to the deceased. In case the evidence has a ring of truth to it, is cogent, credible and trustworthy, it can, and certainly should, be relied upon. (See Anil Rai vs. State of Bihar (2001) 7 SCC 318; State of U.P. vs. Jagdeo Singh (2003) 1 SCC 456; Bhagalool Lodh & Anr. vs. State of U.P. (2011) 13 SCC 206; Dahari & Ors. vs. State of U.P. (2012) 10 SCC 256; Raju @ Balachandran & Ors. vs. State of Tamil Nadu (2012) 12 SCC 701; Gangabhavani vs. Rayapati Venkat Reddy & Ors. (2013) 15 SCC 298; Jodhan vs. State of M.P. (2015) 11 SCC 52).

23. The Supreme Court in the matter of Bur Singh and Anr. vs. State of Punjab, (2008) 16 SCC 65 has held that merely because the eyewitnesses are family members their evidence cannot per se be discarded. When there is allegation of interestedness, the same has to be established. Mere statement that being relatives of the deceased they are likely to falsely implicate the accused cannot be a ground to discard the evidence which is otherwise cogent and credible. Further, the Supreme Court in the matter of Sudhakar vs. State, AIR 2018 SC 1372 and Ganapathi vs. State of Tamil Nadu, AIR 2018 SC 1635 relying in its earlier judgments held as under:

"18. Then, next comes the question 'what is the difference between a related witness and an interested witness?. The plea of "interested witness", "related witness" has been succinctly explained by this Court that "related" is not equivalent to "interested". The witness may be called "interested" only when he or she derives some benefit from the result of a litigation in the decree in a civil case, or in seeing an accused person punished. In this case at hand PW 1 and 5 were not only related witness, but also 'interested witness' as they had pecuniary interest in getting the accused petitioner punished. [refer State of U.P. v. Kishanpal and Ors., (2008) 16 SCC 73] : (2008 AIR SCW 6322). As the prosecution has relied upon the evidence of interested witnesses, it would be prudent in the facts and circumstances of this case to be cautious while analyzing such evidence. It may be noted that other than these witnesses, there are no independent witnesses available to support the case of the prosecution."

Relationship is not a factor to affect credibility of a witness. There is no proposition in law that relatives are to be treated as untruthful witnesses. On the contrary, reason has to be shown when a plea of partiality is raised to show that the witnesses had reason to shield the actual culprit and falsely implicate the accused. A witness who is a relative of deceased or victim of the crime cannot be characterized as 'interested'. The term 'interested' postulates that the witness has some direct or indirect 'interest' in having the accused somehow or other convicted due to animus or for some other oblique motive. A close relative cannot be characterized as an 'interested' witness. He is a 'natural' witness. His evidence, however, must be scrutinized carefully. If on such scrutiny his evidence is found to be intrinsically reliable, inherently probable and wholly trustworthy, conviction can be based on the 'sole testimony of such witness. (See- Harbans Kaur and another vs. State of Haryana, 2005 AIR SCW 2074; Namdeo vs. State of Maharashtra, 2007 AIR SCW 1835; Sonelal vs. State of M.P., 2008 AIR SCW 7988; and Dharnidhar vs. State of Uttar Pradesh and Others & other connected appeals, (2010) 7 SCC 759).

24. PW-1, Bhoj Raj and PW-2, Sone Lal appear to be wholly trustworthy and we have no reason to disbelieve their statements. Considering their statements, which has been duly supported by the medical and postmortem report of the deceased, complicity of the appellants in commission of offence has been duly proved by the prosecution.

25. The next question which arises for the consideration of this Court is as to what offence has been committed by the accused persons. Both the accused-appellants Jai Dutt and Shashtri have actively participated in the 'marpeet' and caused injuries to the deceased.

26. Considering all the aspects of the case, in particular, the fact that the deceased died after six days of the incident, no fracture of head was found, we are of the considered view that the act of the appellants would fall under Section 326 of IPC and not under Section 302/34 of IPC or 302 of IPC. Accordingly, we hold that appellants Jai Dutt and Shahstri are liable to be convicted under Section 326 of IPC.

27. The next question which arises for consideration of this Court is as to what would be appropriate sentence to be imposed upon the accused-appellants. The incident occurred about 36 years back and therefore, we are of the view that jail sentence of two years would be sufficient to meet the ends of justice and we order accordingly. In addition accused-appellants Jai Dutt and Shashtri are directed to pay monetary compensation of Rs. 1 lakh each to the objector Raman Babu.

28. Taking cumulative effect of the evidence and the facts, and further considering the judgment of the Apex Court in Ankush Shivaji Gaikwad vs. State of Maharashtra, (2013) 6 SCC 770, we are of the view that accused-appellants Jai Dutt and Shashtri are liable to compensate to objector, Raman Babu by paying a compensation of Rs. 2,00,000/- under Section 357 of Cr.P.C. Accordingly, during this period of two years, accused-appellants Jai Dutt and Shashtri are directed to deposit Rs. 2,00,000/- before the trial court and, in turn, the trial court shall disburse the said amount to the objector, Raman Babu. In case, accused-appellants fail to deposit the compensation within stipulated time, they shall undergo the additional jail sentence of one year and the court below shall proceed against them in the light of judgment of the Apex Court reported in Kumaran Vs State of Kerala and another (2017) 7 SCC 471.

29. Accused-appellants Jai Dutt and Shashtri are reported to be on bail. Their bail bonds stand cancelled and they be taken into custody immediately for serving the remaining sentence.

30. The appeal is partly allowed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pradeep Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Akhilesh Singh, learned counsel for the appellant and learned A.G.A. for the State. Perused the record.

2. This criminal appeal has been preferred against the impugned order dated 12.02.1999, passed by 3rd Additional District & Sessions Judge, Farrukhabad, in Sessions Trial No. 407 of 1987 (State vs. Rajjan and another), Case Crime No. 244 of 1984, under Sections 302 and 201 I.P.C., Police Station Chhibramau. District Farrukhabad by which the accused-appellant Rajjan @ Yogesh Kumar has been convicted and sentenced under Section 302 I.P.C. for life imprisonment along with fine of Rs. 5000/- and in default one year additional rigorous imprisonment and under Section 201 I.P.C. for five years rigorous imprisonment along with fine of Rs. 3000/- and in default six months additional rigorous imprisonment. It has further been directed that both the sentences shall run concurrently. However, in the absence of sufficient evidences, other accused Vivek Kumar was acquitted from the charges leveled under Section 302/201 IPC.

3. As per prosecution version from the morning of 07.07.1984 to 08.07.1984 (exact time is not known) on Saurikh Road, Police Station Chhibramau, Farrukhabad, the accused persons namely Rajjan @ Yogesh and Vivek Kumar in furtherance of their common intention, caused the death of Smt. Ram Nandini by causing stab injuries by knife. The dead body was thrown in a well so that the dead body may be destroyed and this they did in order to wash the evidence against them.

4. The report was lodged with regard to recovery of the dead body by Chowkidar, Police Station Chhibramau on 08.07.1984 orally that a dead body is lying in the dry well. The whereabouts of the dead woman could not be known. The woman is young. This oral report was entered into the GD on the same day and the police took the dead body into possession and the recovered blood stained bricks, plain bricks, slippers and piceces of broken bangles were also taken into possession from the spot and which were separately sealed. The inquest report was prepared. At the time of inquest, injuries caused by the knife were found on the body of the deceased. No incriminating material was found around the well due to which it appeared that she was killed somewhere else and her body was thrown in the well. Thereafter, the case was registered under Sections 302 and 201 IPC.

5. The case was investigated and during investigation some local persons sent a letter in which it was mentioned that the woman was killed by accused Rajjan @ Yogesh Kumar and his friend. The husband of the deceased when came from the field on 06.07.1984, was informed by his elder sister-in-law (Bhabhi) that his wife has gone to her parents Rajjan @ Yogesh Kumar. She gave her the key of the house. The husband continued searching his wife for 6 to 7 days but did not find her either on her parental house or on the house of the sister of Rajjan @ Yogesh Kumar. On 25.07.1984, the husband lodged a first information report against Rajjan @ Yogesh Kumar for the offence under Section 498 IPC and continued searching her and Rajjan @ Yogesh Kumar. Later on, he came to know that a dead body has been recovered in Village Chhibramau in the previous month. He went to the police station and on the basis of her clothes, slippers and photo of the dead body, he recognized to be of his wife Ram Nandini. His statement and the statements of Dhaniram and Munna Lal was recorded by the Investigating Officer and the Investigating Officer came to a conclusion that Ram Nandini was killed by Rajjan @ Yogesh Kumar and his friend Vivek Kumar by causing injuries by knife and after taking her ornaments, they threw her dead body in the well. Regarding motive for the commission of the offence, it was also found during investigation that accused Rajjan @ Yogesh Kumar is the brother of the brother-in-law (Saarhu) of the husband of deceased Ram Nandini. He is aged about 24-25 years and the deceased was also of similar age and he used to come to her and was having illicit relationship with the deceased. The people knew her to be his keep. On 06.07.1984, wearing her ornaments, she went with Rajjan @ Yogesh Kumar and because she was insisting him to solemnize court marriage with her, the accused persons killed her.

6. After finding sufficient evidence against the accused persons, charge sheet was submitted by the Investigating Officer under the aforesaid sections.

7. The learned trial court framed charges against the accused persons for the offences under Sections 302 and 201 IPC. The accused persons denied the charges and claimed trial.

8. The prosecution examined PW-1 Munshi, PW-2 Lala Ram, PW-3 Munna Lal, PW-4 Dhani Ram. PW-5 Khannu Singh, PW-6 Chandrabhan Singh, PW-7 Harvansh Singh, PW-8 Dr. K.K. Jagatyyani, PW-9 Suresh, PW-10 Ram Sewak Gupta and PW-11 Ram Awatar, who have stated about the incident and proved the documentary evidence.

9. The statement of accused persons were recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., wherein they have stated that they have been falsely implicated in the present case due to enmity with Munna Lal who is brother-in-law (Saarhu) of the husband of the deceased.

10. After hearing counsel for both the sides, the learned trial court has acquitted co-accused Vivek Kumar and convicted and sentenced the present accused-appellant Rajjan @ Yogesh Kumar for the offences under Section 302 and 201 I.P.C.

11. Feeling aggrieved by the impugned judgment, the convicted appellant has filed the present criminal appeal stating that the impugned conviction and sentence is against the weight of evidence on record and is contrary to law and the sentences awarded is too severe. The impugned judgment is liable to be set aside and the appellant is entitled for acquittal.

12. Learned counsel for the appellant has submitted that there is no eye witness who might have seen the occurrence nor anybody saw the accused causing injuries to the deceased and throwing her dead body in the well. Moreover, there was no reason for the accused-appellant to kill the deceased if he was having illicit relationship with her. There is no evidence on record to link the appellant with the commission of offence. Moreover, the co-accused has been acquitted on the basis of same evidence by the impugned order.

13. On the other hand, learned A.G.A. has argued that the chain of circumstances proved by the prosecution has established the guilt beyond any shadow of doubt against the appellant and on the basis of evidence on record, the learned trial court has rightly convicted and sentenced him.

14. PW-1 Munshi is the witness who saw the people gathered around the well in which the dead body of the deceased was lying and he gave information in the police station and during statement he signed over the G.D. Ext. Ka-1.

15. PW-2 Lala Ram is the husband of the deceased who has stated that the deceased was his wife and was aged about 22-24 years who was healthy and of fair complexion. The accused Rajjan took her from his house when he was on his field. He came to know about it, when he came back and did not find his wife and the door of the house was closed. His Sister-in-law (Bhabhi) informed him that his wife has gone to her parents with Rajjan, leaving behind his elder son Sonu. He has stated that his wife used to go and come back to her parents but when she did not come back in 10-12 days, he went to her parents' house and when he told that she did not come there, he went to her sister but she also told that she did not come there. He inquired about Rajjan and found that his tea shop which is situated at road ways bus stand was closed. He was told by local persons that Rajjan is not coming from 10-15 days and the shop is closed. Then he filed a report against Rajjan which he filed before the court at the time of statement and proved the same as Ext. Ka-1. He has further stated that he continued searching his wife and after about a month, he went to Chhibramau market. He found the people talking about the dead body of a woman recovered from the well. He consulted his family members and after 12-13 days, he went to Police Station Chhibramau and on inquiry he was shown the clothes after breaking the seal and by the clothes, he recognized that the same was of his wife as she used to wear that clothes in the house. The recovered clothes, broken bangles and slippers have been proved by him in his examination as Material Exts. 1 to 5. Rajjan used to come to his house and he was in his relation and he believes that he must have killed his wife. She went with Rajjan wearing ornaments of about Rs. 10,000/-.

16. PW-3 Munnal Lal has stated that he knows Rajjan who is relative of Lala Ram and he used to come to the house of Lal Ram. He saw the deceased coming with Rajjan on 06.08.1984 at 10 A.M. and both went to Chhibramau on a bus. At that time, he was sitting on a pulia where the bus used to stop and witness Dhani Ram was also present there, who also saw the deceased coming with Rajjan. Both PW-3 and Dhani Ram were grazing their buffalos. He has sated that since then he never saw the deceased. Lala Ram had gone to search out his wife and when he came back, he informed him about it.

17. PW-4 Dhani Ram has also stated that when he and Munna Lal were grazing their buffalos. From the road side pulia they saw the deceased going with accused Rajjan on a bus to Chhibramau. Thereafter, he never saw the deceased.

18. PW-5 Khunnu Singh has not stated anything in support of prosecution version, hence he has been declared hostile.

19. PW-6 S.I. Chandrabhan Singh has stated that he got the investigation of the case on 11.08.1984 and prior to him, the case was being investigated by S.I. Harvansh Singh and SI V.K. Gupta. After recording the statements of the witnesses and completing the investigation, he submitted charge sheet against both the accused persons which is Ext. Ka-2.

20. PW-7 S.I. Harvansh Singh has stated that he recovered the dead body of the deceased from the well along with other articles. He prepared the inquest report which is Ext. Ka-2, photo lash Ext. Ka-3, letter to CMO Ext. Ka-4, Challan dead body Ext. Ka-5, recovery memo of slipper and broken bangles Ext. Ka-6, memo of blood stained bricks and plain bricks Ext. Ka-7 and sight map Ext. Ka-8.

21. PW-8 Dr. K.K. Jagatyani has conducted post-mortem of the dead body on 09.07.1984 which was brought by Constable Raj Narayan Singh and Constable Kailash Singh of Police Station Chhibramau in sealed condition along with relevant papers and they also identified the dead body of the deceased. The postmortem report has been proved by this witness as Ext. Ka-9. According to doctor, the deceased must have died about 1 and 1 ½ days ago. In the external examination it was found that the rigor mortis was passed from the upper portion of the body and was present in the lower limb. The following ante-mortem injuries were found on the dead body of the deceased :-

External Examination :-

(i) Incised would 8 cm. X 8.5 cm. X scull deep in the right side of the head.

(ii) Incised wound 3 cm. X 0.5 cm. X bone deep above the left eye.

(iii) Incised wound 2.5 cm. X 0.5 cm. X bond deep on the left side of the lower jaw.

(iv) Multiple incised wounds, seven in number in the area of 11 cm. X 7 cm. on the front portion of the neck.

(v) Multiple stabbed injuries in the abdomen area of 22 cm. X 20 cm. Smallest injury was 0.5 cm. X 0.5 cm. and the deepest injury was 4 cm. X 1 cm. with clean cut.

Internal Examination :-

Both lungs and its membranes were found in decomposed conditions. Cuttings were found in the pharynx and esophagus. Liver was found incised and empty. Small and large intestines were found incised at several places and liver was also found incised. In the abdomen cavity of liver, two liters of blood and liquid stool were found in mixed condition.

According to doctor, the deceased was died due to ante-mortem injuries, shock, hemorrhage and heavy bleeding. All the injuries found on the body of the deceased were possible to have been caused by knife and were sufficient to cause death. The death was possible on 07.07.1984 in between 08:00 to 08:30 PM.

22. PW-9 Suresh Chandra has been declared hostile, who has not supported the prosecution version.

23. PW-10 Ram Sewak Gupta has also been declared hostile.

24. PW-11 Ram Awatar has stated that Lala Ram is his younger brother and his wife was Ram Nandini. Both have two children. Ram Nandini used to come and go to her parents' house. His brother Lala Ram has lodged a missing report in police station about his wife. The dead body was recovered from the well. When she went from her house, she was wearing ornaments. He did not see when the dead body was recovered from the well. He identified the clothes of the deceased after 12-13 days. On recovery of the dead body, accused Rajjan fled away and was not on his shop and the shop remained closed.

25. There is no evidence of any witness who might have seen the accused causing death of the deceased and the prosecution case is based on circumstantial evidence of "last seen together" and two witnesses have been examined to prove this fact. In State of Rajasthan Vs. Kheraj Ram, (2003) 8 SCC 224, Vilas Pandurang Patil Vs. State of Maharashtra, (2004) 6 SCC 158, Arun Bhanudas Pawar Vs. State of Maharashtra, 2008 (61) ACC 32 (SC) Vithal Eknath Adlinge Vs. State of Maharashtra, AIR 2009 SC 2067 and Vijay Kumar Vs. State of Rajasthan, (2014) 3 SCC 412, the Supreme Court has laid down that circumstantial evidence, in order to be relied on, must satisfy the following tests :

1. Circumstances from which an inference of guilt is sought to be drawn must be cogently and firmly established.

2. Those circumstances must be of a definite tendency unerringly pointing towards guilt of the accused.

3. The circumstances, taken cumulatively, should form a chain so complete that there is no escape from conclusion that within all human probability the crime was committed by the accused and none else.

4. The circumstantial evidence in order to sustain conviction must be complete and incapable of explanation of any other hypothesis than that of the guilt of the accused but should be inconsistent with his innocence- in other words, the circumstances should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved.

26. In Bhimsingh Vs. State of Uttarakhand, (2015) 4 SCC 281, it was laid down that when the conviction is to be based on circumstantial evidence solely, then there should not be any snap in the chain of circumstances. If there is a snap in the chain, the accused in entitled to benefit of doubt. If some of the circumstances in the chain can be explained by any other reasonable hypothesis, then also the accused is entitled to the benefit of doubt. But in assessing the evidence, imaginary possibilities have no place. The court considers ordinary human probabilities.

27. In Rohtas Kumar Vs. State of Haryana, 2013 (82) ACC 401 (SC), Prithipal Singh Vs. State of Punjab, (2012) 1 SCC 10, it has been further laid down that The doctrine of "last seen together" shifts the burden of proof on the accused requiring him to explain how the incident had occurred. Failure on the part of the accused to furnish any explanation in this regard would give rise to a very strong presumption against him.

28. Further, in Ashok Vs. State of Maharashtra, (2015) 4 SCC 393, it was explained by the Supreme Court that initial burden of proof is on prosecution to adduce sufficient evidence pointing towards guilt of accused. However, in case it is established that accused was last seen together with the deceased, prosecution is exempted to prove exact happening of incident as accused himself would have special knowledge of incident and thus would have burden of proof as per Section 106, Evidence Act. But last seen together itself is not conclusive proof but along with other circumstances surrounding the incident like relations between accused and deceased, enmity between them, previous history of hostility, recovery of weapon from accused, etc. non-explanation of death of deceased, etc.etc. may lead to a presumption of guilt of accused.

29. In this case the dead body of a woman (the deceased) was seen by the village Choukidar lying in a dry well and he reported the same on 8.7.1984 at 2.30 P.M. to the P.S. Chhibramau of which an entry was made by police in the corresponding G.D. The police took the dead body in possession. It was found by the inspection of the dead body that multiple incised, stabbed and cut wounds were present on her body. Inquest was prepared on the same day and after completing the formalities, the dead body was sent for postmortem to the District Hospital. The police also registered an offence under section 302,201 I.P.C. against unknown person as Crime No.244 of 1984.

30. The postmortem was conducted by PW-8 Dr. K. K. Jagatyani on 9.7.1984 at 2.15 P.M. and he has stated that multiple ante-mortem incised, stabbed and cut wounds were found on the body of deceased caused by knife on all over the body from abdomen to face and head. According to doctor, the deceased was died due to ante-mortem injuries, shock, hemorrhage and heavy bleeding. All the injuries found on the body of the deceased were possible to have been caused by knife and were sufficient to cause death. The death was possible on 07.07.1984 in between 08:00 to 08:30 P.M. and it appears that after causing death, the dead body was thrown into the well. It is pertinent to mention that by the time of postmortem, the deceased was not identified nor the reason of killing and the assailant had come to light.

31. The learned trial court has taken the reference of letters sent by some unknown persons to police attached in the file as paper no. 11A to 11A-2 and 11A-3 stating the persons involved in the murder of deceased and one of the name finds mention of accused Rajjan and his companions. In other letter the deceased has been identified to be Veena Pathak. But in none of the letters, the deceased has been identified to be Smt. Ramnandini w/o Lalaram (PW-2). It is not understandable why the learned trial court took reference of those letters which were not authenticated by any evidence nor it appears how the police used those letters for the purpose of this case. It appears that in none of the statement of witnesses, particularly formal witnesses/I.O., it has not been clarified when and on what date the dead body was identified and by whom for the first time.

32. It is pertinent to mention that the C.D. (case dairy) is not attached in the lower court record nor it was provided to us by the learned A.G.A. even though we asked during arguments. But unfortunately, we could not get a positive answer and it was said that it is a very old case and it will be very difficult to get it searched and made available. So we do not have help of C.D. which might become helpful in appreciating the sequence of investigation and exact date of discovery of particular fact and the facts narrated by the learned trial court. It is why we have to narrate the prosecution version in the way the same has been narrated by the learned trial court in the impugned judgment. In fact, we have almost reproduce the same without getting those facts verified by C.D., since there is no F.I.R. in this case. Therefore, we have to understand that sequence by the statement of witnesses.

33. The incident took place on 8.7.1984 when the dead body was for the first time seen by the village Choukidar. On 19.8.1984, the statement of Lalaram (husband of deceased) and his brother Ramautar have been examined by I.O. PW-6, as he has stated in his statement. It means that after 40 days from the discovery of dead body, the two close relatives of the deceased have been examined. In all possibility, the deceased must have been identified thereafter by them as the I.O. has stated that on 20.8.1984, he got informed about the deceased.

34. To begin with the analysis of the statement of PW-11 Ramautar who is the elder brother of Lalaram. He has stated that he does not know whether the accused took the deceased a day before her dead body was discovered. He has however stated that accused Rajjan used to come to the house of Lalaram as he was his relative being younger brother of his brother in law (husband of deceased sister). He has stated that after 12-13 days from the date of discovery of the dead body, he identified her dress as he had seen the deceased wearing that dress earlier. It was black petticoat and blouse and sari printed with black flower. He gave his statement to I.O. after 12-13 days. He has denied that he ever gave statement to I.O. that one day before, she went with Rajjan locking her house and delivering the key to the wife of his brother Ramkishan. One more thing this witness has stated that Lalaram had lodged a missing report about his wife.

35. PW-2 is Lalaram and the correctness of the statements of both the witnesses needs to be compared and tested on the basis of evidence of each other. He has stated that his bhabhi (wife of elder brother) told him that his wife (deceased) has gone to her parents with Rajjan leaving his elder son Sonu and key of his house with her. Bhabhi has not been examined nor she is a witness in charge sheet who could have been the best witness of this fact. He has stated that his wife used to go to her parents and come back and therefore, for 10-12 days he waited for her. When she did not come back, he went to her parents and was informed that she did not come to them. He did not even find her to her sister in law in Atrouli (Rajjans' house). He went to Rajjan's shop at Bus Station and found that shop is closed and Rajjan is missing from the last 10-15 days. Then he lodged a F.I.R. against Rajjan and the copy of F.I.R. was filed by the witness which is Ext. Ka-2. From the perusal of Ext Ka-2, it appears that in PS Talgram, the witness lodged N.C.R. against Rajjan on 25.7.1984 for the offence under section 498 I.P.C. with allegation that Rajjan has eloped with his wife Rajnandini on 6.7.1984 with ornaments gold, valuable and cash with her. The witness in the F.I.R. are Dhani Ram And Munna Lal who have been examined as PW-3 and PW-4 in this case. After that he continued searching her for some times. He started searching her after 10-12 days, continued searching for next 17-18 days. Thereafter, when he went to Chhibramau market, he heard some people talking that identity of the dead body of the woman recovered from well is yet not known. Then, after 12-13 days, with due consultation with family members, he went to Police Station, Chhibaramau where S.O. showed him dresses of the dead body which were sealed and he recognized them to be of her wife. He has also identified and proved the wearings while giving statement on oath in court.

36. It appears from the statement of both witnesses that none of them are witness of any relevant fact nor they saw deceased going from house with accused. Except that they identified wearings of deceased, there is nothing important in their statement. PW-6 IO has stated that the deceased house situated at Bamrouli and from there, PS Chhibaramau is at the distance of 10-12 km. It appears strange that a person whose wife was missing since long, could not know about the discovery of dead body earlier which must have become talk of the town looking to her young age and in the brutal way she was caused to death, particularly when his brother Ramautar examined as PW-11 has stated that he identified the wearings after 12-13 days from the date of recovery of dead body.

37. PW-3 Munnalal and PW-4 Dhani Ram are the star witnesses of circumstance of "last seen together" and both have stated that they saw both Rajjan and Rajnandini on 6.7.1984 at about 10 A.M. getting the bus and going to Chhibaramau. At that time they were grazing their buffalo sitting on a pulia. The time of death as ascertained by postmortem report is on 7.7.1984 at about 8-8.30 P.M. It means there is gap of about 34 hours between last seen together by two witnesses and death of deceased. Both the witnesses are of same village and their residence is at the distant of less than 100 yards from the house of deceased. Both have stated that they informed about it to Lalaram after 17-18 days. The statement of both these witnesses was taken by IO after about two and half months.

38. Three more witnesses have been examined by prosecution but they did not support prosecution version nor proved any other circumstance showing involvement of accused-appellant in the murder of deceased. PW-5 is Khunnu Singh who has stated that he did not see accused killing some woman and this he has said twice- in examination-in-chief and after being declared hostile, when cross-examined by the prosecutor. He has further stated that he does not know if such statement was written by police. PW-9 Suresh Chand, though has stated that he knew accused as while going to Kanpur in relation to business, he used to take tea on his shop. He has stated that he never saw the deceased on his shop nor he saw her going with Rajjan on Rickshaw in the night of the date of incident. Although, he has nowhere stated the deceased to be keep of accused, in his statement the word 'keep' has occurred more than once, probably for the reason that while putting questions this word was used by the prosecution with a view to indicate that the deceased was his 'keep.' Similar statement has been given by PW-10 Ramsewak Gupta. All these three witnesses have been declared hostile.

39. Since C.D. is not provided, it is not clear what statement all these three witnesses had given to I.O. from which the prosecution derived support and made them witness. But, from the overall statements of these witnesses, a rough idea is possible in this regard. PW-5 has been examined as a witness who allegedly saw accused committing murder to which he denied. It means that the only witness who was supposed to give direct evidence in support of prosecution has not not supported the prosecution. It also means that the prosecution case was based on direct as well as circumstantial evidence. This option is not open to prosecution to shift the case from direct evidence to circumstantial evidence. PW-9 was a witness who saw the deceased and accused going on rickshaw in the night of the date of incident, a fact to which he has denied. PW-10 was examined to show the conduct of accused that on 7.7.1984 in the night, accused came very disturbed and asked scooter from painter and the witness has denied to this statement. It also goes to indicate that the prosecution case based on the "last seen together" evidence of PW-3 and PW-4, is not correct as subsequent to them, allegedly,

40. In a case based on circumstantial evidence, it is always important to allege and prove strong motive for the commission of offence as motive provides a link to complete the chain. Except that the deceased went with accused no motive appears to have been alleged by prosecution. The learned trial court has narrated in the impugned judgment that regarding motive for the commission of the offence, it was also found during investigation that accused Rajjan @ Yogesh Kumar is the brother of the brother-in-law (Saarhu) of the husband of deceased Ram Nandini. He is aged about 24-25 years and the deceased was also of similar age. The accused used to come to her and was having illicit relationship with the deceased. The people knew her to be his keep. On 06.07.1984, wearing her ornaments, she went with Rajjan @ Yogesh Kumar and because she was insisting him to solemnize court marriage with her, the accused persons killed her. For attributing this motive, the learned trial court has taken a reference of police report which was submitted by police on bail application of accused and with the help of same, has given a finding that both had developed illicit relation and the deceased was insisting for marriage, and therefore, the accused committed murder. None of the prosecution witness has stated this motive in on oath statement. PW-2 who is the husband of the deceased and PW-11, his elder brother, have simply stated that the accused was relative and he used to come to their house. In the statement of PW-9 Suresh Chandra and PW-10 Ramsewak Gupta have been examined, but they have nowhere stated the deceased to be keep of the accused. No witness has been examined to prove that the deceased ever insisted the accused for court marriage. In reading the police report in evidence and thereby imputing motive on that basis and giving finding regarding existence of motive is perverse and illegal. We are firmly of the view that in absence of any admissible evidence, such finding could not be given by the learned trial court. Secondly, if the accused was in relation with the deceased, he was in a beneficial situation and there is no evidence to show that because of some very annoying reason which occurred subsequently, he decided to remove her. In such situation, absence of any motive casts shadow of doubts on prosecution case.

41. A joint study of several judgments of the Supreme Court regarding presence of motive in cases based on circumstantial evidence such as Babu Vs. State of Kerala, (2010) 9 SCC 189, Ravinder Kumar Vs. State of Punjab, 2001(2) JIC 981 (SC), State of H.P. Vs. Jeet Singh, (1999) 4 SCC 370, Nathuni Yadav Vs. State of Bihar, (1998) 9 SCC 238, Sakha Ram Vs. State of M.P., 1992 CrLJ 861 (SC), Jagdish Vs. State of M.P., 2009 (67) ACC 295 (SC) and G. Parshwanath Vs. State of Karnataka, AIR 2010 SC 2914, it is clear that the law is two fold depending upon the conclusiveness of the circumstances proved in a particular case. Normally, prosecution should prove motive in a case based on circumstantial evidence. But, absence of motive in a case based on circumstantial evidence is not of much consequence when proved circumstances is so conclusive that it completes the chain in itself raising the only hypothesis that is the guilt of the accused.

42. In State of Goa Vs. Pandurang Mohite, AIR 2009 SC 1066, State of U.P. Vs. Satish, 2005 (3) SCC 114 and Sardar Khan Vs. State of Karnataka, (2004) 2 SCC 442, it has been remarked that circumstances of "last seen together" do not by themselves and necessarily lead to the inference that it was accused who committed the crime. There must be something more establishing connectivity between the accused and the crime. The time gap between last seen alive and the recovery of dead body must be so small that the possibility of any person other than the accused being the author of the crime becomes impossible.

43. In Niranjan Panja Vs. State of W.B,(2010) 6 SCC 525 and State of U.P. Vs. Satish, (2005) 3 SCC 114, it has been further affirmed by the Supreme Court that the last seen theory comes into play where the time-gap between the point of time when the accused and the deceased were seen last alive and when the deceased is found dead is so small that possibility of any person other than the accused being the author of the crime becomes impossible. It would be difficult in some cases to positively establish that the deceased was last seen with the accused when there is a long gap and possibility of other persons coming in between exists.

44. Recently, in Ravi vs State of Karnataka, AIR 2018 SC 2744, reversing the conviction based on "last seen together" where there was a time gap of four days between last seen and recovery of dead body and as per postmortem report the death must have occurred 30 hours ago, the Supreme Court held that the time gap was considerably large and no corroboration was forthcoming, and therefore, in absence of any other circumstance which could connect the accused with crime, reasonable doubt as to involvement of accused is created and in such situation, the burden would not shift under section 106 of the Evidence Act. Following the judgment in Mohibur Rahman vs State of Assam, (2002) 6 SCC 715 and Malleshappa vs State of Karnataka, (2007) 13 SCC 399, the court held:

> "'Last seen together' is certainly a strong piece of circumstantial evidence against an accused. However, as it has been held in numerous pronouncements of this Court, the time lag between the occurrence of the death and when the accused was last seen in the company of the deceased has to be reasonably close to permit an inference of guilt to be drawn. When the time lag is considerably large,....., it would be safer for the court to look for corroboration."

45. Now, considering the law laid down and factual situation in Ravi (supra), and comparing to the fact situation of this instant case, we find that time gap between the fact of "last seen together" and death of deceased is about 34 hours. The two witnesses who have proved the circumstance of "last seen together" are not the persons who last saw the two together and the prosecution proposed to prove the prosecution version by even direct evidence by a witness who saw the accused killing the deceased and by evidence of witness who also allegedly saw them together subsequently, but these witnesses turned hostile. "Last seen together" may be a conclusive circumstance depending upon the facts of a particular case. For instance, if two persons were last seen staying together in the night in a hotel room and next morning one was found to have been killed, the circumstance of last seen is enough conclusive and the burden to prove otherwise will certainly shift on the other person and in such case, unless otherwise is proved, the presence or absence of motive becomes insignificant. But if those two persons were seen traveling in a public transport and after more than 24 hours the other is found dead, the time gap will become relevant and some more incriminating evidence shall be required to corroborate the circumstance of last seen to complete the chain and prove the guilt. There is no evidence further corroborating such as recovery of any incriminating article such as knife used for causing death or any other evidence of like nature.

46. In view of above discussion, we find that the learned trial court has committed error in holding that the chain of circumstances was complete to reach a finding of guilt against accused-appellant. The impugned judgment is perverse, illegal and not sustainable under law and is liable to be set aside.

47. Therefore, the appeal is allowed. The impugned judgment dated 12.02.1999, passed by 3rd Additional District & Sessions Judge, Farrukhabad, in Sessions Trial No. 407 of 1987 (State vs. Rajjan and another), Case Crime No. 244 of 1984, under Sections 302 and 201 I.P.C., Police Station Chhibramau. District Farrukhabad convicting and sentencing the accused-appellant is set aside. Consequently, the accused-appellant Rajjan @ Yogesh Kumar is acquitted.

48. If the accused-appellant Rajjan @ Yogesh Kumar is in jail, he shall be released forthwith.

49. The office is directed to transmit back the lower court record to the learned trial court immediately along with a copy of this judgment for information and compliance.

A. Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Section 302 and 307 - Appeal against conviction.

In a case based solely on circumstantial evidence, the circumstances from which conclusion of guilt is to be drawn "must or should be" and not merely "may be" fully established. The facts established should be consistent only with the guilt of the accused. They should not be explicable through any other hypothesis except that the accused was guilty. The circumstances should be conclusive in nature. There must be a chain of evidence so complete so as to not leave any reasonable ground for a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show in all human probability that the offence was committed by the accused. (Para 38)

In a case based on circumstantial evidence, the onus is on prosecution to prove that chain is complete. (Para 41)

1. This jail appeal under Section 383 Cr.P.C. has been filed by accused-appellant Nand Lal Chaubey @ Chintamani Chaubey through Senior Superintendent, Central Jail, Varanasi against judgment and order dated 27.08.2011 passed by Sri J.P. Yadav, Special Judge (E.C. Act), Mirzapur in Sessions Trial No.237 of 2007, under Sections 302 and 307 IPC. By the impugned judgment, accused-appellant has been convicted under Section 302 and 307 IPC. Under Section 302 IPC, he has been sentenced to undergo life imprisonment along-with fine of Rs.2,000/-, In the event of default of payment of fine, he has to undergo further one year's additional Rigorous Imprisonment (hereinafter referred to as "RI"). He has been sentenced to undergo seven years RI, under Section 307 IPC and also with a fine of Rs.2,000/-. In case of default in payment of fine, one year's additional RI has to be suffered by him. Both the sentences have been directed to run concurrently.

2. The facts emanating from Fist Information Report (hereinafter referred to as "FIR") and the material available on record may briefly be stated as under, for adjudication of this appeal:-

3. It appears that on 28.01.2007, an application Ex.Ka-15 was allegedly given at Police Station Ahiraura, District Mirzapur by PW-7 Arif written by accused-appellant Nand Lal Chaubey @ Chintamani Chaubey, stating that at 08:00 AM, he had gone to Robertsganj and when he came back to his house, he saw that his wife Monika, Sharad, Johny, Baby, Manisha and other two children Kavita and Ajit having taken their meal were planning to sleep. He was asked by his wife Monika to take meal but he did not take. He was offered cake which had been received from Duddhi but as soon as he wanted to eat the cake, his elder son Johny fell down and become unconscious. Accused-appellant became nervous and called his neighbors for help and asked for vehicle but no vehicle could be arranged. Thereafter he went to hospital and from there he arranged for the vehicle and took them to hospital.

4. PW-5, Dr. C.M. Tiwari, District Hospital Robertsganj, Mirzapur was posted on emergency duty on 27.01.2007 when Monika, her daughter-in-law Baby (wife of Johny) and her son Tony, Manisha wife of Ramesh and Johny were admitted in hospital for treatment. All were brought by Smt. I. Soloman and Nand Lal Chaubey @ Chintamani Chaubey, accused-appellant. It was told to the Doctor that they had consumed poisonous substance. Information of incident was sent by PW-5 Dr. C.M. Tiwari to In-charge Inspector, Robertsganj, District Mirzapur, which is Ex.Ka-8 on record. Doctor found that Baby, Monika and Tony were already dead. During course of inspection, remaining two patients Johny and Manisha were found in unconscious state and admitted for treatment in hospital. Doctors at Robertsganj Hospital had administered treatment on Johny and Manisha for reducing effect of poison. On 28.01.2007 at 02:30 PM, both were referred to Banaras Hindu University (hereinafter referred to as "BHU") for treatment. On 28.01.2007 the said Doctor PW-5 was also assigned duty for conducting autopsy on the dead bodies of the aforesaid three persons. Dead bodies were sealed by Constable Kaushal Kumar and Vinod Kumar. Inquest and other police documents were prepared and dead bodies were sent for postmortem.

5. PW-5 Dr. C.M. Tiwari conducted autopsy on the dead body of Baby (wife of Johny Maseeh) on 28.01.2007 at 02:30 PM. According to him, deceased was aged about 20 years and about ¾ day had passed since her death. No ante mortem injury was found on her body. Cause of death could not be ascertained. Visecra was preserved for chemical examination. Postmortem report (Ex.Ka-11) was prepared by PW-5, who also conducted autopsy on the dead body of deceased Monika Chaubey on 28.01.2007 at 03:00 PM. According to him deceased was aged about 40 years and about ¾ days had passed since his death. No ante mortem injury was found on her person. Cause of death could not be ascertained. Viscera was preserved for chemical examination. Autopsy report in respect of Monika prepared by doctor is Ex.Ka-12 on record. Similarly postmortem of Tony was conducted by the same Doctor on 28.01.2007 at 03:30 PM. He was found to be aged about 18-19 years and about ¾ day had passed since his death. In his case also, no ante mortem injury was found on her person. Cause of death could not be ascertained and viscera was preserved for chemical examination. Doctor prepared postmortem report Ex.ka-13 in respect of deceased Tony.

6. After getting information from District Hospital that three persons had died and two others were in unconscious state having consumed poison, PW-9, S.O. Shaturghan Prasad Chaudhary, Police Chauki Sukrit, Police Station Ahiraura, District Mirzapur visited the spot and collected food remains and vomit, sealed them in separate five packs for the purposes of forensic examination. He prepared recovery memos, Ex.Ka-24 to 26.

7. On receiving information of death of three deceased, namely, Monika, Tony and Baby @ Gudiya at District Hospital Robertsganj, PW-12, S.O. Prem Lal, visited District Hospital Robertsganj and prepared panchayatnama, (Ex.Ka-40 to Ka-42), in respect of the three deceased.

8. PW-16, SI Anil Kumar Gupta, had sealed the bitch and four puppies lying death on the spot after consuming poisonous food and sent the same to Veterinary Hospital for postmortem. He also made certain queries from the complainant PW-1 about the incident.

9. Postmortem on the dead bodies of bitch and puppies was conducted by Veterinary Dr. Dilip Kumar Pandey, PW-8, posted at Rajgarh Veterinary Hospital, District Mirzapur. He had prepared reports Ex.Ka-17, 18, 19 and 20 in respect of four puppies and Ex.Ka-21 in respect of bitch. Since no ante mortem injury was found on the person of bitch and puppies, the case of death could not be ascertained by the Doctor and he preserved viscera for forensic examination.

10. From the record, it appears that on 02.02.2007, Complainant, PW-1, had given an application at Chauki Sukrit, Police Station Ahiraura, District Mirzapur, mentioning the details of incident and praying for investigation into the matter. Since no investigation was done, she made application to Higher Police Authorities also, but they did not investigate the matter. When Police took no interest in the matter, PW-1, I. Soloman complainant made an application, (Ex.Ka-4), under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. on 16.03.2007 before Chief Judicial Magistrate (hereafter referred to as "CJM"), Mirzapur with the allegation that accused-appellant Nand Lal Chaubey @ Chintamani Chaubey is a cheater and clever person who enticed her daughter Monika and got an agreement of marriage executed before Sub Registrar, Varanasi on 13.11.1999 and started living as husband and wife at Madhupur, Chauki Sukrit, Police Station Ahiraura, District Mirzapur. Out of their wed-lock three children Johny, Tony and Manisha @ Guddan were born. It is stated in the application that about six years ago from the date of filing of application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C., accused-appellant abandoned Informant's daughter Monika and her children, and after accepting Islam religion, changed his name as Mohd. Iqbal. Thereafter he married a girl named Jamila Khatoon. On 27.01.2007 at 09:13 PM, accused-appellant come to the house of Informant and asked to hurry up for going to hospital as all had taken poisonous food and died. He also asked to keep quiet and not to make any noise. Thereafter Informant, PW-1, went to Hospital along-with accused-appellant, where she found that her daughter Monika aged about 45 years, Monika's son Tony aged about 22 years and Monika's daughter-in-law Gudiya @ Baby aged about 17 years had died of consuming poison. Two other children of Monika, namely, Johny and Manisha could be saved with great efforts of doctors. It is stated that accused-appellant is a mischievous person and acts as broker in hospital. Informant was of the firm opinion that accused-appellant had killed her daughter Monika, Monika's son Tony and her daughter-in-law Gudiya @ Baby by administering poison on them. He is trying to hush up the matter in connivance with Hospital and Police personnel. Two children who fortunately are alive and under treatment have also disclosed that poison was mixed by the aforesaid accused-appellant in vegetable and since they had not consumed vegetable, they could escape the death but others consumed all the food, and dead. It is asserted in the application that a complaint of the incident was given at Chauki Sukrit, Police Station Ahiraura, District Mirzapur but no action was taken. Accused-appellant was pressurizing PW-

1, Complainant and threatening her to life. Complainant had also sent applications to Superintendent of Police (hereinafter referred to as "SP"), Mirzapur , Deputy Inspector General of Police (hereinafter referred to as "DIG") Vindhyachal Division, Mirzapur and Station Officer (hereinafter referred to as "SO"), Ahiraura, Mirzapur praying for chemical examination of vegetable (sabzi), vomit and also bitch and puppies who died on consuming poisonous food and also for investigation of the case by Police after registering FIR. Since police authorities failed to take any action against accused-appellant, Complainant, PW-1, filed aforesaid application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. with a prayer for lodging an FIR and investigation into the matter by Police.

11. On the aforesaid application, learned CJM prima-facie found that a cognizable offence was made out and sufficient ground existed for investigation into the matter. Accordingly, vide order dated 03.04.2007, he directed Police Station Ahiraura, District Mirzapur for registering the case and investigate the matter.

12. Pursuant to order of Magistrate dated 03.04.2007, PW-4 Head Constable Lalta Prasad Yadav lodged FIR and prepared chik report Ex.ka-5 on 25.06.2007 at 12:50 hours. He also made corresponding General Diary (hereinafter referred to as "GD") entry at report no.27 at 12:50 hours (Ex.Ka-7).

13. Consequent upon registration of FIR as case crime no.01 of 2007, SI Ajay Kumar Rai, PW-14, undertook investigation on 25.06.2007. He made entries of relevant documents in the GD and recorded statements of Head Constable PW-4, Complainant, PW-1, and other witnesses; inspected spot, prepared site plan Ex.Ka-46. He made entry of Forensic report regarding viscra sent for chemical examination to Forensic Science Laboratory in respect of deceased Monika, Tony and Baby. According to Forensic report, poison of 'aluminum phosphide' was found therein. Viscra report is Ex.Ka-47 to 49 on record. Thereafter on 29.06.2007, accused-appellant was arrested and relevant entry was made in the case diary (hereinafter referred to as "CD").

14. Forensic report in respect of five sealed packs of vomit and remaining food material etc. was received on 05.06.2007, reference whereof is also noted in the CD. After transfer of PW-14, Ajai Kumar Rai, investigation was continued by PW-15, SO, Lallu, who after receipt of viscra report from Forensic Science Laboratory, Lucknow in respect of food remains collected from spot as well as viscra of Bitch and Puppies, recorded the same in CD. The reports mentioned that viscra and vomit and food remains contained 'aluminum phosphide' poison Viscra report is Ex.Ka-15.

15. After conclusion of investigation, PW-15, SI, Lallu Ram Bhasker, submitted charge-sheet (Ex.Ka-50) against accused-appellant in the Court of CJM, Mirzapur.

16. It is pertinent to mention here that according to viscera reports, (Ex.Ka-47 to 49), received from Forensic Science Laboratory, U.P. Lucknow in respect of Baby, Monika and Tony respectively, the aforesaid viscera of all the persons contained poison, 'aluminum phosphide'.

Likewise viscera report, (Ex.Ka-51), in respect of bitch and puppies also, finding was that it contained 'aluminum phosphide' poison. Ex.Ka-51 also stated that the articles, namely, vomit, food material etc. recovered from the spot also contained same poison.

17. CJM, Mirzapur took cognizance of the offences against accused-appellant on 26.09.2007.

18. Case, being exclusively triable by Court of Sessions, was committed to Sessions Court on 24.10.2007, and registered as Sessions Trial No.237 of 2007. Subsequently Sessions Trial was transferred to the Court of Special Judge (E.C. Act), Mirzapur who framed charges against accused-appellant on 11.01.2008, as under:-

23. PW-12, SO, Prem Lal, on receiving information on 28.01.2007 about death of three deceased had gone to Hospital and prepared panchayatnama (inquest), Ex.Ka-40 to 42, in respect of three deceased Monikas, Baby and Tony. He has also proved necessary documents, i.e. request for postmortem, namely Ex.Ka-43 to 45.

24. PW-14 Ajay Kumar Rai is first Investigating Officer (hereinafter referred to as 'I.O.') who initiated investigation on 25.06.2007 after registration of FIR, pursuant to order of Magistrate on the application of Complainant, PW-1, under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. He had gone to the spot and prepared site plan, Ex.Ka-44, and proved viscera report received from Forensic Science Laboratory in respect of Monika, Tony and Baby, Ex.Ka-47 to 49.

25. PW-15, SI Lallu Ram Bhasker, is second I.O. after transfer of PW-1 Ajay Kumar Rai and had taken over investigation on 25.08.2007. He recorded statements of witnesses and has also proved viscera report in respect of bitch and four puppies, Ex.Ka-51. He has proved charge-sheet, Ex.Ka-50. PW-16, SI Anil Kumar Gupta, had sealed the bitch and four puppies and sent to Veterinary Hospital for postmortem. He had also some made interrogation on the application of PW-1 complainant and toled that accused-appellant was not present at the time of taking meal along-with his family.

26. After evidence of prosecution concluded, accused-appellant Nand Lal Chaubey @ Chintamani Chaubey was examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C. He has stated that he has been falsely implicated; Monika had married with him of her own sweet will; charges levelled against him are false; and, witnesses are deposing falsely. He has stated that in 2001, he had come to know that complainant PW-1 and Ramesh Chandra Pandey had got Monika married with one Shyam Bihari Rai, just 26 days prior to the marriage of accused-appellant with Monika. In this respect, accused-appellant extended threat to Complainant PW-1 and Ramesh Chandra Pandey warning for taking legal action against them and for that reason, their relations had broken and he has been falsely implicated.

27. After hearing learned Counsel for parties and scrutinizing evidence available on record, Trial Court has recorded verdict of conviction and sentenced accused-appellant, Nand Lal Chaubey @ Chintamani Chaubey, in the manner stated in paragraph-1 of this judgment. Trial Court has come to the conclusion of guilt of accused-appellant recording its findings as under :-

(I) Accused-appellant married Monika on 13.11.1997 executed a marriage agreement registered in the Office of Sub-Registrar, Varanasi and started residing in the house of Baliram near Madhupur Chawki, Police Station Ahiraura.

(II) For earning livelihood, Monika opened Grocery / General Merchant shop.

(III) Monika came to know that accused-appellant was already married after adopting Islam and his another wife was residing at Sajaur. She became annoyed and left the house of Baliram and starting to live in the house of Amar Nath Patel at Madhupur by hiring it and left company of Nand Lal Chaubey.

(IV) Accused-appellant made attempts to reconcile with Monika and with the help of complainant, the relations became normal for a short time.

(V) On 26th January, 2007, at 11.30 in the night, Nand Lal Chaubey phoned Complainant from the house of Monika asking her to come earlier since Toni had consume poison. Complainant accompanied by her daughter Gudiya and his husband Arif immediately came to Madhupur and found that Toni was continuously conversing, Gudiya immediately suggested accused-appellant to take Toni to some doctor, but he said that he has given salted water and everything would get normal.

(VI) On 27.1.2007, accused-appellant, around 9:30 PM, reached the house of complainant by a vehicle (Marshal) and informed her that every body has taken poison and he has brought them in the vehicle and they are dying. He also said that they tried to administer poison to him but themselves have taken and dying. He suggested to move to the hospital without any noise, whereafter, complainant along with all five persons, who had consumed poison, came to Robartsganj hospital where Monika, Toni and Gudiya @ Baby were declared dead. Manisha and Johny after treatment, at District Hospital and thereat BHU, recovered.

(VII) PW-1, complainant stated that accused-appellant visited the house of Monika at 6:00 in the evening on 27.1.2007 and thereafter incident occurred. All other had taken food but despite request accused-appellant did not eat anything. This shows that poison was administered by accused-appellant and that is why he did not take any food.

(VIII) PW-2 sister of Monika and daughter of complainant PW-1 also supported statement of PW-1 regarding disturbed marital affairs between accused-appellant and Monika and cruel behaviour of accused-appellant towards Monika. Firstly on 26.1.2007, in the night at 11:00 PM, she received telephonic call from complainant stating that accused-appellant has informed on phone that Toni has consumed poison, whereupon she accompanied by her husband Arif reached Madhupur and saw that accused-appellant had given salted water to Toni. PW-2 and her husband suggested to take Toni to Hospital but accused-appellant said that he has given salted water and Toni will be recovered. Around 3:00 p.m. in the night, Toni was considerably recovered and when asked, he told that around 8:00 or 9:00 PM in the evening, he has taken food, and thereafter fell ill. On the next day, Complainant, husband of PW-2 and Monika took Toni to Hospital.

(IX) Around 9:30 PM in the night of 27.1.2007, Nand Lal Chaubey reached the house of complainant, PW-1, at Primary Health Centre, Kakrahi through Marshal Jeep and told her that all have consumed poison and dying and they should be taken to Hospital quickly. In the Jeep all five were lying unconscious. They were taken to District Hospital where three out of five i.e. Monika, Gudiya @ Baby and Tony were declared dead.

(X) Johny and Manisha, who recovered, told subsequently that they had taken pulse and rice in the evening, immediately, after cooking of food by Manisha and had not taken vegetable. After cooking food, Manisha and Gudiya @ Baby went for natural call and Tony went to collect a cassette. Accused-appellant came around 6:00 PM and prepared his bed at the same place where cooked food was kept. When all other came back and took food, Monika, sister of PW-2 requested accused-appellant also to take food but he refused. After taking food by family members, food was also taken by Bitch and Puppies, who died.

(XI) PW-2 said that she is confident that poison was mixed by accused-appellant.

(XII) PW-3 Manisha is the daughter of accused-appellant and deceased Monika. She also fell ill in the same incident and was present in the house. She categorically stated that at 6:30 PM, in the evening on 27.1.2007, when food was being cooked by PW-3 and his sister-in-law Gudiya @ Baby, at that time accused-appellant came and lay down after preparing bed at the place where food was being cooked. After preparation of food, rice and pulse was given to the children. PW-3 and her mother Monika went to attend natural call and Toni went out for collecting a cassette. PW-3 and her mother returned after half an hour when accused-appellant was lying at the same place. Food was served to all family members at around 8:30 in the night but accused-appellant refused to take food. After taking food, both brothers, sister-in-law and mother of PW-3 fell down, when PW-3 asked accused-appellant to see what is happening, whereupon he replied that she will also fell down quickly since he has given poison in the vegetable and since children had already taken food, otherwise they would have also met the same fate. PW-3 also feeling unconsciousness, ran and reached the Hotel of father of Dheeraj and told him that something has happened to his mother and thereafter she gained unconscious. She became consciousness at Rabartsganj Hospital.

(XIII) The motive was that Monika earlier married to one Heera Maseeh and Johny, Toni and Manisha were born, out of said wedlock. Nand Lal Chaubey married Monika when she had above three children. He subsequently, also contracted another marriage with Zamila Khatoon.

(XIV) The factum that death of three has occurred due to poison is proved by medical and viscera report.

(XV) PW-5 said that all five persons, who have consumed poison reached Hospital at around 10:00 PM in the night and accompanied by complainant Smt. I. Soloman and accused-appellant, Nand Lal Chaubey. Three of them had already died before reaching Hospital and Manisha and Johny were unconscious. The two persons accompanying patients informed that poison has been consumed whereupon information was given to Police by PW-5 in writing at 11:00 p.m. in the night. Statement of Manisha was recorded by Magistrate on 28.1.2007. In viscera report 'aluminium phosphide' poison was found.

(XVI) PW-7, Arif besides other, said that Johny and Manisha, after getting well, told that poison was mixed in the food by accused-appellant. He was requested to take food but refused. He also stated that out of wedlock of Monika and Nand Lal Chaubey, there was no issue.

(XVII) Death of Bitch and Puppies, who consumed remaining food, due to poison of aluminium phosphide has been proved by PW-8, who conducted post-mortem of Bitch and puppies.

(XVIII) PW-13, who also fell ill due to poison but survived has also supported and fortified version of PW-3, Manisha (his sister) and has proved that for some time when all other family members were not present in the house after preparation of food, Nand Lal Chaubey alone was present there.

(XIX) Trial Court, therefore, said that Nand Lal Chaubey was present at the time when incident took place. He had motive. He was the only person who could have mixed poison in the food and It is fortified by the fact that, all other family members when took food, though it was also served to him but he did not eat. Therefore, prosecution has proved its case beyond reasonable doubt and held him guilty.

28. Aggrieved by this judgement, present appeal has been filed.

29. We have heard Sri Abhay Kumar Singh, learned Counsel for appellant and Sri Rishi Chaddha, learned A.G.A for State-respondent at length and gone through the record carefully with the valuable assistance of learned Counsel for parties.

30. Learned counsel for accused-appellant, assailing the judgement, contended :-

(i) There is no eye witness to prove that accused-appellant mixed poison in the food.

(ii) No body has seen accused-appellant when came to the house, carried with him any poison and mixed the same.

(iii) The mere fact that accused-appellant did not take food when other family members took food, is a co-incident and for that reason alone, it cannot be said that the accused-appellant is guilty of mixing poison in the food, to cause death of three family members including his wife Monika.

(iv) Accused-appellant himself took all the ailing persons to Hospital by hiring a Jeep. He first rushed to the place of complainant, who was a Supervisor in Primary Health Centre and could have given a better advice in the matter. He himself sent an application informing about the incident to police which has been proved by husband of PW-3.

(v) It has not been proved as to which food item contains poison.

(vi) The entire prosecution story implicating accused-appellant is founded on conjunctures and surmises.

(vii) There was no reason for the accused-appellant, who was continuously trying to have cordial relations with Monika and her children, to make any attempt for their death and the alleged motive is nothing but a sheer conjuncture on the part of complainant and other witnesses having no substance.

(viii) F.I.R. has been lodged with a long delay which shows that the incident has subsequently been manipulated and is an after thought and with due consultation and advice.

(ix) The alleged second marriage of accused-appellant has not been proved by adducing any evidence.

(x) PW-5 said that kind of poison found in the food smell so much, that if mixed in food, one may not take the food due to smell. An otherwise view expressed by another witness has been accepted by Court below without giving any reason for rejecting opinion of PW-5.

(xi) No forensic expert in this regard has been examined.

(x) Prosecution is not based on any ocular version but it is a case of circumstantial evidence having no complete chain but there are much gaps, therefore, conviction of appellant is bad in law.

(xi) Cake was brought by Johny. It was also recovered from the place of incident vide Ex.Ka-24. It has not been examined, whether said food item (Cake) which was consumed by all family members except accused-appellant, was itself poisonous or not. Therefore, there was every possibility that poison may have been in the cake which was consumed by all family members and resulted into death of three family members.

31. Learned AGA on the contrary submitted that accused-appellant was present on the spot. Admittedly when food was being cooked, kept after cooking and other family members went out side the house, accused-appellant continued to remain thereof. All family members took food except appellant though it was served to him which shows that food item(s) contained poison to the knowledge of accused-appellant, hence, he did not eat. This shows his complicity. His relation with Monika were strain since out of first marriage she had three children of substantial age and as per PW-3, he did not like those children. Death of three persons has been proved due to poison and there was none else except accused-appellant, who could have committed the crime, therefore, chain of circumstantial evidence is complete and he has been rightly convicted by Court below.

32. In the light of rival submissions, we have to examine, "whether it can be said that accused-appellant has committed murder of three of his family members and injured two others by administering poison and chain of circumstantial evidence proved by prosecution is complete so as to lead an interference of guilt against accused-appellant only and none-else, and prosecution has successfully proved its case beyond reasonable doubt."

33. Some facts which are not disputed before us, and learned counsel for the appellant has also not raised any serious objection thereto, are :-

(i) Food items, all or some of them or any one of them contained poison, 'aluminium phosphide'.

(ii) The food was taken by five members of family, three of them died and two became seriously ill but subsequently, recovered.

(iii) Food remains were eaten by bitch and puppies, present in the house, and they also died of the aforesaid poison.

(iv) The sample of vomit collected by police shows presence of same poison i.e. aluminium phosphide.

(v) Three persons, namely, Monika, Gudiya @ Beby and Toni died before reaching hospital because of poison.

(vi) When family members were taken food, accused-appellant was present in the house but had not taken meals.

34. Therefore, the place at which offence was committed, i.e. poison was mixed, was the house, where food was cooked and kept and death took place due to intake of poison through meals, in the manner as stated by prosecution in the F.I.R. as also stated by PWs-1, 3 and 13. This fact is duly proved and virtually there is no substantive argument to challenge the said fact.

35. The actual attempt of learned counsel for appellant is that accused-appellant has not mixed poison in the food and there is no evidence to prove this fact, hence, the very basis on which accused-appellant has been held guilty, being no-nest, the entire prosecution story falls and judgement in question is liable to be set aside.

36. It is no doubt true that here is not a case where anybody has seen accused-appellant mixing poison in the food item(s). In case in hand there is no eye witness of occurrence. Case of prosecution rests on circumstantial evidence and extra-judicial confession.

37. It is well settled that conviction on circumstantial evidences is sustainable; though degree of proof is slightly higher and circumstances have to be examined with due caution.

38. The circumstances from which conclusion of guilt is to be drawn must or "should be" and not merely "may be", fully established. The facts so established should be consistent only with the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explicable through any other hypothesis except that the accused was guilty. Moreover, the circumstances should be conclusive in nature. There must be a chain of evidence so complete so as to not leave any reasonable ground for a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused, and must show that in all human probability, the offence was committed by the accused.

39. Hanumant Govind Nargundkar & Anr. v. State of M.P., AIR 1952 SC 343, is the basic judgment on appreciation of evidence, when the case depends only on circumstantial evidence, which has been consistently relied in later judgments. In this case as long back as in 1952, Hon'ble Mahajan, J, expounded various concomitant of proof of a case based purely on circumstantial evidence and said:

"... circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency and they should be such as to exclude every hypothesis but the one proposed to be proved..... i*t must be such as to show that* within all human probability the act must have been done by the accused."

40. In Hukam Singh v. State of Rajasthan, AIR 1977 SC 1063, Court said, where a case rests clearly on circumstantial evidence, inference of guilt can be justified only when all the incriminating facts and circumstances are found to be incompatible with innocence of accused or guilt of any other person.

41. In Sharad Birdhichand Sarda v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 1984 SC 1622, Court while dealing with a case based on circumstantial evidence, held, that onus is on prosecution to prove that chain is complete. Infirmity or lacuna, in prosecution, cannot be cured by false defence or plea. Conditions precedent before conviction, based on circumstantial evidence, must be fully established. Court described following condition precedent :-

(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established. The circumstances concerned 'must or should' and not 'may be' established.

(2) the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty.

(3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved, and

*(5) there must be a c*hain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused. (emphasis added)

42. In Ashok Kumar Chatterjee v. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 1989 SC 1890, Court said:

"...when a case rests upon circumstantial evidence such evidence must satisfy the following tests :-

the circumstances from which an inference of guilt is sought to be drawn, must be cogently and firmly established;

(2) those circumstances should be of a definite tendency unerringly pointing towards guilt of the accused;

*(3) the circumstances, taken cumulatively; should form a c*hain so complete that there is no escape from the conclusion that within all human probability the crime was committed by the accused and none else; and,

(4) the circumstantial evidence in order to sustain conviction must be complete and incapable of explanation of any other hypothesis than that of the guilt of the accused and such evidence should not only be consistent with the guilt of the accused but should be inconsistent with his innocence."

43. In C. Chenga Reddy and Others v. State of Andhra Pradesh, 1996(10) SCC 193, Court said:

"In a case based on circumstantial evidence, the settled law is that the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is drawn should be fully proved and such circumstances must be conclusive in nature*. Moreover, all the* circumstances should be complete and there should be no gap left in the chain of evidence. Further, the proved circumstances must be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused and totally inconsistent with his innocence. " (emphasis added)

44. In Bodh Raj @ Bodha and Ors. v. State of Jammu and Kashmir, 2002(8) SCC 45 Court quoted from Sir Alfred Wills, "Wills' Circumstantial Evidence" (Chapter VI) and in para 15 of judgement said:

"(1) the facts alleged as the basis of any legal inference must be clearly proved and beyond reasonable doubt connected with the factum probandum;

(2) the burden of proof is always on the party who asserts the existence of any fact, which infers legal accountability;

(3) in all cases, whether of direct or circumstantial evidence the best evidence must be adduced which the nature of the case admits;

(4) in order to justify the inference of guilt, the inculpatory facts must be incompatible with the innocence of the accused and incapable of explanation, upon any other reasonable hypothesis than that of his guilt,

*(5) if there be any reasonable doubt of the guilt of the accused, he is entitled as of right to be acquitted."

(emphasis added)

45. The above principle in respect of circumstantial evidence has been reiterated in subsequent authorities also in Shivu and Another v. Registrar General High Court of Karnataka and Another, 2007(4) SCC 713 and Tomaso Bruno v. State of U.P., 2015(7) SCC 178.

46. When we analyses the evidence available in this case, in the light of above exposition of law, we find that Complainant PW-1, Smt. I. Soloman, at the time of incident was around 61 years of age and mother of deceased Monika and mother-in-law of accused-appellant. She was married to one M.J. Soloman in 1960 begot five children, comprising four daughters and one son. The son who was eldest, had already died. The second eldest daughter was Shalini married to one Anirudh Singh residing at Jangiganj, PS. Gopiganj, District Sant Ravi Das Nagar. Monika was third child, who was married to one Heera Maseeh and from that wedlock had one daughter Manisha and two sons, Toni and Johny. Gudiya (PW-2) is the fourth child i.e. third daughter and younger to Monika. she was married with Arif and residing at Babhnauli, P.S. Rabartsganj, District Sonbhadra. At the time of incident, she (PW-2) was present with her mother i.e. PW-1. The fifth child i.e. forth daughter, Guddo Maseeh, was married and residing at Bahraich. Monika separated from her earlier husband, Heera Maseeh due to matrimonial disputes, after about 15-16 years of marriage, and came to reside with PW-1. Johny, after some time went to reside with his father Heera Maseeh at Duddhi. Monika initially joined service in an Oil company and thereafter became teacher in Saraswati Gyan Mandir. During this time, she developed relations with Nand Lal Chaubey, accused-appellant and a contract marriage was solemnized by them by getting an agreement registered in the Office of Sub-Registrar, Varanasi on 13.11.1997. Monika went to live with accused appellant but subsequently, came to know that he has another wife, then left him and started living separately.

47. It is evident from record that accused-appellant used to visit her though she was residing separately. PW-1 (Complainant) has also clarified that she also married twice and from the first husband, Maris Jhon Soloman, who was working in Malaria department, she had two daughters and one son i.e. Anil Soloman, Shalini Soloman and Monika Soloman. Her husband died in 1969, whereafter, she contacted second marriage with one Arshad Alam Khan, who also later died but from second marriage, she had two daughters. Manisha (PW-3) was around 24 years old at the time of death in 2007 and was married to one Ramesh Pandey, had two children Amit and Kavita, who were residing with their maternal grand mother i.e. deceased Monika.

48. On 27.1.2007, when incident took place, PW-3 Manisha and PW-13 Johny, both were present in the house. Their evidence is crucial to appreciate as to what had happened in the matter. Prior to a day from the date of incident i.e. on 26.1.2007, Tony fell ill, after taking food. At that time also accused-appellant was present, who gave salted water to Toni which caused some relief. Ultimately, on the next day, Tony was examined in the hospital and returned there from at around 2:00 P.M. on 27.1.2007.

49. In the evening, Gudiya @ Baby (deceased) and Manisha, PW-3 cooked food. While food was in preparation, around 6:00 P.M., Nand Lal Chaubdy reached the house and placed his bed where food was being cooked and lied there. After preparing rice and pulse, two minor children of PW-3 Manisha namely, Amit and Kavita, who were also present in the house, were given food and after eating, minor children went to sleep. Vegetable was under preparation at that time. After some time, Monika went to pay some dues to a shop keeper; Tony went to the market and Manisha (PW-3) and Gudiya @ Baby (deceased) went to attend their natural call. Johny Maseeh (PW-13) also went to market to collect a cassette. Nand Lal Chaubey remained alone in the house. The family members returned after some time and took dinner around 8:00 P.M. Monika requested accused-appellant also to take dinner but he said that he has come after taking meals and does not want to eat anything. After some time of taking meals, first Johny felt uneasiness and simultaneously, Gudiya @ Baby and Manisha also started vomiting. Johny at that time, fell unconscious.

50. Manisha (PW-3) has categorically said that after taking food when her both brothers and mother fell down, she asked accused-appellant to see what is happening whereupon accused appellant replied that you (Manisha) would also fall just now since he has given poison in vegetable and if children of PW-3 would not have taken food earlier, they would also have suffered the same consequences. Statement of Manisha (PW-3) is very categorical and reads as under :-

Chaube had not taken food. I too had taken food. After taking their meals, both my brothers fell down; thereafter, my mother fell too. On this, I stated to Chaube uncle, "Look, what is happening?" Chaube replied, "You will fall too, because I have poisoned the sabji (cooked vegetables). It is good, your children have taken their meals earlier, otherwise they might have met the same fate."

(English Translation by Court)
(Emphasis added)

51. We do not find anything in cross-examination extracted on this aspect from the statement of PW-3 to discredit her. In fact there is not even a suggestion that this statement of PW-3 is incorrect or she is making this statement to falsely implicate accused-appellant. PW-3 has admitted that she has not seen Nand Lal Chaubey mixing poison in the food but she is very categorically where said that not only he was present but despite request did not take food and when poison starts showing its effect resulting in that two brothers and mother fell down, Manisha requested accused-appellant to see what is happening, probably for help, then he replied in the manner as aforesaid. This is an extra-judicial confession which has been made before a person who himself has suffered in the same incident. Even otherwise, being a member of family, she has no reason to make a false statement against Nand Lal Chaubey, accused-appellant.

52. PW-13, who is another person, who has also consumed poison and fell ill, though subsequently, recovered. His statement regarding preparation of food, its service and the fact that Nand Lal Chaubey did not take food, though requested, corroborate PW-3.

53. Record show that at the time when family was taking dinner in the night, six members were present. Three of them have died. One is accused-appellant himself and two are PW-3 and 13, who have deposed against accused-appellant and supported prosecution version. There is not even a suggestion by accused-appellant that poison could have been mixed in the food by anyone else. It is he who was present in the house. Further, as per statement of PW-3 and 13, present in the house, for a short time, after preparation of food, and before taking meals, all family members except accused-appellant went out of the house, hence it is accused-appellant only who had and could have mixed poison in the food.

54. Accused-appellant in his statement has admitted that he immediately sought to arrange a vehicle to carry all the family members to hospital and at around 9:30 reached the house of PW-1 at Primary Health Centre, Kakrahi. This also shows that he was present in the house when incident took place. That being so, onus lies upon him to prove that poison was mixed by some one else and not by him and here presumption under Section 106 of Evidence Act will stand attracted which has to be discharged by accused-appellant but he has adduced in evidence at all.

55. We are also satisfied that there was enough motive available to accused-appellant to commit offence inasmuch as Manisha, Johny, Toni, three eldest children, were born from the wedlock of first marriage of deceased Monika. Manisha (PW-3) was even already married in July, 1997, when accused-appellant contacted registered marriage with Monika in 1999. She (PW-3) has said that accused-appellant did not like her and her brothers and always said that they should go back to their father, Heera Maseeh. Her statement, in examination-in-chief, reads as under :-

नन्दलाल चौबे मुझे और मेरे भाई को पसन्द नहीं करता था कहता कि तुम लोग अपने बाप हीरामसीह के पास चले जाओ। जॉनी कुछ दिन के बाद हीरा मसीह के पास चला गया था।

Nandlal Chaube did not like me and my brother. He used to say, "You should return to your baap (father) Heera Masih". After some days, Johnny returned to Heera Masih.

(English Translation by Court)

56. On this aspect also virtually there is no cross-examination and we find nothing to contradict the said statement or to disbelieve it.

57. Even PW-13 in his examination-in-chief, has said that after marriage with Monika (deceased), accused-appellant sent him (Johny PW-13) to Duddhi and there he started living with his father. Relevant extract of his statement reads as under :-

*नन्दलाल चौबे मेरी मम्मी मोनिका व हम लोगों को साथ लेकर मधुपुर में आकर रहने लगे। मुझे नन्दलाल चौबे ने बस में बैठा कर दुद्धी भेज दिया था। दुद्धी में मैं अपने पापा के साथ रहने लगा।

Nandlal Chaube having taken my mother Monika and us, came to Madhupur and started living there. Nandlal Chaube having made me sit in a bus sent me off to Duddhi. I started living with my father in Duddhi.

(English Translation by Court)

(Emphasis added)

58. It shows that what has been said by PW-3 stand corroborated by PW-13 that it is the accused-appellant who sent Johny PW-13 to stay to go Duddhi and stay with his biological father i.e. Heera Maseeh. This support to the statement of PW-3 that accused-appellant dislike them.

59. A suggestion has been made that Johny (PW-13) brought the cake which was also taken by other family members and the same was recovered vide Fard Memo (Ex.Ka-4) but that has not been examined.

60. However, we find difficult to accept it for the reason that PW-13 has stated that cake has been taken by all the family members at around 2:00 PM in the day and incident has taken place after taking dinner in the night. Therefore, cake has not resulted in anything but it is the food which was taken by three deceased, PW-3 and 13 which caused their illness wherein three of them died. Relevant statement of PW-13 with regard to cake reads as under : -

जो केक मैं लेकर आया था, परिवार के सभी लोग खाये थे, नन्दलाल नहीं खाए थे। परिवार के सभी लोग 2 बजे के आस पास केक खाए थे।

All family members except Nandlal had eaten the cake which I had brought along with me. All family members had taken cake at around 2:00 O'clock.

(English Translation by Court)

61. The collection of vomit food, items and viscera testing, all relevant documents have been proved and chemical examination has also proved. Presence of poison i.e. 'aluminum phosphide' in Forensic report is also proved. On this aspects, nothing has been said by learned counsel for the appellant and he has not disputed these facts.

62. In this backdrop, we find that chain of circumstances is complete to prove that it is only accused-appellant, who can be said to be guilty in the matter and none else. Accused-appellant came to the house of deceased Monika and other family members on 27.1.2007 at around 6:00 PM. He prepared his bed in the kitchen / place where food was being cooked and lied down thereat. At that time vegetable was being cooked. After cooking the food, other family members went outside the house for one or the other reason. Accused-appellant alone remained at the place where cooked food was kept. After sometime, around 8:00 PM, all the family members, namely, Monika, Tony, Gudiya @ Baby, (all deceased); Manisha and Johny (PWs-3 and 13) had dinner. Accused-appellant was also requested to take food but he denied and did not take meals. Five persons, who took meals, three of them fell down and remaining two also started getting uneasy and unconscious. PW-3, who was at that point of time, lesser ill than others, asked accused-appellant as to what is happening whereupon he replied that he has mixed poison in the vegetable and very soon she (PW-3) will also fell down. He went further to say that two miner children of PW-3, if already had not taken food, would have met the same fate. This statement of PW-3 which can be taken note as extra-judicial confession of accused-appellant also proves that the poison was mixed by accused-appellant when he was present in the house. Two minor children ate only pulse and rice, since vegetable was not ready at that time. After cooking food subsequently five family members went out of house. Two minor children were sleeping. Accused-appellant alone was present in house. After dinner, out of five, three of them died before reaching hospital and PWs-3 and 13 remain seriously ill. PW-13 regained his conscious after about 4-5 days.

63. The defence of accused-appellant that he had taken all the five persons to his mother-in-law and thereafter they were taken to hospital, is only a alibi inasmuch as all the five had already fallen unconscious. The accused-appellant thought that all have died and this is what he told to complainant when reached her house, but to his misfortune, in the hospital he found that only three have died and two subsequently recovered.

64. We asked learned counsel for appellant as to when the facility of telephone was available in the house, why accused-appellant immediately did not inform police or call for an Ambulance or even the Complainant, when family members started to have adverse effect of poison; and why he lost / consumed time, spending more than 1 -1/2 hours, by taking them first to residence of his mother-in-law, to which we did not receive any reply. It is no doubt true that non-availability of defence to accused-appellant will not absolve prosecution from its responsibility to prove the guilt beyond reasonable doubt but in the present case, in the backdrop of facts already discussed, we are examine conduct of appellant also which gives no confidence upon his defence that he has not done anything and instead attempted to save all the family members.

65. In fact in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., he has taken a defence that he has made a complaint against complainant in 2006 on account whereof she has falsely implicated him. Further that he came to know that before his marriage with deceased, Monika, about 20 years earlier, was married with one Shyam Bihari and on account thereof he separated from Monika which has caused enmity with Informant but to prove this fact that Monika was married to some Shyam Bihari, no evidence has been brought on record. The statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. is nothing but virtually a denial on every aspect, except question no. 1 where he has admitted marriage with deceased Monika. He has denied even question 13 that he brought all the ailing persons to the residence of Informant on 27.1.2007 at around 9:00 PM, telling that they have consumed poison voluntarily and are dying and thereafter when they were taken to hospital three of them were declared dead.

66. We find an independent witness, PW-5, doctor who was posted on emergency duty at District Hospital Rabartsganj, was said that all five persons were brought for treatment by Smt. I. Soloman and Nand Lal Chaubey and they told that they have consume poisonus substance. Thereafter, he (PW-5) sent information to In-charge Inspector Rabartsganj vide Ex.Ka-8 and then examined patients brought for treatment, out of whom three were already died and two were admitted in unconscious stage but late referred to Banaras Hindu University on 28.1.2007 for further treatment. This shows that accused-appellant was present in the house. He had taken all the five members first to the residence of PW-1 and thereafter accompanied PW-1 to hospital but even this fact he has denied while answering question 13 which shows an otherwise conduct of appellant and supports prosecution version that it is the accused-appellant, who, when found opportunity in the house when he was alone, and cooked food kept thereat, mixed poison and thereafter admitted this fact when five members of family after taking food started feeling effect of poison and PW-3 sought help of accused-appellant, since he knew that food contained poison, he did not consume it.

67. Much stress has been laid by learned counsel for accused-appellant that he himself sent an application on 28.1.2007 (Ex.Ka-15) to Police Station Ahiraura, District Mirzapur which was taken by PW-7 Arif and has been proved by him. If accused-appellant would have committed crime, he would not have informed police on his own and this is a very important aspect to show that accused-appellant has not committed any crime. Instead, the poison has been taken by family members either due to mistake on their part or in some other manner.

68. At first flush, the argument appears to be quite attractive but on a serious consideration, we find apparent shallowness and an attempt on the part of accused-appellant to cover up the matter. Incident took place on 27.1.2007, at about 8:00 or 8:30 PM as above discussed, accused-appellant under the impression that all five family members have died or dying took them to the place of informant i.e. his mother-in-law (PW-1) and told that five family members have consumed poison and are dying. Thereafter, both of them carried ill fated five family members to District Hospital and reached thereat around 10:00 PM. PW-5, Doctor, who was on emergency duty in District Hospital, has clearly said that he, after receiving five persons having consumed poison, out of whom three had already died, sent information to police in writing at 11:00 PM, in the night, and thereafter, statement of Manisha, PW-3, who also had consumed poison, but survived, was recorded by Magistrate on 28.1.2007. Thus, police was already informed of the incident by PW-5 in the night of 27.1.2007 and therefore, alleged information given by accused-appellant on 28.1.2007 is nothing but an afterthought and to create an alibi to cover up the issue.

69. Moreover, even a perusal of application (Ex.Ka-15) shows that appellant mentioned therein that family members when taking meal, they offered the same to accused-appellant which he refused but then he was offered cake, he wanted to eat but at the same time elder son Johny fell down and became unconscious, hence accused-appellant became nerves, called for help of neighbour, and after arranging a vehicle brought poison affected family members to the hospital.

70. The fact stated in the application neither have been proved by accused-appellant by adducing any evidence and contrary evidence is available on record demonstrating falsity of the contents of said application.

71. PW-13 i.e. Johny himself has stated that he brought cake in the afternoon and all the family members ate cake at 2:00 PM and it was not eaten by accused-appellant. PW-3 has also said that in the evening when family members started taking meal, accused-appellant was offered meal which he refused. His (accused-appellant) story that the cake was offered to him which he could not eat sicne in the meantime, Johny fell down, is clearly an attempt on his part to shift suspicion that probably cake contained poison and not evening meals i.e. vegetable prepared in the evening.

72. Moreover, remains of vegetable has already been examined forensically and poison has been found therein, therefore, also the otherwise stand sought to be taken by accused-appellant is clearly incorrect. He has also not stated in the application sent on the next date i.e. 28.1.2007 that he brought ill fated family members affected by poison firstly to the place of Informant, PW-1, and thereafter, they went to hospital. In the application, he has said that he went to hospital which is again not correct. Therefore, this application, in our view, does not support the stand taken by accused-appellant particularly the facts stated therein are inconsistent to the abundance of otherwise evidence available on record. Accused-appellant on his own has not made any attempt by adducing any evidence to prove the facts stated in said application. Said application was made on his part to create an alibi for himself but we find that in the light of ocular version and clear and categorical statements of PWs-3 and 13 i.e., two poison affected family members, the stand of the accused-appellant is wholly untrustworthy.

73. So far as argument with regard to delay in lodging FIR, it is already on record that complainant sought to lodge report in police but it was not registered whereafter she approached higher authorities, then filed application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. and only with the intervention of Court, F.I.R. was lodged and investigation was conducted. It shows that there is no delay and in any case, it stands explained satisfactorily and therefore, has no otherwise effect on entire prosecution case.

74. In view of the above discussions, we are clearly of the view that prosecution has successfully proved its case beyond reasonable doubt and therefore, Trial Court has rightly held accused-appellant guilty and convicted for the offences under Sections 302 I.P.C. for committing murder of Monika, Tony, Gudiya @ Baby (deceased) and under Section 307 I.P.C. for attempting to cause murder of PW-3 and 13.

75. Coming to the question of sentence, it is settled legal position that appropriate sentence should be awarded after giving due consideration to the facts and circumstances of each case, nature of offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed. It is obligation of court to constantly remind itself that right of victim, and be it said, on certain occasions person aggrieved as well as society at large can be victims, never be marginalised. The measure of punishment should be proportionate to gravity of offence. Object of sentencing should be to protect society and to deter the criminal in achieving avowed object of law. Further, it is expected that courts would operate the sentencing system so as to impose such sentence which reflects conscience of society and sentencing process has to be stern where it should be. The Court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against individual victim but also against society to which criminal and victim belong. Punishment to be awarded for a crime must not be irrelevant but it should conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality which the crime has been perpetrated, enormity of crime warranting public abhorrence and it should 'respond to the society's cry for justice against the criminal'. [Vide: Sumer Singh vs. Surajbhan Singh and others, (2014) 7 SCC 323, Sham Sunder vs. Puran, (1990) 4 SCC 731, M.P. v. Saleem, (2005) 5 SCC 554, Ravji v. State of Rajasthan, (1996) 2 SCC 175].

76. Hence, applying the principles laid down in the aforesaid judgments and having regard to the totality of facts and circumstances of case, nature of offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed, we find that punishment imposed upon accused-appellant-Nand Lal Chaubey by Trial Court in impugned judgment and order is not excessive and it appears fit and proper and no question arises to interfere in the matter on the point of punishment imposed upon him.

77. In view of above discussion, the appeal lacks merit and is dismissed. Impugned judgement and order dated 27.08.2011 passed by Special Judge (E.C. Act), Mirzapur in Sessions Trial No.237 of 2007, under Sections 302 and 307 IPC., Police Station Ahiraura, District Mirzapur, is maintained and confirmed.

78. Lower Court record along with the copy of this judgment be sent immediately to Court and Jail Superintendent concerned for necessary compliance and to apprise the accused forthwith. Compliance report be also submitted to this Court.

A. Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Sections 118 and 134 - Neither number of witness required to prove a fact nor evidence of a witness can be rejected only on the ground of her relationship with the victim. The whole prosecution case can be proved by a single witness if evidence is natural and trustworthy.

That even a singly testimony, which is unimpeachable, proves case beyond doubt. Evidence must be weighed and not counted. It is quality and not quantity which determines the adequacy of evidence, as has been provided, under Section 134 of Evidence Act. Testimony of prosecutrix corroborated with unimpeachable testimony of informant is cogent, credible and trustworthy, having ring of acceptance. (Para 22)

Regarding Section 376 I.P.C., the minimum sentence provided for offence of rape is seven years and in case of punishment, less than seven years, Court is required to write reasons being adequate and special reasons to be mentioned in the judgment for imposing a sentence of imprisonment for a term less than seven years. (Delivered by Hon'ble Ram Krishna Gautam, J.)

1. This appeal under Section 374(2) read with Section 383 of Code of Criminal Procedure (hereinafter referred to as 'Cr.P.C.') has been filed against the judgment of conviction and sentence made therein by Court of Additional Sessions judge, Ex-cadre, Court No. 1, Ghaziabad, in Sessions Trial No. 1338 of 2012, arising out of Case Crime No. 148 of 2012, under Sections 363, 366 and 376 of I.P.C., Police Station Murad Nagar, District Ghaziabad, wherein convict-appellant Yogendra @ Tittu has been convicted for offence punishable under Section 363, 366 and 376 I.P.C. and thereby he has been sentenced with three years rigorous imprisonment and fine of Rs. 3,000/- and in default of making payment of fine, rigorous imprisonment of six months under Section 363 of I.P.C., five years rigorous imprisonment with fine of Rs. 5,000/-, and in default one years additional rigorous imprisonment for offence punishable under Section 366 of I.P.C., ten years rigorous imprisonment and fine of Rs. 10,000/-, and in default two years additional rigorous imprisonment under Section 376 I.P.C., with a direction for concurrent running of sentences and adjustment of previous imprisonment, if any, in this very case crime number as per Section 428 of Cr.P.C.

2. Memo of appeal contends that trial Court failed to appreciate facts and law placed upon record. There was no proof of rape with victim nor it was medically corroborated. First Information Report was delayed and no reason for this delay, was given. Prosecutrix was major, thereby, capable to understand her wellness. It was a consensual fleeing. She was pregnant for four months. Offence of rape was not proved. Rather, prosecutrix, upon her own volition, had gone to convict-appellant while being in company of her own friend. Convict-appellant had no fault nor it was rape by him. The sentence was not commensurate to offence. It was highly excessive, hence, this appeal for setting aside impugned judgment of conviction, sentence made therein, for awarding acquittal of charges, leveled against convict-appellant.

3. From the very perusal of record of lower Court, it is apparent that First Information Report Ex.Ka-8, was got lodged at Police Station Murad Nagar, Ghaziabad, on 3.3.2012 at 11:30 A.M. for an occurrence of 17.12.2011 at 9:00 A.M. upon the report of Roop Singh son of Genda Lal against Teetu, resident of Village Rajapur, Police Station Kavi Nagar, District Ghaziabad, for offence punishable under Section 363 and 366 I.P.C., with this contention that Roop Singh's daughter, prosecutrix, having date of birth 7.5.1995, student of Class XI, at Sir Chhotu Ram Girls High School, Duhai, went for her school at 9:00 A.M. On 17.12.2011. But she did not turn up. When enquired from school, it came to notice that she had not gone to school on that day. Rather Teetu and Mukesh had taken her in a white van from Murad Nagar Bus Stand, which was witnessed by Ashok son of Sri Ram. Son of 'Bua' of 'Teetu' was also in company of them. Teetu was residing as tenant in the house of Udesh Pal and was involved in the work as T.V. Mechanic at a shop situated beside school at Murad Nagar. Prosecutrix may be murdered by them. This information was sent to S.S.P., Ghaziabad, but of no avail. Hence, an application under Section 156(3) of Cr.P.C. was filed before the Court of VIth Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Ghaziabad, with a prayer for direction to Station Office of Police Station, Murad Nagar, for registering a case of kidnapping of a minor girl against Teetu and Mukesh. This application was allowed by Magistrate and this report was got lodged. Investigation resulted recording of statement of prosecturix under Section 164 of Cr.P.C. Ex.Ka-11, her medical examination and report being Ex. Ka-5, pathological report being Ex. Ka-6, spot map Ex. Ka-9 and final submission of charge-sheet Ex. Ka-10, against accused Yogendra @ Teetu for offence punishable under Section 363, 366 and 376 of I.P.C. Ex. Ka-11 was Certificate-cum-Mark-sheet of High School Examination- 2011, wherein, date of birth of prosecutrix was written to be 7.5.1995. As offence, punishable under Sections 363, 366 and 376 I.P.C. was exclusively triable by Court of Session, hence, learned Magistrate, vide order dated 18.8.2012, committed file to Court of Session. Session Judge made over case to Court No. 14 of Additional Session Judge, Ghaziabad wherein learned counsel for the State and for defence, were heard and vide order dated 25.9.2012, charges for offence punishable under Section 363, 366 and 376 I.P.C. were framed against convict-appellant Yogendra @ Teetu. The same is being written in its English translation by Court itself, the vernacular part is not being reproduced.

I, Gajendra Kumar, Additional District and Session Judge, Court No. 14, do hereby, charge you, Yogendra:

"(1) That on 17.12.2011 while informant's daughter prosecutrix, who was student of Class XIth at Chhoturam Girls College, Duhai, under Police Station Murad Nagar, Ghaziabad, was on her way to school made enticing her thereby took out of the guardianship of her legal guardian. Thereby you committed offence of kidnapping punishable under Section 363 of I.P.C. within the cognizance of above Court.

(2) That on above date, time and place, you did kidnapping of minor Km. Lalita; daughter of informant Kamal Singh, from his legal guardianship with intent that she will be compelled to marry or likely to marry or likely that she will be forced or seduced to illicit intercourse, thereby committed offence punishable under Section 366 of I.P.C. within the cognizance of above Court.

(3) That on above date, time and place, you enticed and thereby kidnapped minor prosecutrix daughter of informant and took her somewhere else where you committed rape against her wishes. Thereby, committed offence punishable under Section 376 of I.P.C. within the cognizance of this Court."

------Sd-------

4. Charges were read over to accused, who pleaded not guilty and claimed for trial. Prosecution examined PW-1 prosecutrix daughter of Roop Singh, PW-2 Roop Singh son of Genda Lal-informant, PW-3 Dr. Surbhi Sinha Senior consultant, PW-4 Constable-2282 Mukesh Dabas, PW-5 Sub-Inspector Vijay Kumar Verma.

5. With a view to obtain explanation, if any, and version of accused person, his statement was got recorded under Section 313 of Cr.P.C. wherein accused Yogendra @ Teetu answered in a general way in answer of every question till question No. 17 that it is incorrect and in answer to question No. 18, this was said to be a false implication and in answer to question No. 19, he replied that father of prosecutrix was under debt of Rs. 10,000/-, taken from accused and when it was called back, this false case was got registered. He is innocent. He has been falsely implicated.

6. No evidence in defence was there.

7. After hearing learned Additional District Government Counsel and learned counsel for the defence, the impugned judgment of conviction and sentence made therein, written as above, was passed.

8. Heard Sri Rajiv Kumar Mishra, learned counsel for the appellant and Sri Ravi Prakash, learned AGA for the State. Perused the record.

9. Learned counsel for the appellant argued that charge was made for offence of kidnapping of minor girl of informant with name of prosecutrix, who had been examined as PW-1 whereas charge No. 2 has been leveled for offence punishable under Section 366 of I.P.C. with offence of abduction of Kumri Lalita, daughter of Kamal Singh, with a view to marry and have sexual intercourse with her. Again, charge No. 3 has been leveled for offence of rape with prosecutrix, minor daughter of informant of this case. But nowhere name of Kumari Lalita or informant Kamal Singh is there on record. This application under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C. was filed by Roop Singh, son of Genda Lal, R/o Care of Udesh Pal, Mohalla Purani Mandi, Police Station Murad Nagar, District Ghaziabad and no person as informant Kamal Singh is there nor any prosecutrix or victim Kumari Lalita is there. Hence, this charge itself was defective and convict-appellant has been convicted for offence punishable under Section 366 I.P.C. for which there was no evidence at all, even then, he has been sentenced for it. Prosecutrix, for whom offence under Section 363 of I.P.C. was leveled, was a major and for offence punishable under Section 363 of I.P.C., whoever kidnaps any person from India or from lawful guardianship, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to seven years, and shall also be liable to fine, that is the offence of kidnapping from lawful guardianship, penalized by this section, is the offence, which is defined by Section 361 I.P.C. which provides: "whoever takes or entices any minor under sixteen years of age if a male, or under eighteen years of age if a female, or any person of unsound mind, out of the keeping of the lawful guardian of such minor or person of unsound mind, without the consent of such guardian, is said to kidnap such minor or person from lawful guardianship. The person against whom the offence is committed must be under the age of 16, if male, and under the age of 18, if female." The quintessence of offence under Section 363 of I.P.C. is criminal intention. In the present case, prosecutrix was major, hence, this offence was not made. The offence punishable under Section 376 I.P.c. was also not made out because prosecutrix being major went to accused upon her own volition. She lived with him and was pregnant with four months. It was a consensual relationship. Even then Court has punished with such a deterrent punishment. There was no proof beyond doubt. PW-2 was not eye-witness account and the witness, who was said to have seen prosecutrix in company of accused, has not been examined. Hence, there remained single testimony of prosecutrix that too, with major contradiction. Convict-appellant is in jail since 17.5.2012. He suffered more than 7 years as against maximum ten years sentence awarded to him. Hence, he be punished with sentence undergone.

10. Learned AGA has vehemently opposed the argument by saying that as per High School Certificate-cum-Mark-sheet Ex. Ka-11, prosecutrix was minor on the date of incident. She has said about offence committed by appellant. There was no exaggeration, embellishment or contradiction, in her testimony. This was corroborated by medical testimony. Formal witnesses have supported prosecution case. Hence, trial Court has rightly convicted and sentenced under impugned judgment. Appeal be rejected.

11. Section 363 I.P.C. provides:- "whoever kidnaps any person from India or from lawful guardianship, shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to seven years, and shall also be liable to fine." Kidnapping from lawful guardianship has been defined under Section 361 I.P.C. that "whoever takes or entices any minor under sixteen years of age, if a male, or under eighteen years of age if a female, or any person of unsound mind, out of the keeping of the lawful guardian of such minor or person of unsound mind, without the consent of such guardian, is said to kidnap such minor or person from lawful guardianship, i.e. for punishment of offence under Section 363 I.P.C." Section 361 I.P.C. and its ingredients are to be proved, which requires taking or enticing of a minor under 16 if male and under 18 if female, from lawful guardianship or a person of unsound mind of any age, without consent of that guardian. Apex Court in Thakorlal D. Vadgama vs The State Of Gujarat AIR 1973 SC 2313, has propounded the words "whoever takes or entices any minor" under Section 361 I.P.C. and observed as to what actually means. According to the Supreme Court, the word "takes", does not necessarily connote taking by force and does not confined to use of force, actual or constructive. These words merely mean "to cause to woke", "to support" or "to get into possession". The gravamen of this offence under Section 361 I.P.C. lies in the taking or enticing of a minor, specified in this section out of the keeping of the lawful guardianship without the consent of such guardian.

12. On a plain reading of this Section, the consent of the minor, who is taken or enticed, is wholly immaterial, it is only the guardian's consent which takes the case within its purview. Nor is it necessary that the taking or enticing must be shown to have been by means of force or fraud. Persuasion by the accused person, which creates willingness on the part of minor to be taken out of the keeping of the lawful guardianship would be sufficient to attract this Section 361 I.P.C., as has been held by Apex Court in State of Haryana Vs. Raja Ram AIR 1973 SC 819. Prosecutrix, in her statement, recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C. Ex. Ka-1, has said that while she was on her way to her school, where she was student of Class XI, on 17.12.2011, Teetu and Mukesh both persuaded her that they will get her employed in a job and upon their enticing, she was taken by them in an unknown village, where she was being beaten and threatened. Teetu committed rape on each day against her wishes, thereby, she became pregnant.

She, in her testimony, as PW-1 has said that Teetu @ Yogendra was residing in the same mohalla of prosecutrix, in house of Udesh Pal and on 17.12.2011 while she was on her way to her school Sir Chhoturam Girls College, Duhai, he came to her and took her under his persuasion of getting job for her. She, under his persuasion, went with him in a white colour car. She was taken in a village of Ghaziabad and thenafter was threatened. She was being beaten and subjected to repeated rape by him, resulting her pregnancy. She was with date of birth 7.5.1995. There was one other who was driving that car and while she was being taken to Delhi by train on 17.5.2011, she was apprehended at Railway Station, Murad Nagar by police. Her statement Ex. Ka-1, was recorded before Magistrate and she was medically examined by Medical Officer. In cross-examination, she has said about her school but no question about her date of birth has been asked. Hence, this date of birth recorded in High School as of 7.5.1995 is unrebutted fact.

13 . This Court in a Division Bench Judgment in Kunwar Singh Vs. State of U.P. 1993 (3) AWC 1305 has propounded the effect of non cross-examination of witness on a fact appearing in Examination-in-Chief under Section 137 of Evidence Act and held that if some fact has been averred in Examination-in-Chief of testimony of a witness and same is not being cross examined in examination-in-cross, truthfulness of that uncontroverted part of a fact shall be accepted. In the present case, it was specifically said by this witness, in her Examination-in-Chief that she was minor, having date of birth 7.5.1995 and this fact was not cross-examined by learned counsel for the defence. Hence, this portion of fact is full truth and is to be accepted. Moreso, this is with corroboration of Certificate-cum-Mark-sheet of High School Ex. Ka-11, filed and proved on record, having date of birth of prosecutrix recorded as 7.5.1995 and this occurrence was of 17.12.2011 i.e. prosecutrix was below 18 years on above date and as per her testimony, she was enticed and taken by convict-appellant by way of persuasion for getting her engaged in a job. This was with no consent of lawful guardian, informant i.e. Roop Singh. Hence, ingredients of offence under Section 361 I.P.C. punishable under Section 363 of I.P.C. was fully proved by testimony of prosecutrix PW-1. This has further been corroborated by testimony of PW-2 Roop Singh-informant that her daughter was at her school but she did not turn up and ultimately she was apprehended by police and her date of birth was 7.5.1995, who was minor. Convict-appellant took her out of his legal guardianship without his consent and he got this case registered by presenting an application Ex. Ka-4 supported with affidavit Ex. Ka-2, 3, before the Court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Ghaziabad, under Section 156(3) Cr.P.C., which was allowed and then after this case crime number was got registered at above police station, Murad Nagar for offence of kidnapping and rape against accused persons. This witness has formally proved Ex.Ka-2, Ex. Ka-3 and Ex. Ka-4. In cross-examination, question about the siblings of this witness and difference of age amongst them have been asked but no cross-examination about date of birth of prosecutrix, said by this witness in his Examination-in-Chief, has been made by learned counsel for the defence. Thereby, this fact is unrebutted in cross-examination and a suggestive question has been put to this witness that there had been a love affair amongst prosecutrix and accused, as a result of which, she had gone with accused and this question has been answered in negative. Meaning thereby, by this suggestive question itself, learned counsel for the defence has said that prosecutrix was taken by convict-appellant because of love affairs between them. This taking from lawful possession has been proved by this witness. Though this witness is not eye-witness account of taking, but prosecutrix, while being in company of this convict-appellant, was recovered and she had proved this taking. Hence, by factual evidence of these two witnesses, offence punishable under Section 363 I.P.C. was fully proved.

14. In medical age determination, Chief Medical Officer, Ghaziabad has held on 19.5.2012, the age of prosecutrix about 18 years. But this report was not proved before Court and as per law of Apex Court in State of Karnataka Vs. Batra Sudhakar @ Suttham and others (2008) 11 SCC 8, as has been quoted in the judgment of trial Court that two years on upper side for determining age of minor was not held to be proper, rather as per law of Apex Court in Shahnawaz Vs. State of U.P. 2011 (2) DNR 626, the age determination on the basis of High School Certificate was held to be proper, provided the same was duly proved and admissible. In the present case, the condition of proof was fulfilled by prosecution. Beside it, the testimony, of prosecutrix PW-1 as well as PW-2 informant is of this fact that date of birth of prosecutrix was 7.5.1995 and no cross-examination on this point is there. Hence, it was unrebutted testimony to be accepted as such, hence, argument of learned counsel for the appellant regarding offence punishable under Section 363 I.P.C. is not sustainable.

15. Offence punishable under Section 366 I.P.C. requires three principal ingredients (I) kidnapping or abduction to any women (II) such kidnapping or abduction must be (i) with intent that she may be compelled or knowing it to be likely that she will be compelled to marry any person against her will; or (ii) in order that she may be forced or seduced to illicit intercourse or knowing it to be likely that she will be forced or seduced to illegal intercourse, or (iii) by means of criminal intimidation or otherwise by enticing any women to any place with intent that she may be or knowing that she will be forced or seduced to illicit intercourse. It is immaterial whether the women kidnapped is married women or not. To bring him an offence punishable under Section 366 I.P.C., the prosecution is to prove (a) that the accused kidnapped has understood Section 360 or 361 I.P.C. or abducted the victim has understood Section 362 I.P.C.; (b) that the victim of the aforesaid kidnapping or abduction was a female; (c) that the accused during the kidnapping or abduction had intention or knew it likely that (1) such women might or would be forced to marry a person against her will, or (2) that she might or would be forced or seduced to illicit intercourse, or (3) by means of criminal intimidation or otherwise by enticing a women to go from any place with intent that she may be or knowing that she will be forced or seduced to illicit intercourse. As in the present case, prosecutrix was said to be minor, hence, regarding minor for such offence punishable under Section 366A I.P.C. As per the Apex Court in Ramesh Vs. State of Maharashtra AIR 1962 SC 1908, three principal ingredients are to be proved by prosecution for charge under Section 366A I.P.C. (a) that a minor girl below the age of 18 years is induced by the accused, (b) that she is induced to go from any place or to do any act, and (c) that she is so induced with intent that she may be or knowing that it is likely that she will be forced or seduced to illicit intercourse with another person. In the present case, charge was framed for enticing and seducing minor Kumari Lalita daughter of informant Kamal Singh. Whereas neither prosecutrix is Kumari Lalita nor the informant of this case is Kamal Singh. Where from these two names came in the charge, framed? And how it is proved? is not there on record. Case crime number was lodged with regard to kidnapping of prosecutrix, a minor girl of informant Roop Singh-PW-2 and offfence of rape was committed by accused Yogendra @ Teetu with prosecutrix minor daughter of informant Roop Singh. But the charge of offence punishable under Section 366 of I.P.C. was leveled for kidnapping of minor girl Lalita daughter of Kamal Singh informant of the case, for which there is no evidence on record. Hence, finding of trial Court was apparently erroneous and regarding conviction and sentence for offence punishable under Section 366 I.P.C. for which this appeal in part is to be allowed.

16. Regarding charge No. 3 i.e. offence of rape, punishable under Section 376 I.P.C., Section 375 of I.P.C. provides "A man is said to commit "rape" who, except in the case hereinafter excepted, has sexual intercourse with a woman under circumstances falling under any of the six following descriptions:--

(Firstly) -- Against her will.

(Secondly) --Without her consent.

(Thirdly) -- With her consent, when her consent has been obtained by putting her or any person in whom she is interested in fear of death or of hurt.

(Fifthly)-- With her consent, when, at the time of giving such consent, by reason of unsoundness of mind or intoxication or the administration by him personally or through another of any stupefying or unwholesome substance, she is unable to understand the nature and consequences of that to which she gives consent.

(Sixthly) -- With or without her consent, when she is under sixteen years of age. Explanation.--Penetration is sufficient to constitute the sexual intercourse necessary to the offence of rape.

(Exception) --Sexual intercourse by a man with his own wife, the wife not being under fifteen years of age, is not rape.

17. Section 376 I.P.C. provides for punishment of rape that - (1) "Whoever, except in the cases provided for by sub-section (2), commits rape shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which shall not be less than seven years but which may be for life or for a term which may extend to ten years and shall also be liable to fine unless the women raped is his own wife and is not under twelve years of age, in which cases, he shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to two years or with fine or with both: Provided that the court may, for adequate and special reasons to be mentioned in the judgment, impose a sentence of imprisonment for a term of less than seven years."

18. In the present case, prosecutrix as PW-1, in her testimony in Examination-in-Chief has, specifically said that she was subjected to repeated rape by accused against her wishes by use of force and threat resulting her conception of two months. She was prohibited to communicate with any other and regarding this statement, given in fact, there is no contradiction or exaggeration in Examination-in-Cross. Rather, a suggestive question has been given to PW-2 and has been argued by learned counsel for the appellant that prosecutrix was under love affair with convict-appellant and it was a consensual living and she used to have visit to convict-appellant. This defence shows that having physical relation is not being disputed rather the same is being said to be under consensual affairs. Whereas prosecutrix, by her unimpeachable testimony, has proved about forceful rape with her and this was having medical corroboration of testimony of PW-3 Dr. Surbhi Sinha, who had medically examined prosecutrix and has held her height 141 cm, her weight 41 kg. and teeth 14/14 with fetus of 16 to 18 months. Though, she was having no injury over her private part but she was subjected to physical relationship. Ex. Ka-5 and Ka-6, has been formally proved by this witness.

19. PW-4 Constable Mukesh Dabas is the formal witness, who has proved registration of this case crime number and this G.D. Entry and chick F.I.R. as Ex. Ka-7 and Ka-8, for which there is no contradiction or embellishment.

20. PW-5, is the Investigating Officer, Vijay Kumar Verma, who has proved his formal investigation of this case crime number and preparation of site map upon the pointing of witness, proved and exhibited as Ex. Ka-9, on record. Date of birth of prosecutrix to be of 7.5.1995 and she being recovered while being in possession of convict-appellant and thereby on the basis of statement recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C. offence of rape punishable under Section 376 I.P.C. was added by G.D. Entry No. 46 on 19.5.2012. Thenafter, prosecutrix was given in possession of her mother, in accordance with order of Magistrate and investigation resulted submission of charge-sheet Ex. Ka-10, under handwriting and signature of this witness. In cross-examination dispute regarding date of birth, has not been put except that original certificate of High School was not taken on record. Convict-appellant was apprehended from Railway Station Murad Nagar on 17.5.2012 on 17:00 P.M. while he was with possession of prosecutrix. There is no embellishment, contradiction or exaggeration in testimony of this witness. He has formally proved the case of prosecution.

21. Apex Court in Narbada Prasad vs Chhagan Lal And Ors AIR 1969 SC 393, has held that in an appeal the burden is on the appellant to prove how the judgment under appeal is wrong? He must show where the assessment has gone wrong? In criminal trial Apex Court in Kali Ram vs State Of Himachal Pradesh AIR 1973 SC 2773, has propounded that the onus is upon the prosecution to prove the different ingredients of the offence and unless it discharges that onus, the prosecution cannot succeed. In Partap vs The State of U.P. AIR 1976 SC 966, Apex Court has held that prosecution has to prove case beyond all reasonable doubt whereas accused is to prove only establishing preponderance of probabilities. Though Apex Court in Shankarlal Gyarasilal Dixit vs State Of Maharashtra AIR 1981 SC 765 has propounded that feasibility of defence does not shape prosecution case and suspicion how so strong cannot take place of proof.

22. In present case, prosecution has proved its case. The argument of learned counsel for the appellant that it was single testimony of prosecutrix on the basis of which this judgment of conviction has been passed, is not of any weight because repeatedly this Court as well as Apex Court has propounded that even a singly testimony, which is unimpeachable, proves case beyond doubt, case of prosecution is not to be thrown out. Apex Court Veer Singh and another Vs. State of U.P., 2014 (84) ACC 681 at para 17 has propounded - "Legal system has laid emphasis on value, weight and quality of evidence rather than on quantity, multiplicity or plurality of witnesses. It is not the number of witnesses, but, quality of their evidence which is important, as there is no requirement under the law of evidence, that any particular number of witness is to be examined to prove/disapprove a fact. Evidence must be weighed and not counted. It is quality and not quantity which determines the adequacy of evidence, as has been provided, under Section 134 of Evidence Act. As a general rule, Court can and may act on the testimony of a single witness provided he is wholly reliable". In this case, itself Court has propounded "testimony of a witness cogent, credible and trustworthy, having ring of truth, deserve its acceptance." In the present case, testimony of prosecutrix corroborated with unimpeachable testimony of PW-2 informant is cogent, credible and trustworthy, having ring of acceptance. Accordingly, judgment of conviction is fully based on evidence placed on record. There was no illegality or irregularity in passing of judgment of conviction regarding charge leveled for offence punishable under Sections 363 and 376 of I.P.C. Regarding Section 366 I.P.C., charge was not proved.

23. Learned counsel for convict-appellant vehemently argued about sentence, being highly excessive and not in commensurate with degree of offence. Regarding, Section 363 I.P.C., the punishment provided is up to seven years whereas trial Court has awarded sentence of three years, which is well commensurate to offence. It is neither excessive nor unwarranted.

24. Regarding Section 376 I.P.C., the minimum sentence provided for offence of rape is seven years and in case of punishment, less than seven years, Court is required to write reasons being adequate and special reasons to be mentioned in the judgment for imposing a sentence of imprisonment for a term less than seven years.

25. Apex Court in Gopal Singh vs State Of Uttarakhand (2013) 3 SCC (Cri) 608 has propounded:-

"Just punishment is the collective cry of the society. While the collective cry has to be kept uppermost in the mind, simultaneously the principle of proportionality between the crime and punishment cannot be totally brushed aside. The principle of just punishment is the bedrock of sentencing in respect of a criminal offence. A punishment should not be disproportionately excessive. The concept of proportionality allows a significant discretion to the Judge but the same has to be guided by certain principles. In certain cases, the nature of culpability, the antecedents of the accused, the factum of age, the potentiality of the convict to become a criminal in future, capability of his reformation and to lead an acceptable life in the prevalent milieu, the effect - propensity to become a social threat or nuisance, and sometimes lapse of time in the commission of the crime and his conduct in the interregnum bearing in mind the nature of the offence, etc. etc."

26 . Though in a case of rape, when an adult commits rape on a girl of tender age, deterrent punishment is called for, taking a lenient view is out of question. Once a person is convicted for offence of rape, he should be treated with heavy hands and undeserved indulgence or liberal attitude in not awarding adequate sentence is improper. As per law laid down by Apex Court in State of U.P. vs. Babu Lal, AIR 2008 SC 582, the adequate and proper sentencing is to be made. In the present case, convict-appellant has been sentenced with ten years rigorous imprisonment whereas award of eight years and fine of Rs. 10,000/-, and in default two years rigorous imprisonment will proved to be adequate sentence under Section 376 of I.P.C.

27. Accordingly, this appeal is to be partly allowed regarding conviction for setting aside conviction and sentence for offence punishable under Section 366 I.P.C., hence, the conviction and sentence awarded by trial Court is being amended as follows:-

Order

(1) Convict-appellant Yogendra @ Teetu is being convicted for offence punishable under Section 363 and 376 I.P.C. He is being sentenced with three years rigorous imprisonment and fine of Rs. 3,000/-, and in default six months additional rigorous imprisonment for offence punishable under Section 363 I.P.C. He is further being sentenced with rigorous imprisonment of eight years and fine of Rs. 10,000/-, and in default two years rigorous imprisonment for offence punishable under Section 376 I.P.C.

(2) Both of above sentences shall run concurrently and convict-appellant will be benefited with adjustment of previous imprisonment in this case crime number under Section 428 of I.P.C. He is being acquitted of the charge leveled for offence punishable under Section 366 of I.P.C.

(3) Copy of the judgment along with lower Court record be transmitted to trial Court for amendment of warrant of conviction and sentence as per above conviction and sentence and for follow up action.

1. This Jail Appeal has been filed by accused-appellant-Ram Naresh alias Chunnu Gaur, Dinesh alias Tunnu Gaur and Baniya alias Rajesh through Jail Superintendent, Bijnor against judgement and order dated 08.07.2011 passed by Additional Sessions Judge / Special Judge, Bijnor, in Sessions Trial No. 987 of 2010 (State v. Ram Naresh alias Chunnu Gaur and Others, Case Crime No. 97 of 2010) under Sections 302/34, 394, 411 IPC, Police Station Nangal, District Bijnor convicting all three accused-appellants under Sections 302/34, 394, 411 IPC and sentenced them under Section 302/34 IPC to undergo for life imprisonment and Rs. 10,000/-. In default of fine, they shall further undergo six months' imprisonment; under Section 394 IPC for R.I. of five years and fine of Rs. 2,000/-; in default of fine, they shall further undergo two months R.I.; and under Section 411 IPC for R.I. of two years and fine of Rs. 1000/- and in default of fine, they shall further undergo one month.

2. Prosecution story, in brief, is that on 22.09.2010, PW-1 Katar Singh made a written Tehrir Ex. Ka-1 in the Police Station concerned stating that a dead body of one young unknown person was seen, lying in the Sugarcane field near tube-well of PW-1. Its head was bleeding. There was a stone nearby the body. PW-1 suspected that he was killed by someone.

3. On the basis of Written Tehrir Ex Ka-1, chick FIR, Ex. Ka-19 was registered in Police Station concerned by Constable Clerk as Case Crime No. 97 of 2010, under Section 302 IPC against unknown accused person, entry whereof was made in General Diary, copy whereof is Ex. Ka-20 on record.

4. PW-7 commenced investigation, proceeded to spot, visited the same and prepared Site Plan Ex.Ka-13, collected blood stained and simple earth, prepared memo Ex.Ka-15. After completing entire formalities of investigation, he submitted charge-sheet Ex. Ka-17 against accused persons.

5. PW-6, under the dictation of PW-7, held inquest over dead body of unknown person, later on identified as Ajay, and prepared inquest report Ex.Ka-6 and other relevant papers thereto, body was duly sealed and sent for postmortem.

6. PW-5 Dr. Anil Kumar Agarwal conducted autopsy of dead body of Ajay, aged about 24 years, son of Ramlal Jaiswal and prepared postmortem report Ex. Ka-2, expressing his opinion that death was possible at about 1-2 days prior to postmortem due to coma and hemorrhage on account of ante-mortem injuries, Doctor found following ante-mortem injuries on the body of deceased, which read as under :-

i. Lacerated wound 2cm x 1cm on the right eyebrow.

ii. Lacerated wound 3cm x 1cm on the right side of the head above 6 cm right ear.

iii. Lacerated wound 6cm x 2cm on the ocipital region.

iv. Lacerated wound 3 cm x1 cm on the left side of face on the mandible region.

7. Case, being exclusively triable by Court of Sessions, was committed to Sessions Judge. After making compliance under Section 207 Cr.P.C. by Chief Judicial Magistrate concerned, case was committed to Sessions Judge, Bijnor.

8. Trial Court framed charges on 29.01.2011 against accused Ramnaresh and Baniya alias Rajesh under Sections 302/34 and 394 IPC and accused-Dinesh under Sections 302/34, 394 and 411 IPC respectively, which reads as under :-

(A) "I, S.C. Batra, Sessions Judge, Bijnor, do hereby charge you Ramnaresh @ Chunnu Gaur, and Baniya @ Rajesh @ Mohan @ Babu as follows :

Firstly*-That both of you along with co-accused Dinesh @ Dunnu Gaur on the intervening night of 21/22.9.2010 at some unknown time in the sugarcane field of one Katar Singh of Jangal village Jeetpur Khas, P.S. Nangal, District Bijnor in furtherance of your common intention knowingly in intentionally did commit murder by causing the death of Ajay and thereby you committed an offence punishable under Section 302 read with Section 34 I.P.C. and within the cognizance of this Court.*

Secondly*- That both of you along co-accused Dinesh @ Dunnu Gaur* on the aforesaid date, time and place committed loot of mobile phone (Nokia), and Rs. 1000/- cash from Ajay in committed murder of said Ajay and thereby you committed an offence punishable under Section 394 I.P.C. and within the cognizance of this Court.

And I hereby direct that you be tried on the said charge."

(B) I, S.C. Batra, Sessions Judge, Bijnor, do hereby charge you Dinesh @ Dunu Gaur as follows :

Firstly*-That you along with co-accused Ramnaresh @ Chuunu Gaur and Baniya @ Rajesh @ Mohan @ Babu on the intervening night of 21/22.9.2010 at some unknown time in the sugarcane field of one Katar Singh of Jangal village Jeetpur Khas, P.S. Nangal, District Bijnor in furtherance of your common intention knowingly and intentionally did commit murder by causing the death of Ajay and thereby you committed an offence punishable under Section 302 read with Section 34 I.P.C. and within the cognizance of this Court.*

Secondly*-That you along co-accused Ramnaresh @ Chunnu Gaur and Baniya @ Rajesh @ Mohan @ Babu on the aforesaid date, time and place committed loot of mobile phone (Nokia), and Rs. 1000/- cash from Ajay and committed murder of said Ajay and thereby you committed an offence punishable under Section 394 I.P.C. and within the cognizance of this Court.*

Thirdly-That on 27.9.2010 at about 8:00 a.m at platform of Railway Station Najibabad, P.S. Najibabad, District Bijnor you dishonestly retained stolen property viz Rs. 440/- and mobile phone (Nokia-1209) belonging to Ajay (deceased), knowing the same, to have been transferred in commission of loot and thereby you committed an offence punishable under Section 411 I.P.C. and within the cognizance of the is Court.

And I hereby direct that you be tried on the said charge."

9. Accused-appellants pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

10. In order to substantiate its case, prosecution examined as many as seven witnesses in the following manner :-

Sr. No.	Name of PW	Nature of witness	Paper proved
1	Katar Singh	Formal	Ex.Ka-1
2	Babu Lal Jaiswal	Fact	-
3	Amit Kumar Jaiswal	Fact	-
4	Chandra Prakash	Formal	Panchnama
5	Dr. Anil Kumar Agarwal	Formal	Ex.Ka-2
6	Madan Pal Singh	Formal	Ex. Ka-6
7	Nanak Chand	Formal	-

11. In the statement under Section 313 recorded by Trial Court, explaining entire evidence and other incriminating circumstances, accused -appellants denied prosecution story in toto. Entire story is said to be wrong, they claimed false implication but did not choose to lead any defence evidence.

12. Ultimately, case came to be heard and decided by Additional Sessions Judge / Special Judge, Bijnor, who after hearing learned counsel for parties and analysing entire evidence (oral and documentary) led by prosecution, found accused-appellants guilty, convicted and sentenced, as stated above.

13. We have heard Sri Noor Mohammad, learned Advocate for appellant 1-Ram Naresh and learned Amicus Curiae for appellants 2 and 3, and Sri M.C. Dixit, learned AGA for State and traveled through record with valuable assistance of learned counsel for parties.

14. Learned counsel for accused-appellants assailed order of conviction and sentence, took us through the record and advanced following submissions :-

i. There is no eye witness of occurrence. Case rests upon the circumstantial evidence i.e. last seen theory and recovery of Mobile.

ii. Accused-appellants have been implicated in the present crime on the basis of disclosure statement of co-accused and recovery of one Mobile allegedly belong to deceased.

iii. There is no motive of incident to accused-appellants to commit present crime.

iv. Prosecution failed to establish the recovery of Mobile allegedly belong to deceased.

v. There are several contradictions in the statements of prosecution witness, which may dent prosecution case.

vi. Prosecution has failed to establish its case beyond reasonable doubt against accused-appellants and they are entitled to get benefit of doubt.

15. Learned A.G.A. vehemently opposed submissions made by learned counsel for accused-appellants, submitted that prosecution case rests upon the circumstantial evidence based on last seen theory and recovery of one Mobile allegedly belong to deceased; there is no reason to witnesses PW-2 and PW-3 to connect accused-appellants falsely in the present case, This is a case of circumstantial evidence, in which, Ajay was assaulted and assassinated by accused-appellants, thus prosecution proved its case beyond all shadow of reasonable doubt and appeal is liable to be dismissed.

16. Although place, time and date of occurrence, nature of injuries found on body of deceased, have not been disputed from the side of accused-appellants but according to learned Advocate they are not responsible for murder of Ajay. Even otherwise from evidence of PW-1, 4, 5, 6 and 7, it is established that Ajay was assassinated at the time, date, place and in the manner, as stated by prosecution.

17. Thus the only question remains for consideration is "whether accused-appellants committed murder of Ajay and Trial Court rightly convicted them or not?"

18. We may now briefly consider evidence led by prosecution. PW-1 is not witness of incident. He deposed that on 22.09.2010 at about 2-2:30 p.m. he went to his tube-well where he saw a dead body of young unknown person in Sugarcane field near Tube-well with a blood stained Danda, one blood stained stone and head was bleeding. He suspected that he was killed by someone with stone, which was lying there. He wrote a Tehrir Ex. Ka-1 and presented in Police Station concerned for information. PW-2 Babulal Jaiswal happens to be Uncle of deceased Ajay, deposed that on 19.09.2010, his nephew Ajay went along with accused Ramnaresh, Dinesh and Baniya to work as labour. Amit told him that on 22.09.2010, Ajay informed him that he along with three accused arrived at Najibabad. Later on, Amit was informed by Police that dead body of Ajay was kept in the district hospital Bijnor. Thereafter, he along with PW-3 and one Kailash came to District Hospital Bijnor and identified the dead body as Ajay and received it. Witness withstood cross-examination in which he admitted that he did not see anybody assaulting Ajay. He did not have any receipt of Mobile, which is alleged to be of Ajay.

19. PW-3, Amit Jaiswal, happens to be younger brother of deceased Ajay, deposed that on 19.09.2010 his brother (victim) came to Chandela from his house along with accused Ramnaresh, Dinesh and Baniya. Thereafter, they came to Najibabad. At that time victim was having Rs. 3,000/-, one Mobile Nokia Type-1269, No. 9977563773. He received the information by Police regarding murder of his brother through telephone on 21.09.2010 whereupon, he along with his uncle Babulal, PW-2, and one Kailash reached in the intervening night of 23/24.09.2010 at District Hospital, Bijnor through Max (a four wheeler vehicle). In District Hospital, he and his uncle identified dead body as that of Ajay. This witness withstood cross-examination in which, he stated that accused Ramnaresh, Dinesh and Baniya took Ajay from his house on 19.09.2010 at about 6:00 a.m. when there was nobody in his house. He did not leave his brother at Railway Station. Nobody has assaulted his brother Ajay before him.

20. According to Advocate for defence, PW-2 and 3 did not see victim Ajay in the association of accused-appellants. PW-2 and 3 are only the witnesses of last seen but they did not clearly state that accused-appellant took victim in their presence or they have last seen victim in the association of accused persons.

21. We are also of the view that both the witnesses PW-2 and 3 did not see Ajay in the company of accused-appellants last time. There is no other evidence to establish the theory of last seen.

22. PW-6 deposed that on 22.09.2010, he was posted in Police Station Nangal. On that day, at about 4:00 p.m., he under the direction of PW-7 held inquest over the dead body of one unknown person, prepared inquest report Ex. Ka-6, handed over dead body to Constable Vijendra and Jaiveer for postmortem. At the time of inquest, two railway tickets, from Allahabad to Najibabad dated 20.09.2010, along with one plain paper containing Mobile No. 9685731879 belonged to PW-3, Amit Jaiswal, were recovered from the right pocket of Pant of deceased. Mobile number was contacted through the Mobile number of S.O., PW-7, and found it belonged to Amit Jaiswal. He was informed whereabouts of deceased who was identified as Ajay. Amit told that victim had gone to Haridwar with Dinesh and his two other colleague for doing service, 3-4 days ago. Thereafter, he along with other Police Officials on the information of Informer, arrived at Najibabad Railway Station and arrested accused-Dinesh and on his search, recovered one Nokia-1209 of black-cocacola colour allegedly belong to deceased without any SIM from right pocket of his Pant. It is further deposed by PW-6 that accused-Dinesh confessed his guilt admitting assassination of Ajay by him along with other two accused-appellants. In cross-examination, witness admitted that during the course of inquest, Amit was contacted by PW-7 and that kind of Mobile can easily be available in market.

23. According to Advocate for defence, Mobile recovered from possession of accused-Dinesh could not be got identified by any witness or any family member of deceased. There is no cogent evidence that Mobile which is said to be recovered from the possession of accused belonged to deceased-Ajay. Witness of recovery of Mobile have also not been produced in the Court, therefore, recovery could not be established by prosecution. We find substance in the submission of learned counsel for accused-appellants for the reasons that Mobile could not be got identified by any of the witness led by prosecution so as to prove that it belong to Ajay. Witness of recovery could be produced by prosecution but not.

24. In case in hand there is no eye witness of occurrence. Case of prosecution rests on circumstantial evidence. There cannot be any dispute as to the well settled proposition that the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn must or "should be" and not merely "may be" fully established. The facts so established should be consistent only with the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explicable through any other hypothesis except that the accused was guilty. Moreover, the circumstances should be conclusive in nature. There must be a chain of evidence so complete so as to not leave any reasonable ground for a conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused, and must show that in all human probability, the offence was committed by the accused.

25. In Hanumant Govind Nargundkar & Anr. v. State of M.P., AIR 1952 SC 343, a basic judgment of Supreme Court on appreciation of evidence, when a case depends only on circumstantial evidence, where Court said:

*"... circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency and they should be such as to exclude every hypothesis but the one proposed to be proved..... it must be such as to show that within all human probability the act must have been done by the accused."

26. In Hukam Singh v. State of Rajasthan, AIR 1977 SC 1063, Court said, where a case rests clearly on circumstantial evidence, inference of guilt can be justified only when all the incriminating facts and circumstances are found to be incompatible with innocence of accused or guilt of any other person.

27. In Sharad Birdhichand Sarda v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 1984 SC 1622, Court, while dealing with a case based on circumstantial evidence, held that onus is on prosecution to prove that chain is complete. Infirmity or lacuna, in prosecution, cannot be cured by false defence or plea. Conditions precedent before conviction, based on circumstantial evidence, must be fully established. Court described following condition precedent :-

(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established. The circumstances concerned 'must or should' and not 'may be' established

(2) the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty.

(3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency.

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved, and

(5) there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused. (emphasis added)

28. In Ashok Kumar Chatterjee v. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 1989 SC 1890, Court said:

"...when a case rests upon circumstantial evidence such evidence must satisfy the following tests :-

(1) the circumstances from which an inference of guilt is sought to be drawn, must be cogently and firmly established;

(2) those circumstances should be of a definite tendency unerringly pointing towards guilt of the accused;

(3) the circumstances, taken cumulatively; should form a chain so complete that there is no escape from the conclusion that within all human probability the crime was committed by the accused and none else; and,

(4) the circumstantial evidence in order to sustain conviction must be complete and incapable of explanation of any other hypothesis than that of the guilt of the accused and such evidence should not only be consistent with the guilt of the accused but should be inconsistent with his innocence."

29. In C. Chenga Reddy and Others v. State of Andhra Pradesh, 1996(10) SCC 193, Court said:

"In a case based on circumstantial evidence, the settled law is that the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is drawn should be fully proved and such circumstances must be conclusive in nature. Moreover, all the circumstances should be complete and there should be no gap left in the chain of evidence. Further, the proved circumstances must be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused and totally inconsistent with his innocence." (emphasis added)

30. In Bodh Raj @ Bodha and Ors. v. State of Jammu and Kashmir, 2002(8) SCC 45 Court said :

"(1) the facts alleged as the basis of any legal inference must be clearly proved and beyond reasonable doubt connected with the factum probandum;

(2) the burden of proof is always on the party who asserts the existence of any fact, which infers legal accountability;

(3) in all cases, whether of direct or circumstantial evidence the best evidence must be adduced which the nature of the case admits;

(4) in order to justify the inference of guilt, the inculpatory facts must be incompatible with the innocence of the accused and incapable of explanation, upon any other reasonable hypothesis than that of his guilt,

*(5) if there be any reasonable doubt of the guilt of the accused, he is entitled as of right to be acquitted."

(emphasis added)

31. The above principle in respect of circumstantial evidence has been reiterated in subsequent authorities also in Shivu and Another v. Registrar General High Court of Karnataka and Another, 2007(4) SCC 713 and Tomaso Bruno v. State of U.P., 2015(7) SCC 178.

32. In the present case, there is no eye witness. None has seen the accused-appellants murdering deceased-Ajay. PW-2 and 3 failed to establish last seen theory. Mobile recovered could not be got proved to be of deceased-Ajay. There is no other evidence on record to connect accused-appellants with the present crime. Hence it can be said that crime could have been committed by somebody else. There is no complete chain of circumstances to indicate that accused-appellants are the only person who murdered Ajay.

33. Looking into entirety of facts and circumstances of the case, as discussed above, we are of the view that Trial Court has not marshalled entire evidence on record with care and caution and is not correct in convicting accused-appellants, solely relying on last seen theory and recovery of Mobile, as stated by prosecution, that too not supported by any other witnesses, overlooking other major contradictions in their evidence and missing chain of circumstantial evidence. In our view, accused-appellants are entitled to benefit of doubt and it cannot be said that prosecution has been successful in proving guilt of accused-appellants beyond reasonable doubt.

34. In the result, appeal succeeds and is allowed. Impugned judgment and order dated 08.07.2011 passed by Additional Sessions Judge / Special Judge, Bijnor, in Sessions Trial No. 987 of 2010 is hereby set aside. Accused-appellants are acquitted of charges leveled against them. They are in jail and shall be released forthwith, if not wanted in any other case.

35. Keeping in view provisions of Section 437-A Cr.P.C., accused-appellants are directed to furnish a personal bond and two sureties before Trial Court to its satisfaction, which shall be effective for a period of six months, along with an undertaking that in event of filing of Special Leave Petition against instant judgment or for grant of leave, appellants on receipt of notice thereof shall appear before Hon'ble Supreme Court.

36. Lower Court record along with a copy of this judgment be sent immediately to District Court concerned for compliance and further necessary action.

37. Before parting, we provide that Sri Noor Mohammad, Advocate, who has appeared as Amicus Curiae for appellants 2 and 3 in present Jail Appeal, shall be paid counsel's fee as Rs. 10,000/-. State Government is directed to ensure payment of aforesaid fee through Additional Legal Remembrancer, posted in the office of Advocate General at Allahabad, without any delay and, in any case, within one month from the date of receipt of copy of this judgment.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.)

1. This Jail Appeal under Section 383 Cr.P.C. has been preferred by accused-appellant Mubarak Ali through Jail Superintendent, Aligarh against judgment and order dated 23.10.2012 passed by Sri Vinod Kumar-II, Additional Session

Judge, Court No. 3, Hathras. By the impugned judgment, accused-appellant has been convicted under Sections 302, 504 and 506 I.P.C. He has been sentenced to undergo life imprisonment under Section 302 Cr.P.C. with a fine of Rs. 5,000/- and in default of payment of fine, he has to further undergo three months additional imprisonment. Further, under Sections 504 and 506 I.P.C. he has been sentenced to undergo 2 years and 7 years Rigorous Imprisonment (hereinafter referred to as "R.I.") respectively. All the sentences were ordered to run concurrently.

2. Prosecution story as evident from First Information Report (hereinafter referred to as "FIR") as well as material available on record are as follows.

3. A written report (Ex.Ka-1) was presented in P.S. Sadabad, District Mahamaya Nagar by PW-1, Sugriva Singh Rawat, on 12.01.2008 stating that he is resident of Nai Basti, Eidgah. Some unsocial elements used to visit the house of his neighbor Mubarak Ali to which Informant, PW-1 had been objecting and on account thereof accused Mubarak Ali bore enmity with Informant's family. On the fateful evening, i.e., 12.01.2008, at about 6.00 PM Informant's son, Manveer Singh, had gone to the shop of Lala for purchasing certain commodities. Accused-appellant Mubarak Ali, resident of Nai Basti, Eidgah, owing to aforesaid enmity, lay in ambush in the way and assaulted his son with knife with intention to kill him. His son raised an alarm, whereupon Informant, his another son, PW-2 Rajveer Singh, Informant's wife, Smt. Phoolwati, PW-3 Bhagwan Das, son of Ram Vilas, resident of village Sarauth, Dilip Sharma, son of Satish Chandra Sharma and several other persons, who were present nearby the place of occurrence, rushed to the spot. Seeing witnesses reaching the spot, accused-appellant inflicted several knife blows and saying that though he (Manveer Singh) escaped that day but would not be saved in future, fled away. PW-1 Informant along with family members and neighbor took injured Manveer Singh to Sadabad Government Hospital in a serious condition. Condition of injured being precarious, he was referred to Agra. Informant then went to Police Station for lodging FIR. On the same day another application (Ex.Ka-2) was also given at Police Station Sadabad to the effect that while carrying injured to Agra for treatment, he succumbed to his injuries at about 8.30 PM near Bhagwan Talkies, Agra.

4. On the basis of written report (Ex.Ka-1), PW-6 Constable Shivpal Singh registered a case at Case Crime No. 16 of 2008 under Sections 504, 506 I.P.C. and prepared chik FIR (Ex.Ka-10). He also made entry of the case in General Diary, a copy of which has been filed in Court as Ex.Ka-11. Immediately on registration of the case, investigation was undertaken by PW-5, S.S.I. Satish Chandra, who proceeded to place of occurrence and, prepared site-plan (Ex.Ka-5). He also took sample of blood and simple earth,packed in separate packs, sealed them and prepared recovery memo (Ex.Ka-3). He prepared inquest report (Ex.Ka-6) on 13.01.2008 in Tehsil Campus, Sadabad. In the opinion of Investigating Officer as well as witnesses of inquest, death had occurred due to injuries sustained by deceased. Thereafter he sealed dead body and sent the same to District Hospital for post mortem after necessary documentation, through Constable Ashok Kumar and Jitendra Kumar.

5. Autopsy on the dead body of deceased Manveer was conducted by PW-4, Dr. A.K. Paliwal on 13.02.2008 at about 1.00 PM. According to Doctor, the deceased was of average body built and aged about 15 years; rigor mortis was present all over the body and about half a day had passed since his death. He found following ante mortem injuries on the person of deceased:

(1) Punctured wound 3.5X2 cm, cavity deep on front of right side of chest, 8 cm below right nipple at 5'O clock position.

(3) abrasion 1 x ½ cm on back of right hand.

6. On internal examination, membranes were found pale. Right pleura was found punctured and clotted blood were present; right lung (lower lobe) punctured; heart was empty; abdominal peritoneum was punctured; abdominal cavity contained clotted blood; teeth 15x15; stomach contained 150 gram pasty food material; lever was punctured; gall bladder was half full; spleen and both kidneys were pale and urinary bladder was empty. In the opinion of Doctor, death was caused due to shock and hemorrhage on account of ante mortem injuries. He prepared post-mortem report (Ex.Ka-4) and after sealing the dead body as well as clothes of deceased (10 in number), he handed over the same to the Constables who had brought the dead body.

7. Subsequently, PW-5, S.I. Satish Chandra was transferred and investigation was undertaken by PW-8 Rakesh Chandra Sharma. He recorded statements of witnesses, arrested the accused and after conclusion of investigation submitted Charge-Sheet No. 18 of 2008 (Ex.Ka-15) in the Court of Chief Judicial Magistrate, Hathras who took cognizance of the offence on 04.03.2008.

8. The case being triable by Court of Sessions, was committed to Sessions Court on 04.04.2008. Learned Sessions Judge, Hathras framed charges against accused-appellant on 26.05.2008 as under:

''मैं, अनन्त कुमार, सत्र न्यायाधीश, हाथरस आप अभियुक्त को निम्न आरोपों से आरोपित करता हूँः–

प्रथम– यह कि दिनांक 12–01–2008 को समय करीब 6.00 बजे शाम स्थान लाला की दुकान स्थित नई बस्ती, ईदगाह, कस्बा सादाबाद जिला हाथरस में आपने साशय व जानबूझकर वादी के पुत्र मनवीर सिंह को छुरा भोंक कर, चोट पहुँचाकर गम्भीर रूप से घायल कर दिया जिसके कारण इलाज के दौरान उसकी मृत्यु हो गयी। इस प्रकार आपने ऐसा मानव वध किया जो हत्या की परिधि में आता है। अतः आपने धारा–302 भा.द.सं. के अन्तर्गत दण्डनीय अपराध कारित किया जो इस न्यायालय के प्रसंज्ञान में हैं।

तृतीय– यह कि उक्त दिनांक, समय व स्थान पर आपने मनवीर सिंह को भविष्य में जान से मारने की धमकी देकर आपराधिक संत्रास कारित किया। इस प्रकार आपने धारा–506 भा.द.

सं. के अन्तर्गत दण्डनीय अपराध कारित किया जो इस न्यायालय के प्रसंज्ञान में है।

एतद्द्वारा आपको निर्देशित किया जाता है कि उक्त आरोप के तहत आपका विचारण इस न्यायालय द्वारा किया जाएगा।''

"I, Anant Kumar, Sessions Judge, Hathras charge you accused Mubarak Ali with the following charges:

Firstly, that you on 12.01.2008 at about 6.00 PM at the Shop of Lala situated in Nai Basti Eidgah, Quasba Sadabad, District Hathras intentionally and deliberately inflicted grievous injuries to Manveer Singh, son of informant by stabbing knife on him, on account of which, during course of treatment, he died. Thereby, you committed homicide which falls within the category of murder and, therefore, you have committed an offence punishable under Section 302 I.P.C. which is within the cognizance of this Court;

Secondly, on the aforesaid date, place and time you intentionally insulted informant's son Manveer Singh knowing that it might have provoked him to break the public peace. Thereby, you have committed an offence punishable under Section 504 I.P.C. and within the cognizance of this Court.

Thirdly on the aforesaid date, place and time, by threatening Manveer to kill him in future, you committed criminal intimidation. Thereby you have committed an offence punishable under Section 506 I.P.C. and within the cognizance of this Court.

I hereby direct you be tried by this Court for the aforesaid charges." (English Translation by Court)

9. The accused-appellant pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried. In support of his case, prosecution examined in all 8 witnesses, out of which PW-1, Sugriva Singh, PW-2 Rajveer Rawat, PW-3 Bhagwan Das and PW-7 Sanjay Singh alias Sanju are witness of fact. Rest are formal witnesses. PW-4 is Dr. A.K. Paliwal, who had conducted autopsy over the dead body of deceased Manveer and has proved Post-mortem report (Ex.Ka-4). PW-5, S.S.I., Satish Chandra is first Investigating Officer, who has proved site plan (Ex.Ka-5), recovery memo (Ex.Ka-3) in respect of blood stained and simple earth' inquest (Ex.Ka-6) and other documents prepared by him. He has also proved material Exhibits before the Court including clothes of the deceased. PW-6 Constable Shivpal Singh had registered FIR at Case Crime No. 16 of 2008 on presentation of written report (Ex.Ka-1) by Informant PW-1 and had prepared chik report and made entry of the crime in General Diary. He has proved copy of chik FIR (Ex.Ka-10) as well as G.D. (Ex.Ka-11). PW-8 Rakesh Chandra Sharma is second Investigating Officer who had arrested the accused-appellant and after conclusion of investigation, submitted charge-sheet (Ex.Ka-15) in Court.

10. After closure of prosecution evidence, statement of accused-appellant under Section 313 Cr.P.C. was recorded. He stated to have been falsely implicated in the case and that prosecution witnesses in connivance with Informant are deposing falsely. He is not aware of the injuries sustained by the deceased. He did not adduce any oral evidence in support of defence.

11. After hearing counsel for parties, Trial Court recorded verdict of conviction against accused-appellant and sentenced him as stated above.

12. Trial Court relied on ocular version of PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3 that incident took place before them and they are witnesses of incident of accused-appellant causing injuries to Manveer which ultimately proved fatal causing his death while he was on the way for Hospital. It has also observed that minor inconsistencies and contradictions were not material and substantial so as to discredit ocular version of aforesaid three witnesses. Witnesses proved that on 12.01.2008 Manveer had gone to the shop of Lala for some purchases at about 6.00 PM when Mubarak Ali caught him and attacked with knife. First attack was taken by Manveer on his hand resulting injury on his hand and second attempt was on his chest. This evidence of PW-1 and PW-2 is duly corroborated by medical evidence also. The mere fact that PW-1 is father and PW-2 is brother of deceased per se is not sufficient to reject oral and ocular testimony of PW-1 and PW-2, in absence of further material to show that any of the aforesaid witnesses has any reason to give false statement and implicate accused-appellant falsely. The above oral evidence is consistent with FIR version. It has also observed that though there is no evidence of availability of light at place of incident, but time of incident being around 6.00 PM in the evening and it is true that some darkness followed in winter season at that point of time but accused-appellant is neighbor of Informant, PW-1 Sugriv Singh, and such person could have been easily recognized even if there is some darkness since person is well known. This fact is not sufficient to discredit the ocular version of witnesses. PW-2 being son of PW-1 was well acquainted with Manveer and, therefore, could have easily identify him even when incident took place in the late evening in winter season, i.e., around 6.00 PM. Site plan also shows that shop of Lala was near the place of incident. It has also relied on discovery of weapon, i.e., knife on the information given by accused-appellant in custody and said knife in forensic examination was found to have stains of human blood.

13. Though in case of eye-witness motive loses its importance but when motive is shown, it has to be proved. PW-1 has clearly said that accused-appellant had a suspicion that his wife used to talk with deceased Manveer Singh and had some illicit relations with him; accused-appellant also had nexus with unsocial elements who use to visit his residence regularly. On this aspect, Court below not find anything otherwise extracted by defence in cross-examination. A person may show a criminal behavior for various reasons and it cannot be said that a particular fact will not cause any reason of enmity or motive to commit a crime. Therefore, Trial Court held that motive was also proved by prosecution witnesses. Though incident took place around 6.00 PM, but Manveer Singh died at around 8.30 when he was being taken to Hospital at Agra. Nature of injuries shows that there was intention of accused-appellant to kill the deceased. Therefore, on the basis of ocular version of PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3; discovery of weapon of crime, i.e., knife on the information given by accused-appellant while in custody and forensic report proving that weapon had human blood on it, Trial Court held that prosecution has successfully proved case beyond reasonable doubt. Accused-appellant in the statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. though denied entire incident and claimed that he was falsely implicated but could give no such reason as to why he was falsely implicated and also did not produce any evidence in defence, hence prosecution case remained un-rebutted.

14. Feeling dissatisfied, accused-appellant has approached this Court through Jail Superintendent by means of this Jail Appeal.

15. Heard Sri Araf Khan, Advocate, assisted by Sri Lihazur Rahman Khan, Advocate, for appellant and Sri Syed Ali Murtaza, learned A.G.A. for State.

16. L earned counsel appearing for appellant argued that Court below has erred in fact and law in convicting and sentencing appellant inasmuch prosecution miserably failed to prove its case beyond doubt; there was no eye witness; evidence of the alleged eye-witnesses has been misread by Court below and there is no evidence to show that appellant attacked the deceased and caused his death. He submitted that FIR is ante time; incident is said to have occurred at 6.00 PM and FIR was lodged at 7.00 PM.; the deceased's father and brother both claimed that they were busy in taking the deceased for Hospital for treatment and this shows that FIR has been lodged subsequently.

17. Learned A.G.A. on the contrary submitted that incident was seen by deceased's father, brother and other witnesses, who deposed in the Court below and no material inconsistency has been found in their statements and coupled with the fact that weapon of crime was recovered by Police on the information given by accused-appellant when in custody clearly prove that it is only the accused-appellant who has committed crime and, therefore, prosecution has successfully proved its case beyond reasonable doubt which has been accepted by Trial Court and looking to the nature of offence, not even adequate but minimum punishment has been awarded, hence, appeal is liable to be dismissed. He further submitted that for the threat caused by appellant to the deceased openly in the market area, he has rightly been convicted under Section 504 and 506 I.P.C.

18. In order to consider the rival submissions, we have to first examine whether PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3's statement can be said to be an ocular testimony of the incident in question.

19. In the FIR, PW-1 said that Manveer went to make some purchases from shop of Lala at around 6.00 PM on 12.01.2008. The accused-appellant lay in ambush and attacked Manveer Singh with knife with an intention to kill him. FIR version further said that Manveer when assaulted by accused-appellant raised alarm and hearing it, Informant, his son Rajveer Singh, wife Smt. Phoolwati and Bhagwan Das and other persons near him ran towards the place of incident. When accused-appellant saw these persons coming, he quickly inflicted knife injuries to Manveer Singh and said that today he was saved but in future he will not and then ran away. This FIR version shows that Informant, his son Rajveer Singh and wife Smt. Phoolwati were not present near shop of Lala or where accused-appellant was hiding and waiting for Manveer. These persons ran towards place of incident when they heard alarm raised by deceased. However, Informant said that when they ran towards Manveer Singh saw accused-appellant inflicting knife injuries on the body of deceased and saying that though he (Manveer Singh) has saved that day but would not be saved in future, fled away. This part of incident was seen by Informant and others.

Informant himself is PW-1 and in cross examination he has said that he was not present at his house when incident took place. His statement in this regard reads as under:

''जिस समय घटना हुई मैं घर पर नहीं था।''

"When the incident took place, I was not at home."

(English Translation by Court)

20. He further submitted that Mubarak Ali was laying in ambush was told to PW-1 by some persons but who those persons are, has not been stated. Therefore, this statement is hearse as details of any such person giving this information has not been disclosed. However, PW-1 has clarified that in his Gali there are only two houses, one of himself and another of Om Prakash. On hearing alarm he ran towards place of incident and accused-appellant inflicted injuries by knife before him and he saw it. He clearly said that two knife injuries were caused upon deceased by appellant. There is not much cross examination on this aspect. Therefore, statement of PW-1 that injuries caused by knife on the body of the deceased which were seen by him remained uncontroverted which also prove FIR version even if other part of statement of PW-1 is not accepted.

21. PW-2 is brother of deceased. He has also stated that hearing alarm raised by Manveer Singh, Informant, Smt. Phoolwati, mother of PW-2; Dilip Sharma and Bhagwan Das ran to the place of incident and saw two knife injuries inflicted by Mubarak Ali, accused-appellant on the body of Manveer Singh, who fell near the shop of Lala after sustaining aforesaid injuries. Appellant, thereafter ran away and could not be caught. PW-2 brought Manveer Singh to Government Hospital, Sadabad where looking to his precarious condition Doctor referred him to Agra and while he was on the way to Hospital at Agra, Manveer Singh succumbed to injuries near Bhagwan Talkies, Agra. Death, therefore, obviously caused due to injuries sustained by Manveer Singh. In the cross-examination, PW-2 said that when he reached place of incident, Manveer Singh had got two injuries, one on the hand and another on the chest, and lot of blood was oozing out. It is argued that PW-2, therefore, is not a witness to the alleged infliction of knife by Mubarak Ali upon Manveer Singh. On the contrary PW-2 only saw Manveer Singh in injured condition when reached the place of incident. Here we find that reply in cross examination is obviously in the context of question asked from witness. The witness in the examination-in-chief said that on hearing alarm he ran towards place of incident from his house. There is a 20 paces distance from house of Informant to place of incident. It is a straight road as is evident from site plan. In the examination-in-chief witness said that when he was running towards deceased after coming out from house he saw accused-appellant inflicting knife injuries upon Manveer Singh and executing a threat that in future he will not be saved, accused-appellant fled away. This evidence is in the time factor when witness was running from his house to the place of incident. In the cross-examination what he said is that when he reached place of incident after covering 20 paces, there he found Manveer Singh in injured condition since by that time accused-appellant had already fled away. If we read this statement of PW-2 in entirety and also in the light of site-plan showing that there is about 20 paces distance from the house to the place of incident, we do not find any inconsistency or material contradiction that PW-2 is not an eye-witness of the injuries caused by accused-appellant on the person of deceased. PW-2 being real brother of Manveer Singh, his conduct was natural in carrying him to Hospital at Sadabad and when Doctor referred injured person to District Hospital, Agra, PW-2 carried him to Hospital at Agra but in the mid way injured died. In our view, ocular testimony of PW-2 of injuries caused by appellant upon Manveer Singh cannot be said to be incorrect or discreditworthy and on the other hand entire evidence is consistent and duly corroborated the FIR version as well as statement of PW-1. Both witness are consistent on the fact that accused-appellant stabbed deceased twice and this is duly corroborated by medical evidence.

22. PW-3, Bhagwan Das, has also given a similar statement and he is also an eye-witness of the incident. He also came to the place of incident and this fact has been corroborated by PW-1 and PW-2 both. His ocular version prove the incident of stabbing by Mubarak Ali. The manner in which two injuries were inflicted by Mubarak Ali has also been stated by PW-3 which is consistent with ocular version of PW-1 and PW-2. The threat extended by Mubarak Ali before running away and the words uttered by him are also corroborated by ocular testimony of PW-1 and PW-2. In the cross-examination though an attempt has been made to prove that he was a chance witness. To this extent we also find that he has come to the residence of Sua Pahalwan for some work which he did not state clearly as to what for he has come though he was resident of another Village Sarauth and Sua Pahalwan was resident of village Karaiya. Even Village Karaiya is about 2 miles from place of incident. While going to Village Karaiya, he followed the way from Sadabad and in between witnessed the said incident. At one place of cross-examination he said that he heard alarm raised by Manveer Singh when he was near water tank and then he reached the place of incident where 10-15 people were present and injured was bleeding. Then he also accompanied injured to Hospital where they reached around 7.00 PM. This part of cross examination of PW-3 shows that he had no occasion to see accused-appellant inflicting injuries by stabbing with knife and on the contrary after hearing alarm when he reached the site 10-15 people were already present. In the light of these facts, we find it difficult to accept testimony of PW-3 as an ocular testimony to the incident of stabbing by knife on Manveer Singh by Mubarak Ali and it appears that PW-3 reached the site after Manveer Singh had fled away and in cross-examination this statement has been given by PW-3 on the information he received but he himself is not an eye witness to this fact. He only saw Manveer Singh in an injured condition and thereafter took him to Hospital wherefrom he was referred to Agra and while in the way Manveer Singh died. Even if this part of statement of PW-3 that he saw Mubarak Ali inflicting knife injuries upon Manveer Singh is excluded still we find that oral testimony of PW-1 and PW-2 on this aspect is very clear and there is no material contradiction to discredit their testimony, and subsequent part is corroborated by PW-3.

23. Then there is another relevant aspect, i.e., discovery of knife used in the crime on the information given by accused-appellant. This fact has been proved by PW-7, Sanjay Singh, who is witness to the recovery memo. An attempt was made to argue that PW-7 was an interesting witness and relative of deceased but this fact has been clearly denied by PW-7.

24. PW-8, Investigating Officer, Rakesh Chandra Sharma, has also proved arrest of appellant on 17.01.2005. When statement of accused was recorded, he gave information and thereafter caused discovery of knife used in the crime. On this aspect we do not find anything extracted by defence in cross examination to discredit the above witness.

25. This part of evidence that weapon used in the crime in question was recovered on the information given by accused-appellant is admissible in evidence under Section 27 of Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (hereinafter referred to as "Act, 1872"). Section 27 of Act, 1872 provides for how much of information received from accused who is in custody of police may be proved. It reads as under:

"27. How much of information received from accused may be proved.-- Provided that, when any fact is deposed to as discovered in consequence of information received from a person accused of any offence, in the custody of a police officer, so much of such information, whether it amounts to a confession or not, as relates distinctly to the fact thereby discovered, may be proved."

26. Aforesaid provision is by way of proviso to Sections 25 and 26 of Act, 1872. An statement even by way of confession made in police custody which distinctly relates to the fact discovered is admissible in evidence against the accused.

27. In Delhi Administration vs. Bal Krishan and Ors., 1972(4) SCC 659 Court said that Section 27 permits proof of so much of information which is given by persons accused of an offence when in custody of a Police Officer as relates distinctly to the fact thereby discovered, irrespective of whether such information amounts to a confession or not. Sections 25 and 26 of Act, 1872 provides that no confession made to a Police Officer whether in custody or not can be proved as against the accused. Section 27, therefore, is proviso to above Sections and statement even by way of confession, which distinctly relates to the fact discovered is admissible as evidence against accused in the circumstances stated in Section 27.

28. In Mohmed Inayatullah vs. The State of Maharashtra, 1976 (1) SCC 828 Court observed that though interpretation and scope of Section 27 has been subject of consideration in several authoritative pronouncement but its application to concrete cases is not always free from difficulty. In order to make its application swift and convenient Court considered the provision again and said:

"12. The expression "Provided that" together with the phrase "whether it amounts to a confession or not" shows that the section is in the nature of an exception to the preceding provisions particularly Sections 25 and 26. It is not necessary in this case to consider if this section qualifies, to any extent, Section 24, also. It will be seen that the first condition necessary for bringing this section in to operation is the discovery of a fact, albeit a relevant fact, in consequence of the information received from a person accused of an offence. The second is that the discovery of such fact must be deposed to. The third is that at the time of the receipt of the information the accused must be in police custody. The last but the most important condition is that only "so much of the information" as relates distinctly to the fact thereby discovered is admissible. The rest of the information has to be excluded. The word "distinctly" means "directly", "indubitably", "strictly", "unmistakably". The word has been advisedly used to limit and define the scope of the provable information. The phrase "distinctly relates to the fact thereby discovered" is the linchpin of the provision. This phrase refers to that part of the information supplied by the accused which is the direct and immediate cause of the discovery. The reason behind this partial lifting of the ban against confessions and statements made to the police, is that if a fact is actually discovered in consequence of information given by the accused, it affords some guarantee of truth of that part, and that part only, of the information which was the clear, immediate and proximate cause of the discovery. No such guarantee or assurance attaches to the rest of the statement which may be indirectly or remotely related to the fact discovered."

29. Idea behind Section 27 has been explained by Court in para 20 of judgment in Bodh Raj @ Bodha and Ors. vs. State of Jammu and Kashmir, 2002(8) SCC 45 as under:

"20. If all that is required to lift the ban be the inclusion in the confession information relating to an object subsequently produced, it seems reasonable to suppose that the persuasive powers of the police will prove equal to the occasion, and that in practice the ban will lose its effect. The object of the provision i.e. Section 27 was to provide for the admission of evidence which but for the existence of the section could not in consequence of the preceding sections, be admitted in evidence. It would appear that under Section 27 as it stands in order to render the evidence leading to discovery of any fact admissible, the information must come from any accused in custody of the police. The requirement of police custody is productive of extremely anomalous results and may lead to the exclusion of much valuable evidence in cases where a person, who is subsequently taken into custody and becomes an accused, after committing a crime meets a police officer or voluntarily goes to him or to the police station and states the circumstances of the crime which lead to the discovery of the dead body, weapon or any other material fact, in consequence of the information thus received from him. This information which is otherwise admissible becomes inadmissible under Section 27 if the information did not come from a person in the custody of a police officer or did come from a person not in the custody of a police officer. The statement which is admissible under Section 27 is the one which is the information leading to discovery. Thus, what is admissible being the information, the same has to be proved and not the opinion formed on it by the police officer. In other words, the exact information given by the accused while in custody which led to recovery of the articles has to be proved. It is, therefore, necessary for the benefit of both the accused and prosecution that information given should be recorded and proved and if not so recorded, the exact information must be adduced through evidence. The basic idea embedded in Section 27 of the Evidence Act is the doctrine of confirmation by subsequent events. The doctrine is founded on the principle that if any fact is discovered as a search made on the strength of any information obtained from a prisoner, such a discovery is a guarantee that the information supplied by the prisoner is true. The information might be confessional or non-exculpatory in nature but if it results in discovery of a fact, it becomes a reliable information. It is now well settled that recovery of an object is not discovery of fact envisaged in the section. Decision of Privy Council in Palukuri Kotayya v. Emperor AIR 1947 PC 67 is the most quoted authority for supporting the interpretation that the "fact discovered" envisaged in the section embraces the place from which the object was produced, the knowledge of the accused as to it, but the information given must relate distinctly to that effect. (see State of Maharashtra v. Danu Gopinath Shirde and Ors. 2000 CriLJ 2301). No doubt, the information permitted to be admitted in evidence is confined to that portion of the information which "distinctly relates to the fact thereby discovered". But the information to get admissibility need not be so truncated as to make it insensible or incomprehensible. The extent of information admitted should be consistent with understandability. Mere statement that the accused led the police and the witnesses to the place where he had concealed the articles is not indicative of the information given." (emphasis added)

30. Similar issue has been considered in a recent judgment of Supreme Court in Criminal Appeal No. 1333 of 2009, Raju Manjhi vs. State of Bihar, decided on 02.08.2018. Therein Court held that Act, 1872 provides that even when an accused being in the custody of police makes a statement that reveals some information leading to the recovery of incriminating material or discovery of any fact concerning to the alleged offence, such statement can be proved against him. Court held that recoveries of used polythene pouches of wine, money, clothes, chains and bangle were all made at the disclosure by the accused which corroborates his confessional statement and proves his guilt and such confessional statement stands and satisfies the test of Section 27 of Act, 1872.

31. In the case in hand, witness has proved the fact that on the information given by accused in custody, weapon of crime was recovered and, therefore, in our view, this fact is admissible in evidence and Court below has rightly taken the same as a relevant admissible evidence.

32. Accused-appellant was given due opportunity of defence but he chose not to give any evidence and under Section 313 Cr.P.C. his reply is evasive.

33. In these entire facts and circumstances, we are clearly of the view that Court below has rightly held that prosecution has successfully proved its case beyond reasonable doubt against accused-appellant.

34. Learned counsel for appellant, however, argued that Smt. Phoolwati, wife of Sugriv Singh, Informant was not examined though PW-1 and PW-2 both claim that she also reached with them at the site of incident simultaneously.

Besides, Dilip Sharma was also not examined.

35. We find no substance in the above argument for the reason that it is not the number of witnesses, but their quality which is material. Non examination of one or more witnesses will not help an accused if the evidence adduced by prosecution is sufficient to prove the charge leveled against accused-appellant and, therefore, non examination of any witness per se will not be of any assistance to accused-appellant.

36. With regard to ante-timing of FIR, we find that initially Manveer Singh sustained serious injuries and he was taken to Hospital at Sadabad where, as per PW-3, they reached at about 7.00 PM when Doctor did not administer any treatment and looking to severity of injuries immediately referred them to Agra. Brother of Manveer, by a private vehicle, proceeded for Agra. In the meantime, father of deceased, PW-1, initially lodged report at Sadabad Police Station at around 7.00 PM. When distance of Police Station is about one kilometer it cannot be said that FIR is ante time. Time is mentioned approximately and when such an incident has occurred, it is not expected that every person will be taking steps by noticing exact time with a close observation of watch. Initially, report is that of an injury and that is why it was registered under Section 307, 504 and 506 I.P.C. but when Manveer Singh died at around 8.30 on the same day and his brother communicated this fact by phone to Informant, he gave this information to Police on the same day by Ex.Ka-2 and thereafter case was registered under Section 302, 504 and 506 I.P.C.

37. Looking into the evidence as discussed above there can be no doubt that it is only appellant who has committed crime in question.

38. No argument has been advanced on conviction and sentence under Section 504 and 506 I.P.C. but we have examined this aspect also. Evidence of PW-1 and PW-2, which we have already discussed above, conviction of accused-appellant under Section 504 and 506 I.P.C. also is duly proved by evidence and Trial Court has rightly given a verdict of conviction.

39. Now coming to the question of sentence, it is a matter of common knowledge that punishment should be adequate and in this regard various factors need be considered. In the present case, accused-appellant has been found guilty of murder and has committed a crime under Section 302 I.P.C. where minimum punishment is life imprisonment, therefore, punishment awarded to accused-appellant under Section 302 I.P.C. cannot be said to be illegal, erroneous or excessive. The punishment imposed upon accused-appellant under Section 504 and 506 I.P.C. also cannot be said to be excessive or unjust considering the entire evidence, as we have already discussed above. Impugned judgment and order passed by Trial Court, therefore, deserves to be affirmed.

40. In view of above discussion, the appeal is dismissed. Impugned judgment and order dated 23.10.2012 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 3, Hathras in Session Trial No. 162 of 2008 (State Vs. Mubarak Ali) relating to Case Crime No. 16 of 2008, under Sections 302, 504, 506 I.P.C., Police Station Sadabad, District Hathras awarding sentence of imprisonment for life with a fine of Rs. 5,000-/ to accused-appellant for the offence under Section 302 I.P.C., 2 years rigorous imprisonment for the offence under Section 504 I.P.C. and 7 years rigorous imprisonment for the offence under Section 506 I.P.C. is hereby maintained and confirmed.

41. Lower Court record alongwith a copy of this judgment be sent back immediately to Court concerned for necessary compliance. Copy of judgment be also sent to accused-appellant through the Jail Superintendent concerned for intimation forthwith.

THE HON'BLE SUDHIR AGARWAL, J.
THE HON'BLE RAJENDRA KUMAR-IV, J.

Jail Appeal No. 1338 of 2012

Sewak ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Appellant:
From Jail, Sri Radheshyam Yadav (A.C.)

Counsel for the Opposite Party:
A.G.A.

A. Indian Penal Code, 1860 - Section 304 - Appeal against conviction.

Prosecution has brought this case before Court, as a case of direct evidence, but Trial Court, on the failure of prosecution case as direct evidence, turned it as a case of circumstantial evidence and considering the case of circumstantial evidence and convicted and sentenced accused-appellant on the basis of surmises flouting all judicial principles. (Para 30)

Neither formal witnesses nor eye witnesses supported prosecution case. There is no iota of evidence against accused-appellant to connect him with present crime or holding him guilty. (Para 29)

Jail Appeal allowed (E-2)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajendra Kumar-IV, J.)

1. Accused-appellant stood for trial in Sessions Trial No. 27 of 2009 (State v. Sewak, Case Crime No. 320 of 2008), under Section 304 IPC, Police Station Shivpur, District Varanasi, in the Court of Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No.5, Varanasi and came to be convicted by said Court, vide judgment and order dated 07.12.2011, sentencing him under Section 304 IPC to undergo imprisonment for life and fine of Rs. 50,000/-. In default of payment of fine, he shall further undergo six months' additional imprisonment. Appellant sought interference of this Court by filing this Jail Appeal from Jail through Jail Superintendent concerned.

2. Prosecution story, in brief, as came out from First Information Report (hereinafter referred to as 'FIR') and factual matrix of the case is that accused-appellant and victim-Raja Ram were detained in Central Jail, Varansi in respective cases. On 14/15.09.2008 at about 1:00 am (mid-night), prisoner-Sewak attacked victim-Rajaram with brick. Resultantly, victim sustained serious injuries on his nose and head. He was admitted in Jail Hospital but no improvement shown, hence, on 15.09.2008, he was referred to Pandit Deen Dayal Upadhyay Hospital for better treatment. On the same day, he was further referred to Shiv Prasad Gupt, Regional Hospital, Varanasi. During treatment, on 16-17.09.2008 at about 12:20 (midnight) victim-Rajaram succumbed to injuries.

3. PW-1 submitted typed written report Ex.Ka-1 through Kundan Singh (not examined) to Station House Officer, Police Station Shivpur to lodge FIR against accused-appellant. Deceased was undergoing imprisonment under Section 302 IPC in Central Jail Varanasi. PW-1, on 17.09.2008, sent another typed communication Ex.Ka-2 to Additional City Magistrate, Varanasi requesting him to conduct inquest over the dead body deceased. Both communications were also sent to Senior Officers concerned.

4. On the basis of written report Ex.Ka-1, chick FIR, Ex.Ka-4 was registered by Constable of Police Station concerned, as Case Crime No. 320 of 2008, under Section 304, IPC against accused-appellant. Entry of case was made in General Diary. Copy whereof is Ex. Ka-5.

5. PW-8, Indrasan Singh, Additional City Magistrate held inquest on the dead body of Raja Ram, got prepared inquest report Ex Ka-2 and other papers relating thereto, and sent body for postmortem.

6. PW-10, Dr. Manoj Kumar Pathak along with Dr. S.D. Verma (not examined) conducted autopsy over dead body of prisoner Rajram and prepared postmortem report Ex. Ka-11, expressing his opinion that death was possible at about 27 hours prior to postmortem due to coma and brain hemorrhage on account of serious head injuries. Doctor found following ante-mortem injuries :-

i. Lacerated wound 1cm x 3/4cm x scalp deep on the right side of forehead 2cm above right eyebrow and 4cm outer to midline.

ii. Stitch wound 3cm long on the right side of forehead 1cm above right eyebrow and 4cm outer to midline.

iii. Stitch wound 1cm in length present on left side of nose.

iv. Contusion 20cm x 11cm on the right side of face and forehead.

7 . PW-9, SI Chandra Kant Singh, commenced investigation, proceeded to spot, recorded statement of witnesses, visited place of incident, prepared site plan, Ex. Ka-9, and collected blood stained and simple earth from spot. Thereafter, he was transferred and further investigation was undertaken by SI R.N. Pandey who recorded statement of witnesses of inquest and statement of accused-appellant and after completing entire formalities of investigation, submitted charge-sheet, Ex.Ka-10, against the accused-appellant.

8. Case, being exclusively triable by Court of Sessions, was committed to Sessions Judge, wherefrom, it was transferred to Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No.5, Varanasi for disposal in accordance with law.

9. Trial Court framed charge on 16.04.2011 against accused-appellant under Section 304 IPC, which reads as under :-

"आरोप

मैं नरेन्द्र देव मिश्र, अपर सत्र न्यायाधीश, न्यायालय संख्या–5, वाराणसी अभियुक्त सेवक पर निम्नांकित आरोप लगाता हूँ:–

"I, Narendra Dev Mishra, Additional Sessions Judge, Court Number-5, Varanasi charge accused Sewak with following charges :-

That at 1.00 o'clock in the night of 14/15-9-2008, in Barrack No.-1, Chakra No.-4 of Central Jail, Varanasi under Police Station- Shivpur, District- Varanasi, you, in prosecution of your common object, attacked on the head of convicted prisoner Rajaram by brick with an intention to kill him and caused fatal injuries; in consequence whereof aforesaid Rajaram died during treatment. Thus you have committed such offence which is an offence punishable under Section 304 of Indian Penal Code and it is in the cognizance of this court.

Therefore it is hereby directed that you be tried by this court for aforesaid charge."

(English Translation by Court)

10. Accused-appellant pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

11. In order to substantiate its case, prosecution examined as many as ten witnesses, out of whom PW-1, 2, 8, 9, and 10 are formal in nature and PW-3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 are witness of fact.

Sr. No.	Name of PWs	Nature of witness	Paper proved
1	Suresh Chandra	Formal	Ex. Ka-1 and 2
2	S.N. Dwivedi	Formal	Nil
3	Ramayan Giri	Fact	Nil
4	Shyam Deo	Fact	Nil
5	Putti Lal	Fact	Nil
6	Angad Dhobi	Fact	Nil
7	Sri Prakash Rai	Fact	Nil
8	Indrasan Singh	Formal	Ex.Ka-2,3,4,5,6,7 and 8
9	SI Chandra Kant Singh	Formal	Ex.Ka-9 and 10
10	Dr. Manoj Kumar Pathak	Formal	Ex.Ka-11

12. Statement, under Section 313, was recorded by Trial Court explaining entire evidence and other incriminating circumstances. Accused -appellant denied prosecution story in toto. Entire story is said to be wrong, he claimed false implication in the case and produced DW-1 and DW-2 in defence evidence.

13. unsel for parties and analysing entire evidence (oral and documentary) led by prosecution, found accused guilty, convicted and sentenced him, as stated above.

14. Sri Radhey Shyam Yadav, learned Amicus Curiae assailed impugned order of conviction and sentence, advancing following submissions :-

i. Evidently, incident took place in the mid-night in Central Jail Varnasi, where a number prisnors were detained but no one has come forward to support the prosecution case.

ii. PW-1 and 2 are not the witnesses of fact. As per prosecution story, they were not present on the spot at the time of incident.

iii. PW-3 to 6 are said to be witnesses of fact but they have not supported prosecution case and turned hostile.

iv. PW-8, 9 and 10 are formal witnesses.

v. DW-1 and 2 have not been considered properly by Trial Court. It has convicted accused-appellant on the basis of surmises. Trial Court did not appreciate evidence on record in right perspective and without application of mind convicted the accused-appellant wrongly.

vi. Impugned judgment is based on no evidence and liable to be set aside.

15. Learned AGA opposed submissions advanced by learned Amicus Curiae and submitted that accused-appellant is named in FIR. Admittedly, accused and deceased were detained in the same Barack and quarrel started between them, which resulted in death of victim. It is further submitted by him that Trial Court has rightly convicted accused-appellant.

16. Although time, date, place, nature of injuries found on the person of deceased and caused death, as stated by prosecution, could not be disputed from the side of accused but according to learned counsel for accused-appellant, he is not responsible for causing death of victim-Raja Ram. Even otherwise, from the evidence of prosecution, time, date place and death of victim stood established.

17. In the present case, only question remains for consideration is "Whether accused-appellant-Sewak is responsible for causing death of victim-Raja Ram or not?" and " Whenter Trial Court rightly convicted him or not?"

18. Now, we proceed to consider evidence of prosecution.

19. PW-1 Suresh Chandra, Senior Superintendent of Central Jail, Varanasi deposed that in the mid-night of 14/15.09.2008, accused-appellant-Sewak assaulted Raja Ram with brick, due to which, he sustained injureis on his nose and head. Victim was admitted in Jail Hospital, where from, he was referred to Deen Dayal Upadhyay Hospital for better treatment. On the same date, victim was further referred to Shiv Prasad Gupt, Regional Hospital, Varanasi, where he underwent treatment. During treatment, victim-Raja Ram breathed last in the intervening night of 16/17.09.2008. He further deposed that on receiving information about death of victim, he submitted a written report Ex.Ka-1 through Kundan Singh, Deputy Jailer to Police Station concerned. He further deposed that deceased Raja Ram, a convict under Section 302 IPC was transferred from District Jail, Gonda. In cross examination, at page No. 23 of Paper-book, witness admitted that he had received telephonic information of incident, through Kundan Singh, Deputy Jailer at 1:45 am. When he received information, he visited spot and saw that there was injury on neck and forehead of victim and it was bleeding. Witness further deposed that after death of Raja Ram, during investigation, accused-appellant told him that Raja Ram used to abuse him continuously, therefore, he attacked him with brick. This statement of PW-1 appears to be a development because it has come into light about three years after incident and it finds no place in Ex.Ka-1.

20. PW-2, S.N. Dwivedi, deposed that in 2008, he was posted as Jailer in Central Jail, Varanasi. He was on leave on the day of incident. When he returned from leave, he came to know about incident.

21. PW-3, Ramayan Giri, deposed that on the fateful day, he was detained in Central Jail. He was sleeping on his bed No. 58 in the night of incident. At about 1:00 am, he woke up on hearing noise and saw that victim-Raja Ram was lying in injured position and many persons of Barack were present. He did not see accused-appellant-Sewak assaulting victim-Raja Ram. Witness was declared hostile on the request of prosecution and he has been cross-examined by State but nothing material could be brought so as to disbelieve his statement upon oath in examination-in-chief.

22. PW-4, Shyam Deo, deposed that he was sleeping on his bed No. 52 in the intervening night of 14/15.09.2008 and detained since 2006. In same Barack, accused-Sewak and victim-Raja Ram (both convict) were also present. At 1:00 am in night, he woke up on hearing noise and saw that there was a crowed in Barrack and victim-Raja Ram was injured. He did not see anybody attacking him. Witness was declared hostile on the request of prosecution and cross-examined by State but nothing material could be brought so as to disbelieve his statement upon oath in examination-in-chief.

23. PW-5, Putti Lal, deposed that he was in Central Jail since 2005. Accused-Sewak and victim-Raja Ram were detained in same Barrack. At about 1:00 pm, in intervening night of 14/15.09.2008, he was sleeping in Barrack. On hearing noise, he saw there were many persons in Barrack and victim-Raja Ram was lying in injured position. He did not see anybody attacking Raja Ram. He did not know how Raja Ram was injured. Witness was declared hostile on the request of prosecution and cross-examined by State but nothing material could be brought so as to disbelieve his statement upon oath in examination-in-chief.

24. PW-6, Angad Dhobi, deposed that in the intervening night of 14/15.09.2008, he was deputed to supervise circle No.4. He was also a convict in Jail. At about 1:00 am, in the intervening night, he went toilet, when he heard noise. He came from toilet and saw that victim-Raja Ram was injured and mouth was bleeding. He did not see anybody assaulting him. Witness was declared hostile on the request of prosecution and cross-examined by State but nothing material could be brought so as to disbelieve his statement upon oath in examination-in-chief.

25. PW-7, Prakash Rai, deposed that he was detained as convict in Central Jail, Varanasi in September 2008 and deputed as Chaukidar as convict. He did not see anybody assaulting victim-Raja Ram who has been injured in incident. Witness was declared hostile on the request of prosecution and cross-examined by State but nothing material could be brought so as to disbelieve his statement upon oath in examination-in-chief.

26. PW-8, Indrasan Singh, Additional City Magistrate, is an officer who held inquest over dead body of deceased-Raja Ram. Witness prepared inquest report Ex.Ka-2 and relevant papers relating thereto.

27. PW-9, SI Chandra Kant Singh, Investigating Officer of case conducted investigation and proved charge-sheet. PW-10, Dr. Manoj Kumar Pathak, conducted autopsy of dead body of deceased-Raja Ram and prepared postmortem report, Ex.Ka-11.

28. DW-1, Loha Singh, and DW-2, Sahab Patel, both convict and detained in Central Jail, Varanasi, at the time of incident, established that victim-Raja Ram and accused-appellant-Sewak were good friends. They had good relations among them. They further deposed that, at about 1:00 am, in the intervening night, they woke up on hearing noise and saw that some bricks fell down from damaged roof, where Raja Ram slept and he sustained injuries on his nose, head and mouth. These witnesses withstood lengthy cross-examination but unblemished.

29. PW-1 and PW-2, although, officers of Jail, did not speak anything against accused-appellant in their deposition. They were not present on the spot, at the time of incident. PW-8 to 10 are formal witnesses. PW-3 to 7, who were said to be present on the spot, as eye witnesses but none of them supported prosecution case. They did not say single word in their deposition against accused-appellant to implicate him. DW-1 and 2 disclosed a separate story that due to dilapidated condition of Barrack, incident happened. There is nothing on record so as to disbelieve their statements. There is no iota of evidence against accused-appellant to connect him with present crime or holding him guilty.

30. Prosecution has brought this case before Court, as a case of direct evidence, but Trial Court, on the failure of prosecution case as direct evidence, turned it as a case of circumstantial evidence and considering the case of circumstantial evidence and ignoring all principles laid down by Hon'ble Courts convicted and sentenced accused-appellant on the basis of surmises flouting all judicial principles.

31. We have deeply considered entire evidence available on file to connect accused-appellant with present crime but find no iota of evidence to hold accused-appellant guilty.

32. We are surprised as to how without any incriminating circumstances and evidence, Trial Court has sentenced accused-appellant in a serious offence. Sentencing of accused-appellant in this manner erodes a public faith on judicial system.

33. Considering the entire facts and circumstances and evidence led by the prosecution, in entirety, we do not find any cogent and convincing evidence against accused-appellant to connect him with present crime and, in our considered opinion, accused-appellant is entitled to be acquitted.

34. Appeal is, accordingly, allowed. Impugned judgment and order dated 07.12.2011 passed, in Sessions Trial No. 27 of 2009 (State v. Sewak, Case Crime No. 320 of 2008), under Section 304 IPC, Police Station Shivpur, District Varanasi, is hereby set aside. Appellant is acquitted of charges levelled against him. He is in jail and shall be released forthwith, if not wanted in any other case.

35. Keeping in view provisions of Section 437-A Cr.P.C., appellant is directed to furnish a personal bond and two sureties before Trial Court to its satisfaction, which shall be effective for a period of six months, along with an undertaking that in event of filing of Special Leave Petition against instant judgment or for grant of leave, appellant on receipt of notice thereof shall appear before Hon'ble Supreme Court.

36. Lower Court record along with a copy of this judgment be sent back immediately to District Court concerned for compliance and further necessary action.

37. Before parting, we provide that Sri Radhey Shyam Yadav, Amicus Curiae for appellant in present Jail Appeal, shall be paid counsel's fee as Rs. 11,500/-. State Government is directed to ensure payment of aforesaid fee through Additional Legal Remembrancer, posted in the office of Advocate General at Allahabad, without any delay and, in any case, within one month from the date of receipt of copy of this judgment.

A. Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Sections 118 and 134 - Neither number of witness required to prove a fact nor evidence of a witness can be rejected only on the ground of his relationship with the victim. The whole prosecution case can be proved by a single witness if evidence is natural and trustworthy.

It is a general rule that Court can and may act on the testimony of a single witness provided he is wholly reliable. There is no legal impediment in convicting a person on the sole testimony of a single witness. Test is whether evidence has a ring of truth, cogent, credible and trustworthy or otherwise. Witnesses are closed relatives of victim, their testimonies cannot be discarded. (Para 31 & 41)

B. Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 118 - Marginal variations in the statement of a witness cannot be dubbed as improvements as the same may be elaborations of the statements made earlier. Natural, minor contradictions and discrepancies in comparison to the statement recorded during examination-in-chief which do not go to the root of case, to be overlooked.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajendra Kumar-IV, J.)

1. Both the aforesaid appeals arise out of a common judgement and order dated 01.10.2003 passed by Sri Rang Nath Pandey, Additional Sessions Judge, F.T.C. No.3, Muzaffar Nagar in Session Trial No.30 of 2003 (State versus Devendra and Rajpal), Police Station Bhaurakala, District Muzaffar Nagar convicting accused persons under Sections 364-A/34 and sentencing them to undergo rigorous imprisonment for life and also to pay a fine of Rs.1000/- each. In the event of default of payment of fine, they have to undergo three months additional rigorous imprisonment. Therefore, both these appeals are being decided by this common judgement.

2. From record, it appears that initially Jail Appeal No. 5871 of 2003 was filed through Superintendent, District Jail, Muzaffar Nagar on behalf of accused Devendra and the same was admitted on 18.11.2003. Thereafter on 29.10.2003, Criminal Appeal No.5422 of 2003 was filed by Advocate Nasiruzzaman on behalf of same accused Devendra, which was admitted by this Court on 30.10.2003 and in this criminal appeal accused-appellant Devendra has been granted bail vide order dated 18.12.2003.

3. It is also relevant to mention here that co-accused Rajpal has filed Criminal Appeal No.5057 of 2003. During pendency of appeal Rajpal died, therefore, his appeal has abated vide order dated 12.02.2019 by this Court.

4 . Brief facts giving rise to the present appeal may be stated as under:-

5. A written report Ex.Ka-1 dated 02.10.2002 was presented by PW-1 Virendra Kumar Sharma at Police Station Bhaurakala, District Muzaffar Nagar, stating that his servant Devendra Kumar was living in his house for one and half months. Accused-appellant and one Rajpal son of Munshi Kumhar, at about 08:00 AM on 02.10.2002, had kidnapped his grand-daughter Mini (daughter of Sanjeev Kumar), aged about one and half years for ransom. Karan Sing and Jagendra of the same village witnessed them with Mini, boarding in the bus. Thereafter at about 09:00 AM, accused-appellant Devendra made a phone to Shahdeen at his PCO Phone No.58081 and told that he was leaving service and his shirt is hung in his Baithak, in the pocket whereof, there is a letter. On being intimated by Shahdeen, Informant took out the letter from his shirt and read it, wherein Rs.2,00,000/- was demanded.

6. On the basis of said written report Ex.ka-1; chick FIR Ex.Ka-13 was prepared by Constable Clerk Satyaveer Tyagi and registered the case as Case Crime No.88 of 2002, under Section 364-A IPC; entry of the case was made in General Diary (hereinafter referred to as "GD") by the same Clerk, copy whereof is Ex.Ka-14.

7. Abducted victim (Mini) was recovered from the possession of accused Devendra by PW-4 Sushil Kumar at Old Delhi, Railway Station.

8. Immediately after registration of case, investigation was undertaken by PW-5 SI M.M. Chaudhary who commenced investigation, took necessary papers; recorded statements of witnesses; went to spot and prepared site plan Ex.Ka-3; recorded statement of accused-appellant who was taken to Police Station by complainant himself; thereafter took letter written by Devendra in his custody, prepared fard thereof Ex.Ka-4; recorded statement of Sushil Sharma, Shardar Amar Jeet Singh, Chandralal, Neeraj, Shahdeen, Sanjay @ Sanjeev and Neetu @ Neeraj; sent letter written by accused Devendra, his specimen writing to FSL, Agra for examination.

9. After completing entire formalities of investigation, PW-5 SI M.M. Chaudhary submitted charge sheet, Ex.Ka-12, in the Court of Magistrate against Rajpal and accused-appellant Devendra under Section 364-A IPC.

10. Cognizance of the offence was taken by Magistrate concerned. After making compliance of Section 207 Cr.P.C., Magistrate committed the case of accused persons to Sessions Judge, Muzaffar Nagar for trial, who framed charge against the accused persons, namely, Devendra and Rjpal on 31.01.2003 as under:

"I S.P. Verma, Sessions Judge, Muzaffar Nagar do hereby charge you 1. Devendra S/o Sohan Prasad Teli, 2. Rajpal S/o Munshi Kumhar as follows:

That you on 02.10.2002 at about 8.00 AM from the house of complainant Virendra Kumar S/o Hukamchand situated in Village Adampur, Police Station Bhora Kalan, District Muzaffar Nagar in furtherance of common intention kidnapped Mini (aged about one and a half years) daughter of Sanjeev Kumar in order that said Mini might be murdered or might be so disposed of as to be put in danger of being murdered for ransom and thereby committed an offence punishable under Section 364-A/34 of the IPC and within my cognizance.

And I hereby direct that you be tried by this Court on the said charge."

11. The accused-appellant denied the charge levelled against him, pleaded not guilty of charge and claimed trial.

12. To substantiate its case, prosecution examined as many as five witnesses, out of whom PWs-1 to 4 are witnesses of fact and PW-5 is formal witnesses of Police i.e. Investigating Officer. PW-1 Vinok Kumar Sharma is Informant who presented Ex.Ka-1 in the Police Station concerned; PW-2 Jagendra who has seen the accused-appellant taking the victim in his lap; PW-3 Intimated Informant about the phone made by accused-appellant and PW-4 Sushil Kumar who caught hold accused-appellant at Old Delhi, Railway Station with victim and recovered her from the possession of accused-appellant.

13 . Subsequent to closure of prosecution witnesses, statements of accused-appellant under Section 313 Cr.PC. was recorded by Trial Court, explaining entire evidence and incriminating circumstances. In the statement accused-appellant denied prosecution story in toto as usual. In response of question no.9, accused-appellant admitted that he was taken to Police Station and further he stated that he was falsely implicated in the present case. Accused-appellant examined DW-1, Dr. K.D. Sanwaliya, Medical Officer of District Hospital, Muzaffar Nagar who conducted medico examination of accused and found seven blunt object injuries on his person, prepared medical report Ex.Kha-1. Doctor found all the injuries of simple nature except injury no.7 which was kept under observation.

14. On appraisal of evidence on record and after hearing learned State counsel and counsel for accused, learned Trial Judge recorded verdict of conviction and sentence against the accused-appellant, as stated above.

15. Feeling aggrieved with the impugned judgment and order dated 01.10.2003, accused-appellant is before this Court through Jail appeal No. 5871 of 2003 and Criminal appeal No. 5422 of 2003, challenging his conviction and sentence.

16. We have heard Sri Mohd. Afzal, learned Amicus Curiae for appellant and Sri Rishi Chhadha, learned AGA for State at length and have gone through the record carefully with the valuable assistance of learned Counsel for parties.

17. Learned Counsel appearing for appellant has challenged conviction and sentence of accused-appellant, advancing his submissions, in the following manners :-

i. Entire evidence has not been produced from the side of prosecution, witnesses present at the time of arrest has not been produced, therefore, presumption under Section 114(g) of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 goes against prosecution.

ii. Prosecution story is doubtful, not worthy to credence; Prosecution had not produced independent witness; PWs 1 to 4 are interested witnesses and they cannot be termed as independent.

iii. There are many contradiction in the statement of witnesses rendering prosecution story doubtful.

iv. Accused-appellant has falsely been implicated by Informant to exploit him, being resident of Jharkhand.

v. Trial Court did not appreciate the evidence available on file in right perspective as per law. Accused-appellant is liable to be acquitted.

18. Per contra, learned AGA opposed submissions and urged that applicant is named in FIR; FIR is prompt; accused-appellant was seen with victim by PW-2 at Bus stop of the village; he has been apprehended with victim by PW-4 and his friends at Old Delhi, Railway Station on the very same day; and accused-appellant was taken to Police Station by PWs 1 to 4; there are sufficient evidence to connect accused-appellant with

19. Although time, date and place of occurrence could not be disputed from the side of defence but according to Advocate, he is not responsible for kidnapping of victim. Even otherwise from the evidence of PWs 1 to 4 time, date and place stand established.

20. Only question remains for consideration is "whether accused-appellant kidnapped victim or not and Trial Court has rightly convicted the accused-appellant or not?"

21. We now proceed to consider rival submissions on merit. It will be appropriate to briefly consider the evidence of prosecution as well as defence available on record and some important decisions on the point.

22. PW-1 Virendra Kumar Sharma deposed that accused-appellant Devendra Kumar was his servant who came to him one and half month prior to incident and accused Rajpal was resident of Adampur, Police Station Bhaurakala, District Muzaffar Nagar. At about 08:30 AM on 02.10.2002, both the accused persons kidnapped his grand-daughter Mini, aged about one and half years for ransom. Karan Singh and Jagender, resident of same village, noticed them taking his grand-daughter to Shamli by Mini Bus. Accused-appellant Devendra made a phone to him through STD of Shahdeen that he was going, leaving animals, and told that his shirt was hung in the Baithak and read the letter which is in the pocket. He took out the letter from the pocket of shirt and read over, by which an amount of Rs.2,00,000/- was demanded. The said letter recited that if information was given to Police, his grand-daughter would have been killed. He traced out his daughter every where i.e. Shamli Railway Station and Bus Stop but found no where. He phoned his son who was residing in Delhi at that time telling about the incident and submited written report Ex.Ka-1 in Police Station Bhaurakala. That day his son Sushil Kumar and his friends apprehended accused Devendra with victim Mini on Old Delhi, Railway Station and took accused-appellant to village. He further deposed that Police got signature of accused Devendra for comparison of ransom letter before him. Later on victim was handed over to him by Police after completion of legal formalities.

23. PW-2 Jagendra deposed that on the fateful day at about 08:30 PM, he went to Bus Stop of his village for shaving, Rajpal was standing there. After 10 -15 minutes, accused Devendra reached there with a girl aged about one and half years in his lap. Both whispered and boarded the bus leading to Shamli. He came back to his house after shaving. When at about 09:30 AM there was a noise in the village that grand-daughter of Virendra has been kidnapped, he went to house of Informant and told him that accused Devendra and Rajpal proceeded towards Shamli by Bus taking child.

24. PW-3 Shahdeen deposed that on the fateful day at about 09:15 AM, he received a telephone at his PCO No.58081 by which he was told from other hand that he was the servant of Sanjay Sharma and his Kurta was hung in his Baithak, in pocket thereof, there was a letter which should be read by them. He further deposed that he told this fact to father of Sanjay and came back to his PCO. He did not know what was written in the letter.

25. PW-4 Sushil Kumar, uncle of victim, deposed that incident was of 02.10.2002. At the time of incident, he was in his house situated at Delhi, he received a phone of his father that Devendra had gone with Mini and tried to search him. He along-with his younger brother and his friends; first, went to Bus Stop, later on Old Delhi Railway Station. At about 01:30 PM when a train reached at Station, after some moment, he saw Devendra boarding the stairs with Mini. He apprehended him with the help of his friends. First of all, he took his niece in his lap. He informed his father that we are coming with Mini and proceeded at 05:30 PM to Village from Delhi and reached the village at about quarter to ten along-with his friends by Maruti Van of his friend Amarjeet.

26. All four witnesses PWs 1 to 4 have been examined at length by defence but nothing adverse material have come, so as to disbelieve statements of witnesses on oath, on the relevant points. Certainly some minor contradictions and infirmities occurred in their statements but they are not of such nature which could dent or render the prosecution doubtful.

27. Statement of PW-2 established that accused was seen going with victim Mini and boarding the bus leading to Shamli. PW-3 proved that accused Devendra made a call at his PCO intimating that his shirt was hung in the Baithak of Informant PW-1 and to see the letter written by him kept in its pocket. He informed about message to informant PW-1. On the information of Shahdeen, PW-1 lodged an FIR against the accused appellant about the kidnapping of his grand-daughter. PW-4 on receiving the information of kidnapping of his niece Mini from his father, thereafter, made a search for girl at Bus Stop and Railway Stations along-with his friends and younger brother. He further proved that he saw the accused Devendra with Mini boarding stairs and apprehended with the help of his friends and took Mini from accused Devendra. Thereafter he went to his village by Maruti Van of his friend with Mini and accused Devendra.

28. From the statements of PWs 1 to 4, it is fully established that accused-appellant Devendra kidnapped victim Mini, grand-daughter of Informant PW-1, for ransom at the relevant time and date as stated by prosecution and he was apprehended with victim at the Railway Station of Old Delhi, on the same day.

29. Learned Amicus Curiae appearing for accused-appellant, argued that it has come in the evidence of PW-4 that accused-appellant was captured by him with the help of his friends and they came to village by Maruti Van of Amarjeet Singh but non of his friends have come forward to support prosecution story, therefore, presumption under Section 114(g) of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 goes against him.

30. So far as the argument of learned Counsel for appellant regarding non-examination of friends of PW-4 is concerned, we are of the view that this submission is thoroughly misconceived for the reasons that prosecution is not obliged to adduce witnesses as mentioned in FIR or charge-sheet, in view of Section 134 of Indian Evidence Act,1872 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act,1872'). Section 134 of Act, 1872, reads as under:-

"134. Number of witnesses.--No particular number of witnesses shall in any case be required for the proof of any fact."

31. Law is well-settled that as a general rule, Court can and may act on the testimony of a single witness provided he/she is wholly reliable. There is no legal impediment in convicting a person on the sole testimony of a single witness. That is the logic of Section 134 of Act, 1872. But if there are doubts about the testimony, Court will insist on corroboration. In fact, it is not the numbers, the quantity, but the quality that is material. Time-honoured principle is that evidence has to be weighed and not counted. Test is whether evidence has a ring of truth, cogent, credible and trustworthy or otherwise.

32. In Namdeo v. State of Maharashtra (2007) 14 SCC 150, Court re-iterated the view observing that it is the quality and not the quantity of evidence which is necessary for proving or disproving a fact. The legal system has laid emphasis on value, weight and quality of evidence rather than on quantity, multiplicity or plurality of witnesses. It is, therefore, open to a competent court to fully and completely rely on a solitary witness and record conviction. Conversely, it may acquit the accused inspite of testimony of several witnesses if it is not satisfied about the quality of evidence.

33. In Kunju @ Balachandran vs. State of Tamil Nadu, AIR 2008 SC 1381 a similar view has been taken placing reliance on earlier judgments including Jagdish Prasad vs. State of M.P., AIR 1994 SC 1251; and Vadivelu Thevar vs. State of Madras, AIR 1957 SC 614.

34. In Yakub Ismailbhai Patel Vs. State of Gunjrat reported in (2004) 12 SCC 229, Court held that :-

"The legal position in respect of the testimony of a solitay eyewitness is well settled in a catena of judgments inasmuch as this Court has always reminded that in order to pass conviction upon it, such a testimony must be of a nature which inspires the confidence of the Court. While looking into such evidence this Court has always advocated the Rule of Caution and such corroboration from other evidence and even in the absence of corroboration if testimony of such single eye-witness inspires confidence then conviction can be based solely upon it."

35. In State of Haryana v. Inder Singh and Ors. reported in (2002) 9 SCC 537, Court held that it is not the quantity but the quality of the witnesses which matters for determining the guilt or innocence of the accused. The testimony of a sole witness must be confidence-inspiring and beyond suspicion, thus, leaving no doubt in the mind of the Court.

36. Learned Counsel for appellant next contended that no independent witness has been produced by prosecution. PWs 1 to 4 are interested and relative to victim, therefore, there evidence could not be termed as reliable.

37. So far as the question of relative witness and non-examination of any independent witness is concerned, we are not impressed with the submissions of learned Counsel for appellant for the reasons that it is often seen that in heinous offences like murder, dacoity, kidnapping etc., no villagers or independent witness come forward to give evidence in support of prosecution against accused-appellant due to fear of evil.

38. So far as relative witness is concerned, in Dalip Singh v. State of Punjab, AIR,1953, SC 364, Court has held :-

"A witness is normally to be considered independent unless he or she springs from sources which are likely to be tainted and that usually means unless the witness has cause, such as enmity against the accused, to wish to implicate him falsely. Ordinarily, a close relative would be the last to screen the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person. It is true, when feelings run high and there is personal cause' for enmity, that there is a tendency to drag in an innocent person against whom a witness has a grudge along with the guilty, but foundation must be laid for such a criticism and the mere fact of relationship far from being a foundation is often a sure guarantee of truth. However, we are not attempting any sweeping generalisation. Each case must be judged on its own facts. Our observations are only made to combat what is so often put forward in cases before us as a general rule of prudence. There is no such general rule. Each case must be limited to and be governed by its own facts."

39. In Dharnidhar v. State of UP (2010) 7 SCC 759, Court has observed as follows :-

"There is no hard and fast rule that family members can never be true witnesses to the occurrence and that they will always depose falsely before the Court. It will always depend upon the facts and circumstances of a given case. In the case of Jayabalan v. U.T. of Pondicherry (2010) 1 SCC 199, this Court had occasion to consider whether the evidence of interested witnesses can be relied upon. The Court took the view that a pedantic approach cannot be applied while dealing with the evidence of an interested witness. Such evidence cannot be ignored or thrown out solely because it comes from a person closely related to the victim"

40. In Ganga Bhawani v. Rayapati Venkat Reddy and Others, 2013(15) SCC 298, Court has held as under :-

"11. It is a settled legal proposition that the evidence of closely related witnesses is required to be carefully scrutinised and appreciated before any conclusion is made to rest upon it, regarding the convict/accused in a given case. Thus, the evidence cannot be disbelieved merely on the ground that the witnesses are related to each other or to the deceased. In case the evidence has a ring of truth to it, is cogent, credible and trustworthy, it can, and certainly should, be relied upon.

41. It is settled that merely because witnesses are closed relatives of victim, their testimonies cannot be discarded. Relationship with one of the parties is not a factor that affects credibility of witness, more so, a relative would not conceal the actual culprit and make allegation against an innocent person. However, in such a case Court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse the evidence to find out whether it is cogent and credible evidence.

42. Learned Counsel for appellant further contended that there are many contradictions in the statements of witnesses which rendered prosecution doubtful and accused-appellant is entitled to benefit of doubt and deserves acquittal.

43. , we have analysed entire evidence in consonance with the submissions raised by learned counsel's. All the witnesses, PWs 1 to 4 have supported prosecution case. All the four witnesses withstood lengthy cross-examination but nothing adverse material could be brought on record so as to disbelieve their statements. There is nothing in cross-examination which may render their statements doubtful. Naturally some minor contradictions and discrepancies have occurred in their examination-in-chief but they do not go to the root of case.

44. In Sampath Kumar v. Inspector of Police, Krishnagiri, (2012) 4 SCC 124, Court has held that minor contradictions are bound to appear in the statements of truthful witnesses as memory sometimes plays false and sense of observation differs from person to person.

45 . In Sachin Kumar Singhraha v. State of Madhya Pradesh in Criminal Appeal Nos. 473-474 of 2019 decided on 12.3.2019, Supreme Court has observed that Court will have to evaluate evidence before it keeping in mind the rustic nature of depositions of the villagers, who may not depose about exact geographical locations with mathematical precision. Discrepancies of this nature which do not go to the root of the matter do not obliterate otherwise acceptable evidence. It need not be stated that it is by now well settled that minor variations should not be taken into consideration while assessing the reliability of witness testimony and the consistency of the prosecution version as a whole.

46 . We lest not forget that no prosecution case is foolproof and the same is bound to suffer from some lacuna or the other. It is only when such lacunae are on material aspects going to the root of the matter, it may have bearing on the outcome of the case, else such shortcomings are to be ignored. Reference may be made to a recent decision in Criminal Appeal No. 56 of 2018, Smt. Shamim v. State of (NCT of Delhi), decided on 19.09.2018.

47. When such incident takes place, one cannot expect a scripted version from witnesses to show as to what actually happened and in what manner it had happened. Such minor details normally are neither noticed nor remembered by people since they are in fury of incident and apprehensive of what may happen in future. A witness is not expected to recreate a scene as if it was shot after with a scripted version but what material thing has happened that is only noticed or remembered by people and that is stated in evidence. Court has to see whether in broad narration given by witnesses, if there is any material contradiction so as to render evidence so self contradictory as to make it untrustworthy is Minor variation or such omissions which do not otherwise affect trustworthiness of evidence, which is broadly consistent in statement of witnesses, is of no legal consequence and cannot defeat prosecution.

48. In all criminal cases, normal discrepancies are bound to occur in the depositions of witnesses due to normal errors of observations, namely, errors of memory due to lapse of time or due to mental disposition such as shock and horror at the time of occurrence. Where the omissions amount to a contradiction, creating a serious doubt about truthfulness of the witness and other witnesses also make material improvement while deposing in the court, such evidence cannot be safe to rely upon. However, minor contradictions, inconsistencies, embellishments or improvements on trivial matters which do not affect the core of the prosecution case, should not be made a ground on which the evidence can be rejected in its entirety. Court has to form its opinion about the credibility of witness and record a finding, whether his deposition inspires confidence. Exaggerations per se do not render the evidence brittle, but can be one of the factors to test credibility of the prosecution version, when entire evidence is put in a crucible for being tested on the touchstone of credibility. Therefore, mere marginal variations in the statement of a witnesses cannot be dubbed as improvements as the same may be elaborations of the statements made by the witnesses earlier. Only such omissions which amount to contradictions in material particulars i.e. go to the root of the case/materially affect the trial or core of the prosecution's case, render the testimony of the witness liable to be discredited. [Vide: State Represented by Inspector of Police v. Saravanan &

Anr., AIR 2009 SC 152; Arumugam v. State, AIR 2009 SC 331; Mahendra Pratap Singh v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2009) 11 SCC 334; and Dr. Sunil Kumar Sambhudayal Gupta & Ors. v. State of Maharashtra, JT 2010 (12) SC 287].

49. ore, we are satisfied that prosecution has successfully proved its case beyond reasonable doubt against accused-appellant and Trial Court has rightly convicted him for having committed an offence under Section 364-A read with 34 IPC.

50. So far as sentence of accused-appellant is concerned, it is always a difficult task requiring balancing of various considerations. The question of awarding sentence is a matter of discretion to be exercised on consideration of circumstances aggravating and mitigating in the individual cases.

51. It is settled legal position that appropriate sentence should be awarded after giving due consideration to the facts and circumstances of each case, nature of offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed. It is obligation of court to constantly remind itself that right of victim, and be it said, on certain occasions person aggrieved as well as society at large can be victims, never be marginalised. The measure of punishment should be proportionate to gravity of offence. Object of sentencing should be to protect society and to deter the criminal in achieving avowed object of law. Further, it is expected that courts would operate the sentencing system so as to impose such sentence which reflects conscience of society and sentencing process has to be stern where it should be. The Court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against individual victim but also against society to which criminal and victim belong. Punishment to be awarded for a crime must not be irrelevant but it should conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality which the crime has been perpetrated, enormity of crime warranting public abhorrence and it should 'respond to the society's cry for justice against the criminal'. [Vide: Sumer Singh vs. Surajbhan Singh and others, (2014) 7 SCC 323, Sham Sunder vs. Puran, (1990) 4 SCC 731, M.P. v. Saleem, (2005) 5 SCC 554, Ravji v. State of Rajasthan, (1996) 2 SCC 175].

52. Hence, applying the principles laid down in the aforesaid judgments and having regard to the totality of facts and circumstances of case, motive, nature of offence, weapon used in commission of murder and the manner in which it was executed or committed, we find that punishment imposed upon accused-appellant by Trial Court in impugned judgment and order is not excessive and it appears fit and proper and no ground appears to interfere in the matter on the point of punishment imposed upon him.

53. In view of above discussion, both the appeals lack merit and are dismissed.

54. Accused-appellant is on bail, he shall be taken in custody forthwith to serve out the sentence awarded by learned Trial Court.

55. Lower Court record alongwith a copy of this judgment be sent back immediately to District Court concerned for compliance and further necessary action and to apprise the accused-appellant through Jail Authority.

56. Before parting, we provide that Mohd. Afzal, Advocate, who has appeared as Amicus Curiae for appellant in present Jail Appeal, shall be paid counsel's fee as Rs. 10,000/-. State Government is directed to ensure payment of aforesaid fee through Additional Legal Remembrancer, posted in the office of Advocate General at Allahabad, without any delay and, in any case, within one month from the date of receipt of copy of this judgment.

Jail Appeal No.2623 of 2015

Sita Ram Sharma ...Appellant
Versus
State of U.P. ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Appellant:
From Jail, Sri Vinay Saran (A.C.,)

Counsel for the Opposite Party:
A.G.A.

A. Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - F.I.R. is not a substantive piece of evidence.

B. Criminal Penal Code, 1973 - Section 154 - There is no time limit to lodge a F.I.R - But, if it is lodged after a long unexplained delay and after counseling and consultation, it demolishes the plinth of prosecution's castle.

In this case, F.I.R. has been lodged after seven years of the alleged occurrence. Victim has not lodged F.I.R. at Police Station. She had made a complaint to C.W.C., Varanasi only and that complaint was forwarded to police. (Para 32)

C. Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 - Section 177 & 178 - Place of Trial - Every offence must be tried by a Court within whose local jurisdiction it was committed - If a court has no jurisdiction to take cognizance and proceed with trial, whole proceeding of such trial is a nullity (para 40) If jurisdiction is not conferred by any Statute/Act, Court cannot acquire jurisdiction, suo moto or on the application of the victim or any party dealing with the case. (Para 42 & 43)

The appellant is resident of Village Nimiyatar, P.S. Dugariya, District Gaya (Bihar), he prosecuted at Varanasi. Neither investigation was conducted in place of occurrence nor evidence was produced regarding place of occurrence which shows that serious prejudice has been caused to appellant.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Virendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. T he present jail appeal, under Section 383 Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (hereinafter referred to as "Code') has been filed by accused-appellant Sita

Ram Sharma (hereinafter referred to as "appellant') through Superintendent of District Jail, Varanasi, against judgment and order dated 22.5.2015 passed by Additional Session Judge (Fast Track Court, Varanasi) in Session Trial No. 181 of 2013, (State vs. Sita Ram Sharma), Police Station (hereinafter referred to as "P.S.') Cantt, District Varanasi, under Section 323/376 I.P.C., whereby, he has been acquitted for an offence under Section 323 I.P.C. and convicted and sentenced for offence under Section 376 I.P.C. for life imprisonment and fine of Rs. 20,000/-. In default of payment of fine, he has further been directed to under go for one year simple imprisonment.

2. The brief facts of prosecution case are that PW-1, victim (name of the prosecutrix is not being disclosed in this judgment, she is being shown as "PW-1, victim') is daughter of appellant, who is resident of Village Nimiyatar, P.S. Dugariya, District Gaya (Bihar). PW-1, victim appeared, on 29.5.2013 at 6:30 p.m., at P.S. Cantt, District Varanasi, with Sister Manju (PW-5), Director of DARE Organization (N.G.O.) 2656 C.I.M. Colony, Sikrol P.S. Cantt, and lodged First Information Report (Ex.Ka.1) (hereinafter referred to as "F.I.R.') addressed to Child Welfare Committee (hereinafter referred to as "C.W.C"), alleging that she had left her house in 2006 because appellant, her father, used to commit rape with her and also beat her. He also used to commit rape with her elder sister and when her elder sister happened to pregnant, he got her pregnancy aborted. In F.I.R. it has also been stated that her father, appellant used to beat her mother to such extent that her mother got mentally sick. In view of above fact, she wanted to lodge her father in jail because she did not know that her father had committed how many such offences. It was also been stated that she became so fed up with his father that she fled away, leaving her house, and is away from her house since eight years. She hates her father and wish to get her father punished with severe punishment. Upon such information, Chik F.I.R. (Ex.Ka.6) was prepared by PW-7 Const. Rajesh Kumar and the said information was entered in General Diary (Ex.ka.7). Victim was sent for medical examination and investigation was under taken by PW-4 S.I. Dhakeshwar Singh.

3 . PW1-Victim was examined by PW-6, Dr. Krishna Yadav. According to him, secondary sexual character of victim were fully developed. No injury was found either on her body or on her private part; her hymen was torn; vagina admits two fingers easily. She had prepared vaginal smear slides of victim and sent it to pathologist for examination of spermatozoa. According to her, in pathological and radiological test, no dead or alive spermatozoa were found; and as per report of Child Medical Officer (hereinafter referred to as "C.M.O"), Varanasi, victim was aged about 19 years. She prepared Medico Legal Examination Report (Ex.Ka.4/1) and its supplementary report (Ex.Ka.5) but no definite opinion regarding rape could be given.

4. During investigation, S.I. PW-4, Dhakeshwar Singh (I.O.) recorded statement of PW-1-Victim, her sister, Director NGO (PW-5) and statement of appellant-Sita Ram Sharma. Meanwhile, he was transferred and further investigation was handed over to PW-3 S.I. Shivanand Mishra who perused medical report of victim and copied it in case diary. He produced the victim before Judicial Magistrate (ACJM-II), Varanasi, where her statement was recorded under Section 164 of Code. Meanwhile, he was also transferred and investigation was handed over to PW-2 S.I. Triveni Lal who recorded statement and asked the victim for inspection of the place of occurrence but victim did not give her consent. She was not ready to go to her village. On the request of victim, he did not transfer investigation to State of Bihar. Upon conclusion of investigation, he filed charge-sheet (Ex.Ka.4), under Section 376, 323 IPC and Sections 4/6/10 POCSO Act, 2012 before Session Judge, Varanasi, who took cognizance of the offence and transferred trial before ASJ, Court No. 9.

5. Charges were framed against appellant under Section 376, 323 IPC which read as under:-

मैं डी0डी0 ओझा, अपर सेशन न्यायाधीश, न्यायालय सं0 09, वाराणसी एतदद्वारा आप–

I, D.D. Ojha, Additional Session Judge, Court No. 9 Varanasi hereby charge you Sita Ram Sharma, son of Pandey Sharma as follows:-

First, That you accused in the year 2006 used to commit rape with your daughter (victim) when she resides with you in your house at Village Nimiyatar, P.S. Dungariya, District Gaya (Bihar) before her rendering away from her house, knowing that she was below the age of 12 years, and thereby committed an offence which is punishable under Section 376 I.P.C., and comes within the cognizance of this Court.

Secondly. That during aforesaid period ,in order to commit rape with your daughter, you use to beat and voluntarily causes hurt on her objection, committed such act which is punishable under Section 323 I.P.C., and is within the cognizance of this Court.

Charges were read over and explained to the accused-appellant who pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

You are hereby directed to be tried for the aforesaid charges. (Translated by Court)

6. In order to prove its case, total seven witnesses were produced by prosecution. PW-1-victim, is a witness of fact whereas PW-2, S.I. Triveni Lal Singh

(I.O.); PW-3 S.I. Shivanand Mishra (I.O.); PW-4 Dharkeshwar Singh (I.O.); PW-5 Sister Manju, Incharge, DARE Institution, Varanasi; PW-6 Dr. Krishna Yadav and PW-7 Const. Rajesh Kumar are formal witnesses.

7. Upon conclusion of prosecution evidence, statement of appellant was recorded under Section 313 of Code. He denied evidence produced by prosecution and stated that he had been called from his house for a meeting with his daughter (victim) and had been implicated in false case; his daughter had fled away from his house in 2006; he made best effort to search his daughter, but could not searched her out; and now after eight years, all of sudden she had been recovered but due to mistake and conspiracy, a false case was lodged against him.

8. Pursuant to opportunity given by Trial Court to appellant, he produced DW-1 Sanju Devi and DW-2 Prabha Devi who are his daughters.

9. Upon conclusion of trial, and after hearing arguments of both the parties, appellant was convicted and sentenced as above. Aggrieved by the aforesaid impugned judgment and order, appellant has preferred this appeal.

10. Heard, Sri Vinay Saran (Amicus Curiae), Advocate appearing for appellant and learned A.G.A. for State.

11. Learned Amicus Curiae for appellant submits that F.I.R. has been lodged after eight years and no explanation has been given for such inordinate delay; sole testimony of victim is neither trustworthy nor reliable; Trial Judge has no jurisdiction to try this case and pass impugned judgment and order as the offence was caused in exclusive jurisdiction of Session Division, Gaya, State of Bihar; and no offence was committed within the jurisdiction of Session Division, Varanasi, Uttar Pradesh; ocular evidence is not supported by medical evidence; Trial Judge without discussing any merit or demerit of the case has passed the impugned judgment and order in a very cursory manner; appellant is innocent and has been falsely implicated; hence impugned judgment and order is illegal and liable to be set aside.

12. Per-contra, learned A.G.A. vehemently opposing the submission of learned Amicus Curiae, has submitted that the sole testimony of victim is sufficient for proving the case of prosecution; no further corroboration is required; though there is inordinate delay in lodging F.I.R. but it is self explained and justifiable in the facts and circumstances of this case; irregularity or jurisdictional error in conducting trial will not affect prosecution evidence; prosecution has succeeded to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt against the appellant, hence appeal is liable to the dismissed.

13. We have considered rival submissions of learned counsel for both the parties and have gone through the entire record.

14. At the very outset, it is pertinent to point out that according to prosecution case, PW1-victim is resident of village-Nimiyatar, P.S. Dungariya, District Gaya, State of Bihar. She has stated that it had been around 8-10 years, since she had left her house; behaviour of her father with her was not good; she used to sleep at night along with her brother Pankaj and her father, appellant, together; when they fell asleep, her father appellant used to commit rape with her; she understood the meaning of rape; she had told her mother about her being raped by father; since her father would beat her mother, she (her mother) could not protest; she had been raped 3-4 times at night for several days and getting fed up, she ran away from her house and reached the house of one Muslim family in Gaya District; there she stayed for 3-4 months; their behaviour was also not good, and they also tried to rape her, hence she ran away from there also, to Barh (District of Bihar); she came across, a boy Munna who brought her to his maternal aunt's house, that aunt used to send her to collect garbage along with her own children, but when she refused, she (aunt) drove her away from her house; thereafter she went to Delhi, and stayed there with one Umar Raza; in Barh, she had lived with one Aftaab Alam also; there Aftab Alam's sister rang her and called her to Delhi; after 5 years, she came from Delhi to Allahabad; in Allahabad, police nabbed her; police wanted to sent her to Aashram (Nari Niketan) but she refused, as she came to know that there also rape was being committed; then she was sent to Child Line and from there she was sent to Banaras Child Line Sikrol. According to her, she gave an application (Ex.Ka.1) in her own handwriting and signature to C.W.C., on the basis of whereof, case was lodged. She has further stated that she had also given an application (Ex.Ka.2) in her own handwriting that her criminal case be tried in Banaras. She was medically examined and her statement was recorded under Section 164 of Code (Ex.Ka.3).

15. PW-5, Sister Manju, Director of N.G.O. named DARE, has stated that victim did reside at Allahabad in the house of lady named Treesha George, who called her on phone stating that victim needs her help, as some wrong has happened to her. On her call, victim was brought at her institution at Varanasi on 6.5.2013; she had a counselling with her, whereupon, victim told that her father committed rape with her at the time when her age was 8-9 years; therefore, she had fled away to Delhi from her house and joined a job of maid servant; after 3-4 years, she again fled away from there, but caught by officials of Child Line Centre and thereafter she started a job of maid servant in the house of Tresha George (Allahabad). After counselling to victim, she traced out victim's house and informed to C.W.C., Varanasi along with victim on 20.5.2013. On the direction of C.W.C, F.I.R. was lodged. She also handed over victim's father (appellant) to police; victim was medically examined; and she had gone with victim to police station and victim was returned into her custody.

16. PW-6, Dr. Krishna Yadav, Medical Officer, District Woman Hospital, Varanasi has stated that on 29.5.2013 at 10:45 p.m., she had examined victim (PW-1) who had been brought before her by a lady Constable, C.P. No. 361, Pooja Rai (details of examination report has already been noted in para 3 of this judgment).

17. PW-4, S.I. Dhakeshwar Singh, (1st I.O.) of the case has stated that he was posted as Senior Sub-Inspector (S.S.I.) at P.S. Cantt on 29.5.2013 and undertook investigation of the case. During investigation, he had recorded statements of victim (PW-1), Smt. Manju (PW-5) and also of appellant.

18. S.S.I. Dhakeshwar Singh (PW-4), has stated that during investigation, he had perused and copied medico legal and pathological report of victim; he had produced victim before Court for getting her statement recorded under Section 164 of Code and copied her statement in case diary.

19. PW-2, S.I. Triveni Lal (3rd I.O.) who had undertaken investigation after transfer of PW-3, has stated that he had recorded supplementary statement of victim during investigation. According to him, victim had stated that she was not willing to return back to her parental house and had given an application that trial be not transferred to Bihar. According to him, on the application of victim, investigation of the case was not transferred to concerned police station of Bihar, instead he had submitted charge-sheet (Ex.Ka.4) under section 376 (2), 323 I.P.C. and 4/6/10 of POCSO Act, 2012 before Court.

20. PW-7, Constable Rajesh Kumar has proved Chick F.I.R. (Ex.Ka.6), and copy of G.D. (Ex.Ka.7), prepared by Constable Satya Pratap Singh, posted on 29.5.2013 with this witness.

21. To controvert the allegations made by prosecution, appellant has produced in defence his own two daughters DW-1 Sanju Devi and DW-2 Prabha Devi.

22. 15. DW-1, Sanju Devi, aged about 32 years, stated that the appellant is her father; PW1-victim is her youngest sister who was lost, about 9-10 years back when she (PW1-victim) was aged about 8-7 years. She has specifically stated that her father is innocent, all the charges levelled against him are false; her father had made herculean efforts to search the victim but failed.

23. DW-2 Prabha Devi has also stated in same way as D.W.-1 Sanju Devi had. She has stated that the charges levelled against her father by victim regarding rape with her and victim are false; her father is very innocent; he brought up and maintained her very well and to each siblings; and she and her sisters Sanju Devi are very happy in their matrimonial life.

24. In this case, serious allegations have been made by a daughter against her own father for rape. It is settled principle of law that if evidence of victim of rape is natural, trustworthy and reliable, no further corroboration is required. Thus it has to be seen whether statement of victim inspires confidence of the Court or not.

25. The prosecution case is based on sole testimony of victim. F.I.R. (Ex.Ka.1) has been lodged on 29.5.2013, wherein, it has been mentioned that victim had left her house in 2006 because her father (appellant) used to commit rape upon her. It is clear that F.I.R. has been lodged after 7 years of the incident. PW-1, Victim has stated that after leaving her house in 2006, she had resided in a Muslim family in Gaya District where she stayed for 3-4 months and then left that Muslim's family house and fled away, as an attempt for rape with her was also made there. Thereafter, she had gone to Barh District and then came back to Patna. According to her in Patna, she came into contact with one Munna who led her to his aunt's house and on the direction and supervision of that aunt, she used to collect garbage along with her (aunt's) children and one day when she refused to do so, she (aunt) drove her away from her house. Thereafter, she left for Delhi and stayed with one Umar Raza and again with Aftab Alam for five years. Thereafter, she came back to Allahabad from Delhi. According to her, Allahabad police nabbed her and wanted to keep her in an Aashram (Nari Niketan) but she refused to do so because she knew that in Aashram, rape was being committed. Then she was sent to Child Line Center and from there, she was again sent to Banaras Child Line, Sikrol.

26. In cross-examination, she has stated that when her father committed rape, for the first time, penetrated his penis into her vagina, but no blood had come out and she did not suffer any pain. In cross-examination she made allegations against her own brother Prahlad and stated that at Barh, where she used to reside with her mother, her brother Prahlad had committed rape with her when was aged about 6-7 years. According to her, when her brother Prahlad had committed rape, first time with her, neither she felt any pain nor any blood came out. She has also stated that her father (appellant) used to commit rape with her elder sister Prabha Devi (DW-2). She stated that she did not know whether any pain or bleeding would happen with any girl at the time of rape committed for the first time. She has also stated that she had not made any allegation in F.I.R. against her brother because she knew that her brother was young at the time of occurrence; newly married; had two children and on that very account she did not intend to disturb his family.

27. In addition to above, in cross-examination, she has also admitted that she had not disclosed anything regarding rape committed by her father to any person during this period. In cross-examination, she had stated, when she met to a Maulana nearby a Masjid, upon query made by him, she said that her father used to beat her but she did not disclose anything regarding rape. Her statement, in this regard, as under:-

''घर छोडने के बाद मै पैदल दिन भर चलती रही रात हो गयी तो एक मस्जिद के पास मै बैठ गई थी उसके बाद एक मौलाना द्वारा यह पूछने परकि मे अकेले यहॉ क्या कर रही हूँ मे रोने लगी। उसके द्वारा पूछने पर मेने बताया कि निमिया टाड से आयी हूँ। उसने मुझसे पूछा कि क्यों आयी हो तो मैने बताया कि पापा मुझे मारते थे मैने मारने की ही बात बतायी बलात्कार की बात नही बतायी थी।

28. From perusal of her statement, it appears that she was also caught by Police (GRP), interrogated and sent to Child Line. According to her, she was medically examined. She has also stated that officials of Child Line wanted to send her in Balika Grah, but she refused to go. One Father Deepak took her away from father of Child Line and got her admitted in class 10th (private). She did not go to school and studied at the house of Father Deepak. Accoding to her, after sometime she had fallen ill. Father Deepak got her medically treated and thereafter sent her to a nurse (aunty Diza George), where she resided for 6-7 months and worked as maid servant. Thereafter she was taken to Sister Manju (PW-5).

29. Thus it is clear that during these 7-8 years years, the victim met so many people, worked for so many people, in so many houses, she was also caught by police but she never disclosed to any one regarding offence of rape committed by her father.

30. In these peculiar facts and circumstances of this case, the statement of victim that rape was committed by her brother when she was at age of 5-6 years and also by his father (appellant) on several times, when she was 7-8 years old, but neither she felt pain nor any blood came out and also non disclosure of such incident to any person for 7-8 years, does not inspire our confidence and it is not safe to hold that prosecution has succeeded to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt.

31. PW-6 Dr. Krishna Yadav has clearly stated that she could not say, whether, any rape was committed against victim or not.

32. F.I.R., although is not a substantive piece of evidence, but generally, if it is free from any infirmity, forms basis of prosecution case. It is settled principle of law that there is no time limit for lodging F.I.R., but if it is lodged after huge and unexplained delay and after counselling and consultation, it demolish the plinth of prosecution's castle. In Thulia Kali vs. State of Tamil Nadu 1972 SCC (Cri.) 543, where delay in lodging F.I.R., was of 20 hours without any proper justification, Court, setting aside conviction of appellant, held:-

"The first information report in a criminal case is an extremely vital and valuable piece of evidence for the purpose of corroborating the oral evidence adduced the trial. The object of insisting upon prompt lodging of the report to the police in respect of commission of an offence is to obtain early information regarding the circumstances in which the crime was committed, the names of the actual culprits and the part played by them as well as, the names of eye witnesses present at there scene of occurrence. Delay in lodging the first information report quite often results in embellishment which is a Creature of after thought. It is therefore essential that the delay in lodging the report should be satisfactorily explained."

33. In Manoj Kumar Sharma vs. State of Chhattisgarh (2016) 3 SCC (Crl.) 407, Court in case where F.I.R. was lodged after 5 years, quashed criminal proceeding, and held:-

"Delay in lodging the FIR often results in embellishment, which is a creature of an afterthought. On account of delay, the FIR not only gets bereft of the advantage of spontaneity, danger also creeps in of the introduction of a coloured version or exaggerated story. In our opinion, such extraordinary delay in lodging the FIR raises grave doubt about the truthfulness of allegations made by Respondent 2 herein against the appellants, which are, in any case, general in nature. We have no doubt that by making such reckless and vague allegations, Respondent 2 herein has tried to rope the appellants in criminal proceedings. We are of the confirmed opinion that continuation of the criminal proceedings against the appellants pursuant to this FIR is an abuse of the process of law. Therefore, in the interest of justice, the FIR deserves to be quashed".

34. In this case too, F.I.R. has been lodged after seven years of the alleged occurrence. Non disclosure of offence to any person or authority for seven years has made the conduct and behaviour of victim unnatural which render prosecution version doubtful. Record shows that victim has not lodged F.I.R. at Police Station Cantt. She had made a complaint to C.W.C., Varanasi only and that complaint was forwarded to police. Information to police was also not given to any police station when victim (PW-1) narrated story of rape either to Madam Treesa George, where victim was working as maid servant or when it came into knowledge of PW-5, Sister Manju on 6.5.2013 or into cognizance of C.W.C. on 20.5.2013. It was lodged on 29.5.2013 when her father, appellant, came and insisted her (victim) to return back to home but she refused to return. PW-5, Sister Manju has also stated that F.I.R. had been lodged on direction of C.W.C. In cross-examination, she said that she had gone with victim at police station for lodging F.I.R. It is also apparent from statement of PW1-victim and PW-5, Sister Manju that prior to lodging F.I.R., PW-1, victim was instigated, counselled and assisted by a team of N.G.O. including PW-5. Record further shows that appellant, poor father of the victim, upon information had come to victim and wanted to get her returned to home and as soon as he expressed his willingness, F.I.R. was lodged against him. In such situation, we are of the opinion that delay in lodging F.I.R., without any explanation, has created a serious doubt on the genuineness of prosecution case.

35. In addition to above, there is another serious lacuna in the prosecution case. As per prosecution case, victim and appellant are residents of Village Nimiyatar, P.S. Dugariya, District Bihar. This offence of rape, for which appellant has been prosecuted, had been committed prior to 7-8 years from lodging F.I.R. at village Nimiyatar, P.S. Dungariya, Session Division (District) Gaya, Bihar. It is not a case of prosecution that any offence of rape has been committed by appellant at any place in Session Division, Varanasi or in even at any place in Uttar Pradesh. Record shows that at very early stage of investigation, PW-4, S.I. Dhakeshwar Singh had learnt that the offence was not committed within the jurisdiction of P.S. Cantt, Varanasi. In cross-examination, he has specifically stated that he had made entry in case diary that the offence was not related with jurisdiction of P.S. Cantt, District Varanasi and he had referred the case for legal opinion of higher officers. PW-2, another I.O., S.I. Triveni Lal Sen has also stated that he had tried to take the victim (PW-1) to the place of occurrence for its inspection, whereupon, she started weeping and insisted not to take her to her home. According to him, she did not agree to go to the place of occurrence and made an application that her case should not be transferred to Bihar and she would pursue her case here (in Uttar Pradesh) and get her father convicted. This witness (PW-2) has also stated that on the request of PW-1 (victim), he had not transferred investigation to Bihar and filed a charge-sheet against appellant.

36. PW-3 S.I. Shivanand Mishra, in his cross-examination, has stated that he had neither visited the place of occurrence nor had gone to village Nimiyatar, District Gaya (State of Bihar). When he learnt that place of occurrnce belongs to District Gaya (Bihar), he had not felt the necessity of transfer investigation. Thus Investigating Officers (I.O.) of the case had not made any attempt either to visit the place of occurrence or to prepare any site plan.

37. Trial Judge, without making any attempt to peruse the record, to find out whether, offence was committed within Jurisdiction of Session Division, Varanasi (Uttar Pradesh) or not, took cognizance of offence and also framed charge, wherein, it has been specifically mentioned that offence was committed at Village Nimiyatar, Dugariya, District Gaya (Bihar).

38. Chapter XIII of the Code contains the provision regarding jurisdiction of Criminal Courts in inquiry and trials. Section 177 and Section 178 of this Chapter are relevant in this matter which are as under:-

Section 177. Ordinary place of inquiry and trial : Every offence shall ordinarily be inquired into and tried by a Court within whose local jurisdiction it was committed.

Section 178. Place of inquiry or trial : (a) When it is uncertain in which of several local areas an offence was committed, or

(b) Where an offence is committed partly in one local area and partly in another, or

(c) Where an offence is a continuing one, and continues to be committed in more local areas than one, or

(d) Where it consists of several acts done in different local areas, it may be inquired into or tried by a Court having jurisdiction over any of such local areas.

(Emphasis added)

39. The aforesaid provision clearly provides that it is a general rule that every offence shall ordinarily be inquired into and tried by a Court within whose local jurisdiction it was committed, whereas, if there is uncertainty of place of occurrence; or offence was committed partly in one area and partly in another; or offence is continuing one and continues to be committed in more local areas than one; or such offence consist of several acts done in different local areas; in such cases it may be inquired or tried by any Court having jurisdiction over any such local areas.

40. The word shall in Section 177 and the word may in Section 178 of the Code signifies that general rule regarding jurisdiction of criminal trial and enquires is that every offence must be tried or inquired by a Court within whose local jurisdiction it was committed. In some cases, covered by Section 178 of the Code, trial or inquiry may be conducted by another Court with aid of this Section. In such cases, if any Court, whose jurisdiction, is not covered by Section 177 of the Code takes cognizance and tries the offence in view of Section 178 of the Code, it must be shown and established by prosecution from record that such offence is covered by Section 178 of Code. In this matter, it is not a case of prosecution / State that any offence of rape was committed at any place in Uttar Pradesh or this matter comes within the purview of Section 178 of the Code, whereas, fact of prosecution case as well as the charge dated 7.10.2013 framed by Trial Court specifically shows that the offence was committed at Village Nimiyatar P.S. Dungariya, District (Session Divison) Gaya (State of Bihar).

41. Plea of jurisdiction was raised by appellant before Trial Court, but rejected on the ground that there was a direction of High Court for conclusion of Trial within four months and no prejudice had been caused to appellant. Jurisdiction empowers an authority to a court to proceed with trial. If a court has no jurisdiction to take cognizance and proceed with trial, whole proceeding of such trial is a nullity. Although Section 462 of the Code protects some jurisdictional irregularity whereby no prejudice is caused to accused but this case is not covered by Section 462 of the Code. In this case, no Court of Session Division of State of Uttar Pradesh is empowered to take cognizance because offence was committed in State of Bihar and no offence either directly or indirectly has been committed within the jurisdiction of Uttar Pradesh.

42. In addition to above, it is also pertinent to mention at this juncture that object and purpose of the Code is that trial and investigation be conducted fairly. Accused-appellant is resident of District Gaya, Bihar; he was prosecuted at Varanasi, in another State, where appellant neither used to resides nor has any resources to defend himself. Victim (PW-1) was being assisted by PW-5, Sister Manju, Director DARE (N.G.O.). Neither investigation was conducted in relation to place of occurrence nor evidence was produced regarding place of occurrence and appellant was deprived of cross-examine to prosecution witnesses regarding place of occurrence which shows that serious prejudice has been caused to appellant.

43. It is settled principle of law that a Court, if has not been conferred jurisdiction by any Statutes or Act, it cannot acquire jurisdiction suo moto or on the application of the victim or any party dealing with the case. In Shri Rajendra Ramchandra kavalekar vs. State of Maharashtra and Anr. AIR 2009 SC 1792, Court has held:-

"The territorial jurisdiction of a court with regard to criminal offence would be decided on the basis of place of occurrence of the incident and not on the basis of where the complaint was filed and the mere fact that FIR was registered in a particular State is not the sole criterion to decide that no cause of action has arisen even partly within the territorial limits of jurisdiction of another court. The venue of enquiry or trial is primarily to be determined by the averments contained in the complaint or charge sheet. Section 177 of Criminal Procedure Code provides that every offence shall ordinarily be inquired into and tried by a court within whose local jurisdiction it was committed."

44. Supreme Court, in Manoj Kumar Sharma's case (supra) where deceased had died in her matrimonial house within the jurisdiction of Mallana, District Ambala (Punjab) and upon inquiry, it was found that no offence had made out. F.I.R. was lodged for same offence after 5 years at Bhilai Nagar, District Durg (Chhattisgarh), while quashing F.I.R. on the ground of lack of territorial jurisdiction, has held as under:-

27. "The territorial jurisdiction of a court with regard to a criminal offence would be decided on the basis of the place of occurrence of the incident. In the instant case, the suicide was committed at Ambala. Ambala Police closed the case after fulfilling the requirements of Section 174 of the Code

holding that there was no foul play in the incident and also there was no requirement of lodging FIR under Section 154 as none of the family members of the deceased raised any suspicion over the death even though the death was committed within seven years of marriage. Also, there is no evidence of it being a continuing offence. Hence, the offence alleged cannot be said to have been committed wholly or partly within the local jurisdiction of the Magistrate's Court at Durg. Prima facie, none of the ingredients constituting the offence can be said to have occurred within the local jurisdiction of that Court".

28. In the case on hand, as per the materials on record, in Crime No. 194 of 2005, charge-sheet has been filed and the Judicial Magistrate First Class, Durg has taken cognizance of the proceedings. In the present fact situation, we are of the considered opinion that the court at Durg has no territorial jurisdiction to try the case and the proceedings are liable to be quashed on the ground of lack of territorial jurisdiction since the entire cause of action for the alleged offence had purportedly arisen in the city of Ambala."*

45 . It is also pertinent to mention that PW-1, victim has not only made allegations against her father and brother regarding rape committed with her, she has also made a false allegation regarding rape committed by her father (appellant) with her own sister. DW-1 Sanju Devi and DW-2, Prabha Devi are real sisters of victim. They have categorically stated that her younger sister (victim) had fled away at the age of 7-8 years about 9-10 years ago. They have also stated that the allegation of rape committed by her father, upon victim and her sister (DW-2) are false. According to them, their father (appellant) had made herculean efforts to trace out their sister (victim) and when he could not succeed, became hopeless.

46. From perusal of impugned judgment and order dated 22.5.2015 passed by learned Trial Judge, it transpires that learned Judge has neither discussed the evidence available on record nor properly discussed the submission made by defence counsel, particularly regarding jurisdiction, delay in lodging F.I.R. and also on trustworthiness of statement of PW-1 victim, or has appreciated the same correctly.

47. Thus, in view of the above discussion, we are of considered view that prosecution has miserably failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt against appellant-Sita Ram Sharma. Besides, the trial itself was without territorial jurisdiction. He is entitled to be acquitted against charge levelled against him. The judgment and order passed by Additional Session Judge / Fast Track Court, Varanasi in Session Trial No. 181 of 2013 is hereby set aside. Consequently, the appeal is allowed.

48. The appellant is in jail. He, if not wanted in any other case, shall be released forthwith.

49. Keeping in view provisions of Section 437-A of Code, appellant Sita Ram Sharma is hereby directed to forthwith furnish a personal bond of the sum of Rs. 10,000/- and two reliable sureties of the like amount, before the Trial Court, which shall be effective for a period of six months, along with an undertaking that in the event of filing of Special Leave Petition against judgment or for grant of leave, appellant on receipt of notice thereof, shall appear before Supreme Court.

50. A copy of this judgment be sent to Trial court and concerned Superintendent of Jail by FAX for immediate compliance. Compliance report whereof be submitted within one month.

51. Lower court's record be also sent back along with a copy of this judgment.

52. Sri Vinay Saran, learned Amicus Curiae has assisted the Court very diligently. We provide that he shall be paid counsel's fee as Rs. 15,000/-. State Government is directed to ensure payment of aforesaid fee through Additional Legal Remembrancer posted in the office of Advocate General at Allahabad, to Sri Vinay Saran, Amicus Curiae, without any delay and, in any case, within 15 days from the date of receipt of a copy of this judgment.

Jail Appeal No. 4239 of 2013

Bindhyavasini Gond ...Appellant

Versus

State of U.P. ...Opposite Party

Counsel for the Appellant:
From Jail, Sri Anil Pratap Singh, Sri Lokesh Kumar Dwivedi, Sri Santosh Dwivedi.

Counsel for the Opposite Party:
Sri Ratan Singh (A.G.A.)

A. Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 106 - When any fact is especially within the knowledge of any person, the burden of proving that fact is upon him.

Dead body found inside the house of accused. Room was evidently found locked from out-side. The accused disappeared for a long time until he was arrested. Fleeing from the spot is an additional link to the evidence against him. Only accused could explain circumstances in which the deceased died. (Para 36)

B. Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Sections 118 - Evidence of witnesses cannot be rejected only on the ground of their relationship with the victim. The prosecution case can be proved by such witness if their evidence is natural and trustworthy.

The witnesses of fact, are the relatives of deceased, so their testimony cannot be said to be unreliable or not trustworthy. (Para 40, 41 & 43)

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajendra Kumar-IV, J.)

1. Against judgment and order dated 31.07.2013 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 7, Varanasi in Sessions Trial No.62 of 2013, Crime No.231 of 2012, under Sections 302 and 201 IPC, Police Station Rohaniya, District Varanasi, accused-appellant has preferred present jail appeal under Section 383 Cr.P.C. from Jail through Superintendent District Jail, Varanasi. By impugned judgement, appellant has been convicted under Section 302 I.P.C. and sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for life with fine of Rs. 25,000/- and in default of payment of fine, one year additional rigorous imprisonment and further he has been convicted under Section 201 I.P.C. and sentenced to undergo five years rigorous imprisonment with fine Rs. 5000/- and in default of payment of fine, six-month additional rigorous imprisonment.

2. Factual matrix of case as emerging from First Information Report (hereinafter referred to as "FIR") as well as material placed on record is as follows.

3. P.W.-1 Shyam Lal submitted a written report Ex.Ka-1 in Police Station Rohaniya, District Varanasi stating that on 2.6.2011, his daughter Anju was married with Bindyavasini Gond son of Lalji Gond village Vishokhar Lathiya, Police Station Rohaniya, District Varanasi. After marriage PW-1 brought her daughter from her matrimonial house in Chauthi ceremony. Thereafter, his son-in-law Bindhyavasini Gond (accused-appellant) never visited his house to bring his daughter (Anju). It was further stated that character of son-in-law was not good. He was angry with his family. Many times Bindhyavasini Gond threatened his son (Rajesh Gond) to kill him. On 18.8.2012, Rajesh Gond went to the house of his elder daughter Manju Devi, village Amra, Police Station Rohaniya, and stayed for two days there. On 20.8.2012 victim Rajesh Gond left for Vidapur but did not reach his house. On 25.8.2012 at about 8:00 AM, PW-1 was informed by his daughter Manju Devi that dead body of Rajesh Gond, wrapped in blanket, was lying in the room of Bindhyavasani Gond (accused). PW-1 along with his daughter Manju Devi, PW-3, visited house of accused-appellant and identified dead body of Rajesh Gond who was murdered by Bindhyavasani Gond. Accused-appellant ran away after locking the room.

4. On the basis of written report Ex.Ka-1, Chick F.I.R. Ex.Ka-4 was registered by PW-5 Babu Ram Yadav as Case Crime No.231 of 2012 against the accused-appellant under Section 302, 201 I.P.C. He also made an entry of the incident in G.D. on 25.8.2012 at 10:35 a.m. copy of which is Ex.Ka-5.

5. Immediately, after registration of case, investigation was undertaken by PW-6, S.I. Ramayan Singh, who proceeded to spot and held inquest over the dead body of Rajesh Gond, prepared inquest report Ex.Ka-2 and other papers relating thereto and sent for post mortem, visited spot, prepared site plan Ex.Ka-12.

6. PW-4 Dr. Anil Kumar, conducted autopsy over the dead body of deceased and prepared postmortem report (Ex.Ka-3) under his signature, expressing his opinion that death was possible one week prior to postmortem and viscera was preserved for ascertaining cause of death.

7. PW-6 S.I. Ramayan Singh, after completing entire formalities of investigation submitted charge sheet Ex.Ka-14 against the appellant under Section 302 and 201 I.P.C.

8. Case, being exclusively triable by Court of Sessions, was committed by C.J.M. concerned to Court of Sessions for trial after compliance of Section 207 Cr.P.C.

9. Trial Court framed charges against accused-appellant on 12.2.2013 under Sections 302 and 201 IPC which read as under:

आरोप

मैं, ओमप्रकाश, सत्र न्यायाधीश, वाराणसी एतद्द्वारा आप विन्धयवासिनी गोंड़, को निम्न आरोपों से आरोपित करता हूँ–

अतएव, मैं निर्देशित करता हूँ कि आपके विरूद्व उक्त आरोपो का विचारण इस न्यायालय द्वारा किया जावे।

Charge

I, Om Prakash, Sessions Judge, Varanasi hereby charge you Vindhyavasini Gond with following charges :-

First -That at any time during the period from 20.08.2012 upto 8.00 o'clock of the morning of 25.08.2012, you committed the murder of Rajesh- the son of the complainant of the case Shyam Lal

Gond within village Vishokhar (Lathiya) under Police Station- Rohaniya, District- Varanasi and thus you committed the offence punishable under Section 302 I.P.C. which is in the cognizance of this Court.

Second -That on 25.08.2012, for the purpose of saving yourself from the legal punishment you had kept hidden the deadbody of Rajesh wrapped in a blanket at your room within village Vishokhar (Lathiya) under Police Station- Rohaniya, District- Varanasi, which was the evidence of this offence and thus you have committed the offence punishable under Section 201 I.P.C. which is in the cognizance of this Court.

Therefore, I direct that you be tried by this court for aforesaid charges.

(English Translation by Court)

10. Accused-appellant denied the charges and pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

11. In order to substantiate its case, prosecution examined as many as six witnesses, out of whom PW-1 Shyam Lal, PW-2 Anju Devi and PW-3 Manju Devi are witnesses of fact and PW-4 Dr. Anil Kumar, PW-5 Babu Ram Yadav and PW-6 Ramayan Singh are formal witnesses.

12. On closure of prosecution evidence, statement of accused-appellant under Section 313 Cr.P.C. was recorded by the Court explaining entire evidence and other incriminating circumstances. In the statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., accused-appellant denied prosecution story in toto and facts of case were stated to be wrong. In response of question no. 16, he answered that he was ignorant of fact. He desired to produce defence evidence but later on did not produce defence evidence.

13. Trial Court after appreciating entire evidence led by prosecution on record and hearing counsel for the parties, found appellant guilty and convicted him as stated above. Feeling aggrieved and dissatisfied with impugned judgement, present appeal has been filed through Jail.

14. We have heard Sri Lokesh Kumar Dwivedi, learned counsel for appellant and Sri Ratan Singh, learned A.G.A for State-respondent at length and gone through the record available on file carefully.

15. Learned counsel for appellant refuting the impugned judgement, advanced his submissions, in the following manners :-

(i) This is a case of circumstantial evidence and there is no motive to accused to commit murder of Rajesh Gond.

(ii) There is no complete chain of evidence so as to indicate that accused is the only person who has committed crime.

(iii) There are several contradictions rendering prosecution case doubtful.

(iv) FIR has been lodged by PW-1 (father of victim) close relative of deceased on the same day of receiving of information.

(v) PW-1, 2 and 3 are close relatives of the deceased and interested witnesses. No public witness has come forward to supporting the prosecution case.

(vi) It has come in the prosecution evidence that father and elder brother of accused, at first, informed PW-3 that foul smell was coming out of room of accused but they have not been produced from the side of prosecution.

(vii) Prosecution has failed to prove complete chain of circumstance and trial court committed error in holding the accused-appellant guilty.

16. Per contra learned AGA opposed submissions and urged that PWs-1, 2 and 3 are witnesses of fact, who have supported prosecution and established that accused-appellant was angry with victim, dead body of victim was found in the room belonged to accused-appellant and accused disappeared from there. Accused did not offer any explanation as to how dead body of victim was found in his house which was locked from out side. Circumstances show that accused-appellant is the only and only person who committed murder of Rajesh Gond.

17. We now proceed to consider rival submissions on merits.

18. Admittedly, there is no eye-witness in the present case. This case rests upon circumstantial evidence. It is no doubt a case where there is no eye witness of crime. Prosecution totally rests on circumstantial evidences, which found favour with Court below and finding prosecution version proved beyond reasonable doubt, Trial Court has convicted appellant, as stated above.

19. It will be appropriate to briefly consider the evidence on record. PW-1 is the father of deceased and PW-2 and 3 are real sisters of deceased. PW-2 Manju Devi was residing in the same village. PW-1 supporting prosecution case, deposed that, his daughter Anju Devi was married to accused-appellant on 2.6.2011. After marriage she had gone to her matrimonial house. She came back to her parental house in Chauthi ceremony, since then she was living in his house and accused-appellant became annoyed with victim, who was in private job in Gujrat. Accused-appellant threatened victim Rajesh to take his life many times. When victim Rajesh Gond came from Gujrat on 18.8.2012 and went to the house of his sister Manju Devi in village Amra which is at a distance of one kilometer from the house of accused, and stayed there for two days. Thereafter, he left for his house but did not reach. At about 8:00 AM on 25.8.2012, PW-3 Manju Devi informed him that dead body of Rajesh was lying wrapped in blanket in the house of accused-appellant. Then he and his daughter Manju Devi went to the house of accused and identified dead body of Rajesh which was decomposed. It was further stated by him that Rajesh was murdered by accused-appellant Bindhyavasini on account of ill-will and dead body was hidden in the room wrapping it in blanket. Dead body was taken out breaking the lock. He submitted written report Ex.Ka-1 in police station concerned, getting it scribed by one Ram Asrey Gond. He further stated that inquest over dead body was held by Sub Inspector of Police in his presence at spot. In cross-examination, he stated that his daughter, when came back from his matrimonial house, told him that accused-appellant harassed and tortured her in demand of dowry but he did not complain anywhere.

20. PW-2 Anju Devi, daughter of PW-1 and wife of accused deposed that she was married to accused Bindhyawasini in June, 2011 and recognized accused in the Court as her husband. She further deposed that when she went with her husband after marriage, she found that his character was not good. In Chauthi ceremony, she came back to her house with her father, her maternal uncle and her brother Babloo. Since then she was living in her parental house. Since her father and brother took her to his house, her husband got annoyed with her father and brother on this count. She witnessed dead body of her brother in Police Station Rohaniya and identified the dead body. This witness stated nothing regarding the incident hence her statement does not require any further scrutiny.

21. PW-3 Manju Devi deposed that her younger sister Anju was married to accused Bindhyawasini in June, 2011. She came back to her maternal house in Chauthi ceremony and since then living there for the reasons that her husband (accused-appellant) was not a man of good character. Her brother Rajesh Gond was in private job in Gujrat and had come to her house at the time of Rakshabandhan and remained for two days in her house. On 20.8.2012, at about 8:00 AM in the morning, he left her house saying that he would go to his village after seeing his brother-in-law (accused). Five days after, Lalji (father-in-law of Anju PW-2) and Girish (Jeth of Anju) came to her house and told that foul smell was coming out of Bindhyavasini's room and it was locked from out side. Thereupon she went to house of Bindhyavasini along with them and witnessed that house of accused-appellant was locked from out side and foul smell was coming from inside. Then they broke open the lock and saw inside that dead body of Rajesh was lying wrapped in a blanket and smelling. She felt that her brother Rajesh was murdered by accused Bindhyavasini Gond. She informed to her father about the incident.

22. PW-6 S.I. Ramayan Singh Investigating Officer deposed that on 25.8.2012 he was posted as Station Officer in P.S. Rohaniya and undertook investigation of Case Crime No. 231 of 2012 under Sections 302, 201 I.P.C., proceeded to spot, held inquest over the dead body of Rajesh, prepared inquest report Ex.Ka-2 and other papers relating thereto, took shirt of deceased and blanket, in which body was wrapped, in his possession, prepared memo whereof Ex.Ka-10, recorded statement of Shyam Lal, PW-1, and prepared site plan Ex.Ka-12. Thereafter, he recorded statement of PW-3 Manju Devi and other witnesses, sent viscera of deceased to FSL, Lucknow for examination through constable Ram Asrey, arrested accused-appellant with one Tamancha and two live cartridges on 29.9.2012, recorded statement and after completing entire formalities of investigation submitted charge sheet Ex.Ka-14 against the accused. Witness withstood lengthy cross-examination. In his cross-examination, he deposed that there was no key of lock, therefore, lock of room was broken. Informant, witness of inquest and other person of village were present on spot. The room in which body found, was situated after Varamdhah which was on the road and dead body of Rakesh was kept on concrete in the room, wrapped in a blanket. Body was decomposed and smelling. Dead body was identified by family members on the basis of cloths and appearance (Huliya). It was further deposed that meal was cooked in the room.

23. From the evidence of PWs-1, 3 and 6 adduced by prosecution following circumstances are clearly established :

A. Smt. Anju Devi was married to accused-appellant in 2011 but relations between them were strained and she did not go to her matrimonial house after Chauthi ceremony for the reasons that her husband (accused) was not a man of good character.

B. Victim went to the house of his elder sister Manju Devi on the festival of Rakshabandhan, prior to incident and stayed there for two days.

C. Victim Rajesh left her house saying that he would go to his village after seeing his brother-in-law (accused).

D. Dead body of Rajesh Gond was found lying wrapped in blanket in the house of accused-appellant and his father and elder brother informed PW-3 first about the smell, coming out of house.

E. As per statement of PW-6, meal was cooked in the room and it was locked from out side. I.O. found blood on the spot and body was wrapped in a blanket.

F. When dead body was found in the room of accused, it was locked and accused had disappeared.

G. Postmortem report reveals that death of Rajesh Gond might have occurred one week prior to postmortem. Body was decomposed and smelling.

H. Rajesh Gond was murdered and his body was wrapped in blanket, kept in room which was locked from out side.

24. In the case in hand, there is no eye witness of occurrence and case of prosecution rests on circumstantial evidence. The normal principle in a case based on circumstantial evidence is that circumstances from which an inferences of guilt is sought to be drawn must be cogently and firmly established; that those circumstances should be of a definite tendency unerringly pointing towards the guilt of the accused; that the circumstances taken cumulatively should form a chain so complete that there is no escape from the conclusion that within all human probability the crime was committed by the accused and he should be incapable of explanation on any hypothesis other than that of the guilt of the accused and inconsistent with his innocence.

25. Hanumant Govind Nargundkar & Anr. v. State of M.P., AIR 1952 SC 343, is the basic judgment of the Supreme Court on appreciation of evidence, when the case depends only on circumstantial evidence, which has been consistently relied in later judgments. In this case as long back as in 1952 Hon'ble Mahajan, J expounded various concomitant of proof of a case based purely on circumstantial evidence and said:

*"... circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency and they should be such as to exclude every hypothesis but the one proposed to be proved..... it must be such as to show that within all human probability the act must have been done by the accused."

26. In Hukam Singh v. State of Rajasthan, AIR 1977 SC 1063, Court said, where a case rests clearly on circumstantial evidence, inference of guilt can be justified only when all the incriminating facts and circumstances are found to be incompatible with innocence of accused or guilt of any other person.

27. In Sharad Birdhichand Sarda v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 1984 SC 1622, Court while dealing with a case based on circumstantial evidence, held, that onus is on prosecution to prove that chain is complete. Infirmity or lacuna, in prosecution, cannot be cured by false defence or plea. Conditions precedent before conviction, based on circumstantial evidence, must be fully established. Court described following condition precedent :-

(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established. The circumstances concerned 'must or should' and not 'may be' established.

(2) the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty.

(3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency.

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved, and

(5) there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused.

(emphasis added)

28. In Ashok Kumar Chatterjee v. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 1989 SC 1890, Court said:

"...when a case rests upon circumstantial evidence such evidence must satisfy the following tests :-

(1) the circumstances from which an inference of guilt is sought to be drawn, must be cogently and firmly established;

(2) those circumstances should be of a definite tendency unerringly pointing towards guilt of the accused;

(3) the circumstances, taken cumulatively; should form a chain so complete that there is no escape from the conclusion that within all human probability the crime was committed by the accused and none else; and,

*(4) the c*ircumstantial evidence in order to sustain conviction must be complete and incapable of explanation of any other hypothesis than that of the guilt of the accused and such evidence should not only be consistent with the guilt of the accused but should be inconsistent with his innocence." (emphasis added)

29. In C. Chenga Reddy and Others v. State of Andhra Pradesh, 1996(10) SCC 193, Court said:

"In a case based on circumstantial evidence, the settled law is that the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is drawn should be fully proved and such circumstances must be conclusive in nature. Moreover, all the circumstances should be complete and there should be no gap left in the chain of evidence. Further, the proved circumstances must be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused and totally inconsistent with his innocence. "

(emphasis added)

30. In Bodh Raj @ Bodha and Ors. v. State of Jammu and Kashmir, 2002(8) SCC 45 Court quoted from Sir Alfred Wills, "Wills' Circumstantial Evidence" (Chapter VI) and in para 15 of judgement said:

"(1) the facts alleged as the basis of any legal inference must be clearly proved and beyond reasonable doubt connected with the factum probandum;

(2) the burden of proof is always on the party who asserts the existence of any fact, which infers legal accountability;

(3) in all cases, whether of direct or circumstantial evidence the best evidence must be adduced which the nature of the case admits;

(4) in order to justify the inference of guilt, the inculpatory facts must be incompatible with the innocence of the accused and incapable of explanation, upon any other reasonable hypothesis than that of his guilt,

*(5) if there be any reasonable doubt of the guilt of the accused, he is entitled as of right to be acquitted."

(emphasis added)

31. The above principle in respect of circumstantial evidence has been reiterated in subsequent authorities also in Shivu and Another v. Registrar General High Court of Karnataka and Another, 2007(4) SCC 713 and Tomaso Bruno v. State of U.P., 2015(7) SCC 178.

32. In State of Punjab versus Karnail Singh, (2003)11 SCC 27, Court observed that law does not enjoying the duty on prosecution to lead evidence of such character which is almost impossible to be led or at any rate extremely difficult to be led. The duty on prosecution is to lead such evidence which it is capable of leading.

33. Now the crucial question remain for consideration is "whether accused-appellant has committed crime or not?"

34. It is a case where an offence has taken place inside the privacy of house where accused was residing. Accused has all opportunity to plan and commit offence at the time and in circumstances of his choice. It will be extremely difficult for prosecution to lead evidence to establish guilt of accused if strict compliance of circumstantial evidence as noticed above, is insisted upon by Court.

35. Here it is necessary to keep in mind Section 106 of Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (hereinafter referred to as 'Act, 1872') which says that when any fact is especially within the knowledge of any person the burden of proving that fact is upon him.

36. Dead body of Rajesh was found wrapped in a blanket in the house of accused. House, in which dead body was found, belonged to him has not been disputed by accused. Room was evidently found locked out side and accused disappeared for a long time until he was arrested. Fleeing away of accused from spot is a additional link evidence against him. Hence it was only accused who could explain circumstances in which Rajesh Gond died. In view of Section-106 of Act, 1872, burden of proof lay upon accused who has failed to discharge. The accused by virtue of his special knowledge must offer an explanation which might lead a Court to draw a different inference.

37. In Trimukh Maroti Kirkan versus State of Maharashtra, decided on 11.10.2006, Court has held, where an accused is alleged to have committed murder of his wife and the prosecution succeeds in leading evidence to show that shortly before commission of crime they were seen together or the offence takes placed in the dwelling home where husband also normally resided, if accused does not offer any explanation how the wife received injuries or offers an explanation which is found to be false, it is a strong circumstances which indicates that he is responsible for commission of the crime.

38. In Nika Ram versus State of Himachal Pradesh, AIR 1972 SC 2077, it was held that the fact that the accused alone was with his wife in the house when she was murdered there with 'khokhri' and the fact that the relations of the accused with her were strained would, in the absence of any cogent explanation by him, point to his guilt.

39. In Ganeshlal v. State of Maharashtra, (1992) 3 SCC 106, the appellant was prosecuted for murder of his wife which took place inside his house. It was observed by Court that when death had occurred in his custody, appellant is under an obligation to give a plausible explanation for the cause of her death in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. The mere denial of prosecution case coupled with absence of any explanation were held inconsistent with the innocence of the accused, but consistent with the hypothesis that appellant is a prime accused in the commission of murder of his wife.

40. Another argument advanced by learned counsel for appellant is that witnesses of fact, PW-1, 2 and 3 are the relatives of deceased, so their testimony can not be said to be reliable and trustworthy.

41. Admittedly, PW-1 is father of deceased and PW-2 and 3 are the real sisters of deceased, who established the circumstances that victim Rajesh had gone to the village of her sister Manju Devi at the time of Rakshabhandan and his dead body was found in the locked house of accused.

42. In Ganga Bhawani v. Rayapati Venkat Reddy and Others, 2013(15) SCC 298, Court has held as under :-

"11. It is a settled legal proposition that the evidence of closely related witnesses is required to be carefully scrutinised and appreciated

before any conclusion is made to rest upon it, regarding the convict/accused in a given case. Thus, the evidence cannot be disbelieved merely on the ground that the witnesses are related to each other or to the deceased. In case the evidence has a ring of truth to it, is cogent, credible and trustworthy, it can, and certainly should, be relied upon.

43. It is settled law that merely because witnesses are closely relative to deceased, their testimonies cannot be discarded. Relationship with one of the parties is not a factor that affects credibility of witness, more so, a relative would not conceal the actual culprit and make allegation against an innocent person. However, in such a case Court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse the evidence to find out that whether it is cogent and credible evidence.

44. Next argument of learned counsel for the accused-appellant in so far as discrepancies, variation and contradiction in the prosecution case are concerned, we have analysed entire evidence in consonance with the submissions raised by learned counsel's and find that the same do not go to the root of case.

45. In Sampath Kumar v. Inspector of Police, Krishnagiri, (2012) 4 SCC 124, Court has held that minor contradictions are bound to appear in the statements of truthful witnesses as memory sometimes plays false and sense of observation differs from person to person.

46. We lest not forget that no prosecution case is foolproof and the same is bound to suffer from some lacuna or the other. It is only when such lacunae are on material aspects going to the root of the matter, it may have bearing on the outcome of the case, else such shortcomings are to be ignored. Reference may be made to a recent decision of Apex Court (3 Judges) in Criminal Appeal No. 56 of 2018, Smt. Shamim v. State of (NCT of Delhi), decided on 19.09.2018.

47 . Next argument of the learned counsel for the appellant is that prosecution has not produced father and brother of accused-appellant from the side of prosecution, therefore, presumption under Section 114(g) Act, 1882 goes against the prosecution.

48. We are not impressed with the argument of learned counsel for the accused-appellant for the reasons that prosecution is not obliged to produce entire witness in its support.

49. Law is well-settled that as a general rule, Court can and may act on the testimony of a single witness provided he/she is wholly reliable. There is no legal impediment in convicting a person on the sole testimony of a single witness. That is the logic of Section 134 of Act, 1872, but if there are doubts about the testimony, Court will insist on corroboration. In fact, it is not the numbers, the quantity, but the quality that is material. Time-honoured principle is that evidence has to be weighed and not counted. Test is whether evidence has a ring of truth, cogent, credible and trustworthy or otherwise.

50. In Namdeo v. State of Maharashtra (2007) 14 SCC 150, Court re-iterated the view observing that it is the quality and not the quantity of evidence which is necessary for proving or disproving a fact. The legal system has laid emphasis on value, weight and quality of evidence rather than on quantity, multiplicity or plurality of witnesses. It is, therefore, open to a competent court to fully and completely rely on a solitary witness and record conviction. Conversely, it may acquit the accused inspite of testimony of several witnesses if it is not satisfied about the quality of evidence.

51. In the present case, it is fully established that dead body of Rajesh was found wrapped in a blanket in the house of accused-appellant which was locked from out side and accused had disappeared remained so until his arrest. The medical evidence showed that death of Rajesh Gond might have been occurred one week prior to post mortem, accused-appellant in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. did not offer any plausible explanation as to how Rajesh Gond died, recovery of blood stained concrete and shirt of deceased was made from the house of accused-appellant therefore, there cannot be any hesitation to come to conclusion that it was only the accused who was the preparator of crime.

52. In the entirety of the facts and circumstances and legal preposition discussed herein before, we are of considered view that prosecution has successfully proved its case beyond reasonable doubt against accused-appellant and Trial Court has rightly convicted him for having committed murder of Rajesh Gond, an offence punishable under Section 302 and 201 IPC. No interference is warranted. Appeal lacks merit and liable to be dismissed.

53. So far as sentence of accused-appellant is concerned, it is always a difficult task requiring balancing of various considerations. The question of awarding sentence is a matter of discretion to be exercised on consideration of circumstances aggravating and mitigating in the individual cases.

54. It is settled legal position that appropriate sentence should be awarded after giving due consideration to the facts and circumstances of each case, nature of offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed. It is obligation of court to constantly remind itself that right of victim, and be it said, on certain occasions person aggrieved as well as society at large can be victims, never be marginalised. The measure of punishment should be proportionate to gravity of offence. Object of sentencing should be to protect society and to deter the criminal in achieving avowed object of law. Further, it is expected that courts would operate the sentencing system so as to impose such sentence which reflects conscience of society and sentencing process has to be stern where it should be. The Court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against individual victim but also against society to which criminal and victim belong. Punishment to be awarded for a crime must not be irrelevant but it should conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality which the crime has been perpetrated, enormity of crime warranting public abhorrence and it should 'respond to the society's cry for justice against the criminal'. [Vide: Sumer Singh vs. Surajbhan Singh and others, (2014) 7 SCC 323, Sham Sunder vs.

Puran, (1990) 4 SCC 731, M.P. v. Saleem, (2005) 5 SCC 554, Ravji v. State of Rajasthan, (1996) 2 SCC 175].

55. Hence, applying the principles laid down in the aforesaid judgments and having regard to the totality of facts and circumstances of case, nature of offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed, we find that punishment imposed upon accused-appellant-Bindhyavasini Gond by Trial Court in impugned judgment and order is not excessive and it appears fit and proper and no question arises to interfere in the matter on the point of punishment imposed upon him.

56. In view of above discussion, the appeal lacks merit and is, accordingly, dismissed. Impugned judgement and order dated 31.7.2013 passed by Additional Session Judge, Court No.7, Varanasi in Session Trial No. 62 of 2013 (State v. Bindhyavasini Gond) under Sections 302 and 201 IPC, Police Station Rohaniya, District Varanasi, is maintained and confirmed.

57. Lower Court record along with the copy of this judgment be sent immediately to Court and Jail Superintendent concerned for necessary compliance and to apprise the accused forthwith. Compliance report be also submitted to this Court.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajendra Kumar-IV, J.)

1. Accused-appellant Pramod Kumar has preferred this jail appeal under Section 383 Cr.P.C. from Jail through Senior Superintendent Central Jail, Fatehgarh against judgment and order dated 08.08.2012 passed by Additional Sessions Judge / Special Judge (E.C. Act), Kanpur Nagar in Sessions Trial No. 1434 of 2007, Case Crime No. 504 of 2007, under Section 302 IPC and Sessions Trial No. 1433 of 2007, Case Crime No. 510 of 2007, under Section 4/25 Arms Act, Police Station Govind Nagar, District Kanpur Nagar. By impugned judgement, appellant has been convicted under Section 302 I.P.C. and sentenced to undergo rigorous imprisonment for life with fine of Rs. 20,000/- and in default of payment of fine, three months simple imprisonment and further he has been convicted and sentenced under Section 4/25 Arms Act to undergo one year rigorous imprisonment with fine of Rs. 5,000/- and in default of payment of fine one month simple imprisonment.

2. Factual matrix of case as emerging from First Information Report (hereinafter referred to as "FIR") as well as material placed on record is as follows.

3. P.W.-3 Manoj Kumar submitted a written report Ex.Ka-1 in Police Station Govind Nagar, District Kanpur Nagar stating that there was a quarrel between his brothers Vinod Kumar (now deceased) and Promod Kumar (Accused) regarding eating items like sugar and rice. On 15.9.2007 at about 9:00 PM in the night, a dispute occurred between two brothers for sugar and tea and suddenly, accused-appellant Promod Kumar started beating victim Vinod Kumar. While quarreling, both came out of the house on the road. When Informant PW-3, with the help of neighbours tried to rescue him, accused-appellant Promod Kumar assaulted 3-4 knife blows to his brother Vinod Kumar and ran away. While taking the victim Vinod Kumar to hospital, he succumbed to injuries on the way. Written report Ex.Ka-1 further recites that dead body of Vinod Kumar is lying in front of the house.

4. On the basis of written report Ex.Ka-1, Chick F.I.R. Ex.Ka-2 was prepared by PW-4 Head Constable Yasho Verma at Case Crime No.504 of 2007 and case was registered against accused-appellant under Section 302 I.P.C. An entry of case was made in General Diary (herein after referred to as 'GD'), copy whereof is Ex.Ka-3.

5. Immediately, after registration of case, PW-7 Nirankar Singh, the then Inspector In-charge of Police Station Govind Nagar, commenced investigation and recorded statement of PW-3 Manoj Kumar, proceeded to spot, recorded statement of PW-2, Jhamman Lal; and PW-1 Smt. Jyoti Shakya; collected blood stained and simple earth from spot and prepared site plan Ex.Ka-7. On the same day at about 9:15 PM, he arrested accused-appellant Pramod Kumar siting near a temple, recorded disclosure statement and recovered blood stained knife, allegedly used in the commission of offence, from bushes near the eucalyptus tree at the pointing out of accused-appellant before Babloo and Ashok Kumar (not examined), sealed it in a cover of cloth, got prepared recovery memo Ex.Ka-8, prepared site map of recovery Ex.Ka-9.

6. On the basis of recovery memo, chick F.I.R. Ex.Ka-5 was registered being Case Crime No. 510 of 2007 under Section 4/25 Arms Act against accused-appellant Promod Kumar. Investigation of Case Crime no. 510 of 2007 was done by PW-10.

7. PW-8 S.I. Ramveer Singh, on the direction of Inspector In-charge, PW-7, held inquest over the dead body of Vinod Kumar, prepared inquest report Ex.Ka-11 and other papers relating thereto; handed over the dead body to Constable Hoti Lal and Ram Dhani for post mortem and sent it to District Hospital, Kanpur Nagar.

8. PW-7 after recording statement of witnesses, completed all necessary formalities of investigation and submitted charge sheet Ex.Ka-10 against accused-appellant before the Court of C.J.M. concerned.

9. PW-10, Sri Om Prakash Dwivedi under took investigation of Case Crime No. 510 of 2007 and after completing entire formalities of investigation, submitted charge sheet under Section 4/25 Arms Act.

10. Case under Section 302 I.P.C. being exclusively triable by Court of Sessions and case under Section 4/25 Arms Act being connected with Section 302 I.P.C., learned Chief Judicial Magistrate after making compliance of under Section 207 Cr.P.C. committed both cases to Court of District Judge, Kanpur Nagar for trial wherefrom it was transferred to the Court of Special Judge (E.C. Act), Kanpur Nagar.

11. Trial Court framed charges against accused-appellant on 17.01.2008 under Sections 302 IPC and Section 4/25 Arms Act to which accused denied and claimed trial. Charges read as under :-

(English Translation By Court)

12. Accused-appellant denied the charges and pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

13. Both the cases, being connected to each other, came to be heard and decided together.

14. In order to substantiate its case, prosecution examined as many as ten witnesses out of whom PW-1 Smt. Jyoti Shakya, PW-2-Jhamman Lal and PW-3-Manoj Kumar, are witnesses of fact. Rest are formal witnesses. PW-1 Smt. Jyoti Shakya is the wife of deceased Vinod Kumar; PW-2 Jhamman Lal is father of deceased as well as accused; PW-3 is Informant and brother of accused-appellant; PW-4 Head Constable Yasho Verma registered the case under Section 302 I.P.C. against the accused on the basis of written report Ex.Ka-1; PW-5 Dr. Yogesh Dayal, Medical Officer, who conducted autopsy over the dead body of deceased; PW-6 C.P. Asha Ram registered the case at Crime No. 510 of 2007 under Section 4/25 Arms Act against the accused; PW-7 Nirankar Singh, C.O. Ghaziabad, the then Inspector In-charge of Police Station Kanpur Nagar is the Investigating Officer who submitted charge sheet; PW-8 S.I. Ramveer Singh held inquest over the dead body of deceased Vinod Kumar, under the direction of PW-7 the then Inspector; PW-9 Constable Bhikhari Lal is the witness, who has taken docket to FSL for examination and PW-10 S.I. Om Prakash Dwivedi is the Investigating Officer of Case Crime No.510 of 2007 under Section 4/25 Arms Act and submitted charge sheet against accused-appellant.

15. Subsequent to closure of prosecution evidence, Trial Court recorded statement of accused under Section 313 Cr.P.C. explaining all incriminating and other evidence and circumstances. In the statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., accused denied prosecution story in toto and claimed false implication on account of enmity. In response of question no. 24, he answered that deceased was addict to drugs and a man of bad habits; he usually used to quarrel other persons in the vicinity due to which, he has been murdered by some one else; accused was not present in the house at the time of incident; he has been falsely implicated in the present case and he is completely innocent. Accused did not choose to adduce any evidence.

16. After hearing counsel for the parties and analyzing entire evidence led by prosecution on record, learned Trial Court has found appellant guilty and convicted him as stated above. Feeling aggrieved with impugned order of conviction, the present appeal has been filed through Jail.

17. We have heard Smt. Archana Singh, Advocate (Amicus Curiae) for appellant and Sri Syed Ali Murtaza, learned A.G.A for State-respondent at length and have gone through the record available on file carefully.

18. Learned Amicus Curiae appearing for appellant assailing impugned judgement of conviction of accused-appellant, advanced submissions, in the following manner :-

(i) PWs-1, 2 and 3 are interested witnesses and they are not independent.

(ii) There is no strong motive to accused to commit murder of his own real brother. Motive as stated by prosecution is not sufficient to commit the present crime.

(iii) Medical report is not compatible with the ocular version.

(iv) There are many major contradiction in the statement of PWs rendering the case of prosecution doubtful.

(v) Knife which is said to be used in the commission of offence is allegedly recovered at the instance of accused before public witness but they have not been produced by prosecution in support of recovery. In absence of public witness recovery cannot be said to be trustworthy and reliable.

(vi) Prosecution has failed to prove its case beyond of shadow of reasonable doubt and accused is entitled to get benefit of doubt and liable to be acquitted.

19. Learned AGA vehemently opposed contentions of accused-appellant and submitted that accused is named in F.I.R.; blood stained knife, allegedly used in the commission of offence, has been recovered from his possession at the pointing out of applicant; PW-2 Jhamman Lal, father of deceased as well as accused and PW-3 real brother of deceased as well as accused, have no reason to falsely implicate accused in the present case like murder; PW-1 being wife of deceased is natural witness for the reasons, incident started from house and happened on road; prosecution witnesses are totally natural and reliable witnesses and there is no scope to disbelieve their testimony; and in the statement recorded under Section 313 Cr.P.C., accused has taken a plea of alibi but could not prove it and even did not suggest as to why his father and real brother were giving false evidence against him. He sought dismissal of appeal.

20. We have considered rival submissions of both parties and travelled through evidence available on record with the valuable assistance of learned counsel for the parties.

21. Although time, date, place and manner of injuries and death of victim as stated by prosecution could not be disputed from the side of defence but according to Advocate for accused-appellant, he is not responsible for causing murder of Vinod Kumar. Even otherwise from the evidence of PWs-1, 2, 3 and 5, time, date and place of incident, death of Vinod Kumar and manner of injuries as stated by prosecution stand proved.

22. Only question remains for consideration is, "whether accused-appellant has committed murder of Vinod Kumar by inflicting knife blows on him and Trial Court has rightly convicted accused-appellant for causing death of Vinod Kumar, punishable under Section 302 I.P.C.?"

23. We may now proceed to consider the submissions of learned counsel for the parties and evidence briefly as well as legal points with few important decisions.

24. PW-1 Smt. Jyoti Shakya deposed that accused Pramod Kumar is real brother of her husband (Vinod Kumar) and Jhamman Lal PW-2 is her father-in-law; on 15.9.2007 at about 9:00 PM in the night there was a dispute between her husband Vinod Kumar and accused-appellant Pramod Kumar in respect of tea leaf and sugar; due to dispute being increased, accused Pramod Kumar abused her husband and started beating; she interfered and rescued both but, thereafter, her husband and accused came out of house on the road; she (witness) also came out of her house; while quarreling, accused-appellant took out knife from house and started stabbing in the stomach and chest of her husband due to which her husband got seriously injured; on seeing persons coming there, accused-appellant got escaped with knife; while taking her husband to hospital in injured position, he breathed last in the way; report of incident was got registered by PW-3, Manoj Kumar (her Dewar); usually there had to be quarrel between accused-appellant and her husband for households items.

25. In her cross-examination, she admitted that she studied M.A.; her cousin sister was married to accused-appellant; three days prior to the incident, Deepmala wife of accused had gone to her maternal house; when quarrel started, she (PW-1) was in kitchen and making food; there was a quarrel regarding sugar and tea leaf and kitchen was just adjacent to room; and her father-in-law was present at the time of incident.

26. PW-2 Jhamman Lal, happens to be father of accused-appellant as well as deceased. He has deposed that on 15.9.2007 at about 9:00 PM, there was a dispute between Vinod Kumar and Promod Kumar regarding tea leafs and sugar; accused-appellant Pramod Kumar started abusing and assaulting Vinod Kumar victim; his wife Smt. Jyoti, PW-1, rescued them but both of them came out of house; while quarreling, Pramod Kumar took out knife from house; by that time Jyoti also came out of house; Pramod Kumar stabbed knife 3-4 times to victim Vinod Kumar, due to which he got injured; accused-appellant ran away from spot with knife; Manoj Kumar took victim Vinod Kumar to hospital but unfortunately victim succumbed to injuries; dead body of Vinod Kumar was taken to house.

27. PW-2 has admitted in cross-examination that he had four sons, namely, Ashok Kumar, Pramod Kumar, Vinod Kumar and Manoj Kumar; his eldest son was living in Armapur, Kanpur while rest three were living with him; and at the time of occurrence, he, Vinod Kumar, Pramod Kumar, Smt. Jyoti and her son Prashant aged about four and half years were present on spot.

28. PWs-1 and 2 withstood lengthy cross-examination but no adverse material could be brought so as to disbelieve their statement. Their presence on the spot is fully proved and natural. Statements of these two witnesses are wholly reliable and worthy to credence. There is nothing on record to show, why PW-2 Jhamman Lal, father of accused would depose against his own son in the heinous offence like murder. Even accused appellant did not suggest anything in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. while PW-2 has given statement against him. He simply said that statement of witnesses are wrong. He took a plea of alibi but did not prove it.

29. PW-3 Manoj Kumar supporting prosecution case has deposed that on 15.9.2007 at about 9:00 PM he was present in his office and arrived at his house on getting information of incident; Victim Vinod Kumar was lying in injured position; he took him to hospital on Tempo but on the way victim breathed last; he came back to his house with dead body and presented written report Ex.Ka-1 in the Police Station. This witness is not an eye witness, therefore, much more discussion is not required.

30. So far as argument of learned Amicus Curiae for accused-appellant in respect of relation witnesses is concerned, we are not impressed with submission made by learned Amicus Curiae for accused-appellant for reasons that if relation witnesses are found to be reliable, natural and trustworthy, their evidence cannot be discarded on the ground of their relationship with deceased or accused.

31. Now, next thing to be considered is that PWs.-1, 2 and 3 are family members of deceased. PW-1 is wife of deceased, and therefore, their evidence should be treated to be trustworthy or not. This submission is thoroughly misconceived. Mere relationship is not sufficient to discard otherwise trustworthy ocular testimony.

32. In Dalip Singh v. State of Punjab, AIR,1953, SC 364. Court held as under :-

"A witness is normally to be considered independent unless he or she springs from sources which are likely to be tainted and that usually means unless the witness has cause, such as enmity against the accused, to wish to implicate him falsely. Ordinarily, a close relative would be the last to screen the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person. It is true, when feelings run high and there is personal cause' for enmity, that there is a tendency to drag in an innocent person against whom a witness has a grudge along with the guilty, but foundation must be laid for such a criticism and the mere fact of relationship far from being a foundation is often a sure guarantee of truth. However, we are not attempting any sweeping generalisation. Each case must be judged on its own facts. Our observations are only made to combat what is so often put forward in cases before us as a general rule of prudence. There is no such general rule. Each case must be limited to and be governed by its own facts."

33. In Dharnidhar v. State of UP (2010) 7 SCC 759, Court has observed as follows :-

"There is no hard and fast rule that family members can never be true witnesses to the occurrence and that they will always depose falsely before the Court. It will always depend upon the facts and circumstances of a given case. In the case of Jayabalan v. U.T. of Pondicherry (2010) 1 SCC 199, this Court had occasion to consider whether the evidence of interested witnesses can be relied upon. The Court took the view that a pedantic approach cannot be applied while dealing with the evidence of an interested witness. Such evidence cannot be ignored or thrown out solely because it comes from a person closely related to the victim"

34. In Ganga Bhawani v. Rayapati Venkat Reddy and Others, 2013(15) SCC 298, Court has held as under :-

"11. It is a settled legal proposition that the evidence of closely related witnesses is required to be carefully scrutinised and appreciated before any conclusion is made to rest upon it, regarding the convict/accused in a given case. Thus, the evidence cannot be disbelieved merely on the ground that the witnesses are related to each other or to the deceased. In case the evidence has a ring of truth to it, is cogent, credible and trustworthy, it can, and certainly should, be relied upon.

35. It is settled that merely because witnesses are close relatives of victim, their testimonies cannot be discarded. Relationship with one of the parties is not a factor that affects credibility of witness, more so, a relative would not conceal actual culprit and make allegation against an innocent person. However, in such a case Court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse the evidence to find out that whether it is cogent and credible evidence.

36. So far as motive is concerned, it is well settled that where direct evidence is worthy, it can be believed, then motive does not carry much weight. It is also notable that mind set of accused persons differs from each other. Thus merely because that there was no strong motive to commit the present offence, prosecution case cannot be disbelieved.

37. In Lokesh Shivakumar v. State of Karnataka, (2012) 3 SCC 196, Court has held as under :-

"As regards motive, it is well established that if the prosecution case is fully established by reliable ocular evidence coupled with medical evidence, the issue of motive looses practically all relevance. In this case, we find the ocular evidence led in support of the prosecution case wholly reliable and see no reason to discard it."

38. According to Advocate for appellant, medical evidence is not compatible with ocular evidence.

39. PW-5 Dr. Yogesh Dayal, deposed that on 16.9.2007, he conducted autopsy over the dead body of Vinod Kumar and found five ante-mortem injuries which reads as under :-

(i) Abraded contusion 6cm x 0.5 cm on left side of face, just above the ramus of mandibular.

(ii) Abraded contusion 17 cm x 7 cm on upper arm on tricep area.

(iii) Stab wound 2 cm x 1 cm x abdominal cavity deep on front of abdomen right side, 1 cm lateral to umbilicus bleeding.

(iv) Stab wound 1 cm x 0.5 cm x Abdominal cavity deep on lower abdomen right side, 7 cm lateral to umbilicus, bleeding.

(v) Stab wound, 2 cm x 1 cm x muscle and bone deep present on back of lower chest right side, 4 cm lateral to vertebral coloum and 15 cm below the interior angle of right scapula.

40. Doctor opined that death of deceased might have occurred due to shock and haemorrhage on account of ante-mortem injuries and it was possible 1/2 days prior to post mortem. He further opined that injury nos. 3, 4 and 5 were possible to be caused by some sharp edged weapon.

41. We are not in agreement with the learned counsel for the appellant for the reasons that PW-1, 2 and 3 supporting prosecution case have deposed that accused-appellant stabbed 3-4 knife blows in the stomach of deceased Vinod Kumar due to which deceased Vinod Kumar received serious injuries and Doctor has opined that death of victim would have been caused due to ante-mortem injuries. In this way medical evidence is totally compatible with oral version.

42. In so far as discrepancies, variations and contradictions in prosecution case are concerned, we have analysed entire evidence in consonance with submissions raised by learned counsel's and find that the same do not go to the root of case and accused-appellant are not entitled to get benefit of the same.

43. In Sampath Kumar v. Inspector of Police, Krishnagiri, (2012) 4 SCC 124, Court has held that minor contradictions are bound to appear in the statements of truthful witnesses as memory sometimes plays false and sense of observation differs from person to person.

44. In Sachin Kumar Singhraha v. State of Madhya Pradesh in Criminal Appeal Nos. 473-474 of 2019 decided on 12.3.2019, Supreme Court has observed that Court will have to evaluate evidence before it keeping in mind the rustic nature of depositions of the villagers, who may not depose about exact geographical locations with mathematical precision. Discrepancies of this nature which do not go to the root of the matter do not obliterate otherwise acceptable evidence. It need not be stated that it is by now well settled that minor variations should not be taken into consideration while assessing the reliability of witness testimony and the consistency of the prosecution version as a whole.

45. om some lacuna or the other. It is only when such lacunae are on material aspects going to the root of the matter, it may have bearing on the outcome of the case, else such shortcomings are to be ignored. Reference may be made to a recent decision in Criminal Appeal No. 56 of 2018, Smt. Shamim v. State of (NCT of Delhi), decided on 19.09.2018.

46. When such incident takes place, one cannot expect a scripted version from witnesses to show as to what actually happened and in what manner it had happened. Such minor details normally are neither noticed nor remembered by people since they are in fury of incident and apprehensive of what may happen in future. A witness is not expected to recreate a scene as if it was shot after with a scripted version but what material thing has happened that is only noticed or remembered by people and that is stated in evidence. Court has to see whether in broad narration given by witnesses, if there is any material contradiction so as to render evidence so self contradictory as to make it untrustworthy is Minor variation or such omissions which do not otherwise affect trustworthiness of evidence, which is broadly consistent in statement of witnesses, is of no legal consequence and cannot defeat prosecution.

47. In all criminal cases, normal discrepancies are bound to occur in the depositions of witnesses due to normal errors of observations, namely, errors of memory due to lapse of time or due to mental disposition such as shock and horror at the time of occurrence. Where the omissions amount to a contradiction, creating a serious doubt about truthfulness of the witness and other witnesses also make material improvement while deposing in the court, such evidence cannot be safe to rely upon. However, minor contradictions, inconsistencies, embellishments or improvements on trivial matters which do not affect the core of the prosecution case, should not be made a ground on which the evidence can be rejected in its entirety. Court has to form its opinion about the credibility of witness and record a finding, whether his deposition inspires confidence. Exaggerations per se do not render the evidence brittle, but can be one of the factors to test credibility of the prosecution version, when entire evidence is put in a crucible for being tested on the touchstone of credibility. Therefore, mere marginal variations in the statement of a witnesses cannot be dubbed as improvements as the same may be elaborations of the statements made by the witnesses earlier. Only such omissions which amount to contradictions in material particulars i.e. go to the root of the case/materially affect the trial or core of the prosecution's case, render the testimony of the witness liable to be discredited. [Vide: State Represented by Inspector of Police v. Saravanan & Anr., AIR 2009 SC 152; Arumugam v. State, AIR 2009 SC 331; Mahendra Pratap Singh v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2009) 11 SCC 334; and Dr. Sunil Kumar Sambhudayal Gupta & Ors. v. State of Maharashtra, JT 2010 (12) SC 287].

48. So far as next argument of learned counsel for the appellant is concerned, according to him, public witness in support of recovery of knife has not been produced from the side of prosecution and absence of public witness recovery become doubtful.

49. We would like to consider briefly the evidence of Officer, who made recovery and some important decisions on this subject. PW-7, Nirankar Singh, I.O. in his statement in chief deposed that he arrested accused Pramod Kumar sitting near a temple at about 9:15 PM. In his disclosure statement, he admitted his guilt and on his pointing out one blood stained knife was recovered from bushes near eucalyptus tree. It is true that recovery is said to be made before public witness as but no public witness has been produced from the side of prosecution to prove recovery. Witness PW-7 was lengthy cross-examined by accused counsel but nothing on record to show that witness had any occusation to falsely implicate the accused.

50. As a matter of rule, there can be no legal proposition that evidence of police officers, unless supported by independent witnesses, is unworthy of acceptance. Non-examination of independent witness or even presence of such witness during police raid would cast an added duty on the court to adopt greater care while scrutinising the evidence of the police officers. If the evidence of police officer is found acceptable, it would be an erroneous proposition that court must reject prosecution version solely on the ground that no independent witness was examined. In Pradeep Narayan Madqaonkar & others vs. State of Maharashtra 1995 (4) SCC 255, it was held:

"Indeed, the evidence of the official (police) witnesses cannot be discarded merely on the ground that they belong to the police force and are, either interested in the investigation of the prosecuting agency but prudence dictates that their evidence needs to be subjected to strict scrutiny and as far as possible corroboration of their evidence in material particulars should be sought. Their desire to see the success of the case based on their investigation, requires greater care to appreciate their testimony."

51. Balbir Singh vs. State 1996 (11) SCC 139, the Court has repelled a similar contention based on non-examination of independent witnesses. The same legal position has been reiterated time and again by Apex Court vide Paras Ram vs. State of Haryana 1992 (4) SCC 662, Sama Alana Abdulla vs. State of Gujarat 1996 (1) SCC 427, Anil alias Andya Sadashiv Nandoskar vs. State of Maharashtra 1996 (2) SCC 589.

52. In Subhash Singh Thakurshyam vs State (Through CBI) (1997) 8 SCC 732, a Two Judge Bench of the Apex Court comprising of Hon'ble M. Mukherjee and Hon'ble K. Thomas JJ, in para 90 observed:

"....We should not forget that the time of the raid was during the odd hours when possibly no pedestrian would have been trekking on the road nor any shopkeeper remaining in his shop nor a hawker moving around on the pavements."

53. In State of U.P. v. Zakaullah 1998 Cri. L.J. 863 in para-10, it is said:

"The necessity for "independent witness" in cases involving police raid or police search is incorporated in the statute not for the purpose of helping the indicted person to bypass the evidence of those panch witnesses who have had some acquaintance with the police or officers conducting the search at some time or the other. Acquaintance with the police by itself would not destroy a man's independent outlook. In a society where police involvement is a regular phenomenon many people would get acquainted with the police. But as long as they are not dependent on the police for their living or liberty or for any other matter, it cannot be said that those are not independent persons. If the police in order to carry out official duties, have sought the help of any other person he would not forfeit his independent character by giving help to police action. The requirement to have independent witness to corroborate the evidence of the police is to be viewed from a realistic angle. Every citizen of India must be presumed to be an independent person until it is proved that he was a dependent of the police or other officials for any purpose whatsoever."

54. Referring to some of the the aforesaid decisions, Court in Girja Prasad Vs. State of M.P. (2007) 7 SCC 625 held:

"It is well-settled that credibility of witness has to be tested on the touchstone of truthfulness and trustworthiness. It is quite possible that in a given case, a Court of Law may not base conviction solely on the evidence of Complainant or a Police Official but it is not the law that police witnesses should not be relied upon and their evidence cannot be accepted unless it is corroborated in material particulars by other independent evidence. The presumption that every person acts honestly applies as much in favour of a Police Official as any other person. No infirmity attaches to the testimony of Police Officials merely because they belong to Police Force. There is no rule of law which lays down that no conviction can be recorded on the testimony of Police Officials even if such evidence is otherwise reliable and trustworthy. The rule of prudence may require more careful scrutiny of their evidence. But, if the Court is convinced that what was stated by a witness has a ring of truth, conviction can be based on such evidence." (para 25)

55. In the present case, it is fully established from the statement of PW-1 and PW-2 that Vinod Kumar succumbed to knife injures caused by accused-appellant. Evidence shows that dead body of deceased was found in the house at the time of inquest. Medical evidence shows that death of Vinod Kumar might have occurred due to shock and haemorrhage on account of ante-mortem injuries, as alleged by prosecution. Accused-appellant in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C. has given reply that witnesses gave false statement but he did not suggest anything as to why PW-1 and PW-2 gave false statements against him, therefore, there cannot be any hesitation to come to conclusion that accused Pramod Kumar caused death of his brother Vinod Kumar by causing several injuries on his body with knife.

56. In view of facts and legal position discussed hereinabove, we find that Trial Court has rightly analyzed evidence led by prosecution and found accused guilty and convicted him for having committed murder of Vinod Kumar, an offence punishable under Section 302 IPC. Conviction and sentenced awarded by Trial Court is liable to be maintained and confirmed. No interference is warranted by this Court. Jail appeal lacks merit and liable to be dismissed.

57. So far as sentencing of accused-appellant is concerned, it is always a difficult task requiring balance of various considerations. The question of awarding sentence is a matter of discretion to be exercised on consideration of circumstances aggravating and mitigating in individual cases.

58. It is settled legal position that appropriate sentence should be awarded after giving due consideration to the facts and circumstances of each case, nature of offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed. It is obligation upon court to constantly remind itself that right of victim, and be it said, on certain occasions or person aggrieved as well as society at large can be victims, never be marginalised. The measure of punishment should be proportionate to gravity of offence. Object of sentencing should be to protect society and to deter the criminal in achieving avowed object of law. Further, it is expected that courts would operate the sentencing system so as to impose such sentence which reflects conscience of society and sentencing process has to be stern where it should be. The Court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against individual victim but also against society to which criminal and victim belong. Punishment to be awarded for a crime must not be irrelevant but it should conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality which the crime has been perpetrated, enormity of crime warranting public abhorrence and it should 'respond to the society's cry for justice against the criminal'. [Vide: Sumer Singh vs. Surajbhan Singh and others, (2014) 7 SCC 323, Sham Sunder vs. Puran, (1990) 4 SCC 731, M.P. v. Saleem, (2005) 5 SCC 554, Ravji v. State of Rajasthan, (1996) 2 SCC 175].

59. Hence, applying the principles laid down in the aforesaid judgments and having regard to the totality of facts and circumstances of case, nature of offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed, we find that punishment awarded to accused-appellant by Trial Court in impugned judgment and order is not excessive and it appears fit and proper and no question arises to interfere in the matter on the point of punishment imposed upon him.

60. Resultantly. Appeal lacks merit and is hereby dismissed.

61. Lower Court record along with a copy of this judgment be sent back immediately to District Court and Jail concerned for compliance and apprising the accused-appellant.

62. Before parting, we provide that Smt. Archana Singh, Advocate, who has assisted as Amicus Curiae, appearing for appellant in present Jail Appeal, shall be paid counsel's fee as Rs. 15,000/- for his valuable assistance. State Government is directed to ensure payment of aforesaid fee through Additional Legal Remembrancer, posted in the office of Advocate General at Allahabad, without any delay and, in any case, within one month from the date of receipt of copy of this judgment.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Virendra Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. The present jail appeal under Section 383 Cr.P.C. has been filed by accused-appellant Mahendra through Superintendent of Jail, Firozabad against the judgment and order dated 21.2.2014 passed in Sessions Trial No. 483 of 2013, convicted under Section 5 (m), 5 (i) read with 6 of Protection of Children from Sexual Offence, 2012 (hereinafter referred as "POCSO Act, 2012') whereby he has been sentenced to undergo life imprisonment along with a fine of Rs. 10,000/-for offence under Section 5(m) read with Section 6 and further has been sentenced for similar sentence i.e. life imprisonment and fine of Rs. 10,000/- for offence under Section 5(i) read with Section 6 of POCSO Act, 2012. In the event of default of payment of fine, he has been directed to further undergo one year additional imprisonment on each count. All the sentences were directed to run concurrently.

2. Prosecution case in short is that on 20.8.2013 at 7:35 p.m., P.W.1, Informant Nirosh Chandra, went along with his grand daughter victim (name of victim is not being disclosed and she is being addressed as a victim) aged about 9 years at Police Station (P.S.) Kahairgarh, District Firozabad and submitted a written report (Ex.Ka.1), stating therein that on the said day victim had gone to the fields for grazing she-goats. In the evening at 6:00 p.m. appellant Mahendra son of Banvari Jatav, dragged her away in Bajra (maiz crops) field of Pappu, committed rape upon her, left victim in injured state and fled away thereafter. Information of the incident was given to him by one Ram Sanehi resident of his village. Thereafter Informant, his son Ram Avtar and other villagers of his village rushed to the place of occurrence and found victim groaning due to pain.

3. On the basis of written report (Ex.Ka.1), P.W.5 Head Moharrir Dharam Pal Singh lodged report on 20.8.2013 at 7:35 p.m. at Case Crime No. 114 of 2013, under Sections 376 I.P.C., 3A and 4 of POCSO Act, 2012 and also prepared chick report (Ex.Ka.6). He made relevant corresponding entry in General Diary at Report No. 42, a copy whereof is Ex. Ka.7 on record. After registration of the case, investigation was undertaken by P.W.7, Station Officer, Manoj Kumar, who recorded statement of Informant, P.W.1 and scribe of the written report, Mukesh Kumar. Victim was sent for medical examination and treatment to District Hospital as she was suffering from severe pain and agony. Thereafter he proceeded to spot, prepared site plan (Ex.Ka.10) of the place of occurrence on pointing out of Informant. During investigation, he arrested accused-appellant Mahendra; copied statement of victim recorded under Section 164 Cr.P.C. in case diary and sealed clothes of the victim which were later on sent for forensic test.

4. The victim was examined by P.W.3, Dr. Sadhna Rathore, on 20.8.2013 at 9:20 p.m. According to this witness, victim was a young girl with 138 cm height and 29 kg weight; breasts were not developed; auxiliary and pubic hair were not present, no mark of external injury on the body was present. On further examination, bleeding from vagina was present; blood clots were also present in vagina; second degree perineal tear at 5:0' clock position about 1 inch in length and ½ inch in depth; and oedema was present around tear. According to P.W.3, she had prepared vaginal smear slide and sent to pathology for examination of history and presence (H/P) of spermatozoa. The victim was referred to S.N. Medical College, Agra for expert management and detailed medico legal examination. She was advised for X-ray. According to P.W.3, injury was caused to victim by hard and blunt object and possibility of sexual assault could not be ruled out.

5. As per P.W.8, Dr. Shashikant Gupta, Radiologist who had conducted x-ray of victim for determination of her age, the victim was aged about 9 years at the time of occurrence. He had prepared X-ray report (Ex.Ka.13) which was duly counter signed by Chief Medical Officer, Firozabad.

6. On 27.9.2013, during investigation victim was produced before Additional Civil Judge (Judicial Magistrate), II Firozabad who had recorded her statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. to the following effect:-

"Today on 27.9.2013, victim has been produced by the Investigating officer Manoj Kumar for statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. Identification and signatures of victim were certified.

Today since victim, daughter of Ram Awtar aged 8 years, class III, School K.P.Singh, School Khairgarh, resident of Khairgarh, District Firozabad, is minor, hence she was asked questions about her education and subject, brothers and sisters to which she replied that Hindi, English, Science and Maths subject were taught in school. Regarding brothers and sisters she stated that she has one brother and two sisters. Hence the victim is capable of tendering statement and possesses common parlance.

Victim stated that:

When my school gets closed, I go to graze goats. That day too, I had gone to graze she-goats and was plucking grass and feeding them. From behind Mahendra Baba came and asked her to jump in Bajra field but I did not go there, whereupon Mahendra Baba shut my mouth and dragged me by his hands in the field of Bajra. Thereafter he undressed my undergarment and committed bad act with me. He had shut my mouth and had also warned if she shouted he would strangulate her.

I had become unconscious. When it rained, I came to my senses and came out of the field gradually. On the field Alka Bua met me, I told her entire episode whereupon she started crying and then "Hat waley Baba" came over there and Alka Bua telephoned at my home and Praveen uncle came on motorcycle. Praveen Uncle directly took me to police station. Subsequently, my parents get my treatment done."

7. After conclusion of investigation, P.W.7 S.O. Manoj Kumar submitted a charge-sheet (Ex.Ka.11) against appellant under Section 376 I.P.C. and 3(a) / 4 of POCSO Act, 2012.

8. Cognizance of the offence was taken by Additonal District and Session Judge, II Firozabad on 21.9.2013. Copies of relevant prosecution papers were supplied to appellant by Trial Court. It appears that case was transferred and charges were framed by Additional District and Session Judge, Court No. 3, Firozabad on 10.10.2013 which read as under:-

I, Jyotsana Sharma, Additional Session Judge, Court No. 3, Firozabad hereby charge you Mahendra as follows:

"Firstly That you, on 20.8.2013 at 6:00 p.m. in the filed of Bajra of Pappu within the limits of Police Station Khairgarh, District Firozabad committed rape on victim, daughter of Ram Awtar aged about 9 years. You thereby committed an offence which is punishable under Section 376(2) (i) as amended by Criminal Amendment Act, 2013 and within the cognizance of this Court.

Secondly, that on the aforesaid date, time and place you committed penetrative sexual assault on the victim aged about 09 years causing injuries to her vagina as defined under Section 5 (m) and 5 (i) of POCSO Act, 2012 and is punishable under Section 6 of Protection Of Children From Sexual Offences Act, 2012 and within the cognizance of this Court.

You are hereby directed to be tried for the aforesaid charges. (English translation by Court).

9. Charges were read over and explained to accused-appellant who pleaded not guilty and claimed to be tried.

10. In order to substantiate prosecution case, as many as eight witnesses were examined from the side of prosecution, out of whom Informant, P.W.1 Nirosh Chandra, and victim P.W.2 victim are witnesses of fact. Rest are formal witnesses. P.W.3, Dr. Sadhna Rathore, had initially examined victim and has proved photocopy of injury report (Ex.Ka.2) and original injury report Ex.Ka.9. She has also proved supplementary report (Ex.Ka.3) and reference letter (Ex.Ka.4) for pathology.

11. P.W.4, Dr. Richa Singh, had undertaken treatment of victim at S.N. Hospital, Agra and proved discharge slip (EX.Ka.5). P.W.5, Head Constable Dharampal had registered F.I.R. and proved chick report (Ex.Ka.6) as well as copy of General Diary entry (Ex.Ka.7). P.W.6, Constable Clerk Brijesh Kumar has proved letter of request (Ex.Ka.8) addressed to Incharge PHC/CHC, Khairgarh for medical examination of injured victim. P.W.7, S.O. Manoj Kumar had conducted investigation of the case and proved charge-sheet (Ex.Ka.11) as well as site plan and other necessary documents. P.W.8, Dr. Shashikant Gupta, Radiologist has proved age certificate of the victim countersigned by C.M.O. on the basis of X-ray report submitted by him.

12. After conclusion of evidence, accused-appellant was examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C. He denied prosecution evidence and stated to be falsely implicated on account of enmity with the villagers. He did not adduce any evidence in defence.

13. After hearing counsel for parties and on appreciation of evidence available on record, learned Trial Court convicted and sentenced accused-appellant as mentioned in para 1 of this judgment.

14. Feeling dissatisfied, accused-appellant has approached this Court through Superintendent of Jail, Firozabad in the instant appeal.

15. Heard Sri Mahendra Prasad Mishra, learned counsel for appellant and Sri M.C. Joshi, learned A.G.A. for State.

16. Learned counsel for appellant has submitted that appellant is innocent and has been falsely implicated. No eye-witness has been produced by prosecution; statement of P.W.1, Nirosh Chand, is self contradictory and cannot be relied as he is interested witness and no other witness was examined by the prosecution; no external injury on the body of victim was found, no spermatozoa was found in medical examination, thus ocular evidence is not corroborated by medical evidence; place of occurrence is doubtful as the prosecution has failed to prove whether offence was committed in the field of maize crops or on road; thus prosecution has failed to proved its case beyond reasonable doubt and accused-appellant is liable to be acquitted.

17. Per-contra learned A.G.A. has submitted that prosecution has succeeded to prove its case and ocular evidence is fully supported by medical evidence; the evidence of victim is wholly reliable, trustworthy and requires no further corroboration; accused has committed a heinous statutory offence and is not entitled any mercy; hence, appeal is liable to be dismissed.

18. We have considered the rival submission of learned counsel for parties and have gone through the entire record.

19. In this appeal it has to be determined, "whether the prosecution has succeeded to prove the charge levelled against the accused-appellant successfully and beyond reasonable doubt."

20. P.W.1 Nirosh Chand, grandfather of the victim, has stated that on 20.8.2013 at 6:00 p.m. his grand daughter, aged about 9 years, had gone to graze her goats in field. Accused-appellant Mahendra Singh (present before Trial Court) had dragged her in a maize crop field of Pappu and raped her. He fled away leaving her in injured condition. He has further stated that the said incident was informed to him by one Ram Sanehi and upon information he, his son Ram Awtar and so many people rushed towards the place of occurrence and saw that the victim was crying with pain. Thereafter they took her to police station, got First Information Report (Ex.Ka.1) written by one Mukesh Kumar and filed the same. He has further stated that the victim was sent by police to hospital for treatment. As she was badly injured, therefore, she was referred therefrom to Firozabad, District Hospital and thereafter she was further referred to Agra for treatment.

21. P.W.2 is a victim aged about 9 years. Since she was of tender age. Trial Court, before her examination, asked some preliminary questions in order to testify her competency, whether she was able to give rational answer to the questions, put to her during her examination and after satisfaction that she was competent for deposition, Trial Court permitted her to give her evidence on oath. She stated on oath that incident happened in that year prior to Sanuna (Raksha Bandhan) on the day when a sister used to tie band on the wrist of her brother. It was the evening and not a dark. She had gone to graze her goats in the field situated in her village har (outskirt of village) where accused appellant Mahendra met her and said her to jump (come) in the field of maize crops but she did not jump. Thereafter he shut her mouth, caught her hand and dragged her in the filed of maize crops which was Pappu's field. She has further stated that the appellant had got down her undergarment and laid her in field and said that until he would thrust her whole penis (lund), he would not leave her. Thereafter, he thrust her penis (munia) into her vagina whereupon she became unconscious. She further stated that she had got severe injuries, profused bleeding and became totally unconscious. After sometime when she became conscious, she started to weep, thereafter people arrived there including her Alka Bua (aunty). She was medically examined and referred to Firozabad Hospital and thereafter had also been admitted in Agra for treatment. Police got her statement recorded in Court. Accused-appellant Mahendra had threatened her not to disclose the incident to anyone otherwise he would kill her.

22. P.W.3, Dr. Sadhna Rathore, has stated that on 20.8.2013 she was on duty as Emergency Medical Officer (E.M.O.) at District Women Hospital, Firozabad and examined victim who was brought before her by Constable 619 Ram Bihari at 9:20 p.m. (the injuries and examination report has been mentioned in the preceding paras of this judgment). She said that during examination she had prepared Medico Legal Examination Report (Ex.Ka.9); vaginal smear were sent for pathological examination to detect the presence of spermatozoa and its reference letter (Ex.Ka.4) was prepared by her, but no sperm was detected; thereafter she had prepared supplementary Medico Legal Report (Ex.Ka.3); in her opinion, injury caused to the victim was of hard and blunt object and possibility of sexual assault cannot be ruled out.

23. P.W.4, Dr. Richa Singh has stated that on 21.8.2013, she was posted as Professor in S.N. Medical College, Agra and had given treatment to the victim who was referred by District Hospital, Firozabad. The victim was admitted for treatment under his supervision. Her perineum and vagina was torn. She (P.W.4) had stitched it and discharged after three days as her condition was satisfactory. According to her, discharge slip (Ex.Ka.5) of the victim was prepared by one Dr. Harpreet Singh under his dictation.

24. P.W.5, Head Constable 128 Dharamapl posted at Police Station Khairgarh has stated that he had prepared Chick F.I.R. (Ex.Ka.6) No. 55 of 2013 on the basis of written information given by informant and registered as Case Crime No. 114 of 2013, under Section 376 I.P.C. and ¾ of POCSO Act. He has further stated that the said information was also entered in General Diary Report No. 42 (Ex.Ka.7) at 19:35 p.m.

25. P.W.6, Constable Clerk 849 Brijesh Kumar has stated that on 20.8.2013, he was posted as Const. Clerk at P.S. Khairgarh, District Firozabad and prepared Medico Legal Examination reference letter (Ex.Ka.8) of victim who was brought at P.S. in serious condition and referred her with Constable Ram Bihari at CSC Khairgarh for treatment; condition of victim was serious as there was profuse bleeding from her private part (vagina).

26. P.W.7, S.I. Manoj Kumar posted as Station Officer at P.S. Khairgarh, District Firozabad has stated that he had investigated Case Crime No. 114 of 2013, under section 376 I.P.C. 3(ka), 4 of POCSO Act. During investigation, he had recorded statements of Head Moharrir Dharampal Singh, P.W.1 Nirosh Chandra, P.W.7 Mukesh Kumar, subscriber of F.I.R. and also prepared site plan (Ex.Ka.10) of occurrence; arrested accused-appellant Mahendra; recorded statement of victim; perused supplementary report, X-ray report, age determination report and also took the panty of victim. He has further stated that victim was produced before Magistrate for recording her statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C. and he had copied that statement in case diary. After investigation, as sufficient evidence was found against appellant, he had submitted a charge-sheet against him under Section 376 I.P.C., 3(ka)/4 POCSO Act. He has also identified undergarment (Material Ex.2), produced before him during examination.

27. P.W.8, Dr. Shashikant Gupta, posted as Radiologist on 5.9.2013 at District Hospital, Firozabad, has stated that victim was referred to him for age determination and her X-ray was conducted under his supervision by X-ray technician. According to him in X-ray of her left elbow, epiphysis of lateral epicondyle was not appeared but epiphysis of medial epicondyle and head of radius appeared but not fixed. He has further stated that in X-ray of right wrist, seven carpal bones and right lower head of right radius and ulna were appeared. According to him, X-ray report (Ex.Ka.12) was prepared by him on the basis of X-ray plate (Material Ex.3). He has further stated that age certificate (Ex.ka.13) of victim was prepared by the Board and he had also signed it for determination of age of victim counter signed by Chief Medical Officer.

28. So far as the first submission of learned counsel for appellant is that no eye witness has been produced by prosecution, statement of P.W.1 Nirosh Chandra is self-contradictory and cannot be relied as he is interested witness, is concerned, this is a case of a brutal rape with victim aged about 9 years and rape has been committed by appellant aged about 50 years at the time of occurrence. Evidence on record shows that the victim has called him as "Mahendra Baba' which denotes that she treats and respects appellant as a grand-father or saint (Baba). The way this loathsome wicked act has been committed, has shocked the conscious of the society. Evidently, no eye-witness, other than the victim, has been produced by prosecution. P.W.1, Nirosh Chandra, is the grand-father of the victim. He has clearly stated that when he reached the place of occurrence, he saw that victim was crying and screaming due to severe pain caused by rape, committed by accused-appellant. This witness, though is not a witness of the rape but had reached the place of occurrence just after the occurrence and is a witness of brutal condition of victim caused by appellant. In his cross-examination he has stated that his grand daughter (victim) had told him regarding the occurrence. His evidence cannot be disregarded in any condition.

29. P.W.2, victim aged about 9 years, victim of brutal rape committed by appellant and left over by him in an open field in a pitiable and serious condition is an innocent child. She has no enmity with appellant. She has narrated the occurrence before Trial Court as well as in her statement under Section 164 Cr.P.C., recorded by Judicial Magistrate. Both the witnesses produced by prosecution have been cross-examined by counsel appearing for appellant before Trial Court but nothing has come out in their cross-examination to disbelieve prosecution story.

30. It is settled principle of law as provided in Section 118 of Evidence Act that specific number of witnesses are not required to prove any fact. Similarly evidence of a witness cannot be rejected only on the ground of relationship of the victim. The whole prosecution case can be proved by a single witness if his/her evidence is natural and trustworthy.

31. It is very pertinent to quote at this very stage the law laid down in Masalti and others vs. State of U. P., AIR 1965 SC 202, wherein Court said as under :

".....But it would, we think, be unreasonable to contend that evidence given by witnesses should be discarded only on the ground that it is evidence of partisan or interested witnesses. Often enough, where factions prevail in villages and murders are committed as a result of enmity between such factions, criminal Courts have to deal with evidence of a partisan type. The mechanical rejection of such evidence on the sole ground that it is partisan would invariably lead to failure of justice. No hard and fast rule can be laid down as to how much evidence should be appreciated. Judicial approach has to be cautious in dealing with such evidence; but the plea that such evidence should be rejected because it is partisan cannot be accepted as correct....."

32. Similarly, in Mohabbat vs. State of M.P., (2009) 13 SCC 630, Court held as under :

".....Relationship is not a factor to affect credibility of a witness. It is more often than not a relation would not conceal actual culprit and make allegations against an innocent person. Foundation has to be laid if plea of false implication is made. In such cases, the Court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse evidence to find out whether it is cogent and credible."

33. It is settled principle of Criminal jurisprudence particularly in rape cases that since this type of offence is committed in a secret place by a man with woman who is normally physically stronger than the victim, possibility and availability of eye-witness is rare. Uncorroborated sole testimony of victim may be acted upon, if her evidence is reliable and to refuse the testimony of a victim of sexual assault in absence of corroboration would amount to adding an insult to the victim.

34. In Bharwada Bhogin Bhai Hirji Bhai vs. State of Gujarat AIR

1983 SC 753, Court while dealing with the uncorroborated testimony of the victim of sexual assault, has held as under:-

"In the Indian setting, refusal to act on the testimony of a victim of sexual assault in the absence of corroboration as a rule, is adding insult to injury. Why should the evidence of the girl or the woman who complains of rape or sexual molestation be viewed with the aid of spectacles fitted with lenses tinged with doubt, disbelief or suspicion ? To do so is to justify the charge of male chauvinism in a male dominated society. We must analyze the argument in support of the need for corroboration and subject it to relentless and remorseless cross-examination. And we must do so with a logical, and not an opiniated, eye in the light of probabilities with our feet firmly planted on the soil of India and with our eyes focussed on the Indian horizon. We must not be swept off the feet by the approach made in the Western World which has its own social mileu, its own social mores, its own permissive values, and its own code of life. Corroboration may be considered essential to establish a sexual offence in the backdrop of the social ecology of the Western World. It is wholly unnecessary to import the said concept on a turn-key basis and to transplate it on the Indian soil regardless of the altogether different atmosphere, attitudes, mores, responses of the Indian Society and its profile. The identities of the two worlds are different. The solution of problems cannot therefore be identical. It is conceivable in the Western Society that a female may level false accusation as regards sexual molestation against a male for several reasons such as:

(1) The female may be a 'gold digger' and may well have an economic motive to extract money by holding out the gun of prosecution or public exposure.

(2) She may be suffering from psychological neurosis and may seek an escape from the neurotic prison by phantasizing or imagining a situation where she is desired, wanted, and chased by males.

(3) She may want to wreak vengence on the male for real or imaginary wrongs. She may have a grudge against a particular male, or males in general, and may have the design to square the account.

(4) She may have been induced to do so in consideration of economic rewards, by a person interested in placing the accused in a compromising or embarassing position, on account of personal or political vendatta. (5) She may do so to gain notoriety or publicity or to appease her own ego or to satisfy her feeling of self-importance in the context of her inferiority complex.

(6) She may do so on account of jealousy. (7) She may do so to win sympathy of others. (8) She may do so upon being repulsed.

By and large these factors are not relevant to India, and the Indian conditions. Without the fear of making too wide a statements or of overstating the case, it can be said that rarely will a girl or a woman in India make false allegations of sexual assault on account of any such factor as has been just enlisted. The statement is generally true in the context of the urban as also rural Society. It is also by and large true in the context of the sophisticated, not so sophisticated, and unsophisticated society. Only very rarely can one conceivably come across an exception or two and that too possibly from amongst the urban elites. Because: (1) A girl or a woman in the tradition bound non-permissive Society of India would be extremely reluctant even to admit that any incident which is likely to reflect on her chastity had ever occurred. (2) She would be conscious of the danger of being ostracised by the Society or being looked down by the Society including by her own family members, relatives, friends and neighbours. (3) She would have to brave thewhole world. (4) She would face the risk of losing the love and respect of her own husband and near relatives, and of her matrimonial home and happiness being shattered. (S) If she is unmarried, she would apprehend that it would be difficult to secure an alliance with a suitable match from a respectable or an acceptable family. (6) It would almost inevitably and almost invariably result in mental torture and suffering to herself. (7) The fear of being taunted by others will always haunt her. (8) She would feel extremely embarrassed in relating the incident to others being over powered by a feeling of shame on account of the upbringing in a tradition bound society where by and large sex is taboo. (9) The natural inclination would be to avoid giving publicity to the incident lest the family name and family honour is brought into controversy. (10) The parents of an unmarried girl as also the husband and members of the husband's family of a married woman would also more often than not, want to avoid publicity on account of the fear of social stigma on the family name and family honour. (11) The fear of the victim herself being considered to be promiscuous or in some way responsible for the incident regardless of her innocence. (12) The reluctance to face interrogation by the investigating agency, to face the court, to face the cross examination by Counsel for the culprit, and the risk of being disbelieved, acts as a deterrent.

In view of these factors the victims and their relatives are not too keen to bring the culprit to books. And when in the face of these factors the crime is brought to light there is a built-in assurance that the charge is genuine rather than fabricated.. On principle the evidence of a victim of sexual assault stands on par with evidence of an injured witness. Just as a witness who has sustained an injury (which is not shown or believed to be self inflicted) is the best witness in the sense that he is least likely to exculpate the real offender, the evidence of a victim of a sex-offence is entitled to great weight, absence of corroboration notwithstanding. And while corroboration in the form of eye witness account of an independent witness may often be forthcoming in physical assault cases, such evidence cannot be expected in sex offences, having regard to the very nature of the offence. It would therefore be adding insult to injury to insist on corroboration drawing inspiration from the rules devised by the courts in the Western World. Obseisance to which has perhaps become a habit presumably on account of the colonial hangover. We are therefore of the opinion that if the evidence of the victim does not suffer from any basic infirmity, and the probabilities-factors does not render it unworthy of credence, as a general rule, there is no reason to insist on corroboration except from the medical evidence, where, having regard to the circumstances of the case, medical evidence can be expected to be forthcoming, subject to the following qualification: Corroboration may be insisted upon when a woman having attained majority is found in a compromising position and there is a likelihood of her having levelled such an accusation on account of the instinct of self-preservation. Or when the 'probabilities-factor' is found to be out of tune."

35. In the present case, victim is aged about only 9 years. Neither P.W.1 Nirosh Chandra nor victim had any grudge or enmity with the appellant. Both the victim and appellant are residents of same village. There is no occasion to presume as to why P.W.1 Nirosh Chandra will implicate appellant in false case and stake his honour and dignity in the society. Generally such type of offence is committed in remote sequestered and secluded place, in well pre planned way, so that none can witness the occurrence. It is a case of brutal sexual assault caused by appellant. It is not the case of prosecution that before or at the time of rape any person or witness except victim and appellant was present at the place of occurrence. Thus in this case, prosecution cannot be blamed for non production of any independent witness. Hence submission of learned counsel for appellant, in this regard, has no substance.

36. So far as the argument of learned counsel for appellant that no external injuries on the body of victim or any spermatozoa was found in medical examination and thus there is contradiction between ocular and medical evidence, is concerned, record shows that a serious injury was found in the vagina of victim by P.W.3 Dr. Sadhna Rathore as well as Dr. Richa Singh (P.W.4). Both these medico legal expert have concurrently deposed that deceased was seriously injured and the injury was caused by a blunt object which would have been caused by sexual assault. Although no sperm was detected in pathological report, the same cannot discredit testimony of victim (P.W.2), P.W.3 Dr. Sadhna Rathore and P.W.4 Dr. Richa Singh. The presence of spermatozoa depends upon various facts for example whether accused had ejaculated at the time of occurrence or not or the time gap between the pathological examination and rape. In this case, victim had become unconscious due to pain as appellant penetrated his penis into her vagina and profused bleeding was started therefore it might be that appellant looking into the serious condition of victim would have not ejaculated.

37. In Vahid Khan vs. State of M.P. (2010) 2SCC 9, Court reiterating the consistent view in this regard has held that even the slightest penetration is sufficient to make out an offence of rape and depth of penetration is immaterial. Record further shows that both the medical witnesses P.W.3 Dr. Sadhna Rathore and P.W.4 Dr. Richa Singh have fully supported and corroborated prosecution version as alleged by P.W.1 Nirosh Chand and P.W.2 victim. The injury report and other medical document provided by these witnesses also support prosecution case. PW-2, victim in her examination on oath, before Magistrate, has categorically stated that she was sexually assaulted by appellant and became unconscious due to pain occurred during rape committed by appellant. These witnesses were cross-examined at length at each and every aspect but nothing has come out in their cross-examination whereby any slightest doubt can be assumed in their statement. Thus ocular evidence is wholly corroborated by medical evidence. In view of above discussion, submission of learned counsel for appellant regarding non presence of spermatozoa, absence of injury on the external part of body of victim or contradiction between medical and ocular evidence has no force in the facts and circumstances of this case.

38. It is also pertinent to mention at this juncture that victim was produced before Judicial Magistrate just after she was discharged from hospital after medical examination and treatment. Her statement was recorded under section 164 Cr.P.C., where she has narrated whole occurrence (statement under section 164 Cr.P.C. has been transcribed at para no. 6 of this judgment). This witness in her examination has also stated that she had been produced before Magistrate and her statement was recorded. This witness has not been cross-examined by defence on this point before Trial Court. Thus statement under section 164 Cr.P.C further corroborates prosecution story.

39. So far as the last submission of the learned counsel that place of occurrence is doubtful and prosecution has failed to prove, whether offence was committed in the field of maize crops or on the road is concerned, in F.I.R. it has been clearly mentioned that appellant dragged victim in the maize crops of Pappu, committed rape with her and fled away leaving her alone in that field. P.W.1 Nirosh Chand and P.W. 2 victim have also stated that appellant dragged victim in the maize crops field of Pappu when she had gone to graze her she-goats.

40. In this case, victim is the sole eye-witness. In examination-in-chief, victim has specifically stated that appellant had called her in the field of Maize crops and when she did not follow his command, he shut her mouth and dragged her in maize crops field which was of Pappu. In her cross examination she has unequivocally stated that at the time of occurrence appellant Mahendra met with her on road and from where Pappu's field would be 8-10 steps away; when she had proceeded from her house, appellant Mahendra followed her and met with her after one hour at the place of occurrence; he had not dragged her on road; the maize crops plants were situated 4-5 steps away from the place where she was grazing her goats; there was crushed stones lying on the place from where appellant dragged her; and there were clay pebbles (dheyla).

41. Victim, nowhere, in her statement, has stated that occurrence was committed by appellant on the road. Similarly P.W.1 Nirosh Chand has also not stated in his statement that occurrence was committed by appellant on the road. P.W.7 S.I. Manoj Kumar is Investigating Officer who had prepared site plan (Ex.Ka.10) of the occurrence. In Ex.ka.10 it has been specifically mentioned that offence was committed by appellant with victim in the field of maize crops, owned by Pappu @ Amar Singh. The place of occurrence is shown by "A'. This witness has stated in his examination that he had visited the place of occurrence and prepared site plan, Ex.ka.10. In his cross-examination he has specifically stated that he visited the place on the date of occurrence along with Informant, inmates of victim and other police officials and prepared site plan on the pointing out of Informant. From perusal of statement of these witnesses and documentary evidence, Ex.Ka.1 (F.I.R) and Ex.Ka.10 (site plan), it is clear that the place of occurrence is the field of maize crops belonging to one Pappu which has been fully established without any doubt by prosecution. Thus the submission raised by learned counsel for appellant has no substance.

42. It is also pertinent to note that it is a case of brutal rape committed by accused aged about 50 years with victim who is a kid of just about 9 years old; and appellant is resident of the same village where victim and his grandfather resides.

43. It is established principle of criminal administration of justice that no person will frame her own grand-daughter as a victim of rape who is just about 9 years old because he is very well aware with the fact that whole life of victim may be victimized by society particularly in rural areas. P.W.1 Nirosh Chand and P.W.2 victim are rustic witnesses. P.W.1 is illiterate whereas P.W.2 is innocent child. They were put too lengthy cross examination by learned defence counsel before Trial Court but nothing could be extracted by way of cross examination so as to create any doubt in their testimonies. Their statements are natural and trustworthy. F.I.R. has been lodged without any delay. F.I.R. and medical examination reports of victim are in consonance and corroboration of their statement. According to the statement and examination of all the witnesses, each and every circumstances of the case proved by prosecution leads to only one conclusion that the said brutal offence of rape has been committed by accused appellant. There is nothing on record to show that prosecution witnesses had any animus with appellant so as to implicate him falsely absorbing the actual assailant. Trial Court had elaborately discussed prosecution evidence in the light of arguments advanced by learned counsel of prosecution as well as defence. The impugned judgment and order requires no interference and is liable to be affirmed.

44. Now the question arises, "whether sentence awarded to the appellant by Trial Court is just and proper or not"?

45. In this case, a brutal and hateful offence of rape has been committed by a person aged about 50 years with an innocent victim aged of 9 years and serious injuries have been caused in her vagina. Offence of rape has been defined in Section 375 IPC and its punishment has been provided in Section 376 I.P.C. In addition to it, a special law has been enacted i.e. POCSO Act, 2012 which declares separate offence committed to a child below the age of 18 years as penetrative sexual assault and aggravate penetrative sexual assault. Since victim was aged about 9 years old at the time of occurrence i.e. 20.8.2013, hence, relevant provision of Section 375, 376 of I.P.C. and Section 5, 6, 42, 42A of POCSO Act, (applicable at the time of occurrence) are required to be considered at this stage. These provisions are as follows:

Section 375 - A man is said to commit "rape" if he:

a. penetrates his penis, to any extent, into the vagina, mouth, urethra or anus of a woman or makes her to do so with him or any other person; or

b. inserts, to any extent, any object or a part of the body, not being the penis, into the vagina, the urethra or anus of a woman or makes her to do so with him or any other person; or

c. manipulates any part of the body of a woman so as to cause penetration into the vagina, urethra, anus or any party of body of such woman or makes her to do so with him or any other person; or

d. applies his mouth to the vagina, anus, urethra of a woman or makes her to do so with him or any other person, under the circumstances falling under any of the following seven descriptions: First - Against her will.

Secondly - Without her consent.

Thirdly - With her consent, when her consent has been obtained by putting her or any person whom she is interested, in fear of death or of hurt.

Fourthly - With her consent, when the man knows that he is not her husband and that her consent is given because she believes that he is another man to whom she is or believes herself to be lawfully married.

Fifthly - With her consent, at the time of giving such consent, by reason of unsoundness of mind or intoxication or the administration by him personally or through another of any stupefying or unwholesome Substance, she is unable to understand the nature and consequences of that to which she gives consent.

Sixthly - With or without her consent, when she is under eighteen years of age.

Seventhly - When she is unable to communicate consent.

Section 376 - Punishment for rape.

1. .....

2. Whoever, -

.....

i. commits rape on a woman when she is under sixteen years of age; or

.....

m. while committing rape causes grievous bodily harm or maims or disfigures or endangers the life of a woman; or

n. .....

shall be punished with rigorous imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than ten years, but which may extend to imprisonment for life, which shall mean imprisonment for the remainder of that person's natural life, and shall also be liable to fine.

46. Section 5 and 6 of POCSO Act,2012 are as follows:

Section 5. Aggravated penetrative sexual assault.-

.....

i. whoever commits penetrative sexual assault causing grievous hurt or causing bodily harm and injury or injury to the sexual organs of the child; or

.....

m. whoever commits penetrative sexual assault on a child below twelve years; or

.....

Section 6. Punishment for aggravated penetrative sexual assault.-

"Whoever, commits aggravated penetrative sexual assault, shall be punished with rigorous imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than ten years but which may extend to imprisonment for life and shall also be liable to fine."

47. Thus it appears that a single / same act of aggravated penetrative sexual assault / rape has been declared as offence under Section 375 read with Section 376 I.P.C. and also under Section 5 read with 6 of POCSO Act, if victim is aged about below 12 years.

It is settled principle of law that no person can be punished twice for one offence. Normally Criminal Court by virtue of Section 71 I.P.C., in such cases, where any criminal act is punishable in two or more statutes or in different provision of same statutes, awards sentence in such provision of such statutes where lesser punishment has been provided. Parliament was aware to this situation. Looking into the gravity of nature of rape offences, particularly, rape with victim below the age of 18 years, Section 42 and 42 A of POCSO Act, 2012 were incorporated to deal with such peculiar situation which are as follows:-

Section:42: Alternative Punishment:- Where an act or omission constitutes an offence punishable under this Act and also under sections 166A, 354A, 354B, 354C, 354D, 370, 370A, 375, 376, 376A, 376C, 376D, 376E or section 509 of the Indian Penal Code (45 of 1860), then, notwithstanding anything contained in any law for the time being in force, the offender found guilty of such offence shall be liable to punishment under this Act or under the Indian Penal Code as provides for punishment which is greater in degree.

Section42(A):Act Not In Derogation Of Any Other Law:- The provisions of this Act shall be in addition to and not in derogation of the provisions of any other law for the time being in force and, in case of any inconsistency, the provisions of this Act shall have overriding effect on the provisions of any such law to the extent of the inconsistency.

48. Thus it is clear that if offence of sexual assault is punishable in relevant provision of POCSO Act and is also punishable in relevant provision of I.P.C., like 376 I.P.C., Trial Court is bound to punish accused either in the relevant provision of POCSO Act, or under I.P.C. which is greater in degree.

49. Court, while dealing with Section 42 and Section 42A and relevant provisions of POCSO Act, 2012 in Independent Thought vs. Union of Indian and Others (2017) 10 SCC 800, paras 79 and 80, has held as under:-

79. "Another aspect of the matter is that the POSCO was enacted by Parliament in the year 2012 and it came into force on 14th November, 2012. Certain amendments were made by Criminal Law Amendment Act of 2013, whereby Section 42 and Section 42A, which have been enumerated above, were added. It would be pertinent to note that these amendments in POCSO were brought by the same Amendment Act by which Section 375, Section 376 and other sections of IPC relating to crimes against women were amended. The definition of rape was enlarged and the punishment under Section 375 IPC was made much more severe. Section 42 of POCSO, as mentioned above, makes it clear that where an offence is punishable, both under POCSO and also under IPC, then the offender, if found guilty of such offence, is liable to be punished under that Act, which provides for more severe punishment. This is against the traditional concept of criminal jurisprudence that if two punishments are provided, then the benefit of the lower punishment should be given to the offender. The legislature knowingly introduced Section 42 of POCSO to protect the interests of the child. As the objects and reasons of the POCSO show, this Act was enacted as a special provision for protection of children, with a view to ensure that children of tender age are not abused during their childhood and youth. These children were to be protected from exploitation and given facilities to develop in a healthy manner. When a girl is married at the age of 15 years, it is not only her human right of choice, which is violated. She is also deprived of having an education; she is deprived of leading a youthful life. Early marriage and consummation of child marriage affects the health of the girl child. All these ill effects of early marriage have been recognised by the Government of India in its own documents, referred to hereinabove."

80. "Section 42A of POCSO has two parts. The first part of the Section provides that the Act is in addition to and not in derogation of any other law. Therefore, the provisions of POCSO are in addition to and not above any other law. However, the second part of Section 42A provides that in case of any inconsistency between the provisions of POCSO and any other law, then it is the provisions of POCSO, which will have an overriding effect to the extent of inconsistency. POCSO defines a child to be a person below the age of 18 years. Penetrative sexual assault and aggravated penetrative sexual assault have been defined in Section 3 and Section 5 of POCSO. Provisions of Section 3 and 5 are by and large similar to Section 375 and Section 376 of IPC. Section 3 of the POCSO is identical to the opening portion of Section 375 of IPC whereas Section 5 of POCSO is similar to Section 376(2) of the IPC. Exception 2 to Section 375 of IPC, which makes sexual intercourse or acts of consensual sex of a man with his own "wife" not being under 15 years of age, not an offence, is not found in any provision of POCSO. Therefore, this is a major inconsistency between POCSO and IPC. As provided in Section 42A, in case of such an inconsistency, POCSO will prevail. Moreover, POCSO is a special Act, dealing with the children whereas IPC is the general criminal law. Therefore, POCSO will prevail over IPC and Exception 2 in so far as it relates to children, is inconsistent with POCSO."

50. In this case, victim is aged about 9 years old at the time of occurrence. Section 376 (2) (i) (m) provides, if the offence of rape is committed to a woman aged below 16 years and grievous bodily harm was caused or while committing rape offence or accused has endangers the life of victim; he shall be punished for rigorous imprisonment for a term which shall not be less than 10 years, but which may extend to life imprisonment which shall mean imprisonment for life for the remainder of that person's natural life, and shall also be liable to fine, whereas, Section 6 of POCSO Act, 2012 provides punishment for such offence only for a rigorous imprisonment for a term which shall be not less than 10 years but which may extend to imprisonment for life. Thus imprisonment for remaining natural life as provided in Section 376 is more severe than the imprisonment for life as provided in Section 6 of POCSO Act, 2012.

51. In view of the above, learned Trial Judge ought to have punished appellant in Section 376(2) but due to some reason, best known to learned Trial Judge, he has held appellant guilty only for offence under Section 5(i) and 5(m) read with Section 6 of POCSO Act, 2012 and acquitted accused in Section 376(2) (i).

52. It is pertinent to note at this stage that learned counsel appearing for State has not pointed out Section 42 of POCSO Act before learned Trial Judge. He (Trial Judge) has also neither placed any reliance nor discussed the above important provision of POCSO Act and unfortunately appellant was acquitted for the offence of Section 376 (2) (i). It is also strange that nothing has been stated by learned A.G.A. before this Court, as to whether, State has filed any appeal against acquittal of appellant from the offence under Section 376 (2) (i).

53. Since appellant has been convicted and sentenced for the offence under Section 5(i) and 5(m) read with Section 6 of POCSO Act only and no appeal has been filed by State, hence, we are bound to consider sufficiency of sentence as imposed by Trial Court.

54. In this case appellant has been convicted for life imprisonment and fine of Rs.10,000/- by Trial Court for offence punishable under Section 5 (m) read with Section 6 of POCSO Act, 2012 and for offence under Section 5 (i) read with Section 6 of POCSO Act, 2012 for life imprisonment and fine of Rs.10,000/- but both sentences have been directed by Trial Court to run concurrently.

55. It is settled principle of sentencing and penology that undue sympathy in awarding sentence with accused is not required. The object of sentencing in criminal law should be to protect society and also to deter criminals by awarding appropriate sentence. In this regard Court has observed in State of Madhya Pradesh Vs. Saleem @ Chamaru, AIR 2005 SC 3996, as under:-

"10. The Court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against the individual victim but also against the society to which the criminal and victim belong. The punishment to be awarded for a crime must not be irrelevant but it should conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality with which the crime has been perpetrated, the enormity of the crime warranting public abhorrence and it should "respond to the society's cry for justice against the criminal".

56. We have already noticed that Trial Court has not sentenced appellant U/s 376 (2) I.P.C. It has sentenced appellant under Section 6 of POCSO Act, 2012 and punishment of life imprisonment is lesser in nature than life imprisonment provided U/s 376 (2) I.P.C.

Looking into the nature and gravity of the offence, we are of the view that punishment awarded by Trial Court requires no interference. Appeal is liable to be dismissed and impugned judgment and order passed by Trial Court is liable to be affirmed.

57. In the light of above discussions, appeal is hereby dismissed. Impugned judgment and order dated 21.2.2014 passed by Additional Session Judge, Court No. 8 Firozabad in Session Trial No 483 of 2013 (State vs. Mahendra) whereby appellant has been convicted and sentenced for the offence under Section 5 (i) and 5 (m) read with Section 6 of POCSO Act is maintained and affirmed.

58. Let a copy of his judgment along with lower court record be sent to Additional Session Judge, Court No. 8, Firozabad for necessary information and compliance.

59. A compliance report be sent to this Court within two months. Copy of his judgment be also supplied to the accused through Superintendent of Jail, concerned.

A. Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Sections 118 and 134 - Neither number of witness required to prove a fact nor evidence of a witness can be rejected only on the ground of her relationship with the victim. The whole prosecution case can be proved by a single witness if evidence is natural and trustworthy.

The adequacy of evidence as has been propounded under Section 134 of Evidence Act. As a general rule, Court can and may act on the testimony of a single witness, provided he is wholly reliable. Testimony of witness, cogent, credible and trustworthy having ring of truth, deserves its acceptance. (Para 46)

C. Indian Evidence Act, 1872 - Section 118 - Marginal variations in the statement of a witness cannot be dubbed as improvements as the same may be elaborations of the statements made earlier. Natural, minor contradictions and discrepancies in comparison to the statement recorded during examination-in-chief which do not go to the root of case, to be overlooked.

Minor contradictions, inconsistencies, embellishments or improvements on trivial matters which do not affect the core of the prosecution case, should not be made a ground on which the evidence can be rejected in its entirety. Therefore, mere marginal variations in the statement of a witnesses cannot be dubbed as improvements as the same may be elaborations of the statements made by the witnesses earlier. (Para 58)

1. This jail appeal under section 383 Cr.P.C. has been filed by accused-appellant, Rajesh through Senior Superintendent of Police, Meerut against judgement and order dated 31.05.2013 passed by Sri Ajay Kumar, Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No. 16, Meerut. By the impugned judgement, Rajesh has been convicted under Section 302 I.P.C. and sentenced to life imprisonment along with fine of Rs. 10,000/-. In case of default in payment of fine, he has to further undergo one year additional imprisonment.

2. The prosecution case in short may be stated as under:-

3. On 28.01.2002, a written report (Exhibit Ka-1) was presented by Informant PW-1, Laxmi, at Police Station Nauchandi, District- Meerut, stating that she along with her husband, Dinesh were residing in Sector-4, Shastri Nagar, Meerut, in a rented house of Sharda Sharma. Informant's husband used to pull rickshaw. Smt. Manglo i.e. Dayawati, Bua of Informant's husband resided in House No.114, Sector-3, Shastri Nagar, Meerut. She was ailing. Informant had gone to see her in Sector-3, Shastri Nagar. In the night at about 10:15 PM, her husband Dinesh went to Sector-3 to take her (Informant) back to home. When they reached near Water Tank (Pani ki tanki) situated in Sector-3, accused Rajesh, brother in distant relation, who was hidden in bushes near the corner house situated on road leading to Sector-4, suddenly came out and inflicted knife blow on the neck of Informant's husband by a knife held in his hand. Resultantly, Dinesh fell on the ground. Rajesh again assaulted him with knife. Rajesh had murdered Informant's husband by knife. When she raised alarm, accused threatened and chased her. She ran and reached back to house of her husband's Bua and apprised her of incident. F.I.R. further says that Rajesh and his elder brother, Natthi used to reside with Informant about 9-10 months prior to lodging of F.I.R. Rajesh and Natthi after consuming liquor used to quarrel with Informant's husband. For that reason, Informant's husband evicted both of them from his house. Since then, Rajesh bore enmity and while leaving the house, he also held threat to Informant's husband Dinesh that he would settle the score. Rajesh committed murder of informant's husband in her presence. She had seen and recognised Rajesh very well in the electric light. F.I.R. further states that her husband's dead body was lying at the spot.

4. On the basis of written report (Exhibit Ka-1), chik report (Exhibit Ka-2) was prepared by Head Muharrir, Ram Bahadur on 28.01.2002 at 23:45 P.M. He also made an entry of incident in General Diary at Report no. 32, a copy of which is Exhibit Ka-13 on record. After registration of F.I.R, initially case was investigated by PW-6 S.I., Arun Kumar Chauhan, who was then S.O. of Police Station Nauchandi. After obtaining necessary documents, he recorded statement of PW-1, Informant and witnesses. He visited spot and on pointing out of PW-1, prepared site plan (Exhibit Ka-5). He got inquest (Exhibit Ka-2) prepared by S.I. Manish Kumar Sharma, who also took blood stained and simple soil from place of occurrence and prepared recovery memo in respect thereof as well as other relevant documents for sending dead body to post mortem, marked as Exhibit Ka-6 to Ka-11.

5. Autopsy on dead body of deceased Dinesh was conducted by PW-5, Dr. R.K. Gupta, on 29.01.2002 at 4:00 PM. According to him deceased was aged about 35 years and duration of death at the time of post-mortem, was about one day. Deceased was of average body built and rigor mortis found present all over the body. There was no decomposition. He found following ante-mortem injuries on the body of deceased:-

"i. Incised wound 13 cm x 4 cm x bone cut on outer and joint of right side neck*, 4th* cervical vertebra cut, blood vessels, trachea and oesophagus cut, incised wound 5.5. cm below the chin.

iii. Incised wound *2 cm x 1 cm x muscle deep o*n outer side of just upper arm upper part, 8 cm below left shoulder." (emphasis added)

6. On internal examination, membranes of head and neck were found pale; pleura was lacerated on left side; both lungs were pale and upper lobe of left lung was lacerated; right side heart contained blood weighing 250 gm; left thoracic cavity contained 700 ml blood. In the opinion of Doctor, death had occurred due to shock and haemorrhage as a result of ante-mortem injuries. Doctor prepared post mortem report (Exhibit Ka-4).

7. Despite search, accused could not be arrested and thereafter PW-3 second Investigating Officer was transferred. It appears from the statement of PW-4 S.I. Mahipal Singh, the second Investigating Officer that since accused could not be arrested, earlier S.O. Shiv Pooran Singh had submitted final report in Court. On 30.11.2011 PW-1 Informant had made an application (Exhibit Ka-3) to Police Station, Nauchandi, that accused Rajesh was residing near Maliyana Phatak, Meerut and pulling on rickshaw. On the said application of PW-1, investigation was undertaken by PW-4 Sri Mahipal Singh after obtaining requisite permission from Court. On 05.12.2011 accused was arrested. Thereafter investigation was undertaken by Smt. Alka Singh, PW-7. After concluding investigation, she submitted charge sheet (Exhibit Ka-14). On charge sheet, cognizance was taken by Chief Judicial Magistrate, Meerut against accused-appellant under Section 302 I.P.C. on 27.01.2012.

8. As the case was exclusively triable by Court of Sessions, learned C.J.M. committed matter to Court of Sessions which was registered as Sessions Trial No. 350 of 2012. Sessions Trial was transferred to Additional District & Sessions Judge, Court No.16, Meerut, who framed charge against accused-appellant on 14.08.2012, which reads as under:-

ष्मैं अजय कुमार, अपर जिला एवं सत्र न्यायाधीश, कक्ष सं0 16, आप अभियुक्त राजेश को निम्नलिखित आरोपों से आरोपित करता हूं:–

यह कि दिनांक – 28.01.2002 समय रात्रि के 11 बजे स्थान सैक्टर 3 पानी की टंकी के पास सैक्टर 4 को जानेवाली सड़क पर शास्त्री नगर थाना क्षेत्र नौचन्दी जिला मेरठ में आपने वादनी श्रीमती लक्ष्मी के पति दिनेश को चाकुओं से घायल करके जानबूझकर स्वेच्छया उसकी हत्या कर दी थी। इस प्रकार आपने ऐसा अपराध काारित किया जो धारा 302 भा.द.सं. के अधीन दंडनीय है और इस न्यायालय के संज्ञान में है।

और मैं एतद्द्वारा आपको निर्देशित करता हूं कि उपरोक्त आरोप के लिये आपका विचारण इस न्यायालय द्वारा किया जायेगा।ष

"I Ajay Kumar District & Sessions Judge, Court No. 16 Meerut charge you accused Rajesh as under:-

That on 28.01.2002 at about 11:00 PM in the night on the road heading towards Sector-4 near Water Tank (Pani ki Tanki) in Sector-3 Shastri Nagar, Police Station Nauchandi, District Meerut, you intentionally and voluntarily by causing injuries to deceased with knife, killed Dinesh, husband of informant, Smt. Laxmi. Thereby you committed such an offence which is punishable under Section 302 I.P.C. and within the cognizance of this Court.

I had directed you that will be tried for the aforesaid charge by this Court." (emphasis added)

(English translation by Court)

9. Accused-appellant pleaded not guilty and asked for trial.

10. -1 Laxmi and PW-2 Ram Pal are witnesses of fact. Rest are formal witnesses of Police and Department of Health.

11. PW-6 S.I. Arun Kumar Chauhan was the first Investigating Officer who initiated investigation after lodging of F.I.R. and has proved site plan (Exhibit Ka-5). He has also proved inquest (Exhibit Ka-2) and other documents Exhibit Ka-6 to Ka-11 pertaining to sending of dead body to hospital for post-mortem. Thereafter investigation was undertaken by PW-3, S.I. Pooran Singh on 27.05.2002, who tried to arrest accused but could not succeed and accordingly submitted final report in the matter. Thereafter investigation was resumed by PW-4 S.I. Mahipal Singh, who has proved application filed by Informant (Exhibit Ka-3) to the effect that accused-appellant was residing in Meerut and pulling on rickshaw. PW-7, Smt. Alka Singh, is the third Investigating Officer, who has proved charge sheet (Exhibit Ka-14).

12. After closure of prosecution evidence, accused-appellant was examined under Section 313 Cr.P.C, who has denied the charge and claimed that he has been falsely implicated and witnesses are deposing against him on account of enmity. He said that he is innocent and had been pulling rickshaw and had not committed any crime.

13. On appreciation of evidence on record and hearing counsel for both the parties, Trial Court convicted and sentenced accused-appellant as mentioned above. Trial Court has convicted the accused-appellant by recording its findings that:

I- There is no delay in lodging FIR inasmuch as incident is said to have taken place at 11:00 PM on 28.01.2002 and report was lodged at 23:45 on the same date, i.e., within 45 minutes.

II- The Informant is eye witness and mere fact that she is wife of deceased would not be sufficient to discard her otherwise trustworthy ocular evidence.

III- There was no difficulty in identification of accused appellant by Informant since she knew her from earlier time.

IV- Production of no independent witness by prosecution was duly explained by Informant that the place at which incident occurred, at relevant time, there was none present and her submission looking to the time and place was natural and trustworthy.

V- PW-2, Ram Pal Saini, another witness of fact, has stated that on the date of incident, deceased and his wife had gone to his residence to meet his ailing wife. Deceased went for his work of Rickshaw pulling after leaving Informant at the residence of PW-2 at around 4-4:30 PM and came back at around 9-10 PM. They left his residence at around 10:45 PM and after 15-20 minutes, Informant came back in a frightened condition and narrated entire incident. Thereafter, PW-2 and other family members went to the spot where they found Dinesh lying dead and accused-appellant had run away. Police prepared Panchayatnama after seizing dead body of Dinesh at the place of incident. Post-mortem report proves that injuries may have been sustained by a sharp edged weapon which supports the manner of death of deceased as explained by PW-1.

VI- Formal witnesses proved documents and no adverse factor could be extracted from their cross examination by defence.

VII- Though, the motive was not relevant in a case where there is ocular evidence but motive was explained by the Informant and nothing otherwise could be extracted in her cross examination by the defence.

VIII- Though investigation has not been properly conducted in the case but for that reason no benefit can be taken by the accused.

14. Feeling dissatisfied with the judgment of conviction and sentence, accused-appellant has preferred this Jail Appeal through Senior Superintendent of Jail, Meerut.

15. We have heard Sri Saurabh Sachan, learned Amicus Curiae, Sri P.C. Joshi, learned A.G.A. and perused record carefully with valuable assistance of learned counsel for parties.

16. Learned counsel for the appellant has challenged conviction and sentence by Trial Court, raising following issues:-

I- The entire prosecution against appellant is founded on the statement of Informant, PW-1, who is the wife of deceased. She had illicit relation with the younger brother of deceased and this fact came to be detected by deceased whereupon they both murdered deceased and have falsely implicated appellant. This aspect has not been properly examined by Court below.

II- Informant had motive to commit murder of deceased and, therefore, her conduct ought to have been properly examined in the matter but that has not been done by Court below.

III- The sole ocular evidence of Informant could not have been relied to convict appellant since she was close relative of deceased and had reason to falsely implicate appellant.

IV- Appellant never resided at the residence of deceased and Informant, hence there was no occasion of his eviction by deceased for the alleged reason that he quarreled with deceased in drunken condition and for that reason, accused-appellant in revenge, committed murder.

V- Even, PW-2 is relative of deceased and was not present at his house on the date and time of incident. He was a tubewell operator and had gone to attend his duty in the night, but falsely stated in his statement that on the date of incident, he had not gone to attend his duty and was present at his residence. In this regard, no evidence could be adduced by him to prove that he had not gone to attend his duty on that date. The statement of PW 2 that he had not gone on duty is false for the reason that in cross-examination, he could not tell as to what was the time of his duty to attend tubewell which is unbelievable.

VI- Incident took place on 28.01.2002 while appellant was arrested by police on 05.11.2012 alleging that during checking at Shashtri Nagar Crossing he was arrested as stated by PW 4, S.I. Mahipal Singh. The story of arrest given by PW-4 that on the information of Informant, appellant was arrested is concocted.

VII- Post-mortem report does not support the manner in which deceased has been murdered. No weapon of crime has been recovered from appellant.

VIII- Prosecution has failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt.

17. Per contra, learned A.G.A. contended that it is a simple case of hit and run. Informant and her husband, while returning from the residence of PW-2, where they had gone to see his ailing wife, when reached the place of incident, accused-appellant, who was well known to Informant and her husband, and was hiding thereat, appeared and attacked Informant's husband with knife on his neck and thereafter on his body and when she raised alarm, he pushed her. She turned to go towards residence of PW-2. Thereupon accused-appellant ran after her also for some time but could not catch her. She reached residence of PW-2 and narrated the entire incident. Therefrom PW-2, his two sons and younger brother of deceased alongwith Informant came back to the place of incident and found deceased, dead. Appellant thereafter ran away and could be arrested after a long time, i.e., in 2011. Only thereafter, Police could submit charge-sheet and therefore, statements of witnesses have been recorded after more than a decade which may have shown some inconsistencies or contradictions but the same are minor and do not impact the otherwise trustworthy ocular evidence of PW-1, Informant. Further the manner in which appellant attacked and committed murder and various injuries found on the dead body as reported in post-mortem report fortify statement of PW-1. Hence appellant has been rightly convicted and awarded adequate sentence by Court below. The judgment is based on evidence and prosecution succeeded in proving guilt of appellant beyond doubt, therefore, no interference is called for in this appeal and it deserves to be dismissed.

18. We have heard arguments of learned counsel for both parties and relevant authorities relied by both the side.

19. As per F.I.R., as also the statement of PW-1, Informant, the incident had taken place near water tank in Sector 3 on road coming towards Sector 4. Panchayatnama (Ex.Ka-2) also shows the place of incident as mentioned in F.I.R. lodged by Informant, PW-1. Time of recording of F.I.R. mentioned in Panchayatnama is 23:45, i.e. 11:45 PM, in the night on 28.01.2002. Panchayatnama was prepared at 02:05 AM on 29.01.2002 i.e. within two hours twenty minutes of recording of F.I.R. The statements of PW-1 and PW-2 also mention the same place, date and time of incident and this is fortified by statement of PW-5, Dr. R.K. Gupta who conducted post-mortem and stated that the time of death could have been 11:00 PM on 28.01.2002. PW-6, S.I., Arun Kumar Chauhan, is Investigating Officer who initially commenced investigation in this case after recording of F.I.R. He has also supported the date, time and place of the incident. He has also proved site plan which supports place of incident as well as date and time. In these facts and circumstances, date, time and place of occurrence and death of deceased is duly proved by evidence available on record. In facts it is also not seriously disputed by learned counsel for appellant. He, however, submitted that he has been falsely implicated in the case inasmuch as murder has been committed by Informant herself in conspiracy with one Lokesh with whom, she had illicit relations and appellant has been implicated falsely.

20. Now, the question for consideration is "whether prosecution has proved guilt of accused-appellant beyond reasonable doubt by adducing adequate and trustworthy evidence and he (appellant) has rightly been convicted by Court below or not?"

21. In order to examine the aforesaid issue, it would be appropriate to go through the evidence on record.

22. As we have already said, in this case, star witness is Informant herself, who is eye witness of the incident. It is her statement which is foundation of findings of guilt against appellant. PW-1, wife of deceased, Dinesh, has stated that she and her husband were residing in Sector 4, Shashtri Nagar, Meerut. Her husband's Bua, Smt. Manglo (wife of PW-2, Rampal Saini) was residing in Sector 3. She was calling husband and wife for last few days since she was unwell. On the date of incident, around 10:45 or 11:00 PM, Informant and her husband Dinesh both were returning from the house of husband's Bua. When they reached near Water Tank in Sector 3, from the bushes standing on side of road, Rajesh, accused-appellant, came out and attacked her husband with knife on chest and neck. At that time, road light was glowing in which she could see Rajesh, accused-appellant, clearly. She knew Rajesh since earlier. She tried to protect her husband but Rajesh, accused-appellant pushed her away. When she raised alarm, none came. She started to move towards house of Bua, Smt. Manglo, whereupon Rajesh, accused-appellant ran after her with knife upto some distance but she did not look back and came running to the residence of husband's Bua and narrated entire incident. Thereupon, Fufa of Informant's husband, i.e., Ram Pal Saini, his two sons and younger brother of deceased alongwith Informant came to the place of incident and found Dinesh, husband of Informant, dead. Rajesh came alongwith Informant's husband from Kanpur about 9-10 months back and stayed in Informant's house for about two months. He was accompanied by his brother. Informant's husband told her that Rajesh was son of his uncle. On one day, Rajesh and his brother came after taking liquor and quarreled with her husband whereupon they were thrown away from house. While going, Rajesh threatened P.W.-1's husband that he will see him. For this reason, Rajesh committed murder of her husband. Report was lodged by Informant through younger brother of deceased, i.e., Lokesh. At the time when incident took place, none else was present. She identified Rajesh in Court and stated that he had committed murder of her husband and he is the same person who stayed in her house for about two months. She categorically stated that she was residing in Sector-4, Shastri Nagar while her husband's Bua was residing in Sector-3, Shastri Nagar and the incident took place near Water Tank of Sector- 3, Shashtri Nagar. In cross-examination, she stated that she married Dinesh about seven years prior to the incident. Her husband were five brothers and two sisters. Dinesh was eldest and thereafter Jitendra, Brijendra, Rajendra and youngest one Lokesh. At the time of incident, Lokesh was working as a doctor. Her father-in-law and mother in law both died earlier. Brothers of her husband used to visit residence of Informant. At the time of incident, Lokesh was unmarried. Rajesh was son of uncle of deceased but not real uncle. She was not aware whether Rajesh and his brother were residing at Kanpur or not. When they came, her husband told that they were residing at Kanpur. Her husband was a rickshaw puller. On the date of incident also, he had gone to do his work of rickshaw pulling and came to residence of his Bua in Sector 3 in the night around 10:00 or 10:30 PM. Distance from house of Bua to PW-1's house was not known in kilometers but she said that it is 15 minutes' walk. Her husband when came to take her, had not brought rickshaw since it was parked at the residence. Rickshaw was on hire and in the night, it used to be parked at her residence. She had gone to residence of Bua on the date of incident at around 3:45-4:00 PM. Her husband had gone for Rickshaw pulling the in morning at 10:00 AM and came in the night at around 10:00-10:30 PM to take her from the residence of Bua, Smt. Mango, i.e., wife of PW-2, Rampal Saini. Lokesh had not visited Informant's house but had come to residence of Bua. Incident took place on main road and on both sides, there were houses and shops. People were residing in the houses. She was not able to tell as to how much time she took to reach from the place of incident to residence of Bua. At that time, Fufa, i.e., PW-2, Ram Pal Saini, his two sons and younger brother of deceased were present and Bua was sleeping on upper storey. When Informant and other people reached Police Station, there was none present and they waited. Thereafter Inspector came. Report was scribed by Lokesh in the Police Station itself. She had no issue from Dinesh. Her parents were residing at Khurja. After cremation and other rituals, she went to stay at her parents' residence. After one year, she solemnized another marriage with a person residing near Kanpur, and from said wedlock, she has a son. Her second husband also died in an accident. At the time of statement recorded in Trial Court, i.e., September, 2012, she was residing with her father. Younger brothers of her husband, Dinesh, after his death, never came to meet her at Khurja. When accused-appellant was arrested, Police visited residence of Informant alongwith younger brother of her husband and then she came from Khurja to Meerut Police Station. She specifically denied suggestion of illicit relations with Lokesh, youngest brother of her husband and further suggestion of herself committing murder of Dinesh in conspiracy with Lokesh.

23. Thus, PW-1 in her examination-in-chief, very categorically stated about manner of death, time and place of incident. She has stated that it is accused-appellant who has committed murder of her husband, Dinesh, by inflicting injuries with knife on chest and neck. F.I.R. was scribed by Lokesh on being told by her and she signed the same and proved said F.I.R. marked as Exhibit Ka-1.

24. There is long cross-examination of PW-1 but we do not find any substantial material which could have been extracted by defence to discredit ocular version of PW-1. Hence, we find no reason to disbelieve her. In our view, statement of PW-1 is natural, pure and trustworthy. The fact that she is directly a close relative of deceased and therefore her statement should not be relied to hold accused-appellant guilty, has no substance inasmuch as law is now well settled that statement of relatives merely on the ground that he or she is relative, cannot be discredited or rejected.

25. Normally, when incident takes place in presence of relatives, it is only they who come forward to depose against accused since they are the persons who would like to see that person who has committed crime, is given due punishment in a Court of law. Such witnesses would not like to give a wrong statement against a person who has not committed crime, and, try to save actual accused. Mere relationship, therefore, is no ground to reject an otherwise trustworthy deposition of such witnesses unless there are other factors to taint such statements providing some reason to doubt the witness.

26. In a catena of judgments Supreme Court has repeatedly held that a close relative would be the last to screen the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person.

27. In Rameshwar Vs. The State of Rajasthan, AIR 1952 SC 54 at page 59, Court held as under:

"A witness is normally to be considered independent unless he or she springs from sources which are likely to be tainted and that usually means unless the witness has such as enmity against the accused, to wish to implicate him falsely. Ordinarily, a close relative would be the last to screen the real culprit and falsely implicate an innocent person."

(emphasis added)

28. In Masalti Vs. State of U.P., AIR 1965 SC 202, Court said:

"Normally close relatives of the deceased would not be considered to be interested witnesses."

29. In Hari Obula Reddi and others v. The State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 1981 SC 82, a three-Judge Bench of Supreme Court has held:

"Evidence of interested witnesses is not necessarily unreliable evidence. Even partisanship by itself is not a valid ground for discrediting or rejecting sworn testimony. It cannot be laid down as an invariable rule that interested evidence can never form the basis of conviction unless corroborated to a material extent in material particulars by independent evidence. All that is necessary is that the evidence of interested witnesses should be subjected to careful scrutiny and accepted with caution. If on such scrutiny, the interested testimony is found to be intrinsically reliable or inherently probable, it may, by itself, be sufficient, in the circumstances of the particular case, to base a conviction thereon."

(emphasis added)

30. In Kartik Malhar Vs. State of Bihar, (1996) 1 SCC 614 Court has opined as under:-

"A close relative who is a natural witness cannot be regarded as an interested witness, for the term "interested' postulates that the witness must have some interest in having the accused, somehow or the other, convicted for some animus or for some other reason."

(emphasis added)

31. In Pulicherla Nagaraju alias Nagraja Reddy Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 2006 SC 3010, Court has observed as follows:

"It is well settled that evidence of a witness cannot be discarded merely on the ground that he is either partisan or interested or close relative to the deceased, if it is otherwise found to be trustworthy and credible. The said evidence only requires scrutiny with more care and caution, so that neither the guilty escapes nor the innocent is wrongly convicted. If on such careful scrutiny, the evidence is found to be reliable and probable, then it can be acted upon."

(emphasis added)

32. In Harivadan Babubhai Patel vs. State of Gujarat (2013) 7 SCC 45, Court observed as under:-

"In view of our aforesaid analysis, we are unable to accept the submission of the learned counsel for the appellant that the evidence of the eye witnesses should be rejected solely on the ground that they are close relatives and interested witnesses."

33. Oral and ocular testimony of PW-1 is supported by PW-2, who is not an eye witness to the incident himself but he corroborates other facts that PW-1 after attack upon her husband (Dinesh) by Rajesh, came back to residence of Bua and Fufa and told them about incident and thereafter Fufa of deceased alongwith his two sons and younger brother of deceased, went to the place of incident and found Dinesh, dead. His dead body was lying at site of incident. Statement of PW-2, therefore, is corroborating statement in respect of other facts i.e. first narration of incident by Informant to PW-2 and other persons at his residence and thereafter their visit to place of incident and finding dead body of Dinesh.

34. PW-2 has said that not real but in relation, he is Fufa of deceased Dinesh. One Manglu, who, in relation, is brother-in-law of PW-2, was married in family of Dinesh and from that relation, he became Fufa of Dinesh. At the time when incident took place, his wife Dayawati was ill. Deceased and his wife came to see her around 4-4:30 PM, in evening, whereafter deceased left his wife at residence of PW-2 and himself went to do his work of rickshaw pulling. He came back in the night around 9:30-10:00 PM to take his wife and at around 10:45 PM, they both walked towards their house. After 15 to 20 minutes, PW-1, Laxmi came back. She was frightened. She told that Rajesh has murdered Dinesh by knife near Water Tank. Thereupon, PW-2 and other family members went to the place of incident and found Dinesh lying dead and Rajesh was not present on the spot. Thereafter, PW-1, Laxmi, wife of deceased, lodged report in Police Station and Police came and prepared Panchayatnama in presence of PW-2. He also signed Panchayatnama and proved said document which was marked as Exhibit Ka-2. In cross-examination, PW-2 stated that he was residing in House No.114, Sector 3, Shashtri Nagar, Meerut. At the time of incident also, he was residing at the same address. His wife was ill at that time. His family comprised of his sons, namely, Subhas and Kiran Pal, their wives and wife of PW-2. All were residing with PW-2 in the said house. His wife remained ill for about 5 years and more but exact disease could not be diagnosed. Dinesh, at the time of incident, was residing in Sector 4, Shashtri Nagar. He was 5 brothers. Dinesh used to reside alone and his other brothers were residing at some other places, not known to him. Dinesh never took wife of PW-2 to any doctor for treatment. Dinesh was earning livelihood by pulling rickshaw. On the date of incident, Dinesh and his wife had come to see wife of PW-2 and no other relative of PW-2 had come on that date. Laxmi, PW-1 came to the house of PW-2 on date of incident at around 4:00 PM and went in night. PW-2 was working as Tubewell Operator in Nagar Nigam. Tubewell was in Sector 2, Shashtri Nagar. On the date of incident, PW-2 had not gone on duty and was present at his residence. In the night, Dinesh alone came to take his wife and stayed for about half an hour. He came about 10-10:15 PM, in night. He came on foot. After Dinesh and his wife left residence of PW-2, he ,i.e., PW-2 and his family had not gone to sleep. Question of sleeping does not arise since Laxmi came with information of incident just within 15 to 20 minutes. She came alone. When she came, both sons and their wives, PW-2 and Lokesh were present. Lokesh had come to house of PW-2 in the night at around 9:30 PM. On the date of incident, Lokesh and Dinesh had met at residence of PW-2. After information given by PW-1 about incident, PW-2, his two sons and Lokesh, all went to the place of incident and saw dead body of Dinesh. He has also proved Panchayatnama and in cross-examination, has clarified that Police came to place of incident during his presence and prepared Panchayatnama whereupon he had also signed. He has also stated that street light was present at the place of incident and light was glowing. This part also fortifies statement of PW-1 regarding presence of light in the manner stated by PW-1. Suggestion made on behalf of defence that Laxmi, PW-1 and Lokesh were having illicit relations and therefore, may have caused murder of Dinesh has been specifically denied by him. In fact in long cross-examination, defence has completely failed to make out any material contradiction or inconsistencies or otherwise fact to discredit statement of PW-2 which supports that part of deposition of PW-1 that she had gone to residence of PW-2 to see his ailing wife, came back around 10:45 or 11:00 PM from his house and within 15 to 20 minutes, entire incident took place and she went back, gave information to PW-2 and then PW-2 and other family members came to place of incident and found dead body of deceased lying on place of incident in respect whereto Panchayatnama was also prepared. Therefore, we find that statement of PW-2 in this regard, is also clear and trustworthy.

35. Amongst the remaining witness, who are formal, we find that witnesses, who themselves had some information in connection with incident, are PW-3, PW-4, PW-5, PW-6 and PW-7. Reason being that incident took place on 28.01.2002 but accused was arrested on 05.12.2011, charge was framed on 18.08.2012 and trial commenced thereafter. There was a gap of about 10 to 12 years from date of incident and time when witnesses were examined. On account of this lapse of long time, some dates have been given wrongly by some witnesses.

36. PW-3, S.I. Pooran Singh was posted as Station House Officer in Police Station Nauchandi on 07.05.2002. He took over investigation of case from earlier Investigating Officer, Ajay Kumar, Sub-Inspector. He deposed that he tried to find out accused on various dates but when failed, submitted final report. In cross-examination, he admitted of having not visited spot and said that it must have been done by earlier investigating officer. He has also not taken any statement. He said that he only made investigation by searching out accused but when failed to do so, submitted final report. He did not make any investigation with respect to said incident.

37. PW-4, S.I. Mahipal Singh, Police Officer, who alongiwth Investigating Officer, Alka Singh and other Police Officers arrested accused on 05.12.2011, has proved this fact. He was posted as Sub-Inspector in Police Station Nauchandi on 30.11.2011. Due to non arrest of accused, earlier Investigating Officer, Pooran Singh Chauhan had submitted final report. But, on 30.11.2011 Informant gave a tehrir that accused Rajesh was residing near Maliyana Gate, Meerut and pulling rickshaw. Thereafter, PW-4 took permission from Court to proceed with investigation and on 05.12.2011, arrested accused-appellant near Shashtri Nagar Crossing. Accused was identified by Jitendra Saini, brother of deceased. Information given by Informant regarding presence of accused at Meerut, was proved by PW-4 and it was marked as Exhibit Ka-3. In cross-examination, he has also said that after arrest, accused told that knife by which he committed murder of Dinesh, was thrown by him in Sector 3 near Tubewell whereupon PW-4 alongwith accused came to the said place and made attempt to find out weapon of murder but since it was 10 years old incident, there was no chance of recovery and it could not be recovered. On the aspect of arrest though lot of cross-examination has been made but we do not find any substantial material extracted by defence to discredit this part of statement of PW-4.

38. PW-5, Dr. R.K. Gupta, posted as Medical Officer in mortuary of Medical College, conducted post-mortem on 29.01.2002 at 4:00 PM. He has noted injuries on dead body as we have already noticed. He said that all the three injuries could have been possibly caused due to a sharp edged weapon like knife and death could have taken place at around 11:00 in the night on 28.01.2002. In a short cross-examination, he said that his duty commenced at 8:00 AM in the morning on 28.01.2002 and injury also could have been possibly sustained in the morning at 7:00 AM on 29.01.2002. He also said that Investigating Officer did not record his statement.

39. PW-6, S.I. Arun Kumar Chauhan is the Officer who was posted as Police Station (Incharge) of Police Station, Nauchandi, on 29.01.2002 and commenced investigation himself. He has proved site plan which is marked as Exhibit Ka-5 and also Panchayatnama which was prepared under his direction by S.I. Manish Kumar Sharma and marked as Exhibit Ka-2. He has also proved other documents which were marked as Exhibit Ka-6 to Ka-11. He was transferred subsequently and therefore could not continue with investigation. F.I.R. was registered by Constable Ram Bahadur Singh but he had died and since he was posted with PW-6, he identified his signatures on documents i.e. Chik and Carban G.D. which are marked as Exhibit Ka-12 and Ka-13. In the cross-examination, he admitted that in site plan, he has not mentioned name of accused. When he reached the spot of incident, Informant and Rampal were present thereat. Other persons were also present. He did not enquire about their details. Informant did not tell about knife attack on the chest of deceased but told that road side electric pole was glowing. He recorded statement of Informant and her relative during investigation but made no inquiry from residents of houses, near the place of incident.

40. fact otherwise could have been extracted in cross-examination. Mere fact that some other persons were not enquired or investigated may show some laxity in investigation but would not discredit the witness concerned in respect of documents he has proved and in particular, the manner in which he conducted investigation.

41. PW-7, Smt. Alka Singh, was a Police Officer posted at Nauchandi Police Station. On 05.12.2011, she took over investigation of matter from earlier Investigating Officer, Mahipal Singh. During checking, she arrested accused. She also submitted charge-sheet and proved it which is marked as Exhibit Ka-14. Accused was arrested at 10:30 in the morning at a public place but she did not record statement of any member of public. She is the witness in respect of arrest of accused and submission of charge-sheet on the basis of material collected by earlier Investigating Officer. On this aspect, we find nothing material which could be extracted by defence in cross-examination.

42. Above discussion of evidence on record, in our view, proves following facts:

(1) Deceased and Informant, PW-1 were residing in Sector 4, Shashtri Nagar while Fufa and Bua (in relation, not real) of deceased, were residing in House No.114, Sector 3, Shashtri Nagar, Meerut.

(2) Husband of Informant as also accused-appellant were rickshaw pullers.

(3) Accused-appellant alongwith his brother had stayed for about 2 months at the residence of deceased and Informant. They were turned out by deceased when some altercation took place between accused and his brother with deceased and thereupon, accused had threatened deceased that he will see him later.

(4) On 28.01.2002 around 4-4:30 PM, Informant came to residence of Bua and Fufa in Sector 3 to see ailing Bua i.e. wife of PW-2.

(5) In the night, around 9-9:30, Lokesh, youngest brother of deceased also came to residence of PW-2. Two sons of PW-2 and their wives were also present in his house.

(6) Deceased came to house of PW-2 at around 10:00-10.30, in the night, to take Informant to their residence and stayed for about half an hour and at around 10:45-11:00 PM, left residence of PW-2 and proceeded towards their own residence. Distance between houses of deceased and PW-2 was just 15 minutes by walk.

(7) When couple i.e. deceased and Informant reached near Water Tank in Sector 3, from behind bushes standing on road side, Rajesh came out and attacked upon neck and chest of Informant's husband who fell on the ground.

(8) Informant tried to save her husband but accused pushed her away. Then she raised alarm whereupon accused run towards her alongwith knife. Informant running came back to residence of PW-2. Accused chased her for a short while and thereafter left.

(9) On information given by Informant to PW-2, he, his two sons and Lokesh alongwith Informant reached place of incident and found dead body of deceased lying on spot.

(10) Manner of injuries caused by accused-appellant upon person of Dinesh by knife on chest and neck, is duly fortified by injuries reported in post-mortem report.

(11) Dead body of deceased was recovered by police from the place of incident and Panchayatnama was also prepared within about two and half hours from the time of incident. This has been proved by PW-2 and PW-6.

(12) Though, a suggestion was made by defence that there was illicit relations between Informant- (PW-1) and youngest brother of deceased i.e. Lokesh but it has been denied by PW-1 and PW-2 both, who are witnesses of fact and in defence, no evidence has been adduced by appellant to prove the said defence. Therefore, the defence has no substance. It has rightly been rejected by Court below as is evident from the findings recorded in paragraph 20 of judgment under appeal.

43. These facts collectively show and leave no manner of doubt that it is only appellant, who has committed murder of deceased in the manner as stated in F.I.R. and oral and ocular testimony of PW-1 which is duly fortified by PW-2 and PW-5. The submission that only witness of crime is PW-1 and her statement is not corroborated by anyone and therefore only on her statement, conviction of appellant is not justified has no legs to stand for the reason that in criminal trial, it is not the a number which counts but the quality of evidence which is material. Even solitary witness, if otherwise trustworthy, is sufficient and can be relied for conviction.

44. It is now well settled that it is quality and not the quantity of witnesses, which is important. Time honoured principle is that the evidence has to be weighed and not to be counted. The test is whether evidence has a ring of truth, cogent, credible and trustworthy or otherwise.

45. In Namdev Vs. State of Maharashtra (2007) 14 SCC 150, Court has said:

*"Our legal system has always laid emphasis on value, weight and quality of evidence rather than on quantity, multiplicity or plurality of witnesses. It is, therefore, open to a competent court to fully and completely rely on a solitary witness and record conviction. Conversely, it may acquit the accused in spite of testimony of several witnesses if it is not satisfied about the quality of evidenc*e."

46. Further in Veer Singh & Ors. Vs. State of U.P.; 2014 (84) ACC 681, Court said:

"legal system has laid emphasis on value, weight and quality of evidence, rather than on quantity, multiplicity, or plurality of witnesses. It is not the number of witnesses, but quality of their evidence, which is important. As there is no requirement under the law of evidence that particular number of witness is to be examined to prove / disprove a fact. Evidence must be weighed and not counted. It is quality and not quantity, which determines. The adequacy of evidence as has been propounded under Section 134 of Evidence Act. As a general rule, Court can and may act on the testimony of a single witness, provided he is wholly reliable. Testimony of witness, cogent, credible and trustworthy having ring of truth, deserves its acceptance."

47. Therefore, the submission that on solitary statement of PW-1 who is only witness of incident and that too relative of deceased, accused-appellant should not have been convicted, has no force and is rejected.

48. Further submission that investigation has not been done carefully inasmuch as persons residing in houses near place of incident, have not been examined; Police made no sincere effort to find out weapon of murder; PW-2 could not prove his presence at his residence on the date of incident and therefore, investigation is faulty, also have no force. It is true that investigation has not been conducted in a more systematic and planned manner but these aspects are not material when there is an ocular testimony to prove crime committed by appellant and it is duly proved by other evidences i.e. post-mortem report and another witnesses of fact. Any minor lapse in investigation will not help accused.

49. As regards omissions, contradictions and laches on the part of Investigating Officer, it has been repeatedly held by Apex Court that a defective investigation cannot be fatal to prosecution where ocular testimony is found credible and cogent. In State of Karnataka Vs. Suvarnamma, (2015) 1 SCC 323, Apex Court in para 11 held as under:

"It is also well settled that though the investigating agency is expected to be fair and efficient, any lapse on its part cannot per se be a ground to throw out the prosecution case when there is overwhelming evidence to prove the offence."

50 . Similar view has also been taken by Apex Court in Hema Vs. State, 2013 (81) ACC 1 (SC) (Three Judge Bench) and C. Muniappan Vs. State of TN, 2010 (6) SCJ 822.

51. The above authorities makes it very clear that any lapse on the part of Investigating Agency per se cannot be a ground to throw prosecution case ignoring overwhelming credible and trustworthy evidence sufficient to prove the guilt of accused. Thus the above argument is rejected.

52. The last submission is that there are contradictions in the statement of witnesses.

53. We have gone through the entire evidence very carefully, as have also discussed above, and find no material contradiction, so as to disbelieve the prosecution case or the individual witness. Minor contradictions are bound to occur but the same will not be fatal to prosecution who has otherwise produced trustworthy witness to prove the guilt of accused.

54. In Sampath Kumar v. Inspector of Police, Krishnagiri, (2012) 4 SCC 124, Court has held that minor contradictions are bound to appear in the statements of truthful witnesses as memory sometimes plays false and sense of observation differs from person to person.

55 . In Sachin Kumar Singhraha v. State of Madhya Pradesh in Criminal Appeal Nos. 473-474 of 2019 decided on 12.3.2019, Supreme Court has observed that Court will have to evaluate evidence before it keeping in mind the rustic nature of depositions of the villagers, who may not depose about exact geographical locations with mathematical precision. Discrepancies of this nature which do not go to the root of the matter do not obliterate otherwise acceptable evidence. It need not be stated that it is by now well settled that minor variations should not be taken into consideration while assessing the reliability of witness testimony and the consistency of the prosecution version as a whole.

56. Lest we forget that no prosecution case is foolproof and the same is bound to suffer from some lacuna or the other. It is only when such lacunae are on material aspects going to the root of the matter, it may have bearing on the outcome of the case, else such shortcomings are to be ignored. Reference may be made to a recent decision in Smt. Shamim v. State of (GNCT of Delhi), 2018(10) SCC 509.

57. When such incident takes place, one cannot expect a scripted version from witnesses to show as to what actually happened and in what manner it had happened. Such minor details normally are neither noticed nor remembered by people since they are in fury of incident and apprehensive of what may happen in future. A witness is not expected to recreate a scene as if it was shot after with a scripted version but what material thing has happened that is only noticed or remembered by people and that is stated in evidence. Court has to see whether in broad narration given by witnesses, if there is any material contradiction so as to render evidence so self contradictory as to make it untrustworthy. Minor variation or such omissions which do not otherwise affect trustworthiness of evidence, which is broadly consistent in statement of witnesses, is of no legal consequence and cannot defeat prosecution.

58. In all criminal cases, normal discrepancies are bound to occur in the depositions of witnesses due to normal errors of observations, namely, errors of memory due to lapse of time or due to mental disposition such as shock and horror at the time of occurrence. Where the omissions amount to a contradiction, creating a serious doubt about truthfulness of the witness and other witnesses also make material improvement while deposing in the court, such evidence cannot be safe to rely upon. However, minor contradictions, inconsistencies, embellishments or improvements on trivial matters which do not affect the core of the prosecution case, should not be made a ground on which the evidence can be rejected in its entirety. Court has to form its opinion about the credibility of witness and record a finding, whether his deposition inspires confidence. Exaggerations per se do not render the evidence brittle, but can be one of the factors to test credibility of the prosecution version, when entire evidence is put in a crucible for being tested on the touchstone of credibility. Therefore, mere marginal variations in the statement of a witnesses cannot be dubbed as improvements as the same may be elaborations of the statements made by the witnesses earlier. Only such omissions which amount to contradictions in material particulars i.e. go to the root of the case/materially affect the trial or core of the prosecution's case, render the testimony of the witness liable to be discredited. [Vide: State Represented by Inspector of Police v. Saravanan & Anr., AIR 2009 SC 152; Arumugam v.

State, AIR 2009 SC 331; Mahendra Pratap Singh v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2009) 11 SCC 334; and Dr. Sunil Kumar Sambhudayal Gupta & Ors. v. State of Maharashtra, JT 2010 (12) SC 287].

59. Thus after analysing entire evidence with the settled principle of law as discussed above, we are of the view that contradiction pointed out are not fatal to prosecution case and do not affect the veracity of prosecution witnesses therefore, above arguments also have no substance.

60. In view of above discussion, we are satisfied that prosecution has succeeded to prove that accused-appellant has committed murder of Dinesh on the date, time and place and the manner, as stated in F.I.R. as also oral deposition of PW-1, and the guilt having been proved beyond reasonable doubt, appellant has rightly been convicted for offence under Section 302 I.P.C.

61. So far as sentence is concerned, it is always a difficult task requiring balancing of various considerations. The question of awarding sentence is a matter of discretion to be exercised on consideration of circumstances aggravating and mitigating in the individual cases.

62. It is settled legal position that appropriate sentence should be awarded after giving due consideration to the facts and circumstances of each case, nature of offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed. It is obligation of court to constantly remind itself that right of victim, and be it said, on certain occasions person aggrieved as well as society at large can be victims, never be marginalized. The measure of punishment should be proportionate to gravity of offence. Object of sentencing should be to protect society and to deter the criminal in achieving avowed object of law. Further, it is expected that courts would operate the sentencing system so as to impose such sentence which reflects conscience of society and sentencing process has to be stern where it should be. The court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against individual victim but also against society to which criminal and victim belong. Punishment to be awarded for a crime must not be irrelevant but it should conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality which the crime has been perpetrated, enormity of crime warranting public abhorrence and it should 'respond to the society's cry for justice against the criminal'. [Vide : (Sumer Singh vs. Surajbhan Singh and others, (2014) 7 SCC 323, Sham Sunder vs. Puran, (1990) 4 SCC 731, M.P. v. Saleem, (2005) 5 SCC 554, Ravji v. State of Rajasthan, (1996) 2 SCC 175].

63. In view of above propositions of law, the paramount principle that should be the guiding laser beam is that punishment should be proportionate to gravity of offence.

64. Hence, applying the principles laid down by Supreme Court in the aforesaid judgments and having regard to the totality of facts and circumstances of case, nature of offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed in the case in hand, we are clearly of the view that punishment imposed upon accused-appellants is proportionate to gravity of offence and, therefore, impugned judgment of Court below does not deserve to be interfered on this score also.

65. In the result, appeal is dismissed. Impugned judgment and order dated 31.05.2013 passed by Sri Ajay Kumar, Additional District and Sessions Judge, Court No. 16, Meerut convicting Appellant-Rajesh, under Sections 302 IPC is hereby confirmed/affirmed.

66. Copy of this order along with lower Court record be sent to Court concerned forthwith.

67. A copy of this order be also sent to Appellant through concerned Jail Superintendent.

68. Sri Saurabh Sachan, learned Amicus Curiae has assisted the Court very diligently. We provide that he shall be paid counsel's fee as Rs.11,000/-. State Government is directed to ensure payment of aforesaid fee through Additional Legal Remembrancer posted in the office of Advocate General at Allahabad to Sri Saurabh Sachan, Amicus Curiae, without any delay and, in any case, within 15 days from the date of receipt of copy of this judgment.

1. Accused-appellant stood for trial in Sessions Trial No. 54 of 2010 (State v. Mumtaz, Case Crime No. 24 of 2010), under Sections 302, 376 and 201 IPC, Police Station Mugalsarain, District Chandauli, pending in the Court of Additional District and Sessions Judge, FTC, Court No.1, Chandauli and came to be convicted by said Court, vide judgment and order dated 31.08.2016, sentencing him under Section 302 IPC to undergo imprisonment for life and fine of Rs. 5,000/-, Section 201 IPC to undergo five years' imprisonment and fine of Rs. 1000/-. Sentence under Sections 302 and 201 shall run concurrently. In default of payment of fine, he shall further undergo three months additional imprisonment, Trial Court has acquitted accused-appellant under Section 376 IPC. Appellant sought interference of this Court by filing this Jail Appeal from Jail through Jail Superintendent concerned.

2. Prosecution story, in brief, as borne out from First Information Report (hereinafter referred to as 'FIR') and factual matrix of the case is that PW-1, Alimuddin, submitted a written report, Ex. Ka-1, in the Police Mugalsarain, District Chandauli, stating that his daughter (victim name withheld by us), used to go to read Arbi language and learn Power-loom work in the house of Mumtaz, who is neighbour of victim. On the fateful day i.e. 19.01.2010, at about 3:00 pm, victim had gone to house of accused-appellant to read Arabi language and to learn Power-loom work, as usual. When she did not return back from the house of accused-appellant, PW-1 went to house of accused-appellant to search his daughter. He found that house of accused-appellant was locked. Then he made a drastic search of his daughter in the village but found no where. In the next morning, he again went to the house of accused-appellant and saw that dead body of his daughter was lying on the earth in the north street adjacent to the door and window of Mumtaj's house. Dead body bore sign of injuries around the face and her both hands were tied with her Scarf in front. He suspected that his daughter has been murdered after committing rape by accused-appellant. He informed the Policed Station concerned and submitted an application requesting to register an FIR against accused-appellant.

3. On the basis of written report Ex.Ka-1, chick FIR, Ex.Ka-17 was registered by PW-8, Kanhaiya Lal Pathak, as Case Crime No. 24 of 2010 under Sections 376, 302 and 201 IPC against accused-appellant. Entry of case was made by him in General Diary. Copy whereof is Ex. Ka-18.

4. Immediately after registration of case, PW-7, Ratan Singh Yadav commenced investigation, proceeded to spot, visited the place of incident, prepared site plant Ex.Ka-12, recorded statement of witnesses, took Scarf (Dupatta) in his possession, prepared memo thereof Ex.Ka-3, took blood stained and simple earth, pieces of brick in his possession and got prepared memo by PW-6.

5. PW-6, SI Sobha Pandey, on the direction of the then SHO Ratan Singh Yadav PW-7, held inquest over the dead body of victim and prepared inquest report Ex.Ka-2 and other papers relating thereto, sealed the dead body and sent to mortuary for postmortem.

6. PW-5, Dr. Vinod Kumar Singh conducted autopsy over dead body of victim, aged about 14 years, daughter of Allimuddin, resident of Muhammadpur Malokhar, Police Station Mugalsarain, District Chanduali and prepared postmortem report Ex. Ka-4, expressing his opinion that death was possible about one day prior to postmortem due to hemorrhage on account of ante-mortem injuries. Doctor found following ante-mortem injuries on the body of deceased, which read as under :-

i. No blood from nose, ear and urethra.

ii. No bleeding from vaginal orifice

iii. Lacerated wound 7cm x 6cm right corner of mouth including upper half lip and lower half lip with cheek exposing teeth.

iv. Abrasion on right side of neck with left eyebrow. Contusion 4cm x 2cm on forehead.

7. PW-7 after receiving the postmortem report of victim, tried to apprehend the accused but could not succeed. Later, on 02.02.2010 Police arrested accused-appellant at Railway Station, Mugalsarain, at about 8:15 pm, recorded his statement. After completing all formalities of investigation, submitted charge-sheet Ex.Ka-13 against accused-appellant.

8. Case, being exclusively triable by Court of Sessions, was committed to Sessions Judge, wherefrom, it was transferred to Additional District and Sessions Judge, FTC, Court No.1, Chandauli for disposal in accordance with law.

9. Trial Court framed charges on 23.08.2010 against accused-appellant under Sections 302, 376 and 201 IPC, which reads as under :-

"आरोप

The aforesaid charges were read over and explained to the witnesses. The accused persons denied the said charges and sought trial. "

(English Translation by Court)

10. Accused-appellant pleaded not guilty and claimed trial.

11. In order to substantiate its case, prosecution examined as many as eight witnesses in the following manner :-

Sr. No.	Name of PWs	Nature of witness	Paper proved
1	Alimuddin	Facts	Ex. Ka-1 and 2
2	Rukaina Bibi	Facts	Nil
3	Noor Ali	Facts	Nil
4	Julfekar Ansari	Formal	Ex.Ka-3
5	Dr. Vinod Kumar Singh	Formal	Ex.Ka-5
6	Shobha Pandey	Formal	Ex.Ka-2, 3, 9, 10 and 11.
7	Ratan Singh Yadav	Formal	Ex.Ka-3, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 16, 17 and 18.
8	K.L. Pathak	Formal	Ex.Ka-17 and 18.

12. On closure of prosecution evidence, statement under Section 313 of accused-appellant was recorded. In his statement, accused-appellant denied prosecution story in toto. Entire story is said to be wrong, he claimed false implication but did not choose to lead any defence evidence.

13. Ultimately, case came to be heard and decided by Additional District and Sessions Judge, FTC, Court No.1, Chandauli, who after hearing learned counsel for parties and analysing entire evidence (oral and documentary) led by prosecution, found accused-appellant guilty, convicted and sentenced, as stated above.

14. Sri Vimlendu Tripathi, learned Amicus Curiae assailed order of conviction and sentence advancing following submissions :-

i. There is no eye witness of murder of victim. Case of prosecution rests upon circumstantial evidence.

ii. PW-1, 2 and 3 are not independent witness. They are relatives of deceased, therefore, their evidence cannot be termed as independent witness.

iii. There is no strong motive to accused-appellant to commit murder of victim.

iv. There is no complete chain in the circumstantial evidence leading the guilt of the accused-appellant.

v. There are material contradictions in the statements of witnesses rendering prosecution doubtful.

vi. Prosecution failed to prove its case beyond reasonable doubt. All link of circumstantial is not proved.

vii. Trial Court has not appreciated the evidence in right perspective and has drawn a wrong conclusion regarding the guilt of the accused-appellant.

15. Learned AGA opposed submissions and submitted that accused-appellant is named in FIR; and sufficient motive has been shown in FIR as well as statements against accused-appellant. It was further submitted that dead body of victim was recovered in the street adjacent to the house of accused-appellant. Immediate after incident, accused-appellant was found absent in the house. He was arrested at Railway Station by Police. Fleeing away of accused-appellant from his own house immediately after the incident is an important circumstance against him. Prosecution has proved complete chain of circumstances leading to the guilt of accused-appellant. Trial Court rightly convicted accused-appellant and sought dismissal of appeal.

16. Dead body of victim was found in the street adjacent to the house of accused-appellant in the next morning of her disappearance; hands of victim were tied with her own scarf could not be disputed by the accused-appellant but according to learned counsel for accused-appellant, he is not responsible for committing murder of victim. Even otherwise from the statement of PW-1, 2, 3, 5 and 6, recovery of dead body adjacent to house of accused-appellant and assassination of victim stands proved.

17. Only two questions remain for consideration; (i) "Whether accused-appellant committed murder of victim or not?; and (ii) "Trial Court rightly convicted him under Sections 302 and 201 IPC or not?"

18. Now, we may proceed to consider rival submissions of learned counsel for parties and evidence, in brief, available on record as well as some important decisions on this point.

19. Only evidence against the accused-appellant to connect him with present case is that (i) the last seen theory as set forth by PW-1, 2 and 3 of victim in association of accused-appellant one day prior to detection of dead body; (ii) disappearance of accused-appellant from his house immediately after the incident; (iii) detection of dead body of the victim in street adjacent to his house; (iv) recovery of Lungi with blood and semens allegedly belong to accused-appellant from the place of occurrence.

20. Argument Nos. 1 and 3 of learned counsel for accused-appellant are being discussed altogether. Now, we would like to proceed to consider the statements of witnesses. PW-1 deposed that his daughter (name withheld), aged about 14 years used to go to learn the work of Powerloom and study of Arabi language to the house of accused-appellant-Mumtaz, where Smt. Jaida (mother of accused-appellant) taught her Arabi language and accused-appellant, in his own house, taught her Power-loom work. On the fateful day, as usual, his daughter (victim) went to learn Arabi language in the house of accused-appellant and came back by 12 O'clock in the noon. Mother of accused-appellant and his wife went their maternal home in afternoon same day. On 19.01.2010, accused-appellant came to his house and took victim with him on the pretext of study. When she did not come back late in the evening, he along with his other family members tried to search her but despite drastic search, she was found no where. House of accused-appellant was locked from outside and there was nobody in the house. Nest morning, they again went to the house of accused-appellant-Mumtaz and found a dead body of his daughter in the street adjacent to north door of accused-appellant's house. It appeared that she was raped by accused-appellant-Mumtaz and on being opposed by her, murdered by accused-appellant, who ran away from the spot after throwing dead body in the street. He got scribed report of incident by one Anil Kumar Pandey and presented it to Police Station concerned.

21. In his cross examination, he deposed that when accused-appellant came to his house to take his daughter, he was present in the house with his other family members.

22. PW-2, Rukaina Bibi (mother of victim) deposed that her daughter used to go to house of accused-appellant for learing Power-loom work. On the fateful day, his daughter, aged about 14 years, went to house of accused-appellant to learn Arabi language from Smt. Jaida (mother of accused-appellant), which one day prior to detection of dead body of victim. Accused-appellant-Mumtaz came to her house to call victim and took her, on the pretext of learning Arbi language, to his house. When victim did not return back to her house by late evening, they went to house of accused-appellant-Mumtaz, where door was locked outside and there was nobody in the house. Despite drastic search, she was found no where. In the next morning, at about 7:00 Am, corpse of victim was found in the street adjacent to the house of accused-appellant. It was further deposed that she was raped. Her Paijama bore semen and there was injury on her face. Her hands were tied with her own scarf. She was assassinated in cruel manner.

23. PW-3, Noor Ali (brother of victim) deposed that. as usual, at about 9:00 am, victim used to go to learn Arabi language to the house of accused-appellant and come back at about 12:00 O'clock in the noon and again she had to go at 1:00 pm and come back at 5:00 pm. This was her usual time. On the fateful day i.e. 19.01.2010, at about 9:00 am, her sister (victim) went to house of accused-appellant to learn Arabi language and came back at 12 O'clock in the noon. At about 2:00 pm, accused-appellant came to his house and took victim to his house on pretext of learning Arabi language. When victim did not come back to house by late evening. They went to house of the accused-appellant-Mumtaz and found his house locked outside. Next morning, on 20.01.2010, dead body of victim was found lying in street adjacent to accused-appellant's house. He came to know that mother of accused-appellant had gone in relation when accused took victim. He further deposed that victim was cruelly assassinated after rape.

24. PW-1, 2 and 3 withstood lengthy cross-examination by learned counsel for accused-appellant but nothing adverse material could be brought so as to discredit their statements. PW-1, 2 and 3 are natural witness. They must be present at the time, when accused-appellant took victim from her house on the pretext of learning Arabi language. PW-1, 2 and 3 saw victim in association of accused-appellant last. Later on, she did not come back and nobody has seen him alive till detection of dead body. Accused-appellant offered a routine answer in his statement under Section 313 Cr.P.C., although he did not admit fact of taking victim with him. PW-1, 2 and 3 established that accused took with him and they saw victim last, in the company of accused-appellant. He did not offer any proper explanation. On the other hand, PW-1, 2 and 3 established that victim was taken by accused-appellant from the house. at 12:00 O'clock in the noon. Accused-appellant was under obligation to offer a proper explanation, what had happened with victim and who murdered her. It is also relevant to mention here that accused-appellant disappeared from his house till his arrest and his house remain locked. This fact also finds support from statement of PW-1, 2 and 3. Conduct of accused-appellant fleeing away from his house becomes relevant and is an additional link evidence against him. Dead body of victim and one Lungi, allegedly belonged to accused-appellant, have been recovered from street adjacent to house of accused-appellant and accused-appellant was not present in the house, if the victim was murdered by someone else, accused-appellant could have informed first, but he did not do so. Accused-appellant has also not offered any explanation how his Lungi was found there. All the circumstances indicate, guilt of accused-appellant and proved that accused-appellant is only and only person who committed murder of victim and threw the body in the street adjacent to his house.

25. In case, in hand, there is no eye witness of occurrence and case of prosecution rests on circumstantial evidence. The normal principle in a case based on circumstantial evidence is that circumstances from which an inference of guilt is sought to be drawn must be cogently and firmly established; that those circumstances should be of a definite tendency unerringly pointing towards the guilt of accused-appellant; that the circumstances taken cumulatively should form a chain so complete that there is no escape from the conclusion that within all human probability the crime was committed by the accused-appellant and he should be incapable of explanation on any hypothesis other than that of the guilt of the accused-appellant and inconsistent with his innocence.

26. Hanumant Govind Nargundkar & Anr. v. State of M.P., AIR 1952 SC 343, is the basic judgment of the Supreme Court on appreciation of evidence, when the case depends only on circumstantial evidence, which has been consistently relied in later judgments. In this case as long back as in 1952, Hon'ble Mahajan, J expounded various concomitant of proof of a case based purely on circumstantial evidence and said:

*"... circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency and they should be such as to exclude every hypothesis but the one proposed to be proved..... it must be such as to show that within all human probability the act must have been done by the accused."

27. In Hukam Singh v. State of Rajasthan, AIR 1977 SC 1063, Court said, where a case rests clearly on circumstantial evidence, inference of guilt can be justified only when all the incriminating facts and circumstances are found to be incompatible with innocence of accused-appellant or guilt of any other person.

28. In Sharad Birdhichand Sarda v. State of Maharashtra, AIR 1984 SC 1622, Court while dealing with a case based on circumstantial evidence, held, that onus is on prosecution to prove that chain is complete. Infirmity or lacuna, in prosecution, cannot be cured by false defence or plea. Conditions precedent before conviction, based on circumstantial evidence, must be fully established. Court described following condition precedent :-

(1) the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is to be drawn should be fully established. The circumstances concerned 'must or should' and not 'may be' established.

(2) the facts so established should be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused, that is to say, they should not be explainable on any other hypothesis except that the accused is guilty.

(3) the circumstances should be of a conclusive nature and tendency.

(4) they should exclude every possible hypothesis except the one to be proved, and

(5) there must be a chain of evidence so complete as not to leave any reasonable ground for the conclusion consistent with the innocence of the accused and must show that in all human probability the act must have been done by the accused. (emphasis added)

29. In Ashok Kumar Chatterjee v. State of Madhya Pradesh, AIR 1989 SC 1890, Court said:

"...when a case rests upon circumstantial evidence such evidence must satisfy the following tests :-

(1) the circumstances from which an inference of guilt is sought to be drawn, must be cogently and firmly established;

(2) those circumstances should be of a definite tendency unerringly pointing towards guilt of the accused;

(3) the circumstances, taken cumulatively; should form a chain so complete that there is no escape from the conclusion that within all human probability the crime was committed by the accused and none else; and,

(4) the circumstantial evidence in order to sustain conviction must be complete and incapable of explanation of any other hypothesis than that of the guilt of the accused and such evidence should not only be consistent with the guilt of the accused but should be inconsistent with his innocence."

(emphasis added)

30. In C. Chenga Reddy and Others v. State of Andhra Pradesh, 1996(10) SCC 193, Court said:

"In a case based on circumstantial evidence, the settled law is that the circumstances from which the conclusion of guilt is drawn should be fully proved and such circumstances must be conclusive in nature. Moreover, all the circumstances should be complete and there should be no gap left in the chain of evidence. Further, the proved circumstances must be consistent only with the hypothesis of the guilt of the accused and totally inconsistent with his innocence. " (emphasis added)

31. In Bodh Raj @ Bodha and Ors. v. State of Jammu and Kashmir, 2002(8) SCC 45 Court quoted from Sir Alfred Wills, "Wills' Circumstantial Evidence" (Chapter VI) and in para 15 of judgement said:

"(1) the facts alleged as the basis of any legal inference must be clearly proved and beyond reasonable doubt connected with the factum probandum;

(2) the burden of proof is always on the party who asserts the existence of any fact, which infers legal accountability;

(3) in all cases, whether of direct or circumstantial evidence the best evidence must be adduced which the nature of the case admits;

(4) in order to justify the inference of guilt, the inculpatory facts must be incompatible with the innocence of the accused and incapable of explanation, upon any other reasonable hypothesis than that of his guilt,

*(5) if there be any reasonable doubt of the guilt of the accused, he is entitled as of right to be acquitted."

(emphasis added)

32. The above principle in respect of circumstantial evidence has been reiterated in subsequent authorities also in Shivu and Another v. Registrar General High Court of Karnataka and Another, 2007(4) SCC 713 and Tomaso Bruno v. State of U.P., 2015(7) SCC 178.

33. Learned counsel for accused-appellant argued that all the three witness PW-1, 2 and 3 are relative of deceased, therefore, they cannot be termed as independent witness and they are not worthy to credence. We are not impressed with the argument of learned counsel for accused-appellant and reject the same. Argument made by learned counsel for accused-appellant is thoroughly misconceived for the reasons that PW-1, 2 and 3 being father, mother and brother of deceased are natural witness. Their presence must have been in the house, when accused-appellant took victim from house on the pretext of learning Arabi language

"There is no hard and fast rule that family members can never be true witnesses to the occurrence and that they will always depose falsely before the Court. It will always depend upon the facts and circumstances of a given case. In the case of Jayabalan v. U.T. of Pondicherry (2010) 1 SCC 199*, this Court had occasion to consider whether the evidence of interested witnesses can be relied upon. The Court took the view that a pedantic approach cannot be applied while dealing with the evidence of an interested witness. Such evidence cannot be ignored or thrown out solely because it comes from a person closely related to the victim"*

35. In Ganga Bhawani v. Rayapati Venkat Reddy and Others, 2013(15) SCC 298, Court has held as under :-

"11. It is a settled legal proposition that the evidence of closely related witnesses is required to be carefully scrutinised and appreciated before any conclusion is made to rest upon it, regarding the convict/accused in a given case. Thus, the evidence cannot be disbelieved merely on the ground that the witnesses are related to each other or to the deceased. In case the evidence has a ring of truth to it, is cogent, credible and trustworthy, it can, and certainly should, be relied upon.

(Vide: Bhagalool Lodh & Anr. v. State of UP, AIR 2011 SC 2292; and Dhari & Ors. v. State of U. P., AIR 2013 SC 308)."

36. It is settled that merely because witnesses are close relatives of victim, their testimonies cannot be discarded. Relationship with one of the parties is not a factor that affects credibility of witness, more so, a relative would not conceal the actual culprit and make allegation against an innocent person. However, in such a case, Court has to adopt a careful approach and analyse the evidence to find out that whether it is cogent and credible evidence.

37. In so far as motive is concerned, it is also notable that mind set of accused persons differs from each other. Thus, merely because that there was no strong motive to commit the present offence, prosecution case cannot be disbelieved. We do not find any substance in the argument advanced by learned counsel for appellant.

38. Next argument advanced by learned counsel for accused-appellant, in so far as discrepancies, variation and contradiction in the prosecution case is concerned, we have analysed entire evidence in consonance with the submissions raised by learned counsel for the accused-appellant and find that the same do not go to the root of case and accused-appellant is not getting its benefits.

39 . In Sampath Kumar v. Inspector of Police, Krishnagiri, (2012) 4 SCC 124, Court has held that minor contradictions are bound to appear in the statements of truthful witnesses as memory sometimes plays false and sense of observation differs from person to person.

40. We lest not forget that no prosecution case is foolproof and the same is bound to suffer from some lacuna or the other. It is only when such lacunae are on material aspects going to the root of the matter, it may have bearing on the outcome of the case, else such shortcomings are to be ignored. Reference may be made to a recent decision of the Apex Court (3 Judges) in Criminal Appeal No. 56 of 2018, Smt. Shamim v. State of (NCT of Delhi), decided on 19.09.2018.

41. In Sachin Kumar Singhraha Vs. State of Madhya Pradesh in Criminal Appeal Nos. 473-474 of 2019 decided on 12.3.2019, Court has observed that the Court will have to evaluate the evidence before it keeping in mind the rustic nature of the depositions of the villagers, who may not depose about exact geographical locations with mathematical precision. Discrepancies of this nature, which do not go to the root of the matter, do not obliterate otherwise acceptable evidence. It need not be stated that it is by now well settled that minor variations should not be taken into consideration while assessing the reliability of witness testimony and the consistency of the prosecution version as a whole.

42. e, we are satisfied that prosecution has successfully proved its case beyond reasonable doubt against accused-appellant and Trial Court has rightly convicted him for having committed an offence under Sections 302 and 201 IPC. Appeal is devoid of merit and liable to be dismissed.

43. So far as sentence of accused-appellant is concerned, it is always a difficult task requiring balancing of various considerations. The question of awarding sentence is a matter of discretion to be exercised on consideration of circumstances aggravating and mitigating in the individual cases.

44. It is settled legal position that appropriate sentence should be awarded after giving due consideration to facts and circumstances of each case, nature of offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed. It is obligation of court to constantly remind itself that right of victim, and be it said, on certain occasions person aggrieved as well as society at large can be victims, never be marginalised. The measure of punishment should be proportionate to gravity of offence. Object of sentencing should be to protect society and to deter the criminal in achieving avowed object of law. Further, it is expected that courts would operate the sentencing system so as to impose such sentence which reflects conscience of society and sentencing process has to be stern where it should be. The Court will be failing in its duty if appropriate punishment is not awarded for a crime which has been committed not only against individual victim but also against society to which criminal and victim belong. Punishment to be awarded for a crime must not be irrelevant but it should conform to and be consistent with the atrocity and brutality which the crime has been perpetrated, enormity of crime warranting public abhorrence and it should 'respond to the society's cry for justice against the criminal'. [Vide: Sumer Singh vs. Surajbhan Singh and others, (2014) 7 SCC 323, Sham Sunder vs. Puran, (1990) 4 SCC 731, M.P. v. Saleem, (2005) 5 SCC 554, Ravji v. State of Rajasthan, (1996) 2 SCC 175].

45. Hence, applying the principles laid down in the aforesaid judgments and having regard to the totality of facts and circumstances of case, motive, nature of offence and the manner in which it was executed or committed, we find that punishment imposed upon accused-appellant by Trial Court in impugned judgment and order is not excessive and it appears fit and proper and no ground appears to interfere in the matter on the point of punishment imposed upon him.

46. We, therefore, find no merit in appeal. Present Jail Appeal lacks merit and is, accordingly, dismissed. Judgement and order dated 31.08.2016 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, FTC Court No.1, Chandauli in Session Trial No. 54 of 2010, (State v. Mumtaz), arising out of Case Crime No. 24 of 2010, Police Station Mugalsarain, under Sections 302 and 201 IPC, is maintained and confirmed.

47. Lower Court record along with a copy of this judgment be sent back immediately to District Court and Jail concerned for compliance and apprising the accused-appellant.

48. Before parting, we provide that Sri Vimlendu Tripathi, Advocate, who has appeared as Amicus Curiae for appellant in present Jail Appeal, shall be paid counsel's fee as Rs. 11,500/- for his valuable assistance. State Government is directed to ensure payment of aforesaid fee through Additional Legal Remembrancer, posted in the office of Advocate General at Allahabad, without any delay and, in any case, within one month from the date of receipt of copy of this judgment.

THE HON'BLE SUDHIR AGARWAL, J.

Criminal Revision No. 1089 of 1996

Umesh Chandra
...Complainant/Revisionist
Versus
The State of U.P. & Ors. ...Opp. Parties

Counsel for the Revisionist:
Sri B.R. Singh

Counsel for the Opposite Parties:
A.G.A.

A. Cr.P.C., 1973 - Section 397/401 - Revisional Jurisdiction of High Court - is supervisory jurisdiction exercised to correct the manifest error in the orders of subordinate courts. It is distinct from Appellate jurisdiction - Acquittal of accused-Double presumption of innocence in his favour - Revisional powers of High Court to be exercised only when the Court lacks jurisdiction or has excluded evidence which was admissible, or relied on inadmissible evidence or material evidence has been overlooked. (Para 4, 5, 6, 13 & 15)

In case of acquittal, there is double presumption in favour of the accused. Firstly, the presumption of innocence is available to him under the fundamental principle of criminal jurisprudence that every person shall be presumed to be innocent unless he is proved guilty by a competent court of law. Secondly, the accused having secured his acquittal, the presumption of his innocence is further reinforced, reaffirmed and strengthened by the Trial Court.

The revisional jurisdiction of the High Court cannot be invoked merely because the lower court has taken a wrong view of law or misappreciated the evidence on record. If the Court lacks jurisdiction or has excluded evidence which was admissible or relied on inadmissible evidence or material evidence has been overlooked etc., then only this Court would be justified in exercising revisional power and not otherwise.

Unless there is a patent and culpable illegality justifying interference in judgment of acquittal, this Court shall not and should not interfere in criminal revision. The revision is dismissed. Interim order, if any, stands vacated.

17. Shivasharanappa & ors. Vs St. of Kar. & ors. (2013) 5 SCC 705

(Delivered by Hon'ble Sudhir Agarwal, J.)

1. Heard Sri B.R. Singh, learned counsel for revisionist and perused the record.

2. This criminal revision under Section 397/401 Cr.P.C., has been filed aggrieved by order dated 30.05.1996 passed by IInd Additional Sessions Judge, Etah in Session Trial No. 521 of 1994, whereby Respondents were acquitted from the offence under Sections 302/34 IPC.

3. Despite repeated query learned counsel for revisionist could not point out any error in the judgment in question particularly in view of the categorical finding recorded by Court below in para 28 of judgment that both the witnesses of fact, i.e., PWs-1 and 2 were not present at the time of incident in village in question. Their testimony has also been found contrary to medical report and Court below has also recorded finding that First Information Report was ante-time. These findings have not been shown perverse or contrary to material on record so as to justify interference in criminal revision.

4. The judicial review in exercise of revisional jurisdiction is not like an appeal. It is a supervisory jurisdiction which is exercised by the Court to correct the manifest error in the orders of subordinate courts but should not be exercised in a manner so as to turn the Revisional court in a Court of Appeal. The legislature has differently made provisions for appeal and revision and the distinction of two jurisdictions has to be maintained.

5. Construing old Section 439 of Criminal Procedure Code, 1898, pertaining to revisional jurisdiction, the Court in D. Stephens Vs. Nosibolla, AIR 1951 Sc 196 said that revisional jurisdiction under Section 439 of the Code ought not to be exercised lightly particularly when it is invoked by private complainant against an order of acquittal which could have been appealed against by the Government under Section 417. It could be exercised only in exceptional cases where the interests of public justice require interference for the correction of a manifest illegality, or the prevention of a gross miscarriage of justice. In other words, the revisional jurisdiction of the High Court cannot be invoked merely because the lower court has taken a wrong view of law or misappreciated the evidence on record.

6. In K. Chinnaswamy Reddy Vs. State of Andhra Pradesh, AIR 1962 SC 1788 it was held that revisional jurisdiction should be exercised by the High Court in exceptional cases only when there is some glaring defect in the procedure or a manifest error on a point of law resulting in flagrant miscarriage of justice. However, this was also a case in which revisional jurisdiction was invoked against an order of acquittal. If the Court lacks jurisdiction or has excluded evidence which was admissible or relied on inadmissible evidence or material evidence has been overlooked etc., then only this Court would be justified in exercising revisional power and not otherwise.

7. The above view has been reiterated in Mahendra Pratap Singh Vs. Sarju Singh, AIR 1968 SC 707; Khetrabasi Samal Vs. State of Orissa, AIR 1970 SC 272; Satyendra Nath Dutta and another Vs. Ram Narain, AIR 1975 SC 580; Jagannath Choudhary and others Vs. Ramayan Singh and another, 2002(5) SCC 659; and, Johar and others Vs. Mandal Prasad and another, 2008 Cr.L.J. 1627 (S.C.).

8. In Duli Chand Vs. Delhi Administration, 1975(4) SCC 649 the Court reminded that jurisdiction of High Court in criminal revision is severely restricted and it cannot embark upon a re-appreciation of evidence. While exercising supervisory jurisdiction in revision the Court would be justified in refusing to re-appreciate evidence for determining whether the concurrent findings of fact reached by learned Magistrate and Sessions Judge was correct.

9. In Pathumma and another Vs. Muhammad, 1986(2) SCC 585 reiterating the above view the Court said that in revisional jurisdiction the High Court would not be justified in substituting its own view for that of a Magistrate on a question of fact.

10. In Munna Devi Vs. State of Rajasthan and another, 2001(9) SCC 631 the Court said:

"The revision power under the Code of Criminal procedure cannot be exercised in a routine and casual manner. While exercising such powers the High Court has no authority to appreciate the evidence in the manner as the trial and the appellate courts are required to do. Revisional powers could be exercised only when it is shown that there is a legal bar against the continuance of the criminal proceedings or the framing of charge or the facts as stated in the First Information Report even if they are taken at the face value and accepted in their entirety do not constitute the offence for which the accused has been charged."

11. In Ram Briksh Singh and others Vs. Ambika Yadav and another, 2004(7) SCC 665, in a matter again arising from the judgment of acquittal, the revisional power of High Court was examined and the Court said:

"4. Sections 397 to 401 of the Code are group of sections conferring higher and superior courts a sort of supervisory jurisdiction. These powers are required to be exercised sparingly. Though the jurisdiction under Section 401 cannot be invoked to only correct wrong appreciation of evidence and the High Court is not required to act as a court of appeal but at the same time, it is the duty of the court to correct manifest illegality resulting in gross miscarriage of justice."

12. Moreso, if an appeal is filed against acquittal despite the fact that plenary power of Appellate Court to review the whole evidence on which order of acquittal is founded has been recognized by a Three Judge Bench of Supreme Court in Shivaji Sahebrao Bobade and another vs. State of Maharashtra, AIR 1973 SC 2622 and it has been followed in Girija Prasad (Dead) by L.Rs. vs. State of Madhya Pradesh, 2007(7) SCC 625 and State of Goa vs. Sanjay Thakran, 2007(3) SCC 755, still Court has held that in the matter of acquittal there are certain other principles which are to be kept in mind.

13. In Chandrappa vs. State of Karnataka, 2007(4) SCC 415 Court said that an Appellate Court, however, must bear in mind that in case of acquittal, there is double presumption in favour of the accused. Firstly, the presumption of innocence is available to him under the fundamental principle of criminal jurisprudence that every person shall be presumed to be innocent unless he is proved guilty by a competent court of law. Secondly, the accused having secured his acquittal, the presumption of his innocence is further reinforced, reaffirmed and strengthened by the Trial Court.

14. Further in State of Rajasthan vs. Shera Ram alias Vishnu Dutta, 2012(1) SCC 602 Court said that High Court is required to see that unless there are substantial and compelling circumstances, the order of acquittal is not required to be reversed in appeal. All these authorities have been referred and followed in Shivasharanappa and others vs. State of Karnatapa and others, 2013(5) SCC 705.

15. In the present case above principles are not only applicable in entirety but makes the jurisdiction of this Court further narrower for the reason that here the judgment of acquittal has been challenged in revision where the scope of judicial review is further limited as already discussed above and not as wide as that of Appellate Court. Therefore, unless there is a patent and culpable illegality justifying interference in judgment of acquittal, this Court shall not and should not interfere in criminal revision.

16. The revision is dismissed. Interim order, if any, stands vacated

17. Certify this judgment to the lower Court immediately.

A. Cr.P.C., 1973-Section 319 - Revisionists though nominated in the F.I.R exonerated in the Police Report on basis of alibi -" Evidence" - is limited to the evidence recorded by the trial court - Statement recorded under Section 161 of the Cr.Pc - Has only the limited purpose of contradicting the maker thereof- the other evidence which has come on record between the stage of taking cognizance by the Court till the commencement of the trial can merely be used for corroborative purposes - Plea of Alibi- Section 103 of the Evidence Act - Burden of Proof for establishing the plea of alibi - Could be done by leading evidence in trial court and not by relying on the material collected during investigation n- The Court in exercise of its inherent powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. cannot consider the plea of alibi of an accused- Precedent-a decision is precedent on its own facts- the only thing binding a party is the ratio decidendi which is generally secundum subjectam materiam-Application under Section 319 Cr.P.C.- is maintainable only when implicative evidence of probative value more than strong suspicion comes on record in shape of documentary or oral evidence in trial - Power under Section 319 of the Code - is conferred on the court to ensure that justice is done to the society by bringing to book all those guilty of an offence and to render justice to the victim.

Scope, ambit and sweep of expression "evidence" contained under Section 319 Cr.P.C. and explained in the para 85 in the Constitution Bench judgement of Hardeep Singh was not considered in the subsequent cases in Brijendra Singh's and Shiv Prakash Mishra's cases to the extent that any evidence collected during investigation either in favour of the prosecution or the accused cannot be taken into account while exercising the power under Section 319 Cr.P.C. In view of unambiguous interpretation to the word 'evidence'; it is limited to the evidence recorded by the trial court".

A decision is precedent on its own facts- The only thing in Judge's decision binding a party is the principle upon which the case is decided and for this reason it is important to analyze a decision and isolate from it the ratio decidendi.

Application under Section 319 Cr.P.C. is maintainable only when implicative evidence of probative value more than strong suspicion comes on record in shape of documentary or oral evidence in trial.

Statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. is not a substantive piece of evidence. In view of proviso to subsection (1) of Section 162 Cr.P.C., the statement can be used only with limited purpose of contradicting the maker thereof in the manner laid down in the said proviso.

Consideration of plea of alibi -Section 103 of Evidence Act - burden of proof as to any particular fact lies on that person who wishes the court to believe in its existence, unless it is proved by any law that proof of that fact lies on a particular person- The Court in exercise of its inherent powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. cannot consider the plea of alibi of an accused at the stage of taking cognizance, framing of charges or summoning the accused on the basis of evidence recorded during trial under Section 319 Cr.P.C.

The power under Section 319 of the Code is conferred on the court to ensure that justice is done to the society by bringing to book all those guilty of an offence and to render justice to the victim. One of the aims and purposes of the Criminal Justice System is to maintain social order. It is in recognition of this that the Code has specifically conferred a power in the court to proceed against others not arrayed as accused in the circumstances set out by this Section. Revision accordingly dismissed.

8. St. of Ori. Vs Debendra Nath Padhi (2004) 8 SCC 568

(Delivered by Hon'ble Rajul Bhargava, J.)

1. Heard Sri Rajiv Lochan Shukla and Sri Shiv Shanker Prasad Gupta, learned counsels of the revisionists and Sri Pankaj Saxena, learned A.G.A. for the State and perused impugned order and material on record.

2. Present revision has been preferred against the impugned order dated 7.05.2019 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Azamgarh in Session Trial No.49 of 2017 (State Versus Lakshaman Yadav and others) under Sections 302, 120-B, 506 I.P.C. and 7 Criminal Law Amendment Act, Police Station Maharajganj, District Azamgarh, whereby application 21 kha under Section 319 Cr.P.C. moved by informant/opposite party no.2 for summoning the revisionists has been allowed and the revisionists have been summoned to face trial under aforesaid sections.

3. The facts, in brief, relevant for decision of present revision are that opposite party no.2 lodged F.I.R. on 22.1.2016 at 2.15 p.m. regarding an incident which is stated to have taken place on the same day at 1.00 p.m.. It is stated that on 12.10.2012 at about 4.00 p.m. accused, Saudagar and Sagar in collusion with hired assailants had caused firearm injuries on the informant's son Vishwajeet alias Santosh in which a case was registered and one of the accused Lakshaman was still in jail. The aforesaid accused, Saudagar and Sagar were extending threat for entering into a compromise or else they will face dire consequences. On 22.1.2016 at about 1.00 p.m. the accused, Sagar and Saudagar along with two unknown miscreants came on motorcycle and after waylaying the tempo of the deceased, made him to fell on the ground and they resorted to indiscriminate firing and fled away. After investigation charge-sheet was submitted only against accused, Laxman Yadav under Sections 302, 120-B, 506, 34 I.P.C. and 7 Criminal Law Amendment Act However, the participation of revisionist / accused, Saudagar was found false on the basis of the some electronic evidences collected by the Investigating Officer in the form of Pen Drive and CCTV footage from 21.1.2016 to 23.1.2016. The revisionist no.1, Sagar Yadav was also exonerated on the ground that he was present before Consolidation Officer on 22.1.2016 which is about 40 kms away from the place of incident. During trial statement of first informant PW 1 was recorded. He was also an eye-witness. He had categorically stated that revisionists and two other accused whose names came into light subsequently have resorted to indiscriminate firing in a bright day light incident and his son died on the spot on account of multiple firearm wounds of entry and exit. An application was moved by the prosecution to summon applicants under Section 319 Cr.P.C. in view of categorical statement of the first informant regarding participation of the revisionists by the impugned order. Learned judge summoned revisionists to face trial.

4. Learned counsel for the revisionists have assailed the impugned order on the ground that the trial judge has misinterpreted evidence on record and has recorded perverse finding about involvement of revisionists in the crime. Trial judge did not consider the material collected during investigation in respect of their plea of alibi which stood unrebutted and solely on the basis of conjectures and surmises summoned the revisionists to face trial. He has also conducted mini trial by even going to the extent of considering the manner in which the Investigating Officer relied on pen drive provided by some well-wisher of the revisionist no.2 from which he had drawn an inference that he was present at a quite far away place and arrived at conclusion that his presence at the spot at the date and time of the incident is doubtful. It has been argued that learned judge has overstepped by scanning the evidence led against revisionists by rejecting it and summoning the revisionists in exercise of powers under Section 319 Cr.P.C.

5. Learned counsel for the revisionists submitted that in view the judgement of Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Hardeep Singh Versus State of Punjab (2014) 3 SCC 92, the trial judge has not considered the evidence on record and has relied on extraneous material without recording satisfaction more than prima facie satisfaction sufficient for framing charges is required under the law and no such satisfaction to this effect has been recorded in the impugned order. Learned counsels have further place reliance on subsequent decision of the Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Brijendra Singh and others Versus State of Rajasthan (2017) 7 SCC 706 and followed in the a recent judgement rendered by Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Shiv Prakash Mishra Versus State of Uttar Pradesh and another passed in Criminal Appeal No.1105 of 2019 (arising out of S.L.P. (Crl.) No.2168 of 2019) dated 23.7.2019 wherein the plea of alibi was raised by the accused and accepted by Investigating Agency which led to filing of charge-sheet without arraying the accused therein despite having been named as one of the assailants in the F.I.R. and they were summoned on the basis of testimony recorded in the trial as one of the assailants. The powers under Section 319 Cr.P.C. was invoked by the prosecution which led to allowing of the application which was assailed in the High Court whereafter the matter was preferred upto Supreme Court wherein challenge made by the accused therein was upheld by holding that a detailed inquiry has been conducted by the investigating agency where the plea of alibi was found to be true, the trial court was not correct in allowing the application under Section 319 Cr.P.C. in a perfunctory and cursory manner without applying its judicial mind to the exonerative evidence collected by the Investigating Officer during investigation. Learned counsels have submitted that case of the revisionists is more or less on the same lines as during investigation on the basis of electronic evidence and documentary evidence their participation in the murder of the son of first informant was found false. Thus the impugned order is in the teeth of the guidelines/parameters stated in paragraph no.106 of Hardeep Singh's case(supra) and the impugned order is liable to be quashed.

6. Sri Pankaj Saxena, learned A.G.A. Appearing for the State has strongly opposed the prayer for quashing the impugned order and has relied upon the Constitution Bench decision of Hon'ble Apex Court in Hardeep Singh Versus State of Haryana.. He has further argued that the plea of alibi cannot be considered at the stage of taking cognizance or claiming discharge by the accused under Section 227 of Cr.P.C. and the trial court while exercising powers under Section 319 Cr.P.C. The trial judge has rightly placed reliance on the statement of PW 1 who is the eye-witness and had lodged the F.I.R. within one and half hours of the incident naming the revisionists and two unknown miscreants. Therefore, the instant revision deserves to be dismissed.

7. In order to deal with the submissions made by learned counsels for the revisionists, especially in respect of subsequent judgements rendered by the Hon'ble Apex Court in Brijendra Singh's and Shiv Prasad Mishra's cases, I would like to deal with legal aspect as to what material/evidence is to be considered under Section 319 Cr.P.C. as laid down in the judgements of the Hon'ble Apex Court in the Constitution Bench decision rendered in the case of Hardeep Singh (supra).

8. The Hon'ble Apex court in it's decision of Constitution Bench in the case of Hardeep Singh(supra) has considered the scope, ambit and sweep of Section

319 Cr.P.C. in detail and has framed several questions including question No.(iii) which is reproduced below:-

"Question (iii) - Whether the word "evidence" used in Section 319 (1) Cr.P.C. has been used in a comprehensive sense and includes the evidence collected during investigation or the word "evidence" is limited to the evidence recorded during trial ?"

The above said question has been answered in the following manner by the Apex Court :-

"85. In view of the discussion made and the conclusion drawn hereinabove, the answer to the aforesaid question posed is that apart from evidence recorded during trial, any material that has been received by the court after cognizance is taken and before the trial commences, can be utilized only for corroboration and to support the evidence by the court to invoke the power under Section 319 Cr.P.C. The "evidence" is thus limited to the evidence during trial."

9. This Court, after carefully considering the Constitution Bench decision of Apex Court in the case of Hardeep Singh(supra) and subsequent decisions in Brijendra Singh's and Shiv Prakash Mishra's cases is of the opinion that a bare perusal of two Judges's Bench decision of Apex Court in the Brijendra Singh's case reveals that though earlier decision of Hardeep Singh was considered, however, the scope, ambit and sweep of expression "evidence" contained under Section 319 Cr.P.C. and explained in the para 85 in the judgement was not considered in the subsequent cases to the extent that any evidence collected during investigation either in favour of the prosecution or the accused cannot be taken into account while exercising the power under Section 319 Cr.P.C. In view of unambiguous interpretation to the word 'evidence'; it is limited to the evidence recorded by the trial court".

10. With profound respect and utmost humility at my command, I may record that it is well settled that authority/judicial precedent has to be understood in context of facts based on which the observation made therein are made. The ratio of a decision is generally secundum subjectam materiam.

11. In Quinn v. Leathem (1901) AC 495, Earls of Halsbury L.C. stated:

"...that every judgment must be read as applicable to the particular facts proved, or assumed to be proved, since the generality of the expressions which may be found there are not intended to be expositions of the whole law, but governed and qualified by the particular facts of the case in which such expressions are to be found. The other case is only an authority for what it actually decides.

12. It is also well settled that a decision is precedent on its own facts. Each case presents its own features. It is not everything said by a Judge while giving judgement that constitutes a precedent. The only thing in Judge's decision binding a party is the principle upon which the case is decided and for this reason it is important to analyze a decision and isolate from it the ratio decidendi.

13. This court indeed cannot comment on the decision of Hon'ble Apex Court in the Brijendra Singh and Shiv Prakash Mishra's cases(supra) but two conflicting views appeared to exist on the same point of meaning of expression "evidence' used in Section 319 Cr.P.C., the decision of Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Hardeep Singh rendered by Bench of larger composition shall prevail upon Brijendra Singh's and another decision.

14. In view of the above, this Court has no hesitation to hold that the expression "evidence" found in Section 319 Cr.P.C. is to be understood to mean the evidence collected during the trial in shape of oral and documentary evidence. However, the other evidence which has come on record between the stage of taking cognizance by the Court till the commencement of the trial can merely be used for corroborative purposes as laid down by the Apex Court in five Judge Bench decision in the case of Hardeep Singh. In other words, an application under Section 319 Cr.P.C. is maintainable only when implicative evidence of probative value more than strong suspicion comes on record in shape of documentary or oral evidence in trial. While considering such application under Section 319 Cr.P.C. the trial court can take assistance, for corroboration only, of any evidence which is already on record introduced between the stage of taking cognizance and the stage of commencement of trial. However, the trial court is not empowered to invoke Section 319 Cr.P.C. merely based on evidence which is part of investigation stage unless the same is already brought on record between the period of taking cognizance and before the trial begins.

15. Essentially, the main thrust of the learned counsels for the revisionists is to the plea of alibi which according to them was of an impeccable quality and thus the trial judge instead of rejecting the same on flimsy ground should have considered the same as it was tested by electronic evidence and documentary evidence and in this behalf statement of witnesses was also recorded by the Investigating Officer under Section 161 Cr.P.C. to record a positive finding that the revisionists could not have been present at the scene of commission of crime. It is well settled that statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. is not a substantive piece of evidence. In view of proviso to subsection (1) of Section 162 Cr.P.C., the statement can be used only with limited purpose of contradicting the maker thereof in the manner laid down in the said proviso. Therefore, the trial judge was perfectly justified in not placing reliance on wholly inadmissible evidence of alibi collected during investigation and if he had relied upon the same it would squarely be against interpretation given by Constitution Bench of Hon'ble Apex Court in Hardeep Singh's case being extraneous material collected during investigation and could not be treated as an evidence for the purposes of exercise of powers under Section 319 Cr.P.C. Consideration of plea of alibi while exercising powers under Section 319 Cr.P.C. may also be looked into from another angle i.e. Section 103 of Evidence Act which stipulates that burden of proof as to any particular fact lies on that person who wishes the court to believe in its existence, unless it is proved by any law that proof of that fact lies on a particular person. Second illustration to Section 103 of Evidence Act reads as under:

"B wishes the court to believe that at that time in question he was elsewhere, he must prove it."

16. This provision makes it obvious that burden of establishing plea of alibi of the revisionists before this Court lay squarely upon them. There is hardly any doubt regarding this legal proposition. Reference may be made to the cases of State of Haryana Versus Sher Singh, Manu SC/0236/1981, Gurcharan Singh Versus State of Punjab, Manu SC/0122/1955 and Chandrika Prasad Singh Versus State of Bihar Manu SC/0084/1971.

17. This could be done by leading evidence in trial court and not by relying on the material collected during investigation. In such a case the prosecution would have to be given an opportunity to cross-examine this witness can demonstrate that their testimony was not correct. The Court also in exercise of its inherent powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. cannot consider the plea of alibi of an accused at the stage of taking cognizance, framing of charges or summoning the accused on the basis of evidence recorded during trial under Section 319 Cr.P.C. The revisionists accused will have ample opportunity to place their evidence at the appropriate stage. In this behalf the judgement of the Hon'ble Apex Court, rendered in the case of State of Orissa Versus Debendra Nath Padhi, 2004(8) Supreme Court Cases 568 be referred to. It was held:

" .....Further, at the stage of framing of charge roving and fishing inquiry is impermissible. If the contention of the accused is accepted, there would be a mini trial at the stage of framing of charge. That would defeat the object of the Code. It is well-settled that at the stage of framing of charge the defence of the accused cannot be put forth. The acceptance of the contention of the learned counsel for the accused would mean permitting the accused to adduce his defence at the stage of framing of charge and for examination thereof at that stage which is against the criminal jurisprudence. By way of illustration, it may be noted that the plea of alibi taken by the accused may have to be examined at the stage of framing of charge if the contention of the accused is accepted despite the well settled proposition that it is for the accused to lead evidence at the trial to sustain such a plea. The accused would be entitled to produce materials and documents in proof of such a plea at the stage of framing of the charge, in case we accept the contention put forth on behalf of the accused. That has never been the intention of the law well settled for over one hundred years now. It is in this light that the provision about hearing the submissions of the accused as postulated by Section 227 is to be understood. It only means hearing the submissions of the accused on the record of the case as filed by the prosecution and documents submitted therewith and nothing more. The expression 'hearing the submissions of the accused' cannot mean opportunity to file material to be granted to the accused and thereby changing the settled law. At the state of framing of charge hearing the submissions of the accused has to be confined to the material produced by the police."

18. The above judgement relates to the stage of claiming of discharge by the accused under Section 227 Cr.P.C. However, in view of well settled law that even at the stage of framing of charge, material in respect of plea of alibi cannot be relied upon to discharge the accused.

19. The power under Section 319 of the Code is conferred on the court to ensure that justice is done to the society by bringing to book all those guilty of an offence. One of the aims and purposes of the Criminal Justice System is to maintain social order. It is necessary in that context to ensure that no one who appears to be guilty escapes a proper trial in relation to that guilt. There is also a duty to render justice to the victim of the offence. It is in recognition of this that the Code has specifically conferred a power in the court to proceed against others not arrayed as accused in the circumstances set out by this Section. It is a salutary power enabling the discharge of a court's obligation to the society to bring to book all those guilty of a crime.

20. In the light of aforesaid, the present revision is bereft of merit. The impugned order passed by trial judge is perfectly justified and well within the guidelines/parameters laid down by Constitution Bench decision of Hon'ble Apex Court in the case of Hardeep Singh's case.

21. The revision is accordingly, dismissed.

DATED: ALLAHABAD 28.08.2019

BEFORE

THE HON'BLE DINESH KUMAR SINGH-I, J

Criminal Revision No. 2952 of 2019

Aviral Singh & Anr. ...Revisionists
Versus
State of U.P. & Anr. ...Opp. Parties

Counsel for the Revisionists:

Sri Gopal Misra

Counsel for the Opposite Parties:

A.G.A.

A. Cr.P.C., 1973 - Section 397/401 and Section 227 – Discharge - Requirement at stage of Section 227 & 228 Cr.PC. - Consideration of the "record of the case" and hearing the parties- Ground of Presumption is enough to frame the Charge - Satisfaction of the court - may even be weaker than prima-facie case - At the stage of framing of charge, strong suspicion and not proof is sufficient- Questions of facts are matters of evidence which can only be appreciated during trial. (Para 9,11,12,13 &14)

On the basis of the allegation made by the victim against the accused there arises grave suspicion in respect of the victim having been attempted to be raped as was stated by her in her statement given under Section 164 Cr. P.C. and it is also true that the trial court was not required to make a roving enquiry regarding commission of the offence.

The arguments which have been raised before the trial court relate to the factual aspect of the case, finding where on would be possible only after trial is conducted by adducing evidence of both the sides and its appreciation is made.

The court is required to consider the "record of the case" and the documents submitted therewith and, after hearing the parties may either discharge the accused or where it appears to the court and in its opinion there is ground for presuming that the accused has committed an offence, it shall frame the charge. The satisfaction of the court in relation to the existence of constituents of an offence and the facts leading to that offence is a sine qua non for exercise of such jurisdiction. It may even be weaker than prima-facie case. At the initial stage of framing of charge, the court is concerned not with proof but with a strong suspicion that the accused has committed an offence, which, if put to trial, could prove him guilty.

Framing of charge is an exercise of jurisdiction by the trial court in terms of Section 228 Cr. P.C., unless the accused is discharged under Section 227 Cr.P.C. Under both the sections 227 and 228 Cr.P.C., the court is required to consider the "record of the case" and the documents submitted therewith and, after hearing the parties, may either discharge the accused or where it appears to the court and in its opinion there is ground for presuming that the accused has committed an offence, it shall frame the charge. To say that at this stage of framing of charge, the court should form an opinion that the accused is certainly guilty of committing an offence, is an approach which is impermissible in terms of Section 228 Cr. P.C.

Framing of charge is a kind of tentative view that the trial court forms in terms of Section 228 which is subject to final culmination of the proceedings.

No infirmity in the impugned order because the fact as to whether the accused/revisionist actually tried to molest the victim/attempted to commit rape upon her,/had abused and beaten her as has been stated by the victim in her statement under Section 164 Cr. P.C. as well as, as has been stated by her in F.I.R., is a subject matter of evidence because no opinion can be given on these aspects till both the parties have adduced evidence before trial court. Revision accordingly dismissed.

Criminal Revision dismissed (E-3)

Case law relied upon/discussed: -

1. St. of Har. & ors. Vs Ch. Bhajan Lal & ors. 1992 AIR 604 SC.

2. Vikram Jauhar Vs St. of U.P. & anr. 2019 lawsuit (SC) 1123

3. Dilawar Babu Vs St. of Mah. 2002 lawsuit (SC) 12

4. Amit Kapoor Vs Ramesh Chander & anr. (2012) 9 SCC460

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dinesh Kumar Singh-I, J.)

1. Heard Sri Gopal Mishra, learned counsel for the revisionists, Sri Attreya Dutt Mishra, learned A.G.A. appearing for the State and perused the record.

2. This criminal revision has been preferred by the revisionists against the judgment and order dated 20.07.2019 passed by Additional District & Sessions Judge, VI, Gautam Buddha Nagar in Sessions Trial No. 431 of 2018 (State Vs. Aviral & Others) whereby application 8-kha under section 227 Cr.P.C. has been rejected.

3. It is argued by the learned counsel for the revisionist that no offence under section 376 IPC as well as of other sections are made out and the Learned trial court has failed to appreciate the fact that opposite party no. 2 herself had come to the house of the revisionist to stay there and upon being refused to allow her to stay, she would refuse to leave. It has also not been appreciated that in her statement under sections 164 Cr. P.C. she herself has not made any statement that she was raped by the accused revisionist and yet Section 376 IPC has been imposed. The prosecution story would reveal that on the one hand the opposite party no. 2 is claiming that she herself went to reside with revisionist no. 1 who was known to her while on the other in the F.I.R. she has not even named the revisionist nos. 1 and 2. In FIR she has clearly stated that she had gone to stay with the revisionist no. 1 after taking consent of her parents but the investigating officer has not even recorded the statement of her parents. There are serious contradictions in the F.I.R. and the statement made by the victim under sections 161 and 164 Cr. P.C.. The opposite party no. 2 has made a statement under section 164 Cr. P.C. that she had called the police at 100 number from railway station New Delhi, but no information about the same was given by her to the investigating officer nor did the investigating officer collect any evidence in this regard during entire investigation. The malafide of the opposite party no. 2 would be clear from the fact that in the F.I.R. she has given her address as that of the revisionist no. 1. The present prosecution has been initiated only in order to blackmail the revisionist no. 1 and his family which would be apparent from the fact that when the real Bua and real brother of the opposite party no. 2 were residing in Delhi/NCR, even then she preferred to stay in the house of revisionist no. 1 of her own free will with some oblique motives to implicate the revisionists. It is the admitted case of the opposite party no. 2 that revisionist no. 1 had requested the opposite party no. 2 to go out from his house but she refused. The medical examination report does not substantiate any offence under section 376 IPC. Therefore it is argued that the trial court has committed grave error in rejecting the discharge application by forcing the revisionist to face the trial. The impugned order is a cryptic one which does not disclose any reasons. As far as revisionist no. 2 is concerned he was neither relative of opposite party no. 2 nor had he any connection in the present matter and was residing separate in his hostel and was pursuing studies. He has been solely implicated in this false case when opposite party no. 2 refused to go away from the house of the revisionist no. 1, the revisionist no. 2 was also called upon by the revisionist no. 1 for moral support only. The impugned order is illegal perverse and against the provisions of law as interpreted by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in various cases and the same deserves to be set aside.

4. The learned counsel for the revisionists has taken the court through the F.I.R. wherein it is recorded by opposite party no. 2 that she was a resident of District Chandauli and was doing B.Tec. from Lucknow. She had come to the house of his acquaintance i.e. revisionist no. 1, regarding which she had also told her parents and they permitted her to do so for doing training. The said revisionist no. 1 had also talked to her parents but about 2 days ago he started threatening her. There was another boy i.e. revisionist no. 2, who was son of her Bua and both of them together had beaten her and told her to leave their house but she refused, whereon she was threatened. The reason behind her being expelled was that she should leave the house before arrival of their parents. They had taken away her phone and was confined to a room and in highly drunken condition they came in her room and ill treated her when she was alone and while defending herself she received an abrasion as she was tightly caught. The son of her Bua tried to forcibly molest her, whereon she screamed loudly, thereafter both of them had closed her in a room and left from there. She could not have done anything there, therefore till the morning she remained there and again both of them came there in the morning and started beating her and did a lot of things and thereafter they had thrown out her belongings and expelled her from the house. She kept crying alone and had to go out along with her belongings but after having come out of the house she realized that her phone was left there and thereafter, leaving her belongings there only, she went back to their house again, then she was again beaten and her wallet was snatched away. Thereafter she came back from there and by Auto started leaving for Parichauk, then both of them came there from behind and had thrown her wallet inside the Auto, when she looked into it, she found that her phone and the money and a golden chain kept in the wallet were missing. She came to the Delhi railway station and lodged the complaint.

5. Thereafter the learned counsel for the revisionist had taken the court through her statement under sections 164 Cr. P.C. in which she has stated that she had come to the house of her Mausi last month. Her aunt's house was in Greater Noida. She knew revisionist no. 1/Aviral who was son of sister of her aunt for last 5 - 6 years as both of them were doing B.Tech from Lucknow. She had told her home folks that she was going to Noida for training purpose and till she would get a job she would stay in the house of her Mausi. Her brother was also staying for last 2 months in Noida where he had taken a room. She had started living in the house of her Mausi. She continued to enquire about training which was to begin from 30/06/2017. Aviral told her that she should come to his house. She declined, then he stated that his parents were also to come here yet she refused and stated that first he should arrange her meeting with his parents. On this, altercation followed between them and Aviral went away. With Aviral was also staying the son of her Bua, Animesh. Both of them talked to each other and came together in her room in the night at about 12 - 1 AM in drunken state. When she enquired as to what had happened, they started abusing her and gave her a ticket which was of 1st. They would not stop and started ill treating her and at that time she was alone. They started using force against her and she was beaten and an attempt to rape her was also made. Sri screamed loudly, whereafter both of them fled from there closing the door, having taken away her phone. She kept weeping because of fear and again when in the morning both of them came, they started abusing her. She told them that she would leave but both of them had thrown her belongings out, whereafter she left the place after taking her belongings. After having left the place she realized that her phone was left there only, to take which she went back but the same was not given and her purse was also snatched away. Thereafter she returned and engaged an Auto. The accused came from behind and had thrown her empty purse into the Auto, whereafter she made a phone call at 100 number and thereafter she reached Lucknow and got a report lodged at Lucknow police station and also came to meet SSP NOIDA .

6. After having taken the court through the above statements it was vehemently argued by the learned counsel for the revisionists that the said statement would suggest that there was no evidence on record constituting an offence of rape and that the accused revisionists have been falsely implicated by the opposite party no. 2 because it is very much clear from the above statements that the accused were consistently opposing her stay in their house but the victim/opposite party no. 2 was insisting upon staying there despite the fact that her own brother was staying in the same city which clearly suggests that she has fabricated this false story only to falsely implicate the revisionists. No such occurrence has ever happened. The revisionists are students of engineering and come from decent family. Therefore the impugned order dated 20/07/2019 rejecting the discharge application and directing the accused to appear before court for framing of charge, be set aside.

7. The learned counsel for the applicant by filing written argument has placed reliance on Bhajan Lal's case and it has been argued that the allegations made in the F.I.R. and the statement under sections 164 Cr. P.C. are absurd and inherently improbable that no prudent person can ever reach a just conclusion that there is sufficient ground for proceeding against the accused. He has placed reliance upon Vikram Jauhar vs State of Uttar Pradesh and another, 2019 lawsuit (SC) 1123, in which it is held that while considering the discharge application, the court is required to exercise its judicial mind to determine whether a case for trial has been made out or not. In this case the allegation was that appellant with 2 or 3 other unknown persons, one of whom was holding a revolver, came to the complainant's house and abused him in filthy language and attempted to assault him and when some neighbours arrived there, the appellant and the other persons accompanying him fled the spot. It was held that the allegation taken on the face of it does not satisfy the ingredients of Section 504 and 506 IPC as the intentional insult must be of such a great degree that it should provoke a person to break the public peace or to commit any other offence. The mere allegation that appellant came and abused the complainant does not satisfy the ingredients. In this case the allegation was only that the appellant abused the complainant, hence the ingredients of Section 504 and 506 were not found made out from the complaint filed by the complainant and it was held that the courts below committed error in rejecting the application of discharge filed by the Appellant.

8. The other case law relied upon by the learned counsel the applicant is Dilawar Babu vs State of Maharastra, 2002 lawsuit (SC) 12, in which it is held that even for the limited purpose of framing charge the evidence can be sifted to ascertain as to whether charge needs to be framed and that charge can be famed even when the suspicion is grave enough. Where the material placed before the court discloses grave suspicion against the accused which has not been properly explained, the court will be fully justified in framing the charge and to proceed with the trial. By and large, if two views are equally possible and judge is satisfied that the evidence produced before him, gives rise to some suspicion which was not grave one, he will be fully justified to discharge the accused. In exercising jurisdiction under Section 227 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, the judge cannot act merely as a post office or as a mouthpiece of the prosecution but has to consider broad probabilities of the case, the total effect of the evidence and the documents produced before the court, but should not make a roving enquiry into the pros and cons of the matter and weigh the evidence as if he was conducting trial.

9. I do not have any quarrel with the above principle of law but even if the above laid principles are applied in the present case, I am convinced that on the basis of the allegation made by the victim against the accused there arises grave suspicion in respect of the victim having been attempted to be raped as was stated by her in her statement given under Section 164 Cr. P.C. and it is also true that the trial court was not required to make a roving enquiry regarding commission of the offence. So far as the inherent improbability of the statement of the victim is concerned, it does not appear to be improbable at all.

10. The AGA vehemently opposed the quashing of the impugned order and has argued that there is no infirmity in the impugned order as there is sufficient evidence on record to constitute an offence under section 376 read with Section 511 IPC apart from other sections mentioned above and it is wrong to say that the accused - revisionists were summoned by the trial court to face trial under sections 376 IPC, rather they been summoned to face trial under sections 376 read with Section 511 IPC along with other sections. The main emphasis was laid by the Learned AGA on the statement given by the victim that she was tried to be thrown out of the house of the revisionist only because their parents were arriving and that it cannot be ignored that the accused might have molested the victim as she has stated that she was tried to be raped by them. The said statement cannot be disbelieved at inceptional stage of the case/trial.

11. I have gone through the impugned order. It is recorded in it that after registration of the F.I.R., investigation was conducted and the evidence was gathered by the investigating officer, on the basis of which charge sheet has been submitted against the accused/ revisionists, upon which cognizance has been taken by the learned Magistrate. The present matter relates to an effort having been made by the accused/revisionists of making attempt to commit rape upon the opposite party no. 2. The arguments which have been raised before the trial court relate to the factual aspect of the case, finding where on would be possible only after trial is conducted by adducing evidence of both the sides and its appreciation is made. The revisionists/accused would get sufficient opportunity at the stage of evidence to cross-examine the said witness/opposite party no. 2 and also to adduce evidence in defence and therefore at this stage it cannot be held that no such offence was committed and accordingly the application 8 Kha was dismissed which was moved for discharging the accused/revisionist of charges which were to be framed against them.

12. It would be pertinent to refer to the position of law in respect of framing of charge. In Amit Kapoor vs Ramesh Chander and another, (2012) 9 Supreme Court Cases 460, the Hon'ble Apex court has laid down that the framing of charge is an exercise of jurisdiction by the trial court in terms of Section 228 Cr. P.C., unless the accused is discharged under Section 227 Cr.P.C.. Under both the sections 227 and 228 Cr.P.C., the court is required to consider the "record of the case" and the documents submitted therewith and, after hearing the parties, may either discharge the accused or where it appears to the court and in its opinion there is ground for presuming that the accused has committed an offence, it shall frame the charge. Once the facts and ingredients of the Section concerned exist, then the court would be right in presuming that there is ground to proceed against the accused and frame the charge accordingly. This presumption is not a presumption of law as such. The satisfaction of the court in relation to the existence of constituents of an offence and the facts leading to that offence is a sign quo non for exercise of such jurisdiction. It may even be weaker than prima-facie case. At the initial stage of framing of charge, the court is concerned not with proof but with a strong suspicion that the accused has committed an offence, which, if put to trial, could prove him guilty. All that the court has to see is that the material on record and the facts would be compatible with the innocence of the accused or not. The final test of guilt is not to be applied at this stage. There is a fine distinction between the language of sections 227 and 228 Cr. P.C.. Section 227 is the expression of a definite opinion and judgment of the court while Section 228 is tentative. Thus, to say that at this stage of framing of charge, the court should form an opinion that the accused is certainly guilty of committing an offence, is an approach which is impermissible in terms of Section 228 Cr. P.C.. Framing of charge is the first major step in a criminal trial where the courts are expected to apply its mind to the entire record and documents placed before it. Taking cognizance of an offence has been stated to necessitate an application of mind by the court but framing of the charge is a major event where the court considers the possibility of discharging the accused of the offence with which he has been charged or requiring the accused to face trial. There are different categories of cases where the court may not proceed with the trial and may discharge the accused or pass such other orders as may be necessary keeping in view the facts of a given case. In a case, where considering the record of the case and documents submitted before it, the trial court finds that no offence is made out and there is a legal bar to such prosecution under the provisions of Cr. P.C. or any other law for the time being in force and there is a bar and there exists no ground to proceed against the accused, the court may discharge the accused. Framing of charge is a kind of tentative view that the trial court forms in terms of Section 228 which is subject to final culmination of the proceedings. The legislature in its wisdom has used the expression "there is ground for presuming that the accused has committed an offence". This has an inbuilt element of presumption once the ingredients of an offence with reference to the allegations made are satisfied, the court would not doubt the case of prosecution unduly and extend its jurisdiction to quash the charge in haste. The meaning of the word "presumed" means "to believe or accept upon probable evidence", "to take as proved until evidence to the contrary is forthcoming". In other words, the truth of the matter has to come out when the prosecution evidence is led, the witnesses are examined by the defence, incriminating material and evidence is put to the accused in terms of Section 313 Cr. P.C. and then the accused is provided an opportunity to lead defence if any. It is only upon completion of such steps that the trial concludes with the court forming its final opinion in delivering its judgment.

13. If the above test in the present case is applied as to whether the impugned order is a defective one on the anvil of law which has been cited above, I come to the conclusion that there is no infirmity in the impugned order because the fact as to whether the accused/revisionist actually tried to molest the victim/attempted to commit rape upon her,/had abused and beaten her as has been stated by the victim in her statement under Section 164 Cr. P.C. as well as, as has been stated by her in F.I.R., is a subject matter of evidence because no opinion can be given on these aspects till both the parties have adduced evidence before trial court. A perusal of the charge- sheet would reveal that there are as many as 8 witnesses whose statements have been recorded by the investigating officer in this case, out of whom the attention is drawn by the learned counsel for the revisionist to the statement of the victim only under Section 164 Cr. P.C. as well as FIR which have been cited above and not to any other witness which include three witnesses of fact and one Doctor apart from the formal witnesses. The copies of the statements of these witnesses have not been annexed with the present revision, therefore this court does not have opportunity to go through those statements and form an opinion as to whether there was no evidence on record against the accused revisionists constituting offence as mentioned above or not.

14. Accordingly I do not find any force in the present revision which needs to be dismissed and is accordingly dismissed.

Counsel for the Opposite Parties:
A.G.A., Sri Paritosh Shukla

A. Cr.P.C., 1973 - Section 319 - Application filed by revisionist rejected - Contradictory and vague statements - Not sufficient to bring the person in the category of offender-Interpretation of Statute-"any relative of her husband" in Section 304-B IPC- Evidence required to summon a person under Section 319 Cr.P.C. - Should be much better in comparison to what is required at the time of framing of the charge and the evidence should be such that the court should be of the view that it will certainly lead to the conviction of such person who is being sought to be summoned under section 319 Cr.P.C. (Para 12,13,14,15 & 16)

From the statement of all the witnesses and the First Information Report it is clear that the role of Ram Prakash was of only mediator in settling the marriage of the deceased. No allegation in First Information Report that Ram Prakash is a relative of the accused persons, but in the application under section 319, he has been stated to be a relative of accused person.

A penal statute should be strictly construed. The expression "any relative of her husband" occurring in Section 304-B IPC should be limited to persons related by blood, marriage or adoption.

PW-1 who is informant has said that Ram Prakash is relative of the accused persons and he said that if they give rupees five lakh, the matter may come to an end and his daughter may live comfortably. Similar statements have been given by PW-2 and 3 also. Only on the basis of this statement, the application under section 319 Cr.P.C. has been given which is not sufficient to involve Ramprakash in the crime and cannot bring him in the category of associate offender nor can make out a case against him.

It is essentially required that there should be evidence against such person which should be much better in comparison to what is required at the time of framing of the charges and the evidence should be such that the court should be of the view that it will certainly lead to the conviction of such person who is being sought to be summoned under section 319 Cr.P.C.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Pradeep Kumar Srivastava, J.)

1. Heard Shri Raj Kumar Rawat, learned counsel for the applicants, Shri Paritosh Shukla, learned counsel for the opposite party no.2, learned A.G.A. and perused the record.

2. This revision has been filed against the order dated 17.8.2015 passed by learned Additional Sessions Judge/F.T.C., Aligarh, in S.T.No.927 of 2012 (State vs. Raju Singh and others), under sections 498A, 304B I.P.C. and 3/4 D.P. Act, PS. Gandhipark, District Aligarh by which the learned trial court has rejected the application of the applicant-revisionist under section 319 Cr.P.C. for summoning the accused Ram Prakash for trial in the aforesaid case.

3. Learned counsel for the revisionist submitted that an application 39 Kha under section 319 Cr.P.C. was given by the complainant stating that the name of Ram Prakash was mentioned in the First Information Report and PW-1, PW-2 and PW-3 in their statements have stated that the said Ram Prakash was also involved in commission of crime. According to the complainant this fact was brought in the knowledge of said Ram Prakash that the accused persons are demanding rupees five lakh in dowry and requested that he should try to convince them but Sri Ram Prakash said that if they give rupees five lakh, the matter will be over. On the basis of the statements of witnesses, the complainant has requested to summon said Ramprakash as an accused in the said trial under section 319 of the Criminal Procedure Code.

4. After hearing both the sides, the learned trial court applying the law laid down in Hardeep Singh vs State of Punjab, AIR 2014 SC 1400, rejected the said application by the impugned order.

5. Aggrieved by the order, this revision has been filed and the impugned order has been challenged on the ground that the order is illegal and is not based on evidence on record. The learned court has committed error and has wrongly appreciated the evidence without applying judicial mind.

6. Section 319 Cr.P.C. reads as under :-

"319. Power to proceed against other persons appearing to be guilty of offence.-

(1) Where, in the course of any inquiry into, or trial of, an offence, it appears from the evidence that any person not being the accused has committed any offence for which such person could be tried together with the accused, the Court may proceed against such person for the offence which he appears to have committed.

(2) Where such person is not attending the Court, he may be arrested or summoned, as the circumstances of the case may require, for the purpose aforesaid.

(3) Any person attending the Court although not under arrest or upon a summons, may be detained by such Court for the purpose of the inquiry into, or trial of, the offence which he appears to have committed.

(4) Where the Court proceeds against any person under sub - section (1), then-

(a) the proceedings in respect of such person shall be commenced a fresh, and the witnesses re- heard;

(b) subject to the provisions of clause (a), the case may proceed as if such person had been an accused person when the Court took cognizance of the offence upon which the inquiry or trial was commenced."

7. In Hardeep Singh (supra), the Constitution Bench has settled the law in respect of Section 319, Criminal Procedure Code. that the standard of proof employed for summoning a person as an accused under Section 319 is higher than the standard of proof employed for framing a charge against an accused. The Supreme Court observed for the purpose of Section 319 as under:

".....what is, therefore, necessary for the Court is to arrive at a satisfaction that the evidence adduced on behalf of the prosecution, if unrebutted, may lead to the conviction of a person sought to be added as the accused in the case."

Regarding the degree of satisfaction necessary for framing a charge, the Court observed:

"However, there is a series of cases wherein this court while dealing with the provisions of Sections 227, 228, 239, 240, 241, 242 and 245 of the Cr.P.C., has consistently held that the court at the stage of framing of the charge has to apply its mind to the question whether or not there is any ground for presuming the commission of an offence by the accused.

The court has to see as to whether the material brought on record reasonably connect the accused with the offence. Nothing more is required to be enquired into. While dealing with the aforesaid provisions, the test of prima facie case is to be applied. The court has to find out whether the materials offered by the prosecution to be adduced as evidence are sufficient for the court to proceed against the accused further".

The Court concluded as below:

"106. Thus, we hold that though only a prima facie case is to be established from the evidence led before the court, not necessarily tested on the anvil of cross-examination, it requires much stronger evidence than mere probability of his complicity. The test that has to be applied is one which is more than prima facie case as exercised at the time of framing of charge, but short of satisfaction to an extent that the evidence, if goes unrebutted, would lead to conviction....."

8. In Babubhai Bhimabhai Bokhiria vs. State of Gujarat, 2014 (5) SCC 568, the aforesaid view of Hardeep Singh (supra) has been further quoted with approval and the Supreme Court has held as under :-

"Section 319 of the Code confers power on the trial court to find out whether a person who ought to have been added as an accused has erroneously been omitted or has deliberately been excluded by the investigating agency and that satisfaction has to be arrived at on the basis of the evidence so led during the trial. On the degree of satisfaction for invoking power under Section 319 of the Code, this Court observed that though the test of prima facie case being made out is same as that when the cognizance of the offence is taken and process issued, the degree of satisfaction under Section 319 of the Code is much higher."

9. In Brijendra Singh vs State of Rajasthan, AIR 2017 SC 2839, the supreme court discussed the meaning of 'evidence' in section 319, Criminal Procedure Code and expressed the view that the examination-in-chief of prosecution witnesses is to be considered and there is no need to wait for cross-examination. The prima facie opinion and satisfaction with regards to complicity of the person in commission of the offence is not mere probability of involvement. It requires stronger and cogent evidence. In this case, the IO investigated the offence and did not submit charge-sheet for the reason that at the time of incident the appellant was at a distance of 175 km from the place of occurrence. The supreme court set aside the summoning order and observed that no doubt, the trial court can summon the person on the basis of the statement of witnesses given during trial. However, where plethora of evidence was collected by the IO including documentary evidence indicating his plea of alibi to be correct, the trial court is duty bound to consider the evidence so collected by IO while forming opinion and recording satisfaction regarding prima facie case for the purpose of section 319 of the Criminal Procedure Code.

10. The view expressed in Hardeep Singh (supra) has been further reiterated in Labhuji Amaratji Thakor vs State of Gujarat, AIR 2019 SC 734 and has laid down that the test that has to be applied is one which is more than prima facie case as exercised at the time of framing of charge, but short of satisfaction to an extent that the evidence, if goes unrebutted, would lead to conviction. The Supreme Court set aside the order of the High Court and up held the order of Court below rejecting the application under section 319.

11. In Rakesh vs State of Haryana, AIR 2019 SC 2168, It appears that the facts of the case was quite similar in the case before the Supreme Court as in that case also the name of the persons was not mentioned in the FIR and when the statement under section 161 Cr.P.C. was recorded by the Investigating Officer, the name of these persons did not find mention. The supreme court again considered the ambit of section 319 and laid down as follows:

"Thus, we hold that though only a prima facie case is to be established from the evidence led before the court, not necessarily tested on the anvil of cross-examination, it requires much stronger evidence than mere probability of his complicity. The test that has to be applied is one which is more than prima facie case as exercised at the time of framing charge, but short of satisfaction to an extent that the evidence, if goes unrebutted, would lead to conviction."

12. In this instant case, from the perusal of the First Information Report, it appears that the complainant side asked Ram Prakash to advise the accused persons not to harass the deceased and went to in-laws side but they did not follow the advice so given by Ram Prakash. Thus from the statement of all the witnesses and the First Information Report it is clear that the role of Ram Prakash was of only mediator in settling the marriage of the deceased. Therefore on the request of the complainant side he further got himself involved to make the accused person in the incident that they should not demand the additional dowry nor harass the deceased. It is no where alleged in the application on the basis of which the First Information Report was lodged that Ram Prakash is a relative of the accused persons. But in the application under section 319, he has been stated to be a relative of accused person. What is the relation and whether he comes in the category of the 'husband or the relative of the husband' as occurred in 498-A of the IPC is not clear.

13. In State of Punjab Vs. Gurmit Singh, (2014) 9 SCC 632, it has been held that meaning of the words "any relative of her husband" occurring in Section 304-B IPC & meaning of the words "relative of the husband" occurring in Section 498-A IPC are identical and mean such person related by blood, marriage or adoption. A penal statute should be strictly construed. The expression "any relative of her husband" occurring in Section 304-B IPC should be limited to persons related by blood, marriage or adoption. Nowhere it has been stated that Ramprakash is related with accused by blood, marriage or adoption nor there is any evidence that he resides with the accused persons.

14. Learned trial court has found that in the First Information Report itself it has been mentioned that the role of Ram Prakash was of only mediator in the marriage and he was asked to settle the dispute between in-laws and parents of the deceased so that the accused could not harass her for demand of additional dowry. It has further been mentioned in the First Information Report that Ram Prakash tried to convince the in-laws of the deceased but he did not succeed and the accused continued demanding additional dowry. PW-1 who is informant was examined in the case and in his statement he has said that Ram Prakash is relative of the accused persons and on his saying, he tried to convince the accused persons. He also said that if they give rupees five lakh, the matter may come to an end and his daughter may live comfortably. Similar statements have been given by PW-2 and 3 also. Only on the basis of this statement, the application under section 319 Cr.P.C. has been given which is not sufficient to involve Ramprakash in the crime.

15. Moreover, merely saying that Ram Prakash asked to give rupees five lakh to the accused to end the trouble of the deceased, cannot bring him in the category of associate offender nor can make out a case against him. The trial court has taken reference of the judgement of Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Hardeep Singh (supra) and has concluded that for summoning a person under section 319 Cr.P.C. It is essentially required that there should be evidence against such person which should be much better in comparison to what is required at the time of framing of the charges and the evidence should be such that the court should be of the view that it will certainly lead to the conviction of such person who is being sought to be summoned under section 319 Cr.P.C.

16. In view of the above discussions, I find that there is no material illegality and infirmity in the impugned order nor there is any jurisdictional error.

17. This revision has got no force and it is accordingly dismissed.

18. The stay order, if any, shall stand vacated.

19. The court below shall take all endeavors in concluding the trial.

Criminal Revision No. 1269 of 2019

A. Cr.P.C., 1973-Section 319 - Revisionists though nominated in the F.I.R exonerated in the Police Report on basis of alibi -" Evidence" - is limited to the evidence recorded by the trial court - Statement recorded under Section 161 of the Cr.Pc - Has only the limited purpose of contradicting the maker thereof- the other evidence which has come on record between the stage of taking cognizance by the Court till the commencement of the trial can merely be used for corroborative purposes - Plea of Alibi- Section 103 of the Evidence Act - Burden of Proof for establishing the plea of alibi - Could be done by leading evidence in trial court and not by relying on the material collected during investigation n- The Court in exercise of its inherent powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. cannot consider the plea of alibi of an accused- Precedent-a decision is precedent on its own facts- the only thing binding a party is the ratio decidendi which is generally secundum subjectam materiam-Application under Section 319 Cr.P.C.- is maintainable only when implicative evidence of probative value more than strong suspicion comes on record in shape of documentary or oral evidence in trial - Power under Section 319 of the Code - is conferred on the court to ensure that justice is done to the society by bringing to book all those guilty of an offence and to render justice to the victim.

Scope, ambit and sweep of expression "evidence" contained under Section 319 Cr.P.C. and explained in the para 85 in the Constitution Bench judgement of Hardeep Singh was not considered in the subsequent cases in Brijendra Singh's and Shiv Prakash Mishra's cases to the extent that any evidence collected during investigation either in favour of the prosecution or the accused cannot be taken into account while exercising the power under Section 319 Cr.P.C. In view of unambiguous interpretation to the word 'evidence'; it is limited to the evidence recorded by the trial court".

A decision is precedent on its own facts- The only thing in Judge's decision binding a party is the principle upon which the case is decided and for this reason it is important to analyze a decision and isolate from it the ratio decidendi.

Application under Section 319 Cr.P.C. is maintainable only when implicative evidence of probative value more than strong suspicion comes on record in shape of documentary or oral evidence in trial.

Statement under Section 161 Cr.P.C. is not a substantive piece of evidence. In view of proviso to subsection (1) of Section 162 Cr.P.C., the statement can be used only with limited purpose of contradicting the maker thereof in the manner laid down in the said proviso.

Consideration of plea of alibi -Section 103 of Evidence Act - burden of proof as to any particular fact lies on that person who wishes the court to believe in its existence, unless it is proved by any law that proof of that fact lies on a particular person- The Court in exercise of its inherent powers under Section 482 Cr.P.C. cannot consider the plea of alibi of an accused at the stage of taking cognizance, framing of charges or summoning the accused on the basis of evidence recorded during trial under Section 319 Cr.P.C.

The power under Section 319 of the Code is conferred on the court to ensure that justice is done to the society by bringing to book all those guilty of an offence and to render justice to the victim. One of the aims and purposes of the Criminal Justice System is to maintain social order. It is in recognition of this that the Code has specifically conferred a power in the court to proceed against others not arrayed as accused in the circumstances set out by this Section. Revision accordingly dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Dinesh Kumar Singh, J.)

1. The present criminal revision has been referred by the accused-revisionist against the order dated 07.09.2019 passed by the learned Trial Court in Sessions Trail No. 385 of 2012 (C.B.I. versus Rahul Verma) arising out of Crime No. R.C. 14 (S) of 2010 of Police Station C.B.I./S.C.B./Lucknow under Sections 302, 201, 364 IPC pending in the Court of learned Special Judge C.B.I., Court No. 2, Lucknow.

2. Vide impugned order, the learned Trial Court has accepted the application dated 06.08.2019 filed by the C.B.I. for taking on record the certificate under Section 65-B of the Evidence Act in respect of Call Details Record(C.D.R.) of Mobile Nos. 9869306235 and 9454741884.

3. The present case is based on circumstanial evidence. An FIR at Case Crime No. 842 of 2008 was registered under Section 302 and 201IPC, Police Station Kalyanpur, District Kanpur on 03.09.2008 on the basis of inquest and post mortem report etc, and on the complaint of Mr. O.P. Arya,

4. This Court vide order dated 08.10.2010 passed in Writ Petition No.15831(MB) of 2009 filed by Mr. S.K. Bajpai, transferred the investigation of both the cases to C.B.I./S.C.B., Lucknow. Charge-sheet No.2 of 2012 was filed against the accused, Rahul Verma on 18.04.2012. According to the aforesaid charge-sheet, a stack of human bones was recovered from the I.I.T. Campus, Kanpur. It was sent to C.F.S.L. Candigarh for examination. C.F.S.L. Chandigarh prepared its report dated 05.04.2011. According to the said report on the basis of Cellular and Molecular examination, the skeleton was of Sri Adesh Kumar Bajpai s/o Surya Kumar Bajpai and Savitri Devi. Along with the aforesaid charge-sheet, document D-32, true copy of C.D.R. and D-33, E-mail massages and Exh.Ka29 and Ka25 were enclosed. Along with the charge-sheet certificate under Section 65-B of the Evidence Act was not enclosed.

4. The accused-applicant filed an application No.25-B before the Trial Court stating that in absence of the certificate under Section 65-B of the Evidence Act, the electronic record/evidence is not admissible in evidence. The C.B.I. filed its objection to the said application and the learned Trial Court vide order dated 05.04.2019 held that as many as 41 witnesses were examined and the application dated 17.10.2018 was filed when the examination of P.W.34, Rana Pratap Singh was on. The Trial Court held that decision on admissibility or inadmissibility of evidence should not be rendered at the stage of taking evidence on record inasmuch as there is no provision like Order XIII, Rule 3 C.P.C. in the Code of Criminal Procedure. Therefore, the trial Court said that the said application would be decided at the time of final stage and at this stage the decision could not be rendered on the admissibility or non admissibility of the evidence.

5. After the aforesaid order, it appears that the C.B.I. vide letter dated 12.07.2019 wrote to D.E.(Vigilance), BSNL, Kanpur Telecom District, Kanpur stating that during investigation of the case, C.D.Rs. of Mobile Nos. 9869306435 and 9454741884 were provided to the C.B.I. by the BSNL vide letter dated 08.06.2011 and now the Special Judge/C.B.I. trying the case had directed to produce the certificate under Section 65-B of the Evidence Act in respect of the above mentioned C.D.Rs. of the mobile numbers. It was, therefore, requested that certificate under Section 65-B of the Evidence Act, 1872 to be provided for the C.D.Rs. of the aforesaid two mobile numbers. Therefore, certificate under Section 65-B of the Evidence Act was issued on 20.07.2019 by Manoj Manjul, S.D.E. (MS) BSNL office of O/o GM (Mobile Services), Kanpur in respect of C.D.Rs. of Mobile Nos. 9869306435 (for the period between 25.08.2007 to 28.08.2008) and 9454741884 (for the period between 10.08.2008 to 23.08.2008). It was said that the C.D.Rs. were directly fetched from the C.D.R. server Chandigarh by using printer of the available electronic records of BSNL, Kanpur. It was further said that no tampering was made in the aforesaid C.D.Rs.

6. C.B.I. vide application dated 06.08.2019 submitted the aforesaid certificate in the court of learned Trial Court stating therein that by inadvertent mistake a certificate under Section 65-B of the Evidence Act in respect of C.D.Rs. of aforesaid two mobile numbers could not be filed by the investigating officer and, now the certificate under Section 65-B of the Evidence Act had been obtained in respect of C.D.Rs. of the aforesaid two mobile numbers from the competent authority and, therefore, the same be taken on record.

7. The accused filed objection a on 13.08.2019 against the said application dated 06.08.2019 stating that the S.P., C.B.I.(S.C.B.) at Lucknow in its letter dated 12.07.2019 had mislead the BSNL inasmuch as it was wrongly mentioned that "Now the Hon'ble Court of Spl. Judge C.B.I. Anti Corruption has directed to produce certificate u/s 65-B, Evidence Act in respect of above mentioned mobile number". It was further said that the prosecution could not be allowed to plug in the holes in its case so as to take advantage of its own wrong. The certificate obtained under Section 65-B of the Evidence Act in the garb of direction by the trial Court amounted to reinvestigation of the case to plug in the holes in the prosecution story which was not permissible under the law. It was further said that application dated 06.08.2019 for taking on record the certificate under Section 65-B of the Evidence Act should be rejected.

8. Besides taking primarily objections on merit, it was said that the Evidence Act was amended in the year 2000 incorporating Sections 65-A and 65-B. The investigating officer filed charge-sheet in the year 2012 and, therefore, it should be assumed that he had knowledge of the existing provisions of the Evidence Act. However, no such certificate as required under Section 65-B of the Evidence Act was filed along with the charge-sheet and, therefore, at this stage the Court should not allow any lacunae in the investigation to be filled in during the trial. It was also said that the certificate under Section 65-B of the Evidence Act had been obtained only on 20.07.2019 and, it was not part of the charge-sheet and, therefore, it was not provided to the accused under Section 207 Cr.P.C. neither the said certificate was available before the Court at the time of framing of the charge. It was said that as many as 44 prosecution witnesses had been examined since 06.04.2013 and, the accused did not have liberty to cross examine the witness(es) on the said certificate under Section 65-B of the Evidence Act. It is well established law that the certificate has to be of the date when electronic record is generated and it cannot be of the later date.

9. The Trial Court after considering the submissions of the parties has passed the impugned order whereby it has accepted the application dated 06.08.2019 filed by the C.B.I. and taken it on record the Certificate under Section 65-B of the Evidence Act on the ground that non filing of certificate under Section 65-B of the Evidence Act along with electronic record is a irregularity which can be rectified later on.

10. Heard Mr. Nandit Srivastava, Senior Advocate assisted by Mr. Pranjul Krishna appearing for the revisionist, Mr. S.B. Pandey Senior Advocate assisted by Mr. Kazim Ibrahim, appearing for the respondent.

11. Assailing the order dated 07.09.2019 passed by the Trial court, Sri Nandit Srivastava, learned Senior Advocate submits that there is no provision in law which permits the prosecution to move an application for taking on record the certificate under Section 65-B of the Evidence Act at the belated stage inasmuch if same is not filed with the charge sheet. Trial court has no power to take the certificate on record at the later stage. It is further submitted that as many as 44 prosecution witnesses have been examined and the certificate which was not part of the charge sheet, was not given to the accused under Section 207 Cr.P.C. and, therefore, the accused did not have liberty to cross examine any of the witnesses on the certificate. He further submits that certificate dated 20.07.2019 has been obtained almost after 7 years from the date of submission of the charge sheet wherein in the case of Anvar P.V. versus P.K. Basheer and ors : (2014) 10 SCC 473, it has been held that the certificate has to be of the date when the electronic record is produced and, therefore, it cannot be generated subsequently. He further submits that there is no provision under the Code of Criminal Procedure except under Section 391 Cr.P.C. to take additional evidence. Accepting certificate under Section 65-B of the Evidence Act vide impugned order dated 07.09.2019 amounts to filling in the lacunae in the prosecution case and, the same is not permitted under the law inasmuch as it would seriously prejudice the case of the accused.

12. On the other hand, Mr. S.B.Pandey, learned Senior Advocate submits that non filing of the certificate under Section 65-B of the Evidence Act along with the electronic record was a mere omission which could be rectified at later stage. He further submits that evidence has not been closed and trial is still on and, the accused would have liberty to cross examine any of the witnesses on the certificate. Further, certificate has been taken on record and, when it is proved, the accused would have liberty to cross examine the witness. He, therefore, submits that no prejudice has been caused to the accused by taking certificate under Section 65-B of the Evidence Act on record.

13. I have considered the submissions carefully.

14. Chapter 5 of the Evidence Act provides for documentary evidence. Section 65 of the Evidence Act provides the case in which secondary evidence relating to document is given. Section 65-A and 65-B were inserted by the Information Technology Act, 2000 with effect from 17.10.2000. These two sections provides special provisions as to evidence relating to Electronic records. Section 65-A of the Evidence Act provides that contents of electronic records may be produced in accordance with the provisions of Section 65-B of the Evidence Act.

Section 65-B of the Evidence Act reads as under:-

"65B. Admissibility of electronic records.--

(1)Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, any information contained in an electronic record which is printed on a paper, stored, recorded or copied in optical or magnetic media produced by a computer (hereinafter referred to as the computer output) shall be deemed to be also a document, if the conditions mentioned in this section are satisfied in relation to the information and computer in question and shall be admissible in any proceedings, without further proof or production of the original, as evidence of any contents of the original or of any fact stated therein of which direct evidence would be admissible.

(2) The conditions referred to in sub-section (1) in respect of a computer output shall be the following, namely:--

(a) the computer output containing the information was produced by the computer during the period over which the computer was used regularly to store or process information for the purposes of any activities regularly carried on over that period by the person having lawful control over the use of the computer;

(b)during the said period, information of the kind contained in the electronic record or of the kind from which the information so contained is derived was regularly fed into the computer in the ordinary course of the said activities;

(c) throughout the material part of the said period, the computer was operating properly or, if not, then in respect of any period in which it was not operating properly or was out of operation during that part of the period, was not such as to affect the electronic record or the accuracy of its contents; and

(d) the information contained in the electronic record reproduces or is derived from such information fed into the computer in the ordinary course of the said activities.

(3)Where over any period, the function of storing or processing information for the purposes of any activities regularly carried on over that period as mentioned in clause (a) of sub-section (2) was regularly performed by computers, whether--

(a) by a combination of computers operating over that period; or

(b) by different computers operating in succession over that period; or

(c) by different combinations of computers operating in succession over that period; or

(d) in any other manner involving the successive operation over that period, in whatever order, of one or more computers and one or more combinations of computers, all the computers used for that purpose during that period shall be treated for the purposes of this section as constituting a single computer; and references in this section to a computer shall be construed accordingly.

(4) In any proceedings where it is desired to give a statement in evidence by virtue of this section, a certificate doing any of the following things, that is to say,--

(a) identifying the electronic record containing the statement and describing the manner in which it was produced;

(b) giving such particulars of any device involved in the production of that electronic record as may be appropriate for the purpose of showing that the electronic record was produced by a computer;

(c) dealing with any of the matters to which the conditions mentioned in sub-section (2) relate, and purporting to be signed by a person occupying a responsible official position in relation to the operation of the relevant device or the management of the relevant activities (whichever is appropriate) shall be evidence of any matter stated in the certificate; and for the purposes of this sub-section it shall be sufficient for a matter to be stated to the best of the knowledge and belief of the person stating it.

(5) For the purposes of this section,--

(a) information shall be taken to be supplied to a computer if it is supplied thereto in any appropriate form and whether it is so supplied directly or (with or without human intervention) by means of any appropriate equipment;

(b) whether in the course of activities carried on by any official information is supplied with a view to its being stored or processed for the purposes of those activities by a computer operated otherwise than in the course of those activities, that information, if duly supplied to that computer, shall be taken to be supplied to it in the course of those activities;

(c) a computer output shall be taken to have been produced by a computer whether it was produced by it directly or (with or without human intervention) by means of any appropriate equipment. Explanation.--For the purposes of this section any reference to information being derived from other information shall be a reference to its being derived therefrom by calculation, comparison or any other process.]"

15. Preliminary purpose of incorporating Sections 65-A and 65-B of the Evidence Act is to sanctify proof by secondary evidence. Computer output is a deemed document for the purpose of proof. Under sub-section 1 of Section 65-B, it is mandated that any information contained in an electronic record which is printed on a paper, stored, recorded or copied in optical or magnetic media produced by a computer, shall also be deemed to be a document. The section lays down certain conditions which have to be satisfied in relation to the information and computer in question. If those conditions are satisfied, the electronic record shall be admissible in any proceedings, without further proof or production of the original, as evidence of any contents of the original or of any fact stated.

16. Sub-section 2 of the Section 65-B of the Evidence Act provides conditions which have to be satisfied so as to make computer output as primary evidence. Thus, when a statement is to be produced under this section, it should be identifying the electronic record containing the statement and describing the manner in which it was produced; giving particulars of the device involved in the production of the electronic record showing that the same was produced by the computer and showing compliance with conditions of Sub-section 2 of Section 65-B of the Evidence Act. The statement should be signed by a person occupying a responsible official position in relation to the operation of the relevant device or the management of the relevant activities such statement shall be evidence of the matter stated in the certificate.

17. Under Sub-section 4 of Section 65-B of the Evidence Act, it would be sufficient for this purpose that the statement is made to the best of the knowledge and belief of the person making it.

18. The present case is based on circumstantial evidence. Evidence consists of three parts (i) electronic record; (ii) documentary evidence other than electronic record; and (iii) oral evidence.

19. The Supreme Court in the case of Anvar P.V. versus P.K. Basheer and ors (supra) held that the evidence relating to electronic record by way of secondary evidence shall not be admitted in evidence unless the requirements under Section 65-B of the Evidence Act are satisfied. It has further been held that the electronic records should be accompanied by the certificate in terms of Section 65-B of the Evidence Act obtained at the time of taking the document, without which, the secondary evidence pertaining to that electronic record is inadmissible.

Para 22 of the said judgment is extracted hereinbelow:-

"22. The evidence relating to electronic record, as noted hereinbefore, being a special provision, the general law on secondary evidence under Section 63 read with Section 65 of the Evidence Act shall yield to the same. Generalia specialibus non derogant, special law will always prevail over the general law. It appears, the court omitted to take note of Sections 59 and 65-A dealing with the admissibility of electronic record. Sections 63 and 65 have no application in the case of secondary evidence by way of electronic record; the same is wholly governed by Sections 65-A and 65-B. To that extent, the statement of law on admissibility of secondary evidence pertaining to electronic record, as stated by this Court in Navjot Sandhu case [State (NCT of Delhi) v. Navjot Sandhu, (2005) 11 SCC 600 : 2005 SCC (Cri) 1715] , does not lay down the correct legal position. It requires to be overruled and we do so. An electronic record by way of secondary evidence shall not be admitted in evidence unless the requirements under Section 65-B are satisfied. Thus, in the case of CD, VCD, chip, etc., the same shall be accompanied by the certificate in terms of Section 65-B obtained at the time of taking the document, without which, the secondary evidence pertaining to that electronic record, is inadmissible."

20. Thus, the aforesaid judgment is not an authority on the point whether certificate under Section 65-B of the Evidence Act in respect of the electronic record can be produced subsequently as is the case at hands. Section 311 Cr.P.C. provides that at any stage of inquiry or trial or other proceedings under the Code, the Court may summon any person as a witness or examine any person in attendance though not summoned as witness, recall and re-examine any person already examined, if it appears to be essential to the just decision of the case. Thus, what is relevant for calling the additional evidence is to prevent failure of justice and, once the Court is of the opinion that to prevent the failure of justice and for the just decision of the case, it is required to receive additional evidence, there is no restriction on the count of the evidence which may be received, evidence may be former or substantial.

21. The Supreme Court in the case of Rajeswar Prasad Misra v. State of W.B., (1966) 1 SCR 178 in para 10 had opined as under:-

"10. Additional evidence may be necessary for a variety of reasons which it is hardly proper to construe one section with the aid of observations made to do what the legislature has refrained from doing, namely, to control discretion of the appellate court to certain stated circumstances. It may, however, be said that additional evidence must be necessary not because it would be impossible to pronounce judgment but because there would be failure of justice without it. The power must be exercised sparingly and only in suitable cases. Once such action is justified, there is no restriction on the kind of evidence which may be received. It may be formal or substantial. It must, of course, not be received in such a way as to cause prejudice to the accused as for example it should not be received as a disguise for a retrial or to change the nature of the case against him. The order must not ordinarily be made if the prosecution has had a fair opportunity and has not availed of it unless the requirements of justice dictate otherwise. Commentaries upon the Code are full of cases in which the powers under Section 428 were exercised. We were cited a fair number at the hearing. Some of the decisions suffer from the sin of generalization and some others from that of arguing from analogy. The facts in the cited cases are so different that it would be futile to embark upon their examination. We might have attempted this, if we could see some useful purpose but we see none. We would be right in assuming the existence of a discretionary power in the High Court and all that we consider necessary is to see whether the discretion was properly exercised."

22. The Supreme Court Mohanlal Shamji Soni v. Union of India: 1991 Supp (1) SCC 271 has held that the cardinal rule of law of evidence that the best available evidence should be brought before the court to prove the fact or points in issue. It is the duty of the court not only to do justice but also to ensure that justice is being done.

Para 10 of the aforesaid report is reproduced hereinbelow:-

"10. It is a cardinal rule in the law of evidence that the best available evidence should be brought before the court to prove a fact or the points in issue. But it is left either for the prosecution or for the defence to establish its respective case by adducing the best available evidence and the court is not empowered under the provisions of the Code to compel either the prosecution or the defence to examine any particular witness or witnesses on their sides. Nonetheless if either of the parties withholds any evidence which could be produced and which, if produced, be unfavourable to the party withholding such evidence, the court can draw a presumption under Illustration (g) to Section 114 of the Evidence Act. In such a situation a question that arises for consideration is whether the presiding officer of a court should simply sit as a mere umpire at a contest between two parties and declare at the end of the combat who has won and who has lost or is there not any legal duty of his own, independent of the parties, to take an active role in the proceedings in finding the truth and administering justice? It is a well accepted and settled principle that a court must discharge its statutory functions -- whether discretionary or obligatory -- according to law in dispensing justice because it is the duty of a court not only to do justice but also to ensure that justice is being done. In order to enable the court to find out the truth and render a just decision, the salutary provisions of Section 540 of the Code (Section 311 of the new Code) are enacted whereunder any court by exercising its discretionary authority at any stage of enquiry, trial or other proceeding can summon any person as a witness or examine any person in attendance though not summoned as a witness or recall or re-examine any person in attendance though not summoned as a witness or recall and re-examine any person already examined who are expected to be able to throw light upon the matter in dispute; because if judgments happen to be rendered on inchoate, inconclusive and speculative presentation of facts, the ends of justice would be defeated."

23. The Supreme Court in its recent judgment in the case of State by Karnataka Lokayukta Police Station, Bengaluru versus M.R. Hiremath passed in Criminal Appeal No.819 of 2019 has considered the effect of failure to produce a certificate under Section 65-B(4) of the Evidence Act, at the stage when the charge sheet was filed. The Supreme Court in the aforesaid judgment has held that need for production of certificate would arise when the electronic record is sought to be produced in evidence at the trial. It is at that stage when the necessity of production of certificate would arise.

Paras 14 to 17 of the aforesaid report are extracted here in below:-

"14. The provisions of Section 65-B came up for interpretation before a three-Judge Bench of this Court in Anvar P.V. v. P.K. Basheer [Anvar P.V. v. P.K. Basheer, (2014) 10 SCC 473 : (2015) 1 SCC (Civ) 27 : (2015) 1 SCC (Cri) 24 : (2015) 1 SCC (L&S) 108] . Interpreting the provision, this Court held: (SCC p. 483, para 14)

"14. Any documentary evidence by way of an electronic record under the Evidence Act, in view of Sections 59 and 65-A, can be proved only in accordance with the procedure prescribed under Section 65-B. Section 65-B deals with the admissibility of the electronic record. The purpose of these provisions is to sanctify secondary evidence in electronic form, generated by a computer."

15. Section 65-B(4) is attracted in any proceedings "where it is desired to give a statement in evidence by virtue of this section". Emphasising this facet of sub-section (4) the decision in Anvar [Anvar P.V. v. P.K. Basheer, (2014) 10 SCC 473 : (2015) 1 SCC (Civ) 27 : (2015) 1 SCC (Cri) 24 : (2015) 1 SCC (L&S) 108] holds that the requirement of producing a certificate arises when the electronic record is sought to be used as evidence. This is clarified in the following extract from the judgment: (Anvar P.V. case [Anvar P.V. v. P.K. Basheer, (2014) 10 SCC 473 : (2015) 1 SCC (Civ) 27 : (2015) 1 SCC (Cri) 24 : (2015) 1 SCC (L&S) 108] , SCC p. 484, para 16)

"16. ... Most importantly, such a certificate must accompany the electronic record like computer printout, compact disc (CD), video compact disc (VCD), pen drive, etc., pertaining to which a statement is sought to be given in evidence, when the same is produced in evidence. All these safeguards are taken to ensure the source and authenticity, which are the two hallmarks pertaining to electronic record sought to be used as evidence. Electronic records being more susceptible to tampering, alteration, transposition, excision, etc., without such safeguards, the whole trial based on proof of electronic records can lead to travesty of justice."

(emphasis supplied)

16. The same view has been reiterated by a two-Judge Bench of this Court in Union of India v. Ravindra V. Desai [Union of India v. Ravindra V. Desai, (2018) 16 SCC 273 : (2019) 1 SCC (L&S) 225] . The Court emphasised that non-production of a certificate under Section 65-B on an earlier occasion is a curable defect. The Court relied upon the earlier decision in Sonu v. State of Haryana [Sonu v. State of Haryana, (2017) 8 SCC 570 : (2017) 3 SCC (Cri) 663] , in which it was held: (Sonu case [Sonu v. State of Haryana, (2017) 8 SCC 570 : (2017) 3 SCC (Cri) 663] , SCC p. 584, para 32)

"32. ... The crucial test, as affirmed by this Court, is whether the defect could have been cured at the stage of marking the document. Applying this test to the present case, if an objection was taken to the CDRs being marked without a certificate, the court could have given the prosecution an opportunity to rectify the deficiency."

17. Having regard to the above principle of law, the High Court erred in coming to the conclusion that the failure to produce a certificate under Section 65-B(4) of the Evidence Act at the stage when the charge-sheet was filed was fatal to the prosecution. The need for production of such a certificate would arise when the electronic record is sought to be produced in evidence at the trial. It is at that stage that the necessity of the production of the certificate would arise."

24. The Supreme Court in the case of Shafhi Mohammad v. State of H.P., (2018) 2 SCC 801 : (2018) 1 SCC (Cri) 860 has clarified the legal position regarding admissibility of the electronic evidence, especially by a party who is not in a possession of device from which a document is produced. In the aforesaid judgment, it has been held that after taking note of the judgment of three judge bench in the case of Anvar P.V. versus P.K. Basheer and Ors (supra), if electronic evidence is authentic and relevant, the same can be admitted subject to the court being satisfied about its authenticity and procedure for its admissibility may depend on the facts, situation such as whether a person producing such evidence is in a position to furnish under Section 65-B(4) of the Evidence Act.

25. It has further been said that Sections 65-A and 65-B of the Evidence Act cannot be held to be a complete code on the subject

Paras 26 to 30 of the aforesaid report which are relevant are reproduced herein below:-

"26. Sections 65-A and 65-B of the Evidence Act, 1872 cannot be held to be a complete code on the subject. In Anvar P.V. [Anvar P.V. v. P.K. Basheer, (2014) 10 SCC 473 : (2015) 1 SCC (Civ) 27 : (2015) 1 SCC (Cri) 24 : (2015) 1 SCC (L&S) 108] , this Court in para 24 clarified that primary evidence of electronic record was not covered under Sections 65-A and 65-B of the Evidence Act. Primary evidence is the document produced before the Court and the expression "document" is defined in Section 3 of the Evidence Act to mean any matter expressed or described upon any substance by means of letters, figures or marks, or by more than one of those means, intended to be used, or which may be used, for the purpose of recording that matter.

27. The term "electronic record" is defined in Section 2(1)(t) of the Information Technology Act, 2000 as follows:

"2. (1)(t) "electronic record" means data, record or data generated, image or sound stored, received or sent in an electronic form or micro film or computer generated micro fiche;"

28. The expression "data" is defined in Section 2(1)(o) of the Information Technology Act as follows:

"2. (1)(o) "data" means a representation of information, knowledge, facts, concepts or instructions which are being prepared or have been prepared in a formalised manner, and is intended to be processed, is being processed or has been processed in a computer system or computer network, and may be in any form (including computer printouts magnetic or optical storage media, punched cards, punched tapes) or stored internally in the memory of the computer;"

29. The applicability of procedural requirement under Section 65-B(4) of the Evidence Act of furnishing certificate is to be applied only when such electronic evidence is produced by a person who is in a position to produce such certificate being in control of the said device and not of the opposite party. In a case where electronic evidence is produced by a party who is not in possession of a device, applicability of Sections 63 and 65 of the Evidence Act cannot be held to be excluded. In such case, procedure under the said sections can certainly be invoked. If this is not so permitted, it will be denial of justice to the person who is in possession of authentic evidence/witness but on account of manner of proving, such document is kept out of consideration by the court in the absence of certificate under Section 65-B(4) of the Evidence Act, which party producing cannot possibly secure. Thus, requirement of certificate under Section 65-B(4) is not always mandatory.

30. Accordingly, we clarify the legal position on the subject on the admissibility of the electronic evidence, especially by a party who is not in possession of device from which the document is produced. Such party cannot be required to produce certificate under Section 65-B(4) of the Evidence Act. The applicability of requirement of certificate being procedural can be relaxed by the court wherever interest of justice so justifies."

26. Thus, there is no bar for accepting the certificate under Section 65-B(4) of the Evidence Act at later stage if it was not filed along with the charge sheet. The trial is yet to conclude and the accused may avail liberty of examining or re-examining any witnesses in respect of the certificate and electronic record of call detail of two mobile numbers mentioned hereinabove. The certificate under Section 65-B(4) of the Evidence Act is procedural requirement for admissibility of secondary evidence of electronic record and, therefore, it can be produced at a later stage during the trial, if it was not part of the charge sheet. The accused is not prejudiced in any manner by taking on record the certificate under Section 65-B of the Evidence Act at the later stage when trial is still on. Further, it is the duty of the court under Section 311 Cr.P.C. to see that the best available evidence is brought before it to prevent failure of justice and for the just decision of the case. For the said purpose the court is bestowed with wide discretion.

27. In view thereof, I do not find any illegality or impropriety in the impugned order dated 07.09.2019. The present revision petition is, thus, disposed of with liberty to the accused-revisionist to move an appropriate application to recall any witness who may be relevant for the purpose of electronic record and, the certificate produced under Section 65-

B(4) of the Evidence Act, if he is so advised and, the trial court will take appropriate decision on such an application in accordance with law.

THE HON'BLE RAM KRISHNA GAUTAM, J.

Application u/s 482 No. 32621 of 2019

Amar Cheema ...Applicant
Versus
State of U.P. & Anr. ...Opp. Parties

Counsel for the Applicant:
Sri Vidit Narayan Mishra

Counsel for the Opposite Parties:
G.A.

A. Indian Penal Code, 1860 – Sections 420 and 406 - Prima facie offences of fraud and deception, thereby, delivery of property by fraudulent acts made out against the applicant- summoned on the basis of evidence recorded under Sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. - Exercise of inherent powers under section 482 Cr.P.C. - High Court is not expected to analyse factual evidence, which is to be placed during trial before the Trial court. (Para 4,5,6 & 7)

It is apparent that this was not a case regarding an embezzlement of capital of the Company, rather the Company, in question, was constituted upon the instigation of Arjun Cheema, with three other Directors, in which complainant, was an authorised signatory, on behalf of other Directors of the Company and while there occurred loss in the business of the Company, in the year 2011, the Company was wound-up, however, till then there was no loss, rather a capital was to be refunded back to the Uro Tiles Private Company Limited for having its payment back. There was no investment by other Directors, except investment of Rs. 27 Lakhs by the complainant and this payment, on being returned back by the Uro Tiles Private Company Limited, was to be refunded to the complainant. For completion of this winding up proceeding, Arjun Cheema and Applicant were authorised and handed over documents, seal and password etc. They made promise of winding up of the Company, but it came to notice that the Company was not wound-up rather it was kept on running till 2018, with fraudulent signature of the complainant. Then, effort was made for getting this fact known to those Companies, which were dealing with the Company, in question, under fraud. On demand of money being made, they threatened of sending the complainant to jail and demanded money for winding up of the Company.

While exercising jurisdiction under section 482 of the Code, the High Court would not ordinarily embark upon an enquiry whether the evidence in question is reliable or not or whether on a reasonable apprehension of it accusation would not be sustained. That is the function of the trial Judge/Court.

There was fraud and deception, thereby, delivery of property by fraudulent acts by those two persons, who have been summoned and this was on the basis of evidenced, recorded, under Sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. Magistrate, after appreciating facts and evidence, brought on record, has passed the impugned summoning order. Hence, Application under Section 482 of Cr.P.C., stands dismissed accordingly.

8. (2009) 3 ADJ 322 (SC) Lal Kamlendra Pratap Singh Vs St. of U.P.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ram Krishna Gautam, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for applicant, moved by the applicant, Amar Cheema, under Section 482 of Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 (in short 'Cr.P.C.') as well as learned AGA, appearing on behalf of State of U.P. and perused the record.

2. Learned counsel for the applicant argued that the applicant has been summoned because of being brother of Arjun Cheema. He is neither Director of Company, in question, nor was having any concern with the Company. A complaint was filed with incorrect facts that there were three Directors of the Company, whereas the documents, filed with this Application, are to the effect that there were four Directors of the Company and the complainant was neither Director nor is having any concern with above Company. It was said that Company was wound-up in the year 2011, whereas the Company was running till 2018. All taxes were being paid. If any embezzlement in the capital of the Company was there, the Directors will be responsible for the same, whereas present applicant, Amar Cheema, has no concern with the Company, but the Trial court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Gautam Buddh Nagar, vide summoning order, dated 22.10.2018, passed in Criminal Complaint No. 4645 of 2018 (Abhimanyu Ahlawat vs. Amar Cheema & others), has summoned the applicant, alongwith one other, for offence, punishable, under Sections 420 and 406 IPC, Police Station Sector 39, NOIDA, District Gautam Buddh Nagar. Hence, this Application, under Section 482 of Cr.P.C., with a prayer for quashing of the impugned summoning order and entire criminal proceeding of Complaint Case No. 4645 of 2018 (Abhimanyu Ahlawat vs. Amar Cheema & others), with a further prayer for staying further proceeding of above case till disposal of this Application.

3. Learned AGA, appearing for the State of U.P, has vehemently opposed this Application, under Section 482 of Cr.P.C.

4. From very perusal of the of the complaint and the impugned summoning order, it is apparent that this was not a case regarding an embezzlement of capital of the Company, rather complainant, Abhimanyu Ahlawat, by his complaint as well as statement, recorded, under Section 200 of Cr.P.C., has said that the Company, in question, was constituted upon the instigation of Arjun Cheema, with three other Directors, in which complainant, was an authorised signatory, on behalf of other Directors of the Company and while the there occurred loss in the business of the Company, in the year 2011, the Company was wound-up, however, till then there was no loss, rather a capital was to be refunded back to the Uro Tiles Private Company Limited for having its payment back. There was no investment by other Directors, except investment of Rs. 27 Lakhs by the complainant and this payment, on being returned back by the Uro Tiles Private Company Limited, was to be refunded to the complainant. For completion of this winding up proceeding, Arjun Cheema and Amar Cheema were authorised and handed over documents, seal and password etc. They made promise of winding up of the Company, but it came to notice that the Company was not wound-up, rather it was kept on running till 2018, with fraudulent signature of the complainant. Then, effort was made for getting this fact known to those Companies, which were dealing with the Company, in question, under fraud. On demand of money being made, they threatened of sending the complainant to jail and demanded money for winding up of the Company. Meaning thereby, there was fraud and deception, thereby, delivery of property by fraudulent acts by those two persons, who have been summoned and this was on the basis of evidenced, recorded, under Sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. Magistrate, after appreciating facts and evidence, brought on record, has passed the impugned summoning order.

This Court, in exercise of inherent jurisdiction, under Section 482 of Cr.P.C., is not expected to appreciate factual aspect because the same is a question of trial before the Trial.

5. As per law propounded by the Apex Court in State of Andhra Pradesh v. Gaurishetty Mahesh, JT 2010 (6) SC 588: (2010) 6 SCALE 767: 2010 Cr. LJ 3844 "While exercising jurisdiction under section 482 of the Code, the High Court would not ordinarily embark upon an enquiry whether the evidence in question is reliable or not or whether on a reasonable apprehension of it accusation would not be sustained. That is the function of the trial Judge/Court". In another subsequent Hamida v. Rashid, (2008) 1 SCC 474, hon'ble Apex Court propounded that "Ends of justice would be better served if valuable time of the Court is spent in hearing those appeals rather than entertaining petitions under Section 482 at an interlocutory stage which after filed with some oblique motive in order to circumvent the prescribed procedure, or to delay the trial which enable to win over the witness or may disinterested in giving evidence, ultimately resulting in miscarriage of Justice". In again another subsequent Monica Kumar v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2008) 8 SCC 781, the Apex Court has propounded "Inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 has to be exercised sparingly, carefully and with caution and only when such exercise is justified by the tests specifically laid down in the section itself." While interpreting this jurisdiction of High Court Apex Court in Popular Muthiah v. State, Represented by Inspector of Police, (2006) 7 SCC 296 has propounded "High Court can exercise jurisdiction suo motu in the interest of justice. It can do so while exercising other jurisdictions such as appellate or revisional jurisdiction. No formal application for invoking inherent jurisdiction is necessary. Inherent jurisdiction can be exercised in respect of substantive as well as procedural matters. It can as well be exercised in respect of incidental or supplemental power irrespective of nature of proceedings".

Regarding prevention of abuse of process of Court, Apex Court in Dhanlakshmi v. R.Prasana Kumar, (1990) Cr LJ 320 (DB): AIR 1990 SC 494 has propounded "To prevent abuse of the process of the Court, High Court in exercise of its inherent powers under section 482 could quash the proceedings but there would be justification for interference only when the complaint did not disclose any offence or was frivolous vexatious or oppressive" as well as in State of Bihar v. Murad Ali Khan, (1989) Cr LJ 1005: AIR 1989 SC 1, Apex Court propounded "In exercising jurisdiction under Section 482 High Court would not embark upon an enquiry whether the allegations in the complaint are likely to be established by evidence or not".

6. Meaning thereby, exercise of inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. is within the limits, propounded as above.

7. In view of what has been discussed above, there is no ground for interference in the proceeding, as prayed for by this Application, under Section 482 of Cr.P.C., thereby, this Application merits its dismissal and it stands dismissed, accordingly.

Counsel for the Applicant:
Sri Sikandar B. Kochar

Counsel for the Opposite Parties:
A.G.A., Sri Anoop Trivedi, Sri Abhinav Gaur, Sri Vibhu Rai

A. Cr.P.C., 1973 - Section 362 -Ex Parte order finally deciding- Resulting in serious prejudice to the Opposite Party No. 2- Jurisdiction of the Court to entertain recall application- Replied affirmatively. (Para 37,48,49,68,69,79, 83 & 84)

1. Following questions arise for determination in this recall application:

I. Whether Complaint Case No.1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and others) under Sections 307, 436, 392, 380, 504 and 506 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out of Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012, under Sections 307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 426 and 392 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly and S.T. No. 123 of 2013 (State Vs. Nirmal Singh Garewal and others) under Sections 452 and 307 I.P.C. P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out of Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012 under Sections 452, 307 I.P.C. P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly are cross-cases.

HELD :- Question No.1 is answered in negative that two case crime numbers, are not cross cases, but they relate to different incidents which occurred at different places and at different points of time.

II. Whether the ex-parte order dated 15.12.2016 passed by this Court in exercise of its jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has caused serious prejudice to opposite party no.2, Nitin Jaiswal and can be recalled at the behest of opposite party no.2, who admittedly was not heard at the time of passing of order dated 15.12.2016.

III. Whether the bar of Section 362 Cr.P.C. will come into play regarding recall of ex-parte order dated 15.12.2016. (Considering question nos. 2 and 3 together)

Held: - The application came up for admission on 15.12.2016 and this Court allowed the application on same day i.e. 15.12.2016. The opposite party No.2 was not represented by any counsel nor notices were issued to opposite party No.2 before finally deciding the application. As such, order dated 15.12.2016 is ex-parte against opposite party No.2. Rule of audi alterem partem requires that opportunity of hearing should be afforded before an order is passed on judicial side. By seeking recall of order dated 15.12.2016, opposite party No.2 is not seeking review of order dated 15.12.2016 and therefore bar contained in section 362 Cr.P.C. will not come in way. Consequently, order dated 15.12.2016, is liable to be recalled at the behest of opposite party No.2, who admittedly was not afforded any notice or opportunity of hearing before order dated 15.12.2016 was passed.

IV. Whether in view of the orders dated 29.08.2017, 31.01.2018 and 15.12.2016 passed by Apex Court, this Court has jurisdiction to entertain the recall application filed by opposite party no.2, Nitin Jaiswal.

Held: - As to whether order dated 15.12.2016 can or cannot be recalled in view of subsequent orders passed by Apex Court- The case in hand is covered by conclusion no.4 contained in Paragraph 27 of the judgement of Khoday Distilers Ltd. (Now known as Khoday India Limited and others) Vs. Sri Mahadeshwara Sahakara Sakkare Karkhane Ltd. Kollegal (Under Liquidation) Represented by the Liquidator reported in 2019 (4) SCC 376, - Consequently, the principle of merger will not apply. As such, I am of the view that there is no legal impediment in recalling the order dated 15.12.2016.

2. The present recall application is allowed. Order dated 15.12.2016 passed by this Court is hereby recalled. The application shall now stand restored. The same shall be listed for hearing on merits.

Nirmal Singh Garewal and others) under Sections 452 and 307 I.P.C. P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly arising out of Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012 under Sections 452, 307 I.P.C. P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, whereby application (Paper No. 309 Kha) filed by accused under Section 309 Cr.P.C. has been rejected.

2. It transpires from record that during pendency of S.T. No. 123 of 2013 (State Vs. Nirmal Singh Garewal and 2 others) one of the accused Nirmal Singh Garewal, the applicant herein, filed an application under Section 309 Cr.P.C. (Paper No. 309 Kha) praying therein that S.T. No. 123 of 2013 (State Vs. Nirmal Singh Garewal and others) under Sections 452 and 307 I.P.C. P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly arising out of Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012 under Sections 452, 307 I.P.C. P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly be tried alongwith Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and others) under Sections 307, 436, 392, 380, 504 and 506 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out of Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012 under Sections 307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 426 and 392 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, as both the cases are cross cases.

3. The aforesaid application was opposed by opposite party no.2 herein namely Nitin Jaiswal. Accordingly, an objection (Paper No. 323 Kha) was filed by opposite party no.2 opposing the aforesaid application.

4. The Additional Sessions Judge Court No.1, Bareilly, vide order dated 02.12.2016 rejected the aforesaid application (Paper No. 309 Kha) filed by accused-applicant Nirmal Singh Garewal. While rejecting the application (Paper No. 309 Kha), Court below has held that evidence has been recorded and trial is at the stage of Section 313 Cr.P.C. Secondly, it would not be appropriate to try Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and others) under Sections 307, 436, 392, 380, 504 and 506 I.P.C., arising out of Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012, under Sections 307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 426 and 392 I.P.C. alongwith the present Sessions Trial as according to accused-applicant Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012 is pending consideration before the Magistrate. In the aforesaid complaint case the accused have not yet appeared, nor the concerned Magistrate has passed any such order on the basis of which, it could be said that Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012 is cross version of Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012. Moreover, the complaint case has not yet been committed to the Court of Sessions. Further, without perusal of record of Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and others) under Sections 307, 436, 392, 380, 504 and 506 I.P.C., it cannot be said that above mentioned complaint case is a cross case. Lastly, the record of the complaint case cannot be summoned as the Hon'ble High Court has directed for early disposal of the Sessions Trial itself and if possible on day to day basis. For ready reference order dated 23.07.2015 which has been referred to in the order dated 02.12.2016 is reproduced herein-under:.

"Heard learned counsel for the applicant and the learned AGA and have been taken through the record.

By means of the present application under section 482 Cr.P.C. the applicant has invoked inherent jurisdiction of this Court with a prayer to direct the court concerned to conclude the Sessions Trial No 123 of 2013 arising out of Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012 under section 452/307 IPC, Police Station Kotwali District Bareilly pending in the court of learned Addl. District & Sessions Judge, Court No.1 Bareilly.

It is submitted by the learned counsel for the applicant that the applicant lodged the first information report against the opposite party no.2 and his sons under sections 452/307 IPC. The investigating officer after conducting the investigation submitted charge sheet dated 30.11.2012.The opposite party no.2 filed Criminal Misc. Bail Application No. 17956 of 2013 (Nirmal Singh Versus State of U.P.) before another Bench of this Court . The Hon'ble Single Judge was pleased to release the opposite party no.2 on bail vide order dated 25.7.2013 stipulating certain conditions and also directing the trial court to decide the case expeditously. The opposite party no.2 after being released on bail, has adopted subterfuge of stalling and dilating the trial. The trial is proceeding at snail's pace and till date, the opposite party no.2 has not allowed the evidence of the doctors to be completed and the cross examination is going on by the opposite party no.2 since last 7 months so as to elongate the proceedings. The witnesses have also not been cross-examined whereby the trial is being obstructed. There is specific direction of this Court that the trial may be concluded speedily avoiding undue delay. The applicant is getting constant threats by the opposite party no.2 and his comrades. There is imminent danger of his life and property due to hanging of trial hence the court below may be directed to conclude the trial within stipulated period as granted by this Hon'ble Court. Learned counsel for the applicant has relied upon the decision of this Court dated 25.11.2013 passed in Special Leave to Appeal (Crl) No. 24066 of 22013 (Mohd. Rashid Vs. State of U.P.) wherein Hon'ble Apex Court held the trial court should strictly comply with the direction issued by High Court and take effective steps to ensure that the trial be conducted on day to day basis and the presence of the witnesses be secured by adopting, if necessary coercive means. The Administrative Judge of the District concerned should monitor the progress of trial proceeding in order to ensure that the trial court does not defy the orders issued by High Court with impunity.

Learned AGA did not oppose the contention of learned counsel for the applicant and submitted that speedy trial is the quintessence of the code which cannot be withheld years together on flimsy grounds.

Having considered the rival submission advanced by the learned counsel for the parties, there are serious consequences where the trial is unnecessarily delayed. Speedy trial is a right of every person in public interest and serves the social requirement of the present day, therefore, it is provided that the court below shall make earnest endeavour to conclude the aforesaid trial as expeditiously as possible preferably on day to day basis within six months from the date of production of a certified copy of this order.

This application is disposed of as above. "

Aforesaid order dated 23.7.2015 was subsequently corrected, vide order dated 7.8.2015. It was now provided that Court below shall endeavor to conclude S.T. No. 123 of 2013 (State Vs. Nirmal Singh) within a period of two months. For ready reference, order dated 7.8.2015 is reproduced herein below:

"Criminal Misc. (Correction) Application No. 253536 of 2015 is allowed.

Necessary correction has been made in the original order.

Order dated 23.7.2015 will stand corrected as follows:

In the 6th line of fifth paragraph six months should be read as two months.

Office is directed to correct the certified copy of the aforesaid order, if already issued to the learned counsel for the applicant as per Rule of the court. "

On aforesaid findings, Court below rejected the application (Paper No. 309 Kha) filed by accused-applicant, vide order dated 02.12.2016.

5. Feeling aggrieved by order dated 02.12.2016 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 1, Bareilly, rejecting the application (Paper No. 309 Kha) filed by accused-applicant, he has now approached this Court by filing present application under Section 482 Cr.P.C.

6. Present Criminal Misc. Application came up for admission on 15.12.2016 and same was disposed of finally by this Court on the same day, vide order dated 15.12.2016, which is quoted herein under:-

"Supplementary affidavit filed today, the same is taken on record.

Heard learned counsel for the applicant and learned A.G.A.

The present application has been filed with a prayer to quash the order dated 2.12.2016 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 1 Bareilly in Sessions Trial No. 123 of 2013 (State Vs. Nirmal Singh Garewal and others) arising out of Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012, under sections 452, 307 IPC, Police Station Kotwali Bareilly, District Bareilly whereby the application of the applicant filed under section 309 Cr.P.C. has been rejected.

Learned counsel for the applicant contended that civil dispute with regard to the property is pending between applicant and O.P. No. 2 and the O.P. No. 2 is trying to illegally took the possession of the property in question, on account of which the incident took place. Admittedly, cross version were lodged by both the sides.

It is contended that initially O.P. No. 2 initiated the proceeding of the incident which took place on 21.10.2012 against the applicant, his father and his brother under sections 452, 307 IPC in Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012. It is contended that on the same day applicant went for lodging the first information report but same was not lodged by the police, then application was moved under section 156(3) Cr.P.C. on 22.10.2012 which was allowed, pursuant to which a FIR was lodged by the police against O.P. No. 2 and five others under sections 307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 436, 392 IPC in Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012. It is further contended that Investigating Officer of Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012 of Sessions Trial No. 123 of 2013 filed report on 19.12.2012 wherein it was mentioned that it was a cross version. It is next contended that applicant's father filed a protest petition, which was treated as a complaint case and after the statement recorded under sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. opposite party No. 2 and others were summoned by the Magistrate vide order dated 5.9.2016 under sections 143, 456 and 427 IPC in Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016. It is contended that in spite of having knowledge of the same, the opposite party No. 2 and 5 others did not appear before the court concerned till date with the sole intention that the case against the applicant may proceed and the cross version of complaint case No. 1716 of 2016 may remain pending. It is contended that the Sessions Trial No. 123 of 2013 is proceeded on day to day basis because of the direction given by this Court vide order dated 24.10.2016 passed in Crl. Misc. Application U/s 482 Cr.P.C. No. 27370 of 2016 to be concluded the the trial if possible within two months on day to day basis.

Learned counsel for the applicant further contended that opposite party No. 2 did not bring this fact to the notice of the Court that opposite party No. 2 and others have already been summoned in Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016. It is further contended that application under section 323 Cr.P.C. was filed before the Additional C.J.M., Court No. 2, Bareilly for committing the case to the court of sessions where Sessions Trial No. 123 of 2013 is proceedings and both the admitted cross case be heard and decided in view of the law laid down by this Court as well as by the Apex Court. Learned Magistrate vide order dated 19.11.2016 rejected the aforesaid application on account of the fact that accused persons had not appeared, therefore, no order could be passed. Copy of the aforesaid order has been filed as Annexure-10 to the accompanying affidavit. It is contended that as there is no dispute with regard to the fact that Sessions Trial No. 123 of 2013 and Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 are cross cases, therefore, an application was moved under section 309(2)(a) Cr.P.C. for adjournment of the proceedings till the complaint case is committed to the Court of sessions which application has been rejected by the order impugned. Learned counsel has cited the judgement of Sudhir Vs. State of M.P. 2001 SCC (Crl.) 387 and relied upon the paragraphs No. 8,9,10 and 11 of the aforesaid judgment indicating that the Apex Court has held that if there are cross cases, the same shall be disposed of by the same Court by pronouncing judgements on the same day. Paragraphs No. 8,9,10 and 11 are quoted below:

8. It is a salutary practice, when two criminal cases relate to the same incident, they are tried and disposed of by the same court by pronouncing judgments on the same day. Such two different versions of the same incident resulting in two criminal cases are compendiously called : case and counter-case" by some High Courts and 'cross-cases" by some other High Courts. Way back in the nineteen hunded and twenties a Division Bench of the Madras High Court (Waller and Cronish, JJ.) made a suggestion (Goriparthi Krishtamma, IN re that 'a case and counter-case arising out of the same affairs should always, if practicable, be tried by the same Court; and each party would represent themselves as having been the innocent victims of the aggressions of the others:

9. Close to its heels Jackson, J., made an exhortation to the then legislature to provide a mechanism as a statutory provision for trial or both cases by the same court (Vide Krishna Pannadi Vs. Emperor). The learned Judge said thus:

"There is o clear law as regards the procedure in counter-cases, a defect which the legislature ought to remedy. It is a generally recognized rule that such cases should be tried in quick succession by the same Judge, who should not pronounce judgement till the hearing of both cases is finished."

10. We are unable to understand why the legislature is still parrying to incorporate such a salubrious practice as a statutory requirement in the Code. The practical reasons for adopting a procedure that such cross-cases shall be tried by the same court, can be summarised thus: (1) it staves off the danger of an accused being convicted before his whole case is before the court. (2) It deters conflicting judgments being delivered upon similar facts; (3) In reality the case and the counter-case are, to all intents and purposes, different or conflicting versions of one incident.

11. In fact, many High Courts have reiterated the need to follow the said practice as a necessary legal requirement for preventing conflicting decisions regarding one incident. This Court has given its approval to the said practice in Nathi LalV. State of U.P. The procedure to be followed in such a situation has been succinctly delineated in the said decision and it can be extracted here: (SCC pp. 145-46, para 2)

"2. We think that the fair procedure to adopt in a matter like the present where there are cross-cases, is to direct that the same learned Judge must try both the cross-cases one after the other. After the recording of evidence in one case is completed, he must hear the arguments but he must reserve the judgment. Thereafter he must proceed to hear the cross-case and after recording all the evidence he must hear the arguments but reserve the judgment in that case. The same learned Judge must thereafter dispose of the matters by two separate judgments. In deciding each of the cases, he can rely only on the evidence recorded in that particular case. The evidence recorded in the cross-case can not be looked into. Nor can the judge be influenced by whatever is argued in the cross-case. Each case must be decided on the basis of the evidence which has been placed on record in that particular case without being influenced in any manner by the evidnece or arguments urged in the cross case. But both the judgments must be pronounced by the same learned Judge one after the other."

It is contended by learned A.G.A. that it is not disputed that that both the cases being Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 and Sessions Trial No. 123 of 2013 are cross cases.

In view of the above, this matter requires re-consideration. Accordingly the order dated 2.12.2016 passed by Additional Sessions Judge,Court No. 1 Bareilly in Sessions Trial No. 123 of 2013 is set aside and matter is remitted back to the court concerned for reconsideration afresh, in accordance with law as well as the observations made above within a period of three week from the date a certified copy of this order is produced before him. Learned counsel for the applicant undertakes to file the certified copy of this order before the court concerned within two weeks from today.

Accordingly, this application is disposed of. It is clarified that the proceeding of sessions trial No. 123 of 2013 may go on but final orders may not be passed."

7. Feeling aggrieved by order dated 15.12.2016, opposite party no.2, Nitin Jaiswal, who admittedly was not heard at the time of passing of order dated 15.12.2016, has filed Criminal Misc.

Recall Application No. 4345 of 2017 seeking recall of order dated 15.12.2016.

8. During pendency of above mentioned recall application, Criminal Misc. Application No.25681 of 2018 (Nitin Jaiswal Vs. State of U.P. and another) was filed challenging the order dated 25.01.2018 passed by Additional District Judge, Court No.1, Bareilly, in Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and others), under Sections 307, 436, 392, 380, 504 and 506 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareily, District-Bareilly, whereby application (Paper No. 70 Kha) filed by Nirmal Singh Garewal-Complainant was allowed and also the order dated 23.06.2018 passed by Additional District Judge Ist, Bareilly, by which application No. 71 Kha-1 filed by Nitin Jaiswal and others, has been rejected. Vide order dated 23.06.2018, Court below held that proceedings of Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2018 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and others) under Sections 307, 436, 392, 380, 504 and 506 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareily, District-Bareilly, shall proceed in accordance with Chapter 18 Cr.P.C., whereas vide order dated 23.06.2018, Court Below fixed 25.06.2018 as the next date for framing of charges under Sections 147, 458, 427 I.P.C. against Nitin Jaiswal, Adesh Jaiswal, Sachin Jaiswal, Raju Jaiswal. Annu Jaiswal and Manish Goel.

9. Criminal Misc. Application U/S 482 Cr.P.C. No. 25681 of 2018 (Nitin Jaiswal Vs. State of U.P. and another) came up for admission on 03.08.2018 and this Court passed the following order:

"Heard Mr. Anoop Trivedi, learned counsel for the applicant in length and detail, the learned A.G.A. for the State and the Mr. Sikandar Kochar, Advocate, who has put in appearance on behalf of the opposite party No. 2 by filing his vakalatnama in Court today, which is taken on record.

This application under section 482 Cr. P. C. has been filed with the following prayer:-

"It is, therefore, most respectfully prayed that this Hon'ble Court may very kindly be pleased to allow this application and to quash the orders dated 25.01.2018 passed by the Additional District Judge, Bareilly in Complaint Case no. 1716 of 2016 whereby the application no. 70 kha of the opposite party no. 2 has been allowed and the order dated 23.6.2018 passed by the Additional District Judge, First, Bareilly in Case No. 1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Versus Nitin Jaiswal and other) under Sections 456, 427 and 143 I.P.C. and by which the application no. 71 (kha) (1) has been rejected."

Mr. Anoop Trivedi, learned counsel for the applicant submits that the applicant had filed an application (Paper No. 71 kha), whereby it was prayed that entire consequential proceedings subsequent to the order dated 8.2.2016 are null and void. The said prayer was made on the ground that since second final report had already been rejected, vide order dated 6.4.2015, therefore, by rejecting the said final report by means of the order dated 8.2.2106 and directing that the protest petition shall be treated as complaint and consequently proceeding thereafter in the matter as a complaint case has rendered the entire consequential proceedings illegal. He thus submits that subsequent to the order dated 6.4.2015 passed by the Magistrate, whereby the second final report was rejected and the protest petition was allowed with a direction for further investigation, the case was further investigated by the police and thethird final report dated 20.8.2015 has been submitted, which is pending consideration before the Magistrate.

On the aforesaid factual premise, the legal submission urged by the learned counsel for the applicant is that in the absence of an order rejecting the final report no direction can be issued by the Magistrate that the protest petition shall be treated as a complaint and accordingly to be proceeded with as a complaint case.

It is further submitted that the Court below while passing the impugned order dated 23.6.2018, whereby the application (Paper No. 71 Kha) had been rejected has travelled beyond the controversy and has also acted in excess of jurisdiction vested in it at that stage by observing that in view of the material on record, charges under sections 147, 458, 427 are also liable to be framed and for that purpose fixed the matter for 25.6.2018.

Sri Anoop Trivedi, learned counsel for the applicant at this stage submits that the Court below has no jurisdiction to pass the impugned order when the real issue was not answered one way or the other way.

It was next contended that by means of the impugned order dated 25.1.2018, the Court below has allowed the application (Paper No. 70 Kha) filed by the opposite party No. 2. From the record, it appears that the said application was filed by the opposite party No. 2 with a prayer that he be provided a Government counsel as the said case is going on in the Court of Sessions. The applicant his objection dated 21.12.2017. However, the Court allowed the same.

From the perusal of this bulky record, it transpires that one of the issues engaging the attention of the Court is whether the transfer of the complaint case to the Court of Sessions in exercise of power under section 409 Cr. P. C. is valid or not.

Learned counsel appearing on behalf of the opposite party No. 2 submits that the issue has become final and it cannot be open at this stage.

Perusal of the order dated 06.11.2017 passed by the Apex Court clearly shows that this question as to whether the Sessions Judge was empowered to transfer the complaint case under section 409 Cr. P. C. has been left open. It is admitted to the parties that pursuant to the order passed by the Apex Court, the said question has not been decided till date. It further transpires that the consolidation of the cases i.e. the State case and Complaint case has taken place in the light of the observations contained in the order dated 15.12.2016 passed by His Lordship Hon'ble Mr. Justice R.D. Khare. A perusal of the said order will go to show that in the proceedings in which the aforesaid order has been passed, a concession was made by the learned A.G.A. that both the cases are cross cases and on the basis of the said concession, the Court below passed the order dated 15.12.2016. Learned counsel for the applicant submitted that the applicant has filed a recall application seeking recall of the order dated 15.12.2016 which is pending.

In the light of the aforesaid facts, it is desirable that the recall application filed by the applicant in Criminal Misc. Application No. 38644 of 2016 be also heard along with the present application.

Put up this case along with the record of Criminal Misc. Application No.

38644 of 2016 as unlisted case on 10.08.2018.

Till then, the Court below is restrained from proceeding with the above mentioned complaint case pending before the Court of Sessions."

10. However, order dated 03.08.2018 was corrected by this Court, vide order 26.07.2019. It was now provided that in place of Section 409 Cr.P.C. occurring in 4th line of third last paragraph Section 408 Cr.P.C. shall be read.

11. Subsequently, Office submitted the report dated 23.05.2019 and on the basis of office report dated 23.05.2019, Hon'ble the Senior Judge, vide order dated 24.05.2019 nominated Criminal Misc. Application No. 25681 of 2018 (Nitin Jaiswal Vs. State of U.P. and another), Criminal Misc. Application No. 38644 of 2016 (Jaspreet Singh Garewal Vs. State of U.P. and another) and Criminal Misc. Application No.11932 of 2014 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. State of U.P. and another) before this Court. Accordingly, the above mentioned Criminal Misc. Applications have come up before this Bench.

12. It may be noted here that against interim order dated 03.08.2018 passed in Criminal Misc. Application No.25681 of 2018 (Nitin Jaiswal Vs. State of U.P. and another) which has been quoted herein-above, S.L.P. (Criminal) No.16536 of 2019 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. State of U.P. and another) was filed before the Apex Court. The same was disposed of finally, vide order dated 10.05.2019, which is reproduced herein-under.

" Delay condoned.

These petitions by special leave have been filed against the interim orders passed by the High Court in an application under Section 482 Cr.P.C.

Learned counsel for the petitioner has submitted that the matter is already fixed for hearing on 17.05.2019. The application being pending, we are of the view that the High Court shall take steps for early disposal of the matter looking into the nature of issues which have been raised in the Application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. Learned counsel for the petitioner has relied upon an order of this Court dated 06.11.2017 passed in SLP (Crl.) No. 8152 of 2017.

The special leave petitions are disposed of accordingly."

13. I have heard Mr. Anoop Trivedi, learned Senior Counsel assisted by Mr. Abhinav Gaur, learned counsel for opposite party no.2 Nitin Jaiswal, who has filed the recall application seeking recall of order dated 15.12.2016, Mr. Sikandar B. Kochar, learned counsel for applicant and learned A.G.A. for the State.

14. Mr. Anoop Trivedi, learned Senior Counsel appearing for opposite party no.2, who has filed recall application seeking recall of order dated 15.12.2016 submits that recall application has been filed primarily on the grounds that opposite party no.2 was not heard before order dated 15.12.2016 was passed. Admittedly, opposite party no.2 was not represented through counsel nor any notice was issued to opposite party no.2 affording him an opportunity of hearing before order dated 15.12.2016 was passed. Further Criminal Misc. Application No. 482 Cr.P.C. came up for admission on 15.12.2016 and this Court allowed the application on same day. As such order dated 15.12.2016 is ex-parte against opposite party no.2. which is contrary to the Rules of natural justice enshrined in the principle Audi alteram partem.

15. The order dated 15.12.2016 passed by this Court has caused serious prejudice to opposite party no.2 as on account of aforesaid order disposal of S.T. No. 123 of 2013 (State Vs. Nirmal Singh Garewal and others), under Sections 452 and 307 I.P.C., P.S.-Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012 under Sections 452, 307 I.P.C. P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, has come to a halt. It is submitted that this Court while deciding bail application No. 17956 of 2013 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. State of U.P), vide order dated 25.7.2013, directed trial Court to expeditiously decide S.T. No. 123 of 2013 (State Vs. Nirmal Singh Garewal and another) under Sections 452 and 307 I.P.C. P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out of case Crime No. 2568 of 2012, under Sections 452, 307 I.P.C. P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly.

16. It is then submitted that as no progress was being made in aforesaid Sessions Trial as proceedings were being prolonged by filing applications by accused, three criminal misc. applications under section 482 Cr.P.C. came to be filed before this Court. Application U/s 482 No. 3811 of 2014 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. State of U.P. and Another) was filed challenging the order dated 18.1.2014, whereby trial court summoned the witnesses and documents other than those mentioned in the charge sheet; Application U/s 482 No. 6775 of 2014 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. State of U.P. and Another) was filed challenging order dated 18.1.2014, whereby Court below declined prayer made by accused for furnishing copies of statements of witnesses to them. Application U/s 482 No. 6095 of 2014 (Nitin Jaiswal Vs. State of U.P. and Another) was filed by complainant for expeditious disposal of case. All the above mentioned criminal misc. applications came to be decided vide order dated 9.4.2014. Criminal Misc. Application No. 3811 of 2014 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. State of U.P. and Another) and Criminal Misc. Application No. 6775 of 2014 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. State of U.P. and Another) were dismissed, whereas Criminal Misc. Application No. 6095 of 2014 (Nitin Jaiswal Vs. State of U.P. and Another) was disposed of with a direction to proceed with trial expeditiously irrespective of pendency of any application or petition before this Court except where specific order of stay has been passed.

17. Then reference was made to the order dated 23.7.2015 as corrected vide order dated 7.8.2015, which have been quoted in paragraph 4 of present judgement. Lastly reference was made to order dated 24.10.2016, passed in Criminal Misc. Application No. 27370 of 2016 (Nitin Jaiswal Vs. State of U.P. and Others) and Criminal Misc. Application No. 27511 of 2016 (Taranpreet Garewal @ Dimpal Vs. State of U.P. and Another). Criminal Misc. Application No. 27370 of 2016 (Nitin Jaiswal Vs. State of U.P. and Others) was allowed with further direction to trial Court to proceed with trial on day to day basis and conclude same, within two months from date of production of certified copy of order, whereas Criminal Misc. Application No.

27511 of 2016 (Taranpreet Garewal @ Dimpal Vs. State of U.P. and Another) was dismissed. For ready reference, order dated 24.10.2016 is reproduced herein below:

"The application No.27370 of 2016 has been moved by the first informant for issuing appropriate direction to the trial court for concluding the trial of Sessions Trial No.123 of 2013 (State of U.P. vs. Nirmal Singh Garewal and others) pending in the Court of Additional District and Sessions Judge Court No.1 Bareilly within a time frame of one month from the date of receiving the certified copy of the order passed by this court.

The Application No. 27511 of 2016 has been moved for quashing the order dated 27.08.2016 passed by Additional Sessions Judge Court No.1 Bareilly in Sessions Trial No 123 of 2013 (State Vs. Nirmal Singh Garewal and others) rejecting the application Under Section 311 Cr.P.C. moved by the accused applicant.

The learned counsel for the first informant Sri Anoop Triwedi counsel for applicant in Misc. Application No. 27370 of 2016 filed Vakalatnama on behalf of opposite party No.2 in Misc. application No.27511 of 2016 moved by accused Taran Preet Garewal and similarly the learned counsel for the accused applicant, Sri Sikandar B. Kochar in Application No.27511 of 2016 filed Vakalatnama on the behalf of the accused opposite party No.2 Nirmal Singh Garewal in Misc. Application No. 27370 of 2016.

The two applications under Section 482 Cr.P.C., one by first informant and the other by accused, have been moved in respect of and arise out of the one and the same Sessions Trial No. 123 of 2013 pending before Additional Sessions Judge Court No.1, Bareilly, were heard together on request of the learned counsel for the parties and are being disposed off by common order.

The learned counsel for the applicant-accused in Application No. 27511 of 2016 contended that the opposite party No.2 has stated in FI.R. that "due to indiscriminate firing by the applicant and two other co-accused persons, Sachin Jaiswal the brother of first informant as well as Gaurav, Bhagwan Das and Veer Bahadur sustained gun shot injuries"; that the prosecution did not produce all the witnesses and got discharged the witnesses Gaurav, Bhagwan Das and Veer Bahadur on the application of first informant dated 04.06.2013; that the evidence of above witnesses is necessary for bringing truth before this Court and so the applicant moved an application under Section 311 Cr.P.C. for summoning them, which has wrongly been rejected by the trial court vide impugned order dated 27.08.2016; that the above order of trial court/ the Additional Sessions Judge Court No.1 Bareilly is bad on the facts of law and is labile to be quashed.

Per contra, learned counsel for Nitin Jaiswal the first informant/ opposite party No.2 contended that the applicant had moved the application under Section 311 Cr.P.C. for summoning the witnesses with malafide intention to delay the disposal of trial after a period of more than three years from the date when they were discharged; that the application moved by applicant and co-accused persons was malafide and misconceived; that the above witnesses Gaurav, Bhagwan Das and Veer Bahadur,need not be examined before the Court and they have been rightly discharged by the prosecution; the accused persons, if finds their evidence necessary and beneficial to them, may produce them as defence witnesses; that the applicant and co-accused persons are habitual of making abuse process of Court by moving one application or the other, to delay the disposal of trial as well as to flout various orders passed by this court for expeditious disposal of trial; that the prosecution evidence was concluded on 23.10.2015 and due to the misconduct of applicant-accused persons, their statements under Section 313 Cr.P.C. could be recorded on 27.08.2016 after a period of over 10 months; that since 27.08.2016 was fixed for recording the statements of accused persons under Section 313 Cr.P.C, this application was moved on 26.08.2016 just one day before the date fixed, so that the proceeding of case may further be adjourned; that the application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has been moved with malafide intention to further delay the disposal of trial and is liable to be rejected.

In application No.27370 of 2016 learned counsel for the applicant/ the first informant contended that regarding incident dated 21.10.2012, committed by the Opposite party No.2 along with his two sons Jaspreet and Taranpreet, a prompt F.I.R. was lodged by applicant on the same day under Sections 452 & 307 IPC, in which the bail application of accused/opposite party no.2 was dismissed by this court by order dated 21.01.2013 at Annexure No.2, with a direction to trial Court to conclude the trial expeditiously on day to day basis preferably within a period of six months from the date of production of copy of the order; that in above order at Annexure No.2, this Court observed that the bailed out applicant Nirmal Singh Garewal, opposite party No.2 is a lawyer, but has no respect to the judicial system and on rejection of his bail application by Session Judge, Bareilly, several members of bar at his instance vandalized the court room of Sessions Judge, Bereilly and stormed entire Court campus at Bareilly; that opposite party No.2 moved second bail application, which was allowed by this court by a detailed order dated 25.07.2013 at Annexure No.3, with a further direction to trial court for expeditious disposal of the case; that opposite party no.2 again moved three applications under Section 482 Cr.P.C., which were disposed of by this Court by common order dated 09.04.2014 at Annexure No.4, with the direction to trial court not only to proceed with the trial expeditiously, but also to proceed with the trial, even if, any application or petition is pending before this court, except where specific order of stay has been passed by this court; that the delaying tactics adopted by unscrupulous type of accused persons can be measured from the chart at Annexure No.6, which shows that cross examination with prosecution witnesses Nitin Jaiswal-the first informant continued for 35 dates, in 137 pages, of Scahin Jaiswal- injured witness for 9 dates in 59 pages, of Constable-Rakshpal Singh for 7 dates, of Prashant Kumar for 27 dates in 102 pages, and of Dr. Brijeshwar Singh for 12 dates in 28 pages and so on; that on another application of applicant (first informant) under Section 482 Cr.P.C., this Court vide order dated 23.07.2015, at Annexure No.10, directed the trial court for expeditious disposal of trial on day to day basis, if possible, within six months, which period was reduced to two months by way of correction order dated 07.08.2015, at Annexure No.11; that despite repeated orders of this court as mentioned above, the opposite party No.2 and his sons, the co-accused persons are continuing to move one frivolous application after the other including the applications for transfer of the case, which were rejected by the trial court vide order dated 14.03.2016, at Annexure No.13; that another application moved before the Sessions Judge, Bareilly for transfer of trial was rejected by the Sessions Judge, Bareilly vide order dated 23.0.2016, at Annexure No.14 whereafter the accused-applicant approached this Court through transfer application No.179 of 2016, which was dismissed by this Court by detailed order dated 08.07.2016, at Annexure No.15; that inspite of rejection of above applications, the illegal designs of accused persons did not stop; that the opposite party no.2 and co-accused persons continued to make misuse the process of court, and approached the Apex Court against the order dated 08.07.2016 passed by this Court rejecting the transfer application, which too was dismissed by Apex Court vide order dated 08.08.2016, at Annexure No.16; that after rejection of S.L.P. against the rejection of transfer application, the accused persons again moved Application Nos. 235-B, 236-B, 232-B before the trial court, which were dismissed with costs of Rs.1,000/- on accused vide order dated 22.08.2016 at Annexure No.17; that the chart at Annexure No.12 shows that the accused persons moved as many as 13 applications for adjournment of case apart from various frivolous applications every now & then; that the certified copy of order sheet of trial court at Annexure No.19, makes it clear that opposite party No.2 and his sons, the three accused persons in this case, are willfully and deliberately flouting the orders of this Court being Advocate and sons of Advocate; that despite being Advocate, the opposite party no.2 has no respect even for the orders of this Court what to say about respecting the Court of Sessions Judge or Additional Sessions Judge/ trial court; that in the circumstances, trial court was directed to decide the trial as expeditiously possible within six months from 21.01.2013, but after lapse of over 44 months from the above initial order followed by subsequent orders as well as last order dated 07.08.2015 (more than 13 months ago) for expeditious disposal within two months, the trial court may again be directed to decide the trial expeditiously within a period of one moth from the date of production of copy of order before it.

Per contra, learned counsel for the opposite party No.2 contended that opposite party No.2 has not committed any abuse of process of Court that in (2015) 3 Supreme Court Cases (Criminal) 862 in the Case of Bablu Kumar Vs. State of Bihar, the Apex Court has held that the direction for conclusion of trial within a fixed duration does not mean mechanical conclusion of trial anyhow, regardless of whether justice is miscarried and the trial court can always seek extension of time from that court to ensure fair trial.

Upon hearing the learned counsel for the parties and perused the record, I have come to the conclusion that the application Under Section 313 Cr.P.C. moved by accused-applicant Taran Preet Garewal and another on 26.08.2016 (after a period of 10 months from completion of prosecution evidence on 23.10.2015), for summoning the witnesses, which were discharged 3 years ago on 04.06.2013, was malafide and misconceived and has been rightly rejected by the trial court. The learned counsel for the accused-applicant Taran Preet Garewal failed to show any illegality, irregularity, incorrectness or impropriety in the impugned order dated 27.08.2016 rejecting the application of accused under Section 311 Cr.P.C. The learned counsel for the applicant has failed to show that the impugned order dated 27.08.2016 if allowed to stand, may cause any miscarriage of justice or injury to the accused persons and that quashing of the same is necessary in order to secure the ends of justice. From material on record, I find that the learned counsel for the applicant has failed to show any sufficient ground, which may require exercise of inherent powers by this court for preventing any alleged abuse of process of Court. It is proved from the material brought on record that the accused themselves are committing abuse of the process of Court by flouting the repeated orders of this Court for expeditious disposal of the case. The application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. No.27511 of 2016 is frivolous, vexatious and devoid of merits and is liable to be dismissed.

It is clear from the material on record that the accused persons including bailed out accused Nirmal Singh Garewal, an advocate are committing abuse of process of court by moving one frivolous application or the other and approaching this Court every now and then by filing one frivolous application or the other under Section 482 Cr.P.C. or under Section 397/401 Cr.P.C. or even transfer application. In the circumstances, it is necessary to observe that the bailed out accused Nirmal Singh Garewal, who is also an Advocate, with co-accused persons, his sons, is making misuse of his professional degree. The conduct of accused persons indicates that they have no respect for the Courts as well as orders passed by Court. The law relied on behalf of opposite party Sri Nirmal Singh Garewal has no application to the facts of the case.

In view of the facts and circumstances brought before this Court through application No.27370 of 2016 and in view of the earlier orders dated 25.07.2013, 09.04.2014, 23.07.2015 and 07.08.2015 of this Court directing expeditious disposal of the trial in time bound period, the application No.27370 of 2016 is liable to be allowed with further direction to trial court for expeditious disposal of the trial by proceeding from day to day and if possible within two months from the date of submission of copy of this order before this Court without granting any unnecessary adjournment to the accused-persons.

However, if the trial Court finds that the opposite party Nirmal Singh Grewal or his sons the co-accused persons are continuing to follow the same delaying tactics by moving frivolous applications, the same shall be disposed of expeditiously in accordance with law by appropriate orders, including order for imposition of special costs on accused-persons if so required. If the trial is not concluded within a period of 2 months due to misconduct of accused persons, it will be deemed that opposite party Nirmal Singh Grewal is making misuse of liberty of bail and on being approached, this Court shall be compelled to curtail the liberty so granted and cancel the bail granted to him vide order dated 25.07.2013.

Accordingly, application No.27370 of 2016 is allowed with the directions to the trial court for expeditious disposal of trial within two moths form the date of production of copy of order before it and application No.27511 of 2016 is dismissed with costs."

18. He, therefore, submits that in view of facts as noted herein above and also findings recorded in the order dated 2.12.2016, passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 1, Bareilly, rejecting the application under section 309 Cr.P.C. filed by accused, it is explicit that the trial is at an advanced stage. Evidence has already been recorded and now only the accused have to give their defence testimony as provided under Section 313 Cr.P.C. The order dated 15.12.2016 runs counter to the order dated 23.07.2015 passed by this Court in Criminal Misc. Application U/S 482 Cr.P.C. No. 20143 of 2015 (Nitin Jaiswal Vs. State of U.P. and another) as corrected, vide order dated 7.8.2015, wherein it was provided that Sessions Trial 123 of 2013 (State Vs. Nirmal Singh Garewal and others) be decided on day to day basis within a period of two months.

19. The incident giving rise to Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and others) under Sections 307, 436, 392, 380, 504 and 506 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareily, District-Bareilly, arising out of Case Crime No.2675 of 2012 under Sections 307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 426 and 392 I.P.C. P.S.-Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly and S.T. No. 123 of 2013 (State Vs. Nirmal Singh Garewal and others) under Sections 452 and 307 I.P.C. P.S.-Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out of Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012 under Sections 452 and 307 I.P.C. P.S.-Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, are not similar and therefore the two cases are not cross-cases. He further submits that in case a parallel is drawn between the two F.I.Rs. or the Two Case Crime numbers following distinctions are clearly evident. The F.I.R. dated 25.11.2012 registered as Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012 under sections 307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 426, 392 IPC, lodged by Nirmal Singh Garewal is in respect of an incident, which took place on 21.10.2012 at 3 a.m. and the place of occurrence has been shown as 126, Civil Lines, situate in Southern direction and at a distance of 3 km. from Police Station Kotwali Sadar, District Bareilly. However, F.I.R. dated 21.10.2012 registered as Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012 under sections 452, 307 IPC contains a recital that the incident took place on 21.10. 2012 at 6 a.m. at 126A, Civil Lines, situate at a distance of 2 km. and in the Southern direction from the Police Station Kotwali Sadar, District Bareilly.

20. It is then contended that the last direction of order dated 15.12.2016, whereby it has been directed that the proceedings of S.T. No. 123 of 2013 may go on, but no final order may be passed amounts to a perpetual injunction on the power of the Court restraining it from deciding a case, which is not permissible under law.

21. He has further submitted with vehemence that various facts have been concealed in the present application, which can be brought to the notice of the Court when the matter is heard and opportunity of hearing is afforded to opposite party no.2. In support of aforesaid submission, reliance is placed upon paragraphs 32 to 55 of the affidavit filed in support of recall application.

22. It is also contended that applicant has concealed materials facts as stated in paragraphs 32 to 35 of the affidavit filed in support of recall application and in that eventuality, the present application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. filed by accused-applicant Jaspreet Singh Garewal is liable to be dismissed on the ground of concealment of material facts.

23. On the aforesaid factual and legal premise, it is vehemently urged by Mr. Anoop Trivedi, learned Senior Counsel that recall application and pending Criminal Misc. Application may be heard and decided together finally. To sum up his arguments, Mr. Anoop Trivedi, learned Senior Counsel has submitted that recall application is being pressed on limited grounds that the order dated 15.12.2016, whereby the application under Section 482 Cr.P.C. filed by accused-applicant Jaspreet Singh Garewal has been decided ex-parte inasmuch as even though, the applicant Nitin Jaiswal was impleaded as the opposite party No. 2 in the memo of petition, but no notice was issued to him and the final order has been passed against him without affording any notice or opportunity of hearing causing serious prejudice to the opposite party no.2. It is then urged that the petition as presented suffers from the vice of concealment of material facts and once an opportunity is granted to the applicant-opposite party no.2 to bring on record those facts then in that eventuality, the petition itself is liable to be dismissed.

24. To lend legal support to his submissions, learned Senior Counsel has relied upon judgement of Apex Court in the case of Vishnu Agarwal Vs. State of U.P. and another reported in 2011 (14) SCC 813, Judgement of learned Single Judge of Allahabad High Court in Jawahar Lal @ Jawahar Lal JalaJ Vs. State of U.P. reported in 2015 (91) ACC 128, judgement of Apex Court in State of Punjab Vs. Devendar Pal Singh Bhullar and others reported in 2011 (14) SCC 770, judgement of Apex Court in Makkapati Nagaswara Sastri Vs. S.S. Satyanarayan reported in 1981 (1) SCC 62, the Full Bench decision of Rajsthan High Court in the case of Habu Vs. State of Rajsthan reported in AIR 1987 RAJ 83, the Full Bench decision of this Court in the case of Rajnarayan and others Vs. The State of U.P. reported in A.I.R. 1959 ALL 315 and judgement of Apex Court in Khoday Distilers Ltd. (Now known as Khoday India Limited and others) Vs. Sri Mahadeshwara Sahakara Sakkare Karkhane Ltd. Kollegal (Under Liquidation) Represented by the Liquidator reported in 1995 SCC (1) 574.

25. Per-contra, Mr. Sikandar B. Kochar, learned counsel for applicant has opposed the recall application filed by opposite party No. 2. Countering the submissions made by learned Senior Counsel appearing for opposite party no.2, he submits that prior to passing of the order dated 15.12.2016 by this Court, Investigating Officer while submitting final report dated 19.12.2012 in Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012 had opined that Case Crime No. 2675 of 2011 and Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012 appear to be in the same sequence of events. He thus submits that the concession given by learned A.G.A. before his Lordship Hon'ble Mr. Justice R.D. Khare at the time of hearing of the present application on 15.12.2016 cannot be said to be contrary to facts on record.

26. Attention of the Court was then invited to order dated 13.7.2017 passed by Sessions Judge, Bareilly, whereby Misc. Case/Transfer Application No.113 of 2017 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and 6 others) filed by Nirmal Singh Garewal was allowed and Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate Court No.2, Bareilly, was directed to transfer Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal) under Sections 456, 427, 143 I.P.C., arising out of Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012 under Sections 307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 426 and 392 I.P.C., P.S.-Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly to the Court of 1st Additional Sessions Judge, Bareilly, to buttress the submission that even the Sessions Judge, Bareilly, while considering the transfer application had opined that where the Magistrate refuses to transfer the cross-case to the Court of Sessions by exercising powers under Section 323 Cr.P.C. then in that eventuality the Sessions Court by taking recourse to Section 408 (1) Cr.P.C. can transfer the cross-case to the Court of Sessions. It is pertinent to mention here that while passing the order dated 13.07.2017, the Sessions Judge, Bareilly, relied upon the earlier order dated 15.12.2016, which is sought to be recalled, passed by His Lordship Hon'ble Mr. Justice R.D. Khare and on the basis of the said order, opined that the transfer application needs to be allowed with a direction to the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate Court No. 2, Bareilly, to transfer the record of Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal) under Sections 307, 436, 392, 380, 504 and 506 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly to the Court of Ist Additional Sessions Judge, Bareilly. On the aforesaid facts, it is thus urged that Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 and S.T. No. 123 of 2016 are cross-cases and therefore, the concession conceded by learned A.G.A. at the time of passing of order dated 15.12.2016 cannot be said to be illegal.

27. Order dated 13.07.2017 was challenged by Nitin Jaiswal by filing Criminal Misc. Application U/S 482 Cr.P.C No. 22262 of 2017 (Nitin Jaiswal Vs. State of U.P. and another), which was dismissed, vide order dated 29.08.2017. For ready reference order dated 29.08.2017 is reproduced herein-below:

" Heard Sri Anoop Trivedi, learned counsel for the applicant, Sri Sikander B. Kocher as well as the learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

By means of the instant 482 petition the applicant has invoked the power of this court under Section 482 Cr.P.C. to quash the order dated 13.7.2017 passed by the learned Sessions Judge, Bareilly in Criminal Misc. Transfer Application No. 113 of 2017 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and others).

The transfer application moved by the respondent no. 2 along with an affidavit with a prayer to transfer the Case No. 1716 of 2016, under Sections 456, 427 and 143 I.P.C., police station Kotwali, district Bareilly from the court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Bareilly to the court of First Additional Sessions Judge, Bareilly where S.T. No. 123 of 2013 (State vs. Nirmal Singh and others), under Sections 307 and 452 I.P.C. is pending.

It is submitted by the learned counsel for the applicant that a first information report was lodged by the applicant against the respondent no. 2 Nirmal Singh Garewal and two others, namely, Jasprit Singh Garewal and Taranpreet Singh Garewal under Sections 452, 307 I.P.C on 21.10.2012 at 6.55 A.M. with respect to the incident dated 21.10.2012 at 6 A.M. In respect of the aforesaid offence the accused/respondents are facing trial in pursuance of the aforesaid first information report lodged by Nitin Jaiswal in S.T. No. 123 of 2013. This court by order dated 21.1.2013 directed the trial court to conclude the trial expeditiously on day to day basis preferably within a period of six months. On account of dilatory tactics played by the opposite party no.2 and his sons the trial has yet not been decided besides four years have elapsed despite this court has passed specific orders in several other 482 petitions filed on behalf of the applicants or by the opposite party no. 2. At a very belated stage, the opposite party no.2 moved an application under Section 309 (1) (a) Cr.P.C. on 29.11.2016 contending therein that a cross case is pending before the court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 2, Bareilly and hence an appropriate order be passed. The said application was rejected by the learned Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 1, Bareilly vide order dated 2.12.2016. Jasprit Singh Garewal filed a 482 petition before this Court, which was numbered as 482 Petition No. 38644 of 2016, which was finally disposed of by another Bench of this Court on 15.12.2016. Pursuant to the order dated 15.12.2016 an application was moved by the opposite party no. 2 to pass appropriate order in the light of the observation made in the said order. The transfer application, which was moved by the opposite party no. 2 was only to delay the trial proceeding before the court of Sessions by the opposite party no. 2 and other when there was a specific order of this court for early disposal of the case within a stipulated period but without considering any aspect of the matter the learned Sessions Judge has proceeded to pass the order impugned by which the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 2, Bareilly has been directed to transmit/transfer the file of Case No. 1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Vs. Nitin Jaiswal) under Sections 456, 427 and 143 I.P.C. forthwith to the court of Additional Sessions Judge, Bareilly. The order passed by the learned Sessions Judge is absolutely without jurisdiction as the learned Sessions Judge is not empowered to transfer the trial, which is cognizable by the court of Magistrate as it is against the provisions of Section 408 Cr.P.C. Section 408 Cr.P.C. do not authorize the District Judge to assign the trial of a case triable exclusively by a court of Magistrate to court of Sessions. The application for transferring the case pending before the Chief Judicial Magistrate to the court of Sessions with regard to an application under Section 309 (1) (a) Cr.P.C. is pending in the court of Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 2 Bareilly hence the application moved under Section 408 Cr.P.C. by the opposite party no. 2 before the District Judge, Bareilly is not maintainable on the ground that an application filed by the opposite party no. 2 under Section 323 Cr.P.C. in case No. 1716 of 2016 in the court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 2, Bareilly was rejected by the court concerned by an order dated 19.11.2016. The said order has attained finality and thus the order under challenge passed by the District Judge exercising power under Section 408 Cr.P.C. for transferring the trial of Case No. 1716 of 2016 from the court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 2, Bareilly to the court of District & Sessions Judge, Barielly is per se without jurisdiction, arbitrary unreasonable and illegal, which is in gross contravention of the provision of Section 209 Cr.P.C. It is further contended that the sessions court gets jurisdiction to deal with the matter only after the case is instituted upon by police or otherwise is committed by the court of Magistrate. When the power conferred under Section 209 or under Section 323 is exercised only then the provisions of Chapter XVIII would be applicable to such cases. The order passed by the court below is also in contravention of the various orders passed by this court to conclude the trial on day to day basis within two months, which was passed in Criminal Misc. Application No. 20143 of 2015, thus the opposite party no. 2 is somehow trying to elongate the proceeding in which the opposite party no. 2 along with two others are the accused persons and the trial is at the fag end thus by moving the transfer application the opposite party no. 2 has somehow obtained favourable order by the impugned order whereby it has been directed to transfer the case which is pending before the concerned Magistrate to the court of Additional Sessions Judge, Bareilly, which is unsustainable in the eye of law, hence liable to be rejected by this Court.

Learned counsel appearing on behalf of the opposite party no.2 has submitted that in respect of the incident which had taken place on 21.10.2012 the first information report was lodged against the opposite party no. 2 Nirmal Singh Garewal and his two brothers under Sections 452 and 307 I.P.C. as case Crime No. 2568 of 2012 on the same day the opposite party no. 2 also went for lodging the first information report but the same was not lodged by the police, then an application was moved under Section 156 (3) Cr.P.C. on 22.10.2012 pursuant to which a first information report was lodged by the police against the applicant and five others under Sections 307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 436 and 392 I.P.C. as case Crime No. 2675 of 2012. The matter was investigated by the Investigating Officer and a final report was filed on 19.12.2012 and after further investigation the police again submitted the second final report on 16.8.2013. The matter was again sent further investigation and the police reiterated the final report and then the opposite party no.2 filed a protest petition before the court below and the court below proceeded to pass the order on 8.2.2016 rejecting the final report and treated the protest petition as complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016. After the statements of the complainant and witnesses were recorded under Sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C. the applicant and others were summoned by the learned Magistrate by order dated 5.9.2016 under Sections 143, 456, 427 I.P.C. in complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016. The applicant did not appear before the court despite having full knowledge of summoning order with the sole intention that the case against the opposite party no. 2 may proceed and the cross version of complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 may remain kept pending. Pursuant to the order of this court it was directed to proceed with the case on day to day basis and trial be concluded if possible within two months. Since the applicant and others had already been summoned in complaint case the application under Section 323 Cr.P.C. was filed before the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate for committing the case to the court of sessions where S.T. No. 123 of 2013 is proceeding so that both the cases be heard and decided in accordance with law. It is settled law as held by the Hon'ble Apex Court in number of cases that counter or cross cases should be decided by the same court hence the learned Sessions Judge after considering that the date of incident in both the cases is the same, which took place between both the parties on the same date passed the order impugned that both the cases have to be tried by the same court. The learned District Judge has committed no error in allowing the application moved by the opposite party no. 2 exercising power under Section 408 (2) Cr.P.C. directing the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 2, Bareilly to transmit the record of Case No. 1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal) under Sections 456, 427 and 143 I.P.C to the court of Ist Additional District & Sessions Judge, Bareilly. By challenging the order passed by the learned District Judge the applicant himself is trying to elongate the proceeding when the order passed by the learned Sessions Judge was well within its jurisdiction. The cases cited by the learned counsel for the applicant is not applicable in the present facts and circumstances of the case. There is no infirmity in the order passed by the court below, hence the petition may be dismissed with special costs as fraud and perjury has been committed by the applicant while filing the instant application for which an application has already been moved under Section 340 and 195 Cr.P.C. for initiating proceedings to take cognizance for the fraud played by the applicant upon the court of law which should not be ignored.

I have considered the submissions of the learned counsel for the parties. From the perusal of the record it is not disputed that both the sides have lodged cases against each other in respect of the incident of the same date. The first information report, which was lodged by the applicant the trial has been proceeded against the opposite party no. 2 and other persons. The first information report in respect of the incident of the same date could not be lodged on behalf of the opposite party no. 2 against the applicant and others and on account of repeated submissions of final report the protest petition was filed by the opposite party no. 2 and on the basis of the statement of the complainant and witnesses under Sections 200 and 202 Cr.P.C the learned Magistrate treating the protest petition as a complaint proceeded to pass order summoning the applicant and other persons to face trial. It is an admitted fact that there is cross case which should be heard and decided by the same court. In view of the law laid down by the Hon'ble Apex Court in Nathi Lal and others reported in 1990 SCC Criminal 638 that the counter cases should be tried in quick succession by the same judge by the same court who should not pronounce the judgment till the hearing of both the cases is finished. After recording of evidence in one case is completed the trial judge must hear the argument and reserve the judgment and thereafter he must proceed to hear the cross case and after recording of the evidence he must hear the argument and reserve the judgment and thereafter dispose of the matter by two separate judgments. In other words case must be decided on the basis of the evidence, which has been placed on record in that particular case without being influenced in any manner by the evidence or arguments urged in the cross case. In Sudhir and others Vs. State of M.P.

reported in A.I.R. 2001 SC 826 while relying upon the aforesaid decision in (Natthi Lal) supra the Hon'ble Apex Court has exhaustively dealt with the case and counter case relating to the same incident and even one of those cases involves offence not exclusively triable by Sessions Court, could be tried in the manner indicated in Natthi Lal's case. The practical reason in adopting the procedure that such cross cases shall be tried by the same court has been summarized thus;

(I) It staves off the danger of an accused being convicted before his whole case is before the court;

(ii) It deters conflicting judgments being delivered upon similar facts; and (iii) In reality the case and the counter case are to all intents and purposes different or conflicting versions of one incident.

The Hon'ble Apex Court has further observed that from the aforesaid decisions it is crystal clear that in a situation where one of the two cases relating to the same incident is charge sheeted, involves offence or offences exclusively triable by a court of Sessions, but none of the offences involved in other case is exclusively triable by the court of Sessions, the Magistrate before whom the former case reaches has no escape from committing the case to the Sessions Court as provided in Section 209 of the Code. Once the said case is committed to the court of Sessions court, thereafter it is governed by the provisions subsumed in Chapter XVIII of the Code. Though the cross case cannot be committed in accordance with Section 209 of the Code, the Magistrate has nevertheless power to commit the case to the Court of Sessions, albeit none of the offences involved therein is exclusively triable by the Sessions Court. Section 323 is incorporated in the Code to meet similar cases also. The Sessions Judge has to exercise discretion regarding the cases, which he has to continue for trial in his court and the case, which has to be summoned from the court of Chief Judicial Magistrate.

When earlier 482 petition was filed by the respondents there was clear observations that there are two cross cases for which the direction was given for re-consideration of the matter. The present impugned order has been passed, which has been challenged by means of the instant petition under Section 482 Cr.P.C. The learned Sessions judge is fully empowered to withdraw any case at any time before the trial of the case from one court to another court in his session division. The trial in both the cases must be decided by the same judge one after the other. This court does not find any illegality or perversity in the impugned order which was passed against the applicant and six others but the applicant alone has challenged the order on flimsy ground installing the entire proceeding which is pending against the applicant and others as complaint case.

In view of the above prolix and verbose discussion, the petition lacks any merit and is accordingly dismissed.

The learned court below is directed to proceed with the police case and the cross case instituted by the complainant by way of complaint and decide the trial in both the matter in the light of the direction given herein above. It is further directed that the learned court blow will accord priority to the cross case and dispose of both the cases expeditiously"

28. Against order dated 29.08.2017, Special Leave to Appeal (Crl.) No. 8152 of 2017 was filed by Nitin Jaiswal before the Apex Court, which was decided finally, vide order dated 06.11.2017. For ready reference order dated 06.11.2017 is reproduced herein-below:

"In the peculiar facts of this case, we are not inclined to entertain the present petition as the order of consolidation of two cases is substantially correct. However, we leave the question open as to whether the Additional Sessions Judge had the power to order consolidation of the cases under Section 408 of the Cr.P.C., even when we find that the Additional Sessions Judge did not have the power to do so.

We are also conscious of the fact that insofar as the case filed by the petitioner is concerned, it has already reached the advanced stage of final arguments. In these circumstances, we would impress the Trial Court to have expeditious trial of the case which is filed by the respondent, possibly within one year.

The Special Leave Petition is disposed of.

Pending applications(s), if any, stands disposed of accordingly."

29. It is thus urged by Mr. Sikandar B. Kochar, learned counsel for applicant that in view of order dated 06.11.2017 passed by Apex Court, this Court cannot sit in appeal over order dated 06.11.2017 and consequently, recall application filed by opposite party no.2 is liable to be rejected.

30. In continuation of his opposition to the recall application, it was then submitted by Mr. Sikandar B. Kochar, learned counsel for the applicant that His Lordship Hon'ble Mr. Justice B.K. Narayan passed interim order dated 17.4.2014 in Criminal Misc. Application No. 11932 of 2014. For ready reference, order dated 17.04.2014 is reproduced herein below:

"Heard learned counsel for the applicant and learned A.G.A. for the State and perused the record.

Notice on behalf of the opposite party no. 1 has been accepted by learned AGA. He prays for and is allowed six weeks' time to file counter affidavit.

Issue notice to opposite party no. 2, who may also file counter affidavit within the same period.

Rejoinder affidavit may be filed within two weeks thereafter.

List after expiry of the aforesaid period.

It is contended that this is cross case. In the case registered against the opposite party no. 2 at the behest of the applicant final report has been submitted against which he has preferred a protest petition which is pending before the concerned Magistrate, while the instant case in which the applicant is an accused is proceeding. He further submitted that that the investigation in the matter was done by the I.O. in an extremely unfair manner with the object of conferring undue benefit on the opposite party no. 2, who is under the influence of opposite party no. 2 and accordingly further investigation is required.

Considering the submissions made by learned counsel for the applicants, it is directed that till the next date of listing, the proceedings of the Sessions Trial no. 123 of 2013, Case Crime no. 2568 of 2012, State Vs. Nirmal Singh Garewal and others, under sections 452, 307 IPC, P.S. Kotwali, District Bareilly may go on but the judgement will not be pronounced."

31. The aforesaid Criminal Misc. Application was filed with a prayer that further proceedings of Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. State of U.P. and another) under sections 452, 307 IPC pending in the Court of Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Bareilly be stayed, with a further prayer that direction for further investigation of the Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012 under sections 452, 307 IPC, P.S. Kotwali Sadar, District Bareilly by the C.B.I or any other investigating agency be passed. Feeling aggrieved by interim order dated 17.04.2014, opposite party no.2 therein namely Nitin Jaiswal filed a recall application, which was registered as Criminal Misc. Recall Application No.172452 of 2014. This recall application came to be allowed, vide order dated 23.12.2014 passed by Hon'ble Mr. Justice B. K. Narayana. For ready reference order dated 23.12.2014 is reproduced herein below:

"This application has been moved on behalf of the opposite party no. 2, Nitin Jaiswal with the prayer to recall the interim order dated 17.4.2014 passed by this Court in the present case. The recall application is supported by a counter affidavit sworn by Sri Nitin Jaiswal, opposite party no. 2.

Rejoinder affidavit and supplementary affidavits which have been filed by Sri Sikandar B. Kochar on behalf of the applicant today are kept on record.

Learned counsel for the opposite party no. 2 submitted that the applicant Nirmal Singh Garewal, who is facing trial for the offences punishable under Sections-452 and 307 IPC in S. T. No. 123 of 2013 has obtained an ex parte interim order in his favour from this Court on 17.4.2014 in this case by suppressing material facts including the earlier orders passed by this Court in different proceedings arising out of the same session trial. He further submitted that this Court while rejecting the first bail application being Criminal Misc. Bail Application No. 364 of 2013 filed by the applicant by order dated 21.1.2013, copy whereof has been filed as Annexure-CA, had directed the trial court to conclude the trial expeditiously on day to day basis preferably within a period of six months from the date of receiving of the copy of the order of this Court. He also drew the attention of this Court to the order dated 25.7.2013 passed by this Court in Criminal Misc. Bail Application No. 17956 of 2013, copy whereof has been filed as Annexure CA 3 to the counter affidavit, by which the applicant was enlarged on bail by this Court with a specific direction to the trial court to decide the case expeditiously.

Sri Anoop Trivedi, learned counsel for the opposite party no. 2 next referred to the order of this Court dated 21.5.2013 passed in Criminal Misc. Application (U/s 482 Cr. P. C.) No. 16535 of 2013; Nirmal Singh Garewal Versus State of U. P. and another, copy whereof has been filed as Annexure CA 2, by which this Court rejected the aforesaid application filed by the applicant against the order dated 27.4.2013 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 1, Bareilly in Session Trial No. 123 of 2013, under Sections-452, 307/34 IPC, P. S.-Kotwali, district-Bareilly whereby application moved by the applicant before him for conducting spot inspection was rejected as well as the order dated 9.4.2014 passed by this Court whereby three applications under Section-482 Cr. P. C. nos. 3811 and 6775 of 2014 preferred by the applicant and 6095 of 2014 preferred by the complainant-opposite party no. 2 before this Court were finally disposed of with a direction to the trial court not only to proceed with the trial expeditiously but also to proceed with the trial irrespective of the pendency of any application or petition before this Court except where specific order of stay has been granted by this Court (Annexure 5 to the affidavit accompanying recall application). This Court while deciding the aforesaid applications had issued several directions to the trial court for concluding the trial expeditiously on day to day basis.

Advancing his submissions further, Sri Trivedi urged that in case abovenoted orders were brought to the notice of this Court by the applicant, he may not have succeeded in obtaining any ex parte interim order in his favour from this Court.

He lastly submitted that the applicant having failed to approach this Court with clean hands and succeeded in obtaining an ex parte interim order in his favour without disclosing the entire facts and circumstances of the case and the details of previous cases filed by him before this Court and the orders passed therein, the order dated 17.4.2014 is liable to be recalled.

Per contra, Sri Sikandar B. Kochar, learned counsel for the applicant vehemently submitted that the prayer made by the applicant in this application is founded upon allegations which have no connection with the earlier proceedings initiated before this Court by the applicant and the opposite party no. 2 and the orders passed by this Court therein and even if the litigative history between the parties was disclosed by the applicant, the same would not have made any difference to the merit of the present case. He next submitted that there is cross version of the incident also which was registered as Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012, under Sections-307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 436 and 392 IPC at P. S.-Kotwali, sub-district-Sadar, district-Bareilly against the informant in the present case and several other persons.

Learned counsel for the applicant also submitted that initially after registration of Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012 against the applicant and his two sons in pursuance of the first information report lodged by the opposite party no. 2, the matter was investigated by the S. S. I. Brahmanand of P. S.-Kotwali, district-Bareilly. The investigation was later transferred to Prashant Kumar who is hand in glove with the opposite party no. 2. The aforesaid Prashant Kumar made some interpolations in the parcha prepared by S. I. Brahmanand, the earlier I. O. Strangely, the investigation of the cross case was also entrusted to him and who without making proper investigation submitted final report in the cross case against which the protest petition filed by the applicant is still pending. He next submitted that in view of the settled legal position on the issue that the cross cases should be decided together, in case the session trial in which the applicant is an accused is decided separately, the same will result in failure of justice. He also submitted that the applicant has disclosed each and every material fact necessary to enable this Court to decide whether the applicant is entitled to the prayer made by him in this application or not. There being no suppression of any material fact by the applicant, this recall application deserves to be rejected.

After having considered the submissions made by learned counsel for the parties and perused the material on record, I find that there is no dispute about the fact that a cross version of the incident which has been registered as Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012, under Sections-307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 436 and 392 IPC, P. S.-Kotwali, sub-district-Sadar, district-Bareilly in which final report has been submitted and against which protest petition has been filed by the applicant is pending. There is no quarrel about the settled legal position that where there are cross cases, the same should be decided together. It is equally true that prior to moving this application, the applicant had approached this Court twice for being enlarged on bail by means of Criminal Misc. Bail Application Nos. 364 of 2013 and 17956 of 2013. He had further invoked the inherent jurisdiction of this Court by means of filing Criminal Misc. Application (Under Section 482 Cr. P. C.) Nos. 16535 of 2013, 3811 and 6775 of 2014. The aforesaid cases were disposed of by this Court with directions.

Thus, in view of the above, it transpires that the applicant has failed to disclose in this application the details of the cases filed by him before this Court earlier and the orders passed therein and although in the strict sense it cannot be said that had the aforesaid facts been disclosed in this application, this Court would not have passed any interim order in favour of the applicant but nevertheless the Court cannot ignore the fact that the applicant had failed to disclose in this application the details of the earlier cases filed by him before this Court and orders passed by this Court therein which have now been brought to the notice of this Court by the opposite party by moving the present recall application.

For the aforesaid reasons, this recall application is allowed. The order dated 17.4.2014 passed by this Court in this case is hereby recalled.

List this application before the appropriate Court on 19.1.2015."

32. Mr. Sikandar B. Kochar, learned counsel for accused-applicant invited the attention of the Court to the 3rd paragraph at internal page no.3 of the order dated 23.12.2014 (which has been highlighted by me) to submit that Hon'ble Court has been pleased to observe that cross version of the incident has been registered as Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012 under Sections 307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 436 and 392 I.P.C. P.S.-Kotwali, District Bareilly.

33. On the basis of aforesaid recital contained in order dated 23.12.2014, it is urged by Mr. Sikandar B. Kochar, learned counsel for accused-applicant that this Court, vide order dated 23.12.2014 had already opined that the two cases between the parties are cross cases. As such order dated 15.12.2016, whereby this Court held that the two cases are cross-cases on the basis of concession conceded by learned A.G.A. cannot be faulted with. Furthermore, in view of order dated 23.12.2014 referred to above, there is no room before this Court to sit in appeal over that order or direction or to proceed with the matter in compliance of earlier interim order dated 03.08.2018 passed in Criminal Misc. Application U/S 482 Cr.P.C. No.25681 of 2018 (Nitin Jaiswal Vs. State of U.P. and another). It may be mentioned here that aforesaid Criminal Misc. Application has subsequently been dismissed as not pressed vide order 02.08.2019 passed by this Court.

34. Then reliance was placed upon order dated 16.7.2013 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 1, Bareilly, in S.T. No. 123 of 2013 (State Vs. Nirmal Singh Garewal and others) under Sections 452, 307 I.P.C. P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out of Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012 under Sections 452, 307 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, whereby objection raised by one of the parties that Case Crime No. 2658 of 2012 and Case Crime No. 2657 of 2012 arise out of same incident and therefore the record of cross-case i.e Case Crime No. 2657 of 2012 may be summoned and further P.W. 4, Prashant Kumar, Sub Inspector, who had investigated both the cases may be cross-examined to ascertain the aforesaid issue. The Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 1, Bareilly, vide order dated 16.07.2013 directed that the record of Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012 may be summoned. This order dated 16.7.2013 was challenged by Mr. Nitin Jaiswal by means of Criminal Misc. Application No. 23954 of 2013 (Nitin Jaiswal Vs. State of U.P. and others). Aforesaid Criminal Misc. Application ultimately came to be dismissed at that stage of proceedings, vide order dated 16.10.2014. For ready reference order dated 16.10.2014 is reproduced herein-below:

" Heard learned counsel for the applicant and learned A. G. A. for the State as well as Sri Sikandar B. Kochar, learned counsel for the opposite party No. 2.

The applicant by means of this application under Section 482 Cr. P. C. has invoked the inherent jurisdiction of this Court with the prayer to quash the order dated 16.7.2013 passed by the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 1, Bareilly in Sessions Trial No. 123 of 2013 by which he has allowed the application 68-Kha moved on behalf of the accused before him with a prayer for summoning the Case Diary of cross case No. 2675 of 2012, P. S.-Kotwali, district-Bareilly and the photostat copies of the other related documents from the Court of C. J. M., Bareilly and S. I. S., Bareilly as witness, has been allowed.

After having heard the submissions made by learned counsel for the parties and perused the impugned order as well as the other materials brought on record, I do not find any reason to interfere with the impugned order at this stage.

Accordingly, this application is dismissed at this stage."

35. On the aforesaid factual premise, submission urged by learned counsel for original applicant is that recall application filed by opposite party No. 2 is thus barred by section 362 Cr. P. C., as in the garb of recall this Court cannot review order dated 12.12.2016.

36. Mr. Sikandar B. Kochar learned counsel for the applicant has relied upon the following judgements to extend legal support to his submissions:

A. Smt. Suraj Devi Vs. Pyare Lal, 1981 SCC (Cri) 188.

B. Mohd. Zakir Vs. Sabana and others 2018 (15) SCC 316

C. Atul Shukla Vs. The State of Madhya Pradesh and another 2019 (6) SCJ 246.

D. Shivpoojan Upadhyay and another Vs. State of U.P. and another 2019 (3) ALJ 407

37. On the basis of submissions urged by counsel for parties, following questions arise for determination in this recall application:

I. Whether Complaint Case No.1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and others) under Sections 307, 436, 392, 380, 504 and 506 I.P.C., P.S.

Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out of Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012, under Sections 307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 426 and 392 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly and S.T. No. 123 of 2013 (State Vs. Nirmal Singh Garewal and others) under Sections 452 and 307 I.P.C. P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out of Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012 under Sections 452, 307 I.P.C. P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly are cross-cases.

II. Whether the ex-parte order dated 15.12.2016 passed by this Court in exercise of its jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. has caused serious prejudice to opposite party no.2, Nitin Jaiswal and can be recalled at the behest of opposite party no.2, who admittedly was not heard at the time of passing of order dated 15.12.2016.

III. Whether the bar of Section 362 Cr.P.C. will come into play regarding recall of ex-parte order dated 15.12.2016.

IV. Whether in view of the orders dated 29.08.2017, 31.01.2018 and 15.12.2016 passed by Apex Court, this Court has jurisdiction to entertain the recall application filed by opposite party no.2, Nitin Jaiswal.

38. Mr. Anoop Trivedi, learned Senior Counsel appearing on behalf of opposite party no.2 has tried to persuade the Court that Complaint Case No.1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and others) under Sections 307, 436, 392, 380, 504 and 506 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out of Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012 under Sections 307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 426 and 392 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly and S.T. No. 123 of 2013 (State Vs. Nirmal Singh Garewal and others) under Sections 452 and 307 I.P.C. P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out of Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012 under Sections 452, 307 I.P.C. P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly are not cross-cases. He further submits that in case a parallel is drawn between the two F.I.Rs. or the Two Case Crime numbers, following distinctions are clearly evident. The F.I.R. dated 25.11.2012 registered as Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012 under sections 307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 426, 392 IPC, lodged by Nirmal Singh Garewal is in respect of an incident, which took place on 21.10.2012 at 3 a.m. and the place of occurrence has been shown as 126A, Civil Lines, situate in Southern direction and at a distance of 3 Kms. from Police Station Kotwali Sadar, District Bareilly. However, F.I.R. dated 21.10.2012 registered as Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012 under sections 452, 307 IPC contains a recital that the incident took place on 21.10. 2012 at 6 a.m. at 126 Civil Lines, situate at a distance of 2 km. and in the Southern direction from Police Station Kotwali Sadar, District Bareilly.

39. Mr. Sikandar B. Kochar, learned counsel for applicant on the other hand submits that this question as to whether complaint case and Sessions Trial are cross-cases or not is no more open to consideration and the same stands concluded by the observations made by Investigating Officer as well as the observations made by courts below and also by this Court. Detailing his argument, he submits that the Investigating Officer while submitting the final report dated 19.12.2012 in Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012 under Sections 307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 426 and 392 I.P.C., PS-Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, has opined that Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012 and Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012 appear to be in the same sequence of events.

40. Then attention of the Court was invited to order dated 13.07.2017 passed by Sessions Judge, Bareilly, allowing the transfer application filed by Nirmal Singh Garewal and directing the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court no.2, Bareilly to transfer Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal) under Sections 307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 426 and 392 I.P.C., PS-Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out of Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012, under Sections 307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 426 and 392 I.P.C., PS-Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly to the Court of Additional Sessions Judge, Bareilly on the ground that Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 is cross-version of S.T. No. 123 of 2013.

41. Reference was also made to order dated 17.04.2017 passed by His Lordship Hon'ble Mr. Justice B. K. Narayana in Criminal Misc. Recall Application No. 172452 of 2014 in Criminal Misc. Application U/S 482 Cr.P.C. No. 11932 of 2014 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. State of U.P. and another) wherein the following recital is contained:

"After having considered the submissions made by learned counsel for the parties and perused the material on record, I find that there is no dispute about the fact that a cross version of the incident which has been registered as Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012, under Sections-307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 436 and 392 IPC, P. S.-Kotwali, sub-district-Sadar, district-Bareilly in which final report has been submitted and against which protest petition has been filed by the applicant is pending. There is no quarrel about the settled legal position that where there are cross cases, the same should be decided together. It is equally true that prior to moving this application, the applicant had approached this Court twice for being enlarged on bail by means of Criminal Misc. Bail Application Nos. 364 of 2013 and 17956 of 2013. He had further invoked the inherent jurisdiction of this Court by means of filing Criminal Misc. Application (Under Section 482 Cr. P. C.) Nos. 16535 of 2013, 3811 and 6775 of 2014. The aforesaid cases were disposed of by this Court with directions"

42. On the strength of the aforesaid recita,l it is contended by Mr. Sikandar B. Kochar learned counsel for applicant that this Court, vide order dated 23.12.2014 has already opined that the two cases between parties are cross-cases and therefore, there is no room before this Court to sit in appeal over order dated 23.12.2014.

43. Attention of the Court was further invited to order dated 16.07.2013 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Bareilly, in S.T. 123 of 2013, whereby objection raised by one of the parties that Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012 and Case Crime No. 2657 of 2012, arise out of the same incident and therefore, record of cross-case i.e. Case Crime No. 2657 of 2012 may be summoned and further P.W.-4 Prashant Kumar, Sub-Inspector who had investigated both the cases may be cross-examined to ascertain the aforesaid issue was allowed. This order dated 16.07.2013 was challenged by Nitin Jaiswal by means of Criminal Misc. Application No. 23954 of 2013 (Nitin Jaiswal Vs. State of U.P. and others), which came to be dismissed, vide order dated 16.10.2016. Therefore, it is now not open to judge whether the two cases are cross-cases or not.

44. Contradicting the submissions urged by Mr. Sikandar B. Kochar, learned counsel for applicant, Mr. Anoop Trivedi, learned Senior Counsel appearing for opposite party no.2 has submitted that when the two FIRs. giving rise to Case Crime No. 2657 of 2012 and 2658 of 2012 are examined together, it is explicit that they relate to different incidents which have taken place at different points of time and at different places. Case Crime No. 2657 of 2012 has come into existence pursuant to the F.I.R. dated 25.11.2012, wherein the date and time of occurrence has been mentioned as 21.10.2012 at 3 a.m. and the place of occurrence has been shown as 126A, Civil Lines, situate in Southern direction and at a distance of 3 Kms. from Police Station Kotwali Sadar, District Bareilly. Similarly Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012 has come into existence pursuant to the F.I.R. dated 21.10.2012 wherein the date and time of occurrence has been mentioned as 21.10. 2012 at 6 a.m. and the place of occurrence has been shown to be as 126 Civil Lines, situate at a distance of 2 Kms. and in the Southern direction from Police Station Kotwali Sadar, District Bareilly. He thus contends that in view of the aforesaid facts explicit on the record, the opinion of Investigating Officer, who had investigated Case Crime Nos. 2657 of 2012 and 2568 of 2012 are cross-cases as they arise out of same sequence of events, cannot be relied upon to conclude that the two cases are cross-cases

45. In continuation of his submissions, learned Senior Counsel further submits that reliance placed upon by counsel for applicant on the order dated 13.07.2017 passed by Sessions Judge, Bareilly allowing Criminal Misc. Case/Transfer Application No. 113 of 2017 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and six others), is wholly misconceived. The order dated 13.07.2017 was passed by the Sessions Judge as the order dated 15.12.2016 passed by this Court against which the present recall application has been filed was still in operation. Secondly, vide order dated 15.12.2016, the Additional Sessions Judge, Bareilly, was directed to re-examine the matter in the light of observations made in the order dated 15.12.2016 itself. Furthermore, as the concerned Magistrate failed to commit Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and others) to the Court of Sessions by exercising powers under Section 323 Cr.P.C., then Sessions Judge by exercising powers under Sections 408(1) Cr.P.C. transferred the complaint case to the Court of Sessions. However, he further points out that Sessions Judge, Bareilly, vide order dated 13.07.2017 only transferred Complaint Case No.1716 of 2013 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and others) under Sections 307, 436, 392, 380, 504 and 506 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareily, District-Bareilly and did not connect the same with S.T. No. 123 of 2013 (State Vs. Nirmal Singh Garewal and others) under Sections 452 and 307 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly being cross-cases. On the aforesaid premise, it is thus urged that order dated 13.07.2017 passed by Sessions Judge, Bareilly, does not decide the issue whether Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012 and Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012 are cross-cases or not. As the order dated 15.12.2016 passed by this Court observing therein that the Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and others) under Sections 307, 436,392,380,504,506 I.P.C. P.S.-Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out of Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012, under Sections 307, 436, 392, 380, 504, 506 I.P.C. P.S.-Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly and S.T. 123 of 2013 (State Vs. Nirmal Singh Garewal and others) under Sections 452 and 307 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out of Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012 under Sections 452 and 307 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly are cross-cases, the transfer application was allowed by the Sessions Judge, Bareilly. The submission urged is that Sessions Judge, Bareilly, while passing the order dated 13.07.2017 has not adjudicated upon the issue as to whether the two cases referred to above are cross-cases or not, but has followed the order dated 15.12.2016 passed by this Court and allowed the transfer application.

46. It is then contended that observations made by His Lordship Hon'ble Mr. Justice B. K. Narayana in order dated 17.04.2014 are of no relevance as the same were made at the time of deciding Criminal Misc. Recall Application filed by applicant no.2 herein Nitin Jaiswal, seeking recall of interim order dated 17.04.2014. Criminal Misc. Application No. 11932 of 2014, wherein recall application No. 172452 of 2014 was filed for recall of interim order dated 17.04.2014 has itself been dismissed as not pressed, vide order dated 02.08.2019. On the aforesaid facts, learned Senior Counsel submits that it is well settled that any observation made at the time of deciding interlocutory application will merge with the final order and secondly, if the petition is ultimately dismissed, the same shall amount that no interim order was passed. As such, no benefit can be derived from the observations contained in order dated 02.08.2019.

47. In addition to the aforesaid submissions, learned Senior Counsel appearing for opposite party no.2 further submits that vide order dated 16.07.2013 passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Bareilly, in S.T. 123 of 2013 (State Vs. Nirmal Singh Garewal and others) under Sections 452 and 307 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, summoned record of Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and others) under Sections 307, 436, 392, 380, 504 and 506 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out of Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012 under Sections 307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 426 and 392 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly and also the Investigating Officer, namely P.W.-4, Prashant Kumar Sub-Inspector, who had investigated both the Case Crime Nos. to ascertain whether Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012 and 2657 of 2012 are cross-cases or not. The order dated 16.07.2017 does not decide the issue as to whether the aforesaid two cases are cross-cases or not but only a step was taken by Court below to adjudicate this controversy. Therefore, the dismissal of Criminal Misc. Application No. 23954 of 2013 (Nitin Jaiswal Vs. State of U.P. and another) which was filed challenging the order dated 16.07.2013 will not amount to res-judicata. Secondly, the order dated 16.10.2016 was passed at that stage of proceedings. Learned Senior Counsel further submits that up to this stage, no order has been passed by any of the Courts below adjudicating that the two cases are cross-cases. Consequently, it is urged that Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and others) under Sections 307, 436, 392, 380, 504, 506 I.P.C. P.S.-Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out of Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012 under Sections 307, 436, 392, 380, 504, 506 I.P.C. P.S.-Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly and S.T. 123 of 2013 (State Vs. Nirmal Singh Garewal and others) under Sections 452 and 307 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out of Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012, under Sections 452 and 307 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, are not cross-cases, but relate to different incidents which occurred at different places and at different points of time. Consequently, the concession granted by the learned A.G.A. on 15.12.2016 before His Lordship Hon'ble Mr. Justice R.D. Khare is contrary to the record.

48. I have considered the rival submissions raised by counsel for the parties. From what has been noted herein-above, it is established that up till date, no adjudication has been made by any of the Courts below that Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012 and Case Crime No. 2658 of 2012 are cross cases. Whatever orders have been passed by Courts below are either in furtherance of exercise to adjudicate the said issue or it has been passed in compliance of order dated 15.12.2016, passed by this Court, whereby on the basis of concession given by learned A.G.A. , it has been held that the two cases are cross-cases. The High Court has independently not examined the issue in any proceeding. The observation contained in the order dated 23.12.2014 passed by Hon'ble Mr. Justice B. K. Narayana in Criminal Misc. Recall Application No. 172452 of 2014 in Criminal Misc. Application U/S 482 Cr.P.C. No. 11932 of 2014 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. State of U.P. and another) that the two cases are cross-cases cannot be taken as a concluded fact. It is well established that any observation made during the pendency of the proceedings will ultimately merge with the final order. It is also equally true that when a petition is dismissed it means as if no interim order was passed. However, irrespective of the aforesaid Criminal Misc. Application No. 11932 of 2014 has itself been dismissed as not pressed. Consequently, the effect of the same is that no final adjudication was made by His Lordship, Hon'ble Mr. Justice B. K. Narayana. As such, question No.1 is answered in negative that two case crime numbers, as stated above, are not cross cases, but as submitted by learned Senior Counsel appearing for opposite party No. 2 that they relate to different incidents which occurred at different places and at different points of time.

49. Question nos. 2 and 3 are inter-related and inter linked, therefore, decided together.

50. Mr. Anoop Trivedi, learned Senior Counsel appearing for opposite party No.2 has strenuously urged that Criminal Misc. Application No. 25681 of 2018 was filed on 13.12.2016 and was disposed of finally on 15.12.2016. Admittedly, the complainant Nitin Jaiswal was impleaded as opposite party No.2 in the aforesaid criminal misc. application, but no notice was issued to him. Furthermore, without affording any opportunity of hearing to the opposite party No.2, order dated 15.12.2016 was passed. As a corollary to the aforesaid, it is also urged by learned Senior Counsel that order dated 15.12.2016 passed by this Court has caused serious prejudice to the opposite party No. 2 as in spite of fact that two cases i.e. Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and others) under Sections 307, 436, 392, 380, 504 and 506 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out of Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012, under Sections 307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 426 and 392 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly and Sessions Trial No.123 of 2013 (State Vs. Nirmal Singh Garewal and others) under Sections 452 and 307 I.P.C. P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out of Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012 under Sections 452, 307 I.P.C. P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly are not cross cases, they have been directed to be decided together. S.T. No. 123 of 2013 (State Vs. Nirmal Singh Garewal and Others) is at an advanced stage inasmuch as evidence has been recorded and trial is at the stage of defence evidence as provided under Section 313 Cr.P.C.

51. It is also urged that the accused somehow or the other want to throttle the proceedings of Sessions Trial. Detailing his arguments, learned Senior Counsel submits that in furtherance of aforesaid objective, the accused had raised an objection by filing application (Paper No. 68 Ka) before the Court below that Case Crime No. 2658 of 2012 and Case Crime No. 2657 of 2012 arise out of same incident and therefore the record of cross-case i.e. Case Crime No. 2657 of 2012 may be summoned and further P.W.-4, Prashant Kumar, Sub-Inspector, who had investigated both the cases may be cross-examined to ascertain the aforesaid issue. The said objection was allowed, vide order dated 16.07.2013. Order dated 16.07.2013 came to be challenged by Nitin Jaiswal, the opposite party no.2 herein by filing Criminal Misc. Application No. 23954 of 2013 (Nitin Jaiswal Vs. State of U.P. and another) ultimately came to be dismissed, vide order dated 16.10.2014. As the accused could not derive any benefit from order dated 16.07.2013, they thereafter filed an application in terms of Section 309 Cr.P.C. (Paper No. 309 Kha) which was rejected by Court below vide order dated 02.12.2016.

52. Mr. Sikandar B. Kochar learned counsel for applicant vehemently contends that in view of the bar contained in Section 362 Cr.P.C. order dated 15.12.2016 passed by this Court cannot be recalled.

53. Mr. Anoop Trivedi, learned Senior Counsel has tried to impress upon the Court that irrespective of the bar contained in Section 362 Cr.P.C. this Court has power to recall an order passed ex-parte at the behest of a person who is a party to the proceedings, but was not heard at the time of passing of the order sought to be recalled.

54. Reliance is placed upon the judgement of the Apex Court in the case of Vishnu Agarwal Vs. State of U.P. and another reported in 2011 (14) SCC 813 to contend that an ex-parte order can be recalled and in such a situation, bar of Section 362 Cr.P.C. does not come into play. Reference was made to paragraphs 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7, which are reproduced herein-below:

"2.It appears that the aforesaid Criminal Revision was listed in the High Court on 2.9.2003. No one appeared on behalf of the Revisionist, though the Counsels for respondents appeared. In these circumstances, the judgment was passed. Subsequently, an application was moved for recall of the Order dated 2.9.2003 alleging that the case was shown in the computer list and not in the main list of the High Court, and hence, the learned Counsel for the Revisionist had not noted the case and hence he did not appear.

3. It often happens that sometimes a case is not noted by the Counsel or his clerk in the cause list, and hence, the Counsel does not appear. This is a human mistake and can happen to anyone. Hence, the High Court recalled the order dated 2.9.2003 and directed the case to be listed for fresh hearing. The aforesaid order recalling the order dated 2.9.2003 has been challenged before us in this appeal.

5.Learned Counsel for the appellant Mr. Manoj Swarup submitted that in view of the aforesaid decision, the High Court erred in law in recalling the Order dated 2.9.2003. We regret we cannot agree.

6. In our opinion, Section 362 cannot be considered in a rigid and over technical manner to defeat the ends of justice. As Brahaspati has observed :

"Kevalam Shastram Ashritya Na Kartavyo Vinirnayah Yuktiheeney Vichare tu Dharmahaani Prajayate" which means:

"The Court should not give its decision based only on the letter of the law. For if the decision is wholly unreasonable, injustice will follow."

7. Apart from the above, we are of the opinion that the application filed by the respondent was an application for recall of the Order dated 2.9.2003 and not for review. In Asit Kumar Vs. State of West Bengal and Ors. 2009(1) SCR 469, this Court made a distinction between recall and review which is as under:-

"There is a distinction between ..... a review petition and a recall petition. While in a review petition, the Court considers on merits whether there is an error apparent on the face of the record, in a recall petition the Court does not go into the merits but simply recalls an order which was passed without giving an opportunity of hearing to an affected party. We are treating this petition under Article 32 as a recall petition because the order passed in the decision in All Bengal Licensees Association Vs. Raghabendra Singth & Ors. [2007(11) SCC 374] cancelling certain licences was passed without giving opportunity of hearing to the persons who had been granted licences."

55. On the strength of the aforesaid observations made by Apex Court as noted above it is urged that the application filed by opposite party no.2 which is registered as Criminal Misc. Recall Application No. 4345 of 2017 is not a review application but an application for recall of order dated 15.12.2016 passed by this Court ex-parte against opposite party no.2, which has caused serious prejudice to opposite party no.2. As such the order dated 15.12.2016 is liable to be recalled.

56. Reference was then made to a single judge judgement of this Court in Jawahar Lal @ Jawahar Lal Jalaj Vs. State of U.P. reported in 2015 (91) ACC 128, wherein a learned Single Judge has considered the question regarding recall of a final order and the bar of Section 362 Cr.P.C. Reference was made to paragraphs 6, 10, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 27,

28, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, which are reproduced herein-under

6. The main question for consideration is that whether a petition under section 482 Cr.P.C., which has been dismissed for want of prosecution can be restored to its original number or not and whether the prohibition as provided by Section 362 Cr.P.C. will apply or not?

10. Learned counsel for the petitioner has emphasized the word "secure the ends of justice".

13. In Asit Kumar Kar vs. State of West Bengal and others; (2009) 1 SCC (Cri) 851, Hon'ble the Supreme Court has held as under :

"There is a distinction between a petition under Article 32, a review petition and a recall petition. While in a review petition the Court considers on merits where there is an error apparent on the face of the record, in a recall petition the Court does not go into the merits but simply recalls an order which was passed without giving an opportunity of hearing to an affected party.

We are treating this petition under Article 32 as a recall petition because the order passed in the decision in All Bengal Licensees Association v. Raghabendra Singh & Ors. [2007 (11) SCC 374] cancelling certain licences was passed without giving opportunity of hearing to the persons who had been granted licences.

14. In these circumstances, we recall the directions in paragraph 40 of the aforesaid judgment. However, if anybody has a grievance against the grant of licences or in the policy of the State Government, he will be at liberty to challenge it in appropriate proceedings before the appropriate Court. The writ petitions are disposed of with these directions."

In Ram Naresh Yadav and others vs. State of Bihar; 1987 CRI.L.J. 1856 & AIR 1987 SCC 1500, Hon'ble the Apex Court has held as under :

"It is an admitted position that neither the appellants nor counsel for the appellants in support of the appeal challenging the order of conviction and sentence, were heard. It is no doubt true that if counsel do not appear when criminal appeals are called out it would hamper the working of the court and create a serious problem for the court. And if this happens often the working of the court would become well nigh impossible. We are fully conscious of this dimension of the matter but in criminal matters the convicts must be heard before their matters are decided on merits. The court can dismiss the appeal for non-prosecution and enforce discipline or refer the matter to the Bar Council with this end in view. But the matter can be disposed of on merits only after hearing the appellant or his counsel. The court might as well appoint a counsel at State cost to argue on behalf of the appellants. Since the order of conviction and sentence in the present matter has been confirmed without hearing either the appellants or counsel for the appellants, the order must be set aside and the matter must be sent back to the High Court for passing an appropriate order in accordance with law after hearing the appellants or their counsel and on their failure to engage counsel, after hearing counsel appointed by the Court to argue on their behalf. As the matter is being remanded to the High Court, no orders can be passed on the bail application. The appellants, if so advised, may approach the High Court for bail"

15. In Rafiq and another vs. Munshi Lal and another; AIR 1981 SC 1400, Hon'ble the Apex Court has held as under :

"The disturbing feature of the case is that under our present adversary legal system where the parties generally appear through their advocates, the obligation of the parties is to select his advocate, brief him, pay the fees demanded by him and then trust the learned advocate to do the rest of the things. The party may be a villager or may belong to a rural area and may have no knowledge of the court's procedure. After engaging a lawyer, the party may remain supremely confident that the lawyer will look after his interest. At the time of the hearing of the appeal, the personal appearance of the party is not only not required but hardly useful. Therefore, the party having done everything in his power to effectively participate in the proceedings can rest assured that he has neither to go to the High Court to inquire as to what is happening in the High Court with regard to his appeal nor is he to act as a watchdog of the advocate that the latter appears in the matter when it is listed. It is no part of his job. Mr. A.K. Sanghi stated that a practice has grown up in the High Court of Allahabad amongst the lawyers that they remain absent when they do not like a particular Bench. Maybe he is better informed on this matter. Ignorance in this behalf is our bliss. Even if we do not put our seal of imprimatur on the alleged practice by dismissing this matter which may discourage such a tendency, would it not bring justice delivery system into disrepute. What is the fault of the party who having done everything in his power and expected of him would suffer because of the default of his advocate. If we reject this appeal, as Mr. A.K. Sanghi invited us to do, the only one who would suffer would not be the lawyer who did not appear but the party whose interest he represented. The problem that agitates us is whether it is proper that the party should suffer for the inaction, deliberate omission, or misdemeanour of his agent. The answer obviously is in the negative. Maybe that the learned advocate absented himself deliberately or intentionally. We have no material for ascertaining that aspect of the matter. We say nothing more on that aspect of the matter. However, we cannot be a party to an innocent party suffering injustice merely because his chosen advocate defaulted. Therefore, we allow this appeal, set aside the order of the High Court both dismissing the appeal and refusing to recall that order. We direct that the appeal be restored to its original number in the High Court and be disposed of according to law. If there is a stay of dispossession it will continue till the disposal of the matter by the High Court. There remains the question as to who shall pay the costs of the respondent here. As we feel that the party is not responsible because he has done whatever was possible and was in his power to do, the costs amounting to Rs.200/- should be recovered from the advocate who absented himself. The right to execute that order is reserved with the party represented by Mr. A.K.Sanghi."

16. In Raghuvera and others vs. State of U.P.; 1990 CRI.L.J. 2735 (All.), this Hon'ble Court has held as under :

"It is no doubt true that Section 362 Cr. P.C. debars the court from altering or reviewing any final order or judgment given by a court except to correct the clerical or arithmetical error. But the question arises whether an order dismissing an application for revision for default of the counsel as not pressed can be termed as a judgment or final order? The term "Judgment" has not been defined in the Criminal Procedure Code but a judgment means the expression of the opinion of the Court arrived at after due consideration of the entire material on record, including the arguments, if any, advanced at the Bar. A final order or judgment can only be passed in a criminal court when the court applies its mind to the merit of the case. In case the order is passed in a criminal proceeding and the application for revision is dismissed for default as not pressed, the said order cannot be taken as either final order or a judgment. Thus Section 362 Cr. P.C. is no bar to review ore alter the order dated 14th March 1990. The order in question was passed without going into the merit of the case and is without jurisdiction and as such it has to be set aside."

17. In K. G. Keralakumaran Nair vs. State of Kerala and other; 1995 CRI. L. J. 2319, the Kerala High Court has held as under:

"That leads us to the further question whether an appeal or other criminal proceeding dismissed by this Court can be restored to file. The contention is that this Court has no power by virtue of Section 362 of the Code which reads:

"Save as otherwise provided by this Code or by any other law for the time being in force, no Court, when it has signed its judgment or final order disposing of a case, shall alter or review the same except to correct a clerical or arithmetical error."

The Section relates only to judgment or final order disposing of a case. What is a judgment or a final order is not seen defined in the Code But the word 'judgment' is understood to mean an order in a trial terminating in either conviction or acquittal of the accused. It has also been held that judgment means the expression of opinion of the Court arrived at after due consideration of the evidence and all the arguments. Understood in this light, every order under the provisions of the Code cannot be considered to be a judgment within the meaning of Section 353 or coming under the scope of Section 362, of the Code. In short, there must be an investigation of the merits on evidence and after hearing arguments in order to constitute a judgment. In the case of an appeal, such judgment has to be one rendered on merits after hearing counsel for appellant or the appellant, as the case may be, and Public Prosecutor or counsel appearing for respondent.

15. Whether an order dismissing an appeal for default amounts to a judgment or a final order coming within the scope of Section 362 of the Code is the next aspect that requires consideration. The Calcutta High Court in the decision in Bibhuty Mohun Roy v. Dasimoni Dassi (1909) 10 Cri LJ 287, held that in India a Court cannot review or alter its own judgment in a criminal case, but it has jurisdiction to hear and determine a criminal case which has not been heard and determined on the merits. It was further held that where the Court discharged a rule because no one appeared, it has power to re-open it.

16. In Sahadeo v. Jagannath, AIR 1950 Nagpur 77: (1950 (51) Cri LJ 662), the appeal was dismissed for non-filing of a copy of the judgment. It was held that the order rejecting the appeal cannot be held to be an order amounting to a judgment within the meaning of Section 369 of the Code of 1898 and there was no bar to the consideration of the appeal on its merits.

17. The question whether a criminal Court has inherent power to revive a complaint in a warrant case which was dismissed under Section 259 of the Code of 1898 for the absence of the complainant on the date of commencement of the preliminary enquiry came up for consideration in W.T. Singh v. C.A. Singh, AIR 1961 Manipur 34 : (1961 (2) Cri LJ 352). While holding that such dismissal of the complaint or discharge of the accused will not amount to an acquittal within the meaning of Section 403, of the Code, it was observed that such an order of dismissal, is not a judgment within Section 366, and therefore Section 369, would not apply. It is also observed that the absence of any provision on a particular matter in the Code does not mean that the Court has no such power and the Court may act on the principle that every procedure should be understood as permissible till it is shown to be prohibited by law.

18. The Andhra Pradesh High Court has gone to , the extent of holding that there should be no objection to the maintainability of a second petition for revision when the first one had failed not on the merits but by default. In Satyanarayana v. Narayanaswami AIR 1961 Andh. Pra. 18 (1961) (2) Cri LJ 37), it was held that there is no question of the High Court becoming functus officio by reason of an order of dismissal for default passed by it on a petition by a private party, who has really no right but a mere concession in the matter of moving the High Court in revision.

19. The Mysore High Court had occasion to consider whether a revision application dismissed for default can be restored in the decision in Madiah v. State of Mysore, AIR 1963 Mysore 191 : (1963(2) Cri LJ 23). That was a case of a dismissal of a revision by the High Court. It was held that subject , to the provisions contained in the Code, a judgment , delivered or an order passed on merits is final after it is duly signed by Court. The inherent power of a High Court cannot be exercised in matters specifically covered by the provisions of the Code. Where the Code is silent about the power of the High Court in respect of any, matter arising before it, it can pass suitable orders in exercise of its inherent powers to give effect to any order passed under the Code or to prevent the abuse of the process of any Court or to secure the ends of justice. It was held that this power can also be exercised to reconsider orders of dismissal of an appeal or application passed without jurisdiction or in default of appearance, where reconsideration is necessary to secure the ends of justice.

20. The Bombay High Court in the decision in Deepak v. State of Maharashtra 1985 Cri LJ 23, observed that the High Court in exercise of its inherent powers can review or revise its judgment if such judgment is pronounced without giving an opportunity of being heard to a party who is entitled to a hearing and that party is not at fault, the reason being that a party cannot suffer for the mistake of the Court. In that case, the hearing was adjourned to 13th February but the adjourned date was inadvertently marked as 8th February on which date the petitioner and his counsel were absent. The High Court on going through the record passed the order dismissing the petition. It was held that since the petitioner was entitled to a hearing, it could be said that the Court acted without jurisdiction and in violation of the principles of natural justice and in the circumstances the review petition must he allowed.

21. A Division Bench of this Court in Padmachandran v. Radhakrishnan (1984

Ker LT 416), was considering the question whether the inherent powers of this Court under Section 482, can be exercised to restore a revision dismissed for default. In that case, the revision was decided in the absence of the counsel. Request was made for re-hearing the revision. The Division Bench held that the earlier order dismissing the revision was really a disposal for default, counsel for petitioner being absent. For the purpose of securing the ends of justice it was found necessary that the Criminal Revision should be heard afresh,

22. The question whether dismissal of a Criminal Revision petition as not pressed amounts to a final order coming within the scope of Section 362, of the Code arose for consideration before the Allahabad High Court in Raghuvira v. State of U. P. (1990) 3 Crimes 225 : (1990 Cri LJ 2735). If was held that a final order or judgment can only be passed by a criminal Court when the Court applies its mind to the merits of the case. In case the order is passed in a criminal proceeding and the application for revision is dismissed for default as not pressed, the said order cannot be taken as either final order or judgment. It was held that Section 362, of the Code is no bar to review or alter the order of dismissal.

23. The same view was expressed by the Karnataka High Court in Ibrahimsab v. Faridabi (1986) 2 Kant LJ 65. It was held that the expression "final order disposing of the ease" means a considered order on merits and not an order of dismissal for default and the provision contained in Section 362, does not come in the way of the Court recalling such order and restoring the revision dismissed for default. \ The decision in Chandran's case ((1989) 2 Ker LJ 845) (supra) did not also consider the scope of the inherent power of this Court under Section 482, of the Code and power of this Court to dismiss an appeal or any other criminal proceeding in exercise of that power or the power of restoration. Having considered those matters in detail in the light of the pronouncements of the various High Courts. I am of the considered view that this Court has all the inherent powers to make any order to prevent the abuse of the process of Court or for the ends of justice or to enforce discipline by invoking the powers under Section 482, of the Code, Section 386 of the Code notwithstanding. The provision contained in Section 386 cannot therefore have any application to the exclusion of those inherent powers. Viewed from this angle and in the light of the principle laid down in Ram Naresh Yadav's case (1987 Cri LJ 1856) (SC). I hold that this Court has power to dismiss an appeal or any other criminal proceeding for default and this Court has also the power to restore such proceeding on sufficient grounds being shown for non-appearance. But the right of dismissal and the power of restoration can be exercised only by this Court, and that too in exercise of the powers under Section 482 of the Code, and not by any of the Courts subordinate to this Court since those courts have no inherent powers envisaged under Section 482 of the Code.

The point formulated is answered thus:-

i. A Criminal Appeal shall be disposed of only after perusing the record and hearing the appellant or his pleader, if he appears and the Public Prosecutor, if he appears.

ii. A criminal appeal can be decided on merits, only after hearing the appellant or his counsel.

iii. The High Court has powers under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure to dismiss an appeal or revision or any other criminal proceeding for default or non-prosecution.

iv. The High Court has also inherent power to restore any matter dismissed for default or non-prosecution on sufficient reason being shown.

v. The power of dismissal for default and the power of restoration inhere only in the High Court and cannot be exercised by the Courts subordinate to the High Court since they do not possess the inherent powers under Section 482 of the Code.

27. In the present case, the petition has been dismissed for want of prosecution, although opportunity of hearing was given but that opportunity of hearing could not be availed due to sudden illness of the counsel. The inherent power under section 482 Cr.P.C. can be exercised to give effect to any order under Cr.P.C. or to prevent the abuse of the process of any court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice. Certainly, if the application has been dismissed for default, that cannot be termed as 'judgement'.

28. Accordingly, the bar as provided by section 362 Cr. P.C. shall not be applicable. This court has power to dismiss in default any application or writ petition and at the same time has also power to restore such proceedings on sufficient grounds being shown for non-appearance provided it appears to the court that default was not wilful and it was accidental. There are instances, where either legal advise is given or due to shrewd character of the litigant malafide efforts are adopted with a view to delay the proceedings of the case, such tactics are also adopted to get the case dismissed in default and then to move application for restoration and thus, lingering on the proceedings. Certainly, such practice must be carved out and should not be permitted to continue.

30. Therefore, I am of the view that if any petition has been dismissed in default and the application for recall is made, then it will not come within the meaning of words 'alter' or 'review' as expressed in Section 362 of the Code. Accordingly, such orders may be recalled or set aside provided the intention of the parties is bonafide i.e. party who has moved the application for recall or restoration is not unnecessary lingering on the proceedings malafidely or that interim order or stay order, if any, is not being misused.

31. Accordingly, the application for restoration or recall of the order is maintainable and the prohibition of Section 362 Cr.P.C. do not apply in the petitions, which have been dismissed in default without discussing the merits of the case because it do not come within the prohibition of 'alter' or 'review' of judgment, which has entirely a different meaning.

32. In the present case, the petition was dismissed for want of prosecution because the counsel for the petitioner could not appear due to sudden illness for which the learned counsel for the CBI also has raised no objection.

33. Accordingly, the application for recall is allowed.

34. The order dated 29.04.2015 is recalled. The petition is restored to its original number and status."

57. On the strength of aforesaid observations, it is urged that recall application filed by opposite party no.2 seeking recall of ex-parte order dated 15.12.2016 is liable to be recalled.

58. Then attention of the Court was invited to the judgement of Apex Court in

State of Punjab Vs. Devendar Pal Singh Bhullar and others reported in 2011 (14) SCC 770. Reliance was placed upon paragraphs 2, 44, 46 and 47 which are reproduced herein-below:

"2. The Appeals herein raise peculiar substantial questions of law as to whether the High Court can pass an order on an application entertained after final disposal of the criminal appeal or even suo motu particularly, in view of the provisions of Section 362 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 (hereinafter called Cr.P.C.) and as to whether in exercise of its inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. the High Court can ask a particular investigating agency to investigate a case following a particular procedure through an exceptionally unusual method which is not in consonance with the statutory provisions of Cr.P.C.

44. There is no power of review with the Criminal Court after judgment has been rendered. The High Court can alter or review its judgment before it is signed. When an order is passed, it cannot be reviewed. Section 362 Cr.P.C. is based on an acknowledged principle of law that once a matter is finally disposed of by a Court, the said Court in the absence of a specific statutory provision becomes functus officio and is disentitled to entertain a fresh prayer for any relief unless the former order of final disposal is set aside by a Court of competent jurisdiction in a manner prescribed by law. The Court becomes functus officio the moment the order for disposing of a case is signed. Such an order cannot be altered except to the extent of correcting a clerical or arithmetical error. There is also no provision for modification of the judgment. (See: Hari Singh Mann v. Harbhajan Singh Bajwa & Ors., AIR 2001 SC 43; and Chhanni v. State of U.P., AIR 2006 SC 3051).

46. If a judgment has been pronounced without jurisdiction or in violation of principles of natural justice or where the order has been pronounced without giving an opportunity of being heard to a party affected by it or where an order was obtained by abuse of the process of court which would really amount to its being without jurisdiction, inherent powers can be exercised to recall such order for the reason that in such an eventuality the order becomes a nullity and the provisions of Section 362 Cr.P.C. would not operate. In such eventuality, the judgment is manifestly contrary to the audi alteram partem rule of natural justice. The power of recall is different from the power of altering/reviewing the judgment. However, the party seeking recall/alteration has to establish that it was not at fault. (Vide: Chitawan & Ors. v. Mahboob Ilahi, 1970 Crl.L.J. 378; Deepak Thanwardas Balwani v. State of Maharashtra & Anr., 1985 Crl.L.J. 23; Habu v. State of Rajasthan, AIR 1987 Raj. 83 (F.B.); Swarth Mahto & Anr. v. Dharmdeo Narain Singh, AIR 1972 SC 1300; Makkapati Nagaswara Sastri v. S.S. Satyanarayan, AIR 1981 SC 1156; Asit Kumar Kar v. State of West Bengal & Ors., (2009) 2 SCC 703; and Vishnu Agarwal v. State of U.P. & Anr., AIR 2011 SC 1232).

47. This Court by virtue of Article 137 of the Constitution has been invested with an express power to review any judgment in Criminal Law and while no such power has been conferred on the High Court, inherent power of the court cannot be exercised for doing that which is specifically prohibited by the Code itself. (Vide: State Represented by D.S.P., S.B.C.I.D., Chennai v. K.V. Rajendran & Ors., AIR 2009 SC 46."

59. Then reliance was placed upon judgement in Makkapati Nagaswara Sastri Vs. S.S. Satyanarayan reported in 1981 (1) SCC 62, wherein revision was decided by High Court without hearing counsel for respondent. The judgement is a short one and accordingly the whole of it is reproduced herein under:

"This appeal is directed against an order dated March 20, 1973 of the High Court of Andhra Pradesh whereby it accepted a reference made by the Additional Sessions Judge, West Godavari at Elura under Section 435 read with Section 438 of the Code of Criminal Procedure with the recommendation that the order of Additional First Class Magistrate, Elura in Crl MP No. 163 of 1971 refusing to give direction to the respondent to hand over all the records, accounts, properties, cash etc. of Sahakara Parapathi Sangham, Pragadavaram, to the petitioner, be set aside and revised. It appears from the impugned order that no notice of the date of hearing was issued to the respondent or his counsel. A note appears to have been added to the impugned order later which reads as follows:

"It is true that the case has been disposed of without hearing the counsel for the respondent as he could not appear at the time of the hearing because his name was not printed in the cause list. But this is a revision case where the respondent is not entitled to be heard as of right. Having regard to the facts of the case, I do not think any review of the order already passed is necessary."

2.This view taken by the High Court is manifestly contrary to theaudi alteram partemrule of natural justice which was applicable to the proceedings before the High Court. On this short ground we think that the order of the High Court does not deserve to be maintained. Accordingly, we set aside that order and send the case back to the High Court with the direction that it should dispose of Crl R. No. 411 of 1972 within two months from the receipt of a copy of this order, after hearing both the parties.

3.The appeal is disposed of in terms of the above order."

60. Mr. Anoop Trivedi, learned Senior Counsel, submits that in the present case also, the application under section 482 Cr.P.C. filed by accused-applicant, Jaspreet Singh Garewal has been allowed ex-parte without giving any notice or opportunity of hearing to opposite party No.2. Consequently, recall application filed by opposite party No.2 is liable to be allowed so that the matter is heard and decided after affording opportunity of hearing to opposite party No.2, which shall be in compliance of principles of natural justice. Consequently ex-parte order dated 15.12.2016 passed by this Court is liable to be recalled.

61. Attention of the Court was then invited to the Full Bench decision of Rajsthan High Court in Habu Vs. State of Rajsthan reported in AIR 1987 RAJ 83. Referring to paragraphs 1, 38, 39 and 45, it is urged that the power of recall is different from power of altering or reviewing the judgement. In the present case, the opposite party no.2 has filed a recall application seeking recall of order dated 15.12.2016 on the ground that the said order has been passed without affording any notice or opportunity of hearing to opposite party No.2, and order dated 15.12.2016 has caused serious prejudice to opposite party No.2. For ready reference, paragraphs 1, 38, 39 and 45 of full Bench decision are reproduced herein below:-

"1. This larger Bench has been constituted by the orders of the Chief Justice, dt. July 3, 1986, to answer a question referred to larger Bench by our brother Hon'ble G. K. Sharma, J. vide his order of reference, dated May 28, 1986 wherein he has framed the following question :

"Whether the judgment given in absence of the appellant or his counsel but the case decided on merits, can be re-called by the Court in its inherent powers under Section 482, Cr.P.C."

38. There are two views available on the point. According to one view Section 362 Cr. P.C. has been held to be mandatory and puts complete bar and it has been therefore, held that Section 482 Cr. P.C. can also not be invoked for the purposes of reviewing or altering the judgment. The other view is that re-calling is different than reviewing and altering and if the Court is of the opinion that gross injustice has been done, then Section 482 Cr. P.C. should be invoked to re-call the judgment and re-hear the case. !n fact the earlier view has impliedly been done away with by their Lordships of the Supreme Court in Sankatha Singh's case (AIR 1962 SC 1208) (supra). Their Lordships have held that the appellate Court had no power to review or restore an appeal which has been disposed of under Sections 424 and 369 Cr. P.C. (old). Similar was the view taken in State of Orissa v. Ram Chandra, (AIR 1979 SC 87) (supra). Sankatha Singh's case has been referred to in Sooraj Devi's case (AIR 1981 SC 736) (supra) wherein also their Lordships have held that inherent powers cannot be invoked when there is a complete bar. Scope of Section 482 Cr. P.C. was then considered by their Lordships in Manohar Nathu Sao Samarth v. Marot Rao, (AIR 1979 SC 1084) (supra). Thus on one side as mentioned above the principles which have been laid down by their Lordships of the Supreme Court can be summarized as under :--

1. That the powers to deal with the case must flow from the statute,

2. That the powers given under Section 362 Cr. P.C. (S. 369 Cr. P.C. old) given to the Court for reviewing or altering is limited only for correcting an arithmetical or clerical error and specifically prohibits Courts from touching the judgment by taking away the powers altering or reviewing the judgment or the final order and as such principle of functus officio has been accepted.

3. That the prohibition contained in Section 362 Cr. P.C. (Section 369 Cr. P.C. Old) is not only restricted to the trial Court but also extends to appellate Court or the revisional Court.

4. That the inherent powers of the Court cannot be invoked where there is an express prohibition and in other words Section 482 Cr. P.C. cannot be invoked.

39. As against this the analogical deduction which comes out from another set of cases is--

(i) Right of the accused to be heard is his valuable right which cannot be taken away by any provision of law,

(ii) If the accused has not been given an opportunity of being heard or is not provided with the counsel when not duly represented it will be violative of principles of natural justice as well as Article 21 of the Constitution,

(iii) That to provide defence counsel in case the accused is not in a position to engage is fundamental duty of the State and has throughout been recognized and now incorporated in Section 304 Cr. P.C. and in Article 39 A of the Constitution,

(iv) That bar of review or alter is different than the power of re-call,

(v) That inherent powers given under Section 482 Cr. P.C. (Section 561-A Cr. P.C. Old) are wide enough to cover any type of cases if three conditions mentioned therein so warrant, namely--

(a) for the purpose of giving effect to any order passed under the Code of Criminal Procedure;

(b) for the purposes of preventing the abuse of the process of any Court; and

(c) for securing the ends of justice.

(vi) The principle of audi alteram partem shall be violated if right of hearing is taken away,

(vii) That when the judgment is re-called it is a complete obliteration/abrogation of the earlier judgment and the Appeal or the ' Revision, as the case may be, has to be heard and decided afresh, (viii) That a Court subordinate to High Court cannot exercise the inherent powers and the Code restricts it to the High Court alone.

(ix) That no fixed parameters can be fixed and hard and fast rule also cannot be laid down and Court in appropriate cases where it is specified that one of the three conditions of Section 482 Cr. P.C. are attracted should interfere.

45. Their Lordships of the Supreme Court in a case of Bhagwant Singh v. Commr. of Police, AIR 1985 SC 1285 even while giving interpretation to Section 173(2)(ii) Cr. P.C. have laid great emphasis on the right of hearing and held as under :

"in a case where the Magistrate to whom a report is forwarded under Sub-section (2) of Section 173 decides not to take cognizance of the offence and to drop the proceeding or takes the view that there is no sufficient ground for proceeding against some of the persons mentioned in the First Information Report, the Magistrate must give notice to the informant and provide him an opportunity to be heard at the time of consideration of the report."

What we intend to emphasize is that right of hearing is very important right of which no litigant should be deprived. Thus on the consideration of all the cases cited and on the two cases quoted by learned single Judge, we answer the reference as under :

(i) That the power of re-call is different than the power of altering or reviewing the judgment.

(ii) That powers under Section 482 Cr. P.C. can be and should be exercised by this Court for re-calling the judgment in case the hearing is not given to the accused and the case falls within one of the three conditions laid down under Section 482 Cr. P.C."

62. Then reference was made to the Full Bench decision of this Court in the case of Rajnarayan and others Vs. The State of U.P. reported in A.I.R. 1959 ALL 315, in support of proposition that High Court in exercise of its powers under section 482 Cr.P.C. can revoke, review, recall or alter its own decision and rehear the same. The Full Bench is in reference to the provisions of old Cr.P.C. and therefore, the same is not of much help to the counsel for opposite party No.2.

63. On the other hand Mr. Sikandar B. Kochar, learned counsel appearing for applicants has relied upon the judgement of Apex Court in Smt. Suraj Devi Vs.

Pyare Lal, 1981 SCC (Cri) 188, wherein Apex Court has held that High Court cannot review an order passed by it on the criminal side by exercising its inherent powers under section 482 Cr.P.C. because of the bar contained under section 362 Cr.P.C. Following has been observed in paragraphs 4, 5 and 6, which are reproduced herein under:

"4. The sole question before us is whether the High Court was right in refusing to entertain Criminal Miscellaneous Application No. 5127 of 1978 on the ground that it had no power to review its order dated September 1, 1970. Section 362 of the Code of Criminal Procedure declares: "Save as otherwise provided by this Code or by any other law for the time being in force, no court, when it has signed its judgment or final order disposing of a case, shall alter or review the same except to correct a clerical or arithmetical error" It is apparent that what the appellant seeks by the application is not the correction of a clerical or arithmetical error. What she desires is a declaration that the High Court order dated September 1, 1970 does not affect her rights in the house property and that the direction to restore possession to Pyare Lal is confined to that portion only of the house property respecting which the offence of trespass was committed so that she is not evicted from the portion in her possession. The appellant, in fact, asks for an adjudication that the right to possession alleged by her remains unaffected by the order dated September 1, 1970. Pyare Lal disputes that the order is not binding on her and that she is entitled to the right in the property claimed by her. Having considered the matter, we are not satisfied that the controversy can be brought within the description "clerical or arithmetical error". A clerical or arithmetical error is an error occasioned by an accidental slip or omission of the court. It represents that which the court never intended to say. It is an error apparent on the face of the record and does not depend for its discovery on argument or disputation. An arithmetical error is a mistake of calculation, and a clerical error is a mistake in writing or typing. Master Construction Co. (P) Ltd. v. State of Orissa [AIR 1966 SC 1047 : (1966) 3 SCR 99 : (1966) 17 STC 360] .

5. The appellant points out that he invoked the inherent power of the High Court saved by Section 482 of the Code and that notwithstanding the prohibition imposed by Section 362 the High Court had power to grant relief. Now it is well settled that the inherent power of the court cannot be exercised for doing that which is specifically prohibited by the Code (Sankatha Singhv.State of U.P.[AIR 1962 SC 1208 : 1962 Supp 2 SCR 817 : (1962) 2 Cri LJ 288]). It is true that the prohibition in Section 362 against the court altering or reviewing its judgment is subject to what is "otherwise provided by this Court or by any other law for the time being in force". Those words, however, refer to those provisions only where the court has been expressly authorised by the Code or other law to alter or review its judgment. The inherent power of the court is not contemplated by the saving provision contained in Section 362 and, therefore, the attempt to invoke that power can be of no avail.

6. The High Court, in our opinion, is right in declining to entertain the application. The appeal must be dismissed. But we may observe that anything said by the High Court in the criminal proceeding against Kailash

Chandra Jain should not be allowed to influence the judgment of the court in the civil suits mentioned above or in any proceeding arising therefrom."

64. Reference was then made to judgement of Apex Court in Mohd. Zakir Vs. Sabana and others 2018 (15) SCC 316, for proposition that High Court cannot correct an order on merits by virtue of bar contained in section 362 Cr.P.C. Reference is made to paragraph 3 of the judgement, which is as under:

"3. The High Court should not have exercised the power under Section 362 CrPC for a correction on merits. However patently erroneous the earlier order be, it can only be corrected in the process known to law and not under Section 362 CrPC. The whole purpose of Section 362 CrPC is only to correct a clerical or arithmetical error. What the High Court sought to do in the impugned order is not to correct a clerical or arithmetical error; it sought to rehear the matter on merits, since, according to the learned Judge, the earlier order was patently erroneous. That is impermissible under law. Accordingly, we set aside the impugned order dated 28-4-2017."

65. Then reliance was placed upon judgement of Apex Court in Atul Shukla Vs. The State of Madhya Pradesh and another 2019 (6) SCJ 246, wherein correctness of order passed by High Court reviewing its earlier order dated 20.7.2018, was examined. The Apex Court dealt with said issue in following terms:

" .....A petition under Section 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure 1973 was filed by the second respondent for quashing of the FIR. In the meantime, charges are framed on 24 April 2017. On 20 July 2018, the High Court dismissed the petition under Section 482 in the following terms:-

"Considering the circumstances, this petition under Section 482 of Cr.P.C. has no merit. The petitioner may challenge the framing of charge under appropriate provisions.

With the above observation, this petition is dismissed."

After the above order, the second respondent filed another petition under Section 482 in which the following relief was sought:

It is therefore, prayed that this Hon'ble Court may kindly review, recall and modify the order dated 20.07.2018 in the interest of justice."

It is on the second petition that the High Court passed its impugned order dated 20 August 2018 allowing the petition and recalling its earlier order dated 20 July 2018.

The submission which has been urged on behalf of the appellant is that the High Court could not have entertained the subsequent petition under Section 482 for review or, as the case may be, for modification of its earlier order having regard to the specific bar contained in Section 362 of the Cr.P.C. Section 362 provides as follows:

"Section 362: Court not to alter judgement. Save as otherwise provided by this Code or by any other law for the time being in force, no Court, when it has signed its judgement or final order disposing of a case, shall alter or review the same except to correct a clerical or arithmetical error....."

66. Lastly reliance was placed upon a judgement delivered by a single Judge of this Court in Shiv Poojan Upadhyay and another Vs. State of U.P. and another 2019 (3) ALJ 407. In the above case, a recall application was filed by applicant for recall of order dated 4.8.2018 on the ground that he was not heard. The learned Single Judge referred to the judgements in the case of Vishnu Agarwal vs. State of U.P. and Ors, 2011 (14) SCC 813; Asit Kumar Kar Vs. State of West Bengal, 2009 (2) SCC 703; Popular Muthiah Vs. State, 2006 (7) SCC 296 and in Ajay Singh and another Vs. State of Chhattisgarh and another, AIR 2017 SC 310; Hari Prakash Vs. State of U.P., 2014 (84) ACC 45; Mohammad Zakir Vs. Shaband and Ors, 2018 (3) JIC 17; Suraj Devi Vs. Pyare Lal and Ors; 1981 (1) SCC 500; Sankata Singh Vs. state of U.P. , AIR 1962 SC 1208; State through Special Cell, New Delhi vs. Navjot Sandhu @ Afshan Guru & Ors, 2003 (6) SCC 641, and concluded that by virtue of section 362 Cr.P.C., it is not possible to recall the order dated 4.8.2018, merely on the ground that counsel was not present at the time of hearing.

67. Deriving support from aforesaid judgements, Mr. Sikandar B. Kochar, learned counsel for applicant submits that order dated 15.12.2016, passed by this Court is an order deciding the application under section 482 Cr.P.C. on merits. Irrespective of the fact that no notice was issued to opposite party No.2 and also that opposite party No.2 was not heard before passing order dated 15.12.2016, the said order cannot be recalled at the instance of opposite party No.2 as that would amount to review of earlier order dated 15.12.2016. Since there is a specific bar contained in section 362 Cr.P.C. prohibiting review of an order the recall application filed by opposite party No.2 is liable to be rejected.

68. I have perused the judgements relied upon by counsel for parties. It is an undisputed fact that present criminal misc. application was filed on 13.12.2015 in Registry of this Court. The application came up for admission on 15.12.2016 and this Court allowed the application on same day i.e. 15.12.2016. The opposite party No.2 was not represented by any counsel nor notices were issued to opposite party No.2 before finally deciding the application. As such, order dated 15.12.2016 is ex-parte against opposite party No.2. Rule of audi alterem partem requires that opportunity of hearing should be afforded before an order is passed on judicial side. The aforesaid view has also been reiterated by Apex Court in the case of Makkapati Nagaswara Sastri (Supra). The order dated 2.12.2016 impugned in the application was in favour of opposite party No.2 and therefore, the said order could not have been set aside without hearing opposite party No.2. Consequently, prayer for recall made by opposite party No.2 for recall of order dated 15.12.2016 on aforesaid grounds is perfectly just and legal. The Apex Court in case of Vishnu Agarwal (Supra) and judgement of learned Single Judge in Jawahar Lal (Supra) have reiterated that there is difference between recall and review. By seeking recall of order dated 15.12.2016, opposite party No.2 is not seeking review of order dated 15.12.2016 and therefore bar contained in section 362 Cr.P.C. will not come in way. Consequently, I am of the considered opinion that order dated 15.12.2016, is liable to be recalled at the behest of opposite party No.2, who admittedly was not afforded any notice or opportunity of hearing before order dated 15.12.2016 was passed.

69. Now I come to the last question involved in this recall application i.e. whether in view of orders dated 29.8.2017, 31.1.2018 and 15.12.2016, passed by Apex Court, this Court has jurisdiction to entertain recall application filed by opposite party No.2 seeking recall of earlier order dated 15.12.2016.

70. During pendency of S.T. No. 113 of 2017 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and six others) under Sections 452 and 307 I.P.C. P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out of Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012, under Sections 452, 307 I.P.C. P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, Misc. Case/Transfer Application No. 113 of 2017 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and six others) was filed seeking transfer of Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and others) under Sections 307, 436, 392, 380, 504 and 506 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out of Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012 under Sections 307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 426 and 392 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly to the Court of Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Bareilly. The aforesaid transfer application was filed on the ground that Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and others) and S.T. No. 113 of 2017 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and six others) are cross-cases and therefore Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal) under Sections 456, 427, 143 I.P.C., arising out of Case Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012, under Sections 307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 426 and 392 I.P.C. P.S.-Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, be transferred to the Court of 1st Additional Sessions Judge, Bareilly. It is pertinent to mention here that when the aforesaid transfer application was filed, order dated 15.12.2016, passed by this Court in Criminal Misc. Application No. 38644 of 2016 (Jaspreet Singh Garewal Vs. State of U.P. and another) was already operative. This Court, vide order dated 15.12.2016, set aside order dated 02.12.2016 passed by Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Bareilly, whereby application filed under Sections 309 Cr.P.C. was rejected and directed the Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Bareilly, to reconsider the matter as above mentioned cases are cross-cases. Admittedly, no decision was taken by the Magistrate concerned before whom Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and others) under Sections 307, 436, 392, 380, 504 and 506 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out of Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012 under Sections 307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 426 and 392 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, was pending to transfer the same to the court of Sessions being cross-cases. The Magistrate did not exercise his powers in terms of section 323 Cr.P.C. The High Court, vide order dated 15.12.2016 had remanded the matter to Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Bareilly, to decide the matter afresh. Section 408 (1) Cr.P.C. provides that power of transfer can be exercised only by Sessions Judge. It is in the aforesaid circumstances that transfer application was filed and was allowed vide order dated 13.7.2017. The Sessions Judge, Bareilly, only transferred Complaint Case to the Court of Additional Sessions Judge, but did not consolidate the two cases. Order dated 13.7.2017 was challenged before this Court by way of Criminal Misc. Application U/s 482 No. 22262 of 2017 (Nitin Jaiswal Vs. State of U.P. and another) which was came to be dismissed, vide order dated 29.8.2017. This order has been quoted in Paragraph 27 of this judgement. This order dated 29.8.2017 was challenged before Apex Court by way of Special Leave Petition to Appeal (Crl.) No. 8152 of 2017 and was decided finally vide order dated 6.11.2017. The same is reproduced herein-under:-

"In the peculiar facts of this case, we are not inclined to entertain the present petition as the order of consolidation of two cases is substantially correct. However, we leave the question open as to whether the Additional Sessions Judge had the power to order consolidation of the cases under Section 408 of the Cr.P.C., even when we find that the Additional Sessions Judge did not have the power to do so.

We are also conscious of the fact that insofar as the case filed by the petitioner is concerned, it has already reached the advanced stage of final arguments. In these circumstances, we would impress the Trial Court to have expeditious trial of the case which is filed by the respondent, possibly within one year.

The Special Leave Petition is disposed of.

Pending applications(s), if any, stands disposed of accordingly."

71. Subsequently, against order dated 29.8.2017, a review petition was filed, which came to be dismissed vide order dated 31.1.2018. Order dated 31.01.2018 is reproduced herein-under:-

" The instant review petition is filed against the order dated 06.11.2017 whereby the aforementioned special leave petition was disposed of.

We have carefully gone through the review petition and the connected papers. We find no error much less apparent in the order impugned. The review petition is, accordingly, dismissed."

72. Against interim order dated 3.8.2018, passed in Criminal Misc. Application No. 25681 of 2018 (Nitin Jaiswal Vs. State of U.P. and another), Special Leave to Appeal (Criminal) No. 16536 of 2019 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. State of U.P. and another) was filed, which was decided finally, vide order dated 10.5.2019. It is pertinent to mention here that at the time of consideration of S.L.P No. 16536 of 2019 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. State of U.P. and another), reference was also made to order dated 6.11.2017, passed by Apex Court. For ready reference, it may be mentioned that order dated 10.05.2019 has already been quoted in paragraph 12 of this judgement.

73. On the aforesaid factual premise, Mr. Sikandar B. Kochar, learned counsel for applicant submits that once order dated 13.7.2017, passed by Sessions Judge, Bareilly, transferring Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and others) under Sections 307, 436, 392, 380, 504 and 506 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out of Case Crime No. 2675 of 2012 under Sections 307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 426 and 392 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, to the Court of Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Bareilly, where S.T. No. 113 of 2017 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and six others) under Sections 452 and 307 I.P.C. P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out of Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012 under Sections 452, 307 I.P.C. P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, was pending, has been upheld upto Apex Court, this Court cannot adjudicate the said issue.

74. In reply it is submitted by Mr. Anoop Trivedi, learned Senior Counsel that this Court while deciding Bail Application No. 17956 of 2013 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. State of U.P) vide order dated 25.7.2013, directed trial Court to expeditiously decide the S.T. No. 123 of 2013 (State Vs. Nirmal Singh Garewal and others), under Sections 452 and 307 I.P.C., P.S.-Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, arising out of Case Crime No. 2568 of 2012, under sections 452, 307 IPC, P.S. Kotwali, District Bareilly.

75. It is then submitted that as no progress was being made in aforesaid Sessions Trial as proceedings were being prolonged by filing applications by accused, three criminal misc. applications under section 482 Cr.P.C. came to be filed before this Court. Application U/s 482 No. 3811 of 2014 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. State of U.P. and Another) was filed challenging the order dated 18.1.2014, whereby trial court summoned the witnesses and documents other than those mentioned in the charge sheet; Application U/s 482 No. 6775 of 2014 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. State of U.P. and Another) was filed challenging order dated 18.1.2014, whereby Court below declined prayer made by accused for furnishing copies of statements of witnesses to them. Application U/s 482 No. 6095 of 2014 (Nitin Jaiswal Vs. State of U.P. and Another) was filed by complainant for expeditious disposal of case. All the above mentioned criminal misc. applications came to be decided vide order dated 9.4.2014. Criminal Misc. Application No. 3811 of 2014 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. State of U.P. and Another) and Criminal Misc. Application No. 6775 of 2014 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. State of U.P. and Another) were dismissed, whereas Criminal Misc. Application No. 6095 of 2014 (Nitin Jaiswal Vs. State of U.P. and Another) was disposed of with a direction to proceed with trial expeditiously irrespective of pendency of any application or petition before this Court except where specific order of stay has been passed.

76. Then reference was made to the order dated 23.7.2015 as corrected, vide order dated 7.8.2015 passed by this Court in Criminal Misc. Application No. 20143 of 2015, whereby directions were issued to conclude the trial within a period of two months. The orders dated 23.07.2015 and 07.08.2015 have been quoted in paragraph 4 of present judgement.

77. Lastly, reference was made to last fourth paragraph of order dated 24.10.2016, passed in Criminal Misc. Application No. 27370 of 2016 (Nitin Jaiswal Vs. State of U.P. and Others) and Criminal Misc. Application No. 27511 of 2016 (Taranpreet Garewal @ Dimpal Vs. State of U.P. and Another). Criminal Misc. Application No. 27370 of 2016 (Nitin Jaiswal Vs. State of U.P. and Others) was allowed with further direction to trial Court to proceed with trial on day to day basis and conclude same, within two months from date of production of certified copy of order. Criminal Misc. Application No. 27511 of 2016 (Taranpreet Garewal @ Dimpal Vs. State of U.P. and Another) was dismissed. The order dated 24.10.2016 is already quoted above in paragraph 13 of this judgement. He, therefore, submits that in view of facts as noted herein above and also findings recorded in the order dated 2.12.2016, passed by Additional Sessions Judge, Court No. 1, Bareilly, rejecting the application under section 309 Cr.P.C. filed by accused, it is explicit that the trial is at an advanced stage. Evidence has been recorded and now only the accused have to give their defence testimony as provided under Section 313 Cr.P.C. The order dated 15.12.2016 runs counter to the orders referred to above. However, it may be noticed that Sessions Judge, Bareilly transferred Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal) under Sections 456, 427, 143 I.P.C., arising out of Case Case Crime No.2675 of 2012 under Sections 307, 452, 427, 504, 506, 380, 426 and 392 I.P.C. P.S.-Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly to the Court of 1st Additional Sessions Judge, Bareilly, but did not consolidate the two being cross-cases as is explicit from the recital contained in the order 06.11.2017 passed by the Apex Court. There is nothing on record to show that the two cases were consolidated to be tried together by Sessions Judge, Bareilly while exercising his power under Section 408 Cr.P.C.

78. Both the counsels have referred to judgement of Apex Court in Khoday Distilers Ltd. (Now known as Khoday India Limited and others) Vs. Sri Mahadeshwara Sahakara Sakkare Karkhane Ltd. Kollegal (Under Liquidation) Represented by the Liquidator reported in 2019 (4) SCC 376, in support of their respective contentions as to whether order dated 15.12.2016 can or cannot be recalled in view of subsequent orders passed by Apex Court. Reliance is placed upon paragraph 27, which is as under:-

27) From a cumulative reading of the various judgments, we sum up the legal position as under:

(a) The conclusions rendered by the three Judge Bench of this Court in Kunhayammed and summed up in paragraph 44 are affirmed and reiterated.

(b) We reiterate the conclusions relevant for these cases as under:

"(iv) An order refusing special leave to appeal may be a non-speaking order or a speaking one. In either case it does not attract the doctrine of merger. An order refusing special leave to appeal does not stand substituted in place of the order under challenge. All that it means is that the Court was not inclined to exercise its discretion so as to allow the appeal being filed.

(v) If the order refusing leave to appeal is a speaking order, i.e., gives reasons for refusing the grant of leave, then the order has two implications. Firstly, the statement of law contained in the order is a declaration of law by the Supreme Court within the meaning of Article 141 of the Constitution. Secondly, other than the declaration of law, whatever is stated in the order are the findings recorded by the Supreme Court which would bind the parties thereto and also the court, tribunal or authority in any proceedings subsequent thereto by way of judicial discipline, the Supreme Court being the Apex Court of the country. But, this does not amount to saying that the order of the court, tribunal or authority below has stood merged in the order of the Supreme Court rejecting the special leave petition or that the order of the Supreme Court is the only order binding as res judicata in subsequent proceedings between the parties.

(vi) Once leave to appeal has been granted and appellate jurisdiction of Supreme Court has been invoked the order passed in appeal would attract the doctrine of merger; the order may be of reversal, modification or merely affirmation.

(vii) On an appeal having been preferred or a petition seeking leave to appeal having been converted into an appeal before the Supreme Court the jurisdiction of High Court to entertain a review petition is lost thereafter as provided by sub-rule (1) of Rule 1 of Order 47 CPC."

(c) Once we hold that law laid down in Kunhayammed is to be followed, it will not make any difference whether the review petition was filed before the filing of special leave petition or was filed after the dismissal of special leave petition. Such a situation is covered in para 37 of Kunhayammed case.

79. The case in hand is covered by conclusion no.4 contained in Paragraph 27 of the judement. Consequently, the principle of merger will not apply. As such, I am of the view that there is no legal impediment in recalling the order dated 15.12.2016.

80. There is an another aspect of the matter. This Court, vide order dated 23.07.2015, quoted in paragraph 4 of this judgement had directed that trial should be concluded within a period of six months preferably on day to day basis. Subsequent to the order dated 23.07.2015 accused filed an application under Section 311 Cr.P.C. which came to be rejected vide order dated 27.08.2016. At this stage Criminal Misc. Application U/S482 Cr.P.C. No. 27370 of 2016 (Nitin Jaiswal Vs. State of U.P. and another) for issuing appropriate direction to the trial court to conclude the trial of Sessions Trial No. 123 of 2013 (State of U.P. Vs. Nirmal Singh Garewal and others) and Criminal Misc. Application No. 27511 of 2016 (Taran Preet Garewal @ Dimpal Vs. State of U.P. and another) came to be filed before this Court. The same was decided vide order dated 24.10.2016. Reference may be made to the last four paragraphs of order dated 24.10.2016, which reads as under:

"It is clear from the material on record that the accused persons including bailed out accused Nirmal Singh Garewal, an advocate are committing abuse of process of court by moving one frivolous application or the other and approaching this Court every now and then by filing one frivolous application or the other under Section 482 Cr.P.C. or under Section 397/401 Cr.P.C. or even transfer application. In the circumstances, it is necessary to observe that the bailed out accused Nirmal Singh Garewal, who is also an Advocate, with co-accused persons, his sons, is making misuse of his professional degree. The conduct of accused persons indicates that they have no respect for the Courts as well as orders passed by Court. The law relied on behalf of opposite party Sri Nirmal Singh Garewal has no application to the facts of the case.

In view of the facts and circumstances brought before this Court through application No.27370 of 2016 and in view of the earlier orders dated 25.07.2013, 09.04.2014, 23.07.2015 and 07.08.2015 of this Court directing expeditious disposal of the trial in time bound period, the application No.27370 of 2016 is liable to be allowed with further direction to trial court for expeditious disposal of the trial by proceeding from day to day and if possible within two months from the date of submission of copy of this order before this Court without granting any unnecessary adjournment to the accused-persons.

However, if the trial Court finds that the opposite party Nirmal Singh Grewal or his sons the co-accused persons are continuing to follow the same delaying tactics by moving frivolous applications, the same shall be disposed of expeditiously in accordance with law by appropriate orders, including order for imposition of special costs on accused-persons if so required. If the trial is not concluded within a period of 2 months due to misconduct of accused persons, it will be deemed that opposite party Nirmal Singh Grewal is making misuse of liberty of bail and on being approached, this Court shall be compelled to curtail the liberty so granted and cancel the bail granted to him vide order dated 25.07.2013.

Accordingly, application No.27370 of 2016 is allowed with the directions to the trial court for expeditious disposal of trial within two moths form the date of production of copy of order before it and application No.27511 of 2016 is dismissed with costs.

81. After order dated 24.10.2016 was passed, the accused filed an application under Section 309 Cr.P.C. dated 29.11.2016 before Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Bareilly, in S.T. No. 123 of 2013 (State of U.P. Vs. Nirmal Singh Garewal and others) under Sections 452 and 307 I.P.C. P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, for transfer of Complaint Case No. 1716 of 2016 (Nirmal Singh Garewal Vs. Nitin Jaiswal and others) under Sections 307, 436, 392, 380, 504 and 506 I.P.C., P.S. Kotwali Bareilly, District-Bareilly, pending in the Court of Judicial Magistrate Ist, Bareilly and the same be tried alongwith above mentioned Sessions Trial.

82. This application under Section 309 Cr.P.C. came to be rejected by 1st Additional Sessions Judge, Court No.1, Bareilly, vide order dated 02.12.2016 against which Criminal Misc. Application U/S 482 Cr.P.C No. 38644 of 2016 was filed, in which order dated 15.12.2016 was passed.

83. From perusal of record of Criminal Misc. Application No. 38644 of 2016, the Court finds that there is no reference of the orders dated 25.07.2013, 09.04.2014 and 07.08.2015 passed by this Court nor copies of same have been appended alongwith the present application. The application under Section 309 Cr.P.C. has been filed much after aforesaid orders have been passed.

84. For the facts as noted herein above and also the reasons recorded, the present recall application is liable to succeed. Accordingly, the same is allowed. Order dated 15.12.2016 passed by this Court is hereby recalled. The application shall now stand restored. The same shall be listed for hearing on merits.

A. Indian Penal Code, 1860 – Section 420, 504 and 506 and Cr.P.C., 1973 - Section 482 - Summoning Order- Passed on basis of reiteration of the occurrence by complainant in his statement recorded under Section 200 Cr.P.C. and by two witnesses of complainant, examined under Section 202 of Cr.P.C – Case instituted as a counterblast –is to be seen by trial Court at the time of appreciation of evidence - In the exercise of its inherent powers under section 482 of the Cr.Pc., High Court cannot analyze factual evidence. (Para 5,6,8 & 9)

Present complaint is of offence of deception, resulting in forgery punishable under Section 420 I.P.C. wherein Rs. 2 lacs was taken with an assurance for getting job at Railway to son of complainant but job was neither given nor money was returned back, for which persistent demand was being made by complainant and protest was being lodged, as a result of this , assault with abuse and a criminal intimidation was made by accused persons, when complainant and his family members were at their home. This occurrence was reiterated by complainant in his statement recorded under Section 200 Cr.P.C and by two witnesses of complainant, examined under Section 202 of Cr.P.C.

Previous incident or report of same or pendency of criminal trial, is of no concern with present occurrence, it may be a motive or basis of difference by either side, which is to be seen by trial Court in appreciation of evidence at the time of appreciation and judicial decision making.

This Court is not to analyse the factual evidence in exercise of inherent power under Section 482 of Cr.P.C..

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ram Krishna Gautam, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the applicant and learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. The present 482 Cr.P.C. application has been filed by Raju Lawaniya against State of U.P. and Mahesh Chand with a prayer for quashing summoning order and entire criminal proceeding of Complaint Case No. 5904 of 2017, (Mahesh Chand Vs. Raju Lawaniya), under Sections 420, 504, 506 I.P.C., Police Station Tajganj, District

Agra, pending before the Court of Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate-IIIrd, Agra, District Agra.

3. Learned counsel for the applicant argued that accused applicant is innocent. He has been falsely implicated in this very complaint case because of his registration of a case of theft of his motorcycle, which was recovered from the possession of son of Mahesh Chand, for which charge-sheet has been filed and no relief from this Court was granted to him. This occurrence was of year 2014 and with a view to influence above criminal case, this counterblast is by complainant, wherein no offence was made out, on the basis of evidence produced before the Magistrate, even then summoning order was passed, hence, this application with above prayer.

4. Learned AGA has vehemently opposed the present proceeding.

5. Having heard learned counsels for both sides and gone through the impugned summoning order, it is apparent that the present complaint is of offence of deception, resulting forgery punishable under Section 420 I.P.C. wherein Rs. 2 lacs was taken with an assurance for getting job at Railway to son of complainant but this job was neither given nor money was returned back, for which persistent demand was being made by complainant and protest was being lodged, as a result of this on 25.6.2017, assault with abuse and a criminal intimidation was made by accused persons, when complainant and his family members were at their home. This occurrence was reiterated by complainant in his statement recorded under Section 200 Cr.P.C. This has further been reiterated by two witnesses of complainant, examined under Section 202 of Cr.P.C and trial Court, on the basis of those testimony, has passed impugned summoning order dated 5.2.2019 regarding Raju Lawaniya for offence punishable under Sections 420, 504, 506 I.P.C.

6. Previous incident or report of same or pendency of criminal trial, is of no concern with present occurrence, it may be a motive or basis of difference by either side, which is to be seen by trial Court in appreciation of evidence at the time of appreciation and judicial decision making. Regarding present occurrence, there is testimony of complainant and his two witnesses on the basis of which this summoning order has been passed.

7. Section 482 of Cr.P.C. is quoted as under:-

"Saving of inherent power of High Court, as given under Section 482 Cr.P.C, provides that nothing in this Code shall be deemed to limit or affect the inherent powers of the High Court to make such orders as may be necessary to give effect to any order under this Code, or to prevent abuse of the process of any Court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice. Meaning thereby this inherent power is with High Court (I) to make such order as may be necessary to give effect to any other order under this Code (II) to prevent abuse of the process of any Court (III) or otherwise to secure the ends of justice. But Apex Court in State of Andhra Pradesh v. Gaurishetty Mahesh, JT 2010 (6) SC 588: (2010) 6 SCALE 767: 2010 Cr. LJ 3844 has propounded that "While exercising jurisdiction under section 482 of the Code, the High Court would not ordinarily embark upon an enquiry whether the evidence in question is reliable or not or whether on a reasonable apprehension of it accusation would not be sustained. That is the function of the trial Judge/Court". In another subsequent Hamida v. Rashid, (2008) 1 SCC 474*, hon'ble Apex Court propounded that "Ends of justice would be better served if valuable time of the Court is spent in hearing those appeals rather than entertaining petitions under Section 482 at an interlocutory stage which after filed with some oblique motive in order to circumvent the prescribed procedure, or to delay the trial which enable to win over the witness or may disinterested in giving evidence, ultimately resulting in miscarriage of Justice". In again another subsequent Monica Kumar v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2008) 8 SCC 781, the Apex Court has propounded "Inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 has to be exercised sparingly, carefully and with caution and only when such exercise is justified by the tests specifically laid down in the section itself." While interpreting this jurisdiction of High Court Apex Court in Popular* Muthiah v. State, Represented by Inspector of Police, (2006) 7 SCC 296 has propounded "High Court can exercise jurisdiction suo motu in the interest of justice. It can do so while exercising other jurisdictions such as appellate or revisional jurisdiction. No formal application for invoking inherent jurisdiction is necessary. Inherent jurisdiction can be exercised in respect of substantive as well as procedural matters. It can as well be exercised in respect of incidental or supplemental power irrespective of nature of proceedings".

Regarding prevention of abuse of process of Court, Apex Court in Dhanlakshmi v. R.Prasana Kumar, (1990) Cr LJ 320 (DB): AIR 1990 SC 494 has propounded "To prevent abuse of the process of the Court, High Court in exercise of its inherent powers under section 482 could quash the proceedings but there would be justification for interference only when the complaint did not disclose any offence or was frivolous vexatious or oppressive" as well as in State of Bihar v. Murad Ali Khan, (1989) Cr LJ 1005: AIR 1989 SC 1, Apex Court propounded "In exercising jurisdiction under Section 482 High Court would not embark upon an enquiry whether the allegations in the complaint are likely to be established by evidence or not".

8. Hence, this Court is not to analyze the factual evidence in exercise of inherent power under Section 482 of Cr.P.C. Hence, this proceeding merits its dismissal.

9. The present application stands dismissed, accordingly.

The summoning order is for offences punishable under Section 323, 452, 504 and 506 I.P.C., wherein both side have entered in compromise and complainant does not want to proceed with her complaint, hence, this case is within the purview of law laid down by Apex Court. Accordingly, for the end of justice, application is allowed and proceedings of Complaint Case pending in the court below are dismissed.

Application u/s 482 Cr.P.C. allowed (E-3)

Case law relied upon/discussed: -

1. Gian Singh Vs St. of Punj. & anr. 2012 Law Suit (SC) 623

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ram Krishna Gautam, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the applicants and learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. The present 482 Cr.P.C. application has been filed to quash the summoning order dated 25.1.2012 as well as the entire proceedings of Complaint Case No. 3785 of 2015, (Usha Devi Vs. Akhtar Ali and others), under Sections- 323, 452, 504 and 506 I.P.C., Police Station- Mehndawal, District- Sant Kabir Nagar, pending in the Court of Civil Judge (Senior Division)/A.C.J.M., Sant Kabir Nagar.

3. Learned counsel for the applicants submits that it was a dispute between both side which led filing of complaint against accused Akhtar Ali, Sukurunnisha alias Sakurunnisha, Rizwana Khatoon, Sabana Khatoon, Gulsana Khatoon, Parma Devi and Nirja Devi wherein complainant Smt. Usha Devi was examined under Section 200 of Cr.P.C. and her witnesses were examined under Section 202 of Cr.P.C. Thereafter, a summoning order dated 15.1.2012, for offence punishable under Sections 323, 452, 504 and 506 I.P.C. against Akhtar Ali, Sukurunnisha alias Sakurunnisha, Rizwana Khatoon, Sabana Khatoon, Gulsana Khatoon, Parma Devi was passed, which is pending as Complaint Case No. 345 of 2011 (Usha Devi Vs. Akhtar Ali and others) of P.S. Mehndawal, District Sant Kabir Nagar. Parties have entered in compromise, which is at Page No. 24 wherein both sides has mentioned about their compromise. Thereafter, an application dated 22.9.2012 was moved by complainant Usha Devi before Court of Chief Judicial Magistrate, Sant Kabir Nagar, for ending proceeding of criminal complaint case but the same is still pending and no order over it has been passed. Hence, in view of law laid down by Apex Court in Gian Singh Vs. State of Punjab & another 2012 LawSuit (SC) 623, the proceeding be ended.

4. Sri Mahendra Pratap Yadav, learned counsel for the opposite party No. 2 as well as learned AGA for the State is having no objection over it.

5. Paragraph No. 57 of the order passed in Gian Singh Vs. State of Punjab & another (supra) is quoted as below:-

"57. The position that emerges from the above discussion can be summarised thus: the power of the High Court in quashing a criminal proceeding or FIR or complaint in exercise of its inherent jurisdiction is distinct and different from the power given to a criminal court for compounding the offences under Section 320 of the Code. Inherent power is of wide plenitude with no statutory limitation but it has to be exercised in accord with the guideline engrafted in such power viz; (i) to secure the ends of justice or (ii) to prevent abuse of the process of any Court. In what cases power to quash the criminal proceeding or complaint or F.I.R may be exercised where the offender and victim have settled their dispute would depend on the facts and circumstances of each case and no category can be prescribed. However, before exercise of such power, the High Court must have due regard to the nature and gravity of the crime. Heinous and serious offences of mental depravity or offences like murder, rape, dacoity, etc. cannot be fittingly quashed even though the victim or victim?s family and the offender have settled the dispute. Such offences are not private in nature and have serious impact on society. Similarly, any compromise between the victim and offender in relation to the offences under special statutes like Prevention of Corruption Act or the offences committed by public servants while working in that capacity etc; cannot provide for any basis for quashing criminal proceedings involving such offences. But the criminal cases having overwhelmingly and pre-dominatingly civil flavour stand on different footing for the purposes of quashing, particularly the offences arising from commercial, financial, mercantile, civil, partnership or such like transactions or the offences arising out of matrimony relating to dowry, etc. or the family disputes where the wrong is basically private or personal in nature and the parties have resolved their entire dispute. In this category of cases, High Court may quash criminal proceedings if in its view, because of the compromise between the offender and victim, the possibility of conviction is remote and bleak and continuation of criminal case would put accused to great oppression and prejudice and extreme injustice would be caused to him by not quashing the criminal case despite full and complete settlement and compromise with the victim. In other words, the High Court must consider whether it would be unfair or contrary to the interest of justice to continue with the criminal proceeding or continuation of the criminal proceeding would tantamount to abuse of process of law despite settlement and compromise between the victim and wrongdoer and whether to secure the ends of justice, it is appropriate that criminal case is put to an end and if the answer to the above question(s) is in affirmative, the High Court shall be well within its jurisdiction to quash the criminal proceeding"

6. This summoning order is for offences punishable under Section 323, 452, 504 and 506 I.P.C., wherein both side have entered in compromise and complainant does not want to proceed with her complaint, hence, this case is within the purview of above law of Apex Court.

7. Accordingly, for the end of justice, this application is being allowed and proceeding of Complaint Case No. 3785 of 2015, (Usha Devi Vs. Akhtar Ali and others), under Sections- 323, 452, 504 and 506 I.P.C., Police Station- Mehndawal, District- Sant Kabir Nagar, pending in the court of Civil Judge (Senior Division)/A.C.J.M., Sant Kabir Nagar, is being dismissed.

Hasan Akhtar ...Applicant

Counsel for the Applicant:
Sri Kamal Kumar Kesherwani

A. Indian Penal Code, 1860 and Cr.P.C., 1973 - Section 482 - Non-Bailable warrants - Complaint challenged after eight years - On basis of allegations, prima facie case made out against the applicant - Questions of fact cannot be examined by this Court in proceedings under Section 482 Cr.P.C. - The jurisdiction to quash a complaint, FIR or a charge-sheet should be exercised sparingly and only in exceptional cases.
(Para 5,6,7 & 8)

The impugned complaint was filed against the applicant and co-accused in the year 2011 and after summoning order, the applicant has appeared before the trial court. There are allegations against the applicant in the impugned complaint that opposite party no.2 was abused and given beatings by the applicant and co-accused persons over the issue of property and that his wrist watch and cash of Rs. 1200/- was snatched from him. It was also alleged that the applicant and co-accused has threatened to kill the complainant. It is apparent from the allegations that prima facie case is made out against the applicant.

It is apparent from the complaint and material on record that a prima facie case is made out against the applicant. The case of the applicant does not fall in any of the category enumerated by the Apex Court through various judicial pronouncements for quashing of proceedings. It is well settled that at this stage, this Court has to eschew itself from embarking upon a roving enquiry into the last details of the case. It is also not advisable to adjudge whether the case shall ultimately end in submission of charge sheet and then eventually in conviction or not. Only a prima facie satisfaction of the court about the existence of sufficient ingredients constituting the offence is required in order to see whether the proceedings deserves quashing.

On merits of the matter, no case for quashing of the impugned proceedings is made out. The legal position on the issue of quashing of criminal proceedings is well-settled that the jurisdiction to quash a complaint, FIR or a charge-sheet should be exercised sparingly and only in exceptional cases.

Questions of fact cannot be examined by this Court in proceedings under Section 482 Cr.P.C. Applicant was continuously absconding and was not appearing before the trial court and that non-bailable warrants were being issued against him continuously since last several years. No illegality or perversity or any other error could be pointed out in the impugned order. Application accordingly dismissed.

7. St. of Ori. Vs Saroj Kumar Sahoo (2005) 13 SCC 540

(Delivered by Hon'ble Raj Beer Singh, J.)

1. Heard Sri Kamal Kumar Kesherwani, learned counsel for the applicant, learned A.G.A. for the State-respondent and perused material on record.

2. This application u/s 482 Cr.P.C. has been filed with the prayer to quash the impugned non-bailable warrant order dated 11.06.2019 as well as entire proceedings in Criminal Complaint Case No. 378 of 2019, (Talat Nabi vs. Hasan Mohammad and others), under Sections 323, 504 and 506 of IPC, pending in the Court of IIIrd Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Amroha.

3. It has been argued by the learned counsel for the applicant that a false and baseless complaint was lodged by opposite party no.2 against the applicant and others. It was submitted that the dispute relates to the property and the complaint filed by opposite party no.2 is concocted. No prima facie case is made out against the applicant. The applicant and co-accused have appeared before the court below, however, on some fixed dates, the applicant, who is aged about 70 years, could not appear before the court and non-bailable warrants were issued against him. It was submitted that impugned order dated 11.06.2019, by which non-bailable warrants have been issued against the applicant, is illegal and arbitrary and thus, applicant must be granted some interim protection to appear before the trial court.

4. Per contra, learned A.G.A. has submitted that from the perusal of the material on record, it cannot be said that no cognizable offence is made out, hence the impugned proceedings are not liable to be quashed. At the outset it may be mentioned that the impugned complaint was filed in the year 2011 and the applicant is seeking its quashing in this year 2019. Thus, apparently the prayer of applicant for quashing the entire proceedings appears barred by limitation. Further, the applicant is not challenging the summoning order, rather he is challenging the order dated 11.06.2019 by which non-bailable warrants have been issued against the applicant.

5. Even on merits of the matter, no case for quashing of the impugned proceedings is made out. The legal position on the issue of quashing of criminal proceedings is well-settled that the jurisdiction to quash a complaint, FIR or a charge-sheet should be exercised sparingly and only in exceptional cases. However, where the allegations made in the FIR or the complaint and material on record even if taken at their face value and accepted in their entirety do not prima facie constitute any offence or make out a case against the accused, the charge-sheet may be quashed in exercise of inherent powers under Section 482 of the Cr.P.C. In well celebrated judgment reported in AIR 1992 SC 605 State of Haryana and others Vs. Ch. Bhajan Lal, Supreme Court has carved out certain guidelines, wherein FIR or proceedings may be quashed but cautioned that the power to quash FIR or proceedings should be exercised sparingly and that too in the rarest of rare cases.

In the case of R. Kalyani v. Janak C. Mehta and Others reported in 2009 (1) SCC 516, the Hon'ble Apex Court has held as under:

(1) The High Court ordinarily would not exercise its inherent jurisdiction to quash a criminal proceeding and, in particular, a First Information Report unless the allegations contained therein, even if given face value and taken to be correct in their entirety, disclosed no cognizable offence.

(2) For the said purpose, the Court, save and except in very exceptional circumstances, would not look to any document relied upon by the defence.

(3) Such a power should be exercised very sparingly. If the allegations made in the FIR disclose commission of an offence, the court shall not go beyond the same and pass an order in favour of the accused to hold absence of any mens rea or actus reus.

(4) If the allegation discloses a civil dispute, the same by itself may not be a ground to hold that the criminal proceedings should not be allowed to continue."

The said decision has also been followed by the Apex Court in the case of Kamlesh Kumari and Ors. v. State of U.P. and Ors. reported in 2015 AIR SCW 3700. Thus, there is no controversy about the legal proposition that in case a prima facie case is made out, the proceedings cannot be quashed. Here it would also be pertinent to mention that questions of fact cannot be examined by this Court in proceedings under Section 482 Cr.P.C.

6. Keeping in view the above stated settled position of law, in the instant case perusal of record shows that the impugned complaint was filed against the applicant and co-accused in the year 2011 and after summoning order, the applicant has appeared before the trial court. There are allegations against the applicant in the impugned complaint that opposite party no.2 was abused and given beatings by the applicant and co-accused persons over the issue of property and that his wrist watch and cash of Rs. 1200/- was snatched from him. It was also alleged that the applicant and co-accused has threatened to kill the complainant. It is apparent from the allegations that prima facie case is made out against the applicant.

It is apparent from the complaint and material on record that a prima facie case is made out against the applicant. The case of the applicant does not fall in any of the category enumerated by the Apex Court through various judicial pronouncement for quashing of proceedings. It is well settled that at this stage, this Court has to eschew itself from embarking upon a roving enquiry into the last details of the case. It is also not advisable to adjudge whether the case shall ultimately end in submission of charge sheet and then eventually in conviction or not. Only a prima facie satisfaction of the court about the existence of sufficient ingredients constituting the offence is required in order to see whether the proceedings deserves quashing. In case of Rupan Deol Bajaj v. K.P.S. Gill; reported in (1995) SCC (Cri) 1059, Rajesh Bajaj v. State of NCT of Delhi; reported in (1999) 3 SCC 259 and Medchl Chemicals & Pharma (P) Ltd. v. Biological E Ltd. & Ors; reported in 2000 SCC (Cri) 615, the Apex Court clearly held that if a prima facie case is made out disclosing the ingredients of the offence, Court should not quash the complaint. The note of caution was reiterated that while considering such petitions the Courts should be very circumspect, conscious and careful. In State of Orissa v. Saroj Kumar Sahoo (2005) 13 SCC 540 it has been held that probabilities of the prosecution version cannot be analysed at this stage. Likewise, the allegations of mala fides of the informant are of secondary importance.

In the instant matter, the submissions raised by learned counsel for the applicant call for determination on questions of fact which may be adequately adjudicated upon only by the trial court and even the submissions made on points of law can also be more appropriately gone into only by the trial court. Adjudication of questions of facts and appreciation of evidence or examining the reliability and credibility of the version, does not fall within the arena of jurisdiction under Section 482 Cr.P.C. In view of the material on record, it can also not be held that the impugned criminal proceeding are manifestly attended with mala fide and maliciously instituted with an ulterior motive for wreaking vengeance on the accused and with a view to spite him due to private and personal grudge.

7. In view of the aforesaid, no case for quashing of impugned proceedings is made out.

8. So far as the impugned order dated 11.06.2019 is concerned, it appears from the record that applicant was continuously absconding and was not appearing before the trial court and that non-bailable warrants were being issued against him continuously since last several years. No illegality or perversity or any other error could be pointed out in the impugned order. It is well settled that the power under section 482 Cr.P.C has to be exercised by the High Court, inter alia, to prevent abuse of the process of any court or otherwise to secure the ends of justice. Though the powers possessed by the High Court under Section 482 of CrPC are very wide but the very plenitude of the power requires great caution in its exercise. The inherent power can not be exercised to stifle a legitimate prosecution. Such powers can not be invoked to interfere with such type of routine or interim orders like issuance of non-bailable warrants by court below in course of trial unless some glaring illegality or perversity is shown. The inherent powers have to be exercised only to give effect to any order under CrPC, to prevent abuse of the process of any court and to secure the ends of justice to scuttle proceedings being in accordance with law. In the instant matter, no case for exercise of these powers is made out.

9. The application u/s 482 CrPC lacks merit and thus, it is dismissed.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ram Krishna Gautam, J.)

1. Heard learned counsel for the applicants and learned A.G.A. for the State.

2. The present 482 Cr.P.C. application has been filed to quash the order dated 4.7.2019 as well as the entire proceedings of Complaint Case No. 2471 of 2018, under Section 498A, 323 I.P.C., Police Station Dataganj, District Budaun, pending before the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate, Court No. 2, Budaun.

3. Learned counsel for the applicants argued that it was a case filed in counterblast of Criminal Complaint No. 43 of 2017 (Rampal Vs. Prempal and others) Police Station Ujhani, District Budaun, wherein Prempal, Smt. Rajrani, Dinesh, Ashish, Yogesh, Harish Chandra, Smt. Rekha and Ramdeen have been summoned for offence punishable under Section 323 and 406 of I.P.C., against which a proceeding before this Court has been filed wherein the criminal proceeding has been stayed.

4. No cruelty with regard to dowry was ever made by accused persons. It was a false and malicious prosecution wherein entire family members have been falsely implicated. Hence, the application with above prayer.

5. Learned AGA has vehemently opposed the application.

6. Having heard learned counsels for both sides and gone through the summoning order, it is apparent that a complaint was filed by Smt. Urvashi wife of Dinesh Chandra before the Court of Chief Judicial Magistrate, Budaun, as Complaint No. 294 of 2017 against her husband Dinesh Chandra, Smt. Chameli (Mother-in-law), Rajpal (Father-in-law) and Km. Savita (Sister-in-law) for offence punishable under Sections 323, 498A, 504, 506 I.P.C. read with Section 3/4 of D.P. Act, with contention that complainant was married with Dinesh Chandra on 4.5.2011 wherein Rs. 4 lacs were spent and dowry was given as per the capacity but accused persons being husband and his family members, were no satisfied with it and since the first entry in the nuptial house, cruelty with regard to demand of additional dowry of one motorcycle and a golden chain was made, which was narrated to mother of complainant but under persuasion, she was again sent to her nuptial house but this cruelty continued. In between, she was blessed with two child Gauri and Gaurav. There occurred some panchayat in between but on 22.1.2017 accused persons did assault with regard to demand of dowry and when family members of complainant rushed at the house of complainant, in front of them, she was beaten and tortured. Matter was reported but of no avail. She was medically examined. An application was sent before the Superintendent of Police, that too, was of no avail, hence, this complaint was filed. Complainant, herself, under Section 200 Cr.P.C. and two witnesses under Section 202 Cr.P.C., Harish Chandra and Dinesh Chandra were examined, who reiterated the contention of complainant, thenafter Magistrate, vide order dated 4.7.2019 passed summoning order for offence punishable under Section 498A and 323 I.P.C.

7. Apex Court in "State of Andhra Pradesh v. Gaurishetty Mahesh, JT 2010 (6) SC 588: (2010) 6 SCALE 767: 2010 Cr. LJ 3844 has propounded that "While exercising jurisdiction under section 482 of the Code, the High Court would not ordinarily embark upon an enquiry whether the evidence in question is reliable or not or whether on a reasonable apprehension of it accusation would not be sustained. That is the function of the trial Judge/Court". In another subsequent Hamida v. Rashid, (2008) 1 SCC 474, hon'ble Apex Court propounded that "Ends of justice would be better served if valuable time of the Court is spent in hearing those appeals rather than entertaining petitions under Section 482 at an interlocutory stage which after filed with some oblique motive in order to circumvent the prescribed procedure, or to delay the trial which enable to win over the witness or may disinterested in giving evidence, ultimately resulting in miscarriage of Justice". In again another subsequent Monica Kumar v. State of Uttar Pradesh, (2008) 8 SCC 781, the Apex Court has propounded "Inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 has to be exercised sparingly, carefully and with caution and only when such exercise is justified by the tests specifically laid down in the section itself." While interpreting this jurisdiction of High Court Apex Court in Popular Muthiah v. State, Represented by Inspector of Police, (2006) 7 SCC 296 has propounded "High Court can exercise jurisdiction suo motu in the interest of justice. It can do so while exercising other jurisdictions such as appellate or revisional jurisdiction. No formal application for invoking inherent jurisdiction is necessary. Inherent jurisdiction can be exercised in respect of substantive as well as procedural matters. It can as well be exercised in respect of incidental or supplemental power irrespective of nature of proceedings".

8. Regarding prevention of abuse of process of Court, Apex Court in Dhanlakshmi v. R.Prasana Kumar, (1990) Cr LJ 320 (DB): AIR 1990 SC 494 has propounded "To prevent abuse of the process of the Court, High Court in exercise of its inherent powers under section 482 could quash the proceedings but there would be justification for interference only when the complaint did not disclose any offence or was frivolous vexatious or oppressive" as well as in State of Bihar v. Murad Ali Khan, (1989) Cr LJ 1005: AIR 1989 SC 1, Apex Court propounded "In exercising jurisdiction under Section 482 High Court would not embark upon an enquiry whether the allegations in the complaint are likely to be established by evidence or not".

9. This Court under exercise of inherent jurisdiction under Section 482 of Cr.P.C. is not expected to analyze the factual evidence, which is a subject of trial Court but under above facts and circumstance and legal proposition, this proceeding merits its dismissal.

10. Hence, the application is rejected.

11. However, in view of the entirety of facts and circumstances of the case, it is directed that in case the applicants appear and surrender before the court below within 30 days and no more from today and apply for bail, their prayer for bail shall be considered and decided in view of the settled law laid by this Court in the case of Amrawati and another Vs. State of U.P. reported in 2004 (57) ALR 290 as well as judgement passed by Hon'ble Apex Court reported in 2009 (3) ADJ 322 (SC) Lal Kamlendra Pratap Singh Vs. State of U.P. Till then no coercive measure shall be taken against the applicants.

(Delivered by Hon'ble Ram Krishna Gautam, J.)

1. This Application, under Section 482 of Criminal Procedure Code, 1973 (In short 'Cr.P.C.'), has been filed by the applicants, Kharag Bahadur Chauhan and three other accused persons, against State of U.P and another, with a prayer for quashing of the entire criminal proceeding and for setting aside summoning order, dated 20.5.2019, passed by the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate-I, Ballia, in Complaint Case No. 1791 of 2018, Ram Vilash Chauhan vs. Kharag Bahadur Chauhan and others, under Sections 323, 427, 452, 504, 506 of Indian Penal Code (In short 'IPC') of Police Station- Rasra, District Ballia,

2. Learned counsel for the applicants argued that it was a false implication. There was enmity with the complainant. Both sides are from one and same family. Just to harass the applicants, this complaint was filed wherein interested witness, who were of same family, were got examined, under Section 202 of Cr.P.C., on the basis of which, impugned summoning order was passed. There was neither any injury nor damage of property, because of assault, is on record. Hence, this Application with above prayer.

3. Learned AGA, representing the State of U.P., has opposed this proceeding.

4. Having heard learned counsel for both sides and gone through the summoning order, it is apparent that the same was passed by the Magistrate, after examining complainant, under Section 200 of Cr.P.C. and his two witnesses, under Section 202 of Cr.P.C. Contention of the complaint has been reiterated in those testimonies and it was with specific
